John Willis sat on the steps of his home that evening with his own bitter thoughts for company. Every moment of the last three days had held its trial and its shame for him. The sharpest sting came when he thought of Celia. And as he spoke her name softly to himself a rattle of hoofs on the drive brought his eyes to a white mounted figure approaching. It was she. He stood up, and they looked at each other through the obscurity of the night.

"You must do it, John," she said at length. He did not reply. "They say you are afraid, but I know that is not so," she went on. "You must meet him."

"I cannot, Celia," he said doggedly. "It is not because I fear him, but because my convictions will not let me. Duelling is wrong, primitive, barbarous. I have sworn never to submit my differences to its code."

"Listen," she said, bending nearer. "You are right. I know everything you feel and everything you would say. But you forget the other side. It is impossible for a man to separate himself from the traditions and beliefs of those among whom he lives beyond a certain point. It is the fault of the time in which we live. I am willing to grant that. But you cannot go back of the thing dictated by unyielding custom.

"Among our people it is accepted as the sign of honor that a man shall fight if he is given sufficient provocation. You may deplore it, as I do. But you cannot ignore it and continue to live in the community. Life would not be worth the effort of breathing."

He caught her hand. "Do you ask me to, Celia?" he murmured.

She withdrew her slim fingers from his grasp. "Yes," she answered firmly. "See, John. I have perhaps some claim upon you, the claim of my love, and through that the claim of yours. And still, dear as you are to me, I give you up to meet the test, because it must be."

The Sign of Honor.

He stood back from her with head erect. "Then I will," he said, "for the one reason that you have demanded it of me. I should still refuse if I thought there was a likelihood that I should have his blood on my hands. As it is, the end is certain."

She could not trust herself to speak. Wheeling her horse she guided him out upon the road. Then summoning her waning strength and twisting the leather thongs about her wrists close up to the bit, she sank forward against the animal's mane with a little sigh and fainted.

On the morning of August 29, 1829, John Willis and Mason Hoyt met on a slight wooded rise about an hour's hard ride from town, duly accompanied by seconds and with the paraphernalia for mortal combat. Cameron acted for his friend and Brewster, Hoyt's client, performed a like service. It had been agreed that the meeting should take place at twelve paces with pistols.

Albeit calm and self-possessed, Willis showed his lack of skill and training while he was being placed in position and instructed in the arrangements. Hoyt was almost insultingly confident and while standing at the mark addressed some laughing comment to his second. Cameron was about to make a protest at this unseemly byplay, which was not calculated to reassure his principal, but a glance at the set face and firm mouth of Willis held him silent. If the boy could hold his nerve so well in hand there was still a chance for him, he reflected.

"Gentlemen, are you ready?" asked Brewster, after a pause.

"Whenever you are," said Hoyt, smiling, as if some pleasant game were afoot.

"Ready," said Willis quietly and "Ready" answered Hoyt.

"Present! Fire! One!" began Brewster, counting rapidly and clearly.

Hoyt's weapon spoke first and Willis fired almost immediately afterward. Willis gave a step, then held his ground. His left arm hung limply and a stain spread upon his shirt. The surgeon and seconds ran to him, but after a moment Cameron announced the result. "My principal is slightly wounded, but demands a second shot," he said.

Hoyt was untouched, but the smile with which he had watched his opponent faded at the words. He turned to Brewster. "Is it possible that I missed his heart?" he asked. Brewster confirmed the result. Hoyt was pale and subdued as the weapons were loaded and the ground cleared for the next exchange.

"Are you ready, gentlemen?" asked Brewster.

There was no levity behind Hoyt's echo of Willis' level response.

"Present! Fire!"——

The shots rang out as one. Willis did not move. Hoyt, peering toward his adversary through the drifting smoke, broke into an exclamation of astonishment as he saw that his second attempt had had no effect. When preparations were under way for the third time some change seemed to have taken place in the man. His ha[illegible]nkled as he reached it to receive his reloaded pi[illegible]. He examined the weapon solicitously and his a[illegible] wavered as he faced Willis once more. Willis, though suffering intensely, was as firm and controlled as when he first appeared upon the ground. Again Brewster gave the word.

"Are you ready?"

"Ready," said Willis, and "Ready," answered Hoyt, less distinctly.

"Present! Fire! One, two, three! Stop!" Brewster gave all six signals, but there came no report. As Hoyt raised his arm and levelled his pistol he staggered and pressed his left hand against his breast. Willis, who was aiming steadily, forebore to fire. Hoyt, with evident effort, held himself upright until Brewster had ceased counting. Then with a gasping cry he fell backward, his weapon exploding harmlessly over his head.

Amazed by the sudden turn, the watchers ran to the prostrate figure and supported it in their arms. Willis remained at his mark, waiting. A moment later Cameron hurried toward him.

"The most extraordinary thing, John," he said. "We thought it was one of your earlier shots. But there isn't a mark upon him. He is dead. The surgeon thinks it was his heart."

"Thank God!" said Willis, fervently.

A "FIGHTING EDITOR"—NEXT WEEK

RELIEVE Neuralgia

TAKE ONE OF THESE LITTLE TABLETS AND THE PAIN IS GONE.

"I have awful spells of Neuralgia and have doctored a great deal without getting much benefit. For the last two years I have been taking Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills and they always relieve me. I have been so bad with Neuralgia that I sometimes thought I would go crazy. Sometimes it is necessary to take two of them, but never more, and they are sure to relieve me." MRS. FERRIER, 2434 Lynn St., Lincoln, Neb.

Sold by druggists everywhere, who are authorized to return price of first package if they fail to benefit. MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

SUMMING OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS

ANY PERSON who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

DUTIES.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

N.B.—Unauthorized publications of this advertisement will not be paid for.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of Interior.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

Moles, Birthmarks, removed permanently by Electrolysis, without pain or scar, (positively no return.) Established Toronto, Hamilton and Guelph. Days in Peterborough. Satisfaction where others fail. References. Write for particulars. Miss A. Graduate. Box 269 Brampton Ontario.

Classes at Conservatory of Music

THE MISSES STERNBERG of Toronto are organizing classes in

DANCING, PHYSICAL CULTURE AND FENCING

in connection with the Peterborough Conservatory of Music, to open October 14.

Applications may be made immediately.

Children's Classes in Aesthetics, Social Dancing, and Fancy Steps, 4:30 to 6:0 p.m.

Adults, beginners, 7:30 to 9:0 p.m. Social evening, advanced pupils, 9:00 to 10:30.

Private Lessons and Classes on request. Write for Prospectus containing full information regarding fees, etc. fm-wks

LIFE INSURANCE is Just as Necessary as Fire Insurance

You would think a man foolish who left his buildings uninsured. What do you think of the man who doesn't protect the full value of his own life to his family?

THOMAS MARK, General Agent,
THE MANUFACTURERS LIFE Insurance Company.
Bank of Commerce Building
Peterborough

Christmas is Next

If you intend sending Photographs as Christmas Gifts do not delay arranging the sittings at W. G. LENDRUM'S Central Floor Studio, 170 Charlotte Street.

The Children's Aid Society

For the Care of Neglected and Ill-Treated Children.

Incorporated by Act of Legislature. Information required. Informant's name kept strictly private.

Children for Adoption

GEO. COCHRANE,
Agent and Asst.-Sec.
Bell Phone 130
761 George St.

UNLUCKY EXECUTIONS

GREAT BRITAIN HAS HAD SEVERAL IN HER HISTORY.

Wild Excitement Has on Occasion Stirred Up a Great Deal of Popular Feeling and the Peace of the Country Has Been Endangered—Death of a Mulatto in Jamaica Raised a Row—Murder of Bowlby.

Twenty thousand Cornishmen threatened to know the reason why, if Trelawney, their great bishop, were beheaded. And all through history we find cases after case of trouble arising out of executions. The burning of Joan of Arc lost us France, and some prophesy that the recent execution of Dr. Ferrer will turn Spain from a monarchy to a republic.

Many people still alive will remember the tremendous excitement caused by the execution of the mulatto Gordon in Jamaica in the year 1865.

In 1862, Edward John Eyre, the man who made such a wonderful journey of exploration through Australia, was appointed governor of Jamaica. Three years later there was an insurrection among the negroes. Horrible outrages were perpetrated upon white men and women, and the night sky was red with the flashes of blazing plantations.

Eyre was the right man in the right place. He proclaimed martial law, and put down the rebellion with stern severity. He found that the man Gordon, who was wealthy, and was a member of the Jamaica House of Assembly, had secretly instigated the rising. He had him arrested, tried him by court-martial, and two days later hanged him.

The Little Englanders at once began a tremendous agitation, and a commission was sent out to inquire into the case. They found that Gordon had been condemned on insufficient evidence, and Eyre was recalled to stand his trial in England. There, fortunately, he found great men to defend him. Thomas Carlyle and Charles Kingsley raised the Eyre Defence Fund.

The prosecution utterly failed, and five years later Government refunded the costs of the defence. Governor Eyre settled in Devonshire, where he lived for more than thirty years, respected by all who knew him.

The Chinese nation paid heavily, but not so heavily as it deserved, for what they called the execution, but what was really the brutal murder, of Mr. Bowlby, Captain Brabason, and others of the European envoys sent up to Tung Chow in 1860. It was on September 17th that the political officers Parkes and Loch, with Bowlby and the others already mentioned, and an escort, were seized by the Chinese.

Five days later, Parkes and Loch and a few survivors were released. They told a terrible tale of flogging, starvation, and torture. Thereupon, the allies entered Pekin, and, a month later, burnt down the magnificent Summer Palace. A heavy indemnity was also exacted.

All through the late 'sixties the whole of that country lived in a state of constant terror on account of Fenian plots. On November 23, 1867, Allen, Gould, and Larkin, three Fenian murderers, were executed at Salford. Next day there were demonstrations by sympathizers in London, Limerick, Cork, Dublin, and other places simultaneously.

On the following December 13 came the awful explosion at Clerkenwell Prison, the work, it was said, of some of the same gang. A whole barrel of gunpowder was fired against the prison wall. The results were simply appalling. Six people were killed outright, six more died of their injuries, besides no fewer than twenty unfortunate new-born babies. One hundred and twenty persons were wounded, and several went mad. The monetary damage was about $100,000.

It will be remembered that, some few years ago, a small party of British officers were set upon by natives while shooting at Denshawi, and brutally ill-treated, one being actually killed. When well-merited retribution descended upon the offenders, and several were hanged and others flogged, certain fanatics at home raised an outcry which came near to having a very serious echo in Egypt.

Sir Walter Phillimore.

The announcement that Mr. Justice Phillimore is to be the new Mayor of Kensington, Eng., recalls the fact that he is a large property-owner in that borough, and that his home, Cam Hall, is quite a country mansion in the heart of the town. Sir Walter is famed for his knowledge of ecclesiastical law, and can look back upon three centuries of High Church lawyers. One of his characteristics is a detestation of divorce, while amongst his accomplishments is a knowledge of Italian and the ability to write as well with the left hand as with the right.

Wives and Mothers Suffer With Backache

Constantly on their feet, attending to the wants of a large and exacting family, women often break down with nervous exhaustion.

In the stores, factories, and on a farm are weak, ailing women, dragged down with torturing backache and bearing down pains.

Such suffering isn't natural, but it's dangerous, because due to diseased kidneys.

The dizziness, insomnia, deranged menses, and other symptoms of kidney complaint can't cure themselves, they require the assistance of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which go direct to the seat of the trouble.

DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS CURE ALL WOMAN'S ILLS

To give vitality and power to the kidneys, to lend aid to the bladder and liver, to free the blood of poisons, probably there is no remedy of successful as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. For all womanly irregularities their merit is well known. Recommended for girls and women of all ages. 25 cents per box at all dealers. Refuse any substitute for Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut.

From Arctic to Tropics in Ten Minutes

No oil heater has a higher efficiency or greater heating power than the

PERFECTION Oil Heater

(Equipped with Smokeless Device)

With it you can go from the cold of the Arctic to the warmth of the Tropics in 10 minutes.

The new

Automatic Smokeless Device

prevents smoking. Removed in an instant for cleaning.

Solid brass font holds 4 quarts of oil—sufficient to give out a glowing heat for 9 hours—solid brass wick carriers—damper top—cool handle—oil indicator. Heater beautifully finished in nickel or Japan in a variety of styles.

Every Dealer Everywhere. If Not At Yours, Write for Descriptive Circulars to the Nearest Agent of

THE QUEEN CITY OIL CO., Limited.

HOW TO AEROPLANE.

Some Rules That Will Keep Most People Out of Aviation.

The first principle of the capable aviator is to be able to understand by sound when a petrol engine is laboring under difficulties, says S. F. Cody, the British aeroplane inventor.

Every part of an engine has its own particular noise, and these working in unison form the regular throb of its normal running.

This will be subdued greatly as soon as the machine leaves the ground; whether it is because the vibration ceases and modifies the harshness of the sound, or whether the engine receives a heavier load and gets more seriously to work, I do not venture to say.

Only one must have a keener ear for the sound of the engine in the air than one need have while it is working on the ground.

The slightest false note in the orchestra of all the parts of the engine must be instantly taken as a warning, and rectified.

Having once mastered the possibility of jumping ten to twenty yards with the aeroplane and making it land without striking the ground too hard, the natural inclination is to make the jumps greater until you can fly over trees, people, hills, and other obstacles.

This accomplished, the feeling is: "Why can't I go higher?" and you endeavor to make your aeroplane climb the heights of space.

Here danger begins. So far in those minor jumps the chief danger has been to the aeroplane. You might land too suddenly and strike the ground with a jerk. You are like a liftman working a lift badly—and indeed, in an aeroplane which rises and falls badly the sensation is of being in a lift.

But when you get over the trees, high up in the air, you take your life with you. There are many emergencies for which you must be prepared—emergencies which must be met without a moment's hesitation, or else death claims you.

The machine suddenly endeavors to stand still in the air. Then, if you are not very quick in your decision to dip your headrudder and glide towards the ground, disaster is certain.

If the machine should once start down backwards from a considerable height, I cannot see how a total wreck and the death of the pilot could be avoided.

I have on two occasions caused my machine to poise in the air. Once I was forty feet high, and I managed to dip my head rudders quickly enough to regain her lift before reaching the ground.

On the other occasion I attempted to raise my head rudders as a brake to check my momentum after landing, and the machine shot into the air again for forty yards, coming to a dead standstill ten feet from the ground, and then dropped straight, like a stone, on its wheels.

This was a valuable demonstration of the strength of my aeroplane; nothing was broken but one tall support.

Danger lurks behind a thick clump of trees if you are flying towards it in the teeth of the wind. The men who go up in the air in fliers must understand the air.

The wind will be found to blow over the top of the trees and down towards the ground. This has a tendency to drive the front part of the machine down, with the result that if you are close to the trees a collision is almost unavoidable.

The same applies if you are approaching a steep bank or hill, but on the contrary if the wind is blowing with you, then it is a rising current over the hill. All this you must know and be prepared for.

The air-sailor must know the uncharted currents and eddies in the atmosphere. I fancy the day of such air-charts will come, when by long study men will gauge the pressure of wind over certain hills and heights.

Even now I think I could make a chart for aeronauts to work from.

A Poorly-Paid Bishop.

Dr. Holbeck, the Anglican Bishop of St. Helena, is probably the most poorly-paid bishop in the world. His salary is the modest sum of $1,000 a year. At one time his lordship was Archdeacon of Kimberley and in receipt of $5,000 a year. Then he moved to Bloemfontein, where his income dropped to $3,000. And now, in St. Helena, he has to be content with a third of that sum.

Leads the World.

The Canadian fisheries are the greatest in the world, the annual production being worth over $30,000,000 and practically the world's market for lobsters is Canadian reaching up to more than $6,500,000 annually.

AMONG THE L.L'S.

A Little Light on the Country of the Leek.

When Mr. Lloyd-George, in his recent Newcastle speech, declared that he was "proud of the little land among the hills," he proved what a thorough Welshman he really is. "Worst of all," he cried bitterly, quoting one of the criticisms levelled against him, "he is a Welshman! Well, they've got to stand the Welshman this time!"

This was typical of his race, for no people are more proud or patriotic than the inhabitants of Lloyd-George land, and perhaps it is for the reason that they prefer, as a general rule, to keep to themselves that so many of the idiosyncrasies of these Welshmen, whose national emblem is the leek, and who national game is kiss-in-the-ring, are unfamiliar to the English.

Though there are in Wales something approaching two million people, it must sometimes strike the stranger that they cannot have more than ten or a dozen names between them. Take any list of Taffies, tick off the Joneses, the Williamses, the Davises, the Hugheses, the Robertses, the Lewises, the Morgans, the Llewellyns, and the Richardses, and you will practically have exhausted the roll. This is probably due to the fact that, until some six or seven generations ago, the Welsh had no surnames at all!

About one Taffy in every seven now bears the surname Jones, and the name of the David Joneses—besides being David Jones—is legion. Thus, when there are, say, half a dozen David Joneses in the same village, it is necessary to find some further distinguishing appellation for each, and one will become David Jones wyn—white David Jones — another David Jones llwyd—David Jones the grey man—another David Jones Sais—the David Jones who speaks English.

The story is told how, in one village in the land of daffodils, there were so many Joneses that all the available adjectives became used up, and when a new Jones appeared upon the scene inventiveness was for some time unequal to the occasion. But when he bought a piece of land, and employed on it some lads, whom he paid sixpence a day for working from six in the morning till six at night, these three sixes suggested the necessary distinction, and he forthwith became Sixpenny Jones.

Suffragettes will be interested to hear that in that principality it 'is the wife who keeps the purse, and a woman who has to ask her husband for a shilling is considered an object of pity. In many parts, $25 a year is considered quite sufficient pay for a general servant; while the servants of the small farmers do not get more than $15 to $20—or about half a cent for every three hours' service! On such farms, however, equality for all is the motto, and the servants sit at the same table with their master and mistress; and if, when the daughter of a farmer gets married, she introduces into her household the new custom of dining before her maid dines, she is branded with the stigma of being "stuck-up proud."

This is another of the idiosyncrasies of the Welsh—their singular habit of using double adjectives of the same meaning. Thus it is always a "bad wicked man," an "awful dreadful storm," or a "little tiny house."

A Cure Not Guaranteed.

Toothache, that scourge of our common humanity, has many "cures." The following remedy, however, would appear to be worse than the disease. It is to be found in "Choice and Experimental Receipts In Physick and Chirurgery, as also Cordial and Distilled Waters and Spirits, Perfumes and Other Curiosities," a volume compiled by Sir Kenelm Digby and published in 1668: "With an iron nail raise and cut the gum from about the teeth till it bleed and that some of all the blood stick upon the nail; then drive it into a wooden beam up to the head. After this is done you shall never have the tooth-ache in all your life." This is described as "a sympathetic cure for the tooth-ach."

Played Truant for Scholarships.

Sir Alexander Mackenzie, principal of the Royal Academy of Music, tells a good story of how he won the King's Scholarship. When he entered for it he was engaged to play in an orchestra, and in order to attend the competition he stayed away from a rehearsal without first obtaining permission. At the next rehearsal the conductor told him his services would no longer be required, as he had taken "French leave." Young Alexander got up to go, saying as he did so, "Well, I don't care; I've won the King's Scholarship!" "Oh, you have, have you!" said the conductor, in an altered tone. "Very well; under the circumstances, you may stay."

DOES POACHING PAY?

The Pounds, Shillings, and Pence of a Stealthy Profession.

The first grouse of the season reached London at eight in the morning of August 12th last. There were about twenty brace, and the dealer who received them sold them for a guinea a brace.

It was said that they came from Harrogate. If so, what time did they start? What time did the sportsman who killed them leave home?

Every dealer you go to in England will tell you a different story. Some will say they were frozen birds, others that they were shot at daybreak. A few will tell you the honest truth, which is that they were poached.

There are hundreds of grouse killed surreptitiously by poachers on August 10th and 11th. It is flatly impossible for keepers to keep a constant watch on every acre of the vast extent of wild land which constitutes an average grouse moor, and the poacher who knows that every bird he can secure means from fifty to sixty cents in his pocket will take big risks to make a good haul. He works with nets, going out before daybreak. He knows exactly where the "pack" roosts, and two men will make from two to five pounds in three hours' work.

It is the same with partridges, which are netted like grouse. Though the little brown birds fetch less than grouse, yet the smart poacher invariably makes a good haul during the last two days of August. He gets thirty-six cents apiece for his stolen birds, and two men will often secure fifteen to twenty brace in a night.

Pheasants are the birds which fetch most. Early in the season the poacher can count on sixty cents apiece for every bird he can secure. The pheasant poacher has this advantage, that he can work alone. He does not use nets, but shoots the birds as they roost, employing a short-barrelled gun and a reduced charge.

But it is not bird-poaching which pays best. The risk is always considerable, and where nets are employed these entail a considerable outlay. The nets used for partridges or grouse are made of silk, and cost from three to five pounds apiece.

No, the best business, from the poacher's point of view, is rabbiting. The necessary tackle costs next to nothing—half a dozen purse-nets, which the man probably makes for himself, and a couple of ferrets which, if he did not breed them, cost him half a dollar apiece. That is all. Rabbit-poachers work in pairs, and the number they kill is amazing. A couple of years ago two rabbit-poachers who were caught on the Cumbernault estate, near Glasgow, were found to have kept a diary of their captures. They had worked, on an average, five nights a week for eight weeks, and the total bag was 1,660 rabbits. Put these at 16 cents apiece, and a small calculation will show that this pair had pocketed something over $765.

Some Close Shaves.

Mr. Dennis to-day attempted to establish an Australian record for shaving with one razor—unset—as many men as possible within one hour. When he had shaved twenty-five men in eighteen minutes there was not a face in the vicinity of the Temperance Hall that could show the slightest vestige of a beard; and then Mr. Dennis reluctantly closed his razor, having established an Australian record.

He had also put up a record as a taciturn barber; he had not spoken for eighteen minutes!

The longest operation lasted sixty two seconds. The world's record in shaving is claimed by an English barber named Weeks, who shaved seventy men in an hour. That record would probably have been beaten by Mr. Dennis had he obtained sufficient material to work on.—Sydney Morning Herald.

Mr. George Alexander, M.P.?

The admirers of Mr. George Alexander, the English actor, will grieve to hear that, even if he does not altogether leave the stage, his appearances thereon are likely to be considerably fewer if his present ambitions are realized.

In 1907 the well-known actor-manager was elected to the London County Council by South St. Pancras, and now he contemplates contesting a constituency for Parliamentary honors.

It is interesting to recall that at the general election of 1906 Mr. Francis Neilson, who appeared in London on the Adelphi stage, afterwards becoming stage-manager for Mr. Chas. Frohman, and for the Grand Opera Syndicate at Covent Garden, contested the Newport Division against Col. Kenyon-Slaney, and again, in 1908, against Mr. Beville Stanier, when Col. Kenyon-Slaney died.

A Statesman's Recreation.

At one time, Sir Edward Grey was a magnificent tennis player, and there is a story told to the effect that when he was Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs he was sometimes able to snatch a couple of hours in the afternoon for his favorite game, and he observed, when leaving the tennis court on one occasion, that he had nothing to live for through the coming week but to look forward to the next Wednesday afternoon, when he could again take up the racquet. Sir Edward no longer plays for championships, but he still retains his liking for the game, and a little practice would probably show him to be as fine a player as ever.—M.A.P.

A Wonderful Shawl.

A wonderful shawl is possessed by the Duchess of Northumberland. It once belonged to Charles X. of France and was made entirely from the fur of Persian cats. Although the shawl is eight feet square, it is of such fine texture that it can be compressed into an ordinary coffee cup.

Special Notice.

BETTER THAN SPANKING.

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box 741 Windsor, Ont., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her to-day if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

YOU cannot buy flour as fine, white, pure and nutritious as Royal Household under any other name.

There is no other flour in Canada upon which half so much money is spent to insure perfect purity—just think for a moment what that means to the health of your household.

Royal Household Flour

is the best—most wholesome—most carefully milled flour to be had in this country. The Ogilvie name and trademark are on every barrel and sack — a guarantee from the maker to the consumer. Tell your grocer you must have Royal Household. 12

Ogilvie Flour Mills Co., Limited, Montreal.

The matter appearing in this space from time to time is furnished by the Ontario Brewers' Association, who have arranged for its publication.

"Blind Pig" or Decent Bar?

Under license, men drink moderately, and are restricted to good behavior. No Ontario licensed bartender dare sell to a drunken man, nor to a minor—his very living depends upon the decency of his bar. Under local option, men drink by stealth and to excess—because there is no restraint. Local option substitutes the "blind pig" for the decent bar, and the seller welcomes minors.

Local option hurts the community that tries it. Owen Sound proves that.

In every community where local option has been tried, drunkenness has increased. In one Ontario town arrests for drunkenness have increased 80 per cent. under local option.

Naturally. For when men drink by stealth, hidden from the eyes of their community, they drink far more than they would (or would be allowed to) under license. Their self-respect, and the law, keeps them straight. Local option hides and increases intemperance—never checks it.

Local Option Makes Drunkards

Hotel Cumberland
NEW YORK CITY
BROADWAY AT 54th STREET
Near 59th St. Subway Station, 53d St. "L" and all surface lines.

Near Depots, Shops and Central Park. New and Fireproof. Strictly First-Class. Rates Reasonable $2.50 with Bath, and up. All hardwood floors and Oriental Rugs. Ten minutes walk to twenty Theatres. Excellent Restaurant. Prices moderate.

SEND FOR BOOKLET
HARRY P. STIMSON
Formerly with Hotel Imperial
R. J. BINGHAM
Formerly with Hotel Woodward

THE BANK OF OTTAWA
ESTABLISHED 1874.

Capital Authorized . . . . . $5,000,000.
Capital Paid Up . . . . . $3,000,000.
Rest and Undivided Profits . . . $3,405,891.

Savings Department

An account may be opened by the deposit of $1—on which interest will be allowed.

G. C. Wainwright, Manager, Peterborough Branch

The Bank that has your account is an important factor in your business: many a business man owes his success to the fact that he had the right bank back of him : : :

THE ROYAL BANK OF CANADA

CAPITAL $4,700,000 RESERVE $5,400,000 ASSETS $55,000,000

Invites the accounts of corporations, firms and individuals on the most liberal terms consistent with conservative banking.

VINCENT EASTWOOD : : Manager Peterborough
W-6-W

Small but Effective--- A WANT AD IN "THE EXAMINER"

OXO

for Strength.

HIGHEST FOOD-VALUE.

Epps's Cocoa is a treat to Children.
A Sustenant to the Worker.
A Boon to the Thrifty Housewife.

EPPS'S COCOA

BREAKFAST
SUPPER

In strength delicacy of flavour, nutritiousness and economy in use "Epps's" is unsurpassed.

Children thrive on "Epps's."

EGGS!

for sale in any quantities.

PETERBOROUGH COLD STORAGE CO.

W. SCOTT & CO.

—OFFICES—
Cor. George & Hunter Both Phones 262
194 Robinson Street. Both Phones 264
(East City).

"The Prospective Patentee"
FULL INFORMATION TO INVENTORS SENT FREE ON APPLICATION
Fetherstonhaugh, Bennison & Co.
PATENTS
STAR BUILDING, 18 KING ST. W. TORONTO.
OFFICES—MONTREAL, TORONTO, OTTAWA, WINNIPEG, WASHINGTON.

FIRE!

I am selling off my whole stock of New Boots and shoes at Fire Sale Prices. All reduced since the Fire. Come and get Footwear Bargains and Holiday Footwear at marked down prices while they last.

Robt. Di Bernardo
BROOKS BLOCK
Corner George and Sherbrooke Streets.

THE BEEF TEA DELUSION.

Science Makes Comparison—Shows Value to Be Less Than That of Milk.

Some one way back in the ages originated the fallacy that flesh food is a diet which promotes strength and energy—the very opposite of the truth.

The example of the wonderful strength and endurance of the horse and the ox should have exposed the error of this at the start, but this patent argument seems to have been overlooked, and so for many hundreds of years certain races, at least, and, strangely, the most enlightened rather than the ignorant and primitive, have regarded flesh meat as the most strengthening of foods.

Out of this error grew another almost equally mischievous, based upon the supposition that meat, being strong food, the extract of meat must represent concentrated strength or a substance capable of stimulating or developing the physical powers of the body to the highest degree.

The chemical department of the United States government has made a careful study of beef tea, beef juice, the extract of beef and other animal extracts, and the result has been the demonstration that a pint of beef juice has only about half the nutrient value of an equal quantity of milk, while beef tea, broth or bouillon prepared in the usual ways from extract of beef contains less than one-sixth as much nutrient material as the same quantity of milk.

HOUSECLEANING HINTS.

Automatic cleaners cost no more in the end than hiring workman for two days and feeding them.

Finger marks and stains on porcelain, wood and window panes can be easily removed with cocoanut oil on a clean soft rag.

Lay in a supply of great flushed scrub cloths for floors and chesecloth bags to slip on brooms and brushes to wipe down walls and woodwork.

There are several preparations by which carpets can be scrubbed on the floor and made to look like new. The work can be done by the usual cleaner.

A reliable polish is made from equal parts of olive oil, vinegar and alcohol. This should be rubbed in with one woolen cloth and polished with another.

Do not be tempted to experiment with every furniture polish. Never use anything on woodwork that you do not know all about. Doing over ruined furniture is costly, and varnish is easily hurt.

When papers are to be cleaned with medicated putties or crusts of bread the room should be first made free of dust. Work only in one direction. No paper will stand cleaning more than three times.

Paint must not be scrubbed with sand soap or it will be worn off. Wipe off with a cloth dipped in thick suds of white soap and rinse with clean cloth wrung from hot water. Whiting mixed to a cream with tepid water is excellent for dirty paint.

NAGGING LUMBAGO

When your back is sore and pains when it hurts to stoop over, to lift, to straighten up after bending down—that's a sure sign of lameness in the muscles that can be relieved and cured by "Nerviline." Rub it over the back and sides, the more rubbing the better. Let the pain-destroying properties of Nerviline sink through all the cords and muscles that are lame—tension and stiffness will ease off—lameness will disappear after the third application.

Nerviline

Although absolutely sure to cure the aches of sciatica and lumbago, it is well to assist Nerviline by putting on a Nerviline Porous Plaster, which will continue to supply warmth and protection to the tender spot and thereby prevent a relapse.

Remember this: There is no neuralgic ache or pain, no strain, swelling, sprain, or external soreness, that the Nerviline Treatment can't cure. Nerviline Plasters 25c each and large 25c bottles of Nerviline are sold by all dealers.

Modern Hospitality.

It was easy to be hospitable on a broad and airy scale when we were cave dwellers, but the flat dweller of modern times should use caution in dispensing too liberal hospitality.

You may have the best intentions in the world and think that you really are going to give your guests the time of their lives, but to take a man or a woman out of their own dwelling and cram them into unknown and uncommodious abodes is seldom overenjoying to the guestling, no matter how fine the host's intentions may be.

British Ships Cost More

The world which was appalled three years ago when the race for armaments on a vast scale began learned that the cost of a single warship of the first magnitude had suddenly leaped to $10,000,000.

To-day we are told that ships now being laid down will cost $15,000,000. The gun power of the new superdreadnoughts which Great Britain will build will be 50 per cent. greater than the original ship of this class. The speed will be slightly increased, while the size will advance about 30 per cent.

The Orion will be the name of the first monster of this description, and if experiments justify it its principal armament will consist of ten 13.5 guns.

Great Droughts.

The first great drought on record happened in 678 and the two succeeding years, when according to the records, there was practically no rainfall in England. In 879 the springs in England were dried up, and it was impossible for men to work in the open air. In 993 and 994 the nuts on the trees were "roasted as if in an oven."

SOUVENIR RANGES

A Souvenir Range makes cooking a pleasure. The drafts are right. It's easy to keep a uniform fire. The grates work evenly—are machine fitted and cannot waste fuel. If you want the best range you'll buy a Souvenir. Have you read our book entitled "Cooking with the Bother Left Out"? A post card will bring it by return mail.

GURNEY, TILDEN & CO., Limited
HAMILTON
Montreal Winnipeg Calgary Vancouver

For Sale by ADAM HALL Peterborough

How Joubert Was Interviewed.

One of the most interesting stories told regarding Mr. Bennet Burleigh, the famous war correspondent, who is writing his autobiography, is that concerning the manner in which he interviewed Joubert on the eve of the last South African War. At Standerton, Mr. Burleigh met the train conveying Joubert and his staff to the front. He was refused a place in the train, but, waiting until it was moving out of the station, he bluffed the Boer stationmaster into stopping it by signal, telling him he had been left behind. The train stopped, and Burleigh ran down the line and clambered on board, regardless of consequences. The train started again, and it was some time before Joubert knew what had happened. When he found out, he went to Burleigh's compartment, congratulated him on his enterprise, and gave him an interesting interview.

A Musical Record.

Dr. Henry Coward, who has resigned his position as chorus-master of the Sheffield (Eng.) Musical Festival, has been practically a self-taught musician, who seemed at first to have everything against him. Till the age of twenty he was engaged in business, then he turned schoolmaster, and not until he was nearly forty did he turn his attention to music as a profession. Since then, however, he has made up for lost time with a vengeance, and to-day there are few busier or better-known musicians in the kingdom. He reckons that he has conducted now for over twenty years some 25,000 singers and players per annum.

CORNS CURED IN 24 HOURS

You can painlessly remove any corn, either hard, soft or bleeding, by applying Putnam's Corn Extractor. It never burns, leaves no scar, contains no acids; is harmless because composed only of healing gums and balms. Fifty years in use. Cure guaranteed. Sold by all druggists, 25c. bottles. Refuse substitutes.

PUTNAM'S PAINLESS CORN EXTRACTOR

THE WOLVES OF THE SEA.

From dusk until dawn they are hurrying on,
Unfettered and tireless they flee;
From morn until eve they plunder and thieve—
The hungry white wolves of the sea!

With never a rest, they race to the west,
To the Orient's rim do they run;
By the berg and the floe of the northland they go,
And away to the skies of the sun.

They wail at the moon from the desolate dune
Till the air has grown dank with their breath;
They snarl at the stars from the trenchcrests bare
Of the coasts that are harassed by Death.

They grapple and bite in a lurid, mad delight
As they feed on the bosom of Grief;
And one steals away to a cave with his prey,
And one to the rocks of the reef.

With the froth on their lips they follow the ships,
Each striving to lead in the chase;
Since loosed by the hand of the king of their land
They have known but the wish of the race.

They are shaggy and old, yet as mighty and bold,
As when God's freshest gale set them free;
Not a sail is unfurled in a part of the world
But is prey for the wolves of the sea!

—From "At the Shrine of Song," by Herbert Bashford.

Scattered to Order.

Now that women have entered the field of muscular politics, some gentler method of dealing with unruly mobs than that of the baton is called for. Why do not the police give the searchlight a trial? When a naval searchlight is turned on and off three or four times, the crew of the enemy's craft becomes completely demoralized and helpless. Their nerves quiver, their muscles are paralysed; they are blinded and stunned!

Imagine what it would mean to the police of London. At present, some thousands of them are required to guard Westminster Palace on a suffragette war-night. Adopt the searchlight, and with a force of five or six policemen, you can clear the streets in a few minutes. One flashlight to control Whitehall, one to clear the long thoroughfare across Westminster Bridge, and a third to sweep round the open space to the west of the House of Parliament. These would do the work of a couple of thousand men with batons.

Paternal Cares.

"One of your daughter's suitors has a distinguished ancestry."

"Yes," answered Mr. Cumrox.

"And the other is a very promising young man."

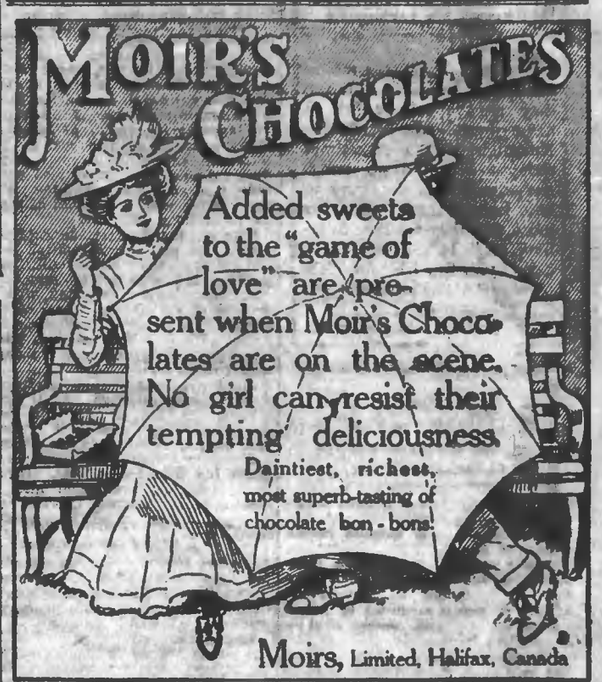
"Quite true. But I can't help wishing we could make arrangements that based on the present tense instead of the past or future perfect."—Washington Star.

Hundreds of dainty dishes can be made with

SHREDDED WHEAT

The only cereal food made in Biscuit form.
Deliciously nourishing and satisfying.
Try it for breakfast with milk or cream and salt to taste.

MOIR'S CHOCOLATES



Added sweets to the "game of love" are present when Moir's Chocolates are on the scene. No girl can resist their tempting deliciousness. Daintiest, richest, most superb-tasting of chocolate bon-bons.

Moirs, Limited, Halifax, Canada

Surgical Aids to the Afflicted Authors & Cox 126 Church St. Toronto, Est. 1876.

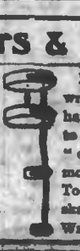
Hip Splints To relieve the pain — support the spine — make walking easier — and assist in curing the trouble — we recommend the Thomas Hip Splint for hip disease. Easy to adjust — quickly put on and off — and lends welcome aid to the afflicted. Made to order specially and a perfect fit assured.



If you are afflicted in any way, write us about your case. We have brought comfort and health to many who were apparently "crippled for life," or able to move only by the aid of crutches. To-day they walk, run and even skate. We can probably help you. Write us.

JOHNNY QUACK and the VAN CLUCK TWINS

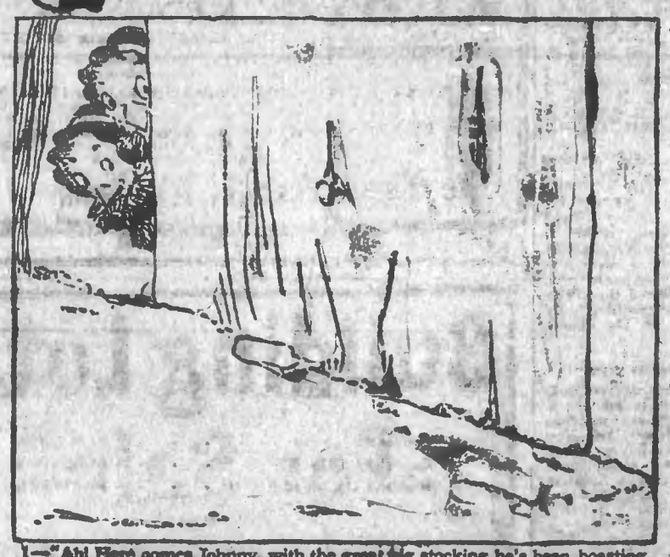
(COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY THE NEW YORK HERALD CO.) All Rights Reserved.



1—"Ah! Here comes Johnny, with the great big stocking he's been boasting he was going to hang up on Christmas Eve. The old pig! I wish we had it! Let's grab it when he goes past!"

2—They took the stocking on the run, and Johnny was so surprised he fell head over heels, but he held tight to the end, which started to unravel as the twins ran—(Of course the stocking was knit).

3—"Well what do you know about that? It must have broken off. Let's go back for it quick!"

4—Just then Johnny let go of the other end, and the wind blew very, very hard and the worsted was very, very light.

5—The more they tried to get out, the tighter it got. Then Johnny came up! He gave one yell of joy and started to dance, singing, "All bound 'round with a woollen string, 'All bound 'round with a woollen string.'"

6—"Now, ladies, do try to keep out of mischief while little Johnny purloins the mate to that stocking you didn't get! And also, it may not interest you, but I have located the Cranberries and Chestnuts! ! !"

SUNLIGHT SOAP

A BASKET FULL of clean, sweet-smelling linen is obtained with half the toil and half the time if Sunlight Soap is used. Sunlight shortens the day's work, but lengthens the life of your clothes.

à la Grace
HIGH GRADE
Corsets
FULLY GUARANTEED

NONE BETTER MADE

Rubber Gloves
Regular $1.00 for]
65 cents

Every lady should have a pair. Keep hands clean and skin soft and free from roughness.

Wm. Madill
Chemist & Druggist
OAK HALL DRUG STORE
Corner George and Hunter Sts

TALBOT'S
Delicatessen
TWO STORES

We wish to impress upon the minds of housekeepers that we always have an abundant supply of
FRESH FISH
FRESH HADDOCK FINAN HADDIE
FRESH SALMON FRESH WHITE FISH
in addition to our regular supply of
BEST BEEF BEST PORK
BEST LAMB BEST VEAL
Also, Fresh Oysters, Canned Goods, Allan's Older, Chopped Suet, Mince Meat.

A.L. TALBOT
243 George St. Phone 736
410-12 George St., Phone 333
d-Sw-65

Whisper to Santa Claus to put
25 TICKETS FOR A DOLLAR
in your stocking — a sensible present. Every housewife will appreciate it. Twenty-five Tickets —for Twenty five Loaves of—
Gilgour & Mackay's
Home-Made BREAD
Order from the driver or ring up the bakery office Telephone 640.
Fancy Cakes, Buns, Biscuits, Pastry, etc., Fresh every morning
Store and Bakery, Corner George and Edinburgh, Sts.

Nothing more appropriate for a Christmas Gift than Snowshoes or Toboggans. We have a very large assortment. Call & see them.
J. J. TURNER & SONS
Peterborough Ontario

Edwin Elcome
TAXIDERMIST
BIRDS, Animals, Fish and Snakes stuffed and mounted in the best life-like styles at the lowest prices.
DEER HEADS A SPECIALTY.
A stock of foreign and native Birds always on hand for sale. Dealer in Eyes, Artificial Leaves and Coating, also Importer of Foreign Birds and Skins from all countries. Best Nature Study Books.
692 Harvey St. Peterboro

MRS. TAFT STILL ILL.

Washington Wonders Who Will Officially Represent President's Wife.

Mrs. Taft's sustained ill health is a public calamity, her breakdown on the very threshold of a social administration that promised the distinction that characterized the regime of Dolly Madison and Mrs. Cleveland a ruthless stroke of fate. Washington is one great regret. Yet there is many a wiseacre who shakes his head—though it is usually her hand—and says, "I told you so."

Mrs. Taft was burning the candle at both ends. Ambitious, dominant, rich in resources, eager to make her reign a record breaker, the lovely lady, unmindful of physical limitations, has been a reckless spendthrift in gray matter and nerve fiber. The reckoning had to come. After all, a woman is but a human being, even though she be a president's wife. Mrs. Taft's physicians promise a complete re-establishment of her health eventually. But meanwhile court circles are in a dilemma for a leader right away.

Mrs. Taft's amiable predecessor, content with less prestige and glory, basked happiest in the light reflected from her all consuming husband. Mrs. Roosevelt, unlike Mrs. Taft, had no ambition to establish her own suit personally. She kept her own individuality in abeyance. Mr. Roosevelt could run things. Her official job was only to smile and smile and be Johnny-on-the-spot whenever she was needed. Hence through all the seven years of her husband's presidential incumbency she was never absent from his side on any state occasion. She never squandered her vitality. Her much criticised dependence upon her social secretary, exalting that estimable young lady to a position of utmost prominence and responsibility, has been justified by the result of Mrs. Taft's pursuing a contrary course, endeavoring to cover all the ground unaided. Mrs. Taft's secretary occupies only a strictly clerical and technical position. She does not appear socially at the White House. Mrs. Roosevelt's secretary was the power behind the throne, before whom social climbers trembled. She was the arbiter of many a fate.

In Fisher Fur.

Fisher, a fur that was popular years ago, is this season finding much favor among women who are rather tired of the pelts that have been fashionable lately. This new fur is very soft and of a becoming brown color that tones beautifully with the modish shades of taupe and mode. The illustration shows a smart neckpiece and muff carried out in the taper pelty. It is rather elaborately trimmed with heads, tails and paws, and, although not cheap, the price of this set is comparatively inexpensive.

A SMART RECEPTION AND MUFF.

His Awful Mistake.

Mr. Newrich—I understand the orchestra is to play one of Doorknob's compositions tonight. Mrs. Oldstock—Doorknob? Doorknob? Ah, I suppose you mean Handel!—Chicago News.

Wanted a Wife.

"No, sir; my daughter can never be yours."

"I don't want her to be my daughter," broke in the young ardent. "I want her to be my wife."

Facial Blemishes

Pimples, Blackheads, Boils, and Freckles are quickly cured by Ferrozone, which acts upon the blood, eliminating all effete matter and impurities. Ferrozone nourishes the system and builds up reserve strength, rendering skin eruptions impossible. For your health and general well-being use

FERROZONE CURES

FERROZONE is a marvelous remedy. It contains in concentrated form certain rare qualities that especially fit it in cases of anaemia, poor color, thin blood, tiredness, and loss of weight.

Every day you put off using FERROZONE you lose ground. Get it today. Sold in 50 cent boxes by all dealers.

TEST FOR EGGS.

Place One in a Glass of Water and Observe Its Position.

Placed in the water, an egg if fresh will remain resting at the bottom of the vessel; if not quite fresh it will rest with the big end raised higher than the small end, and the higher the big end is raised the older is the egg.

As an egg gets older the water contained in the white of an egg evaporates, and this causes the empty space at the thick end of every egg to become enlarged. The larger that empty space becomes the more the egg rises in the water, till in course of time it floats.

WATER TEST OF EGGS.

WHEN PLANNING A HOUSE.

It's Foolish to Set Your Heart on Styles Beyond Your Means.

Half the pleasure in building lies in the planning. Later will come chronic warfare with builders and worry over increased estimates. Only in anticipation is the joy unalloyed.

This joy is heightened if one begins long before there is money in hand to plan systematically for the house that is to be.

Let it be the object of many excursions. Whenever you see a house that appeals to you, or even one feature of that house, jot down details in a notebook. If possible, find the architect's name and the approximate cost. It is foolish to set your heart on styles beyond your means.

Soon you will be reading up on books of architecture so as not to be taken in when you "do come to build." Next there will be a magazine devoted to beautiful houses and their fittings.

If you are really an ardent planner, be systematic. Start a scrap book, and in it paste pictures, advertisements and furnishings that have caught your fancy.

Make this book of good size and preferably loose leaved. You can cover sheets of cardboard a size larger than the usual magazine form, say seventeen inches long by twelve wide. Choose a serviceable dark green linen for the covering and on it embroider in red and gilt letters "The House That Jack Built."

Sheets of yellow paper an inch smaller each way can be got cheaply at wholesale paper dealers. These can be added to the book as needed. Often, too, it will be found that you want to weed out some of your old pages, for it is surprising how your ideas change and progress about "that house."

Even though the new home remains to the end a house of dreams you will have had pleasure, education and happiness in its planning, not to speak of health if you did much tramping in your zeal to see new models.

CONCERNING WOMEN.

The girls of the Boston public schools are to have an opportunity of taking part in outdoor sports on the same terms as their brothers. Outdoor games and gymnastics will be made part of the curriculum just as soon as playgrounds for girls can be fitted up.

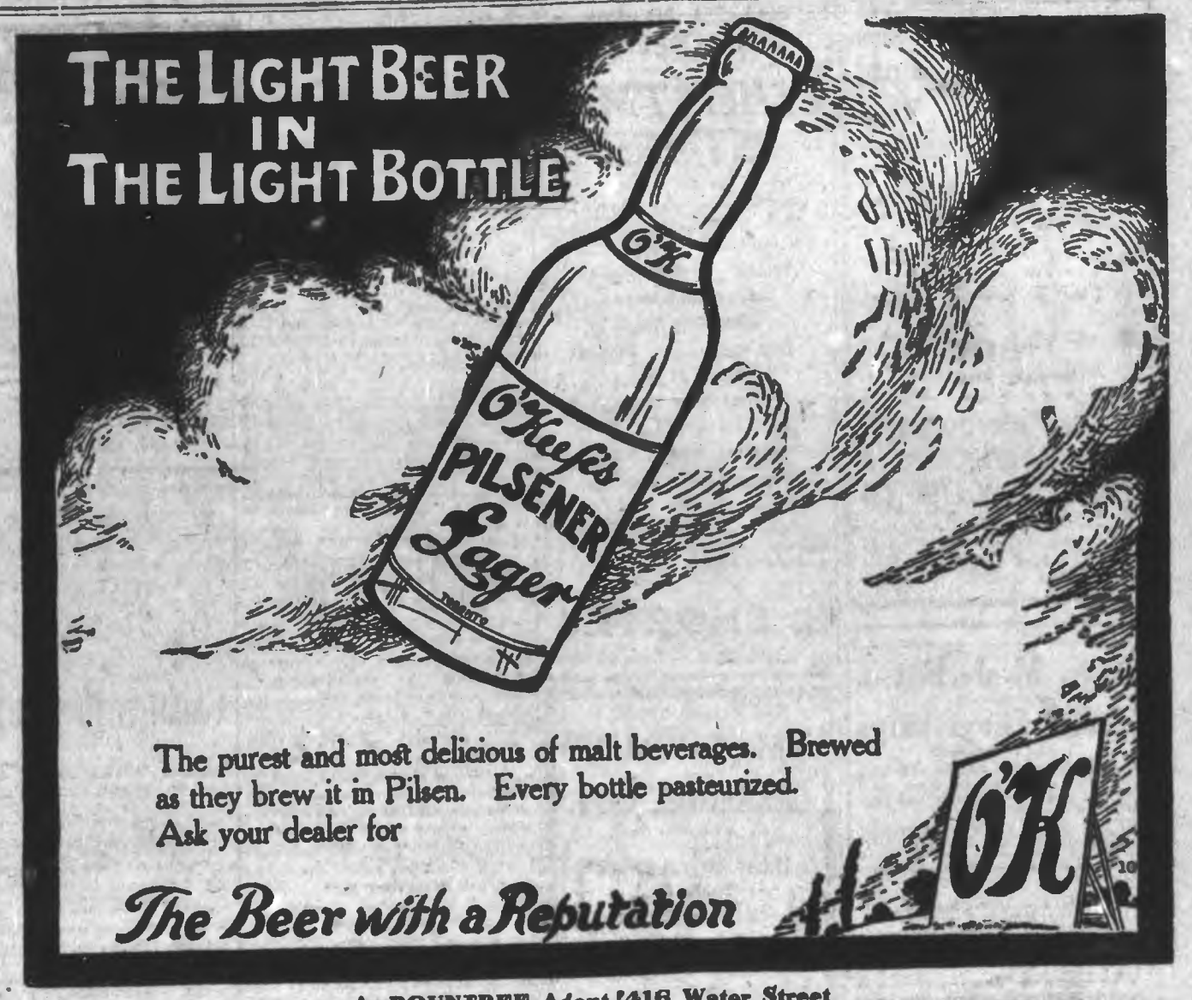
The Duchess of Fife, better known as the princess royal, who is a daughter of King Edward, has started an earnest campaign for high neck evening dresses. The duchess has been appearing in court and at the opera in gowns unusually high, and her example is being followed by many women in London, including Americans.

From Germany comes an interesting story concerning three little girls. Herr Kressler, a mercantile clerk and the father of the children, was, it seems, some years ago staying at Borkum and while there chanced to save an elderly Japanese gentleman from drowning, and the latter proved to be Baron Wiyoshi of the Japanese embassy in Berlin. He has just died and left to each of Herr Kressler's little daughters the sum of 20,000 marks, or $5,000, provided that they dress like Japanese until they reach the age of fourteen.

The German empress has inaugurated many philanthropic organizations in Berlin, one of the most useful being that of the Central Association of German Actresses. The work of this society is to enable actresses to provide themselves with necessary theatrical costumes at the lowest cost. The empress gives this charity all her court and evening gowns, and many of the ladies in Berlin society follow her example. Those ladies who do not feel inclined to give outright sell their clothes to the association as cheaply as possible. The empress is president of this admirable society charity, and the pleasant intercourse established by it has done much to raise the standard of the social side of the German stage.

Melancholia.

One peculiarity of melancholia is that the victim of it actually enjoys the despondency and often doesn't want to be cured.



The purest and most delicious of malt beverages. Brewed as they brew it in Pilsen. Every bottle pasteurized. Ask your dealer for

The Beer with a Reputation

O'K

A. ROUNTREE, Agent, 416 Water Street

THE PERSONAL MACAULAY.

The Great Man Was Given to Monopolizing Conversation at Times.

When Charles Greville, a rather fastidious observer, first met Macaulay, not knowing who he was, he thought him a rather ordinary person. He was amazed to learn, when Macaulay, as usual, began to hold the attention of the whole table, that this was the famous historian and essayist. Like other great talkers, however, Macaulay was too much inclined to monopolize the conversation. "Oh, horrid! horrid!" Sydney Smith told a friend, when he was asked what kind of night he had passed; "I dreamt I was chained to a rock, and being talked to death by Harriet Martineau and Macaulay." And on another occasion Smith called him "a book in breeches." It is not difficult to understand that, if one were not interested in the subject, Macaulay, for all his brilliancy, might have been a bore. One may gather from his writings that he had great confidence in his own opinions and little regard for the opinions of others. Still, there were "occasional flashes of silence." No man is always in the mood. It would not be fair, moreover, to dwell too exclusively upon a side of Macaulay's nature which those who knew him best did not regard as the most characteristic side. Unlike many persons who shine in company, he was extremely sensitive. He found it hard to forget or forgive a slight. But he was very generous with his friends, very tender and affectionate with his closest kin. Once he cared for a person he trusted that person as long as it was possible. "His faults," says his nephew and biographer, "were such as to give annoyance to those who dislike a man rather than anxiety to those who love him. Vehemence, over-confidence, the inability to recognise that there are two sides to a question or two people in a dialogue"—these were the especial tendencies of his youth which he never fully outgrew. These were the qualities which made him in his writings so bitter a partisan. Whatever the facts, the Tory dogs always got the worst of it. What in William III. was a choleric word became in James II. flat blasphemy.—Edward Fuller, in The Bookman.

The World's Harbor-Builder.

Sir William Matthews, chief of the engineering firm of Goode, Son and Matthews, who designed the new gigantic National Harbor at Dover, Eng., for the protection of British Dreadnoughts, is the world's harbor-builder. An energetic Cornishman of sixty-five, he has constructed harbors and piers in all parts of the world. One of the most notable engineering feats carried out by his firm was the construction of the famous Colombo Harbor. Their biggest undertaking, however, was Portland Harbor, which looks in the largest area of deep water of any British artificial harbor. It took twenty-three years to place the millions of tons of masonry and concrete into position.

Another famous engineer engaged in Britain's latest harbor was Sir John Jackson, who is carrying out contracts at the present moment which total nearly $50,000,000. He is now engaged on the construction of a new naval harbor at Simon's Town, Cape Colony, a harbor at Singapore, a dam for Loch Levin, in Scotland, a breakwater on the Tyne, new naval docks in Spain, and a railway over the Andes. These huge undertakings involve millions of money, and mean employment to thousands of mechanics and laborers. One of Sir John's dreams is the linking of Britain to the continent by the erection of a gigantic bridge which will defy the attacks of the severest storm.

Doctor's Strange Story.

"I used to write for a medical periodical. On returning home one day after a very heavy day's work at the hospital, and feeling completely exhausted, I found a note from the editor, 'Please let me have an article on such-and-such a subject to-night.' I sat down with pen and paper before me, but not a word could I write. Then I lay back lazily, and began to speculate as to the cause of my want of ideas. I thought, 'The brain is the same as it was yesterday, but yesterday I was not tired; perhaps it is the feebler circulation that prevents the brain from acting. If the blood does not go up to the brain, I may bring the brain down to the blood.' I therefore placed my head flat on the table, looking sideways at the paper, and began to write easily. On raising my head again every idea fled, so I placed my head again down on the table, and finished the article with my head in that position."—Sir T. Lauder Brunton, in The Practitioner.

Monkeys Registered at "Gib."

The monkeys of Gibraltar are familiar objects of interest to visitors to the Rock, and hold official recognition in connection with the garrison. How they first got into occupation of the stronghold is unknown, though they are undoubtedly descended from an ancestry brought by man from the Barbary coast opposite. They are a great and protected community.

The guards on the highest point—the signal-station—have strict orders to chronicle the monkeys' movements, and to register their births and deaths. When their numbers have so greatly increased as to need thinning, special warrants from high home authorities are received ere an official may have it in command to give the quietus to a small percentage of the community.

"Max" and "G.B.S."

Here is a characteristic story of Mr. Max Beerbohm whose new book has just been published. He was engaged by a weekly paper to succeed Mr. Bernard Shaw as dramatic critic. The manager told him what salary Shaw had received. "Of course, being comparatively inexperienced," the manager added, "you can scarcely expect so much." "Oh, yes, I shall," rejoined Mr. Beerbohm, decisively. "Indeed, I shall expect more! You see," he explained, "as Shaw knows the drama thoroughly, it was perfectly easy for him to write about it. Now, as I know nothing about it, it will be awfully hard work."

A Tea Test.

To test tea burn a small quantity on a metal plate. With good tea the amount of ash remaining is small, increasing in quantity as the quality of the samples tested deteriorates.

The Early Telegraph.

The earliest telegraph records were four or five words a minute.

Baha Oranges.

Travelers and connoisseurs who have tasted all the fruits of the world are of one voice and rapt opinion in pronouncing the oranges of Baha, Brazil, the king of all fruits.

The doctor says you have got to take Cod Liver Oil—if so, why not take it in the easiest and best form—why not take

Scott's Emulsion

That is what the doctor means. He would not force you to take the crude oil when he knows the Emulsion is better—more easily digested and absorbed into the system—and will not upset the stomach like the plain oil.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS

Send No., name of paper and this ad. for our beautiful Savings Bank and Child's Sketch-Book. Each bank contains a Good Luck Penny.
SCOTT & BOWNE
126 Wellington Street, West Toronto, Ont.

Dusty Friday No More
Why You Should Use "Dustbane"
It saves labour in sweeping
It saves one-half your dusting
It saves your Carpets and Rugs
It saves damage by moths
It saves taking up Carpets
It saves your health.
It saves your money.
It Costs Nothing To Try
Dustbane
Peterborough Grocers are authorized by the manufacturer to send you a 35c can of Dustbane. They want you to use this on trial for one week. At the end of this period if not found satisfactory, there will be no charge made for quantity used.
It Does away with Dust on Sweeping Day, You Want it.
Sold in barrels, ½ barrels and ¼ barrels for Store, School and Office use, by
The Peterborough Hardware Co.

Building Lots For Sale
THE PETERBORO SUGAR CO. PROPERTY has been cut up into lots, which are now offered for sale: lots 50-ft. frontage by 120-ft. in depth.
These lots are most desirable for building purposes, and any person contemplating the purchase of a lot for this purpose will do well to look over this property before purchasing elsewhere.
Ful particulars and all information can be had on application to
The Toronto Savings and Loan Company
437 George Street, City

Monday Is Ironing Day
Don't leave the purchase of Collier's Electric Smoothing IRONS until the last minute, and by this same token when a good one is a COLLIER you have the "slick" iron in the market.
THE COLLIER-CUNNINGHAM COMPANY
77 SIMCOE STREET EAST PHONE 666

December Coal

7.50 Per Ton Cash

YOU KNOW just what you need for the winter. Why delay? Order this month and save.

COAL

For Every Purpose.

WOOD

Any way you want it.

The Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Company, Limited

162 CHARLOTTE ST.

PHONE—Bell, 276. Mach., 27

134 AYLMER ST.

PHONE— . . . Bell 220

Mrs. M. J. Byrne

Dealer in

Ladies' Furnishings

and Hair Work

Ladies' Underwear, Children's Clothing and Ornamental Shield Work a specialty. Switches, Bangs, etc., always in stock and made to order fashionably. Combings of Hair done up in any desired style. Braids, Wigs, etc., rented for carnivals, concerts and all occasions.

424 George St. Phone 262

Better Stock and More of It

CHRISTMAS FLOWERS

If you are in a hurry, or have forgotten Somebody,

TELEPHONE YOUR FLOWER ORDERS TO

West-End Greenhouses

Take the Jackson Park Street Car. Our stops within a few yards of Greenhouses

567 Park St. Phone 21

Day and Night

DOWN-TOWN AGENCY—At White & Gillespie's Grocery, 336 George St.

SLEIGHING

Drawing near and your Cutter or Business Sleighs require revarnishing or repainting. Now is the time to have it done and stored until you want them. For a good reliable up-to-date job of Carriage Painting or lettering give

W. J. ANDREWS

a trial this time. Shop

178 Stanley St., opp. New Armouries

(yr.)

J. J. SHADGETT

Up-to-date Carriage and Sign Painter. Dealer in Waggons, Cutters and Sleighs. All Repairing promptly executed.

57 Hunter St. Phone 443

B. LASTAR

BARGAIN HOUSE

Santa Claus Takes Off His Cap

To B. Lastar's Holiday Stock of Christmas and New Year's Presents. Come and see them, they are the cheapest in Town

Ladies' Furs, Coats, Skirts, Suits Waists Millinery, Feathers Plumes, etc.

Men's Overcoats Suits, Hats, Caps.

Boys' Clothing, Neckwear, Scarfs and etc.

Children's Furs, Coats and Caps. Toys, Fancy Goods, Jewellery, Purses, Brooches, etc.

R. P. TOBIN

CONTRACTOR & BUILDER

288 Brock St. Phone 1282J

Jan-48

B. SHORTLY'S CHRISTMAS STORE

Every year more and more people find here just what they are looking for in the Gift line, such as

Trunks Satchels

Travelling Bags

Shopping Bags

Suit Cases Purses

Fitted-Out Bags

and Club Bags

for both ladies and gentlemen

Wallets, Pocket Books

Nothing Nicer for Xmas Gifts

We never had a better assortment, either in quality and design, and the prices will be found very reasonable and adaptable to every purse.

B. SHORTLY

Sign of the Horse - George Street

THE PALACE GROCERY

XMAS FRUIT

—of—

Graham & Co's.

EVERYTHING NEW

Finest Selected Raisins

4 lbs. for 25c.

Choicest Cleaned Currants

3½ lbs. for 25c.

English Mixed Peel

20c per lb.

Yepiant's Mince Meat

Choicest on the market.

3 lbs. for 25c.

Shelled Almonds or Walnuts

40c per lb.

We respectfully solicit a share of your patronage.

293 GEORGE ST.

Nearly opposite Opera House

PHONE 483

CENTRAL CANADA LOAN & SAVINGS COY.

BANK ST. E., TORONTO

Notice is hereby given that a quarterly dividend at the rate of eight per cent. (8%) per annum for the three months ending December 31st, 1909, has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this Company, together with a bonus of two per cent. (2%) for the year 1909, making a total dividend disbursement for the year of ten per cent. (10%). The said dividend and bonus will be payable at the office of the Company in this city on and after January 1st, 1910.

The Transfer Books of the Company will be closed from the 20th to the 31st of December, both days inclusive.

E. R. WOOD,
Managing Director.

Toronto, December, 15th, 1909.

FOSTER'S WEATHER FORECAST FOR MONTH

Special to The Examiner.

Washington, D.C., Dec. 25. — Last bulletin gave forecasts of disturbances to cross continent 27 to 31, warm wave 26 to 30, cool wave 29 to Jan. 2. The feature of that disturbance will be the recovery from the cold wave expected reach meridian 90, not far from Dec. 25. Warmer and threatening weather 28 to 31.

Next disturbance, on its journey eastward, will reach Pacific coast about 31, cross Pacific slope by close of Jan. 1, great central valleys 2 to 4. Northeastern states and provinces 5. Warm wave will cross Pacific slope about 31, great central valleys Jan. 2, eastern provinces and northeastern states 4. Cool wave will cross Pacific slope about Jan. 4, great central valleys 6, eastern provinces and north eastern states 8. This disturbance will bring about normal temperatures with the winter storms more severe than the average. The cool wave will be a cold wave which means a drop in temperatures of at least twenty degrees to freezing within twenty-four hours. Some rain or snow may be expected as that cold wave comes in. Relatively it will be colder in the southern than in the northern states. The storm wave will pass across northern sections and the cool wave across southern parts.

January will average warmer than usual. About middle of the month a great high temperature wave and thaw will cross the continent. Rainfall and snow will be deficient first half of month, and rain will be excessive last half of the month. Most rain of the month will fall in the great central valleys of the States, including the Ohio valleys and least rain and snow will fall in Canada.

Cold waves will reach far southward, not far from Jan. 6 and 22, and most severe storms will come not far from Jan. 16.

The Comet.

People should not worry about anything. Worry never brings relief. If I thought about the comet I would not write about it. But the comet is intruding itself into notice, and we must meet the ordeal bravely and not show cowardice.

The long-range visitor will come uncomfortably close to our little earth next April, May and June, if our astronomers have made no mistake. Early in the mornings of April it will make its appearance in the northwest, with its tail streaming upward and to the right. Rapidly its brightness will increase for it will be coming toward the earth with all the appearance of a head-on collision. The fact is that the astronomers are a little puzzled about the comet. They are not able to exactly locate its path and a very small error might bring it so close to us as to cause alarm.

It is believed that if our earth and the comet were timed to arrive at the crossing eight days earlier there would sure be a collision, and while none should have fear of any casualty the event will be of such intense interest that all other news items will be wholly obscured. These bulletins will give all the comet news, while the astronomers will not. They are afraid of scaring someone.

A SILLY SAYING.

"It is a common, but silly opinion prevailing among a certain class of people that the worse a remedy tastes, smells or hurts, the more efficacious it is." So says a well-known English physician. He further adds: "For example, let us consider cod liver oil. As it is extracted from the fish this oil is so offensive to the taste and smell that almost everybody abhors it, and many cannot use it at all, no matter how badly they need it. Yet Cod Liver Oil is one of the most valuable drugs in the world, and it is the greatest pity that we have not thus far been able to free it from those peculiarities which so seriously interfere with its usefulness." This was written years ago; the work of civilising and redeeming it, however, has since been triumphantly accomplished; and as a leading ingredient in the effective remedy called the oil retains all its wonderful curative properties with no bad smell, or taste, whatever. It is palatable as honey, and contains all the nutritive and curative properties of pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry; creating a medicine of unequalled power for the diseases most prevalent and fatal among men, women and children. There is no other remedy to compare with it. It increases the digestive power of the stomach and in Blood Impurities, Weakness, Loss of Flesh, Throat and Lung Troubles, Nervous Dyspepsia, Scrofulous Affections, Thinness and slow development in the young, it gives quick and certain relief and cure. Dr. R. K. —— of Canada, says: "I shall continue its use with, I am sure, great advantage to my patients and satisfaction to myself." Has all the virtues of Cod Liver Oil; none of its faults. You may trust it fully; it cannot disappoint or fail. One bottle convinces. Sold by all chemists. —Warne Drug Co.

FERROL TASTELESS

SCHOOL REPORT

Following is the report for December of S. S. No. 5, Smith:

Class IV.—Louis Forsythe, Rosella Wood, Fred Mann, Frieda Jobe, Mable Roberts, Gordon Nichols, Hazel Block, Marguerite Mann, Carrie Crookshanks, Sadie Kennedy, Sam Bell.

Class III.—Cecil Forsythe, Cecil Wood, Mable Grant, Harry Grant, Nina Kennedy, Wallace Nichols, Walter Jopling, Mamie Mann.

Class II. — Redvers Jobe, Violet Heard, Harry McManus, Maggie Nichols, Reta Young.

Pt. II.—Rolland McMahon, Mildred Newman, Madeline Young.

Part I.—Violet Forsythe, Pauline Heard, John Coons, Murray McMahon.

I.—Morgan Cullen, Monda Grovelle, Verna Grovelle, Ruby Avery.

Those who attended most regularly for the year were Violet Heard, 208 days; Pauline Heard, 203 days; Rosella Wood, 208 days; Cecil Wood, 201 days.

M. Martin, Teacher.

Report of S. S. No. 5, Otonabee for the month of December:

Class V.—Will Hope, 134.

Class IV.—Will Fife 231, Will Miller 206, Edith Hope 179, Christina Fife 144, Roberta Esson 57.

Class III.—Lizzie Wood 185, Della Thompson 185, John Richison 36.

Class II., Sr.—Elma Kerr 391, Stanley Wood 263, Delbert Richison 310, Melville Pimmett 221.

Class II., Jr. — Esther Thompson 258, Maggie Breckenridge 263, Walter Hogan 214, Leata Wood 191.

Class Part II.—Ruby Kerr 194.

Part I.—Mera Thompson 254, Isabella D. McDougall, teacher.

Following is the report of School Section No. 5, Cavan, for December:

Sr. IV.—Ethel Hilton, Eileen Hunter, (Elsie Staples, Willie Whitfield), Kathleen Staples.

Jr. IV.—Frank Harkness, Russell Earle, Cora Braithwaite, Muir Hilton, Sandy Sisson, Clarence Hilton, Minnie Mowry absent from exam.

II.—(Olive Sisson, Maggie Sisson), Herbie Morton, Arthur Windsor, Zeta McCall, Jossie Whitfield, Albert Wills Harold Biglow.

Sr. Pt. II.—(Alice Staples, Myrtle Swain), Emily Richetts, Vergie Thomson.

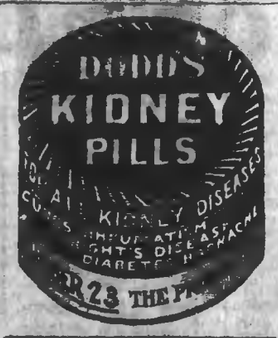
Jr. Pt. II.—Eric Whitfield, Jessie Hilton.

Jr. I.—Leslie Pritchard, Willie McCall.

A.—Joe Braithwaite, Herbie Brown.

Aggregate attendance(564; average daily attendance, 35.

Ethel Taggart, Teacher.



A MAN WITH A FUTURE

JAMES DOUGLAS DISCUSSES HON. WINSTON CHURCHILL.

He Is a Nervous Young Man With Wonderful Fingers That Writhe and Twine as He Talks—He Lisps and Stutters But Talks Like a God—Even the Oldest in the House Listen Attentively.

I am more keenly interested in personalities than politics, and therefore I am more heartily interested in Mr. Winston Churchill than in many other politicians, writes James Douglas, the London journalist. There are many clever men in the House of Commons, but not one of them stings you with the romantic excitement of adventurous ambition. It is an age of ability, rather than an age of genius. Most of the flaming figures are past the climacteric of peril. Mr. Churchill alone tingles with a dramatic future.

Clothes are the man, and Mr. Churchill dresses his part. He wears the hideous uniform of the middle-aged British statesman. He eschews dandyism. His frock coat is severely pompous and his black cravat is gravely austere. His collar is solemnly respectable, and its vast ears are beginning to glory in the Gladstonian tradition. He begs a humble colleague to fetch him a glass of water like an old Parliamentary hand. His mien is not merely important; it is majestic. Sir William Harcourt himself in his ripest fame did not wheel round to invoke the cheers of his legions with more splendid assurance. Even Gladstone did not launch a more piercing glance of challenge at the leader of the Opposition. Nor was Disraeli less burdened with superfluous modesty or exaggerated diffidence. His superb aplomb is native, not assumed. He has the gift of spontaneous superiority, and natural domination. He can patronize bald veterans without an effort, and accept silver-haired homage without a smile. He groups famous men round his eloquence as if he were inured to adulation, and yet he is always greater than his setting. The very Sergeant-at-Arms becomes his acolyte, and the Mace his sceptre. He even contrives with a delicate flicker of his cold blue eye to suggest that the Speaker, is not, like himself, a survival of the fittest, and the House laughs with scandalised awe at the audacity of an innuendo which is only a gesture.

His physique is that of a neurotic athlete. He is all nerves and vigor. His frame is as lean and lithe as Mr. Chamberlain's, with something of the same impassioned intensity of vigilance and sharp alertness of ear and eye. But it is prematurely bent and bowed, and the square, ugly shoulders tell a tale of laborious hours, which is confirmed by the thinned brown hair, the bald brow and temples, the wide parting, and the white patch on the crown. The face, too, has shaken off the hesitating contours of youth, and settled itself into a granite fixity. It is a square face, all battlemented brows and walled jaws, heavy angles and salients, with a portcullis mouth, and a nose like a tower. When the hard mouth melts into a humorous smile the lovable boyish side of his nature is visible. But this is rare.

His voice is erratic. He lisps over every sibilant, and I am sure he could not say "Shibboleth." His lisp is part of his neurotic temperament. It will be known as the Winston lisp, like the Gladstone collar, the Disraeli curl, and the Chamberlain eyeglass. He also possesses a fine stammer. The Winston stammer will be popular. But not every stripling can lisp himself into notoriety and stutter himself into fame.

The nervous passion of the man is visible not only in his neurotic hair, in his neurotic lisp, and in his neurotic stammer. It plays in his neurotic hands. I used to go to see Duse solely for the pleasure of watching her beautiful hands. This afternoon I watch the nervous hands of our young Chatham. I forget the cascade of oratory that is tumbling out of his mouth as I look down on the dramatic fingering of his fingers. They are long, thin, white, supple, restless tentacles. They coil round each other in an interlaced passion. They flicker in the air, flinging electrical metaphors over the absorbed faces that are fixed in an enchanted silence. They are the fingers of a violinist and they seem to draw music out of the six hundred human strings of Westminster. Now they caress and cajole, now they close in sudden menace, now they throttle and strangle, now they mock and deride. It may be fantasy, but it seems at times that these subtle fingers sweep over the spellbound Parliament as the fingers of a lyrist sweep over a lyre.

But stranger than neurotic hair, neurotic lisp, neurotic stammer, neurotic fingers, is the neurotic flesh. Life has drained it of color, and left it a dead, cadaverous white. Its waxen pallor is ghostly in the sad neutral light, but behind the bloodless parchment glows a steady radiance of impassioned energy, like fire in a bladder. This luminous strength flames in the tired face. It is more than will and intellect. It is lambent imagination leaping along the nerves into the mobile features. It is a conflagration of personality, the soul in action, a spiritual thunderstorm, a charged cloud stabbing the Parliamentary sky with electric flashes. Members and Ministers, peers and journalists, financiers and ambassadors, lawyers and soldiers, rigidly watch the brilliant fulgurations flame and fade. And by a prank of irony I find my eye fixed upon the gold stud that fastens the back of the rhetorician's collar to his shirt. It seems to knot and knit the dramatic scene into unity. The last time I saw Gladstone was on that fateful night when he threw down his gauntlet for the last time to the House of Lords. The only thing that stuck in my memory was the black silk bows on his evening pumps. So this afternoon I go away brooding over the untidy collar-stud on the nape of Winston Churchill's neck.

Africa.

Africa is the most elevated of all the continents. It is the "continent of plateaus." The great tableland in the south has a mean altitude of over 1,500 feet. The wide tableland on the north has an average elevation of about 1,300 feet.

A Word of Advice About Xmas Dinner. How to Avoid Indigestion.

'Eating a plenty,' as the small boy says, will be done by many who have weak stomachs on Christmas day, and frequently causes sudden deaths from heart weakness, apoplexy, and the like in this class of sufferers. Many are compelled to suffer during the holidays because of indigestion induced by over-eating and overtaxing the stomach. We want to aid those who suffer with dyspepsia and stomach disorders, so that they can eat of all the good things and not be compelled to suffer afterwards. One or two teaspomsful of the following will digest any meal you can eat. It is capable of taking over the entire work of digestion, thus relieving the weak stomach. It is said by a great specialist to have cured many famous people, who lived "too high." Get the ingredients at any leading drug store and mix at home in half pint bottle. Two ounces syrup of Ginger, two ounces essence Pepsain, and one ounce Comp. essence of Cardiol.

These are powerfully blended in this recipe, but can be used freely by old people or children with weak stomachs, so that they will feel good all through the holidays. Let's hope that many dyspeptics and old people will take advantage of this Xmas recipe.

Countess Leads Wolf in Streets.

The Countess Troubetzkoy, known to the reading public as Amelie Rives, soon will visit this country, and she will bring with her a pet wolf. Since she went to Europe with her husband several years ago she has been living almost constantly in Paris, and there she now walks daily with the pet wolf in leash. The wolf was captured when young by a peasant in Russia, and the countess took it and tamed it. The animal walks as quietly as a dog and obeys every command of the countess. Count Troubetzkoy does not approve of his wife's pet, fearing that it will become vicious and attack her, but she insists on keeping the wolf and always takes it out unmuzzled. A couple of weeks ago the wolf killed a bull terrier with a snap. But the countess remains confident there is no danger to herself.

Love Reckoned Up.

When Mme. de Staël was about seventeen she was placed at a convent in France. She used to visit a friend who lived across the square on which the convent was situated. The brother of her friend always insisted on escorting her home and took her around the two sides of the square. But as his passion decreased he gradually shortened the route until he took her home by the nearest way. The witty lady remarks, "By this I learned that his passion diminished in the exact proportion of the diagonal to the sides of a square," probably the most accurate calculation of waning affection that maiden ever made.

Navigators' Date Line.

The international date line is an irregular line drawn arbitrarily on the map of the Pacific ocean near the one hundred and eightieth meridian of longitude, marking the place where navigators change their date on the transpacific voyage. This change is necessary on account of the lengthening of one hour for every fifteen degrees of travel westward. By traveling eastward a day will be gained, westward a day will be lost.—New York American.

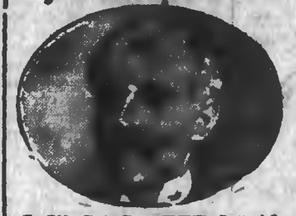
It Suits Them All

Old and young delight in the richness and deliciousness of COWAN'S PERFECTION COCOA.

It suits every taste.

The Cowan Co. Limited, TORONTO. 136

Eye Help for the Long Evenings



Reading and Fancy Work will soon make eyes busy at sitting room and library table. All right if the eyes are perfect. Alright if the troublesome eyes have the needed help. So easy to hurt the eyes—so easy to help them if you start in time. Our optical specialist will find your exact need. Glasses will help you. Then if you wish we will supply the perfect lenses set in whatever frame you choose. Prices will vary from $1 to $12 per pair. We replace broken lenses with or without prescription, at 50c to $3 each. Solder repairs 25c to 75c. Frames 25c to $3.

J. W. BROWETT Optical Specialist, Teacher of Opticians. Graduate of Optical Colleges of Montreal, Toronto, Philadelphia, New York, Chicago and Detroit.

MANY APPOINTMENTS ARE MADE FOR DAY OR EVENING EXAMINATIONS BY TELEPHONE— BELL 1231, MACHINE 7.

Over twenty years experience in examing Eyes for Glasses.

The Peterborough Optical Institute

IN THE MARKET BUILDING GEORGE STREET

DOLLS! DOLLS! DOLLS!

BARGAINS IN DOLLS ALL THIS WEEK

The Best Selection in Peterborough at Cubitt's Bookstore

Kid Bodies, all sizes, Dressed and Undressed, some in full street costume, at prices which will clear them all out in a few days.

GET FIRST CHOICE

F. C. CUBITT, 370 George St.

SOMETHING ELECTRICAL

In the Electrical line, many novelties have been brought out lately—articles of household use which give comfort and satisfaction every day. These make ideal gifts, up-to-date: —

ELECTRIC IRONS PORTABLE TABLE LAMPS

ELECTRIC TOASTERS ELECTRIC FIXTURES

ELECTRIC HEATERS ELECTRIC DOMES

Get our prices on entire Electric House Fixtures. We save you money. We do House Wiring. Install Motors, Bells, etc.

The F. J. R. MacPHERSON CO.

341 GEORGE STREET LIMITED

OUR OYSTERS

Have the Tang of the Sea

We receive our Oysters under the regulations of the Sealshipt System, which covers the Growing, Shucking, Shipping, Selling of SEALSHIPT OYSTERS.

They are economical, for you are buying nothing but solid oysters—no water.

WALTER J. OKE Local Distributing Agent, 376 Geo. St

BOTH PHONES 18

RESPONSIBLE FOR FIRES.

Animals Used by Firesetters — Rats and Mice Fond of Matches.

The latest trick in burning up a building for profit, "touching it off," the firemen call it, comes from Liverpool, Eng. Fires in the cotton warehouses came so regularly that the authorities became convinced that the fires were purposely set. A strict watch was rewarded by the firemen catching a fire in its incipiency and extinguishing it where it started.

A search was then made for evidence, and the first thing discovered was a small hole in the wall. A few bricks had been taken out, but the opening was not large enough to admit a person. The next thing that turned up was a cat. This solved the mystery of the hole in the wall, as well as the manner of setting the fires.

Puss still had attached to her tail some half-burned rags. The incendiary simply put the cat through the opening, lit the stuff tied to her tail, and the cat naturally ran wild through the warehouse, carrying a trail of fire behind her. A fire in a cotton warehouse set in this manner usually meant a total loss and poor puss was burned, destroying the evidence.

Certain "firemakers" have been known to use a dog as a firebug. First the dog was tied to the leg of a table on which was placed a kerosene oil lamp. After leaving the room and closing the door behind him, the firemaker called to the dog. Making every effort to respond, the faithful animal naturally pulled and tugged at the cord attached to the table. If he pulled hard enough he upset the table and threw the lamp on the floor and the blaze was started.

The rat has been used to start fires, but often with disastrous consequences to the man who used the rat. A stable keeper who was troubled with rats got a grudge against the animals and thought it would be a fine thing to pour kerosene oil on a rat and light it. The rat promptly ran back to its nest in the stable, the most natural thing for it to do, and set fire to the stable, and shortly the stable keeper was gazing on a pile of smoking rubbish as the result of his experiment.

Of course everyone knows that rats and mice are regular firebugs. A certain scientist once made an experiment to find out if rats would gnaw matches. For two weeks a rat was kept under watch and matches placed with its food. It was not long before it was seen chewing the matches, and once it got a taste of the phosphorus it began to like the matches, and in chewing them set them off.

Mice also like phosphorus, because it is sweet, and they will steal matches to use them in building their nests. In one case in which a fiber was opened up a collection of heads of matches was found laid aside in a corner for food, while the sticks had been used in building the nest. Birds have also been responsible for fires, but not actually causing them like the rats and mice. The birds are firemakers through building their nests in places where sparks from a chimney, for instance, fall in the straw and dry stuff used in building the nest.

Life is a great bundle of little things. —Holmes.

Red Rose Tea "Is Good Tea"

It is alway worth the price

When wanting a natty outfit for business or pleasure ring up
PULKINGHORN'S LIVERY
successor to Akey & Millburn
198 Hunter. 'Phone 278

The Evening Examiner.

ONE CENT A WORD
The Evening Examiner Want Ads. always bring results. For Sale, To-let, Losts-10 words-10c

16 PAGES PETERBOROUGH FRIDAY DECEMBER 24 1909 PAGES 9 TO 16

THE EXAMINER WISHES ITS MANY READERS A VERY BRIGHT AND HAPPY CHRISTMAS

NOMINATIONS FOR THE COMING ELECTIONS WILL BE HELD ON MONDAY MORNING IN THE CITY HALL

Ald. Morrow and Mr. E. F. Mason are Two Contestants for the Mayoralty---Nominations in Council Chamber From 10 to 11 a.m., and From 12 to 1 o'clock---Seven Aldermen, Five Public School Trustees and One Water Commissioner to be Elected on January 3rd.

The first shots in the approaching municipal campaign will be fired on Monday, December 27th, Nomination Day. Up to the present there has been no striking manifestations of a stirring election day, but here and there an undercurrent is found that strengthens the belief that Nomination Day will stir up the interest that is now dormant or remains to be awakened. When the elector picks up his ballots on Monday, January 3rd, he will find that when he comes out he will be able to mark an X with his eyes shut. There are four by-laws to be voted on, seven aldermen to be elected, five vacancies on the Board of Education to be filled and one Water Commissioner to be chosen.

On Monday morning between 10 and 11 o'clock nominations will be received for the Mayoralty, the Board of Education, and the Water Commission. From 12 to 1 o'clock nominations will be received for the City Council. City Clerk Armstrong will be the chairman at these two public meetings.

The by-laws to be voted on have all been dealt with in the press for months past and should be known thoroughly by those ratepayers who are sufficiently interested in municipal affairs to read the news paper references to them. One by-law provides for the issuing of debentures for the borrowing of $19,000 for the erection of an isolation hospital, another is the Local Option By-law, which should be thoroughly known by this time. A third is a by-law providing for the return to the ward system of electing, and the last is a by-law authorizing the agreement of the city with the Peterborough Light and Power Co., by which the Company is permitted the use of the city streets for their poles for a term of thirty years. There are many clauses to this agreement and the members of the Council have, as a body, expressed their approval of the agreement, stating that the city gains over the present contract if the new agreement is passed by the people.

Owing to Ald. Morrow resigning from the aldermanic Board to enter as a candidate for the Mayoralty, a vacancy is made which must be filled by a special ballot. Ald. Morrow had been elected for two years, and would therefore have been a member of the Council of 1910. An alderman will, therefore, be elected for a term of one year, filling the vacancy occasioned by Ald. Morrow's resignation.

Up to the present there has been no definite announcement of an opponent to Ald. Morrow for the Mayor's chair. Mr. E. F. Mason has been mentioned on the street, but nothing definite has been received as to his intentions. The members of the Council who retire by virtue of the two-year term are Ald. McIntyre, Bradburn, Duffus, Duncan, Metheral, and Turner. The six men who receive the highest votes at the coming elections will sit in the Council for the next two years. On the Board of Education Messrs. John Crane, D. W. Dumble, W. H. Hill, W. F. Nelson and Dr. Burnham are the members whose terms expire now, and Mr. W. H. Moore's term as a member of the Water Commission, is concluded at the end of this year. It is likely that there will be a number of warm contests for the different positions, which will likely be brought out during the coming week.

It has been learned this afternoon that Mr. E. F. Mason will contend against Ald. Morrow for the Mayoralty, having finally announced his decision.

ALD. W. G. MORROW
First candidate for the Mayoralty in the field

CARS WERE DERAILED

Broken Truck Under a Baggage Car of Eastbound C.P.R. Express Resulted in Damage to Rolling Stock.

PASSENGERS WERE LUCKY

Special to The Examiner.

North Bay, Dec. 24.—A broken truck under the baggage car of No. 49, eastbound C. P. R. Winnipeg-Toronto express derailed five cars, 22 miles east of Missanabie, at one o'clock this morning. Three colonist cars were rolled down the embankment. Seventeen passengers were injured, none of them very seriously. No more than three will find it necessary to go to the hospital at Sudbury, and even these may continue on their journey eastward, on account of Christmas festivals. The train was a very heavy one of twelve coaches, each one jammed to the doors with passengers, returning east for Christmas.

NIAGARA FALLS GETS FACTORY

St. Paul Firm Asks For a Loan to Put Up a Big Establishment

Niagara Falls, Ont., Dec. 24.—One of the largest gasoline engine firms in Minnesota, the Stickney Engine Co., of St. Paul, will establish a branch factory here if the by-law to be submitted to the ratepayers on Jan. 12 passes. The company proposes to erect a large factory to supply the Canadian trade and wants to borrow from the city $37,500 at six per cent., half the estimated cost of the building and site.

They will install machinery and stock to the value of a quarter of a million and will employ about one hundred mechanics.

PROSPERITY

Merchants Find Christmas Season Much Better Than Last Year

After a general round of the stores the general opinion expressed by the merchants is to the effect that the Christmas trade up to the present has been much better than that of last year. Most of the merchants state the business has extended over a much longer period than usually. One prominent George St. man remarked that the holiday traffic had begun three weeks ago and he was of the opinion that the agitation for earlier shopping had brought about good results. While a great amount of the Christmas shopping has been done the tide will reach its zenith to-night just before Santa Claus reaches the city and prior to the time the little tots toddle off to bed to dream of the reindeers, bulging stockings, and plum pudding. Look around to-night and you will notice the 11th hour man and woman as they flip a coin on what they will buy and finish by taking the first article the clerk shows him. It is always a good natured happy crowd that struggles along the sidewalks on Christmas eve. From every source the expressions are of contentment that is the result largely of better financial conditions than at this time last year.

THE OPINIONS OF SOME WELL KNOWN CITIZENS UPON SUBJECT OF LOCAL OPTION

The Examiner Has Asked a Number of Prominent Men of This City to Give Their Views, Realizing That There is in the Minds of Many People a Conscientious Uncertainty as to the Proposed Measure---The Replies That Have Been Received so Far are Given To-day.

A few days ago the Examiner sent a copy of the following letter to a considerable number of influential citizens:

Mayor Rush, City:—

Dear Sir, As you know the By-law in regard to Local Option is to be voted upon by the electors on January 3rd.

In view of the fact of the importance of the issue presented and in view of the fact that decided difference of opinion exists, and that a large number of electors are honestly in doubt as to the attitude they should take, The Examiner would be glad to have from you for publication, a brief written expression of your opinion upon the subject of Local Option, as to its probable effect, in case of adoption, upon both the moral and material interests of the city and its people.—Yours truly,

The Peterborough Examiner L't'd.

The following replies have been received to-day:

Peterborough, Dec. 23rd, '09.

To the Editor of the Peterborough Examiner, City—

Sir,—Replying to your favour of the 21st inst. for an expression of opinion on the Local Option question, I can conscientiously say, after much thought and consideration, that I am still of the opinion that Local Option would not be in the interests of Temperance or of the material interests of the City. I feel that the provisions of the Act could not be enforced.

—Yours, H. RUSH.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—In reply to your communication asking for my personal opinion of the merits of local option applied to Peterborough, beg to commend you on this line of action. It is a most business-like method of securing all shades of opinion and should prove decidedly interesting and helpful to the electors.

1.—I believe Local Option will benefit Peterborough morally. While I willingly concede that the law will probably be broken, as every other law is to-day, more or less, I anticipate a decided improvement in the morals of the young men, particularly. Such a change cannot be expected in a day, however. Six months will prove it.

I believe Local Option in a city of this size will prove more successful in every way than in a small town. Travelling facilities are absolutely necessary and with the demands of a large city this accommodation is assured. Boarding houses are considered remunerative with a weekly charge of but $4 or $5. Double this for the hotel rates and financial success is unquestioned.

If the money that is spent over the bars to-day in soh immense sums be diverted to merchandise and the home, as seems very reasonable to expect, Peterborough will boom as it never boomed before. Economics prove that money spent in powder and war makes the world that much poorer. Whiskey and beer, etc., are in the same class, as powder.

I know of dozens of homes in this city where the wives are anxious to secure extra home comforts, for instance, but the gratification of this desire depends upon the husband who selfishly spends his wages on his own peculiar appetite. I firmly believe that Local Option will bring commercial success to this and all mercantile lines.

H. B. COLLIER.
Manager Canada Flakes Co., Limited, and Collier-Cunningham Co., L't'd.

"INDIAN LIST" MEN FINED

Two Pleaded Guilty to Breaches of Liquor License Law in Police Court This Morning—One Had to Pay $15.49.

PAID FINES FORTHWITH

Two blacklisted persons were charged with a breach of the liquor license act, at the police court this morning. T. Hearn of Bridgenorth, pleaded guilty to having obtained liquor and was fined ten dollars and costs, amounting to $15.49, which was paid forthwith. The other man also pleaded guilty and was fined ten dollars.

It appears that the former defendant went into the bar of the Peterborough House and asked for a drink. When asked if his name was Hearn he denied it, saying it was Sullivan. He got the drink, but the bartender, later learned that the "Indian List" man had not told the truth and informed on him, resulting in his being arraigned. The second offender fell from the water waggon on Wednesday.

CODE RATES

New Telegraphic Tariff Will go Into Effect July 1st.

The railway commission heard a long argument to-day on the complaint of the Manufacturers' association against the new tariff on code messages proposed by the telegraph companies. On artificial words it is proposed that five instead of ten letters should count as one word. The manufacturers argue that this will disarrange their codes.

The new tariff has gone into effect in the United States and on government telegraphs and the board ordered that on international business its previous order forbidding the new tariff going into effect until the evidence was heard, should not apply.

The commission this afternoon gave judgment allowing the new tariffs of the companies to come into effect on July 1st next.

Band at Street Railway Rink Christmas afternoon.

WAS FOUND DRUNK

Alex. McDonald Kept in Jail Until His Train Time.

Allin McDonald was on his way home down East and stopped off at Peterborough yesterday. He got the worse of liquor and spent the night in the police station. This morning when he appeared before Magistrate Dumble in the police court, he had hardly recovered from his dissipation of the night before. He did not know what had happened him, but all the money that he had left was two dollars. His Worship ordered that the prisoner be kept in gaol until his train went out at half-past five, and that he be put on the train.

EVIDENCE WAS CONTRADICTORY AS TO WHETHER KNIFE WAS USED

Incident That Occurred in Italians' Shack at New Dam Was Aired in the County Court Yesterday—Dismissed Had to Pay Costs.

STORY OF THE AFFAIR

A large representation of Italians mostly workmen at the new waterworks dam were interested spectators at the County Court yesterday afternoon, when Magistrate Edmison heard the evidence in the charge of assault preferred by Nicolas Lamorgia against Nicolas Ronsetti. The latter is the proprietor of the "shack" in which the men have lived when they were not at work in the construction of the new dam. A great deal of the evidence was conflicting in its character, and Magistrate Edmison dismissed the case, the plaintiff writing an order for the costs to be taken from the wages coming to him. Mr. Tom Minicola acted as interpreter.

From the evidence it seems that there were two shanties, and on account of a large number of the men leaving when their services were no longer requiredone of them was emptied of its residents, excepting one Bruno, who was almost the counterpart of King George who paid the city a visit last June. Bruno was therefore taken into the other shack as he did not like the idea of being the sole sleeper in the place. It was decided by Proprietor Ronsetti that he should share Lamorgia's bed, and as a matter of caste, the latter decided that he would leave the place rather than endure the said Bruno as a bedfellow. He offered to settle his bill and Lamorgia dared him to it, and Ronsetti took up the gauntlet, but the plaintiff claimed that he also picked up a butcher knife as long as a man's arm, and was only prevented from reaching Lamorgia by the interference of three or four other men.

The various witnesses did not see these men, it being stated that the only person who interfered was Mary Winn, a woman who has been Ronsetti's housekeeper for a number of years, although she is not his wife. She simply pushed him back behind the counter of the little store room, in which the affair happened. When the evidence for the defence was concluded Mr. Gordon held that there were not sufficient grounds for a conviction, but put in a defence. Some of these witnesses stated that Ronsetti did not even pick up the knife, and the case petered out with the costs to come out of Lamorgia's pocket.

We have completed arrangements with the leading chemists in Huddersfield, England, and Germany, Paris and France to supply us with the latest dye stuffs which we import direct. With the new process many things are possible which were not a year ago. Parker's Dye Works, 177 Charlotte St. R. H. Beach, Prop. 1m 145

MAYOR HENRY RUSH
Who is laying down the reins of civic office after a two year term.

THE BOYS' CAMPAIGN

Y. M. C. A. Junior Members Have Subscribed $25 to the Fund

The boys of the Y. M. C. A. are evidently in earnest regarding their campaign to raise $250 on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week as they are now contributing towards the fund which was decided to be paid by the members themselves.

Enthusiasm is constantly rising, and they do not anticipate any refusals when canvassing for the balance on 28th and 29th inst.

Band at Street Railway Rink Christmas afternoon.

EDMONTON COMING

A New Turn in Stanley Cup Situation

Although the Winnipeg Shamrocks have cancelled their Stanley cup dates it is probable that another Western team will be down after all to play Ottawa. This morning President D'Arcy McGee of the Ottawas received a telegram from Jack Winchester, acting manager of the Edmonton club, asking the Ottawas to keep the dates open for them. Mr. McGee wired back that Edmonton could have the Shamrock or Galt dates. The Edmonton club has gathered in some of the Shamrock players and intends to bring a strong team east.

WEDDING BELLS

GODFREY—LANCASHIRE.

The wedding was quietly solemnized at the residence of Rev. R. Pogue, of St. Paul's church yesterday afternoon of Mr. Wm. Henry Godfrey to Miss Jean Isabella Lancashire. The young couple, who will reside in the city, were unattended, and will reside on Dufferin street.

Lifebuoy Soap is delightfully refreshing for bath or toilet. For washing underclothing it is unequalled. Cleanses and purifies.

WOMAN RETURNS TO MAN WHO SHOT HIMSELF TO FORGET HER

MR. E. F. MASON
Who to-day announces himself as a candidate for the Mayor's chair for 1910

Mrs. Maude Torrey Comes Back to Man Who Attempted Suicide and Says He Threatened to Shoot Himself if She Left Montreal—May Take Him Away.

A WIDOW AND COMELY

Montreal, Dec. 24th.—Mrs. Maude Torrey, of Hanover, Mass., for whose sake William Elfingwood now lies at the Western Hospital, recovering from a determined attempt to kill himself, is in Montreal, and is stopping at the Victoria Hotel, St. James and Windsor streets. Mrs. Torrey is accompanied by her three-year-old son Barber.

She went to the hotel between 10 and 11 yesterday morning after an unsuccessful attempt to see her friend at the hospital, after being recalled by a telegram at Newport, Vt., while on her way to Boston.

Mrs. Torrey was seen this morning by a reporter just as she was leaving the hotel. She is rather a striking looking woman of between twenty-five and thirty, and was dressed quietly in black with a long brown coat, and a black fur toque. Although self-possessed and not averse to talking, she was evidently disturbed at what had taken place, and showed by her words that she was very fond of the rash young man.

"I saw Will last night," she said. "He was much better, and the doctors said that if blood poisoning did not set in, he would recover.

"I had only been in Montreal for a couple of weeks," she continued in explanation. "Will had a good job and didn't want to leave it. He wanted me to stay here, saying that he would not live without me, but I wanted to go back to the States. Then he threatened to shoot himself if I left him, but I didn't think he meant it. He was not that sort of a man you know.

"I think I can persuade Will to come back to the States with me when he gets better," she said. "I think he's had enough of suicide."

Without being very explicit, Mrs. Torrey said that her husband was dead and that her maiden name was Turner. She said that Ellingwood came from Caribou, Maine.

NEW DISTRICT TO BE FORMED

Bell Telephone Co. to Organize a District to be Known as Peterborough District—Mr. F. W. Doan to be District Manager

NEW LOCAL MANAGER

The Bell Telephone Company is about to form a new district to be known as the Peterborough district, with Mr. F. W. Doan as local manager. A meeting of the district managers will be held in January, when the boundaries of the new district will be outlined. They are likely to be Kingston on the east and Lindsay on the north west and including the towns along the lake front. Mr. Ernie Bruce having been promoted to the managership at Collingwood and Mr. Smith the present manager there, will in all probability come here.

SUMMONS SERVED

Mr. B. Lester to Appear in Court for Creating a Disturbance

It is understood that Mr. B. Lester, was served with a summons to-day to appear before Magistrate Dumble in the Police Court next Friday; on a charge of having created a disturbance in the Opera House, on Wednesday evening, during the progress of the Temperance meeting.

There will be an important meeting of the West End Club to-night in the club rooms, Bank of Commerce building, at 8 o'clock. Every member of the club is expected to be out.

MR. E. F. MASON A CANDIDATE

Has Announced His Decision to Accept a Nomination for the Mayoralty and Will be an Opponent to Ald. Morrow.

MEMBER OF SCHOOL BOARD

At noon to-day Mr. E. F. Mason announced his decision to be a candidate for the Mayoralty and will contest Ald. Morrow at the polls on election day, January 3rd. Mr. Mason had been asked by a number of prominent citizens to stand for election but replied that he would give his decision to-day. To an Examiner reporter yesterday he stated that if the requests were thoroughly representative and he thought the people wanted him to accept the nomination, that he would feel it his duty to come forward. "It is a case of the position seeking the man, not him seeking the position." Mr. Mason was undecided yesterday, but made the announcement of his intentions to-day. He was elected last year a member of the Board of Education and has served on the City Council several years ago.

Band at Street Railway Rink Christmas afternoon.

PRESENTATION TO MR. KENNEDY

Was Received By Presentation From His Toronto Staff

Mr. H. P. Kennedy was honoured by the staff of his Toronto office yesterday afternoon, when his employees surprised him by presenting him with a very handsome gold-headed umbrella. The presentation was made by Mr. A. Quinn, on behalf of the staff, who desired to express their appreciation of the many kindnesses rendered them by Mr. Kennedy during the year. Mr. Kennedy made a neat reply thanking the staff for their kind gift.

LITTLE BOY HAD LEG SEVERED BY TRAIN THIS AFTERNOON

Ten Year Old Son of Mr. A. Rathbone, Downie Street, Met With Unfortunate Accident---Caught on Side of Train and Fell Under---In Nicholls Hospital.

An unfortunate accident occurred this afternoon a few minutes before 3 o'clock when Cyril Rathbone, the ten year old son of Mr. Francis Rathbone 506 Downey St., had his right leg completely severed. In company with Birrill Moore and Roderick Cameron, the little fellow was going sleighriding on Smith St. A freight train was going towards the station and the young fellow caught the side of it and just above Aylmer St. he was pulled under and the wheels passed over his leg, taking it off.

The Dan Spence ambulance was called and the injured boy was taken to Nicholls Hospital, where Dr. Cameron is attending him.

Daily Examiner.

The Circulation of The Evening Examiner is now over

3000

COPIES

Sworn to and Guaranteed Detailed Statement for the year on application

The Daily Examiner, published every lawful evening, by The Peterborough Examiner, Limited. Office, 269 George Street.

The Weekly Examiner, published every Thursday morning.

The subscription price of The Daily Examiner is $4.00 per annum; that of The Weekly, $1.00.

E. M. GLOVER, Managing Director.

Advertising Rates on application.

"Peterborough Means Progress."

FRIDAY, DECEMER 24, 1909

CHRISTMAS.

The Examiner gives cordial Christmas greetings to its thousands of readers and to the world at large, from the household cherub in its crib to the hoary grandsire in the chimney corner. The splendid significance of the Christmas tide finds expression in every heart in some form or other. Nothing attests the verity of the Christian religion more strongly than its all-prevading presence at this season. Every mortal, no matter how careless in moral matters, no matter how reckless of religious obligations, is influenced, insensibly perhaps, but influenced, nevertheless, by the Christmas spirit. No matter how this sentiment is expressed—in rough and jovial greeting, crushing of cups, or reverent salutation, the Christmas spirit is behind it, and inspires it. Not only in this way, but in a thousand tangible forms, in the giving of gifts, in special deeds of kindness, the advent of the great gift is signalized. The influence may be regarded as temporary, but who can tell to what extent, in the hidden workings of the divine plan, the sentiment based on the broad significance of Christmas, moulds human lives and actions, keeping the door of the heart open to higher influences and the door of hope ajar. This consideration should call a halt to hasty judgments of the frailties of our fellow men, who, however unpromosing appearances are, may still have in them the root of the matter.

The "oldest inhabitant's" memory cannot recall a more auspicious Christmas season than the present. The weather has been beautifully ideal, and material prosperity was never more in existence and evidence. A harvest, bountiful to prodigality, has blessed the land, employment has been plentiful and general prosperity abounds. Still, with all these conditions, there are cases in which, in the course of human events, misfortune has come, sickness, sorrow, or other adversity, calling for the exercise of the Christian thoughtfulness and charity, incarnate in the manger of Bethlehem twenty centuries ago. In all our rejoicing in our home festivities, we should not forget those to whom Christmas has not brought the material blessings we enjoy in such lavish abundance. Our own Christmas banquet will taste all the sweeter if we share it with the less fortunate. No sound Christian heart can rejoice and feast if its knowledge embraces any who on this day of universal gladness, feasting and gift-receiving has no material means of feasting. In this case we can well recall the deep meaning and beautiful truthfulness of the couplet of Byron:

They, who joy would win,
Must share it; Happiness was born a twin.

SOCIAL REORGANIZATION OF BRITAIN.

Those who regard the present election campaign in Britain as merely a fight over the best means of raising a revenue are likely to miss its true historic significance. Apart altogether from the constitutional discussion precipitated by the action of the House of Lords, the Lloyd-George Budget is much more than a mere fiscal measure: it is part of a comprehensive measure of social reorganization intended to fit Great Britain for the strenuous economic struggle upon which she has entered, and in which she must more than hold her own unless she is to be relegated permanently to, at the highest, the second place.

The Lloyd-George Budget, taken in connection with other social reform measures, signifies old-age pensions for all who deserve them, State insurance for those who can comply with the prescribed conditions, a system of labour exchanges, the repeal of the Poor Laws, the construction of motor-car highways by means of the unearned increment on adjoining lands, conservation and renewal of forests, a general tax on the unearned increment on all vacant land not used bona fide for agricultural purposes, and the discouragement of intemperance by making the liquor traffic pay into the public treasury an increased proportion of the revenue derived from the sale of alcoholic liquors. In a general way this is collectively the connotation of the term "Budget" as applied to the legislation introduced or promised by the Asquith Government during the late session.

The greatest curse of the United Kingdom to-day, as it has been for many generations, is the immense consumption of intoxicating drink. Those who are addicted to it are either capable or not capable of setting themselves free from the fetters of habit; in the former case a heavy tax on the liquor traffic will tend to lessen consumption; in the latter it will shorten the period of recurring inebriety by more rapidly exhausting the drunkard's resources. The heavy taxation of liquor may prove a valuable social reform measure.

The unemployment of those who are fit to labour and who wish to earn their living by honest toil is a terrible scourge. To give the labourers courage to face life's hard struggle is the motive of the old-age pension and of the proposed scheme of Government life insurance. Part of the labourer's difficulty in getting employment is the hampering effect of the Poor Law which practically requires him to remain in the same parish continuously; the repeal of this law and the establishment of labour exchanges, the object of which is to enable the unemployed to hear of available employment within a reasonable distance will have the effect of furnishing more people with work than are at present able to get it. The work of afforestation and reforestation and also the construction of new highways will afford employment for many who cannot at present obtain it, while the growth of timber will in the future provide a supply of the raw material of many different kinds of industry.

There could be no greater mistake than to assume that the increased revenue to be obtained through the operation of the Lloyd-George Budget was to meet the increased expenditure made necessary by the construction of eight super-Dreadnoughts or Dreadnought cruisers. It will help to meet that, of course, but it will in time do much more: it will enable the people of the United Kingdom to co-operate more effectively in the production of wealth, while it will facilitate and even compel its more equable distribution.—The Globe.

HARRY BRADSHAW'S CHRISTMAS CHEER

Abudance of good things to enjoy the Christmas festivities has been provided by Harry Bradshaw, 352-354 Charlotte St. If you don't have a share of the good things to eat it won't be his fault. You mustn't miss the fine, fresh, staple groceries, raisins, nuts, figs, dates, and greens. Come and fill your hampers full of them, and the stockings as well for Santa Claus. Feast your eyes on the big navel oranges, lemons, grape fruit, Malaga grapes, fine apples, cranberries, celery and fresh vegetables. Anything you want in fresh lake and sea fish, oysters, sardines and canned goods. Store open every evening. Both phones 271. Take our best wishes for a merry Christmas and happy New Year.

MONEY RECEIVED

Mr. E. L. Goodwill Acknowledges Donations to Children's Aid Society

Mr. E. L. Goodwill, secretary of the Childrens' Aid Society wishes to acknowledge the receipt of a cheque for $8.75 from Moore Perceptory Knights Templars, No. 13, Peterborough, and $8.35 from the Coldsprings Union Sunday School, and $1.00 from a Friend.

A MOST DISTINGUISHED VISITOR.

Governor R. P. Glenn of South Carolina, will arrive in the city to-morrow and will give the address at the Christmas service to-morrow night in George Street Methodist Church at 8 p.m. Christmas music. Governor Glenn will be the speaker at the Temperance Meeting in the Grand Opera House on Sunday afternoon, at 3.30. To both of these important gatherings everybody is invited.

CHRISTMAS NIGHT SERVICE

In the George Street Methodist Church

To-morrow, Christmas night, a special Christmas service will be held. Advantage has been taken of the presence in the city of Governor Glenn, of South Carolina, convener of the Board of Missions of the American Presbyterian church, who will give the address. Everybody is invited to spend Christmas night at George St. church.

BIRTHS.

RUTHERFORD. — To Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rutherford, of Hion, Otonabee, on December 22 ,1909, a son.

THE MIDDLE-AGED MAN.

Something Said to Him by the Dentist Sets Him Thinking.

"My dentist tells me," said the middle-aged man, "that my teeth will last as long as I do, and when he said that to me I was at first pleased, because then it seemed to mean simply that I still had pretty good teeth, good for a long time yet, and I thought that some day I would say to him, sort of half jokingly:

"'Doctor, you tell me my teeth will last as long as I will. About how long do you think my teeth will last?'

"In that way, you see, by indirection I am going to get a line on how much longer he thought I was likely to live, and as I thought that over I smiled to myself, thinking that was a pretty bright idea. But do you know that when I came to think it over again I didn't ask him finally. I didn't.

"Because I think he knows. I have been going to him now for years, and he knows my teeth through and through. He knows by them how old I am, and he knows their rate of wear exactly and how much longer they will last, and he could tell me how much longer I will last. But I haven't asked him because I don't want to know. I don't want to know at all.

"As a matter of fact, I think that when we come to my time of life we don't much fancy dwelling on that, though there are times when it seems to intrude itself, when we realize that the years ahead of us are not so many as—well, as they were some years ago, when life seemed to us interminable. Any actuary could tell us what our expectation of life may be at the present moment.

"We expect, of course, that we are going to live longer, to be the exception, but even if we should so prove we can count the years still coming to us without using many figures. We are getting to where we can see the end if we look that way, and I can't say that I have any fear of it, but I certainly don't find any pleasure in contemplating it. I'd rather stay.

"So I haven't asked the dentist because I don't want to know. The thought of it does drift in on me once in awhile, but when it does I shunt it off and get busy and keep plugging and take a cheerful view.

"I'm glad my teeth are good anyhow."

Women Poets of France.

Recent statistics from France show that there are 300 poetesses in that country, as well as 30 women fashion writers and 1,500 women novelists. There are also 300 feminine writers on educational matters, while sixty women are enrolled on the list of the Society of Dramatic Authers. A woman directs Les Nouvelles, a serious daily paper published in Paris.

In England woman printers are doing excellent work. The suffragettes have all their circulars, pamphlets, official organs and cards printed by a firm of women who run their business on the co-operative scheme and are making money and a reputation for creditable results at moderate prices.

A woman's club run entirely by women is one of the most successful clubs in London. It has invested its surplus money in good paying stock and can boast of having a sounder financial basis than nine-tenths of the London clubs. It is called the Pioneer and numbers among its members chiefly woman journalists, authors and artists.

Dancing by Halves.

"At a dance the other night I met the most popular girl I ever saw," said a Harlem bachelor. "I asked her to dance. She said she would like to, but she had only half a dance left. If I was willing to take that, all right.

"It was a new experience to share one dance with a rival, but I agreed to her terms. I thought up to the last minute that she was fooling, but when my part of the waltz was done—she put me down for the first half—she glided away from me and sailed off in the arms of the other chap, who had been standing around awaiting his opportunity.

"That is what I call popularity raised to its very highest power."

What Makes Electricity?

Lots of other people would like to know what makes electricity, but nobody does know it. We know a good many things about electricity just as we know a good many things about life. But we do not know what makes the difference between a dead tree and a live tree, although we know the difference perfectly. Just so we know it is dangerous to touch what we call a "live wire," because electricity is passing through it, but we do not know what electricity is. We know how to make electricity do wonderful things for us, but we do not know what "makes electricity."

Repaid.

Torke—Your daughter's musical education must have cost a lot of money?

De Porke—Yes, it did, but I've got it all back.

Torke—Indeed!

De Porke—Yes. I'd been trying to buy the house next door for years, and they wouldn't sell. But since she's come home they've sold it to me for half price.

Shawl of Cat's Hair.

A wonderful shawl is possessed by the Duchess of Northumberland. It once belonged to Charles X. of France and was made entirely from the fur of Persian cats. Although the shawl is eight feet square, it is of such fine texture that it can be compressed into an ordinary coffee cup.

Subtraction That Adds.

The air was sweet with the smell of willow wood, and the artificial limb maker was adjusting a delicate metal spring in a superb leg.

"This one of a pair of legs," he said, "I am making for an aviator. They are longer legs than his own were. His height before the accident was only five feet six. Now, with these legs, he will be five feet ten.

"Men all like to be tall. And short men, when, as sometimes happens, they lose both legs, gratify this universal desire for height by ordering wooden legs of an excessive length.

"Yes, paradoxical though it seems, cut a short man's legs off and he becomes taller."—Exchange.

The Appreciative Subscriber.

This letter, which was received by a western editor, is an example of that spirit of getting something for nothing which animates many persons:

"Please send me a few copies of the paper which had the obituary and verses about the death of my child a week or so ago; also publish the inclosed clipping about my niece's marriage. And I wish you would mention in your local columns, if it don't cost anything, that I have a couple of bull calves to sell. Send me a couple copies of the paper this week. As my subscription is out, please stop my paper Times are too hard to waste money on a newspaper."

Dodged a Scolding.

She—George, did you mail that letter I gave you last Monday morning?

He (cornered, but fertile in expedients)—No, I didn't. And, what's more, I demand to know its contents!

She (amazed)—Why, George, what's the matter?

He (inwardly delighted)—I'm jealous—that's what's the matter—madly, desperately, insanely jealous!

She—You dear old goose! It's only a letter to Cousin Sue.

He (apparently much relieved)—that all? How foolish of me! I'll go out and mail it at once.

Military Tactics.

So far as history gives us any information on the subject, the father of "tactics," in the military sense, was the great Theban General Epaminondas, who at the famous battle of Leuctra, B.C. 371, fought between the Thebans and Spartans, for the first time introduced the scientific mode of fighting. Prior to that time the universal rule was for the opposing armies to face each other and fight it out by sheer brute force and bulldog sagacity without any particular regard for scientific principles.

A Timely Reminder.

It's time to send your Christmas packages tomorrow.

Don't gasp. No one has misread the calendar.

Not all of your Christmas packages have to go so soon. But in these days of much travel, when business or church interests take so many people into India or the orient, there is hardly a person who has not at least one friend in that region of the world. And the packages that go to them ought to be started this week or next. Perhaps it had not occurred to you. It doesn't usually occur to one until about the week before Christmas, when the package that you send comes trailing in, about in time for Easter.

And these are the people who are so far away from home that you can't afford to forget. Put yourself in their place. Enough said.

It is early to be speaking of Christmas, to be sure, but now that the subject is mentioned it might do no harm to remind one that it isn't very satisfactory to sit till midnight every night for a week sewing little pieces of ribbon together and filling them with sachet. If you are going to make things this year, why not begin now?

Forgotten.

Yesterday when I was out
Nora spread the clothes about
On the grass and said to me,
"That will make them white, you see."
So I thought I'd like to soak
Just like Snowwhite in the brook.
And I tried to run and play
In the sunshine all the day,
For I thought that by the night
I would be a lily white.
But—oh, dear—instead I found
I was worse than ever browned!

—Chicago News.

Shiloh's Cure

quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs. . . . 25 cents

Merry Xmas and Happy New Year to All.

J. J. TURNER & SONS

CHRISTMAS SUGGESTIONS

EVERYTHING NEW THIS YEAR

Toilet Sets
Values from..... $3 to $15

Fancy Perfumes
In Pleasing Boxes, real Flower Odours, prices..... 25c to $5

Lowney's Chocolates
25c to..... $2.00

ASK FOR OUR 10 CALENDAR

J. D. TULLY
DRUGGIST

Something You Want to Buy ? You Want to Sell ? Or is it a House or Rooms To Rent ?

In any case, it's THE EXAMINER that can do it for you with our rapidly growing circulation.

Twenty cents will pay for a 20 word classified advertisemen.

Real Estate Sales Room

HOUSES FOR SALE

1.—2 storey and attic, solid Red Brick, west, double parlours, dining room, kitchen, pantry, front and rear stairs, 4 bed-rooms, bath-room separate toilet, coal grate, electric lights, hot water furnace, double cellars, laundry tubs, large lot, price..... $4,500

2.—Frame House, south of city, 1½ storeys, 6 rooms, ½ acre choice garden lot 5 minutes from street railway line, price..... $1,000

2.—2 storey and attic, Red Brick, north, parlour, dining room, kitchen pantry, summer kitchen, wood-shed 4 bed-rooms, bath-room, furnace, electric lights, good well, large lot, price $2,500

4.—1½ storey Brick, north, parlour dining-room, kitchen, wood-shed, summer kitchen, 3 bed-rooms, and stable, price..... $2000

Farms for Sale

200 acres, 6 miles north of city, all under cultivation, soil clay loam, good orchard, good frame house, 3 first-class barns, good stables in stone basements under the barns, price..... $10,000

100 acres, 6 miles east, 90 acres under cultivation, balance pasture, soil clay loam, good fences, good brick house and frame barns on stone foundation, close to school, price..... $5,000

Houses to Rent

7-roomed, north, conveniences $12

7-roomed, south, light water, $11

7-roomed, west, light, water, $8

4-roomed, west..... $7

9-roomed, central, all conveniences..... $16

J. T. O'Connell & Co.

138 Hunter Street. 'Phone 376

MONEY WANTED!

We can place sums from One Thousand Dollars up, at a reasonable interest and on gilt edge security. If you have money to invest, call, or telephone name and address.

We have some superior investments in Farm and City property as for instance below:—

100 acres clay loam in Otonabee near river and on good road, first class brick house and barn on stone sill, orchard, good maple bush, a superior property for Six Thousand Dollars.

Nice brick house in convenient neighbourhood, large garden, a cheery place for $1150.

For Rent, nice, new, comfortable house and 10 acres of land just South across city boundary; seven acres of this is warm, early soil for early vegetables, etc., remainder is black loam for fruits, celery, cabbage, etc. Houses to rent.

SOUTH CITY REALTY CO.

Phone 1295 and 1281 130 Park St.

New Offices Opposite C. P. R.

SEE THESE SOON

$200 Will buy a choice lot in the south part of the city in a first-class locality We have a number of these lots to dispose of for a quick sale,

$1900 Will buy a 7 roomed Brick House in west part of city with modern improvements.

$1600 Will buy a good 2 storey Brick House in west part of city

R. A. Elliott & Co

REAL ESTATE AGENTS. WATER STREET

TO INVESTORS.

35 to 50 per cent. per annum and Gilt Edge Security

Can be had by procuring stock in the

Alberta Wheat Growing Co., Limited.

A careful estimate shows that an investment of $500 in six years will produce $1500 to $1500 profit.

For further particulars write.

F. N. Tennant,

124-123 Box 59, Brampton, Ont.

HOUSES TO RENT

Houses to let at reasonable rent. Apply for particulars at W. H. BRADBURN'S OFFICE, Corner of George and Simcoe Streets. dtf

Dyment, Cassels & Co

Members Toronto Stock Exchange

Bank of Nova Scotia 34 Melinda St. Building Toronto

ORDERS EXECUTED ON ALL EXCHANGES

TELEPHONE MAIN 6311

LOTS FOR SALE

ON

Big Island, Stony Lake

Fourteen lots, comprising a little more than the south half of Big Island, have been sold.

Lots eleven, twelve, fifteen, sixteen, eighteen and nineteen, comprising almost all of the northern half of the Island, are still for sale.

These lots now being offered are good building sites and splendidly situated.

Plan may be seen at the Examiner Office.

dtf-128-9293 E. M. GLOVER.

Manual labour taxes the strength of the human machine. The man who works appreciates to the fullest extent the recuperative qualities and purity of

CALSUTT'S ALE, PORTER & LAGER

It is the popular beverage of the man who earns his living by actual, muscular work. You have tried the rest—

NOW TRY THE BEST

Manufactured by

The Calcutt Brewing & Malting Company

Ashburnham. 'Phone 96

New and Second-Hand Clothing Boots, Rubbers, etc. Furniture.

JAY'S Stores

290 AYLMER STREET

PHONE

Spruce Up For The NEW YEAR

And have your Cutters and Sleighs repaired and put in good condition when the snow flies. By

BEN YELLAND

176 Murray Street.

W. E. ELMORE & CO.

Brokers and Promoters

TORONTO AND MONTREAL

514-20 Traders Bank—123-6 Coristine Bldg. Hamilton Office: 401 Bank of Hamilton Building. Phone 3810.

WANTED.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

WANTED — 100 LADIES TO USE OUR Stocking Darning Sewing Machine Attachment. Fits on any machine. Also for repairing curtains, table cloth. Best time, labour and money saving device. Send post paid on receipt of post office money order, 25c. Agents wanted.—The Quebec Hardware Mfg. Specialties, St. Rock P. O., Quebec, Que. 1yr75-7670

PERSONAL.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

IF THE PARTY WHO ADVERTISED FOR "Safe Wanted," will call at the Examiner office, he will be given the address of where he can secure one. d142

HELP WANTED—FEMALE.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

DINING ROOM GIRL WANTED AT ONCE at the White House. 2d148-9663

WANTED — GIRLS AT THE QUAKER Oats Co. 3d147-9669

WANTED—AN EXPERIENCED DINING room girl and kitchen woman. Apply National Hotel. 6d-144-9619

GOOD KITCHEN WOMAN WANTED—Apply Montreal House, 324 Aylmer street. 6d144-9615

SITUATIONS VACANT.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

AN INTELLIGENT PERSON MAY EARN $100 monthly corresponding for newspapers. No canvassing. Send for particulars. Press Syndicate, 2972, Lockport, N.Y. dtf-51-7396

ANYONE, ANYWHERE, CAN START A mail order business at home. No canvassing, all your own boss. Send for free booklet. Tells how. Hoosock, 2972, Lockport, N.Y. dtf-51-7396

SITUATIONS WANTED.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

WORK WANTED OF ANY KIND BY A young Englishman. J. H., this office. 6d-143-9590

WANTED — PLAIN SEWING OR TWO OR three families' washing, by young Englishwoman. H. G., this office. 6d143-9599

HANDY MAN WANTS WORK OF ANY kind. Apply 476 Rubidge street. 6d143 9591

PATENTS.

For particulars about Patents, send for booklet.

MARION & MARION, Patent Solicitors, Temple Building, Montreal, and Ottawa, Ontario. mon-97

FOR RENT.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

TO RENT—OFFICE NO. 12 IN BANK OF Commerce Building; heated, possession immediately. Apply at 437 George street.

TO RENT — NEW HOUSE—CITY WATER —$7.50. Apply 535 Concession street. Phone 1238.

LOST.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

LOST — ON THURSDAY — A YELLOW collie about seven months old, answers to the name of Bobs. Please leave information at this office or with Dr. Pulkinhorn's livery. 3d148-9672

LOST — ON THURSDAY — AT CORNER of George and Hunter streets a small fox terrier, with strap buckled on neck. Will finder please leave word at 312 Boswell avenue, or Examiner office, and oblige. 1d148-9672

LOST — BETWEEN DUBLIN AND London on Reid street, a door key. Finder please leave at Examiner Office and

LOST — BLACK PURSE CONTAINING A sum of money. Finder leave at this office. 1d148-9594

LOST OR STRAYED — A WHITE AND black spotted hound. Answers to the name of Max. Will finder please leave information at this office or telephone 461. 2d146-1w-9625

LOST—LAST WEEK A LARGE BROWN fox tail of a ruff. Finder kindly leave at Examiner office. Mrs. T. H. Crowley, Lundy's Lane. 3d146-9641

LOST—SUNDAY EVENING — A BLACK satin bag containing pair of spectacles, two handkerchiefs and a purse. Finder will oblige by leaving at Examiner office. Route, Stewart, Simcoe, Rubidge, Brock and Reid to Chemong Road. 2d-144

HOUSES AND ROOMS TO LET

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

TO LET — A LARGE FURNISHED FRONT room, well heated, very central. Apply at 231 Hunter street. 12d138-9679

TO RENT — SEVERAL FURNISHED rooms suitable for light housekeeping; very central; every convenience; not three minutes' walk from the post office. Apply 202 Charlotte street. 6d141-9592

GOOD FRAME HOUSE FOR SALE WITH stable; also two story brick house, 7 rooms. Cheap and on terms to suit purchaser. Apply to H. C. Stabler & Co., 350 Water st. d121

ROOMS TO RENT ON GEORGE STREET, fitted with water, electric light, etc. Apply to Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr.

TO RENT—SUITE OF ROOMS IN GRAND Central Building. Heated and all modern improvements. Rent moderate. Apply 437 George street

FOR SALE.

YOUR Ad in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

FOR SALE—160 ACRE FARM—80 ACRES cleared fit for machinery, 20 acres seeded 1½ mile from Indian River Station. Must be sold by Feb. 10th next. Apply to A. Nesbitt, Westwood, P.O. 6w-51

GOOD SECOND HAND PAIR OF SHEEPCOGGANS for sale—3 inch runner. Cheap. Apply 492 Parnell street 1d2662

FOR SALE — RUBBER-TYRED RUNABOUT, Buggy, cutter and harness; also straw cutter, all in good state of repair. B. R. Poole, V.S., 430 Water St., Peterborough. 3d147-9666

COAL STOVE FOR SALE—HEATER WITH oven—cheap. Owner has no further use for same having installed furnace. Apply 717 Bethune st. 2d147

FOR SALE — COAL OR WOOD RANGE— Apply 292 Park street. 3d146-9664

FOR SALE—A THREE STORY BRICK house, 168 Smith street, containing nine rooms, besides halls, bathroom and closets; also five rooms in basement; coal and gas cooking ranges; furnace; electric light fixtures. Large lot, stable and driving house. Terms easy. Call at premises. J. Coyle Brown, Peterborough. 1mo-d17-9688

FOR SALE — AN OXFORD HEATER — almost new. Apply 717 Bethune street. 2d143-9591

A new brick house near the corner of Sherbrooke and Park, modern improvements; will sell on monthly payments, or rent to small family. A good chance for a mechanic to own his own home. 4794-7557 G. W. HATTON.

FOR SALE—TWO CHOICE BUILDING lots on Water street (west side of street). Each 33 feet frontage back to a 16 foot lane. For particulars apply at 321 Antrim street, city, or Examiner office. 4d-143-7234

GEORGE STREET PROPERTY FOR SALE

Parts of lots 1 and 2, west of George street and north of Dalhousie street, frontage on George street, 132 ft. by a depth of 133 ft., with use of a 12 foot lane from Dalhousie street. This lot adjoins the wholesale Harness Factory of D. T. Ackerman & Son, and is suitable for wholesale houses or manufactory. Apply to Dumble & Johnston, or R. E. Weed Solicitors. 6m49

If You Can Afford to use the BEST buy

Robin Hood Flour

"The Flour that is different."

If you do you will find that the cost of ROBIN HOOD is smallest after all.

The bigger loaf is one difference.

Easier assimilations of the bread is another difference.

The sweeter flavor is a third difference.

There are other points of difference. Any one of them worth the extra cost.

THE Saskatchewan Flour Mills Co., Ltd.

Moose Jaw - - Sask.

ROBIN HOOD FLOUR IS DIFFERENT

Send Her a Holiday Box

There is Never any Doubt about the warm welcome of a Box of Colemans'

and especially when packed in one of the exquisite fancy boxes or baskets.

If she appreciates really superfine, palate-delighting confections she will surely revel in these.

XMAS CAKES

Any size you wish. Beautifully ornamented.

Some Almond Ice, others Sugar Iced.

Finest Confections.

Coleman Bros.

428 George St. - Phone 336

Peterborough Club Rooms To Rent

Opposite Post Office, Hunter St. Steam heated, with private bath and lavatory. Will rent whole flat or dividual rooms. Temporary or a permanent lease. Apply to

Peterborough Business College

LOCAL OPTION CAMPAIGN.

The matter appearing in this space from time to time is furnished by the Temperance and Moral Reform League of this city, who have arranged for its publication.

WHERE LOCAL OPTION FAILS.

With the above heading, a small pamphlet was distributed in Peterborough during the present week by those who are opposed to the Local Option movement. It would seem that the Town of Owen Sound is referred to, for a good deal of attention is given to it, and though there are now 333 other places in Ontario without licenses, only one is mentioned. When it is practically admitted that in 334 municipalities there is only one in which a failure is claimed, one would almost consider the thing a success; 333 out of 334 is a pretty good record.

But no one who knows the facts believes that local option has been a failure at Owen Sound. Business has improved, the population has increased, rowdyism has almost disappeared, drunkenness has greatly decreased, and illegal selling of liquor has diminished. Such is the testimony of the best business and professional men of that town.

A Few Samples.

Just to show the kind of stuff this pamphlet contains, a few quotations are made: "Alcohol is a good creative." "Total abstinence not a virtue." "An outstanding characteristid of the reformers is their supreme selfishness"; "Temperance is a virtue—total abstinence a vice"; "Read Timothy's advice, 'a little wine for the stomach's sake'".

Those will show fairly well the reckless character of the whole thing. Perhaps the Brewers' Association, under whose auspices, if any, the pamphlet seems to be published could point to some of the "supremely selfish" people here who are now spending their time and energy for the cause of sobriety and right. What are they getting for it? When did alcohol get to be a good creative. All recent investigation goes to show that it never has anything but an injurious effect when taken into the human system. Would some "learned" brewer please quote the passage in which Timothy gives the above advice.

LAW ENFORCEMENT.

The question in regard to Owen Sound is not now so much whether or not local option is a benefit, but can the law be enforced. The lawless element boast of their ability to defy the officers of the law. We are told here in Peterborough that if we pass local option, it will be impossible to enforce it. In other words, the liquor interests openly announce their intention to defy the law when it comes into force. Is it creditable to our country, or complimentary to our civilization that any one class should be able to defy our laws? Have we got to that stage in a British colony when an interested class can say with impunity, "You go ahead and make your law and we will do as we choose about observing it!" If such is the case it is time for us to call a halt, and consider whither we are drifting. But is it true? We do not believe it, but rather believe that the law abiding citizenship of this country has heard enough of this sort of thing, and will one of these days arise and effectually put an end to it.

HON. SEABORN WRIGHT.

At the Grand Opera House on Wednesday night Hon. Seaborn Wright made some striking statements, among others the following:

"The war is not with men, but with a system."

"The system has been created by the laws of the land, and therefore the people are responsible."

"The trouble is with the law that has created a system that is entirely wrong."

Every man, woman and child in Peterborough is in the liquor business so long as the present system exists, and so long as you take $5,000 a year out of the profits of the bar in license fees which help to pay your taxes."

"I want to get out of the awful business myself. I have by my partnership in it, helped to ruin millions, and I have not helped to advance a living soul. Let me get out of it."

"We are fighting to help men against a horrible system, which you people who have votes and your ancestors, have created."

"If the traffic harmed no one, but the present generation of drinkers, I would be at my home in Georgia tonight, for the whole business would be gone in 20 years."

"Compensation for loss of business but no compensation for those who have lost their boys."

"Take the saloon keepers' business away! How many businesses has the saloon keeper taken away."

"I had always understood that this country was remarkable for the vigour and success with which you enforced your laws, but I have heard more whining about inability to enforce laws since I came to Canada than in my whole life before."

"Has it come to this pass, that a British community is not able to enforce its own laws?"

"If you once admit the proposition that law cannot be enforced, you take away every safeguard of society. Where is it going to land you?"

"In the days of slavery, people were put on the block and their bodies sold to the highest bidder; you take your boys, flesh of your flesh, blood of your blood, bone of your bone, and sell the lot to the combined liquor interest, and you get $5,000."

"Your greatest asset is not your banks, stores, transportation lines, or power privileges, but your citizens. What destroys the citizenship of your city strikes you in your most vital point."

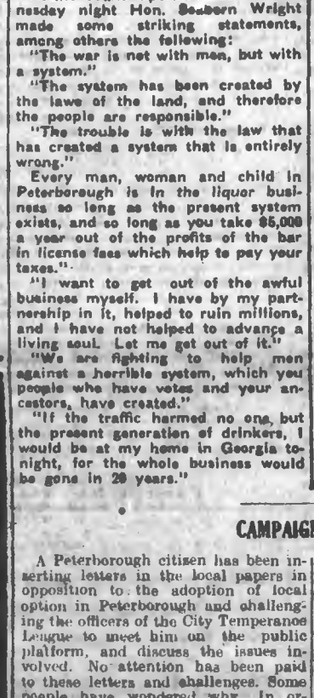
CAMPAIGN NOTES.

A Peterborough citizen has been inserting letters in the local papers in opposition to the adoption of local option in Peterborough and challenging the officers of the City Temperance League to meet him on the public platform, and discuss the issues involved. No attention has been paid to these letters and challenges. Some people have wondered why. In order that there may be no mis-conception in the minds of the public an explanation of the position of the City Temperance League seems advisable.

The party referred to claims that he only represents himself. The liquor interests state that he does not represent them. This being the case the officers of the City Temperance League have not felt that they were called upon to enter into a controversy with any private individual. They are prepared and anxious to debate the question with the recognized champions of the liquor interests but do not care to waste time helping to draw public attention to any private individual, no matter who he may be, who may want advertising before the civic elections. Besides, all the points that have been made by the party referred to have been answered repeatedly and fully during the past few months, not only in these columns, but on the public platform during the series of meetings that have been held in Peterborough during the past few months.

The Ontario Brewers Association is paying for the publication of the large advertisements in the Peterborough papers in an effort to prove that local option would be a bad thing for the city. We should be very grateful to them for the interest they are taking in our civic affairs. What motive do you suppose can animate them? Can it be that they are afraid that if local option carries they will be able to sell as much liquor in Peterborough as they do now? Surely not, seeing that they and their friends are constantly asserting that local option increases the consumption of liquor. They can be thinking only of the material, moral and spiritual well being of our citizens.

In this column, last Saturday, it was stated that it seemed strange that the liquor interests did not give the post office address of Rev. Mr. Wasson, the author of an article opposed to local option that has been distributed in pamphlet form in Peterborough during the past couple of weeks. During the past week a certain party wrote to the city papers stating that the author's post office was given on page 24 of the pamphlet. This is not the case. Any person who has one of these pamphlets can verify this by consulting the page in question. The address of a Mr. Wasson is given on that page, but it is not the Mr. Wasson who wrote the article.



NEGLIGEE
COAT SHIRTS
Slip on and off easy as an old coat—hold their looks longer—launder better—more style and smartness to them.
Try this made-right negligee coat shirt and you'll never go back to the over-the-head kind. In all good patterns and right fabrics. Ask for the brand-red label—look for the script letters
Makers, Berlin

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON QUESTIONS

The Birth of Christ.—Matt. ii:1-12.

Golden Text—And thou shalt call his name Jesus, for he shall save his people from their sins.—Matt. i:21.

Verse 1.—Where is Bethlehem, the birth place of Jesus?

Where was the home of Mary and Joseph, the parents of Jesus, and how didit happen that they were at Bethlehem at this time?

What was the probable nationality of these "wise men"?

Verse 2.—Is there any evidence and if so what is it, which indicates that God, in past ages, has revealed himself to other peoples than those of Jewish origin?

Give your own idea of this star that the wise men saw, which indicated to them that a Jewish king had been born; was it objective or only subjective?

Were the wise men right in their opinion, that Jesus was "the King of the Jews," as they were in the fact of his birth?

Verse 3.—What is the evidence for or against the idea that it was God's original intention for Jesus to be the literal King of the Jews, as the wise men stated, and as Herod feared?

Why should Herod and "all Jerusalem" be troubled at the announcement of the birth of a Jewish King?

Verses 4-6—What prophet is here referred to, and where in the Bible did these priests and scribes quote from?

Did the prophet they quoted from, and did these priests and scribes think that the expected Christ was to be an earthly King? Why?

Verse 7.—What is it which makes diligent study, of a worthy subject, either noble or ignoble?

Verse 8.—How would you describe a man with the motive of Herod, when he sent these wise men off on their mission of finding Jesus?

What, if any, reason is there to believe that there are those to-day who attend church, and thus pretend they are earnestly seeking Jesus, who have practically the same motive as Herod had?

Verse 9.—If a man to-day would see the Christ, what "star" does he need to follow to be sure of being led to him?

Give your reason for your idea whether it is to the favoured few only that God sends a "star," or its equivalent, pointing to where Jesus may be found, or are all men similarly treated?

Verse 10—Mention some things which always produce joy, and then describe that which produces the greatest joy to mortals known? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the class.)

Verse 11.—What is the ground for certainty for the statement that those who really seek Jesus always find him?

What are the emotions which are stirred, the motives which are formed, and the deeds which are done by everyone who really seeks and finds Jesus?

Verse 12.—Is there any liability that those who live in the presence of Jesus, will ever be duped into betraying Him or His cause?

Is the day of the supernatural guidance of God's children, past, or is there reason to believe that it is as operative as ever?

Lesson for Sunday, January 2, 1910. —John the Forerunner of Jesus. Matt. iii:1-12.

HER BABY HAD ECZEMA

Mrs. F. Clark, Belmont, Man., writes:—"My baby had eczema on her ear. The sore was very bad and nothing seemed to help her. Hearing of some remarkable cures Dr. Chase's Ointment had made we began using it and with the third application the sore began to heal. The cure was thorough and complete and we give all credit to Dr. Chase's Ointment."

GENERALLY SPEAKING

THE COOK FIASCO.

A Calgary paper the other day compared the achievements of Dr. Cook, in the realm of fiction to the famous adventures of Baron Munchausen and Henri De Rougemont, forgetting that the first named gentleman was entirely a mythical character, evolved from the brain of an imaginative writer. Nobody, so far as we have seen, seems to have remembered that there were many other beings who, in their day, cut quite as wide a swath in the credulity of their contemporaries as the unfortunate individual who is at the present time so much in the public eye. A recital of the literary forgeries that are known to history would fill a good-sized volume, and make a most valuable addition to the libraries of those who are interested in curiosities of such a nature.

Alcibiades Simonides.

Some amongst us have, perhaps, heard of Alcibiades Simonides, who died in 1890 in Albania. The peculiar talent of this man lay in forging ancient manuscripts. He first came into notice by presenting to the notice of the king of Greece what seemed to be priceless parchments, which he stated, had been found by his uncle and himself in a cloister on Mt. Athos. The king was overjoyed and purchased them for $10,000. In a year he came back with an ancient Homer, written on lotos leaves. The king appointed a commission of twelve of the most learned scholars in Athens to report on their worth, and eleven said they were genuine. These were also purchased, but were afterwards said to be worthless. Simonides disappeared. Years passed and his exploits were forgotten. Then a stranger turned up in Constantinople with a number of manuscripts, among them being a palimpsest history of the kings of Greece, a Greek work on hieroglyphics and an Assyrian manuscript. Everyone was deceived and they were purchased by public subscription for forty thousand dollars. At last a well-known Egyptologist, Lepsius, discovered that they were translations into bad Greek of portions of his own and Bunsen's works. Simonides had been at work again. Once more he conveniently disappeared. But he was not squelched yet, by any means. He next tried his hand on Ismail Pasha, by informing him that he had discovered proof that there was a wonderful work by Aristotle buried in his garden. The Pasha was interested and gave him permission to make a search. Under a fig tree they dug up a curious old box, and inside it was the manuscript. Ismail was enraptured and paid the impostor well. It was found shortly after that the fig tree had only been planted twenty years before, and that at that time the ground had been thoroughly dug up around it. Time passed and Simonides tried the same game again, this time on Ibrahim Pasha. He told him that there was a document buried in a certain spot which he named. Excavations were ordered and a bronze box was brought to light at the place indicated. Inside it was, of course, the document. Unfortunately a labourer swore that he saw Simonides slip the paper into the box; hard words were exchanged, and again Simonides fled. The East was getting too warm for him, so he went to London. There he successfully palmed off a memorandum of Belisarius to the Emperor Justinian on the Duke of Sutherland, who paid him $3200 for it, and also $1000 for a letter from Alcibiades to Pericles. The fraud was discovered but Simonides wasn't. He was caught at last, however, in an Iberian cloister making some additions to an ancient manuscript. He was promptly banished from the country and warnings concerning him were sent out far and wide. That was the last of Simonides.

The Renaissance era produced a tremendous crop of forgeries, and the numebr of ancient documents that were suddenly brought to light was marvellous. Coming down to recent times we have Macpherson, the author of Ossian and Chatterton, the poet and Ireland who tried to pass off a set of spurious manuscripts by Shakespeare as notable examples.

"A TRIP AROUND THE WORLD."

LAKE LOUISE, BRITISH COLUMBIA—See Article on Page 2.

George Psalmanazar.

But, perhaps one of the most amazing impostors of all and one who in a way most closely resembled the latest addition to the ranks of fictitious explorers was George Psalmanazar who made his first appearance in London in 1703. As a liar he was peerless. His real name is still a mystery and likely to remain so. He came to England from Sluys, Holland, as the guest of the bishop of London, on the introduction of a chaplain named Innes, who was attached to a Scotch garrison stationed there at that time. He said he was born of a noble family in the island of Formosa. Lutherans and Catholics he stated, had both in turn tried to convert him but he had adopted Anglicanism as appealing most to his reason and temperament. On his arrival in London he was greeted as a convert from paganism and lionized. For a pagan he was a wonderfully accomplished young man. He wrote a book on Formosa, describing its people, religion, customs, manners, etc., and also a full account of his travels and of his conferences with the Jesuits. His book was adorned with an alphabet of language and a map of the island and plates representing the dirtidities of the country, costumes, edifices, and religious vessels. The book was a success and a second edition was called for. But alas for Psalmanazar, it was too full of rank absurdities to remain long in favour. The author was denounced as an impostor and disappeared from view. But strange to relate, at the age of 30 he again came to light and this time as an absolutely changed character. He confessed his early imposture, was forgiven and really lived up to his profession. Joe Boswell and Dr. Johnson and others who met him declared that he was a thoroughly upright, good living man. He died at the age of 79. In connection with this subject it would be only right to mention the name of that arch-priest of hypocrisy, Cagliostro, who will go down in history in connection with his fraud in the matter of the diamond necklace in which Marie Antoinette and the Cardinal De Rohan were interested. He was a literary impostor of the first water.

If Cook is really a man of the same stamp he is following in a path worn deep by the footsteps of thousands upon thousands of famous and infamous fore-runners.

FERROVIM TRADE MARK

A Tonic Wine, pleasant to take.

Gives strength
Makes new blood
Builds up the system
Throws off all weakness

A boon to those recovering from wasting fevers and long illness.

Sold by all medicine dealers.

Davis & Lawrence Co., Montreal.

From now until Christmas 25% discount on

Fancy Box Perfumes
Ebony Hair Brushes
Military Brushes
Ebony Mirrors
Manicure Sets
Shaving Mirrors
Shaving Sets
Comb, Brush & Mirror Sets
Sachet Powders,
Etc., Etc.

All new goods, large assortment. Both stores, 345 and 351 George St. The Warne Drug Co., Limited.

ARMOURY NOTES

During the past few years a great deal has been heard of military training in our schools, and, while such a system is much to be commended, we think the "Boy Scout' Movement, which has recently reached this country from the old land, is preferable.

The organization of "Boy Scouts," while military in a sense, has for its main object, outdoor training for the younger boys. In this body they are taught the value of clean outdoor exercise, coupled with a working knowledge of woodcraft, map making.

Companies of scouts have been organized in Toronto, Owen Sound and other Ontario cities, and it is about up to the Public School teachers of P.C.O.C. leaders to get busy and further the cause by raising a company in Peterborough.

Captain Mills has lately been gazetted as Major, and we desire to extend our hearty congratulations to the gallant Captain or rather Major. Major Mills has long been connected with the 57th, and has always proved himself a most capable officer.

Lieutenant Van Every, 57th Regiment, having left the limits is permitted to retire.

A Peterborough Garrison Athletic Association has been formed. The idea is a good one and deserves the support of all ranks.

The Officers of the Association will have control of all military sports in connection with the Garrison, which will be a guarantee of proper management, fair play and an equal chance for everybody.

The Bowling Alleys continue to do a rousing business and some good scores are being hung up by the soldier boys.

Caretaker Metheral has, since taking over his duties, put in a lot of hard work. He now has the Armouries in a spick and span condition.

For the information of the Garrison, it might be well for them to remember that the big doors facing Central Park are closed during the winter months and entrance can only be secured to the main hall from the Hunter St. doors.

It is hoped that the men of the Garrison will make more good use of their recreation rooms in the west end of the building, which are being fitted up in grand style.

Last week the Buffalo Courier had a well written article describing the Peterborough armouries, illustrated with fine cuts of that building and of Colonel Stevenson, 57th Regiment.

The Indoor Baseball League will be organized early next week and every captain should see that a team is entered from his Company.

The young men of the city are waking up to the fact that it is a very desirable thing to be a member of one of the military corps, and present indications point to an abundance of recruits in the spring.

Good Fellowship

occasionally leads to overindulgence in the good things of the table. Be good to your stomach. Right it at once with

Beecham's Pills

Sold Everywhere. In Boxes 25 cents

It's Confirmed That Does It

HOLIDAY TABLE SUPPLIES

Fresh, full stocks of Christmas Groceries, Fruits, Nuts, Biscuits, Teas, Coffees, Relishes, Cheese, Butter, Eggs, etc.

We solicit a test of our service in your Christmas cooking.

XMAS CANDIES

by the bushel. We can assure you of the best and purest.

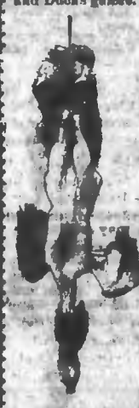
Churches, Schools and other organizations buying in quantities, get special prices.

WHITE & GILLESPIE

A Beefsteak or Sirloin Roast for Dinner

Cut from our Prime Western Beef is the kind of Christmas Cheer we have to offer you.

Also, very fine young Lamb, Mutton, Pork and Veal with our own Special Cured Ham, delicately seasoned Sausage, and other toothsome trimmings to grace the Xmas table. Plump Turkeys, Geese, Chickens and Ducks galore.



Guess On Prize TURKEY

Everyone purchasing one dollars' worth or over at this shop will be entitled to a guess on the weight of the Turkey to be given away Christmas Eve. The party guessing the nearest to its weight will get a Turkey Free.

Open evenings.

R. COX

451 George St.
Phone - - 39

Xmas Records

JUST ARRIVED. THEY ARE GRAND. COME AND HEAR THEM.

THE J. M.

Greene Music Co.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE. (Ltd.)

J. N. Watson

PAINTING, GRAINING, PAPER HANGING AND DECORATING

54 Chambers Street - Behind Examiner Office

SINGER SEWING MACHINE COMPANY

JAS. FROWDE

CARPENTER AND BUILDER

Is prepared to do all kinds of First-class Carpenter Work at reasonable prices. Residence—408 Walnut Street, South of Weller Street Peterborough

Upholstering, Repairing, Etc. Vacuum Carpet Cleaning. Some good Sofas for sale

A. R. Jackson

430 Weller Street

HARD WOOD
Cut and Split
Prompt delivery for GRATES

MIXEDWOOD
Over Half Hardwood Limbs
CORD, CUT ANY LENGTH AND SPLIT : : :

"A TRIP AROUND THE WORLD."

THE ILLICILLIWAET VALLEY, BRITISH COLUMBIA.—See Article on Page 1.

Description Of The New Dam And Pumping Station Built By The City

Some of the Details of the Work That Has Been Going on all Summer—Replaces the Former Structure and Greatly Increases the Efficiency of the City's System.

THOROUGHNESS A FEATURE

One of the most important public works undertaken by the City of Peterborough in recent years, the construction of the new waterworks dam and pumping station, is now nearing completion, and has advanced so rapidly that the next step is the installation of the machinery. Nearly a year ago, it will be remembered, a by-law was submitted by the City Council to the ratepayers giving the Water Commissioners authority to expend $120,000.00 in the erection of a new concrete dam and the equipping of a pumping station with the machinery necessary to force the water into the mains for the city's use. The by-law received the approval of the ratepayers and the Commissioners proceeded with the work of construction. This matter had been under consideration for several years, and because of the character and age of the old dam which came to the city when the waterworks were taken over from the Company, the Commissioners were convinced that it would be unwise to defer longer the undertaking of the erection of the new dam. It may be remarked that the price of the works purchased from the company and the erection of the new dam is being paid for out of the annual surplus revenue in the Commissioners' hands received from the water rates, and that the present expenditure will not increase the charges for water, nor call for any special tax on the ratepayers of the city. If power development is undertaken by the city at the dam (for which provision has been made) there would be additional revenue, for which water users should receive the benefit by increased discounts.

The Pumping House.

As is generally known the new dam has been erected about a half mile north of the northern terminal of the street railway, and a few hundred yards south of the wooden structure, which it replaces. For descriptive purposes the work may be divided into two sections, that of the pump house, which is on the western bank of the river and the dam proper, which extends the rest of the way across to the east shore. The former was undertaken first. The interior dimensions of the building are 39 feet by 105 feet, and it is 56 feet from the bottom of the wheel pits to the ceiling, and 28 feet from the floor of the pump house to the ceiling. Beneath the building there are five sluices, four leading into the wheel pits, and the fifth is a supplementary sluice for the purpose of carrying off the anchor ice, which may gather in front of the racks. Each of the other four sluices leads into a wheel pit, which are 28 feet deep. When in use they are filled with water which passes through the wheels on into the river through an opening at the bottom of each pit. The wheels are at the bottom of the pits, and rotate in a horizontal plane. This is secured by the water passing through the bottom of the pits, moving, therefore, from the top through the spoons of the wheels on into the river. A draught tube is first placed at the bottom of a pit, and the water wheel fits in this with a vertical shaft extending to the top of the pit. A jacket fits over the wheel, thus keeping it in the tube. The machinery working the pumps connects with the top of each shaft, and one or all may be used, depending upon the requirements. Two will be used for the present, as they will do the necessary work, and the other two will be called into service when demanded for the city's work. They were intended as a provision for the future growth of Peterborough. Two of the wheels are 68 in. in diameter, and the other two are 62 in.

The Intake Pipe.

The intake pipe is guarded by two fine screens or racks, and a door is also provided, which when dropped will shut off the water preventing it from entering the pipe. The water enters a large chamber and is then pumped out by the machinery already referred to. When completed the water will leave the building through a 16-in. main and thence down to the city for use. Provision has been made for another main of the same size leading into the building, but is intended only for future use when required. The building will be heated by a 30 h.p. boiler, which has already been installed.

Pumping Capacity.

At the old pumping station there are two pumps capable of delivering about 2,500,000 gals. of water daily, a limit that has, at times, been reached. The new station will contain these pumps with new and improved turbine water wheels from the Wm. Hamilton Co. of this city. There is also one new unit of pumps built by the same company with a daily capacity of 3,000,000 gallons. In addition one new turbine or rotary pump of the same capacity, (with a Wm. Hamilton Co. turbine wheel.) from a Montreal firm. There will be provision, therefore, for the pumping of 10,500,000 gals. of water every twenty-four hours. It is expected that it will take several months before these pumps are in position. The William Hamilton Co. has also supplied a travelling crane capable of lifting and carrying five tons. Its utility in the taking out and replacing of the heavy machinery will be of great advantage.

Massive Building.

The pumping house is a massive structure in every detail. The lower walls are four feet thick and are of reinforced concrete. Above this wall is one three feet thick and the rest of the building from the floor of the pump house to the roof is constructed of Milton red pressed brick on the outside and white Milton brick on the interior. Wide pillars of cement were first erected and the brick was built in afterwards. The necessity for this strength was occasioned by the heavy roof which is of cement 7 to 9 in. thick of concrete covered with matched lumber and Carey's roofing felt. The floor of the building will be of cement when finished and everything throughout is built on the strongest lines and is also fireproof. The building is most imposing from the exterior and an appropriate artistic design has been successfully carried out. Ample provision has been made for light and the upper part of the structure has been particularly well provided in this respect. When finished the ground leading to the entrance from the street will be levelled and sodded and cement walks and steps will be built, thus adding the last finishing touches to what is one of Peterborough's most thorough and modern public buildings.

Long Embankment.

In front of the sluices leading to the wheel pits has been placed an iron rack to prevent logs and other large articles passing through the wheels. The rack comes out to a point with the result that floating articles will not lodge in front of it, but will be carried off and out into the river through the sluices for that purpose. Heavy stop logs can be raised and lowered at will in front of the wheel pits and for the present only one or two will be used as stated above. On the north side of the pumping station a concrete roadway has been laid, stretching out across the dam from one bank to the other. It is ten feet wide and while not intended as a thoroughfare, it will likely be used by pedestrians. A wing dam 700 ft. long and varying in depth, has been constructed along the west bank of the river north from the pumping station. It has a concrete core which was necessary to prevent the water tropercolating through to the roadway and the property on the other side as the water in the pond in front of the pumping station is raised from 3 to 8 feet.

In reference to the bridge or driveway across the dam it may be stated that a large remaining portion has just been completed and owing to the weather had to be dried by steam during the past week. The western bank from the core wall to the water's edge was rip-rapped the entire distance with stone, most of which was taken from the bed of the river.

Culvert built.

What is known as Bear Creek that wends its way through Smith, skirting many a barnyard and stable, efptied into the river just above the intake pipe and a culvert 600 feet long had to be built to divert its course. This was one of the most tedious pieces of work experienced. The creek now empties into the river below the pumping station. There is a fall of one foot in every 100 feet.

The Eastern Section.

The dam proper extending from the pumping station to the eastern shore is now practically completed and like the entire work has been constructed on the same massive lines. There are five 20 foot sluices, two sluices 14 feet wide and a six foot log slide. There are also two extra 20 ft. sluices which with a view to future use for electrical development purposes the Commissioners provided.

Rapid Work.

The contract of the work was taken by the Bishop Construction Co., of Montreal and was to have been completed by Sept. 1910. At least this was the time allotted the contractors to complete the work, which was commenced on June 28th. The engineer stated that they would finish their duties by December the 28th. Instead of two years being required the contracting company has completed the work in six months. It now remains to install the machinery, complete the interior furnishings, to put the grounds around the pumping station in suitable condition and other small incidental work. A commissioner stated that he did not expect the pumps to be in operation until May 1st, 1910. The Bishop Construction Company has been able to establish this record, as it might be safely termed, in various ways. In the first place everything was carried out most systematically. When one section of the work was completed the material and machinery was ready to proceed with the next stage, thus safeguarding against any delay whatever. Since the work was commenced an average of bout 125 men have been engaged.

The company had a splendid working plant, consisting of pumps, several boilers and engines, derricks, etc. and from the commencement carried out the work with an expedition that was remarkable. The foreman of the Bishop Construction Co. was Mr. A. G. Morrison, of Montreal, who was also in charge of the erection of the concrete building erected by the C. G. E. Co. more than a year ago. The success with which the work has been carried out is sufficient tribute to his efficiency. The pump which was used to remove the water from within the coffer dams had a capacity of 4000 gallons a minute and according to one statement made to a reporter who visited the works a few days ago it had been working uninterruptedly since the first stroke of the piston after the coffer dam was erected.

The City Protected.

The plans and specifications for the pumping house and dam were prepared by Mr. William Kennedy, jr., consulting engineer of Montreal. The Commissioners decided to secure one of the best authorities and they considered themselves very fortunate in obtaining the services of an engineer of the experience and ability of Mr. Kennedy. He was represented at the works by Mr. A. W. E. Fawkes, of Montreal, and as an engineer he has given excellent satisfaction, looking after the city's interests with a thoroughness that missed no detail. One of the features of his work has been the photographing of the pumping station and dam from the commencement up to the present. Mr. Fawkes has had a wide experience in England, one of his engineering positions being in charge of the construction of the immense establishment for Vickers, Sons and Maxim in Sheffield. In two years and nine months works were constructed under his supervision amounting to $1,600,000.

Eight thousand one hundred and forty-six cu. yds. of earth and rock were excavated for the erection of the dam and pumping station and 7,000 barrels of Lakefield cement were used in the manufacture of the concrete.

Having in view the interest and assiduity of the Water Commissioners of 1909, have given in promoting the inception and completion of the new substantial and enduring water-works dam, they may well adapt to themselves with a slight addition the inscription in reference to Sir Christopher Wren in St. Paul's Cathedral—si monu, mentum nostrum quaeris, circumspice.

Our Sentiments

Take our "Merry Christmas" this evening as a personal one to friends and customers, with our best wishes for their health and prosperity.

We can look back with pleasure and satisfaction on the business of 1909, and thoroughly appreciate the generous share of patronage which this store has been favoured with in so many past years.

A.H. Stratton & Co.

PAULHAN GETS PRINCELY SALARY

Earned $5 a Week Nine Months Ago, Now Gets $24,000 a Month.

Paris, Dec. 17.—Young Paulhan, who was earning $15 a week as a mechanic nine months ago, is now the possessor of a silver medal given to him by the Academy of Sciences, and earns the princely salary of $24,000 per month.

His luck in securing the engagement for the American tour has caused more interest among aviators in Paris than anything since Rheims. Indeed the Los Angeles meet, at which Paulhan and his associates, under the chaperonage of Mr. Cleary will fly is regarded here as the biggest aeronautic event since Rheims.

But there is still that slight hesitancy to accept anything coming from America on account of the trouble which Farman had. Farman never spoke a good word for the people he had dealings with. This time there is a particular anxiety about the Los Angeles meet, because it has been rumoured here that the Aero Club of America has declined to sanction this meet. From this it is not known whether it is bona fide or not.

Paulhan this week made a new record. He took up two passengers, together with lubricating oil and gasoline enough to last on a flight extending over seven hours. The total weight on this trip was 490 pounds exclusive of the pilot's weight. This is the greatest weight that has ever been carried by any aeroplane.

Paulhan and the rest of the company who are going to America will be given a farewell banquet on Monday, at which all the principal aviators of France will be present. It will also be attended by many eminent men who consider this young birdman as one of the most brilliant air chauffeurs in existence.

Menthol in the form of Davis' Menthol Paste is the best application for mosquito and insect bites and stings old sores, etc. 25c a tin at Druggists

OLD SEA CHEST HELD MONEY FOR SPINSTER

Loss Woman Delving Among Father's Effects Discovers Three Bank Books

New London, Conn., Dec. 24.—Mrs Emma Bailey died here five months ago, leaving a comfortable home to her daughter, Miss Alice Bailey, but she left little else, so far as anybody knew. Miss Bailey is fifty-seven years old and she looked forward to spending the rest of her life in the cosy little home, keeping the wolf from the door by sewing for her more prosperous neighbours and friends.

A few days ago Miss Bailey took a notion to go through an old cedar chest that her father, Capt. William Bailey had carried to sea with him when he was master of whaling ships many years ago. She took out all the clothing which had been kept there away from the moths, and at the bottom of the chest she found three bank books which showed that $3,514 had been deposited.

The money was in the names of Mrs. Bailey and the daughter, with Mrs. Bailey named as trustee. Miss Bailey was frightened when she discovered the bank books, and she asked the bank officials if she was liable to arrest for having them. She was assured to the contrary, and then she inquired as to the proper procedure. A hurried calculation was made by Samuel M. Hinckley, president of the Whaling Bank, where the money was deposited, and it was found that compound interest for twenty years had accrued and the amount is now worth considerably over $10,000.

Miss Bailey's mother had evidently forgotten all about the savings the last old whaler, because during the last four or five years of her life she helped out the family income by keeping boarders, while Miss Bailey was busy with her dressmaking. The modest home was free from debt and, as the wants of the pair were few, there had been no occasion for any anxiety.

It is likely that if Miss Bailey had not taken the notion to look at the old clothes of her father the estate would have been settled without the money having been discovered for many years and perhaps never, by the daughter for whom it was all intended and who will get every penny of it in a few weeks.

COMPLIMENTS OF THE SEASON

Wishing Our Many Patrons from all over the City and District

A MERRY CHRISTMAS

AND

A HAPPY AND PROSPEROUS NEW YEAR

Richard Hall & Son LIMITED 353,355,357 GEORGE ST.

REV. MR. ARMSTRONG GIVES FURTHER EXPLANATION OF PLAN

An Eastern Ontario Hockey Association to Give More Games to the Clubs of the District is What He is Anxious to Arrange.

THE TELEGRAM KNOCKS

Rev. F. W. Armstrong, of Trenton, Hockey Club, writes as follows to the secretary of the O. H. A.:

"You no doubt have read the article in the papers under the head line, 'Another Hockey Scheme.' Who the writer of the article is I cannot say.

"At our meeting to arrange our schedule I happened to say that I thought it would be a good thing for hockey if a series of games could be arranged between clubs along the line of the G.T.R. from Bowmanville east to Kingston, so that any players playing in games could get away on the midnight, thus not losing as much time as where distances are so great; that I thought it would give an impetus to hockey at this end of Ontario.

More Hockey.

"The Peterborough representative thought the scheme a good one, and said that no doubt Peterborough and Lindsay would like to become a portion of the league. My sole object in making the suggestion was to encourage more hockey for hockey players than they now get. If a team gets thrown out on the first round, my experience is that that club goes all to pieces forthwith. Take our own club this year, in the intermediate series. We have merely two games on the first round. If we are successful in the group, our hockey to all intents and purposes ceases by the end of January.

Has Written.

"I did not intend doing anything with my proposition at present, but since this article has appeared in the newspapers I have addressed a letter to all the neighbouring clubs, stating that I would be well satisfied with an eastern branch of the O. H. A.

"I do not wish you or the executive to think I am running opposition in any way whatever. I am anxious though to bring on our younger boys, and encourage them a bit.

Make Branches.

"I yet think that the executive of the O. H. A. would make a greater success of their association if it could be divided into three branches, East and West and North of Toronto. Details of semi-finals and finals could be worked out later. I merely make this suggestion as I believe it to be perfectly feasible without in any way impairing the usefulness and success of the O. H. A.

"Our rink is fast approaching completion, and if we have ten days' fine weather will be ready for occupation by Jan. 1st, 1910. Our ice surface itself is 100 x 225 feet, with eight dressing rooms and lower and upper balcony all around the rink."

The Toronto Telegram says of the scheme:

The difficulty seems to be in the fact that Mr. Armstrong is the owner of the rink at Trenton.

The O. H. A. could not think for a moment of allowing any such breaking up of its Association. The East has now full control of its own affairs, and can arrange as many games as it likes provided it is through in time for the semi-finals. There is no difficulty in Stratford or the west generally in getting games enough. Home gates seem to be the underlying cause of the rev. gentleman's keen interest. As a matter of fact the towns in question have all the tripe they can stand now and make ends meet.

Band at Street Railway Rink Christmas afternoon.

NEW NUMBERS PLAYED BY 57TH

Will be Heard at the Next Band Concert.

When he was in Toronto attending the recent concerts given in Massey Hall by Sousa's band, Mr. Glidden, conductor of the 57th regimental band was much taken with several of the numbers played by the widely known "March King's" superb organization of musicians. Among these three spirited marches by Sousa him. They are "The Joy of the Yankee Navy," "Diplomat," and "Hands Across the Sea," and are all written in that stirring, tuneful and unconventional way that have gained the Sousa marches such a gained popularity. Included in the list of other new numbers which Sousa's band played, and which have been added to the 57th's already extensive library are, "Pet of the Guards," march Pryor; the Egyptian serenade "Amina" and the intermezzo "The Glow Worm," both by Paul Lincke; "Frozen Bill," rag, Pryor; medley of popular airs of 1909, and "Miserere" from Il Trovatore," with duet for cornet and baritone.

All the selections mentioned are especially attractive and will be given together with the latest addition to the band's repertoire of popular and standard compositions, at the five successive monthly concerts which will be held in the Conservatory Music Hall, commencing in January.

Greetings

To all, we wish the season's Greetings.

All Christmas Joys be yours.

To-night is the last chance for Christmas Shoppers to secure any Gifts that have been overlooked. Store and Annex open to-night till 10 o'clock.

Cressman's

Beware Of The Man Who Tells Things

(By Bert Kennedy in Chicago Tribune.)

If you have a brick handy, present it without ceremony to the man who is always telling you what other people say about you. You will injure him with the brick ,and you will doubtless be locked up for assault; but you will gain in the end. For you will have rid yourself of a friend who is more dangerous than the most dangerous foe.

I am a man who adores peace with the heartiest adoration—I revel in it—but when I meet the man who tells me in confidence of the ruffianly thing that some one has said of me, I feel like indulging in war. I feel like letting him have one of the best under the chin.

Know, my dear reader, that everybody talks about you when you are not present in quite a different way from what they would talk were you face to face with them. It is human nature. We are all critics of one another. Even your dearest friend knows that you have little faults. And when the occasion comes he speaks to others of these little faults. He does this even though he is your best and most reliable friend. And you do the same by him. We all speak of one another's faults. We can't help it. We were born that way. We don't really mean anything by it. But we do it. And there's no end of it.

It is alleged, to be sure, that there are some perfect persons who never say behind a man's back what they wouldn't say before his face. I say alleged, because I must confess that, in a somewhat wide experience of life, I have never had the fortune to meet these persons. And I am driven to the conclusion that, if they exist at all, they are as rare among us as white blackbirds.

My experience of life has shown me that human beings find it the finest and most stimulating fun going to laugh at the failings and oddities of others behind their backs. In fact, I would go so far as to assert that this trait in our common humanity is the root and foundation of our social life. In the good old prehistoric days men laid down their flint clubs and indulged in humourous comment concerning the way some acquaintance escaped from, or was gulped up by, the sporty animals with the longq names. And they found this comment upon the fortunes or misfortunes of others so delightful that they made a habit of it, and thereby laid the foundations of social intercourse as we know it now.

The one who tells is a spoil sport and a traitor. And, what is more, he is that worst liar of all—the liar in whose lie there is part of truth. For the fact that he tells you of is divorced from its context. If you yourself had been there and heard what was said before and after it, you would have placed a different construction upon it. You would see that the thing he tells you of, and that sounds so malicious in the telling, was said in a joke, that there was nothing behind it. On nothing it would have felt a bit sheepish, perhaps; but it would not have rankled as it rankles now. You would not have felt as you feel now—that you have lost a friend.

The one who tells is a spoil sport, in the sense that he spoils the fun of gossip. He likely enough laughed as heartily as any one else at what was said about you, and now he comes and gives the show away. And he is a traitor in the sense that when people are talking together there is an agreement, none the less binding because it is only implied, that what is said shall go no further.

Gossip in itself is not a bad thing at all. And even scandal is shorn in a vast measure of its power to injure when the person about whom it is circulated knows nothing of it. If you don't know what people are saying about you, the thing largely is, in effect, not said. And, even if you do know what is said, absolutely the best way of dealing with it is to wear a bold, unconscious front. If you do this and you will always find people to take your part. This is as true of human nature as it is true that it loves gossip and scandal.

The moment you get fencing and arguing and proving and challenging, you are fitting the cap to your head. I don't deny that ther are times when it seems necessary to meet certain things that are said about you. But even then it is well to hesitate—to hesitate long indeed. Indeed, in my judgment, it is well to keep on hesitating and hesitating — till the thing blows over.

For everything blows over in time.

That is, if you let it alone. The Irish peasants have a wise saying that fits in here. This is it: "Never bid the devil good morrow till you meet him."

It is the one who tells who really causes the trouble. This dealer in the truth that is necessarily in part a lie causes more mischief than any other kind of criminal. I say criminal advisedly, for the man or the woman who is in the habit of telling people what others say about them creates far more mischief and causes far more misery than the more honest and bolder type of criminal who is sent into penal servitude. The law is unable to touch them. I know; but their crime is none the less black because of that. Quite often the worst crimes are those that the law is unable to punish.

Beware of the one who tells. Have nothing to do with him or her.

For, if you do, you will rue it.

WARNE'S

JEWELRY

—STORE—

Warne's Store is beaming with Xmas Gifts of highest quality and prices are away below the so called bankrupt sales. No other store in town can give you better quality than at Warne's. In buying an article of Jewellery at Warne's it is put up in one of these boxes with their name on it so that in giving it as a Xmas present your friend will know and appreciate it much more than by purchasing it at a cheap sale where old stock is unloaded on the public. Some Xmas Gifts which are ex'llent value: :: :: :: ::

WARNE'S

Ladies' Gold Watches..... at ..... $16.50-$25-$35

Ladies' Gold Filled Watches at..... $8.90-$12-$15

Gents' Gold Filled Watches .. at..... $8-$10-$15

Solid Gold Links $2.25-$4-$5

Ladies' Solid Gold Locket $6.

Pearl Sun Bursts $3-$11-$32.

Gold Fobs special at $1 50-$5

Ladies' Signet Rings ..... at .... $2.50-$6.50

Gents' Signet Rings at $3-$10

Pearl Rings at ..... $3-$14

Diamond Rings $20-$25-$30

Hundreds of useful Gifts ranging in price from 5-c to $1 which cannot be duplicated elsewhere in town. Any article that is purchased here is guaranteed so quality is what you must consider in buying Jewellery. The name Warne on any article in Jewellery stands for quality.

WARNE BROS.

345 GEORGE STREET

Band at Street Railway Rink Christmas afternoon.

"THE VOLUNTEER ORGANST"

The liquor problem plays a large part in the plot of William B. Gray's successful pastoral play "The Volunteer Organist," which comes to the Grand Opera House next Monday, Dec. 27, matinee and evening. The fact that the young minister of the place is in love with the daughter of the village tavern-keeper might lead some to think that his infatuation for the fair heroine would interfere with the performance of his ecclesiastical duties, but such is not the case. On the contrary, his broad-minded viewsbring about a happy and satisfactory solution of a most perplexing problem.

Scene from the greatest of all Pastoral Plays, "THE VOLUNTEER ORGANIST," at "THE GRAND", NEXT MONDAY, DECEMBER 27, with Special Matinee for Ladies and Children at 2.30.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

Merry Christmas to my friends.

We are celebrating a birthday to-day.

Have you ever remembered that yet? Some of us I fancy sometimes go through a whole Christmas day and in the business and the happiness of the material of it all forget that.

We are celebrating a holiday of One whose greatest teaching was the law of Love and Peace.

Have you turned your worries and troubles out of house and home and are you keeping open house in your heart to-day for Love and Peace and Good Will towards men?

We are celebrating a Birthday to-day.

We are celebrating the birthday of One who despised forms when the right Spirit was not behind them.

Sometimes we think of Christmas giving as all there is in Christmas, but really and truly Christmas giving is merely the form in which the Spirit of Love is supposed to show itself forth.

It is a beautiful thing, but only beautiful so long as the Love is behind it.

A beautiful custom from which the Spirit has departed is as weak as ice when the water has been drained away from beneath it.

Is there Love behind all your gift giving this Christmas?

We are celebrating a Birthday to-day.

Would it not be appropriate to take down the Book where the sayings of Him whose birthday we celebrate are written, and read some of them?

We are celebrating a Birthday to-day.

The birthday of Him who asked us to Love our enemies as well as our friends.

Would it not be a beautiful birthday gift to Him to seek out someone towards whom we have allowed ourselves to feel bitterness—perhaps some old time friend and tell him how ashamed we are of that bitterness and enmity?

Are you displeased that I usurp too much the position of your preacher?

Forgive me. You must, for you know this is Christmas day.

Ruth Cameron

THE MAGIC OF THE MISTLETOE

Did you ever, as you officiated as high priest or priestess in the osculatory rites of yuletide, did you ever wonder what tradition, myth or superstition had conferred upon you such delectable privilege?

Did you ever stop, in your ardent ceremonial, to consider that you were perpetuating one of the most hallowed and exalted of religious ordinances handed down through the ages in rendering such tender homage to this "orphan plant of wondrous birth?"

And would it not surprise you to learn that our very word "marry" and that our most impassioned of the graces of Terpsichore—the waltz—are traditionally enmeshed in the canny tendrils of the pearly-berried mistletoe?

The mistletoe is a freak plant, a parasite or excrescence. In its embryonic period it is said to defy the laws of gravitation by pushing its radicles in the opposite direction to the generality of plants. Not only its berries but its leaves grow in clusters of three united on one stock, hence its sacred place in religious rites as a symbol of the Holy Trinity.

It was believed by the Druids and other ancient sects in Northern and Western Europe that any tree to which the mistletoe attaches itself is selected by God himself for special favor, and that all that grows on it is sent direct from heaven.

Contrary to the general belief, it is found more rarely on the oak tree than on the apple, ash, elm, poplar, will and hawthorn, and it is due to this scarcity that it was vested with exceptional reverence when discovered clinging to the sacred tree of the Druids—a name derived from the Greek word drus, or druce, meaning an oak.

In upper Germany on Christmas morning they go about knocking on each other's doors ,shouting "Gut hyl;" the synonym for the Druid name. In Brittany it is the herbede la Croix, which heals fever and gives strength for wrestling. At the time of George I. it was called lignum sancti crucis—wood of the Holy cross—so highly were its medicinal properties esteemed.

Hung about the neck it renders witches powerless. It is used in houses to drive out evil spirits. It is an amulet against poisons, and the inhabitants of Elgin and Moray keep it as charms. Throughout Britannia it had a place assigned to it in every kitchen, and a young man was deemed to have the right to kiss any lassie caught beneath the cherished branch, plucking off a berry with each kiss. If a maid were not kissed under the mistletoe it was a sign that she would not marry during the ensuing year, a tradition still prevailing. Even Mr. Pickwick availed himself of the pleasant privilege despite his oft-quoted injunction. To dream of mistletoe presages wealth, and in the language of flowers it signifies :I surmount all difficulties.

THE FORK IN THE ROAD TO OLD AGE

A Little Sermon for the Last Day of 1909 by Byron H. Stauffer.

There is a time in man's maturity when the hollowness of some things which he once regarded as essentials to his happiness, becomes apparent. The shams of society, the hypocrisies of the so-called great, the cunning diplomacies of misnamed success, the cruel penalties that failure brings with it, the unconcern of the throng for those who fall along the line of march, the fading of friendships which we thought to be in fast colors,—all these things gradually reveal themselves to us, even as the limbs of the trees in the autumn show us their gray, matter-of-fact outlines when no longer hidden by the transient leaves of summer. If the revelation breaks on us too suddenly, it almost shatters our faith. Sometimes it breaks men's hearts.

Right here is the crisis of our life. It is the Fork in the Highway to Old Age. Here diverge two roads, the Fretful way and the Tranquil way. Turn towards the left, and the track will be dependent on weather conditions, on rain or shine, on fair winds or foul. If fortune smiles, you may avoid some of the rough places of the Fretful way, but calamity will be sure to bring gloom, moroseness and despair.

Turn into the Tranquil way, and climb the hill, and you will soon emerge into a new realm of life. The competitive strivings, the disturbing comparisons, the old dependence upon position and even friendship, will have been left far behind you. You will find all the essentials of happiness right here, within easy reach. You will have much to live for, and there will come to you a new consciousness of the inseparations of this life from immortality that will make the time and manner of your exit from earth relatively unimportant.

And more, you will be surprised to discover how many fellow travellers you have, who, with you, have found that the secret springs of life's satisfaction are not cisterns which friends can make or enemies destroy, but fountains of contentment that are independent of even death itself.

Happy the man who, having passed through the various delusions, disappointments, disillusions and revelations of life, emerges from them all to say, even if with something of the abandon of hopelessness, "I will make the most of my soul ,I will work on, love on ,forgive on, and give the residue of my days to admiring nobility wherever I find it, to developing kindness, sympathy, and forbearance in myself and to recognising the good in every living thing."

BYRON H. STAUFFER.

AN ENJOYABLE ENTERTAINMENT

Annual Christmas Tree of the Auburn Union Sunday School.

The Auburn Union Sunday School held their annual Christmas tree and entertainment last evening. It was a great success and a very enjoyable time was spent. The chairman of the occasion was Rev. J. G. Potter and after a few appropriate remarks of introduction, announced the following numbers:

Opening hymn.
Chairman's address — Rev. J. G. Potter.
Recitation—Jeanette Moffatt.
Chorus—"Ring the Joy Bells" — School.
Recitation—Kay Moffat.
Recitation—Pearl Kemp.
Dialogue—"Aunt Jerusha's Mistake" —Misses M. Lewis, H. Billings, and Messrs. J. Downings and C. Billings.
Recitation—Ruth Billings.
Motion Song—Nine girls.
Recitation—Christian Anderson.
Intermission.
Recitation—Bessie Carter.
Dialogue—"Silly Willie's Visit" — Eva Flanery and Wm. Hamilton.
Recitation—Hasel Billings.
Chorus—"The Story Sweet" — School.
Recitation—Johnny Kemp.
Monologué—Bruce Hamilton.
Recitation—Eva Flannery.
Recitation—Kenneth Moffatt.
Dialogue—"Did you ever see a Ghost"—Misses E. Long, M. Lewis H. Billings and Messrs. D. Stinson and C. Billings.
Distribution of presents off tree — Santa Claus.
God Save the King.

A PRESENTATION

To Miss S. Hamilton by Pupils of S. S. No. 2, North Monaghan.

A very enjoyable entertainment marked the closing of School Section No. 2, North Monaghan, yesterday. The chair was occupied by Master Percy Goodwin, and the programme was given by the pupils, who acquitted themselves in a highly creditable manner. During the entertainment an address and presentation of a suit case was made to Miss S. Hamilton, the teacher. She is leaving the school after many years of service.

The address was as follows:

Miss S. Hamilton—

Dear Teacher,—We, your pupils, have learned with sincerest regret of your departure from our school.

During the years of faithful service in our studies has been untiring and in our studies has been untiring and invaluable, while at the same time, you have shown yourself our truest friend and adviser.

We wish to acknowledge the debt we owe you, on account of your fidelity to our best interests, and are sure that your influence has been a greater factor in moulding our lives for good than you yourself suspect.

We will ever remember with pleasure and gratitude the days we have spent under your wise and efficient training, and as a slight expression of our appreciation and esteem, we wish to offer you this token, and our hope and prayer is that during the year of well earned rest that you anticipate, you will enjoy health and happiness, and we do sincerely hope that you may be able to remember with feelings of pleasure your stay among us in S. S. No. 2, North Monaghan.

On behalf of the school.
Lillian Tranter,
Roy Byers,
Lizzie Webber,
Geo. Robinson,
Millie Wilson.
Joe Foster,

The programme was as follows:
Greeting Song—Senior room.
Chairman's address.
Christmas Greeting—Junior room.
Recitation—Jack Dawson.
Solo—Geraldine Lawless.
2 Choruses—(1) Winter Song; (2) Pop-Corn Song.
Recitation—Winnie Cooper.
2 Patriotic Choruses—(1) Canada; (2) Soldiers of the King.
Dialogue—Advertising for a cook.
Doll drill and march by 10 little girls.
Recitation—Hazel Henry.
Chorus—Jolly girls and boys.
Brownie Song—Several small boys.
Recitation—George Robinson.
Solo—Mrs. Peters.
Solo—Herbert Tranter.
Dialogue—Competing railroads.
2 Choruses—(1) Soprano song; (2) Wish Bone song.
Clock Song—Several little boys.
Solo—Wilton Tranter.
Turkey Song—Several little boys.
Wand Drill and March, Mother Goose Exercise.
Chorus—Local Option.
God Save the King.

THE PAINS OF THE AGED

Are usually due to the tendency of the kidneys to wear out as age advances, giving rise to the accumulation of poisons in the blood and causing backache, lumbago, aching limbs and rheumatism. Dr Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are particularly prized by aged people because they can be relied upon to invigorate the action of the liver, kidneys and bowels, and so remove the cause of pains and aches.

Hearty Christmas Greetings To All Our Friends!

May the Year 1910 Bring Health, Wealth and Happiness to One and All!

W. E. LECH
366 George Street

GREETINGS

To the Patrons of Adams' Store for Women

Christmas! The season of good will and gratitude for a good world to live in, for a good year and for good friends. : : : : :

At this season we are thinking of you, and wishing you joy; and that your new year may be one of peace and gladness. : : : :

HARRY ADAMS

Make Christmas Day a Merry One

Navel Oranges	Mixed Candy
Mexican Oranges	Cream Candy
Table Raisins	Chocolates
Almonds	Dates
Walnuts	Figs
Filberts	Malaga Grapes
Brazil Nuts	Lemons
York Ginger Ale	York Springs Soda Water.

E. F. MASON & CO., Grocers

TURKEYS - TURKEYS!

"Many a man faileth because of his wishbone being where his backbone ought to be."

Have backbone to see our large stock of Turkeys, and your wishbone will be on the platter Christmas morning.

Large Consignment of Turkeys, Geese, Ducks and Chickens.

S. A. OKE, 340 George Phone 2-7-6

STORE OPEN EVERY EVENING THIS WEEK

E. B. CLEGG & CO.

Christmas FURNITURE

Useful & Beautiful Xmas Gifts

Can be selected from our varied stock of FINE FURNITURE and at very low prices. Call and see if we cannot interest you in some of these different articles such as :—

Ladies' Mahogany Dressing Tables
Ladies' Sewing Tables in Oak and Mahogany
Gentlemen's Chiffoniers in Oak and Mahogany
Ladies' and Gentlemen's Easy Chairs and Rockers in endless variety.
Desks, Book-cases, China Cabinets, Tables for Parlour Library or Den.
Children's Chairs and Tables, etc.

427 George Street — CLEGG'S FURNITURE STORE — PHONE 70

EVERYONE CAN PLAY THIS PIANO

New Scale Williams Player Piano is really two pianos in one.

It can be played by hand, just as any other piano, and when not in use looks like any other fine piano.

When it is to be used as a Player a simple adjustment changes the instrument. With a New Scale Williams Player Piano in your home, everyone—young and old—can play it and thus enjoy his or her favorite music, any time, all the time.

Hear the New Scale Williams Player Piano at the local warerooms the warerooms of the J. M. Greene Co., L'td., Opera House Block."

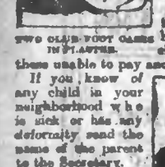
The Hospital for Sick Children
COLLEGE ST., TORONTO.

THIS APPEAL IS TO YOU!

REMEMBER That Every Sick Child in Ontario Whose Parents Cannot Afford to Pay for Treatment is Treated Free.

The Hospital for Sick Children had last year in its cots and beds 1,755 patients—283 of these were from 200 places in the Province. Sixty-five per cent. were children of poor people who could not afford to pay.

Since the organization this Institution has treated 15,813 children—12,560 of them unable to pay and were treated free.



TWO CLUB FOOT CASES IN PLASTER.

If you know of any child in your neighborhood who is sick or has any deformity send the name of the parent to the Secretary.

The Hospital for Sick Children is not a local but a great Provincial Charity for the sick child of the poor man in any part of Ontario has same claim upon its help as the child who lives within the shadow of its walls in Toronto.

SOME HOME IN A WEEK

MASSAGING A PATIENT.

There were 66 cases of Club Foot treated in the Hospital last year and 67 had perfect correction.

BEFORE AFTER

Just think of it—Yes those can help the Hospital to do the good work of straightening the crooked limbs and club feet of little children. Please help us.

Please Send Contributions to J. Ross Robertson, Chairman, or to Douglas Davidson, Sec.-Treas., The Hospital for Sick Children, College St., Toronto

Says Britain Stands Alone.

London, Dec. 24.—A Berlin despatch says Prof. Theodore Schiemann, writing to The Kreuz Zeitung, says that in the British colonies very little attention is paid to antagonism between Great Britain and Germany. News had the fact been more clearly demonstrated that Great Britain is a country standing by herself, and that the colonies had grown into separate nations, with their own separate interests.

Boy Killed by G.T.R. Engine.

Toronto, Dec. 24.—Percy Hodgins, 11 years, 484 Pape avenue, was cut in two and instantly killed when struck by a Grand Trunk shunting engine and cars at Jones avenue crossing at noon yesterday. The boy was attempting to board the cow-catcher of the engine when he missed his hold and fell beneath the wheels. An inquest was deemed unnecessary.

Given a Silver Service.

St. Catharines, Dec. 24.—At a banquet held at the Welland House last night the members of the Collegiate Institute Board presented John Henderson, M.A., retiring principal, with a valuable silver service. Mr. Henderson has been connected with the institute for 37 years, 25 being as principal.

Liquor Stolen From a Jail.

Galena, Kas., Dec. 24.—A wagon load of beer, whisky and other liquors, seized in a raid on the club rooms of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, was stolen from the City Jail yesterday by unknown persons.

The liquor had been locked up and was to have been used as evidence.

Montreal's Military Gain.

Montreal, Dec. 24.—The military life of the city is much interested in the appointment of Major H. B. Stairs of Halifax as manager of the Montreal branch of the Eastern Trust Co., recently opened in this city. Major Stairs as Captain of A Co., First Contingent, at Paardeberg.

Found Not Guilty.

Kingston, Dec. 24.—Frederick Redden and Herbert Stanford, accused of giving two girls doped whisky, had their trial before Judge Price yesterday and were found not guilty.

C. N. AND C. N. A. 44 New Discoveries by an old physician. C.N.Tablets for internal use. C.N.A. local nourisher for external use. The two—both used in conjunction at the same time produces more invigorating, vitalising and rejuvenating effects than has ever before been offered. Sufferers from vital weaknesses and lost vigor, that mars the pleasures of life, will find relief. It produces wonderful invigorating, enlarging and lasting results. Free Trial Booklet mailed in plain package on receipt of this advertisement and six cents postage. Address—THE NERVINE CO. 90 VICTORIA AVE., THE NERVINE, DEPT., TORONTO.

SENDS THE RED CROSS

Battle Between Zelaya's Army and the Revolutionists Proves to Have Been a Sanguinary One—Surrendered Soldiers Were Half-Starved and Nearly Naked—Stores Sent to Scene From Colon.

Washington, Dec. 24.—Following a peremptory warning to President Madriz, that the United States will hold him personally responsible for the safety of Americans in the western part of Nicaragua, the State Department last night extended more than moral encouragement to the revolutionists.

Under orders from Secretary Knox, American Red Cross funds are to be expended in caring for the sick and wounded troops of both the Estrada and Zelayan armies, more than 2,000 of whom are incapacitated in Bluefields.

According to the latest reports the medical corps of the various war vessels now at Bluefields has installed hospitals ashore, where scores are being cared for. The procession of sick and wounded men through the town is said to be pitiful.

With a view to relieving the situation, Secretary Knox last night consulted with the American Red Cross and immediately afterwards sent a despatch to Thomas H. Moffatt, U. S. consul at Bluefields, saying that the Red Cross to-day would telegraph $5,000 and would send another $5,000 if needed. The cablegram said, also, that the Navy Department had instructed Capt. Shipley to land supplies from American ships now at Bluefields, and that orders would be given the Prairie, now, at Colon, to transport immediately to Bluefields, from the stores intended for the marines, or from the Panama Canal commissary department, such supplies as might be requested, to the limit of $5,000, which will be recouped from the Red Cross funds.

PRESIDENT ZELAYA.

The despatch of this telegram, followed close on the receipt of a graphic report from Consul Moffatt, depicting the state of affairs in Bluefields. He reported that more than 800 men on both sides were killed in the recent battle at Rama. The despatch follows:

"Two thousand starved, emaciated prisoners have been brought here from Zelaya's surrendered army. The sight of the sick and weary, tottering through the streets, is horrible; hall are mere boys. The emergency hospital established by the Des Moines and Tacoma contains 90 wounded, the city hospital 60. Few of the surrendered army had shoes or blankets. Scores were almost naked. All are in a pitiable condition. Estrada is furnishing them with blankets, clothing, shoes and food as best he can. Flour, beans, rice, sugar, coffee and condensed milk are needed instantly to feed the starving Zelaya soldiers. Disease and death threatens unless they are properly given food and care.

"The great and sudden demand for proper clothing and food for the suffering is a problem for the provisional Government, whose resources are exhausted. Their own men, numbering 3,000, are well fed and clothed, but they cannot find means whereby to care for their increased burden.

"I have discussed the seriousness of the situation fully with Captain Shipley of the Des Moines, and believe, and suggest that a ship should be sent to Colon immediately to bring here sufficient quantities of the provisions enumerated to feed 2,000 men for thirty days. Present situation threatens starvation and disease. It is estimated now that over 800 were killed on both sides."

Orders were issued last night to the Prairie to be in readiness to sail at once from Colon with supplies.

Zelaya Needs Escort.

Managua, Nicaragua, Dec. 24.—Ex-President Zelaya will leave here today and probably will go aboard the Mexican gunboat Guerrero immediately. The gunboat is now lying in the harbor of Corinto. The Mexican Minister left here yesterday for Corinto.

Owing to the hostile demonstrations which have been going on here for the past few days against the old administration, it is likely that Zelaya will proceed to Corinto escorted by a strong guard.

News of the defeat of the Zelayan arms at Rama has been carefully guarded from the public. Various rumors have been current, but alleged officials despatches from Gen. Gonsales claimed victory for the Government troops. These have been spread broadcast, but the truth has at last begun to filter through various sources that the revolutionists have won the battle around Rama and soon are to turn their guns in the direction of the capital.

The present Government is in no condition to oppose the advance of Gen. Estrada's army. President Madriz has behind him a strong political force, but few fighting men and no preparations have been made to repel an attack.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

Turkeys were selling at 30 cents in St. Catharines yesterday.

Fire destroyed the Rialto Building, Kansas City; loss $250,000.

It is now estimated that the late E. H. Harriman left an estate of $200,000,000.

The Rutland Railway roundhouse at Albany, Vt., has been burned; loss $100,000.

It is reported that Capt. Roald Armundsen will conduct a search for Dr. Cook.

The British steamer Rostrever is safe at Holyhead, having been delayed by fog.

The U. S. battleship Utah, the biggest yet, was launched yesterday at Philadelphia.

One fireman was killed at Downington, Pa., in the burning of the Bicking paper mills.

France will spend $40,000 in the purchase of aeroplanes for military scouting purposes.

The Corinthian, stranded at Halifax harbor, has been floated without having suffered any damage.

Prizes aggregating $80,000 will be given for the aeronautic carnival at Los Angeles, Cal., in January.

Forty passengers were injured when a train was ditched near Good Thunder, Minn. The mail car was burned.

The estate of John Stuart Kennedy of New York is valued at over $100,000,000; nearly one-third of which is left to charity.

Officers of the National Geographic Society, Washington, say that Peary's polar proofs will not be submitted for Danish investigation.

J. C. Coe, a Saskatchewan farmer, has brought 30 autos, averaging $4,500 each, in Detroit, in order for farmer friends in the west.

At a conference of English headmasters, Dr. Gray, headmaster of Bradfield, proposed a resolution pledging support to the Public School League for imperial land settlement. The resolution was enthusiastically carried.

His sister's persistent refusal to give him money to angered Abraham Bennett, jr., the none-too-provident son of a hard-working Brooklyn family, that he yesterday shot her down in the hallway of their home and then shot and killed himself.

Long Live King Albert.

Brussels, Dec. 24.—Albert I., King of the Belgians, with his Queen Elizabeth, made a state entry into the capital from Laeken yesterday morning. Cannon boomed a royal salute, church bells rang out merrily and thousands of adoring subjects lined the route of the regal march, crying "Long live Albert" and "Long live Elizabeth."

A feeble attempt of the Socialists to make a demonstration failed miserably.

"In the Congo the nation wishes a policy of humanity and progress enforced," he said. "The mission of colonisation cannot be other than a mission of high civilization."

Tragedies In One Woman's Life.

New York, Dec. 24.—Mrs. Louis Labett, finds little to be merry about this Christmas time. Her husband was murdered eighteen months ago, her two eldest children have died within the year, her father, mother, and five other relatives were lost in the Messina earthquake, and yesterday she herself pleaded guilty to the killing of Dominick Versaisi, who she believed was the slayer of her husband. She shot and killed Versaisi, in alleged self-defence. She was sentenced to the Bedford Reformatory for women.

$50,000 Montreal Fire.

Montreal, Dec. 24.—Fire last night did $50,000 damage to the premises and stock of the Globe Hat Works and the Canadian Iron & Foundry Co. The loss on the hat works is placed at $30,000, with $12,000 insurance, and on the foundry at about $90,000, fully covered.

Four firemen were injured by falling walls, but none seriously.

Double Murder; Three Arrests.

Chillicothe, Ohio, Dec. 24.—Mrs. Jennie Jackson, colored, and her two-year-old granddaughter, were murdered Wednesday night and the house fired by their slayers. Firemen found the bodies still warm. John Haugmer, William Swan and Dilly McKinley, mother of the murdered child, have been arrested.

Thought Penniless; Had $5,000.

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 24.—In the trunk of Miss Margaret Sullivan, who died here recently, after having worked as a servant in a downtown hotel for 27 years, more than $5,000 was found yesterday. The woman was thought to be penniless. She was 65 years old. The money will probably go to two sisters.

Didn't Want to Spoil Christmas.

New York, Dec. 24.—"Bury me Friday morning. I want the poor boys from the Bowery to have their Christmas dinner Saturday and I want you to get me out of the way so as not to spoil their Christmas," was the dying request of "Little Tim" Sullivan, the policeman. The funeral will be held as requested.

No Tariff War.

New York, Dec. 24.—There will be no tariff war between France and the United States, according to M. Auguste Calvet, a Senator of France, before sailing for Havre yesterday. M. Calvet said he believed all schedules between the two countries would be settled before next April.

THE NAVY IS BEGUN

Obsolete Twin Screw Warship is to Serve as a Training Ship—Another Purchase is Said to Be Under Way — Second Vessel Will Be Larger and is Intended for Training on Atlantic Coast.

Ottawa, Dec. 24.—H.M.S. Rainbow has been purchased by the Canadian Government. It is the first vessel of the new Canadian navy and will be stationed on the Pacific coast.

The Rainbow is a second-class, twin screw cruiser of the Apollo type, and is to be used as a training ship, while also engaged in the fisheries protection service. She is now undergoing repairs in England and will be sent to Canada in the spring via the Suez Canal.

This vessel was built in 1894, and is therefore obsolete. Her original cost was $920,000, but the price which Canada will pay is not announced. The details of her construction are: Tonnage, 3,400; indicated horsepower, 7,000; forced draught, 9,000; length, 380 feet; beam, 43 feet; draft, 16 feet 6 inches; armor in the gun division, 4 1-2 inches; speed 20 knots; coal supply, 4,000 tons. The armament of the Rainbow is: two six-inch guns, six 4.7 guns, eight six-pounders, one three-pounder and four torpedo boats.

The Government is at present negotiating for the purchase of a second and a larger vessel, which will be stationed on the Atlantic coast.

The purchase of the Rainbow has occasioned considerable surprise. Critics of the Government cannot understand why the Government has entered into an elaborate scheme regarding a navy before the naval bill has been introduced in the House.

While the Government can do practically what it likes in the matter, there is this criticism made, that it is contrary to the usual policy of conducting national business. The country through its representatives has not been given an opportunity of passing upon the question.

It is stated here, and evidently with some show of reason, that when the Government's naval defence bill is brought down in the Commons next month it will contain nothing in the nature of a definite policy regarding armament, but will merely provide for the creation of a Canadian admiralty, on the same lines as the act creating the Canadian militia.

Must Protect Passengers.

Winnipeg, Dec. 24.—Justice Mecaffe yesterday awarded Miss Ann Isbister, a nurse, $6,000 damages against the Dominion Fish Co., in a suit arising out of the burning of the steamer Premier on Lake Winnipeg last year. It was a test case and will probably result in several other suits.

The judge ruled that common carriers of passengers are bound to use all due, proper and reasonable care to carry passengers safely. Either there was no watchman on duty, or if on duty he must certainly have been very negligent, otherwise the crew and passengers would have been aroused in time to have insured their safety.

Quartette Arrested For Theft.

Chatham, Dec. 24.—Theo Gonyou (white), and Harvey Wilson, Ida Wilson and George Scott (colored) are now in jail awaiting trial for the robbery of Albert Toulouse and Noah Sampire, two Frenchmen from Big Point, who put up Wednesday night at Wilson's place on Queen street, south. Toulouse was touched for $53, and Sampire for $10, as well as about half their clothes. When a policeman went to make the arrests, the four occupants of the shack set upon him, and he was forced to use his revolver.

Didn't Find Man-Eater.

Nogales, Ariz., Dec. 24.—The mystery and glamor surrounding Tiburon Island, Gulf of California, has been dissipated effectually through the return of seven American explorers who visited the island. They had supposed it to be inhabited by man-eating Seri Indians, and to contain hidden treasure and rich mineral deposits.

It contains no human beings, but there are hundreds of deer and myriads of wild pigeons.

Black Hand at Sandwich.

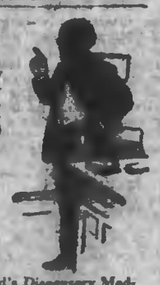
Windsor, Dec. 24.—Sandwich has a real black hand scare. Threatening letters have been received by three men within two days. Dieudonne Marit received the first missive decorated with a black hand, skull and cross-bones, and containing a threat of hanging, couched in French. Jules Robinet and E. Bisaigneul received similar letters.

Nine Dead In Mine Explosion.

St. Louis, Md., Dec. 24.—A gas explosion occurred yesterday afternoon in mine A of the Carterville Coal Co., near Herrin, Williamson County.

Nine men are known to be dead, and it is believed a number are entombed.

When You Think



Of the pain which many women experience with every month is makes the gentleness and kindness always associated with womanhood seem to be almost a miracle. While in general so woman rebels against what she regards as a natural necessity there is no woman who would not gladly be free from this recurring period of pain.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well, and gives them freedom from pain. It establishes regularity, subdues inflammation, heals ulceration and cures female weakness.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence strictly private and sacredly confidential. Write without fear and without fee to World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y.

If you want a book that tells all about woman's diseases, and how to cure them at home, send 31 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce to pay cost of mailing only, and he will send you a free copy of his great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser—revised, up-to-date edition, in paper covers. In handsome cloth-binding, 50 stamps.

HOLIDAY WELCOMED

Author of the Budget Pitilessly Slaughtered, Milner, Middleton and Curzon — Chamberlain Keeps Up a String of Letters on the Campaign — Says Tariff Reform Won't Raise Price of Food.

London, Dec. 24.—The pre-Christmas campaign has not clarified the situation, but has rather complicated the issues before the British electors. The "silent" 20 per cent. vote, who are supposed to sway the election, will be glad of the holidays to rest their cardrums and analyze the programs.

At present there are not wanting signs that the Ministerialists, from the Premier and Chancellor of the Exchequer downwards, are quite satisfied with the progress made. But of course a vigorous New Year campaign, by the Conservatives, with Balfour leading, may change their confident demeanor.

It is officially stated that writs will now be issued from the crown office Jan. 10, thus corresponding with 1906, and giving the Radicals what they claim to be the advantage of a Saturday poll in the earlier constituencies.

Joseph Chamberlain is making up for his forced silence by a series of telling letters. In one he says: "I do not find any difficulty in answering those who profess to believe that tariff reform will make food dearer. In Germany it has not raised the cost of living. I do not see why it should do so in this country. On the other hand, we may arrange matters so that goods imported free are raw material and not finished manufactures."

At Newport, Lord Tennyson read a letter from Mr. Chamberlain, stating that he hoped this election would be the end of the system which had made possible all we complain of, especially unemployment.

Lord Milner, speaking at Cardiff, said the present duty of the people was to consider the relative position of both parties and disentangle it from irrelevant matters, which had been raised to prejudice one party. The people was to consider the financial proposals of the Government against what was really the true interests of the country.

John Burns, at Nine Elms, complained that the placards and cartoons of the Unionists were scandalous. They were issued in the interests of the food-taxer and trusts, which would get a footing through the tariff to bring about the moral degradation of the people, as well as political corruption. It was monstrous that London should be subjected to such grotesque exaggerations, which hid the facts from the people.

Mr. MacNamara declared that the Tory party had landed itself in for a record defeat. So far as he could see, they knew it, and they knew they could not face the constitutional issue raised by Lansdowne's motion, so they therefore rushed frantically from one expedient to another. It was not interesting to record the result of the plebiscite taken at Gateshead in order to prevent a three-cornered contest. If postcards sent out, 7,101 were returned, the result being: Elverston, Liberal, 3,617; Johnson, Labor, 2,335; Doyle, Unionist, 1,059.

In his Welsh campaign Lloyd-George is turning down the dukes, whom he believes he has utterly smashed to what have been called "prancing proconsuls of Unionism." The following is an incident of his Llangelly speech yesterday: "We have four noble lords traveling the country. Milner, you know him, evidently we are still paying his debts. (Laughter.) Until they are all paid it would be better for him if he stayed at home. Then there is Cawdor, who has a special claim to speak his mind to the people, having been rejected twice by constituencies that knew him best. (Cheers and laughter.)

"Two other noble lords, Middleton and Curzon, have both been saying rather rude things about me. (Laughter.) I do not mind it really, but I will show them my appreciation of rudeness by telling the truth about them. Who is Lord Middleton? The hereditary system has at least one advantage, it enables a man, who used to be called Broderick, to call himself Middleton, when he wants the people to forget that he was ever a Broderick. (Laughter and cheers.) As Broderick, he has one claim to distinction. He wanted more public money than any living man except Milner. (Laughter and cheers.) He made such a mess of the War Office that even the Tory Government, and I suppose that was about the worst this country has ever seen, could stand him no longer, so they sent him to the Indian Office to help Lord Curzon muddle the affairs of the Indian Empire. (Cheers.) If you asked Lord Middleton whether I have been too hard on Curzon, he would say that I rather understated the case. If you asked Curzon whether he thinks I am too hard on Middleton, he would say I was rather mild. (Laughter.) They do love each other. (More laughter.) These are the saviours, these be the gods, oh protectionist Israel! (Laughter and cheers.) It is a pretty quartette, Cawdor, Milner, Middleton and Curzon, singing these Christmas carols about the country." (Loud laughter.)

Leaves $500,000 For Parks.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 24.—A codicil to the will of George Rhodius leaves the residue of his estate of about $500,000 to be applied to improvement of parks in Indianapolis. Elma, Dare, to whom Rhodius was married in Louisville, Ky., is cut off without any share in the estate.

New Hungarian Premier.

Budapest, Dec. 24.—King Francis Joseph yesterday appointed Dr. Ladislaus Von Lukacs, former Minister of Finance, Hungarian Premier.

Shaughnessy Denies.

London, Dec. 24.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—President Shaughnessy denies that the C. P. R. has acquired the Allan line or that he is placing order for ocean steamers.

CHRISTMAS MUSIC IN THE CITY CHURCHES

GOSPEL HALL

Mr. John Gilchrist, Evangelist, will preach at the Gospel Hall, to-morrow night at seven o'clock. The usual bright song service will precede the address. Mr. Gilchrist is an interesting and convincing speaker. We hope a large audience will hear him to-morrow night.

ROMAN CATHOLIC

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL

There will be three Masses celebrated: At 8 a.m., Low Mass; at 9.15 a.m., Children's Mass; at 10.30 a.m., High Mass; at 7 p.m., Vespers, with sermon.

ANGLICAN

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rector

Christmas Day Music at St. John's.

There will be three services in St. John's church on Christmas morning, viz.:

Holy Communion, 8 a.m. and 11.30 a.m.

Matins and sermon, 10.30 a.m.

The service at 10.30 a.m. will be choral.

Processional Hymn, "O, Come all ye Faithful;" 72, (69.)

Venite 7, Te Deum, Dyke's; Benedictus 61.

Hymn, "Christians, Awake, Salute the Happy Morn," 74, (61.)

Anthem, "While Shepherds Watched," Field.

Hymn, "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing," 73, (60.)

Communion Service sung to Woodward's setting.

Carol, "See, amid the Winter Snow," Stainer.

Recessional, "Nunc Dimittis," Barnby.

Concluding Voluntary, "O, Thou that Tellest," Handel.

Hymns from new hymnal: A and M. numbers in brackets.

Sunday after Christmas—St. Stephen's Day. A. and M.

Holy Communion, 8.30 a.m.

Matins and sermon, 11 a.m.

Processional Hymn, "Once in Royal David's City," 72, (365.)

Venite 7, Te Deum, Dyke's; Benedictus 61.

Office Hymn, "First of Martyrs," 82, (65.)

Hymn, "O Come all ye Faithful," 72, (69.)

Anthem, "Hark! What Mean those Holy Voices?" Mason.

Hymn, "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing," 73, (60.)

Sunday school Christmas service, 3 p.m.

Evensong fully choral and carols, 7 p.m.

Processional Hymn, "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing," 73, (60.)

Responses to Tallis. Proper Psalms 110, 132 to chant 56.

Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis to Smart in D.

Hymn, "While Shepherds Watched," 76, (63.)

The following carols will be sung from the New Hymnal:

737, "Carol, Sweetly Carol."

740, "Good Christian Men Rejoice."

741, "Hark, What Mean."

745, "See, amid the Winter Snow."

746, "Sleep, Holy Babe."

Processional Hymn, "Rejoice to-day with one Accord," 348, (378.)

Concluding organ voluntary, "Glory to God," Handel.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH

Rev. Dr. E. A. Langtaldt, M.A., Rector

CHRISTMAS DAY, December 25th.

Holy Communion, 7.30 a.m.

Morning Prayer and Holy Communion, 10.30 a.m.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

11 a.m., Morning Prayer and Holy Communion.

3 p.m., Sunday School and Bible Classes.

7 p.m., Evening Prayer and Sermon.

The Church has been appropriately decorated for the occasion, and the music will be of a suitable character.

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH

Rev. H. R. Trumpour, M. A., B. D., Rector

Christmas Services at All Saints', Christmas Day.

7.15 a.m., Holy Communion.

8.00 a.m., Holy Communion.

10.30 a.m., Morning Prayer (shortened) with choral celebration of Holy Communion and sermon.

Hymn 72, "O Come all ye Faithful."

Psalms 19 and 85, with Gloria No. 78.

Venite 95, from Book of Common Praise. Chants.

Te Deum, based on "Adeste Fideles."

Benedictus, 49.

Hymn, 182, "Carol, Sweetly Carol."

Sermon by the Rector, "Heaven."

7.00, Evening service—Carol Service.

Hymn 73, "Hark! the Herald Angels Sing."

Psalms 89, 110, 132 with Gloria No. 78.

Magnificat 86.

Nunc Dimittis, 105.

Hymn, 749, "The first Nowell the Angel did say."

Carols, sung by the choir alone."

742, "Holy Night, Peaceful Night."

749, "Stars all Brightly Beaming."

747, "Like Silver Lamps in a Distant Shrine."

745, "See amid the Winter Snow."

750, "We three Kings of the Orient Are."

Hymn 737, (Choir and congregation), "Carol, Sweetly Carol."

Sermon by Rector, "Dickens' Christmas Carol."

Anthem, "The Anthem Celestial."

Hymn 72, "O come all ye Faithful."

Vesper Hymn.

Four Fold Amen.

Sunday after Christmas.

11 a.m., Morning Prayer and sermon. "Heaven."

3 p.m., Sunday school and Mr. Trumpour's Bible class for young men in the Vestry.

4.15, Holy Baptism.

7 p.m., Evening Prayer and Carol Service. The sermon will be Dicken's Christmas Carol."

BAPTIST

MURRAY ST. BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. J. R. Webb, Pastor

MORNING.

Christmas Offertoire .....Jules Grison

Anthem, His Name shall endure forever .....Belcher

Solo, Christmas Morn has dawned again.. Mrs. Millet. (Wooler

Offertory, Chant Triumphale Gho. J Gray

Quartette, The Song of the Angel..Gabriel

Mrs. Miller, Miss Kidd, Mr. Reddon, Mr. Ferguson.

Festival Postlude ....L.Lichig

EVENING.

Offertory in B Flat .....Alex Guilmand

Anthem, Where is He that is born....Lee

Solo, Gloria in Excelsis Deo.....Gelbel

Mr. Ferguson.

Trio, The Glorious Song of Old ..Adams

Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Hunt, Mr. Hunt.

Solo, In old Judea.

Miss Kidd.

With violin obligato by Miss Hope Miller.

Offertory, Pastoral Intermezzo, W. R. Aikmail.

Solo and Quartette, That Wonderful Night,—Gabriel, Miss Pilling ,Mrs. Miller, Mr. Hunt, Mr. Ferguson.

Postlude in F.—Wm. Mason.

PARK ST. BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. W. C. Biddford, Pastor

In the morning the pastor will preach on the subject, "An Ideal Christmas."

Music will be an anthem, "Hail, Thou Long Expected Jesus," and a solo, "Christmas Song."

In the evening the pastor's subject will be, "The Christmas Heart."

Anthem, "The Christmas Song," and anthem, "Calm on the Listening Ear of Night."

J. C. Miller, Choir Leader.

METHODIST

CHARLOTTE ST. METHODIST

Rev. G. W. Henderson, Pastor

Regular Services.

MARK STREET METHODIST

Rev. C. H. Coon, Pastor

Regular Services.

GEORGE STREET METHODIST

Rev. Edwin A. Pearson, B. A., Pastor

MORNING.

Organ Prelude, Pastorale...Lefebure-Wely

Anthem, "Glad Tidings" .....T. H. Auger

Invocation .....

Hymn 186, "Angels from the Realm of Glory" .....Montgomery

Prayer .....

Anthem, "The Birthday of a King".....Neidlinger

Announcements .....

Solo, "A Christmas Lullaby".....

Mr. E. A. Proude.

1st Lesson, Psalm XCVIII. .....

Duet, "The First Christmas Morn" .....

Messrs. Dartnell and Huycke.

2nd Lesson, Luke II., 8-20.....

Hymn, 142, "Hark! the Herald Angels Sing" .....Wesley

Sermon, Subject, "The Heart of Christmas"

Prayer .....

Offertory .....

Anthem, "Hark! Hark! with Harps of Gold" .....Hanscom

Hymn, "Hark! What mean those Holy Voices?".....Gawood

Benediction .....

Postlude, "Gloria" .....Prmer

EVENING

Organ Prelude, Pastorale .....Flagler

Anthem, "O Little Town of Bethlehem" .. Neidlinger

Invocation .....

Hymn, 160, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name" .....Perronet

Prayer .....

Ladies' Quartette, "Star of Glory" .....Armstrong

Misses Reesor and Sanderson, Mesdames Greenslade and Rehill.

Announcements .....

Solo .....

Mr. F. Miles.

Lesson, John I., 1-18.....

Anthem, "Peaceful Night" ...J. H. Auger

Hymn, 139, "Thee we adore, Eternal Lord"

Sermon, Subject, "The Faith of an Infidel," Text Rom. 14, 23.....

Prayer .....

Offertory .....

Solo, "The Message of the Angels" ..... (Hawley)

Miss Reesor.

Hymn, 142, "Hark! the Herald Angels Sing" .....Wesley

Benediction .....

Vesper Hymn .....Beethoven

Postlude, "Triumphal March" .....Salmon-Dolby

ST. JAMES METHODIST

REV. J. G. BROWN, B.A., PASTOR

The regular services will be held on Sunday next.

Children's Christmas Service at 11 a.m.

Sunday School and Bible Classes at 2.30 p.m.

Evening Service, at 7 p.m.

MISSIONS

BETHANY TABERNACLE

Revd John E. Fox, Pastor

Sunday morning prayer meeting at 10.30 o'clock, and the regular service at 11 a.m. "Seeking Jesus."

Sunday School and Bible Classes meet at 2 p.m.

Prayer and Song Service from 6.30 till 7 p.m., followed by the regular evening service. Subject, "No room in the Inn."

PRESBYTERIAN

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

Rev. Robert Boyce, Pastor

At St. Paul's Church, on Sunday, Rev. Mr. Pogue will preach at both services. In the morning he will present a theme especially suitable to Christmas, while in the evening he will preach upon the closing of the year.

KNOX CHURCH

Rev. H. J. Keith, B. D., M. A. Pastor

MORNING.

"O, Rest in the Lord," Mendelssohn.

Christmas carol as solo, "Christian, Listen, While we Sing."—John Martin.

Anthem, "Hark! the Herald Angels Sing."—A Reidy.

EVENING.

"Behold, I Bring you Good Tidings,"—H. L. Maxwell.

Solo, "Christmas Morn."

Anthem, "Son of My Soul."—Edmund Turner.

SALVATION ARMY CITADEL

Staff Capt. and Mrs. Watson in Charge

7 a.m., Early Morning Prayer Service. Invitation is extended to everybody. Bring your friends.

9.15 a.m., Bible Class.

11 a.m., Holiness Meeting.

2 p.m., Sunday School.

3 p.m., Public Song and Praise Service.

7 p.m., Public Salvation Meeting.

The Band will be in attendance at the morning, afternoon and evening services, and will render special music.

Wednesday evening, at 8 p.m., private soldiers' meeting.

What a Lady saw at McWilliams' Fur Store and pronounced a most suitable and reasonable Xmas Gift.

An Empire Sable Muff for only $12.

not dyed nor coloured, but original fur. Exceptional value. Ask to see them.

E. N. McWILLIAMS

374 George St. - Peterborough

Grateful

For your patronage during the past year, hoping for a continuance of the same for 1910.

I wish you one and all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

R. McWHINNIE

BOTH PHONES, 384 GEORGE ST

Brock St. Rink

Season 1909-10

Tickets for the season entitling the holder to a skating privilege, on sale Monday, Dec. 13th, at F. B. Clarke & Son, E. N. McWilliams, W. A. Henderson, W. Medill, Payne's Drug Store, McDonald & Jary, and at the rink.

Gentlemen ...$3.00
Ladies 2.00
Youths 16 to 18..$2
Boys under 16, 1.50
Girls 1.50

NO EXTRA CHARGE

The Oliver Back-Spacer—
The Oliver Tabulator—
The Oliver Line-Ruling Device—

Each supplements and completes the others for billing, statement, or any kind of statistical work and up-to-date correspondence.

LET US SHOW YOU HOW AND WHY

THE PETERBOROUGH TYPEWRITER COMPANY

PUBLIC STENOGRAPHERS
AUDITORS and BOOK-KEEPERS

Phone 655 159 SIMCOE STREET

DOMINION CHINESE

328 George CAFE 328 George

Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch, don't forget to call at

283 George St. HARRY HAMILTON

Ice Cream and Soft Drinks

—Toronto— Savings and Loan Company

Notice is hereby given that a Quarterly Dividend at the rate of six per cent (6%) per annum for the three months ending December 31st, 1909, has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this Comp'y, together with a bonus of two per cent. 2%) for the year 1909, making a total dividend disbursement for the year of eight per cent (8%). The said dividend and bonus will be payable at the office of the company in this city on and after January 1st, 1910.

The transfer books of the company will be closed from the 17th to the 31st of December, both days inclusive.

W. G. MORROW MANAGING DIRECTOR

Peterboro, Dec. 10th, 1909.

MARKET REPORTS.

Liverpool Wheat Futures Close Lower, Chicago Higher—Live Stock —Latest Quotations.

Thursday Evening, Dec. 23.

Liverpool wheat futures closed to-day ½d to ¾d lower than yesterday; corn unchanged to ½d lower.

At Chicago December wheat closed 1½c higher than yesterday; December corn 1½c higher, and December oats ½c higher.

Winnipeg Options.

At Winnipeg December wheat closed ⅞c higher than yesterday; December oats ⅛c higher.

Wheat—December $1.01½. May $1.06⅝.
Oats—December 34½c, May 37c.

Toronto Grain Market.

Wheat, fall, bush	$1 00	to $1 10
Wheat, goose, bush	1 05	....
Wheat, red, bush	1 00	....
Buckwheat, bushel	0 52	....
Rye, bushel	0 72	....
Barley, bush.	0 62	0 65
Peas, bushel	0 90	....
Oats, bushel	0 40	0 41

Toronto Dairy Market.

Cheese, per lb	0 13	0 13½
Eggs, case lots, dozen	0 31	0 32
Butter, separator, dairy, lb	0 31	0 32
Butter, store lots	0 23	0 24
Butter, creamery, solids	0 32	....
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls	0 27	0 28
Honey, extracted	0 10½	....
Honey, combs, per dozen	2 25	2 50

Liverpool Grain and Produce.

LIVERPOOL, Dec. 23.—Close—Wheat—Spot quiet; No. 2 red western winter, 8s 2½d; futures quiet; Dec., 8s 1½d; March, 7s 11¼d; May, 7s 9¾d. Corn—Spot new American mixed via Galveston, steady, 6s 9d; old, do., quiet, 6s 10d; futures quiet; January mixed, 6s 8½d; Jan. plate, 6s 7¼d.

Hams—Short cut quiet, 62s. Beans—Cumberland cut, quiet, 63s. Lard—Prime western, dull, 42s 6d; American refined, easy, 42s 9d. Turpentine spirits—Steady, 32s 9d.

New York Dairy Market.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Butter—Steady to firm; receipts 4713. Creamery, third to first, 29c to 33c, western factory, 24c to 26c. Cheese—Firm, unchanged; receipts 2145. Eggs—Easier; receipts 6982. State, Penna. and nearby hennery white fancy, 40c to 42c; do., gathered white, 36c to 38c; do., brown and mixed fancy, 40c; do., gathered brown, fair to prime, 33c to 36c; western extra first, 34c to 35c.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Steady—Hogs Firmer on U.S. Markets.

LONDON, Dec. 23.—London cables for cattle are steady at 12c to 14½c per lb. for live cattle, dressed weight; Liverpool, 12½c to 13½c; refrigerator beef steady, at 10½c to 11c per lb.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, Dec. 23.—The railways reported 84 carloads of live stock as received on Wednesday and Thursday, consisting of 975 cattle, 2299 hogs, 1068 sheep and lambs, and 65 calves.

Trade in all classes of live stock was good with prices unchanged from Tuesday's quotations.

George Rowntree bought 180 cattle, besides the 15 carloads of northwest butchers that came in since Tuesday, for the Harris Abattoir Co. Butchers steers and heifers, $4.70 to $5.35; cows, $4.75 to $4.85; and bulls at $3 to $4 per cwt.

McDonald & Halligan sold 16 butchers, 945 lbs. each, at $5.10; 13 butchers, 982 lbs. each, at $5.15; 4 butchers, 730 lbs. each, at $4.20; 6 butchers, 826 lbs. each, at $5; 3 butchers, 720 lbs. each, at $4.25; 3 butchers, 1070 lbs. each, at $5.20; 4 cows, 1217 lbs. each, at $3.75; 1 cow, 940 lbs., at $3.50; 1 cow, 770 lbs., at $3; 1 cow, 1460 lbs., at $4.45; 4 canners, 845 lbs. each, at $1.85; 6 milch cows, $45 each; 1 milch cow, $43; 3 milch cows, $37 each.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, N.Y., Dec. 23.—Cattle—Steady; prime steers, $6.75 to $7.

Veals—Receipts 100 head; active and steady; $8 to $10.25.

Hogs—Receipts 4600 head; fairly active and strong to 5c higher; heavy, $6.40 to $6.45; mixed, $6.35 to $6.40; pigs, $5 to $5.30; roughs, $5.75 to $6; stags, $4.50 to $5.25; dairies, $6.25 to $6.40.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts 3500 head; slow and steady; lambs, $6.25 to $6.50; yearlings, $5.30 to $5.50; wether, $5.75 to $6; ewes, $5.25 to $5.50; sheep, mixed, $5 to $5.50; Canada lambs, $6.25 to $6.40.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Beeves—Receipts 1397; bulls, $4.10 to $4.25; cows, $3.40 to $5.50; dressed beef in fair demand at 8c to 12½c for native sides.

Calves—Receipts 704; steady; veals, $7 to $10.50; culls, $6; barnyard calves, $3.50 to $4.30; western calves, $5 to $6; city dressed veals, 14c to 15½c; country dressed, 12c to 14½c; dressed barnyard calves, 8c to 10c.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts 5171; sheep steady; lambs, 15c to 25c lower. Sheep, $4 to $5; culls, $3 to $3.25; lambs, $7.25 to $8.60; culls, $4.50 to $6.50.

Hogs—Receipts 3940; market lower; prime state hogs sold at $6.40.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—Cattle—Receipts 6000; market for best firm; others easy; steers, $5 to $9; cows, $3.60 to $5; heifers, $3.40 to $6; bulls, $3.40 to $4.75; calves, $6 to $8.75; stockers and feeders, $3.75 to $5.60.

Hogs—Receipts 17,000; market 5c to 15c higher. Choice heavy, $6.40 to $6.50; butchers, $6.30 to $6.45; light mixed, $6 to $6.10; choice light, $6.10 to $6.25; packing, $5.90 to $6.25; pigs, $2 to $7.70; bulk of sales, $6.10 to $6.30.

Sheep—Receipts 15,000; market strong. Sheep, $4 to $5.75; lambs, $6.90 to $8.35; yearlings, $4.25 to $7.

Twice a Bigamist.

Woodstock, Dec. 24.—George Thornton, a young man whose home is in Ingersoll, was charged at the Police Court yesterday with bigamy. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to two years in Kingston Penitentiary.

Thornton was tried on the same charge here four years ago, but was let go on the condition that he would look after his second wife. He went to Flint, Mich., after deserting two little ones, and married a third wife.

On a warrant sworn out by his second wife he was arrested Wednesday. His only plea was that women had led him astray.

Did Constable Steal?

Hagersville, Dec. 24.—Constable Rispin was yesterday committed for trial by Magistrates Howard and Crozier on charges of theft from Almas and Hewitt's seed store.

Almas testified that he and his partner lay in wait Wednesday night, Dec. 18, and that Rispin entered by a window. Almas let fly with a load of birdshot, but accused got out and escaped in a wagon. Witnesses from Hamilton failed to identify Rispin as having sold them seed.

The prisoner has been a constable for two years, with a good record.

Lottery Agents Arrested.

Chicago, Dec. 24.—Two men, alleged to be foreign lottery agents, were arrested here yesterday by postal inspectors, acting under orders from U. S. District Attorney Sims. The men arrested are Samuel Froudamis sent direct to the diseased parts by the Improved Blower. Heals the ulcers, clears the air passages, stops droppings in the throat and permanently cures Catarrh and Hay Fever. 25c. blower free. Accept no substitutes. All dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

DR. A. W. CHASE'S CATARRH POWDER 25c.

berg, alias to be an agent of the Royal Saxony Lottery and the Hamburg City Lottery, and Herman Kompel, alleged to be an agent of the Royal Saxony Lottery.

Fire Chiefs Suspended.

Montreal, Dec. 24.—Messrs. Brunet & Belinger are in possession of a writ of attachment on all their earthly possessions. Under the name of the Modern Paving Co., they figured largely before the royal commission. John H. Anderson of Burke, N. Y., supplied them with Danforth flagstone, and claims that they owe him over $4,000.

Sub-Chiefs Marin and Dubois of the fire department have been suspended by Chief Tremblay as a result of the findings of bribery and corruption against them by Judge Cannon.

Fire Chief's Widow Strange Death.

Carthage, Mo., Dec. 24.—Mrs. Chas. Shipp, widow of the chief of the fire department, was killed by falling through a trap door from the second floor of an engine house yesterday. Shipp's funeral occurred Wednesday, and Mrs. Shipp had gone to the department headquarters to collect her husband's belongings.

Beck Not a Candidate.

London, Ont., Dec. 24.—After conference yesterday afternoon, with close friends, Hon. A. Beck announced that he will not be a mayoralty candidate, as legal advisers have informed him that the Hydro-Electric Power contract will bar him through his connection with the commission.

Windsor Petitions for Racing.

Windsor, Dec. 24.—A petition is being circulated here objecting to the proposed legislation against racetracks, and is largely signed. It will be presented to the Government by local members of Parliament.

Newcomb's Definition of "Magnet."

Personally Newcomb was an agreeable companion and a faithful friend. His success was due largely to his tenacity of purpose. The writer's only personal contact with him came through the Standard Dictionary, of whose definitions in physical science Newcomb had general oversight. On one occasion he came into the office greatly dissatisfied with the definition that we had framed for the word "magnet"—a conception almost impossible to define in any logical way. We had simply enumerated the properties of the thing, a course which in the absence of authoritative knowledge of their causes was the only rational procedure. But Newcomb's mind demanded a logical treatment, and, though he must have seen from the outset that this was a forlorn hope, his tenacity of purpose kept him, pencil in hand, writing and erasing alternately for an hour or more. Finally he confessed that he could do no better than the following pair of definitions: "Magnet, a body capable of exerting magnetic force," and "magnetic force, the force exerted by a magnet." With a hearty laugh at his beautiful circulus in definiendo he threw down his pencil, and the imperfect and illogical office definition was accepted.—North American Review.

Old Time Quackery.

The eighteenth century was the golden harvest time of the quack, against whom some of the fiercest shafts of Hogarth's satire were directed. The quack loved to surround himself with an atmosphere of mystery, which was calculated to impose upon the credulity of his victims. His room was bedecked with skulls and skeletons. A brisk trade in quackery was carried on by women. J. C. Wright in his book, "The Good Old Times," records the fact that in the year 1789 "a Mrs. Joanna Stephens was awarded £5,000 by the English government 'for a proper discovery made by her for the cure of the stone.' This 'proper discovery,'" adds Mr. Wright, "consisted of a powder, a decoction and pills, the last named being formed from calcined snails, with carrot seeds, hips and haws, the compound being burnt to blackness and then mixed with soap and honey."

A Ludicrous Experiment.

Holmes was one of the many eminent men who have attempted to solve the riddle of the universe. In his case the result was ludicrous. From the sublime thoughts that came to him while under the influence of chloroform he thought he might arrive at some solution. Placing himself in his armchair, with pen, ink and paper at hand, he inhaled the anaesthetic. As drowsiness stole over him the nature of things seemed revealed. By a vigorous effort he seized his pen and wrote—he knew not what, for before he had finished he fell back unconscious. When he recovered he turned with trembling anxiety to the sheet of paper, on which, written in scrawling characters, but quite legible, he found the awful revelation. "A strong smell of turpentine pervades the whole!"—London News.

An Accommodating Boy.

A Newark woman who lives in an apartment house changed her iceman not long ago, and the next day the youth who drove the team for the new man put the piece of ice on the dumb waiter in the basement to be hoisted up. She pulled away.

"Heavens," she exclaimed, "that new iceman certainly gives good weight!"

After much effort she got the dumb waiter up to the kitchen level. To her amazement, there was a small boy sitting upon the ice. With what little breath she had left she demanded:

"What in the world did you make me pull you up here for?"

"Why," replied the youngster, "I thought maybe the cake would be too heavy for you to lift, so I came up to help you off with it."—Lippincott's.

Some Good Somewhere.

Little Clarence—Pa, I honestly don't believe it does me a bit of good when you thrash me.

Mr. Callipers—I begin to suspect as much, my son, but you have no idea how much good it sometimes does us to thrash you.

A CALL DOWN.

The Office Boy's Comment When the Kick Got to Him.

"Good morning, Johnson," said the president when the general manager stood before him. "Do you know there seems to have been a little falling off in the work of the office for the last month? No catastrophe or anything of that sort, you know, but the standard of efficiency seems to have lowered just a little. I merely wanted to call your attention to it. Nothing more. Nice day, isn't it?"

"Say, Brunner," said the general manager to the office manager, "do you know your office force is falling down? Well, it is. For the period just passed there has been a drop in your system that made considerable trouble. I'd jerk somebody up if I were you. A hint to the wise, you know."

"Wilson," said the office manager to the chief clerk, "come here. I want to tell you one thing, and that is that there's got to be a change in the way things are going around this dump. Do you hear me? What's the matter? What's the matter! That's a fine question from you! What isn't the matter is the proper thing to ask. Things have been going to the dogs for a month past. I'm not laying the fault at your door—all of it anyhow—but you know what that means, falling down. Get a hustle on you, now, and see that your clerks don't keep falling down or—I leave the rest to your imagination."

"Say, you prize mutts," said the chief clerk to his underlings, "do you know what's going to happen to about half a dozen of you? You're going to get decorated with a large, shiny tin can if you don't smoke up and do better work than you've been guilty of for the last month. You've been working like a lot of sewer diggers. I never saw anything to beat you—for the cellar championship. Now, get busy and do things, and do them right. I'd hate to have to recommend a wholesale canning stunt, but—you know what I'm here for."

The clerks went humbly back to their desks. Out to them came the office boy with a grin on his face.

"Say," he began, but three voices cut him short.

"Blank, blank, blank you!" said the voices. "You little runt! Why don't your tend to your business, so we can get things done right?" Then they all took a kick at him and went back to work satisfied.

"Gee," said the office boy, rubbing his sore spots and eyeing the president's office, "gee, but that call down certainly traveled some!"

Rest After Meals.

Hurried eating of meals, followed immediately by some employment that occupies the whole attention and takes up all or nearly all of the physical energies, is sure to result in dyspepsia in one form or another. Sometimes it shows itself in excessive irritability, a sure indication that nerve force has been exhausted.

The double draft, in order to digest the food and carry on the business, has been more than nature could stand without being thrown out of balance. Nature does not do two things at a time and do both well as a rule. All know that when a force is divided it is weakened. If the meal were eaten slowly, without preoccupation of the mind, and the stomach allowed at least half an hour's chance to get its work well undertaken before the nervous force were turned in another direction patients suffering from dyspepsia would be comparatively few.—Family Doctor.

Rooting House Plant Leaves.

Perhaps to the amateur the most interesting way of propagating plants is that of rooting leaves. There are quite a number of plants with which this is possible. Echeveria, Rex begonia and gloxinia are among the common plants propagated by this means. To root echeveria the leaf is carefully broken from the stem and inserted in the sand. It takes about four weeks for it to start into growth, when a small bud will be produced at the base of the leaf. Sometimes this bud does not start, but still the leaf will grow. I know of one leaf which has been growing in a pot for four years and still has not made a bud.

Down to a Fine Point.

A woman is never as old as the woman next door would like to have the other neighbors believe.

A woman is never as old as she has to believe herself.

A woman is never as old as the family Bible unfeelingly testifies.

A woman is never as old as she looks to her growing daughters.

A woman is never old, anyway, if she is wise.

A woman is always wise.
Therefore she is Never, never Old.

Long Enough.

Transient—Kindly tell me whether this ticket will allow me a stop-over here.

Station Agent—It depends. What do you want to stop for?

Transient—To visit some distant relatives of mine, the Jinksos.

Station Agent—Then you'll have plenty of time. The ticket is good for the next train.

Transient—See here! Do you know how long I intend to stop?

Station Agent—Not exactly, but I know the Jinksos.

The Gallery God.

At an interminably long performance of "Monte Cristo," with Charles Fechter in the character of the hero, the curtain rose for the last act at a quarter of one in the morning. Fechter was discovered sitting in a contemplative attitude. He neither moved nor spoke. Just then a clear, sad voice in the gallery exclaimed, "I hope we are not keeping you up, sir!"

Their Practical Joke.

Pupil—They say Tony's injuries were the result of a practical joke. Professor—Yes. The chappies told him that a big, burly fellow in the smoking-room was deaf and dumb, and Tony walked over to him, with a sweet smile, and told him he was a bally fool. Pupil—Well? Professor—The man wasn't deaf and dumb.

An Utter Wretch.

"Our engagement is broken," admitted the girl, "but I still have a tender feeling for him."

"You might as well cut it out," said her friend. "He's going around bragging about his lucky escape."

LAGOON SHARKS.

Aitutaki Islanders Catch Them by the Tail With a Lasso.

The island of Aitutaki, one of the Hervey group, in the Pacific, is surrounded by inlets underneath which are submarine caverns, the home of sharks. The natives classify them as lagoon sharks, which are quite ferocious at times and spare nothing they can seize. The lagoon shark, about six feet long, is esteemed a delicacy, and the natives supply their feasts with the toothsome dish by a remarkable style of fishing.

Arrived over the entrance to the shark cave, the fisherman leaves his canoe to the care of his companions and dives to the bottom, carrying with him a slipknot of strong cord. He expects to find two or three sharks at home, well satisfied and drowsy after feeding in the lagoon, with their tails toward the entrance. Selecting the largest, the diver adroitly adjusts a noose over the tail, taking care that it hangs loosely. If he has another noose he secures a second shark.

The shark catcher now, with one bound on the white, sandy bottom, rises to the surface in order to assist his friends in hauling up the fish. The astonished sleepers beneath suddenly find themselves ascending tails first to the surface. Once inside the canoe a smart blow from an axe between the eyes or on the nose ends the career of the fish.

One of the most successful shark catchers at Aitutaki was Reubena. Long practice had made him almost amphibious. One morning he started off with two companions to one of the more distant islets.

On entering it Reubena found several sharks lazily resting themselves. In a trice a slipknot was skillfully passed over the tail of the nearest shark without exciting its ire. The shark at this critical juncture moved so that there was not room enough for Reubena to get out.

He gently stroked the side of the shark and succeeded in inducing it to move away so as to permit his exit. This operation is said to be very agreeable to the fish, but if through nervousness the shark be stroked the wrong way its anger is sure to be excited and the diver's life would be the certain forfeit.

Reubena was making his escape when, to his dismay, another large shark came back from feeding in the lagoon and blocked up the entrance with his unwieldy body. To get out now was impossible, for even Reubena dared not stroke the head of the monster.

The captive fisherman waited, hoping the shark would go further in so as to leave the opening free. The huge fish did not move. Reubena's agony became intense. Seconds seemed to be hours. At last the shark passed on quietly into the interior, and Reubena was barely able to get out of the cave and rise to the surface. His associates in the canoe, who had become anxious for his safety, seized him by the hair and pulled him in, blood flowing from his ears, eyes and nostrils.

Give Goldfish Shade.

A friend was showing me her collection of goldfish the other day with great pride. The tiny fish were darting about here and there in the clear water, and, then resting for awhile, they found life very pleasant.

Some people do not seem to realise that it is positive cruelty to keep these fish in an open vessel without any shade.

Fish have no lids to shield their eyes, as we have, and so cannot endure a bright light. They suffer greatly if entirely exposed, as is evident from the way in which they dash around and around, sometimes until they are fairly worn out.

Shade can easily be provided by placing growing plants, dense enough to shelter the fish, near the globe in which they are kept or by placing a grotto of rocks in the aquarium itself.

Heroes That Pass Unhonored.

The unselfish nurse who devotes her days and nights on the battlefield or in the hospital to the relief of suffering humanity; the poor overworked mother who sacrifices her pleasure and her health for the sake of her offspring; the laborer who toils and toils for the support of his family, in sickness as in health and in spite of the difficulties that beset his uphill path—all these and many more are doing things perhaps more truly heroic than the deeds of some whom the world acclaims as its greatest heroes.

Making an Egg.

"Grandpa, does hens make their own eggs?"

"Yes, indeed they do, Johnny."

"An' do they always put the yolk in the middle?"

"They do, Johnny."

"An' do they put the white stuff around to keep the yeller from rubbin' off?"

"Quite likely, my little boy."

"An' who sews the cover on?"

This stumped the old gentleman, and he barricaded Johnny's mouth with a large lollypop.—London Scraps.

Greatest Cavalry Fight.

The most tremendous cavalry fight, perhaps, that the world has ever seen took place at Doryleum, Syria, during the first of the crusades between the mailed chivalry of Christian Europe and the Saracens. The cavalry of the crusaders numbered 110,000, while that of the Saracens reached the prodigious figure of 300,000. Completely surprised by the enemy, the Christians recovered themselves and won the day. It is said that 50,000 of the Turkish horse were left dead upon the field.

A Genial Doctor.

The late Sir Thomas Smith, the eminent London surgeon, was one day standing at the bedside of a poor little girl patient at the hospital, whose appetite was very bad. Turning to the sister, the surgeon said: "What would she like? Periwinkles, eh?" at which the child's eyes lighted up, and he wrote solemnly on the diet board, "Periwinkles and a pin."

On another occasion, when going round the hospital wards, the genial surgeon found a woman with a badly-cut lip, which had been damaged by a jug that had been thrown at her during a quarrel with another woman. "Now shall I head the lizard, sir?" said the house-surgeon. "Well, I think you might describe it as 'jugged hare lip,'" said Sir Thomas.

THE ULTRA MICROSCOPE.

It Detects Objects Whose Size or Shape Cannot Be Seen.

It will come as news to most people that science has invented instruments that go two degrees beyond the most powerful microscope in detecting small objects. The first of these is known as the ultra violet microscope. This takes advantage of the fact that a photographic plate can often see things that the human eye cannot, and for the following reason:

Things canot reflect light and consequently cannot be seen that are smaller than the smallest wave length of light that falls on them. Violet light is the smallest that can be possibly seen with the human eye. But there exists a much smaller wave length in the part of the spectrum, not visible to the eye called the ultra violet light. This has the peculiar property of affecting a photographic plate just as any other light would, so that we get a true picture of the minute object that is under examination.

Thus the deficiency of the eye is made up for by a mechanical invention of the human brain. This ultra violet light, though not detectable by the human eye, is easily seen by small animals and insects. It has been tried with great success on ants especially. With this ultra violet microscope the smallest objects that can be photographed with definiteness of dimensions are brought out with wonderful distinctness.

But there is one other instrument that can detect much smaller objects, though their shape or size cannot be seen, and that is known as the ultra microscope. This takes advantage of the fact that a small object will scatter any light that falls on it. To make the meaning clear, all of us have noticed a beam of light entering a room full of floating dust particles. We see only the dust particles in the beam of light. The reason we see them is because each little particle scatters the light that falls on it in all directions, and some of the scattered light enters the eye.

This is the principle on which the ultra microscope is based. Light is made to fall on the object in such a way that none of the direct light can enter the eye. Then the particles appear as small points of light. In this way it has been proved that the coloring in red glass is not diffused, but consists of thousands of little red particles close together.

WOMEN AND CIGARS.

That Form of the Fragrant Weed Is Becoming Popular With Ladies.

During the hearing of a case which came before Mr. Justice Grantham in London a few days ago, it was mentioned that one of the members of a certain well-known ladies' club smoked cigars. Whether they were mild, medium, or full-flavored was not stated, but the fact that a woman can smoke a cigar tends to dispel the popular notion that she is constitutionally unfit for such a habit.

As a matter of fact, the Dowager-Empress of Russia, who is an inveterate smoker, prefers a mild cigar to a cigarette; so does the Countess of Paris, the mother of the Queen of Portugal. When a reporter, however, called on two or three West-end firms of cigar merchants, he could get no confirmation of the statement made in a certain paper to the effect that cigars were displacing cigarettes in the affections of society women.

"At the same time," said the manager of one firm, "I believe that the example of the member of the ladies' club you mention is being followed to a certain extent in society, although it is difficult to obtain definite information on the point because, while ladies do not mind smoking cigarettes in public, cigar-smoking would attract too much attention to be pleasant. Consequently they do it in private.

"I am led to believe that this is so by the increased demand of late for mild cigars. Ladies order them, presumably for male friends and relatives; but the type of cigar they order is not popular enough amongst men to warrant the unusual demand. Then, again, I know of three ladies who order the same brand of mild cigar, and as they are acquainted with one another there is not much doubt that they have recommended these cigars to one another for their own smoking."

Another firm admitted that amongst their customers were two ladies who regularly ordered supplies of cigars, their favorite brand being a miniature cigar about 2 1-8 inches long and a little thicker than a cigarette. One of the ladies ordered regularly every month 100 of these miniature cigars. This firm also numbered amongst its customers a lady well known in society, who now smokes a briar pipe of the ordinary size and make instead of cigarettes.

On the Upward Road.

Miss Houghton was a very philanthropic and gracious old lady, who was bound to seem encouraged whenever there was a chance. In reality she was a pessimist, but much trouble was "bringing her around," as she said. One evening, after a lecture on South Africa, she remarked to a friend:

"There's one thing, my dear, which is surely a step upward, and that is that those horrible cannibals he told about are eating pig boiled instead of raw. How much that means!"

Fine Display of Heroism.

A neighbor of ours, a portly gentleman, has been guiltless of any strenuous acts these many years. Recently his house caught fire. Volumes of smoke rolled in from the kitchen. Catching up his walking stick and clapping his hat firmly on his head, he started with firm steps for the front door. As he went through the hall he shouted lustily:

"Girls! Girls! Fire! Save piano!"

A Startler

Thomas K. Beecher once prefaced a sermon preached at Plymouth for his brother with the startling intimation: "All those who have come here to worship Henry Ward Beecher will now retire. All those who have come to worship God will remain."

Seven Great Faiths.

The seven principal Bibles are the Koran of the Mohammedans, the Eddas of the Scandinavians, the Tripitikas of the Buddhists, the Five Kings of the Chinese, the three Vedas of the Hindus, the Zendavesta and the Gospels of the Christians.

NOTHING

more acceptable as a Xmas Gift than

HUYLER'S

OR

Cadbury's

IMPORTED

CHOCOLATES

Beautiful Artistic Boxes, ranging in price from

50c. to $10.00

ALSO

Ebony Mirrors
Ebony Hair Brushes
Shaving Sets
Fountain Pens
Gillette's Razors $5.00
Ebony Sets of all kinds
Perfumes
Military Brushes
Powder Boxes
Kodaks from $1 up to $25
Perfume Atomizers
Chamois Vests
Safety Razors $1, etc., etc.

E. L. PAYNE

Chemist & Druggist

Ormond & Walsh's Old Stand

"Kitty"

You Can Depend on 2 1-2 Hours Solid Enjoyment If You Attend the Grand Opera House (To-morrow) Christmas Day

2--Performances--2 "The Arrival of Kitty" 2--Performances--2

Matinee—25c, 35c and 50c. Children 15c. Evening—25c, 35c, 50c, 75c.

"Kitty"

GET BUSY!

GREAT CREDIT SALE

—OF—

Ladies' and Men's Ready-to-wear Clothing

We give you a grand opportunity to get your new holiday outfits in the very latest styles and materials. It makes no difference whether you have the cash or not. Here are a few of our extra special bargains:

Ladies' Garments

6 only Suits, black, blue and green Venetian striped goods, very latest shades, regular $15 to $25, holiday prices $15

3 only Ladies' black and blue Coats, Velvet cord, Melton, cloths, nicely trimmed, regular from $18 to $25, ... $15

6 Coats, different shades in Beaver and Venetian Cloths, regular prices $15 to $20, holiday sale .. $12

Ladies' Skirts, in Venetian cloths, different shades and colors very nicely trimmed, reg. $6 to $7, for $4

Special line of Ladies' Waists, silk and pet, silk lined, different shades and all sizes, reg. $4 to $5, holiday price $2.49

Men's Clothing

On all our Men's Suits—the entire stock, embracing all the latest fashions and shades of materials, special holiday offering 20 PER CENT OFF.

3 only Men's Beaver Overcoats, with Persian Lamb collar, the very best in this season's style, were sold at $30..... $22.50

Men's Beaver Cloth Coats, with velvet collars, reg. $14 to $16, for.. $11

A few Men's Military and College colour Coats, assorted shades, run from $14 to $18, special from ..... $11 to $13

HOUSEFURNISHINGS—Very nice line of Tapestry and Chenille Curtains, Table Covers, in specially good patterns, Squares and Rugs, Heavy Linen, etc., all reduced.

Special line of All Wool Blankets, reg. from $6 to $8 for $5.00.

Come and see us, and whether you buy or not we will present you with a beautiful Calendar. Open evenings until Christmas.

OUR TERMS SUIT ALL—CASH OR CREDIT

The Knickerbocker Co.

423 George Street Opposite Examiner Office

INSTRUCTIONS ISSUED TO THE DIFFERENT O. H. A. CLUBS

Officers of O. H. A. clubs, especially managers and secretaries, should take cognizance of the following official information, which was issued last night by Secretary W. A. Hewitt:

Certificates are issued at the discretion of the Executive, and are revocable without notice. All players must have certificates.

O. H. A. Clubs are warned not to play with or against professionals, or teams suspended by the Association.

Players eligible to play in the junior O. H. A. this season must be under twenty years of age on January 1, 1910.

Any club convicted of having in its membership professionals of any kind shall forfeit its membership in the association.

Junior certificates should not be sent in to the O. H. A. Secretary unless each is accompanied with the proper age declaration. Avoid all the confusion possible.

The O.H.A. executive has no power of reinstatement in breaches of the amateur definition of any kind, and applications for reinstatement cannot even be considered by the committee.

The O.H.A. rule is. Once a professional, always a professional."

Each club is responsible for its own players, and should not apply for a certificate for a doubtful player without notifying the Secretary of the circumstances of his case.

Clubs of any other recognized amateur hockey association are regarded as such by the O. H. A., and interleague matches are permissible without official sanction.

When a change of residence permit is desired, the player concerned must take out a statutory declaration covering completely the circumstances of his change of residence and forward it through the club he desires to play with, to the O. H. A. Secretary.

Clubs unable to agree on a referee must notify the O. H. A. Secretary at least 72 hours before the match in order to secure a competent official. At the same time they should send in their suggestions as to whom they would prefer as referee.

Any clubs using players not qualified under the residence rule, will be summarily suspended. The date this year is August 1.

No player can play in an exhibition match with any club but his own without first receiving a permit from the O. H. A. Executive.

No player is eligible to play in the intermediate series who plays in more than one senior championship match this season, and no player is eligible to play in the junior series who plays in a senior series or in more than one intermediate match this season.

Club Secretaries should see that the players have their certificates on hand early to show to the referee, so that there will be no delay in starting the game.

Home clubs should see that a dark distinguishing line is drawn on the ice between the goal posts and small white flags provided for the goal umpires.

No player can play in an O. H. A. schedule game who is or has been in the current season a member of, or has played with, in the same association year, any other club in a recognized hockey association—city and town leagues excepted—without special permission of the Executive.

Each club shall play half the expenses of the referee. It shall be $5 for all distances up to 50 miles, and he shall be allowed at the rate of 10c per mile one way for all distances above 50 miles. When a referee is away from home over night, and the mileage is below eighty miles, he shall be allowed mileage for 80 miles at 10 cents a mile.

The expenses of the travelling club are at the rate of 10c per mile for one way for eight men, which expenditure must be guaranteed and paid by the home club.

When the home-and-home matches are played in the same city or town the home club is to take the net proceeds of the gate.

Any club intending to default a match must send to the Secretary of the opposing club, and also to the Secretary of the association, at least three days' clear notice, exclusive of the day on which the match is to be played. Unless the Executive shall otherwise order, any club failing to send such notice shall be subject to a penalty of $25, together with allegitimate expenses incurred by the competing club in connection with such match. The penalty is expulsion.

Why Not Give "Him" a

Suit or Overcoat for Christmas ?

You can choose from our newest styles from the 20th Century Brand Clothes at our great popular trio of lines at $15, $20 and $25. We have taken a great many orders for suits and overcoats to be used as Christmas Gifts and they are going to bring pure delight to many a man and young man.

Or a Dress Suit ?—in the faultless fashion of the season.
Or a Tuxedo Coat ?—new arrivals, silk lined.
Or some Neckties ?—from largest assortment in the city.
Or some Gloves ?—for motoring, dress or other purposes.
Or some Jewellery ?—cuff links, scarf pins, gold & silver.
Or a Muffler ?—either the solid silk or the knit kind.
Or Handkerchiefs ?—half a dozen in a box is a nice gift.
Or some Shirts ?—either for business or full dress wear.
Or a Fancy Vest ?—in very stylish models of 1909.
Or a Smoking Jacket ?—the most popular gifts for men.
Or some Hosiery ?—coloured or black; silks, lisles, etc.
Or a Sweater ?—or sweater coat or vest; a dandy gift.
Or a "Nightie" ?—or suit of pyjamas, whichever he prefers.

Merrell & Meredith

George Street Peterborough

LATEST CITY NEWS.

Probabilities.

—Westerly winds, cloudy, with stationary temperature. Saturday, strong easterly winds, with snow or sleet.

Notice!

The members of the 57th Regiment Band are requested to meet in the new Armouries to-morrow morning, at 10 o'clock.

Was Kindly Loaned.

The piano used at the Fire Hall Christmas Tree and Entertainment was kindly loaned by the City Music Co. The brigade desires to express its thanks for it.

A Handsome Lectern.

A very handsome lectern has been presented to All Saints' Church, in memory of the late John Fanning and will be unveiled at the morning service on Sunday.

We Repair and Clean Clothing.

The gay winter season is here with its many social functions. Let us take your dresses and wraps, repair and clean them so they will look like new. We make a specialty of repairing winter overcoats. W. B. Rickey, "My Valet," 204 Charlotte St. Phone 575.

A Superior Gift.

—Exceptional quality of tone and brilliancy; nothing superior, and few equals, constructed for durability, to last a life time and improve with use, The Celebrated Karn Pianos; 171 Simcoe street. Terms to suit purchasers; inspection invited. Reynor and Cunningham.

Dennistoun's Xmas.

—Tags, Xmas. Seals, Xmas. Gum Labels, large and varied assortment of the best designs; regular price 10c for 5c. Holly-covered empty boxes for sending away gifts at half price. The biggest and best Holly Box of Note Paper and Envelopes, regular 25c for 15c, at Stratton's Retiring Sale. Everything must be sold before Xmas. Shop in the morning.—A. H. Stratton & Co.

Salvation Army Christmas Tree.

Salvation Army Christmas Tree Entertainment for the children Christmas night. 8 girls will sing the Christmas Carol; 10 boys "Bring Emblems of Bible Lesons." The male quartette will sing "The Wise Men's Journey." The band will play, and presents distributed to the Sunday school children. Public cordially invited to spent Christmas night at the new Army temple, Simcoe St. Any friend having gifts for children, of candy, nuts or toys, send same to M. C. Braund, superintendent.

Order Your Fruit Early for Christmas.

And save our drivers delivering on Christmas morning. We have the very best goods we can get for our trade, such as Boston Head Lettuce, Cucumbers, Celery Lettuce, Green Onions, the very best California and Mexican Oranges, Florida Grape Fruit, fancy Malaga Grapes, Dates, Figs, Select Table Raisins, Candies, Nuts, Fish and Oysters of all kinds, Holly and Mistletoe. Thanking you all for generous trade durin gthe season. Order early and you will get better attention. WALTER J. OKE.

What We Manufacture.

—The Peterborough Showcase Co., situated at 709 Water street, manufactures all designs of counter cases, silent salesmen showcases, wall cases, store fittings, and all designs of high-grade cabinet work, such as china cabinets, kitchen cabinets, music cabinets, writing desks, book cases, medicine cases, etc. Furniture made to order and repaired. Dealers in British plate glass and mirrors. All sizes. Second-hand silent salesman for sale. Corner Smith and Water streets. Call and see the works.

Correction.

In an item in yesterday's Examiner, referring to the increase in the flow of the Otonabee River, through a typographical error, the article in question was made to read: "For instance some weeks ago, before the work of conserving the back waters was commenced, the minimum flow of the Otonabee River was estimated at 43,000 cubic feet per minute. A measurement of the flow of the Otonabee River, at the Peterborough Hydraulic Power Company's dam, was made the other day, and the minimum flow was found to be 125,000 cubic feet per minute."

In the above sentence the words, "Some few weeks" should have read "Some few years."

BREAD DOWN!

Standard 3lb. Loaf 10c

22 Tickets for $1.00

LUSH & SONS,—Bread Bakers'

241 Dublin St.—phone 511

CARD OF THANKS

In behalf our family, I wish to express our thanks to J. Rothwell, Supt., and to the etropolitan Life Insurance Company for the prompt manner in which they settled the insurance claim on the life of my late brother, George Johnston.—W. J. Johnston.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Mr. A. McIntyre will spend the Christmas holidays in Toronto.

Miss Clara Adams, school teacher at Halls' Bridge, is home for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Vale are visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cutting over the holiday

Mr. "Dubbie" Shea, of Brantford, is expected to arrive in the city to-night for Christmas.

Miss Mary Bibby left to-day for her home in Barrie, to spend Christmas with her parents.

Mr. Carol Hayes, of the Kemptville branch of the Bank of Ottawa, is home for the holiday.

Mr. E. J. McCarthy is home from the West, to spend Christmas with his family, Hunter street.

Messrs. Stewart Anderson and Bruce Clegg, of S.P.S., Toronto, are home for the Christmas vacation.

Mr. Gordon Campbell is home from the Royal Military College, Kingston, for the Christmas holidays.

Miss Marie McCarthy, Hunter St., who is attending Loretto Convent, Hamilton, is home for the holidays.

Mr. G. J. Johnson, linotype operator with the Examiner, is spending the holiday with friends in Lindsay.

Mr. A. E. Rogers of the Examiner staff is spending the Christmas holidays at Ottawa, visiting Mr. George King.

Mr. Jas. D. Clarke, of the Examiner staff, left to-day for his home in Elora where he will spend the Christmas holidays.

Mr. Nelson Wettlaufer of the Bell Telephone Company, left to-day to spend Christmas at his home in Walkerton.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Smart, of Toronto, are spending Christmas with their daughters, Mrs. G. A. Goheen and Mrs. O. S. Matchett.

Mr. D. B. MacRae, city editor of the Review, left to-day to spend Christmas at Maxville and Dominionville, Glengarry district.

Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Harvie and family, of Port Colborne, are spending Christmas in the city, the guests of Mrs. Allin, Murray street.

Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Gordon left this afternoon for Toronto, where they will spend Christmas with Mr. Gordon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Gordon. They will return next Tuesday.

Mrs. H. Rush left for Montreal this morning to spend Christmas with her son, Harry, who has been confined to the hospital during the past five weeks with typheid fever.

Mrs. W. J. Scott, of Chicago, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Harry Neil, Burnham St., East City, having been called here by the death of Mr. Neil, whose funeral took place yesterday.

Mr. John T. Allin, manager of the Prudential Life Insurance Co., accompanied by his wife, left this morning to spend Christmas in New York City. Mrs. Allin will remain there for the month of January.

The many friends of Miss Helen Davies will regret to learn that she is confined to her home through illness, and it is unlikely that she will be able to take part in the Christmas music at St. Paul's church on Sunday.

The many friends of Miss Lottie M. Scott, of Sherbrooke street, will be pleased to hear that she has successfully passed her final examinations in the Rathwell Hospital, Rathwell, Man., where she has been as a nurse in training. Miss Scott has secured a position in Creston, B.C., where she intends going about Jan. 23nd, after having first visited her brother, W. A. Scott in Winnipeg.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

Shake, All Round!

I desire to thank my many friends for the confidence they have bestowed on me during the past 23 years, and for the appreciation they have shown for my Goods.

I have good reason to be grateful, and send out my best wishes for another Merry, Merry Christmas, with the smile that won't come off.

THOS. HOOPER

Confectioner, Etc.

Enter Our List

For Sittings for Photographs to be finished early in January, 1910. Family Groups and Individual Pictures for friends and visitors promptly attended to.

See our latest effects.

Louis Mewburn

STUDIO—374½ George St., East Side

The only Studio on George Street.

To the Electors of the City of Peterborough:

To the Ratepayers,—

At the earnest solicitation of a large number of citizens, I have finally decided to come forward as a candidate for the Mayoralty. I am convinced that a forward and progressive policy for the city is essential.

Respectfully,

E. F. MASON.

PRESENTED WITH CLOCK LAST NIGHT

Mr. Ernest Bruce Appointed Local Manager of Bell Telephone Branch at Collingwood

Mr. Ernest Bruce, of the Bell Telephone staff, was presented with a handsome clock last night by the staff of the local office. He has been appointed manager of the branch at Collingwood, which position he will assume in a short time. He was waited on last night and an address read by Mr. Harry Soanes, after which Miss Perry presented him with the clock. Mr. Bruce made a suitable reply, thanking those who had so generously remembered him.

EXPRESS COMPANIES ARE VERY BUSY

The Dominion and Canadian Express Companies are exceedingly busy to-day. All trains to the city have brought loads of parcels and the three deliveries of each company are experiencing a big rush. The drivers and station employees of the former company worked until early morning last night and expect the rush to keep up until well on into the night, to-day.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS

The decorating of St. John's Church for the Christmas services was completed last night, when the choir also had its last practice with the Christmas music.

The services to-morrow will be at 8 o'clock, when there will be a celebration of Holy Communion, and at 10.30 o'clock. The latter service will be finished at 11.20 o'clock, when there will be a second celebration of Holy Communion.

PRESENTATION

Mr. J. F. Thornton was presented with a burnished library lamp on Wednesday night by the members of the Ladies' Bible class of the George Street Methodist church, of which he has been the teacher during the past year.

POST CARD COLUMN.

To Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—In looking over the columns of your paper last night "Ratepayer," I notice, is anxious to know if any new candidates have offered to run for Aldermen. In answer to his question I can say "yes." If we had the ward system that question would not need to be asked, as we have good men in every ward willing to present themselves to their own ward and not trust to the general vote, where they may not be so well known.

Most men have not the time to visit the ratepayers to solicit votes all over the city, whereas they might do so in their own ward very conveniently. Also the cost of sending rigs all over the city to take their men to the polls is more than most of us like to attempt. This could be done in the one ward easily.

There are many other reasons why the Ward system should be in vogue.

One man remarked to me that we would be going out of civilisation by so doing. I reminded him that by the opinions of the press in several cities and towns we were now uncivilized, which is a terrible disgrace to our city.

He referred to our staff of police as not to be trusted, and that nearly all our citizens condemned them as not fit men for the force. In reply to his remarks I ask him if it was not true that the good men of every age, those trying hard to do their duty, were persecuted. Going back many years ago, were not just and upright men persecuted, tortured, and condemned to die, not for being guilty of a crime or breaking the law, but because the majority wished it done. I wish to say that, in my opinion, we have an upright staff of men on our police force, simply doing their duty without fear or favour. To be sure lawbreakers and their adherents have no use for those who with and are sincere in trying to enforce the law. I hope before long those two persecuted men, by their good work, will gain the confidence of every citizen, and put to shame those who have tried to denounce them.

Yours truly,

"ANOTHER RATEPAYER."

TROUBLE POSTPONED.

Greek War Minister Averts Crisis by Resigning.

Athens, Dec. 24.—Col. Lapthiotis, Minister of War, resigned last evening, thus temporarily averting the crisis which the military league threatened to bring about. Earlier in the day the league announced its intention of overthrowing the Ministry and replacing it with the one chosen on a business basis.

This would mean a military dictatorship.

Col. Zorbas, presidents of the military league, had a prolonged interview with the King, as a result of which the league consented to a compromise under which Col. Lapathiotis would retire from the War Ministry for the remainder of the Parliamentary session, the Premier taking that portfolio ad interim.

It is understood that ex-Premier Theotokis has agreed to the compromise, but the announcement was made that the War Minister had resigned for all time, owing to the league disavowing some promotions he had made in the army.

The military league, whose members were the authors of the recent revolutionary movement in Greece, had announced its intention to overthrow the Ministry of its own choosing.

In a manifesto issued yesterday, the league declares that it is responsible to the country and recognizing that the representatives of the nation do not conform to the will of the people, it is obliged immediately to confide the nation's interests "in strong hands which will not fail as long as life animates them."

The Cabinet will likely resign, and be replaced by an extra Parliamentary Ministry which, it is expected, will have the support of the chamber.

Quebec Bridge Plans.

Ottawa, Dec. 24.—The chief bridge builders of the United States, Great Britain, Canada and other countries have been invited to send representatives to the office of the Quebec bridge engineer in Montreal after Jan. 3, and examine the plans of the proposed new structure which will replace the bridge which met with disaster about two years ago, and lost the lives of sixty workmen.

Three months will be allowed for a study of the plans and then tenders will be asked for.

Work on the superstructure is expected to begin late next summer, and the bridge will probably occupy four years in building.

Killed by Broken Belt.

Belleville, Dec. 24.—Louis Esdorf, an employe of the Gilmour Box Factory, Trenton, for 28 years, was struck by a broken belt, which fractured his skull. He lived only a few minutes. He was a married man with a family.

Switchmen Quit Work.

Butte, Mont., Dec. 24.—Striking switchmen who returned to work a week ago quit again yesterday following warnings from local committees. Several mines closed yesterday throwing hundreds out of work.

A Heartless Crime.

Galt, Dec. 24.—Edwin Allison, 25 years, was before Judge Hoskin charged with incest, the victim being his sister, aged 17. He pleaded guilty and was remanded for a week.

A Merry Christmas

The Golden Lion Store wishes o nea nd all a day of happiness and rejoicing to-morrow. May every wish be fulfilled, every expectation realized and pleasure reign supreme. . . .

Robt. Fair & Co. Ltd.

DR. YOUNG
306 Stewart St., Peterborough
SPECIALTIES—Surgery and Diseases of Children
Both Phones 247 lydw

The Evening Examiner.

HARRISON FISHER'S latest picture and calendar going quickly. Select your present at once and let us Frame for you. Our Factory is working Day and Night.
Pillsworths' Picture & Art Store, 430 George Street

VOL. XLVII No. 149 12 PAGES PETERBOROUGH MONDAY DECEMBER 27 1909 PAGES 1 TO 6 PRICE TWO CENTS

Grand Opera House Dec. 27
MATINEE and EVENING, MONDAY
Ninth Annual Tour of the Beautiful Pastoral Drama
"THE VOLUNTEER ORGANIST"
(By Wm. B. Gray) With the World's Greatest Boy Sopranos and a Distinguished Cast of Players unanimously endorsed by the Public, Public and Press. A New England Play of Intense Human Interest and one that will live forever.
Prices, Evening—25, 35, 50, 75. Matinee 25, 35, 50, Children 15c

Xmas Cosaques 10c and 15c PER BOX
Chyloong Ginger, Layer Raisins
Nuts, Grapes, French Cherries
Oranges and Almond Paste
STORE OPEN EVENINGS ALL NEXT WEEK
R. A. DUTTON, 420, George St. Telephones 304

A RETURN GIFT
On New Years Day will be appreciated by those you forget to remember during the rush of Christmas. If the gift you want is for a man, there is no other such stock—no such variety—no satisfying assortment of suitable things, such as Neckwear, Shirts, Underwear, Gloves, Hosiery, Braces, Handkerchiefs, to be found elsewhere in Peterborough.
H. LeBRUN & CO.

Peterborough Mus'c Co npany
Special Inducements for the Christmas Sale in Pianos & Organs
We carry in stock the high-class DOMINION, MARTIN-ORME, BELL and MASON & RISCH PIANOS, and the old favourite BELL, DOMINION and THOMAS ORGANS—the cream of the trade.
It is surprising the number of suggestions you find here—Phonographs Violins, Banjos, Guitars, Accordeons, Piccolos, Flutes, Autoharps, Mandolins Harmonicas, Music Portfolios, Music Rolls, Sheet Music—all specially priced for the Christmas trade.
J. P. CUNNINGHAM - PROPRIETOR
404 George Street. 2 Doors North of Hunter Street.

Make Christmas Day a Merry One

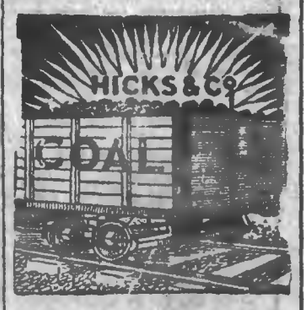
Navel Oranges	Mixed Candy
Mexican Oranges	Cream Candy
Table Raisins	Chocolates
Almonds	Dates
Walnuts	Figs
Filberts	Malaga Grapes
Brazil Nuts	Lemons
York Ginger Ale	York Springs Soda Water.

E. F. MASON & CO., Grocers

E. B. CLEGG & CO.
Christmas FURNITURE
Useful & Beautiful Xmas Gifts
Can be selected from our varied stock of FINE FURNITURE and at very low prices. Call and see if we cannot interest you in some of these different articles such as :—
Ladies' Mahogany Dressing Tables
Ladies' Sewing Tables in Oak and Mahogany
Gentlemen's Chiffoniers in Oak and Mahogany
Ladies' and Gentlemen's Easy Chairs and Rockers in endless variety.
Desks, Book-cases, China Cabinets, Tables for Parlour, Library or Den.
Children's Chairs and Tables, etc.
427 George Street. CLEGG'S FURNITURE STORE PHONE 79

ROYAL
If you want to enjoy an hour's pleasant and innocent amusement seeing good pictures and good vaudeville come to the Royal.
Special Vaudeville for To-day
Hedder & Son
COMEDY ACROBATS
The wonderful Comedy Acrobats will appear in their very exciting and very funny acrobatic tricks. Do not miss seeing the little boy. He is a wonder.
COMPLETE CHANGE OF MOTION PICTURES
If Love Be True
A beautiful picture story showing the intense love of a rich young man for a factory girl and how he wins her hand in the end after many difficulties.
The Crocodile Hunt
A superb and fascinating picture showing the natives of Java capture crocodiles. It is full of vivid interest and beautifully coloured.
The Sleeper
A most amusing comic picture showing how a woman is hypnotised by an accident and the husband became rich by exhibiting the sleeping beauty.
— NEW ILLUSTRATED SONG —
5c—ADMISSION—5c

PHONE 679
Same To You!
Peterborough's High-Class Men's-Wear Shop
THE SHOP FOR MEN
Repeating what we have so often said. Our stock of Men's Furnishings contains every thing that a good dresser might ask for.
Our quality and prices are always right.
Our careful attention to your wants is unsurpassed.
We solicit your patronage.
Fashion Craft



D. L. & W.
SCRANTON COAL
THE FUEL WITHOUT A FAULT
First-Class Hardwood Cut and Split to order
R. Hicks & Co.
Office and Yards—245 Murray Street
'Phones Nos. 47 and 48

Cash Paid for Second-Hand Furniture
Bargains in good Second-Hand Stoves, Heaters and Cookstoves, and other household goods at
BARRETT'S
303 George Street South of Charlotte

Framed Views and Photograph Calendars for Xmas & New Year
are now ready for your inspection. Call and see them while the stock is large.
Roy
STUDIO, 140½ Hunter street
P.S.—Ask for Roy's Famous Souvenir Post Cards to send to friends at a distance.

Night Classes at the Peterborough Business College
are being largely attended. Are you among the ambitious ones? If not, why not?
ENTER NOW
Individual instruction.
Call for Particulars.
GEO. SPOTTON, PRESIDENT J. A. McKONE, PRINCIPAL

House Is Wrecked

Charles Fleur and Thomas Bilton Are In the Hospital Terribly Burned and Are Not Expected to Live—Mrs. Fleur and Two Children Have a Wonderful Escape—The Men Were In Cellar.

Galt, Dec. 27.—The one-time comfortable, well-appointed home of Chas. Fleur, aged 40, on Beverley street, is to-day a sad ruin, while Fleur and a brother-in-law, Thomas Bilton, aged 35, are in the hospital, charred and blackened beyond recognition, and with little chance of surviving terrible injuries sustained at 11 o'clock Saturday night, when there was an explosion of natural gas.

Fleur wanted to replenish the dining-room fire. The two men descended to the cellar, when a gust of wind blew out the lamp they carried, as they reached the cellar floor. Fleur struck a match and immediately a terrific explosion followed, startling the entire neighborhood.

The house was literally blown up, one-half being reduced to fragments.

The two men in the cellar received the full shock of the outburst, together with the subsequent fire.

When taken out they were most pitiable objects. They were hurried to the hospital in the ambulance and Dr. Charlton says they may die.

Other inmates of the house, numbering three, escaped comparatively uninjured in a miraculous way. There were Mrs. Fleur, her daughter, aged 7, and her son, aged 10. They were in the sitting-room, the floor of which was covered with linoleum. The explosion raised this covering and threw it over the two children, thus protecting them from the sheet of flame that shot up from the cellar, and found vent through the shattered south side of the house. Mrs. Fleur, however, suffered burns on the head.

The fire brigade saved the building from destruction by fire.

Investigation so far does not disclose the source of the gas which caused the accident, but the leakage must have been of sudden ocurrence, for earlier in the night Mrs. Fleur had been in the cellar with lighted matches.

The gas company turned off the service and will have a rigid enquiry. The house was of paster, two storeys high, and comparatively new and worth $3,500. It was insured.

Mr. Bilton is from Grand Valley and was paying a brief visit to his sister.

Searchlight as Call to Church.

New York, Dec. 27.—To do away with the old time bell-ringing as a summons for church-goers at night, a Brooklyn pastor has conceived the novel idea of flashing a powerful searchlight from the belfry tower. The searchlight will be placed 200 feet from the ground on the spire of the first reformed church in Brooklyn. It will throw its rays at a fixed time before the religious services begin, and the flashing will continue during the church hours to attract the tardy and the backsliders.

Rev. James Ferrar is opposed to bell-ringing, because it awakens the ill and annoys the aged and infirm in the neighborhood.

Shot Wife and Self.

New Orleans, La., Dec. 27.—Because his wife had expressed a desire to go to her parents' home to spend Christmas, James B. Blakeley, a railroad foreman, shot her and himself dead at their home in Algiers.

The four-year-old son of the couple called neighbors to the house, told them of the fatal quarrel and showed his parents lying dead on the floor.

Confirms Leopold's Marriage.

Brussels, Dec. 27.—The Twentieth Century, a Government organ, quotes an "authoritative person" confirming the religious marriage of King Leopold on his death bed. It also says that a few days prior to this, Baroness Vaughan received holy communion.

Storm Was Expensive

Damage to the Extent of a Million Dollars Is Done by the Phenomenal Rise In Height of the Water—New York's Snowfall Costs $200,000—Four Lives Are Known to Have Been Lost Christmas.

Toronto, Dec. 27.—A heavy fall of snow everywhere piled high by a strong northeast wind, covers New England, most of the middle Atlantic States and a fringe of the middle west and south. Trains are late and many places stalled. Throughout the east wire communication is seriously crippled and cities and country highways are impassable.

Some loss of life is reported. At Boston a great tidal wave crept into a house, drowned a man and his wife in bed, and then crept away. Two men were drowned near Seymour, Conn., when a trolley car plunged into the river. The crew of the steamer Thurman, ashore on the Jersey coast, was taken off by life-savers.

At Chelsea, so recently devastated by fire, 2,500 persons have been driven from their homes by high water.

Three deaths in the city were charged yesterday to the severity of the storm. The victims were men who had spent the night vainly seeking shelter and food, finally succumbing to exposure. Joseph Hart, 65 years old, died in a pew at a Catholic Church yesterday, probably of exhaustion after wandering in the cold.

Plate glass windows were smashed and frail structures overturned in many parts of the city. Hundreds of automobiles were stalled in snowdrifts and many were still in the same plight last night.

On Nantasket Beach, in Hull, near Boston, all the bulkheads from Pemberton to the Atlantic House were either washed away or badly damaged, while every summer residence between Point Allerton and the Nantasket House lost its piazza, and many of the structures were undermined. It is estimated that the damage to property in that town alone will reach $100,000.

Sixteen Inches at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 27.—A snowfall of 16 inches, which drifted in places to a height of ten feet or more, completely tied up for hours yesterday all steam and trolley traffic in this vicinity.

Train Blockade Around Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 27.—All long distance trains on the Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio, and Pittsburg and Lake Erie Railroads, both east and westbound, have practically abandoned schedules in and out of Pittsburg. It may be days before normal running conditions again prevail.

Two Feet of Snow.

Kingston, N.Y., Dec. 27.—The blizzard which raged all Saturday afternoon and night left Ulster County under a thick blanket of snow. Two feet on the level was the average fall, but in places huge drifts were piled by heavy wind. Country roads are impassable.

Early yesterday, and while the storm as at its height, fire broke out in the heart of the business section of Kingston and totally destroyed the three-storey building occupied by the Mohican Co.; loss $50,000.

Frederick Remington Dead.

Ridgefield, Conn., Dec. 27.—Frederick Remington, the artist, died at his home here yesterday from heart failure and shock, superinduced by an operation for appendicitis performed on Thursday. Mr. Remington had been in good health until last Sunday, when he remarked he seemed slightly indisposed. It was not until Wednesday that he suffered pain to any extent, and physicians were called.

He was in his 48th year, and was a native of Canton, N.Y.

He was especially noted for his realistic pictures of Indian and western frontier life.

Car Ferries Stuck In Ice.

Detroit, Dec. 27.—Six coaches of Christmas travelers on the Canadian Pacific's Chicago-Toronto train were stalled in the Detroit River for several hours Saturday, when the company's car ferry Michigan was caught in the ice. The ferry was stalled at 9.30 a.m., and tugs worked until after noon to free it.

Farther down the river the Grand Trunk Ferry Huron and a Pere Marquette ferry, both with freight trains aboard, were also caught in the ice.

Ice conditions were worse yesterday than for several years.

Alfonso Departs.

Madrid, Dec. 27.—King Alfonso left here yesterday for Andalusia on a hunting trip.

Recent despatches stated that the condition of King Alfonso has created grave anxiety and that another operation is imperative. It was also reported that under the guise of departure on a hunting trip in Andalusia, the King would go to San Lucar where the operation would be performed.

Auto Skidded in Snow.

Columbus, Ohio, Dec. 27.—Frank McGill of Coshocken, while en route in an automobile to Columbus last night, to attend the automobile show, was instantly killed. His machine skidded in the snow and turned turtle.

Satolli Very Low.

Rome, Dec. 27.—The condition of Cardinal Satolli, who is suffering from nephritis, is desperate, the attacks of delirium being now very frequent. Extreme unction has been administered.

Contracts Are Drawn

Unionist Press Says New York and Berlin Are Happy and Well Fed, While Liberal Papers Declare That the People In These Cities Are Starving — Only a Short Time Left For Campaign.

London, Dec. 27.—The Christmas lull in the political campaign is welcome to everybody. Battle will be rejoined Tuesday. The peers must leave the arena on January 8, after which they are not allowed by the immemorial custom of Great Britain to participate in electioneering work so far as addressing meetings is concerned, but between Tuesday and that date the peers are booked for hard work, thirty-five of them addressing 113 public meetings in all parts of the country within that period.

This unprecedented flood of lordly eloquence does not seem thus far to have had any great effect. Lords Curzon and Milner have probably done their cause good service, but in reviewing the first weeks of the campaign a Unionist paper is obliged to confess that "with the best cause in the world the Unionists are lamentably lacking in men to appeal to the imagination and more especially the sensational interest of the electorate." It says voters require to be interested as well as instructed, and it is afraid that they for the most part are more deeply impressed by the purple patches of Mr. Lloyd-George and the daring inexactitudes of Winston Churchill than by the cultivated thoughtful arguments of Lord Curzon and Walter Long.

This is undoubtedly true and the Unionists are now relying chiefly on that mysterious factor well known as the silent voter. Certainly the noisy ones who attend their meetings give them little encouragement.

Apart from the budget and the House of Lords, New York and Berlin have perhaps been the most prominent features in the political fight during the last ten days. One wonders what kind of idea the unsophisticated, untraveled Britisher has of Christmas conditions in these two great cities. One set of newspapers refer pityingly to New Yorks bread lines and the enormous cost of every kind of provision there. Then turning to Berlin these papers draw a harrowing picture of German workmen living on sour black bread, horse sausages and dogs' flesh, while unemployment is rife throughout the fatherland.

The other papers declare that America celebrates Christmas joyfully. Prices are high, but money is abundant. Unemployment is rare, while Berlin is described as a paradise for workingmen, for whom tradesmen have had to stock their shops with goods at twice and thrice the cost that humbler customers could afford.

It is needless to say that the artistic writers whose descriptions of New York and Berlin would make those cities appear to have a good claim on the charity of this happy free trade country in the form, say, of a gigantic Mansion House fund are pointing out the deadly results of a tariff, while those who would persuade the English that the inhabitants of New York and Berlin are reveling in an excess of prosperity attribute this universal wealth to the blessings of protection.

It is crude, childish stuff and gives some excuse to The National Zeitung of Berlin for concluding that "when one reads what is written in England about Germany one must assume that the English electors are credited with suffering from temporary mental derangement before and during elections."

Car Crew Drown.

Seymour, Conn., Dec. 27.—A trolley car jumped a switch on the route alongside the Naugautic River, a mile above this place, during yesterday's storm, and plunging down the bank, crashed through the ice.

Motorman Fred Beard and Conductor Marcus Donovan, who were in the enclosed forward vestibule, were drowned. The five passengers crawled out of the rear door, which protruded above the water, and escaped with only slight injuries.

Fatal Incendiarism.

Cumberlan, Md., Dec. 27.—Michael Malone, Michael McGraw and Fred Malone, miners, were burned to death Saturday near Harrison, W. Va., about fifty miles southwest of here. Patrick Malone and Frederick Dugan, who boarded at the same house, are missing. Officers are working on a clue, indicating that the fire was started after a Christmas celebration by a man who was ejected and who then threatened to burn the house.

Youthful River Pirates.

New York, Dec. 27.—Six bold pirates, ranging in years from 15 to 18, were arrested by the Brooklyn police after they had removed an engine from a barge, installed in a dory and were making preparations to start on an expedition up the East River.

When the officers arrived, three of the boys sprang from the dory into the icy waters and were captured only after they were chilled and exhausted.

Gives $7,500 For Swimming Pool.

Philadelphia, Dec. 27.—Brynmawr College Saturday announced that a gift of $7,000 had been received from an alumnus, Miss Cynthia M. Wesson of Springfield, Mass. Miss Wesson, who was graduated in 1909, was prominent in athletic affairs of the institution, and her gift is to be expended toward the betterment of the college swimming pool. All under-graduate girls are required to qualify as swimmers, and this art is one of the most popular of the college sports.

PROPER DRESS FOR THE MEN

Semi-ready is always correct—for the place it's intended—the business, sporting, or dress suit—coat is always moderate, quality and style right.
CRESSMAN'S
Toggery Shop 389 George St.

Safe-Blowers Scared Away.

Vancouver, B.C., Dec. 27.—Burglars blew up two safes in this city on Saturday morning, and, although in both cases they found money, none was taken, the cracksmen evidently being frightened away by passersby before they could get possession.

One of the safes was that in the office of the Chew Lumber Co., in Fairview. Here the burglars blew up the strong box with nitro-glycerine and disturbed a lot of valuable papers. The approach of the watchman, who had heard the shot, sent them off in a hurry.

The second case was that of the safe of the Cascade Wood Yard, which was blown up about the same time.

Chicago Short of Coal.

Chicago, Dec. 27.—Chicago is facing a coal famine. That a scarcity of fuel already exists was admitted last night by railroad men, mine owners and coal dealers, who are striving to avert a more serious condition, which depends entirely upon the weather.

Every man interested in the situation blames the weather for the present stringency. Railroad men say the cold weather and the storms have impeded transportation so that they have been unable to bring the coal here. Coal men say the weather has caused extra demands to be made on their limited supplies.

Woman Mail Carrier Fatally Hurt.

Spartansburg, S.C., Dec. 27.—Miss Mura Hicks, the only woman mail carriers in South Carolina, and one of the three women so employed in the United States, was struck by a train yesterday and fatally injured.

SOME X-MAS HINTS
Xmas Gifts That Will Be Appreciated
Automatic Eyeglass Holders, in Gold, Silver, and Enamel. Prices from ..... 50c to $3
Eyeglass Chains, all varieties, from ..... 75c to $2
Field Glasses, from ..... $8 to $15
Smoked Pearl Opera Glasses, (Lemaire) from ..... $8 to $10
Gold Rimmed Spectacles for elderly people ..... $3 to $5
We fit the proper lenses after the Holidays. Gold Initials on the case Free.
Everything Guaranteed as Fowler's Optical Parlours
We also carry a complete line of Perfumes, from ..... 10c to $3
Ebony Hair Brushes, Mirrors, etc.
Our prices are as low as anywhere in the city, quality considered.
Nugent Drug Co.
386 George Street.

Daily Examiner.

Examiner Agencies

NORTH WARD
E. F. Braund, 736 George, cor. Smith st.
D. Sullivan, 439 George, cor. Elm. st.
Mr. Young, cor. McDonnel and George.
L. E. J. Lockhart, 569 Water st.
J. M. Donovan, cor. Aylmer & McDonel

WEST WARD
Nelson Bentley, cor. Brock & Park.
H. Bradshaw, cor. Downie and Charlotte.
John James, cor. Reid & McDonel.

CENTRE
Gainey Bros., 281 George.
R. J. Sedon, 441 George.
F. C. Cahill, 370 George.
C. J. Murphy, 326 Charlotte.
A. H. Stretton, 417 George.

SOUTH
Mrs. Dunsford, cor. Sherbrooke & Rob
E. C. Braund, cor. Albert & Park.
H. H. Halpin, cor. Perry & George.
R. McGill, corner Lake and Aylmer.

EAST
Mrs. M. Guerin, cor. Roger & Hasten.
Martin Kylie, Rogers street.
David Flynn, 666 Concession, cor Carlisle
T. B. Maclean, corner Mark and Hunter streets.

UNION LABEL

MONDAY, DECEMBER 27, '09

Railway Time Table

GRAND TRUNK

	Arrive.	Depart.
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst, North Bay, Sturgeon Falls and Toronto	11.40 a.m.	6.35 a.m
	1.20 p.m.	6.35 p.m.
Port Hope and points east to Montreal and Boston	6.35 a.m.	11.40 a.m
	6.35 p.m.	9.05 p.m
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and West. Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Oshawa, Montreal & East.	6.35 a.m.	11.40 a.m
	6.35 p.m.	9.05 p.m
Toronto, Lindsay, Sturgeon Falls, Uxbridge and Markham.	11.40 a.m.	7.10 a.m
	9.20 p.m.
	10.15 p.m.	6.35 p.m
Lindsay Local	6.15 a.m.	9.10 p.m
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and East.	9.10 a.m.	6.35 a.m.
	6.55 p.m.	1.40 p.m.
	9.20 a.m.	6.35 a.m.
Lakefield.	6.15 p.m.	12.20 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Going East	Leave Peterboro
For Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal, Kingston.	11.26 a.m
For Indian River, Norwood, Havelock Tweed.	7.51 p.m
For Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal.	12.31 a.m.
Going West	Leave Peterboro
For Toronto, Galt, London, Detroit, Chicago.	5.26 a.m.
For Burketon, Bobcaygeon, Myrtle, Toronto.	7.55 a.m.
For Toronto, Detroit, Chicago, Winnipeg and Northwest	4.38 p.m.

Points.

'09 CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY '10

CHRISTMAS RATES

SINGLE FARE	FARE AND ONE - THIRD
Dec. 24th, 25th. Good for return Dec. 27th, also Dec. 31, Jan. 1. good for return Jan. 3rd.	Dec. 21 to 25, and Dec. 28 to Jan 1. good for return until Jan. 3, 1910

BETWEEN ALL STATIONS IN CANADA

See

W. McIlroy, Agent, Peterborough

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

NEW YEAR EXCURSIONS

Between all stations in Canada.

Single Fare

Good going Dec 31st, 1909 & Jan. 3rd, 1910. Return limit January 3rd, 1910.

Fare & One-Third

Good going Dec. 28th, 1909, to Jan. 1st, 1910 Return limit Jan. 5th, 1910.

Secure tickets & further information from

F. SANDY, Depot Agent — W. BUNTON, City Agent

COAL

That Is Coal

Is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL at

$7.50 Per Ton

HARDWOOD

First Class—Best in City—at

$6.00 Per Cord

4 feet long. Cutting and Splitting as desired, at

J. E. A. Fitzgerald's

Cor. Brock & Aylmer Phone 111

China Painting

Mrs. Langley McCarthy

Teaches Bischoff's New and Beautiful Dark Work in China Painting, Lessons in Oil Painting for Advanced Pupils. Studio 9 Downie Street

THE JOYS OF CHRISTMAS

PASTOR RUSSELL PREACHES ON SEASONABLE TOPIC.

Text, "The Angel Said Unto Them, Fear Not; For, Behold I Bring You Good Tidings of Great Joy, Which Shall Be to All People; For Unto You Is Born This Day, In the City of David, a Saviour, Which Is Christ the Lord" (Luke ii, 10, 11).

Richmond, Va., Dec. 26.—Pastor Russell of the Brooklyn Tabernacle preached here to-day to a large and attentive audience from the following text: "The angel said unto them, fear not; for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people; for unto you is born this day, in the city of David, a Saviour, Which is Christ the Lord" (Luke ii, 10,11). He said:

There is an appropriateness in the general joy of the Christmas season, even though some of it is not wisely expressed. The happy custom of giving tokens of love and friendship prevails everywhere the story of Jesus has gone. Even the alms-houses and prisons make special provision that the day which celebrates the Saviour's birth may, so far as possible, be a happy one, a joyous one, to all mankind. The poorer of our citizens and the unfortunate of slender means are often kindly remembered by their more highly favored relatives and neighbors. Surely this is as it ought to be. Some may have been injured by receiving bounties, but few, if any, have ever been other than blessed in the giving of them. Herein we see corroborated the Saviour's own words, "It is more blessed to give than to receive." It is godlike to give.

Our text tells us of God's great Gift; and although it is evident that our Lord Jesus was born about October 1st, instead of December 25th, this makes no material difference, for it is the great fact that we commemorate, and not the particular day of its occurrence. Let us consider to-day, the great gift of God's love which the Apostle refers to as "the unspeakable gift" (II. Corinthians ix, 15). As we discern something of its length and breadth and height and depth, our amazement is the more, our joy increases, and we have the more desire to be likewise generous with all with whom we have to do, especially with all who are less fortunately situated than ourselves, either in temporal or spiritual matters.

All men realize, to some extent at least, their imperfection—that all have sinned and come short of the glory of God. Men's thoughts toward God seem to run along the lines of fear; unworthy of Divine favor, they fear Divine wrath. So it was with the shepherds as related in our context. When the angel of the Lord appeared to them to announce Messiah's birth, they feared. For what purpose would an angel or messenger come to them, except to render some denunciation or to foretell some catastrophe? It was, therefore, that the first words of the messenger were, "Fear not." So in approaching mankind in general with God's message to sinners it is appropriate that we begin by saying, Fear not! The God we preach unto you is not a demon seeking your injury and your torment. He is a God of Wisdom and Justice and Love with all Power to carry to successful conclusion his Wise, Just and Loving Program respecting our race, "which he purposed in himself from before the foundation of the world" (Ephesians i, 9, 4).

Satan has used this human tendency of fear as a lash wherewith to drive man away from God, and from the Bible, his Revelation. We are not, therefore, to accredit to our forefathers the viciousness of character which seems to be implied in the creeds of the "dark ages" handed down to us; rather we are to credit those vicious misrepresentations of our Heavenly Father to the great "Father of Lies." He it is who in the dark of the past planted the seeds of what the Apostle terms "doctrines of devils" (I. Timothy iv, 1). We thank the Lord that gradually we are getting our eyes of understanding opened to recognize the true character of God and Jesus Christ whom he hath sent, and who is his express image.

Hark to the Lord's message through the prophet Isaiah. Foreseeing our estrangement from himself and our enslavement by the Adversary, he tells us in so many words, Their fear toward me is not of me, but is taught by the precepts of men—as inspired by our adversary, the devil (Isaiah xxix, 13).

Intending from the first not to abandon his fallen human creatures to utter destruction, the Father purposed in himself, in advance, the great Plan of Salvation now in progress. From before the foundation of the world he purposed that Jesus should be the Lamb of God to take away the sin of the world and eventually to bring all the willing and obedient back to harmony with himself, so that only the willfully wicked would experience the wages of sin, death—"Second Death." But God has a due time for every feature of his great Plan. Four thousand years sped by before it became "due time" to send the Only Begotten Son into the world to redeem it. "In the fulness of time God sent forth his Son born of a woman" (Galatians iv, 4). "In due time Christ died for the ungodly"—forty-one hundred and sixty years after sin had entered (Romans v, 6). At first we are amazed at such a delay. Nor can the matter be satisfactorily understood until we learn two things:

(1) That man's experience with sin and death is a part of the great lesson which God designs all to have—learning the exceeding sinfulness of sin. Later when the second great lesson shall be given to mankind—the desirableness and profitableness of righteousness—the schooling as a whole, will be the more effective.

(2) We must also learn that our dear friends and neighbors who go down into death are as if only asleep, and have no consciousness in either joy or sorrow, waiting for the Millennial morning—the Resurrection morning. Their death would have been absolute, as in the case of the brute beast, had not God with his great love provided for their redemption and resurrection (Ecclesiastes v, 9; John xi, 11; iii, 13; Acts ii, 34). In view of this provision the whole world is said to sleep in Jesus—in the sense that their hope rests in the great work which Jesus accomplished when he gave himself a "ransom for all to be testified in due time" (I. Timothy ii, 5). There is a difference, therefore, between the world sleeping in Jesus and the Church who fell asleep in Christ. The Church is composed of those begotten of the holy Spirit during this Gospel Age, who maintain their relationship to Christ, the Head, as "members" in his Body, and whom God has promised, that as they share with Christ in his sacrificial death, they shall also share with him in his glorious resurrection to honor and immortality (Philippians ii, 8-11).

The Scriptures make very plain the fact that while Jesus was born of a woman, this was not the beginning of his existence, for "He was with the Father before the world was." He was the very "beginning of the Creation of God" (Revelation iii, 14) As St. John declares, "In the beginning was the Word (Logos) and the Logos was with The God and the Logos was a God. * * * By him were all things made that were made and without him was not one thing made." He was "made flesh and dwelt amongst us," "he came unto his own and his own received him not, but to as many as received him, to them gave he privilege to become sons of God" (John i, 1-14).

The Scriptures make clear to us that the Father did not compel the Son to be our Redeemer—on the contrary, he invited him to do so, and set before him the great reward:

(1) The privilege of proving his loyalty to the Father (Hebrews x, 7 Psalm xl, 8).

(2) The privilege of serving the fallen race, as their Redeemer and Restorer (Matthew xx, 28).

(3) The honor of high exaltation to even greater dignities than he had before he left the Father—to honor, glory and immortality, far above angels and principalities and powers and every name that is named. St Paul, in referring to the matter, tells us that our Lord, "for the joy that was set before him, endured the cross despising the shame"—and now, in consequence, is set down on the right hand of the Father on high (Hebrews xii, 2).

While the Saviour was the Christmas gift to us in one sense of the word, yet the gift was more from another standpoint—although it was all contained in that primary gift Our Lord first, by obedience to the Divine Law, demonstrated his right to eternal life; and, at the same time, by his consecration to death, he laid down the life he was privileged to have. Nor did he ever take it back He arose from the dead on the third day, perfected as a New Creature—as a spirit-being (II. Corinthians iii, 17). He did indeed appear to the apostles during the subsequent forty days, but not as before. Although, after his resurrection, he appeared in the flesh, he was not flesh. He had taken the body of flesh "for the suffering of death," and not to keep eternally. When he had finished sacrificing it, the flesh had served his purpose. His high exaltation is on the spirit plane, far above the angels. His appearances during the forty days were very brief and few, after the manner in which angels had previously appeared in the flesh. They were for the purpose of convincing the disciples that he was no longer dead, and to convince them also that he was no longer limited to earthly powers, as before his death. He was "put to death in the flesh, but quickened in spirit" (I. Peter iii, 18).

Notice how God's gift expands, carrying blessings with each change. The glorified Jesus, when he ascended up on high, had to his credit, so to speak, the human, earthly rights which he had sacrificed. Those rights were sufficient for the whole world. Because all had been condemned through one man, all could be justified, atoned for, by the sacrifice of one perfect man—"the man Christ Jesus, who gave himself a ransom for all" (I. Timothy ii, 5, 6).

But the ascended Saviour, although he came into the world to be the Saviour of the world, did not apply the merit of his sacrifice for the world, but, as the Scriptures show, he applied it for his Church and the entire household of faith. Unbelievers are not covered by that application of Christ's merit. In order to get under the merit of Christ now they must believe, renounce sin and make a consecration of themselves to walk in the Redeemer's footsteps as living sacrifices. Under this provision the Gospel call has been going forth for now eighteen centuries. The object of this, the Scriptures tell us, is to select primarily the Church of Christ, a "little flock," "the Bride, the Lamb's wife" and joint-heir with him in his Millennial Kingdom, which is to bless the world.

Throughout this Gospel Age a faithful "little flock" has gradually been gathered. Their test is their willingness to lay down their lives in the Lord's service—in the service of the Truth and in the service of the brethren. In doing this they are sacrificing with Jesus; as the Apostle suggests, "I beseech you, therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy and acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service" (Romans xii, 1). This sacrifice of Christ's "members" is counted in as part and parcel of the sacrifice of Christ. When this sacrificing shall be finished it will mean that the merit of Christ's sacrifice at Calvary appropriated to the Church will have been laid down again—returned to the credit of the Redeemer. Then, at the conclusion of this Age, when the last "member of the Body" has suffered with him and been glorified, the great High Priest will apply the blood afresh—not again for his members and the household of faith, however, but for the world, as the type clearly shows.

Glance backward now, and see the unfoldings of the Divine Plan: The Babe of Bethlehem; the Man of Sorrows; the Risen Lord; the Ascended High Priest and Advocate; the appropriation of his merit to the Church; the joy of forgiveness of sins and reconciliation to God experienced by all believers; their instruction in the School of Christ; their testing and proving by trials and difficulties; and finally, their glorification with their Lord in the Millenial Kingdom. In turn, the glorious Prophet, Priest, Mediator, King, Head and "members" complete, will institute the Millennial Kingdom reign of righteousness for the blessing of the world. Applying his merit for the world and using it also to seal the New Covenant, he opens up the way whereby all then living may become reconciled to God—may be blessed with restitution to full perfection of mind and morals and physique—and have back again the Paradise, lost by sin but redeemed at Calvary.

The Saviour purposes, in harmony with the Divine Program, that not merely the members of the race living at the time of his Second Coming and the establishment of his Kingdom shall be blessed by God's great Christmas Gift, but additionally, every member of Adam's race. Hence the arrangement is, as the Master tells us, "All that are in their graves shall hear the voice of the Son of man and come forth."

The "overcomers" of this time of evil, having passed their trial, will come forth perfected in life — the Church on the Spirit plane, being the "first fruits." The remainder of mankind, unapproved of God, shall come forth unto a resurrection of crisis—trial, judgment, testing. They will come forth that it may be testified to them—in that, their due time — that Christ died for their sins and that redemption through his blood has been provided for them and for all of Adam's race. During that thousand years of trial they must either accept God's grace and co-operate in their advance to perfection or be destroyed in the Second Death as unworthy of any further Divine favor and blessing.

Truly, dear friends, we are beginning to understand the message sent us through the angel when our Saviour was born. The message is not, Fear greatly; I bring you bad tidings of eternal torment and misery for all people. It is the very reverse of this, namely, "Fear not; I bring you good tidings of great joy which shall be unto all people." The joy has not been to all people as yet. Even the knowledge of the Lord has reached only about one in ten of earth's population thus far. And what did reach them was generally a very unsatisfactory, unreasonable message of damnation and great misery. As we have just seen, however, the great Plan of the Ages is rolling onward towards completion, and it progress at every stage makes for fresh blessings and fresh revelations of the glorious things which God purposed in himself from before the foundation of the world. Truly the Scriptures say, As the heavens are higher than the earth, so are God's ways higher than man's ways and his thoughts higher than man's thoughts (Isaiah iv, 9).

Thankful and faithful we should be, for the further knowledge of God's great Plan, which now is streaming forth from his Word for the blessing of all whose eyes of understanding and ears of faith are open. We are truly thankful that our friends and neighbors are not in everlasting torture, but, on the contrary, waiting for the glorious Millennial morning and its blood-bought opportunity of restitution (Act. iii, 18-21). We are thankful, too, that in God's providence we have been called to be "members" of the Body of Christ, to share in his sufferings and in his glorious reign and work of the future. It is possible for those who thus see the real value of Christmas Day to be a thousandfold more happy and more grateful to God than others could be. In turn they should seek to distribute the blessing and to glorify our Father in heaven, who has called us out of darkness into his marvellous light.

Nervous prostration takes all the vigor and energy out of a person. It leaves you weak, helpless and without an interest in life.

Nervous prostration does not disappear of its own accord.

You must fill the system with new nerve force, new energy, new vitality by the use of

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food

In this great restorative treatment are combined the very elements of Nature which are known to form new rich blood and create new nerve force

You can feel yourself getting well and strong when you use this medicine. You can prove it by noting your increase in weight.

But to get these results you must be sure that you get the genuine, bearing portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., the famous Receipt Book author.

50 cts. a box at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Prize Winners in ORANGE MEAT Contest

The following are the Winners in the Orange Meat Prize Contest, which closed November 30th, 1909.

The First Prize was awarded to Mrs M. McNeill, of Melbourne, Ont., who sent in the largest number of Orange Meat Carton Bottoms. Her count amounted to 4437

Mrs. McNeill elected to take the Cash Prize, Seven Hundred Dollars, and we congratulate her on her successful efforts.

Mr. A. J. Duff, Carleton Place, Ont, comes second, with a total count of 3,597, and receives a Cash Prize of One Hundred Dollars. The list of Prize Winners is as follows:

MRS. M. McNEILL, Box 14, Melbourne, Ont.	$700 00
A. J. DUFF, Carleton Place, Ont.	100 00
Harry R. Fleming, 305 University Ave, Kingston, Ont.	50 00
George Magee, Cardinal, Ont.	50 00
Miss McKenzie, St. John's College, Winnipeg, Man.	20 00
Napoleon Lafrienere, 200 Sparks St., Ottawa, Ont.	20 00
Mrs. A. C. Shaver, 95 Canning St., Montreal, Que.	20 00
Miss Alice Sparks, 179 Wellington St., Kingston, Ont.	20 00
Mrs. Jno. E. Markey, Box 108, Kemptville, Ont.	20 00
Mrs. T. H. Shouldice, 93 Le Breton St., Ottawa, Ont.	20 00
Miss Kathleen Cafferty, Box 124, Smith's Falls, Ont.	20 00
T. H. Meader, 535 Yonge St., Toronto, Ont.	20 00
Miss Helena Bryant, 5 Barrack St. Kingston	20 00
Mrs. Chas. Burt, 165 Coursol St., Montreal	20 00
Miss Phyllis Caines, 165 Earl St., Kingston	20 00
Mrs. J. M. Sharman, 212 Rideau St., Kingston	10 00
Mrs. Wm. Francisco, Kingston Junction, Ont.	10 00
Mrs. H. H. McNeil, Thurso, Que.	10 00
Geo. Kent, 86 Wilton Ave., Toronto, Ont.	10 00
Mrs. Arthur Butler, 68 Charron St., Montreal	10 00
Mrs. A. T. Hogan, Parry Sound Ont.	10 00
P. Pseulx, 178 Selby St., Montreal, Que.	10 00
Mrs. Abe Adams, Box 110, Boissevain, Man.	10 00
Herman Barclay, Brinston, Ont.	10 00
Lorne K. Strader, 411 St. Antoine St., Montreal	5 00
Mrs. J. H. Leclerc, Foster, Que.	5 00
Mrs. Clyde Craig, 63 Providence St., Montreal	5 00
Miss Annie Thompson, Miami, Man.	5 00
Miss Maude E. Kennan, Box 284, Cornwall, Ont.	5 00
John T. Rutherford, Colborne, Ont.	5 00
Charles Crump, Box 12, Chesterville, Ont.	5 00
Jas. V. Howard, Elgin, Ont.	5 00
Mrs. Catherine Mowatt, Glen Brook, Ont.	5 00
W. H. Holland, Ry. Y.M.C.A., Kenora, Ont.	5 00
Mrs. Wm. Thomson, 125 Briscoe St., London, Ont.	5 00
Lloyd Merrill, Mountain, Ont.	5 00
Mark A. Franklin,, Maxville, Ont.	5 00
Miss Elsie Lawless, Portsmouth, Ont.	5 00
Fossick Prince, Renfrew, Ont.	5 00
Archie Hanham, St. Marys, Ont.	5 00
Mrs. H. Sargent, Box 877, Sault Ste. Marie	5 00
Thos. P. Keefe, 148 Johnston St., Sydney, N.S.	5 00
Mrs. A. F. Stuart, Vars, Ont	5 00
Mrs. Somerville, 117 Brewster Ave, Montreal	5 00

All contestants who sent in a count of over thirteen carton bottoms received a Cash Prize of One Dollar.

It is the intention of the Orange Meat Company to run another carton contest after the first of the year. Full particulars will be announced later.

"Kitchener of the Navy."

So Lord Rosebery once described Sir John Fisher, who has been made a baron by the King. But although Sir John Fisher is, like Lord Kitchener, a man of somewhat stern and brusque nature, who, having set his mind on accomplishing a thing, allows nothing to stop him in his purpose, there is no more simple and charming man than "Jackie," as the Tars call him, in his moods of relaxing, and he has shown a thousand times what a good and even tender heart beats under a rough exterior. And he can even display the qualities of a born courtier. When Queen Victoria asked him to be "very nice" to the French Admiral Gervais, who was visiting Portsmouth, Sir John answered, "Madam, I'll kiss him if your Majesty wishes"; and he would have done it, too.

Beyond Forgiveness.

Patience—I hear they ran away and got married. Patrice—Yep. Patience—I suppose her father will never forgive them. Patrice—Well, he forgave 'em for running away, but he never will forgive 'em for coming back home.

CORNS CURED IN 24 HOURS

You can painlessly remove any corn, either hard, soft or bleeding, by applying Putnam's Corn Extractor. It never burns, leaves no scar, contains no acids; is harmless because composed only of healing gums and balms. Fifty years in use. Cure guaranteed. Sold by all druggists. 25c. bottles. Refuse substitutes.

PUTNAM'S PAINLESS CORN EXTRACTOR

THE REASON WHY

Vinol

IS THE BEST STRENGTHENING TONIC

for Feeble Old People, Delicate Children, Weak, Run-down Persons, and to Counteract Chronic Coughs, Colds and Bronchitis, is because it combines the two most world-famed tonics — the medicinal, strengthening, body-building elements of Cod Liver Oil and Tonic Iron, without oil or grease, tastes good, and agrees with every one.

We return your money without question if Vinol does not accomplish all we claim for it.

McDERMID & JURY, Druggists, Peterboro, Ont.

Hotel Cumberland

NEW YORK CITY

BROADWAY AT 54th STREET

Near 50th St. Subway Station, 53d St. "L" and all surface lines.

Near Depots, Shops and Central Park. New and Fireproof. Strictly First-Class. Rates Reasonable. $2.50 with Bath, and up. All hardwood floors and Oriental Rugs. Ten minutes walk to twenty Theatres. Excellent Restaurant. Prices moderate.

SEND FOR BOOKLET

HARRY P. STIMSON, Formerly with Hotel Imperial

R. J. BINGHAM, Formerly with Hotel Woodward

What it Cost

10 Annual Premiums of $43 20 each, $432.—This represent the TOTAL COST of Policy No. 12287 for $1000 in

The Canada Life Assurance Co'y.

In other words $432 purchased a PAID UP POLICY for $1000, dated June 21st, 1872, on the 10 payment Life Plan, with dividends applied every 5 years to increase the policy as follows:—

Policy paid up	$1000.00
Dividend additions to 1909	648.75
The Company would pay	$1648.75

should the assured die to-day, and this amount will increase annually so long as he lives.

Read The Top Line Again

Can you create an estate to compare or even approach this?

Don't Wait Until It is too Late.

DAVIS-THOMPSON COMPANY LIMITED

Agents for Peterboro—433 George St.

Building Lots For Sale

THE PETERBORO SUGAR CO. PROPERTY has been cut up into lots, which are now offered for sale: lots 50-ft. frontage by 120-ft. in depth.

These lots are most desirable for building purposes, and any person contemplating the purchase of a lot for this purpose will do well to look over this property before purchasing elsewhere.

Ful particulars and all information can be had on application to

The Toronto Savings and Loan Company

437 George Street, City

Monday Is Ironing Day

Don't leave the purchase of Collier's Electric Smoothing IRONS until the last minute, and by the same token when you have a COLLIER you have the "slickest" iron in the market.

THE COLLIER-CUNNINGHAM COMPANY

77 SIMCOE STREET EAST PHONE 666

MUSICAL.

MISS BESSIE ELCOME, Teacher of Piano. For terms, etc., address Peterborough Conservatory of Music, or 402 Harvey St. 1m-24-7911

MRS G. B. MILLER—Leader of Murray Street Baptist Church Choir. Teacher of Voice and Piano—645 Union Street, Peterborough.

MISS JULIA CHOATE—Violin Soloist and Teacher. Concert engagements accepted. For terms etc., apply Conservatory of Music. Jan-30

MEDICAL.

DR. A. W. MacPHERSON—Office 136 Murray St., Cor. Water. Late House Surgeon Toronto Isolation Hospital, Toronto Sick Children's Hospital and Mount Sinai Maternity Hospital. 'Phones Bell 645. Machine.

DR. T. P. McCULLOUGH—Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Specialists. Office 166 Brock Street.

DR. BUCHANAN, F.R.C.S. Edinburgh M.R.C.S. England, L.R.C.P. London. Specialties of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat 'Phone 320. 169 Charlotte Street. Hours—9-11 a.m., 3-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m.

DR. R. A. HAMMOND—Office, 143 Water Street. Late Assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, England. Also of Rotunda Maternity Hospital at Dublin. Special diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach. Bell Phone—Office 483; House Phone 1291.

LEGAL.

ROBERT RUDDY, K.C.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Office, corner George and Hunter Sts. Money to loan at Current Rates. Successor to George Edmison K.C.

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR, Barristers, Solicitors, and Notaries. Office 119 Water Street. Money to loan.—R. A. Peck, K. M. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

DUMBLE & JOHNSTON—Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Office over Toronto Savings and Loan Company, 486 George St —R. W. Dumble, K.C.; W. F. Johnston.

A. E. DIXON—Barrister, Solicitor, Etc Office—Corner Hunter and George Sts. entrance next Madill's Drug Store. d-6-o

HALL & HAYES & HALL. — Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public, Hunter Street, Peterborough, next to St. John's Church. Money to loan at lowest rates of interest.—E. H. D. Hall, City Solicitor; Louis M. Hayes, K.C., and Basil D. Hall.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON—Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Solicitors etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office, Corner of Hunter and Water Streets, over Can adian Bank of Commerce. R. E. Hall K. T. Medd. W. S. Davidson.

W. E. MOORE—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Office—Bureau's first halfway west of Post Office, Peterborough, Ont. Money to loan.

A. P. POWELL—Barrister and Solicitor —370 Water Street. Money to loan at lowest current rates. A. P. Powell K.C.

E. E. WOOD—Barrister, etc., County Crown Attorney. Office over Canadian Express Office, George Street. Money to Loan.

UNDERTAKERS.

D. BELLAMY.—Funeral Director.—Calls may be given day or night at warerooms, 180 Hunter Street, or at Residence, 89 Hunter Street. Telephone No. 35.

LANE & HANO—Undertakers and Embalmers. Can be found at their warerooms day or night, 173 Hunter street 'Phone 22

MONEY TO LOAN.

MONEY TO LOAN—On Farm and Town property, at lowest current rates on easiest terms of payment. HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON, (Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Peterborough, Ont., Office Over the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

MONEY TO LEND.—On first-class City and Farm Securities only, on current rates. BENNET & GOODWILL, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., No. 371 Water street, Peterborough. Telephone, No. 101. J. W. Bennet; E. L. Goodwill.

MONEY TO LOAN—On easy terms. O'CONNELL & GORDON, Barristers, Solicitors Notaries, etc. Canadian and United States. Patent Attorneys. Hunter St. 2 doors west of Post Office. Daniel O'Connell; George H. Gordon.

ARCHITECTS.

W. BLACKWELL—Architect and Civil Engineer. Plans and estimates made on shortest, public buildings and dwelling houses. Buildings heating and plumbing a specialty. Office 372 Water street, Peterborough.

DENTAL.

DR. H. C. WOOD, Dentist—Office, No. 45 1/2 George Street. Phone 332 day or night.

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY — Osteopathic Physician. Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce; Hunter Street entrance Bell Phone 649. Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 6 p.m. Evenings by appointment only. Consultation free.

TALBOT'S Delicatessen

TWO STORES

We wish to impress upon the minds of housekeepers that we always have an abundant supply of

FRESH FISH

FRESH HADDOCK FINAN HADDIE
FRESH SALMON FRESH WHITE FISH

in addition to our regular supply of

BEST BEEF BEST PORK
BEST LAMB BEST VEAL

Also, Fresh Oysters, Canned Goods, Allan's Cider, Chopped Suet, Mince Meat.

A.L. TALBOT

243 George St. Phone 736
410-12 George St., Phone 333
d-3m-48

The Prefect Of Police

A Story of a Stolen Necklace In Valparaiso

By GEORGE CATHERWOOD

Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.

It was on board the steamer Atlantic, sailing from New York to South America, that we first became acquainted with Jim O'Rorke, a young fellow of twenty-five, who had just enough blarney and brogue in his talk to be true to his name. However, he was an expert in his line and at the time was on his way to Brazil to buy diamonds for a New York firm.

Tom Hargraves and I had planned to spend the winter months in the tropics, so when the steamer reached Panama we said goodby to our friend O'Rorke and went ashore, but the torrid heat of the day and the cold nights made the climate disagreeable, so we soon went on southward, and the following month we reached Chile.

Late one afternoon we arrived at Valparaiso, the capital of the country and a city of well kept streets and many parks, but with such poor hotels that we decided to go out to Vina del Mar, a noted suburb and seaside resort. Here we found good accommodations at the Hotel Pasaje, whose inviting porches gave a beautiful outlook over the bay.

Hargraves and I put on cool white suits, such as are worn in South American countries, and went down to the late evening meal, the fashionable one of the day at Chilean hotels.

As a waiter bowed us to a table we unexpectedly came on our old friend O'Rorke, who was dining with another American. When he caught sight of us his good natured Irish face broadened into a smile.

"Hello, fellows!" he cried, shaking hands cordially. "I'm certainly glad to find you here."

"I thought you were in the wilds of Brazil," I said, laughing.

"I was for awhile," he answered, "but I'm going home now. I came over to Valparaiso to see my friend here, the consul." And, turning to his companion at the table, who had risen, he introduced us.

"Mr. Cuthbert, two friends of mine from the States—Mr. Hargraves and Mr. Moore."

The consul greeted us heartily, and the waiter arranged places for us at the same table.

During the meal O'Rorke told us of his travels in Brazil, and Hargraves and I recounted our adventures in Panama. The consul also proved very entertaining and was in the midst of describing a trip down the coast when a messenger appeared and handed him a note.

"I have little time of my own," said the consul, rising, and, excusing himself, he left the room.

Through a nearby window the evening air came in with delightful coolness after the heat of the day, and in the gay surroundings the meal passed happily. Here and there in the room was a tourist from the States, but the majority of the tables were surrounded by wealthy natives, and the chatter of the Spanish language sounded incessantly.

Many of the women wore jewels, and as we passed out our attention was attracted especially to a corner table near the door, where a man in uniform sat with one of the most beautiful Spanish women I had ever seen. I think her beauty first attracted me, though all noted the elegant necklace that encircled her throat and the large diamond that formed its central ornament. In a moment we had passed on, and a screen separated us from the couple at the table.

"Did you see that woman?" exclaimed Hargraves.

"Yes," I replied, "and her diamond necklace."

COATED TONGUE HEADACHE DIZZY SPELLS

Your overworked stomach is on strike. It refuses to secrete pepsin enough to act upon the food. Refuses also to secrete acid enough to enable the peptic secretion to do its work.

What's the result?—dyspepsia, headache, sick all over.

Give to the stomach the assistance it requires—or in other words try Dr Hamilton's Pills, which cure more weak stomachs than any other medicine you know of.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills put the kind of life into a weak stomach that enables it to digest and assimilate all kinds of food.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills

Cured Mr. William Martin, a Well-Known Lumberman in Parry Sound.

"I consider that Dr. Hamilton's pills make the best all round medicine. My stomach got disordered and all kinds of complications set in. My blood grew thin, my color got pale and I had the worst kind of headaches. The end I ate all disagreed with me and I was constantly bilious and suffering from acute dyspepsia. A wonderful change took place when I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they gave me appetite and strong digestion. I had no more bad dreams, no sick stomach or headache. I was in fact like a new man, and will always recommend and use Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

Dr. Hamilton's Pills are sure to benefit at once. Try them. 25c per box at all dealers, and insist on having only Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. In yellow boxes only.

"I got only a glimpse of it," said O'Rorke, "but it was a beauty."

We stopped in the doorway, and as a waiter approached O'Rorke motioned toward the screen and asked, "Who is the lady at the first table?"

The servant replied in broken English, "Senora Garcina, the owner of the Pasaje."

"And the gentleman?" O'Rorke pursued.

The waiter looked surprised at the question. "The prefect of police," he said in an awed whisper.

Our conversation must have reached the ears of the couple in question, for at that instant the uniformed prefect appeared around the edge of the screen, and, bowing in sarcasm to O'Rorke, he asked haughtily, "Can I be of service to the senor?' The tone was insulting, and for a moment we stood speechless.

O'Rorke, however, was equal to the occasion, and, imitating the bow of the prefect, he returned with equal favor, "Not that I know of."

The officer glared at us for an instant, then turned on his heel and disappeared behind the screen. We stared at each other nonplused. Finally Jim burst out laughing, and we continued our way to the porch.

Soon the stars shone in clusters in the clear sky, such as only tropical climates permit, and gay throngs filled the porches and promenaded on the walks near the hotel. From somewhere came the silver notes of a mandolin and the sound of distant singing. We sat on the veranda smoking until it was late. Then Jim remembered a stiletto he had bought as a souvenir and went up to his room to get it.

A few minutes later a disturbance came from within. A woman screamed, and a man's voice called out in Spanish.

Hargraves and I rushed in with the other guests that had heard the noise, and at the foot of the stairs a strange sight met our eyes. Lying prostrate on the floor was the beautiful Senora Garcina, with eyes closed and hair dishevelled, while around her neck was a red band, almost bleeding, as though the necklace had been snatched off with violence. Up on the stairs the prefect grappled with O'Rorke, and as they swayed back and forth with uncertain footing the light gleamed from a stiletto in the latter's hand.

It was the prefect that had called for help, and before we could reach them to assist O'Rorke a half dozen of the hotel servants appeared, and Jim was overpowered. The prefect disengaged himself with difficulty from Jim's embrace and stood panting.

"Lock this fellow up until police come from the city," he ordered. But Hargraves and I interposed.

"What's the trouble, Jim?" I called to O'Rorke.

The prefect tried to keep him from replying, but Jim cried: "He stole the senora's necklace. It's in his pocket."

At this the prefect turned on him with a string of oaths. "Villain!" he hissed. "You took the necklace, and if it had not been for me the senora might have fared worse. Thank heaven, I arrived in time to save her from your stiletto!"

The retainers wrenched the knife from O'Rorke's hand, and the crowd surged up hissing, for nothing excites the Latin mind like the sight of naked weapons. The affair was becoming desperate for O'Rorke, but luckily at this moment Mr. Cuthbert pushed through the crowd, which fell back sullenly as they recognized the consul.

"Hold on there!" he called as the waiters tried to drag Jim away. "There must be some mistake, prefect. I know Mr. O'Rorke quite well, and no doubt we can settle this affair in a moment."

The prefect interrupted angrily, but the consul turned his back on him and asked Jim to explain what had happened.

"I had gone up to my room for this stiletto, a curio which I wished to show my friends on the porch," Jim explained, "and on my return from the head of the stairs I saw the senora in the hands of a man who held her by the throat. I shouted to him to let go and was surprised to see it was the prefect, who by that time had wrenched loose her necklace and slipped it into his pocket. Then, realizing that he was caught, he rushed at me as though I was the culprit."

The prefect stamped his foot and shouted "Liar!" But the consul held the floor, and Jim in proof of his honesty turned his pockets inside out. As he emptied his right hand pocket a glimmering gold chain fell from it, at the sight of which he staggered as though he had been struck. It was the diamond necklace.

An exclamation broke from the onlookers, and the prefect, catching sight of the jewel, sprang down the stairs. With a malicious shout of triumph he held it up before the view of all.

But "he who laughs last laughs best." The prefect had overreached himself, for entangled in the meshes of the chain was his police whistle engraved with his own name, "Pedro Menendos." Unknown to him, it had clung to the necklace during the scuffle when, in order to throw the blame on O'Rorke, he had transferred it to the latter's pocket.

Hargraves and I could not restrain a cheer, and some of the crowd in the hallway joined with us, though others sided with their countryman. The face of the prefect blanched, but he fell back on the dignity of his office.

"This proves nothing," he said haughtily.

"It proves the necklace was in your pocket!" Hargraves called out, and what might have been a general riot was at this moment prevented by Senora Garcias regaining consciousness.

For an instant she swept the crowd with a bewildered glance; then as her eyes fell on the prefect she realized the situation and, with a cry of anger, snatched her necklace from his hands.

"Oh, you ingrate!" she exclaimed. "You pretended to love me, but it was only for my jewels. I owe my life no doubt to this young man." And she turned to O'Rorke. "He arrived just in time to save me. [illegible] hand, and her hands caught the police whistle she disentangled it from the chain and hurled it in the prefect's face.

"It is a lie!" he reiterated.

The crowd, however, easily swayed from one decision to another, closed in on the guilty officer and forced him up on the stairs. In that elevated position he became the target for various missiles that chanced to be handy until, drawing the dress sword that hung at his side, he brandished it in a circle at arm's length. In this manner he fought his way through the crowd and made his escape by a rear door.

Later Hargraves and I laughingly suggested that Jim might supplant the prefect in the senora's affections, but he declared he had enough of South American dealings, and we left the next morning on a Pacific steamer.

The Silent Bell.

Mr. Bluffen—What! Hasn't the landlord sent anybody here yet to fix that front door bell? I'll go right down and see him.

Mrs. Bluffen—Don't bother about it, John. Wait a week or so. It's about time for the installment collector to be coming around.—Catholic Standard and Times.

The Rubicon.

By a traveler in Italy the Rubicon, the famous river crossed by Julius Caesar, is described as "the merest trickle of a stream, in which it would be quite impossible for a man to drown himself."

Oxygen.

Oxygen forms one-fifth of the atmosphere, eight-ninths of the waters and, taking all together, one-half of all the materials of the globe, so far as they are known. As carbon is the basis of all the organic substances of the world, so oxygen, the supporter of life and combustion, represents its living energies.

Tiny Parasites.

Since the Dutch philosopher Leeuwenhoek discovered that the pupa of the flea was sometimes preyed on by the larva of a mite it has been well known that various small insects have their external parasites.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

ACHE

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.

CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.

Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

Money Postcards.

They remit money by postcard in Italy most conveniently. The sum in stamps is stuck on a postcard, the stamps are canceled, and their cash value is promptly paid the recipient at the other end.

Abandoned Cisterns.

An abandoned cistern is often a dangerous thing and should be filled, as stagnant water which may remain in it is a common source of disease. If this cannot be done at once it is a good plan to throw in proper disinfectants and gradually fill it up with sifted coal ashes.

The Lotus.

The lotus, supposed to be the rose of Sharon spoken of in the Bible, was a blue or white water plant held sacred in Egypt as typifying the creation of the world and was sacred to the gods Osiris and Isis.

The Sponge.

The sponge reproduces its kind mainly by eggs. In each animal are contained both the male and the female elements, and it throws out the ova to be hatched in the water. At first the young are free swimming, and afterward they attach themselves to convenient spots and grow.

Diamond Test.

It is claimed that there is no acid having any perceptible effect upon a genuine diamond. Hydrofluoric acid will if dropped upon a stone made of glass corrode it, but upon the bona fide stone it will have no effect at all.

Lions and Gorillas.

The formidableness of the great apes so compared with other beasts is not an easy matter to pass upon. In Africa it is noteworthy that the lion and the gorilla do not occur together, and it has been conjectured both that the lion has exterminated the gorilla within its territory and that the gorilla has driven out the lion.

Wall Paper.

To discover whether or not there is arsenic in your wall paper take a fragment of it and put it in a solution of ammonia. If arsenic is present the liquid will assume a bluish tint.

A Lesson in Washing.

Pliny the Great could see things in front of his nose as well as afar off. "I notice that the women rub the washing in cold water," he wrote one day. "Let them beat the water, and the alkali in the soap will be freed and take far better effect." And only after that did women know how to wash.

He Loved Lawyers.

It is said that Peter the Great, after witnessing a contest between two eminent counsel at Westminster, London, remarked: "When I left St. Petersburg there were two lawyers there. When I get back I will hang one of them."

Ancient Papyrus.

In preparing papyrus the interior of the stalk of the plant, after the rind had been removed, was cut into thin slices in the direction of their length, and these being laid on a flat surface, similar slices were placed over them crosswise. Their surfaces were cemented together by some kind of glue and subjected to the required degree of pressure and well dried, and the famous writing material was ready for use.

Pearls.

Pearls are composed of many layers of carbonate of lime with organic matter between and are not always pearly throughout and invariably have some small central core or nucleus. Round pearls of fine luster and color are very valuable, and their value increases rapidly with their size.

The matter appearing in this space from time to time is furnished by the The Ontario Brewers' Association who have arranged for its publication.

THINK THESE POINTS OVER

Local Option starts out with the assumption that alcohol is a curse.

If it is a curse, why is it implanted in every vegetable substance in nature? You cannot crush a fruit, a flower, a seed, under your heel but you have alcohol.

The truth is that alcohol was given to make glad, not sad, the heart of man. Use it well and it is a blessing. Abuse it and it becomes a curse.

Used with judgment, it is a power for preventing disease, prolonging life, enhancing joy, alleviating grief, promoting happiness, provoking thought, energizing the brain, quickening the creative faculty.

Alcohol is a force. There is danger in it as there is in all forces, misapplied. A force demands that it shall be directed wisely.

Curse alcohol for killing people! As well curse Lake Ontario for the people it has drowned. As well curse steam for the boiler explosions it has caused. As well curse the railway for the ghastly accidents that occur from time to time.

Alcohol, we repeat, is a force. In using it we must exercise the same care, self-control, vigilance, and manliness, that we exercise in using all other forces. The way to strengthen character is by resisting temptation.

THEN VOTE AGAINST LOCAL OPTION.

Christmas is Next

If you intend sending Photographs as Christmas Gifts do not delay arranging for sittings at W. G. LENDRUM'S Ground Floor Studio, 170 Charlotte Street.

The Children's Aid Society

For the Care of Neglected and Ill-Treated Children.

Incorporated by act of Legislature. Information required. Informant's name kept strictly private.

Children for Adoption

GEO. COCHRANE,

Bell Phone. 239 Agent and Asst.-Sec. 725 George St.

LUMBER

And Builders' Materials of all kinds Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Casing, and Base and all kinds of finish. Sarnia and Sox Sheeds.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE

Point St. Charles Mills

PATENTS

PROCURED ON EASY TERMS.

TRADE MARKS AND COPYRIGHTS

Books and advice free. Highest references. 9 years experience. We are registered attorneys. Send sketch of your invention for free opinion as to patentability.

CRISWELL & CRISWELL

902 F. ST., N. W., WASHINGTON, D. C.
45 Broadway, New York City

Peterboro' Testimonials

By the score, can be furnished, affirming the great value of having your doors and windows fitted with

CHAMBERLAIN

Metal Weather Strips

Not only do they keep out the cold, but they are Dust Proof, Rattle Proof and Draught Proof.

A. J. LONGLAND Manager for Peterborough

537 HARVEY ST. - PHONE 1292

BEST CHINESE LAUNDRY

169 SIMCOE ST. PETERBOROUGH

Orders telephoned to Mr. George Record promptly filled. Ladies' and gentlemen's washing at moderate rates Parcels called for and delivered.

Mrs. M. J. Byrne

Dealer in

Ladies' Furnishings

and Hair Work

Ladies' Underwear, Children's Clothing and Ornamental Needle Work and Stamping executed to order and kept in stock

LADIES' HAIR DRESSING

skillfully attended to. Ladies' hair dressed for balls, parties, entertainments and all public and private occasions. Switches, Bangs, etc., always in stock and made to order fashionably. Combings of Hair done up in any desired style. Masks, Wigs, etc., rented for carnivals, concerts and all occasions.

424 George St. Phone 262

Why not have one of those handy Rubber Stamps and save writing? For Sale, Examiner Office.

Rubber Gloves

Regular $1.00 for

65 cents

Every lady should have a pair. Keep hands clean and skin soft and free from roughness.

Wm. Madill

Chemist & Druggist

OAK HALL DRUG STORE

Corner George and Hunter Sts

Whisper to Santa Claus to put

25 TICKETS FOR A DOLLAR

In your stocking — a sensible present. Every housewife will appreciate it. Twenty-five Tickets —for Twenty-five Loaves of—

Gilgour & Mackay's

Home-Made BREAD

Order from the driver or ring up the bakery office Telephone 340.

Fancy Cakes, Buns, Biscuits, Pastry, etc., Fresh every morning

Store and Bakery, Corner George and Edinburgh, Sts.

How Would You Like Your

Tan Shoes

Changed to

BLACK?

We can do the trick for you. We colour them a good black to stay black. Send them in.

Soft Felt Hats

Cleaned to Look Like New

YEOTES BROS

SHOE SHINE PARLOURS

GEORGE STREET

Your favourite Polish on Sale

FIRE!

I am selling off my whole stock of New Boots and shoes at Fire Sale Prices. All reduced since the Fire. Come and get Footwear Bargains and Holiday Footwear at marked down prices while they last.

Robt. Di Bernardo

BROOKS BLOCK

Corner George and Shuttbrooke Streets.

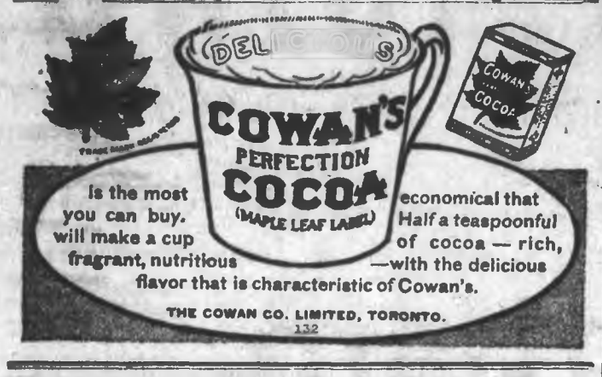
THE Famous

Rayo Lamp

Once a Rayo user always one

The RAYO LAMP is a high grade lamp sold at a low price. There are lamps that cost more but there is no better lamp at any price. The Burner, the Wick, the Chimney-Holder—all are vital things in a lamp; these parts of the RAYO LAMP are perfectly constructed and there is nothing known in the art of lamp-making that could add to the value of the RAYO as a light-giving device. Suitable for any room in the house. Every dealer everywhere. If not at yours, write for descriptive circular to the nearest Agent of

The Queen City Oil Co., Limited.



Is the most economical that you can buy. Half a teaspoonful will make a cup of cocoa — rich, fragrant, nutritious —with the delicious flavor that is characteristic of Cowan's.

THE COWAN CO. LIMITED, TORONTO.
132

SOMETHING ELECTRICAL

In the Electrical line, many novelties have been brought out lately—articles of household use which give comfort and satisfaction every day. These make ideal gifts, up-to-date: —

ELECTRIC IRONS — PORTABLE TABLE LAMPS
ELECTRIC TOASTERS — ELECTRIC FIXTURES
ELECTRIC HEATERS — ELECTRIC DOMES

Get our prices on entire Electric House Fixtures. We save you money. We do House Wiring. Install Motors, Bells, etc.

The F. J. R. MacPHERSON CO.
341 GEORGE STREET : : LIMITED

SLEIGHING

Drawing near and your Cutter or Business Sleighs require revarnishing or repainting. Now is the time to have it done and stored until you want them. Also good reliable up-to-date job of Carriage Painting or Lettering give

W. J. ANDREWS

a trial this time. Shop
173 Murray St., opp. New Armouries
1yr.

Nothing more appropriate for a Christmas Gift than Snowshoes or Toboggans. We have a very large assortment. Call & see them.

J. J. TURNER & SONS
Peterborough - Ontario

PIONEER OF PIONEERS

MRS. JOHN CLARKE CAME TO CANADA IN 1820.

Remarkable Swiss Woman, Who Died In Montreal Recently, Lived In the Reigns of Five British Monarchs and Was a Belle In the Very Early Days In Canada — Her Husband Was Partner of Astor.

At the beginning of the last century no one seems quite certain of the exact date—was born in Neufchatel, Switzerland, the girl who afterwards became the wife of John Clarke, who was associated with the original John Jacob Astor in the fur-trading business. Recently Mrs. Clarke died in Westmount, and in between her birth and death she had played a strenuous part in the history of Canada. She was a pioneer of pioneers, inasmuch as she followed her husband into the Great Northwest, roughing it as he did while he served as factor, and later as chief factor, of the Hudson Bay Co. Not only did she see the beginnings of that development which has made the western provinces among the greatest assets of the Dominion, but she went with her husband to Labrador, which in those days was pretty much at the world's end. Later on, she was a recognized leader in Montreal society, and her daughters among its belles.

When last I saw Mrs. Clarke, a few weeks before her death, says C. C. M. in Saturday Night, she was full of interest in what was going on around her. In spite of her years, which numbered 105 at least, and probably more, she was both alert and cheerful. Propped up among big white trilled pillows, her tiny form seemed lost, but her face marvellously wrinkled, sharp featured, and smiling, was full of attraction. Her hair, of which she possessed a quantity, was absolutely silvery white, and stood about her face like a great Pompadour, unless held smooth and flat by a white lace scarf. Her physical strength was still remarkable, and not only could she hear, without difficulty, but she took part in the conversation. That her eyesight was still good was shown by her interest in a camera when it was placed in a position to photograph her.

The night of that wonderful little old lady seemed to annihilate time. To take her hand seemed to link one at once with those far-off days of Napoleonic glory when the destiny of Europe lay with the great Corsican. One can hardly realize what it means—to have lived in the reigns of five British sovereigns, and to have had one's birth antedate that of Queen Victoria by many years.

Mrs. Clarke's parentage was mixed, her father being German, and her mother Swiss. Her birth took place at Neufchatel some time between 1800 and 1805, but her daughter assured me that the exact date was unknown. Her childhood passed peacefully, her father, whose name was Trauclair, occupying a good position. She was yet in her teens when she came to Canada with her parents. Her meeting with her husband was not without an element of romance, and, in fact, throughout her long life, things seldom seemed to happen to her as they did to other people. She seemed to have been selected to show just what a woman could do, could endure, and conquer. She was many sided, and it was said of her that she was as much at home leading a ball with a governor-general as she was presiding in a Hudson Bay post, and that no one could surpass her in charm in either position.

The Clarke family have long been identified with what is now the city of Westmount, and for generations owned a large amount of property there. Until within the last year or so the old family mansion—a delightfully picturesque relic of the past—stood at the corner of Clarke avenue and Sherbrooke street. In the early days of the last century all the property immediately surrounding the house belonged to the Clarkes, the head of the family being one Simon Clarke, father of John Clarke. The latter, who was of an adventurous spirit, decided to leave home in search of adventure, and in time became associated with John Jacob Astor as a fur-trader. Later John Clarke decided upon taking a trip to Europe, going to London and Paris, and finally reaching Switzerland. While there he met Miss Trauclair, and fell in love with her. Obviously some sort of an understanding was entered upon, because Mr. Clarke, who was a widower, had not long returned to this country before Mr. and Mrs. Trauclair and their pretty young daughter arrived at Quebec. This was somewhere about 1820, and conditions in Canada, Mrs. Clarke was accustomed to say, were as different to those to which she had been accustomed, as is Montreal now changed from what it was then. Everything was new to her, but for a time after her marriage to Mr. Clarke, which took place in Montreal, she lived at the old frame house with her husband's people in Westmount. Not long afterwards she went West with her husband and partook of all the discomforts and dangers that attend the life of the pioneer.

Shortly after her arrival in the northwest, Mrs. Clarke led the singing at the first missionary service held in the Selkirk Settlement, the missionary in charge being Rev. Mr. West, the first Anglican missionary to the northwest. As a memento of the occasion, Mr. West presented Mrs. Clarke with a Bible, the first taken into the country.

It was while the Clarkes were in Labrador that cholera raged in Montreal, and the Clarke residence at that time, "Beaver Lodge," in Outremont, was used as a refuge by many of the citizens who wished to escape the epidemic. At the time of the Rebellion "Beaver Lodge" was fortified, and there the governor, Sir John Colborne, sat in council. It was after the rebellion that a memorable ball was given at Montreal by the officers of the garrison, the ball being opened by Mrs. Clarke and the governor.

Aids Nature

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short establishes sound vigorous health.

If your dealer offers something "just as good," it is probably better FOR HIM—it pays better. But you are thinking of the cure not the profit, so there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, In Plain English; or, Medicine Simplified, 1008 pages, over 700 illustrations, newly revised up-to-date Edition, paper-bound, sent for 31 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only. Cloth-bound, 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Buying Corregios.

One of the older residents of Toronto was recently telling of a capitalist, long since deceased, who had made a fortune by the purchase of rags and the development of the industries of which they are the raw material. In time he set up a mansion which he was desirous should not be surpassed in the land, and engaged in the process of filling it with works of art. Some one told him that no mansion was complete without a Corregio, and, having business in England with regard to the shipment of a vast consignment of rags, he decided to pick up a Corregio or two if he got a chance.

He happened to meet on old Toronto friend who was a university man and familiar with art subjects, and asked him where he could get one. He would like to see one anyway. The friend took him to the South Kensington Museum, and finally came upon a small specimen of the painter's work.

"Oh, that's a little one," exclaimed the capitalist, "how much would it be worth?"

"Somewhere in the neighborhood of ten thousand pounds," said his friend.

"Pshaw!" was the reply. "I can buy pictures like that in Montreal for $27 a-piece.

A few weeks later the cultured friend met the capitalist in London again; he had been to Paris in the meantime.

"What about the Corregios?" queried his friend.

"Oh, I bought a pair of 'em for five hundred francs," said the capitalist; "they don't try to rob you over there."

And sure enough he had brand new ones bearing the signature "Corregio" in round, clear letters.

SUN FIRE

The oldest Insurance Office in the world
FOUNDED A.D. 1710 — BI-CENTENARY 1910
HOME OFFICE: LONDON, ENGLAND

Canadian Branch, Sun Building, Toronto, H. M. Blackburn, Manager
W. H. HILL, AGENT - - - - - - - - PETERBOROUGH.

December Coal
7.50 Per Ton Cash

YOU KNOW just what you need for the winter. Why delay? Order this month and save.

COAL
For Every Purpose.

WOOD
Any way you want it.

The Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Company, Limited
162 CHARLOTTE ST.
PHONE—Bell, 270-261. Mach., 270
134 AYLMER ST.
PHONE— - - - - - Bell 263

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS

ANY PERSON who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

DUTIES.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

N.B.—Unauthorized publications of this advertisement will not be paid for.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of Interior.

EAST CITY
Coal and Wood
YARD

MAIN OFFICE—111 Hunter St., East
Phone 96

All sizes of Best Mined Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.

Egg, Stove and Nut Coal per ton $7.50
Pea or No. 2 Nut Coal, per ton . . $6.50
Dry Tamarac and Mixed Wood.
First Class Dry Hardwood.

WEIR & O'BRIEN
ARCH WEIR — JAMES O'BRIEN

Edwin Elcome
TAXIDERMIST

BIRDS, Animals, Fish and Snakes stuffed and mounted in the best life-like styles at the lowest price.

DEER HEADS A SPECIALTY.

A stock of foreign and native Birds always on hand for sale. Dealer in Eyes, Artificial Leaves and frosting; also Importer of Foreign Birds and Skins from all countries. Best Nature Study Books.

692 Harvey St. Peterboro

B. SHORTLY'S
CHRISTMAS STORE

Every year more and more people find here just what they are looking for in the Gift line, such as

Trunks — Satchels
Travelling Bags
Shopping Bags
Suit Cases — Purses
Fitted-Out Boys
and Club Bags
for both ladies and gentlemen
Wallets, Pocket Books

Nothing Nicer for Xmas Gifts

We never had a better assortment, either in quality and design, and the prices will be found very reasonable and adaptable to every purse

B. SHORTLY
Sign of the Horse - George Street

BOYS WILL BE BOYS

DO YOU SOLEMNLY SWEAR THAT YOU WILL DO AS YOU ARE TOLD AND KEEP AT HEART THE WELFARE AND GOOD OF THIS MYSTIC ORGANIZATION?
WILFORD, THIS IS INITIATION NIGHT OF THE MYSTERIOUS ORDER OF THE SILVER QUINCE. WE HAVE DECIDED TO RETURN GOOD FOR EVIL AND ALLOW YOU TO BE THE GOAT!
IT ISNT EVERYBODY WE LET BE THE GOAT AND YOU SHOULD BE PROUD OF THE DISTINCTION
I PROMISE TO DO MY DUTY.
THESE HORNS WILL HAVE TO BE TIED ON AWFULLY TIGHT, BUT YOU WONT MIND WHEN YOU THINK OF THE FUN YOU ARE GOING TO HAVE
THIS DUSTER WILL MAKE A BULLY TAIL
YOU HAVE JUST THE RIGHT SHAPE FOR A GOAT AND YOU'LL MAKE A GREAT HIT!
WE ARE NOW GOING AFTER THE VICTIM AND WHEN HE OPENS THE DOOR YOU ARE TO BUTT HIM FOR ALL YOU'RE WORTH!
FINE! COULDN'T BE BETTER.
DON'T HE MAKE A DANDY GOAT?
WELL, I'LL SOON SETTLE THAT!
DOCTOR, THERE'S STRANGE THINGS HAPPENING IN THE STUDY HALL AND WE ARE AFRAID TO GO IN!
IT FRIGHTENED US MOST TO DEATH!
IT'S SOMETHING AWFUL!
HOW DARE YOU! YOU YOUNG VILLAIN!
IT'S ANOTHER PLOT OF THOSE WICKED BOYS!
SO IT'S YOU AGAIN, IS IT? I'LL MAKE AN EXAMPLE OF YOU THIS TIME. YOU YOUNG REPROBATE, AND TEACH YOU A LESSON THAT YOU WONT FORGET!
H. G. D.

(COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY THE NEW YORK HERALD CO.)
All Rights Reserved.

HOLIDAY ADVERTISING

THE HOLIDAYS are the harvest time for the Merchants, and they bend their energies towards inducing the largest possible volume of trade at this season of the year.

In most cases, enterprising merchants who are Regular Newspaper Advertisers increase their space before Christmas, and non-regular advertisers get into the papers about that time and drop out entirely after the Holidays.

Business Hypnotism.

You Have Heard It Said :

"I Don't Need To Advertise"

"I don't need advertising. My business was never better". This is the merchant we would like to convince of the weakness of the position he is assuming.

The advertising solicitor has seen many a man go under who for years had been hypnotised with this idea. Business was good and continued good with these men until such time as a more enterprising rival sprang like a bolt from the blue, and through a wise use of Printers' Ink and other up-to-date methods, had, in a few years, succeeded in focussing the attention of the Public on the Newcomer's Goods, to the dismay and ruin of the old firm.

JOHN WANAMAKER

Once said to a young business man who sought his service :—

"I owe my success to Newspaper Advertising. I know that, because I can reach a larger number of best buyers that way". : : : : : : : : : : : : :

"But It Costs Too Much"

says another merchant. That depends upon how you use it and where you place your advertising. Let us see :—THE DAILY EXAMINER print this week an average of over 3000 copies every day. It's fair to assume that in the 3000 homes in this City and District into which THE DAILY EXAMINER is received, an average of at least three readers in each home read it.

THE WEEKLY EXAMINER has an average Weekly Circulation of 2650 copies. It's fair to assume that in the 2650 homes into which the WEEKLY EXAMINER is received, an average of at least three readers in each home read it.

The Total Approximated Number of Readers of the Daily and Weekly Examiner Each Week is 16,950

The Total Cost for Twelve Months of each one inch of Advertising in The Daily and Weekly Examiner per 1000 Readers is 15c.

The Daily Examiner covers the city from one end to the other and,—The Weekly Examiner covers Seventy-Five different Post Offices in the County. Judged by this test, The Examiner is in a class by itself as far as the City and County of Peterborough are concerned.

MR. BUSINESS-MAN,--
Opportunity is Knocking at Your Door

Gratitude and Greeting

At this joyous season, we desire to express our Grateful Appreciation for the large patronage bestowed on our little Drug Store during 1909, and to thank one and all for the many kind comments regarding the superiority of our goods and money-saving prices. :: :: :: ::

On and after Jan. 1st, 1910, we will occupy our new and more commodious store, 351 George St., next to Richard Hall & Son's, Limited. We trust the service we have given in the past will warrant a continuance of its patronage during the new year. ¶ May 1910 be brimful of Happiness and Prosperity to all. :: :: :: :: ::

THE
WARNE DRUG CO.
346 GEORGE STREET :: LIMITED

THE PALACE GROCERY

XMAS FRUIT
—at—
Graham & Co's.
EVERYTHING NEW

Finest Selected Raisins
4 lbs. for 25c.
Choicest Cleaned Currants
3½ lbs. for 25c.
English Mixed Peel
20c per lb.
Yeplant's Mince Meat
Choicest on the market.
2 lbs. for 25c.
Shelled Almonds or Walnuts
40c per lb.

We respectfully solicit a share of your patronage.

293 GEORGE ST.
Nearly opposite Opera House
PHONE 483

CENTRAL CANADA
LOAN & SAVINGS COY.
E. R. WOOD ST. E. TORONTO.

Notice is hereby given that a quarterly dividend at the rate of eight per cent. (8%) per annum for the three months ending December 31st, 1909, has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this Company, together with a bonus of two per cent. (2%) for the year 1909, making a total dividend disbursement for the year ten per cent. (10%). The said dividend and bonus will be payable at the office of the Company in this city on and after January 1st, 1910.

The Transfer Books of the Company will be closed from the 20th to the 31st of December, both days inclusive.

E. R. WOOD,
Managing Director.
Toronto, December, 15th, 1909.

R. P. TOBIN
CONTRACTOR & BUILDER
358 Brock St. Phone 1258
6m-43

B. LASTAR
BARGAIN HOUSE

Santa Claus Takes Off His Cap

To B. Lastar's Holiday Stock of Christmas and New Year's Presents. Come and see them, they are the cheapest in Town

Ladies' Furs, Coats, Skirts, Suits, Waists. Millinery, Feathers, Plumes, etc.

Men's Overcoats, Suits, Hats, Caps.

Boys' Clothing, Neckwear, Scarfs and etc.

Children's Furs, Coats and Caps. Toys, Fancy Goods, Jewellery, Purses, Brooches, etc.

J. J. SHADGETT

Up-to-date Carriage and Sign Painter. Dealer in Waggons, Cutters and Sleighs. All Repairing promptly executed.

57 Hunter St. Phone 443

Fetherstonhaugh Patent Solicitors
PATENT ATTORNEYS
STAR BUILDING, 18 KING ST. W. TORONTO
OTTAWA, WINNIPEG, WASHINGTON.

GLADSTONE TO BE LORD?

He May Take a Peerage Before Going to South Africa.

London, Dec. 27.—It is understood in official circles here that, before leaving England for South Africa in April, Herbert Gladstone, the newly-appointed Governor-General, will receive a peerage. In the high position to which the third son of the great founder of the family has been called he regards a title as indispensable, and it is authoritatively stated that he will not refuse it.

This is contrary to the traditions of the Gladstone family. Twice Queen Victoria pressed an earldom upon the acceptance of Gladstone, and twice he begged to be excused acceptance of the honor. But, with the new Governor-General of South Africa, the peerage has the prized accessory of placing on a permanent footing his connection with Parliamentary affairs.

If he finds the House of Lords still to the fore when his term of governorship lapses, he will be able to resume his Parliamentary connections without the disturbing incidents occasionally attendant upon the poll.

Shot Wife In His Sleep.

Peru, Ind., Dec. 27.—Policemen that answered a call Saturday from Ora Galloway, found his wife dead on the kitchen floor of their home, and Galloway with an empty revolver in his hand. Overturned furniture showed there had been a struggle. Galloway declared he had no conciousness of what had taken place. He is in jail.

In his examination by the police, Galloway said he had been ill and that Friday night his wife gave him some headache medicine before he went to bed. He knew no more, he said, until he found himself standing over her body. He did not know whether or not he had fired the shots that had killed her. He dressed and telephoned the police.

Galloway added that his wife wished to go on the stage and he had not encouraged her.

She was 30 years of age, and he is 28. They have two children.

Third Tragic Death.

Port Stanley, Dec. 27.—Mrs. Geo. H. Moore died very suddenly last evening. With her son, George, she was going to call on her son, John, a few blocks away. When about half the distance, she was seized with a choking sensation. With difficulty she was helped to her son's house, where she expired immediately.

Her husband, Geo. P. Moore, died in New York a few months ago under similar circumstances, and her sister, Miss Bothwell, was found drowned in the lake here two months ago.

Found a Deer In Boston.

Boston, Dec. 27.—The police of station 9, in the Roxbury district received an unexpected Christmas present Saturday in the form of a young buck deer, found in a vacant lot off Columbia road.

So exhausted was the animal that it offered no resistance to the officers who carried it to a nearby stable.

Sore Chest Croup

You often have pains in the muscles, in the side, the back, the neck, or chest. If the inflammation is severe the pain will be intense.

Nothing so quickly cures local inflammation, so thoroughly drives out pain, as "Nerviline," which is without an equal for penetrating, soothing, pain-relieving power.

Nerviline simply can't fail to cure, because it's a perfect antidote for all the pains and aches that invade the family.

Nerviline

"For ten years we have used Polson's Nerviline in our home," writes Mrs. M. E. Graves of Freeport. "For hard, croupy colds there is nothing better. In case of a chill, sudden cold, or neuralgia, Nerviline cures before the trouble gets serious. I have used Nerviline for chronic rheumatism and lame back and find it a wonderful remedy."

All dealers sell Nerviline in large 25c bottles. Get it to-day.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

The national defence committee of the Russian Douma has rejected, by a large majority, the credit for new battleships.

Sir Robert Perks leaves England for Canada early in the New Year to devote his undivided attention to the Georgian Bay Canal. He estimates the cost at twenty or thirty millions.

At 11 o'clock Saturday evening, fire broke out in the business section of Granville street, Halifax, and the big fur store of Lane & Co., and the music store of Gates Bros. were completely gutted.

Mme. Lascelels, a roomer at a Mrs. Redmond's, Farm street, Point St. Charles, Montreal, was found dead on the sidewalk late Saturday evening, her death no doubt being brought about through a drunken quarrel.

Following the killing at Hurley, Va., on Christmas eve of Samuel Baker and the serious wounding of his wife and two children by the former's enemy, Harry Pennington, a mob of one hundred citizens last on Saturday night took Pennington from jail and hanged him to a steam pipe.

Mrs. Francis Bridrisult of Montreal was burned to death at her home on Saturday morning. A lighted lamp was placed on the stove, she rushed to remove it, dropped it, and the oil was spattered all over her clothing. It caught fire, and the woman ran to the backyard, when she extinguished the flames by rolling in the snow.

George Sheldon Dies.

Greenwich, Conn., Dec. 27.—George Preston Sheldon, the deposed president of the Phoenix (Fire) Insurance Co. of Brooklyn, under indictment for grand larceny in connection with financial irregularities in the company recently exposed by the state insurance department of New York, died at his home here Saturday, aged 62, ignorant of the fact that detectives were waiting with extradition papers ready to take him to New York for trial in the event of his recovery. At the time the affairs of the company were arranged in a statement by the New York insurance department recently, Sheldon lay critically ill of ptomaine poisoning, and in view of his condition, details of his indictment was withheld from him. He never rallied.

Sheldon had been president of the Phoenix Insurance Co. of Brooklyn for twenty-one years.

Cook Toys Didn't Sell.

New York, Dec. 27.—The puncture of Dr. Cook's North Pole claims has proved a sad blow to some of the toy dealers who during the last few weeks have been laying in a host of Christmas toys named after him. Dozens of mechanical toys now on sale in the department stores and in the toy stores bear the name of Dr. Cook.

Dolls dressed in white furs and bearing some resemblance to the Bushwick avenue explorer had, within a few days proved ready sellers.

Sledges drawn by miniature Eskimo dogs and bearing a fur-clad figure labeled "Cook on his dash for the Pole," had also been popular, and thousands of parents who were among the early shoppers laid in stocks of these "Dr. Cook" toys for their youngsters, expecting to surprise them on Christmas morning.

Riot In a Church.

Washington, Ind., Dec. 27.—In a riot at the General Baptist Church, one mile from this city, Friday night, Willis Ellis and Edward Herron were cut on the head by bricks and Oliver Chapel was badly cut up, while many women and children who used the windows to escape were injured. The three injured men are not expected to live. Another riot took place at a dance, about forty people receiving minor bruises. Twenty-three arrests were made on account of the two disturbances.

$30,000 Will Save Ship.

Detroit, Dec. 27.—The underwriters have awarded the contract for releasing the wrecked steamer Wissahickon ashore at Outer Luck Island, Lake Huron, to the Great Lakes Towing Co., which has agreed to deliver the boat and cargo at Detroit or Milwaukee for $30,000.

The tugs General and Thompson and the lighter Reliance have been ordered to the stranded steamer from the Soo.

The vessel and cargo is valued at $1,250,000.

Woman Aided Safe-Crackers.

New York, Dec. 27.—Burglars, with the aid of nitro-glycerine and a woman, blew open the safe of Wasserman Brothers, clothing dealers, in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn early Saturday, obtained nearly $1,000 in cash and valuable jewelry and made a clean get-away. Suits of clothes were piled upon the safe to deaden the noise of the explosion, while a well-dressed woman accomplice paced up and down the sidewalk outside to warn the robbers of approaching pedestrians.

Another Wonder of the Wireless.

Highland Light, Mass., Dec. 27.—Cuba and Central America came into touch with New England Saturday night and early yesterday by means of the wireless telegraph, according to Electrician Eason of the navy wireless station here.

Eason says he picked up a message which was being flashed from Key West to Cuba, and that he caught two messages being sent from Colon to the cruiser Des Moines in Nicaraguan waters.

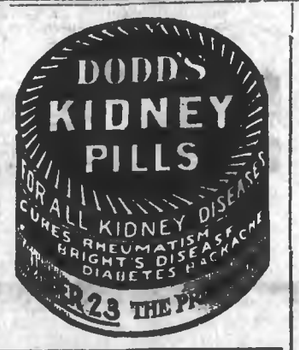
Shot Man For Rabbit.

Buffalo, Dec. 27.—Leon W. Weatherlow, aged 25, was accidentally shot dead by his brother-in-law, Howard A. Grace, near Springbrook. They were rabbit-hunting. Weatherlow, who had been lying on the ground, sprang up just as Grace fired at a rabbit.

Banker Suicides.

Winterset, Iowa, Dec. 27.—J. H. Winterode, president of the Citizens' National Bank, committed suicide Saturday by shooting himself through the right temple. Ill-health is said to be the cause.

Petrolia, Dec. 27.—Fire early Saturday morning destroyed Hyatt's cigar store and bowling alleys on Main street, in Oddfellow's block, also doing about $200 damage to the lodge rooms above the store. The cause of the fire is unknown.



CHARLES LAMARCHE DEAD.

Ex-M.P.P. Dies at North Bay—Had Not Been Ill.

North Bay, Dec. 27.—Charles Lamarche, ex-M.P.P., dropped dead at Sudbury Saturday evening, shortly after entering the home of his daughter, Mrs. Foster Shields. He had not complained of feeling ill, and there was no warning of death's approach. He left North Bay about 5 o'clock for Sudbury, and a few minutes after entering the house he sank to the floor, death resulting almost immediately.

Mr. Lamarche was fifty-nine years of age, and was elected to the Legislature for East Nipissing in 1902, resigning about a year later in favor of Hon. Frank Cochrane. For several years he had occupied the position of local master of titles and registrar for Nipissing, being also stipendiary magistrate. His genial, warm and upright character won him hosts of friends. He was a member of the C.M.B.A., C.O.F. and St. Joseph's Society.

Born in Ottawa, Mr. Lamarche went to Mattawa when sixteen, and lived there thirty-five years, removing to North Bay to assume the office of local master. A widow and five children survive. The funeral will be held at Mattawa on Tuesday.

Local Option In Brantford.

Brantford, Dec. 27.—The local option campaign in this city has got to the boiling point.

Yesterday mass meetings were held by both parties. Dr. Lappe of Flint, Mich., addressed a large gathering at Victoria Hall for the temeprance interests, while an overflow meeting was in progress at the Grand Opera House, addressed by J. Earle Brown, attorney, of St. Johns, Mich., against local option.

In the evening Jos. Gibson, Ingersoll, replied to Mr. Brown at the Wellington street Church.

The organization of both parties is recognized as the most thorough of any campaign in the history of the city. The anti-optionists will not concede a majority in favor of the bylaw on an even vote.

Apron Caught Fire.

Port Hope, Dec. 27.—In attempting to remove a lid from the range in the Royal Hotel kitchen Saturday morning, Mrs. George Henderson, the cook, was almost fatally burned. That she was not burned to death is due only to the presence of mind of Charles Perry, the proprietor, who wrapped the woman in his coat, carried her out and rolled her in the snow.

Mrs. Henderson's apron had ignited and she ran about the kitchen in her frenzy. Mr. Perry is in bed as a result of his efforts, his face and hands being severely burned. Mrs. Henderson may recover. Dr. W. McKinley sending her to Toronto in fair condition.

Six weeks ago Mrs. Henderson joined the hotel staff, coming from Toronto.

An Attempt at Murder.

Vancouver, B.C., Dec. 27.—Eugene Cullity is in jail here charged with attempting to murder Raymond Miller in the Manitoba Hotel early Saturday morning.

The story is that Miller with two other men, Frank Gates and W. A. Pole, were in a room in the hotel when Cullity entered and attacked Miller with a knife. He was arrested later in the act of washing blood off his person. Miller is in the hospital in a serious condition. The other two eyewitnesses have been held as material witnesses.

Pope Makes Concession.

Rome, Dec. 27.—Bishop Bonomelli of Cremona, who is on intimate terms of friendship with the royal family, founded some time ago an institution for aiding the spiritual welfare of emigrants which the royal family and the Government assisted.

The Pope has now, on his own initiative, contributed $2,000 to the institution. This is the first instance of active, open co-operation between the Vatican and an institution founded under the auspices of the royal family and the Government.

Body Found In Pond.

Brantford, Ont., Dec. 27.—William Sehearn, farmer, of Townsend Township, was found in Waterford Pond Christmas Eve, after he had been missing a week.

It was reported that Sehearn carried $500 on his person at the time of his death.

The post-mortem examination showed no signs of foul play, but Dr Goold, Waterford, has ordered an inquest for Wednesday.

The deceased leaves three brothers and is well known.

Attempt to Shoot Editor.

Cairo, Ills., Dec. 27.—What is believed to have been an attempt to assassinate E. W. Thielecks, editor of The Bulletin, was made Friday night, when a shot was fired through the window of The Bulletin office. The bullet barely missed the editor's head.

The Bulletin has been aggressive in charging "graft" against the city police department. The Bulletin company offers a reward of $500 for the conviction of the person who fired at the editor.

Squire Nugent Dead.

London, Ont., Dec. 27.—Squire Nugent, for 29 years magistrate of Belmont Village, died yesterday afternoon, aged 68. He was well-known in Middlesex County, and for many years was quartermaster of the 26th Regiment.

To the Electors of the City of Peterborough:

To the Ratepayers,—

At the earnest solicitation of a large number of citizens, I have finally decided to come forward as a candidate for the Mayoralty. I am convinced that a forward and progressive policy for the city is essential.

Respectfully,

E. F. MASON.

Half Million to Employes.

Chicago, Dec. 27.—Half a million dollars distributed by the International Harvester Co.; approximately $400,000 by the R. T. Crane Co.—these instances tell only in part the story of the shower of Danae that has fallen in Chicago this Christmas tide.

The International Harvester Co.'s gift to employes, which reaches to far away Siberia, Africa and Australia, was announced by Cyrus H. McCormick, president of the mammoth concern. It will be distributed among 6,000 men and women in almost every section of the globe.

The Santa Claus remembrance represents the fourth annual profit-sharing distribution among the particularly worthy employes of the corporation and its affiliated companies.

Zelaya Has Fled.

Managua, Dec. 27.—Jose Santos Zelaya, the ex-President of Nicaragua, has taken himself out of the country and is now aboard the Mexican gunboat General Guerrero, bound for Salina Cruz.

Under the cover of darkness on Thursday morning Zelaya, accompanied by a heavily-armed guard, proceeded to Corinto, in which port the Mexican warship had been lying for several days, close beside the U. S. protected cruiser Albany. Other American warships swung at anchor in the harbor, with marines aboard, awaiting instructions. Zelaya's coming was unheralded, but a guard from the Guerrero received him and soon he was safe under the protection of the Mexican flag.

Dreadnoughts For Italy.

Rome, Dec. 27.—The Minister of Marine has determined that four Dreadnoughts will be launched in 1911. He has also decided to build two others at private dockyards, thus rendering it possible to complete three scout vessels at the same time in Government yards.

The essential cost of the vessels is $50,000,000, which is likely to be augmented by the hustle of building them in the time indicated.

Boy Shoots Chum.

Chatham, Dec. 27.—John Miller, aged 12, was accidentally shot and killed by a companion named Norton, while hunting rabits in Harton, while hunting rabbits in Harwich, Christmas morning.

Young Norton tried to stop the flow of blood and then ran swiftly for help, but on his return Miller was dead.

Train Dropped Into Station.

St. Paul, Dec. 27.—A Great Northern freight train got beyond control yesterday morning, ran for two miles on a down grade and into the union station. The locomotive crashed through two brick walls, landing in the basement of the station.

The engineer and fireman jumped, the latter sustaining a broken leg. The train was piled up across three tracks.

Apology to Scottish Scot.

Dresden, Dec. 27.—The Neueste Nachrichten publishes an apology for misrepresenting the facts in the Scott case and prints a letter from a member of the Freiberg Anglo-American Club telling the true story of the case. In its comments the same newspaper says:

"If the facts are as stated, Mr. Scott's expulsion must appear as a police measure of exaggerated severity."

This is a notable admission from a newspaper of The Nachrichten's views which are usually Chauvinist.

TORONTO
ORTHOPEDIC HOSPITAL
100 WEST BLOOR STREET, TORONTO, ONT.

Aims at keeping abreast with the latest and best surgical work to help those who have diseases of the nervous system, or paralysis

LAME, RUPTURED, CRIPPLED, DEFORMED

ART IN GOWGANDA.

The Prospectors Knew Fidelity to Nature When They Saw It.

Some men are art critics, and others know how to blast rock. Generally a broad chasm divides men who exercise one or the other of these talents.

Some of the miners who touch off dynamite are likely to fall in detecting the more subtle tones or outlines of a work of art.

Paint the picture of a miner eating soup from a sieve with a fork, and the miner will roar at the absurdity of the thing. I mention this because it is preliminary to the first wave of controversy that ever swept over the mining country, in which art detail was the inspiration.

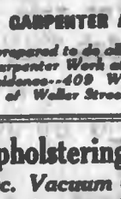
This is the way it happened: A new theatre was being erected on the Smyth side of Elk City, and an artist, one of the really good ones, was selected to paint the drop curtain.

He decided to paint a picture that the miners would appreciate. Forests of jack pine rose under the magic of his brush. Rushes were planted and thrived at proper places on the canvas. A mountain loomed up like a blue shadow far in the background. The water was so real that you could drown yourself in it.

Then came the crowning inspiration. In the centre of a river he painted a canoe in which two rough men were seated padding gracefully, thin sleeves rolled up to the elbows and muscles, standing out like cords, as the fragile craft was forced through the water. It was a fine picture. There was life and spirit in it. The artist thrilled with the pride of a man whose work, well done, was its own reward.

The night that the theatre opened there was an uproar in Elk City. The miners came in and seated themselves. Eyes were centred on the canvas. Men grew fidgety and could not look at the picture without getting nervous. Just what the trouble was they could not fathom until some one at the rear shouted: "Say, men, those fellers are both paddlin' on the one side."

That started the racket. The absurdity of the thing dawned on these men, who live half the time in their canoes. For days it was the talk of Elk City, and finally the management of the theatre removed the curtain altogether.



DR. A. W. CHASE'S CATARRH POWDER 25c.
Is sent direct to the diseased parts by the Improved Blower. Heals the ulcers, clears the air passages, stops droppings in the throat and permanently cures Catarrh and Hay Fever. 25c. blower free. Accept no substitutes. All dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Peterborough Club Rooms To Rent

Opposite Post Office, Hunter St. Steam heated, with private bath and lavatory. Will rent whole flat or dividual rooms. Temporary or a permanent lease. Apply to

Peterborough Business College

NOTICE TO CREDITORS

PURSUANT to a Winding-Up Order of the High Court of Justice made in the matter of THE PETERBOROUGH SHOVEL AND TOOL COMPANY, (LIMITED).

The creditors of the said The Peterborough Shovel and Tool Company, (Limited), are on or before the FIFTH DAY OF JANUARY, 1910, to send by post prepaid to E. C. S. Huycke, Esquire, Local Master at Peterborough, their Christian names and surnames, addresses and description, the full particulars of their claims, a statement of their securities and the nature of the securities held by them, or in default thereof they will be excluded from the benefit of the said Winding-Up Order. Every creditor holding any security is to produce the same before me at my Chambers, in the Court House, in the City of Peterborough, on the Sixth Day of January, 1910, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon being the time apointed for adjudication of the claims.

Dated this 23rd day of November, 1909.

HALL, HAYES & HALL,
Peterborough.
Solicitors for
The Toronto Trusts and Guarantee Co., Toronto, Liquidators.

E. C. S. HUYCKE,
Local Master at Peterborough.

Nov 27 Dec 4 11 18 25

A Beefsteak or Sirloin Roast for Dinner

Cut from our Prime Western Beef is the kind of Christmas Cheer we have to offer you.

Also, very fine young Lamb, Mutton, Pork and Veal with our own Special Cured Hams, delicately seasoned Sausage, and other toothsome trimmings to grace the Xmas table, Plump Turkeys, Geese, Chickens and Ducks galore.

Guess On Prize TURKEY

Everyone purchasing one dollars' worth or over at this Shop will be entitled to a guess on the weight of a Prize Turkey. The party guessing the nearest to its weight will get a Turkey Free.

Open evenings.

R. COX
461 George St.
Phone . . 39

J. N. Watson
PAINTING, GRAINING, PAPER HANGING AND DECORATING
54 Chambers Street — Behind Examiner Office

SINGER SEWING MACHINE COMPANY
J. W. STUART, Mgr. Office 347½ George St. Residence Phone 247. Office Phone

JAS. FROWDE
CARPENTER AND BUILDER
is prepared to do all kinds of first-class Carpenter Work at reasonable prices. Residence—409 Walton Street, south of Walker Street Peterborough.

Upholstering, Repairing,
Etc. Vacuum Carpet Cleaning. Some good Sofas for sale

A. R. Jackson
430 Water Street

Better Stock and More of It

Blooming Foliage and Cut FLOWERS
Choice Selections
—for—
New Year's Gifts

West-End Greenhouses

Take the Jackson Park Street Car. Car stops within a few yards of Greenhouses

547 Park St. Phone 21
Day and Night
DOWN-TOWN AGENCY—At White & Gillespie's Grocery, 336 George St.

When wanting a natty outfit for business or pleasure ring up
PULKINGHORN'S LIVERY
successor to Akey & Milburn
193 Hunter. 'Phone 278

The Evening Examiner.

ONE CENT A WORD
The Evening Examiner Want Ads. always bring results. For Sale, To-let, Losts-10 words-10c

12 PAGES PETERBOROUGH MONDAY DECEMBER 27 1909 PAGES 6 TO 12

Grand Opera House
TO-NIGHT
The Volunteer Organist
A PLAY OF ABSORBING INTEREST - - - HEAR THE FAMOUS BOY SOPRANOS PRICES:
25c, 35c, 50c and 75c

GOT THE CONTRACT

Wm. Hamilton Company Will Make and Install Pumping Engine and Water Wheel for the City of Hull.

SEVENTEEN TENDERS

The Council of the City of Hull met on Thursday night and formally accepted the tender of the William Hamilton Company to manufacture and install the pumping engine and water wheel required for the extension of their waterworks system.

A delegation composed of R. W. Farley, the City Engineer, Ald. J. Caron, Ex-Ald. Burns and T. A. Berthiaume, all practical engineers or mechanics, had visited Toronto, Guelph, Peterborough and other placed to inspect the different styles of pumps and systems installed in these cities. In Peterborough they saw the two pumps that have supplied the city with water for the last sixteen years, without costing one dollar for repairs. They also saw at the works of the William Hamilton Company, the new set of pumps that have just been completed and are now ready to be put in place as soon as the building is completed. They were thus able to examine in Peterborough, pumping engines manufactured by our local firm, both in operation and in the course of construction.

Out of seventeen different tenders submitted, the William Hamilton Company, although not by any means the lowest in price, secured the contract. It speaks well for our local firm, when it is considered they had to meet in competition such well known manufacturers of pumping engines as John Inglis Co., The Canada Foundry, John McDougall Catedonian Iron Works, and Grenfield & Kennedy, a British firm.

The pumping engine to be manufacture for the City of Hull is known as a triplex double acting plunger type. It will have six large cylinders, each of which will weigh over three tons. The plungers will be twenty-one inches in diameter by seven feet in length and will weigh upwards of three tons each also. The engine has a stroke of thirty six inches and will pump six million gallons of water every twenty-four hours against a pressure of 130 lbs. to the square inch. The total weight of this large pumping engine will be about seventy-five tons.

The designs and drawings are being made now by the engineering staff, and the work of manufacturing will begin in about two weeks.

OYSTERS ON THE SHELL
At S. A. OKE'S Meat, Fruit and Provision Store
340 George St. 'Phone 275
3d-1-7

WILL TEACH HERE

Perth Collegiate Institute Teacher Coming to Peterborough.

Perth, Dec. 27.—G. A. Ferguson, who has resigned his position in the Collegiate Institute, to go to Peterborough, was yesterday presented by the pupils with a handsomely bound set of Dickens' works.

WILL BE EXCISEMAN

Mr. Geo. E. Elliott is Appointed to the Inland Revenue Office.

Mr. George E. Elliott has been appointed Exciseman at the Inland Revenue office, Peterborough, and will commence his duties on Monday, 3rd of January. The work of the Peterborough office has, for years, been gradually increasing until now the receipts are greater than Lindsay, Cobourg and Port Hope combined, and the work, having grown proportionately, necessitated additional assistance to the Collector.

THE HEART A GREAT WORKER
What a wonder is the heart! Day and night it works away pumping tens of blood through the body and never tires or wears out so long as it is supplied with rich, red blood, such as is formed by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. While sending supplies of nutrition to other parts of the body the heart renews and rebuilds its own wasted cells and so retains health and strength.

Morrow For Mayor

PETERBOROUGH PEOPLE WERE INJURED IN WRECK OF EXPRESS

D. L. Carewe and Miss M. Wallace Were Two of the Passengers on the Winnipeg Train Which Plunged Down Embankment Near Chapleau--Mr. Carewe Had an Exciting Experience Which He Will Not Soon Forget

Several Peterborough people were on board the C. P. R. Winnipeg-Toronto express which met with disaster early Friday morning, near North Bay and are numbered among the injured. Mr. David Carewe, brother of Mrs. R. Sheridan, East City, was one o fthese and another was Miss Wallace. Both of them were badly shaken up and bruised, but may be considered as having escaped luckily.

"It was a queer experience," remarked Mr. Carewe to the Examiner this morning. "I was sleeping soundly at the time and did not know what had happened or where I was when I woke up. I must have got a bang on the head as soon as the accident happened and was unconscious when the car rolled down the embankment. All I know is that when I woke up I found myself lying in an almost empty car. I saw men carrying a woman out, but all the other passengers had disappeared, and I did not realize for a few minutes that there had been a wreck. In fact, until I crawled out of the car and up on to the track I did not know what was the matter. Some fifteen passengers were hurt, and the one doctor, who was fortunately on board, had his hands full, looking after them. We were delayed some eight or ten hours, and did not reach Peterborough until noon on Saturday. I was not in very good shape to eat the Christmas turkey either.

Mr. Carewe escaped with an injured side and some bruises on the face, and in addition was badly shaken up. He is a resident of Norwood, a suburb of Winnipeg, and was on his way home to Peterborough to spend Christmas.

A North Bay despatch says:

North Bay, Dec. 24.—Whirling along through the night the Toronto express from the west was making good time one the lonely White River section of the C. P. R., flying past the small stations and meagre settlements of this thinly-populated region, while the engineer, with his hand ever on the throttle, was anxiously watching the powerful headlight flash on rock, muskeg and dense bush as the thought of the many human lives in his keeping quickened his pulses and tightened his muscles. A sudden ominous jerk and shrieking of twisting, rending steel behind warned the master of the mighty locomotive that his train was in danger, and the reversing mechanism was instantly brought to bear to check the headway of the train. Looking back, the engine crew were horrified to see five of the cars rearing and plunging like frightened horses, and then disappear down the embankment.

Train was Crowded.

The train was a heavy one, consisting of twelve cars, and the coaches were jammed to the doors with passengers from the golden west coming east to visit relatives and friends. As the night wore on and midnight passed the weary passengers in the day coaches tried to sleep, and all had found the most comfortable positions possible under the crowded conditions while pleasant thoughts of Christmas joys were soothing tired brains, when suddenly the crash came, the cars lurched and swayed drunkenly, and passengers were thrown violently against each other and the seats, while many were hurled to the floor, and the air was filled with suitcases, grips and parcels. The lights went out and the cries of the injured and frightened in the darkness turned the quietness of a moment before into an inferno.

Injuries Were Light.

Fortunately, it was only a matter of moments before all were outside on solid ground, and while many were suffering from minor injuries of cuts and bruises, only three were injured at all severely. The speedy arrival of Dr. Sheehan from White River allayed all anxiety as to the injured passengers. Those in the Pullman cars escaped with a shaking up. Joseph Gilmour of Toronto, a man of 70 years, travelling east with his daughter, was thrown violently to the floor, and is suffering from an injured shoulder. After a delay of eight hours the passengers were enabled to continue their journey, and all elected to go through to their homes rather than stop in Sudbury for hospital attention.

Baggage Car Truck Broke.

It was pitch dark at 1 o'clock this morning when the accident occurred. The train was then twent-two miles east of Missinabie, and some distance west of Chapleau, a spot noted in the annals of railway disasters. Suddenly a truck under the baggage car, overloaded with luggage as it was, broke down and the cars immediately following ran off the track with it, and rolled down the steep embankment.

The minutes that followed were full of excitement, and the air was full of the cries of frightened and injured passengers, struggling to get free from the debris, which filled the cars. Awakened, as most of them were from sleep, without premonition of disaster, their terrible experience in rolling over the stones and down the decline, created a feeling of panic. Three of the coaches were colonist cars, in which the people were packed to the limit.

Seven Cars Remained on Track.

Fortunately seven cars remained on the rails, else the accident might have gone on record as one of the most serious of railway accidents.

It is believed none of the passengers were fatally injured, though three were very painfully hurt. They elected to continue their journey east in order not to miss the Christmas festivities.

Fourteen other passengers received minor injuries, consisting of cuts and bruises, which will not prevent them proceeding.

Traffic was reopened after a delay ofeight hours and the train proceeded with the passengers from the overturned cars crowded into the cars which had remained on the rails.

The cars which plunged down the embankment knocked over telegraph poles, making it difficult to get further details, and the list of injured was not available until the train reached Chapleau.

No sooner did the passengers on the other cars realize the misfortune that had happened to their less favourable fellows than they rushed to the rescue and rendered every possible relief to the injured. The anxiety felt by relatives rushing about to learn the fate of their loved ones was pathetic.

The train was an unusually heavy one of twelve coaches, each of them crammed with people, some even standing up part of the journey. The Christmas rush east this year has been fairly a stampede, far exceeding anything that has occurred in other years.

Series Of Lectures Is Arranged For Normal School

The Education Department has arranged for a course of Friday evening lectures to be delivered in the Assembly Hall of the Peterborough Normal School as follows:

Jan. 7—Prof. A. C. McKay, Chancellor of McMaster University.

Jan. 21—Prof. A. P. Knight, Queen's University.

Feb. 4—Inspector C. B. Edwards, London.

Feb. 18—Prof. A. Carruthers, Toronto.

Feb. 25—Miss Warnock.

March 18—Prof. J. C. McLennan, Toronto.

Prof McKay will give an illustrated lecture on "Astronomy."

Prof. Knight, an illustrated lecture on "Medical Inspection of Schools."

Mr. Edwards will lecture on "Some Important Factors in Education."

Prof. Carruthers will give an illustrated lecture on "Greek Architecture."

Miss Warnock will speak on "Canadian Literature."

Prof. McLennan will give an illustrated lecture, the topic of which will be announced later.

These lectures are open to the public and no further invitations will be given therefor.

BRAKEMAN KILLED

George Lewis, a G.T.R. Employee Living in Havelock, Victim of Accident.

Special to The Examiner.

Belleville, Ont., Dec. 27th.—George Lewis, a G.T.R. brakeman, was instantly killed at the local station yesterday. He stepped out from between two freight cars right in front of the express. The body was sent to Lewis' home in Havelock for burial. He was about 30 years old.

Morrow For Mayor

LEFT HER HUSBAND

Mrs. Torrey of Montreal Admits That After Seven Years of Marriage She Left Home—Her Lover Tried to Commit Suicide.

CAME TO MONTREAL

Examiner Special.

Montreal, Dec. 21.—A sensational development has now taken place in the case of Mrs. Maude Torrey and William Ellingwood, the young man who has shot himself probably fatally, on the upper Lachine Road, the other night. It now appears that Mrs. Torrey is not a widow, as she first affirmed, but has a husband living in Hanover, Mass.

A message was received from him this morning, saying:

"Ellingwood has hypnotized my wife. The elopers will be forgiven."

Mrs. Torrey, when confronted with this telegram admitted that it was true she had left Hanover, three weeks ago to join Ellingwood in Montreal. But she declares she left her husband last March for the last time, with the understanding that he was to start divorce proceedings in April. She was married to him seven years ago at the age of seventeen, and ever since she claims he has been ill-treating her.

Time after time she left him and went to live with her mother, only to go back to him on his promise to treat her better. She left him for the last time in March, going to Brockton, Mass., to work in a factory. Her husband asked her to return. She would not trust him again and says she will not do so now. She says she will stay in Montreal until Ellingwood recovers or dies.

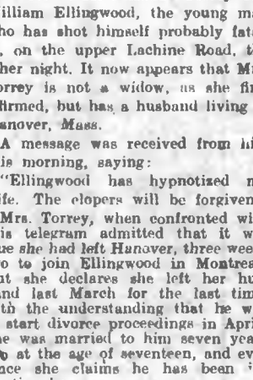
As for her husband saying that she has been hypnotized by Ellingwood she says she left him long before she ever saw Ellingwood. She also makes counter charges against her husband.

Chief of Police Belec, of Notre Dame deGrace, has taken out a warrant for the arrest of William Ellingwood, who is lying at the Western Hospital recovering from a determined attempt at suicide, and that young man is now under arrest. As soon as he is able to leave the hospital he will be taken before Recorder Decarie of Notre Dame de Grace, who will send him to the city police court for trial.

Miss Maude Torrey, the young widow for whose sake Ellingwood tried to kill himself, was much upset this morning when she learned that her lover had been placed under arrest.

"We will certainly fight the case," she exclaimed. She said The Herald she exclaimed. She said that though she had barely enough money to take her to Boston when she left the other day, on coming back from Newport, Vt., where the telegram had met her, she had sent home for funds, and was now comfortably fixed.

"Will was worrying a little over this," she said. "I hope the arrest won't make him any worse."



MR. GEO. E. ELLIOTT,
Who has been appointed Exciseman in connection with the Inland Revenue Office.

THREE LOSE LIVES

Eating House Near Englehart Burned to the Ground.

Special to The Examiner.

Englehart, Ont., Dec. 27.—The Hayes stopping place, 9 miles from the Lake burned this morning, and Mrs. Hayes and two children lost their lives. The building was a eating house of the prevailing frame type.

W. G. MORROW AND E. F. MASON TOE THE MARK FOR MAYORALTY RACE

Nominations This Morning for Vacancies in Civic Departments---W. H. Moore Re-elected by Acclamation to Board of Water Commissioners---Long List of Nominees for Seven Seats Around Aldermanic Board.

For Mayor.

WILLIAM GEORGE MORROW, Loan Co. Manager, proposed by T. F. Matthews, seconded by Wm. Langford.

ERNEST FREDERICK MASON, Merchant, proposed by R. Hicks, seconded by James Bogue.

For Water Commissioner.

WILLIAM HENRY MOORE, proposed by T. F. Matthews, seconded by V. Eastwood. (Elected by acclamation.)

For Board of Education.

WILLIAM FRANKLIN NELSON, proposed by A. F. Poussette, seconded by Jno. Carlisle.

THOMAS HENRY ADAMS, proposed by W. H. Moore, seconded by W. G. Howden.

GEORGE BURNHAM, proposed by R. Hicks, seconded by G. E. Elliott.

JOHN WESLEY MILLER, proposed by John Williams, seconded by J. B. McWilliams.

ANDREW McFARLANE, proposed by Geo. H. Duncan, seconded by Wm. Langford.

DAVID WILLIAM DUMBLE, proposed by Wm. Yelland, seconded by W. H. Moore.

JOHN CRANE, proposed by Wm. Langford, seconded by G. E. Elliott.

WILLIAM HENRY HILL, proposed by Thos. J. Wilson, seconded by R. Hicks.

WILLIAM S. ROBINSON, proposed by W H. Bradburn, seconded by Thos. J. Wilson.

ROBERT G. KINGAN, proposed by J. J. Hartley, seconded by D Belleghem.

For Aldermen, Two Year Term.

ARCHIBALD ALEXANDER McINTYRE, proposed by D. Belleghem, seconded by Joseph Barnard.

GEO. H. DUNCAN, proposed by J. J. Hartley, seconded by H. C. Stabler

WILLIAM JAMES JOHNSTON, proposed by Wm. Yelland, seconded by D. Belleghem.

WILLIAM HERBERT BRADBURN, proposed by T. F. Matthews, seconded by J. H. Sherwood.

JOHN C. ANDERSON, proposed by T. C. Elliott, seconded by W. J. Henry

JOHN JAMES TURNER, Jr, proposed by T. Elliott, seconded by J. Edgar.

JAMES G. GRAHAM, proposed by Wm. Yelland, seconded by W. J. Henry.

THOMAS H. HOOPER, proposed by James Edgar, seconded by S. A. Oke.

JOSEPH RUTHERFORD METHERAL, proposed by Wm. Yelland, seconded by John Williams.

JOHN J. HOWDEN, proposed by J. Edgar, seconded by W. H. Meldrum.

WILLIAM H. TAYLOR, proposed by Geo. E. Elliott, seconded by Archie Moore.

SAMUEL DICKSON HALL, proposed by R. Sheehy, seconded by W. H. Meldrum.

CHARLES H. J. MITCHELL, proposed by R. F. McWilliams, seconded by Geo. E. Elliott.

ARCHIBALD RICHARD MOORE, proposed by J. R. Metherall, seconded Wm. Carter.

BERNARD LANTAK, proposed by T. Williams, seconded by Alex. Elliott.

NOAH T. LAPLANTE, proposed by Wm. Yelland, seconded by H. Carveth.

JOHN SAWERS, proposed by Geo. E. Elliott, seconded by W. H. Meldrum.

JOSEPH JAMES DUFFUS, proposed by Wm. Langford, seconded by W. H. Meldrum.

DICKSON DAVIDSON, proposed by W. R. Morris, seconded by G. L. Hay.

To Fill the Vacancy Caused by Ald. Morrow's Retirement.

ARICHIBALD A. McINTYRE, proposed by W. H. Meldrum, seconded by J. H. Sherwood.

JOSEPH BATTEN, proposed by J. B. McWilliams, seconded by John Williams.

WILLIAM HERBERT BRADBURN, proposed by A. McCarthy, seconded by H. C. Stabler.

GEORGE H. DUNCAN, proposed by John Sawers, seconded by R. J. Soden

The solve are the list of nominees for the different civic positoins that will become vacant at the end of the present year. The Council chamber was crowded this morning during the hours open for nominations and the interest that is felt generally may be judged by the large number that were present and by the manner in which the assembly listened to the various speakers displayed a deep concern in the proceedings. The assembly was composed mostly of business men who snatched an hour or two from their desks and not a few were labourers whom the weather ha dthrown out of work. It might well eb termed a representative crowd. Up to ten o'clock only a handful had gathered and shortly afterwards Mr. W. H. Moore was proposed for the position he had just vacated on the Board of Water Commissioners. No other nominations for this position were received within the allotted hour of ten to eleven and City Clerk Armstrong who had charge of the proceedings announced his election by acclamation. The nominations for the mayoralty and the vacancies on the Board of Education were received and are as stated above. The aldermanic nominations were filed between 12 and one o'clock and it will be noticed that one list is for a two year term. Six aldermen will be elected from this number and one alderman will be elected for one year to fill the vacancy caused by Ald. Morrow's resignation. Five vacancies are to be filled on the Board of Education. Between eleven and twelve o'clock Mr. W. H. Moore and the mayoralty candidates were given an opportunity of addressing the assembled citizens. The former was first called upon.

Those candidiates who intend to stand for election must qualify at the City Clerk's office before nine o'clock on Tuesday evening, December 28th.

List of Addresses.

Mr. Moore thanked the assembly for the signal honour shown him by his unopposed nomination and consequent election by acclamation. He had been a member of the Board of Water Commissioners for six years, and appreciated the trust thus imposed upon him and the expression of the citizens' approval of what he had done as a member of the Board. Mr. Moore referred to the new dam, which has been under construction since June, and stated that on its completion it will be one of the best waterworks possesed by any city in the province. This work was fully explained in Friday night's issue of the Examiner. He also spoke of the by-law for $15,000 for the erection of a power house in connection with the pumping station. This by-law had been defeated by the citizens last year but the Commissioners had provided for a substructure which may be built up and a power house erected. The foundation is practically laid now and the harnessing of the power is a matter of future consideration. A surplus of 900 h.p. will be at the service of the city, and 250 h.p. at $15.06 per h.p. will provide a fund which with the water rates will enable the commissioners to erect the dam without costing the citizens a cent. Six hundred horse power will remain for the city's use, and can be supplied to manufacturers at a price that will be as favourable as is offered by any municipality in the country.

When the Commissioners took over the waterworks six years ago there were 17 miles of mains, 129 hydrants, and 1,070 services. To-day there are 34 miles of pipe, 235 hydrants and 2,786 services. Mr Moore again thanked the citizens for the expression of their confidence and hoped to see the system steadily improved in the future.

Ald. Morrow's Address.

By the arrangement of the gentlemen who proposed the two candidates for the Mayoralty, each was allotted twenty minutes during which to address the assembled citizens. Ald Morrow, who was the first nominee, stated that in response to the request of a large number of representative citizens he had consented to go before the electors of Peterborough as a candidate for the Mayoralty. He has been largely influenced by his long citizenship, his interest in the welfare of the city and particularly in its manufacturing and industrial advancement. He had served for three years on the City Council, first as Chairman of the Manufacturers' Committee. During the coming year some of the most important questions that will require the Council's attention are the extension of the sewer system in the south west section of the city; building of permanent roadways and the handling of the power question, which has been under consideration for several years. Ald. Morrow referring to Mr. Moore's remarks, reverted to the by-law that had been defeated by the people a year ago said the engineer who had prepared the plans suggested the erection of a power plant on the east side of the river. It was estimated that it would give the city a surplus of from 900 to 1,200 h.p. The Council thought that it would be a mistake to allow the water to run over the sluices without turning a wheel for power purposes. The citizens at that time, however, turned the by-law down, but the Commis

Continued on Page 6.

LET OUT ON PAROLE

Charles Mitchell, Who Was Sentenced to Three Years in Kingston Penitentiary, Allowed Out After Serving Eleven Months.

IS HERE TO-DAY

Charles Mitchell, who, in January last, was sentenced to three years in the Kingston Penitentiary, arrived in Peterborough on Saturday morning, after having served eleven months. Mitchell, it will be remambered, was found guilty of having robbed His Majesty's mails, but in recognition of his good behaviour during his incarceration, he was allowed out on parole. He was given his freedom Friday night and came on the first train to Peterborough.

THE MAYORALTY.

At to-day's nominations two candidates for the mayoralty were nominated; ex-Alderman Morrow, who resigned at the last meeting of the council to make him eligible for election as Mayor, and ex-Alderman E. A. Mason, a former member of the Council.

Mr. Morrow is well qualified by virtue of his aldermanic services and otherwise, to make a good and acceptable mayor of Peterborough. It was generally expected that when, some time ago, he announced his candidature, that he would be allowed to be returned by acclamation, but in the exercise of a fully recognised right another candidate has entered the field.

Mr. Morrow has had a capital business training in the management of large interests, which has necessarily developed his natural administrative ability, and given him a business and financial connection and influence that will enable him to be of service to the city in negotiations that are pretty certain to arise in the matter of industrial extension. His intimate and material identification with large local interests is such that any course of action that would affect the city unfavourably would also prejudice these interests in a similar manner; so that, if no higher motive were brought into bear, self-interest would dictate a policy that would promote the best interests of Peterborough.

Mr. Morrow is actively identified with several important local industrial enterprises and has more than usual stake in the progress and upbuilding of the city. In this connection, as well as in his aldermanic services he has shown a happy combination of enterprise and prudence, and the possession of good, sound judgment, without which business ability and other ability is as an engine without a balance wheel. He ras declared himself in favour of the only sound policy in regard to administration of our streets expenditure; that will tend to permaneney, and in this way obviate the great waste of public money year after year upon work that is so temporary and makeshift in its character that its usefulness is gone even sometimes before the bills are paid.

During the coming year important negotiations with a powerful railway corporation are sure to arise, on matters that affect the interest of the city most vitally and whose outcome will have far-reaching and fortunate or unfortunate results for the future as these negotiations are skilfully or unskilfully handled on the part of the city authorities. In such matters Mr. Morrow is, and will be, able to bring to his assistance interests that can exercise an influence with a railway such as can be hoped for in no other way—an interest that has always been strongly and effetcively brought to bear in the promotion of the industrial and other welfare of the city—the most powerful individual financial influence in Canada, which through Mr. Morrow's connection can be more actively enlisted upon the side of Peterborough.

Mr. Mason, Mr. Morrow's opponent, is an excellent member of the School Board and a conscientious, upright business man. No one will seriously question his business sability or his title to the good reputation he enjoys. But only one of the candidate can be elected. The choice is between Mr. Morrow and Mr. Mason, and the Examiner in comomn with hundreds of the most deeply interested citizens, feels that at the present time the best interests of the city will be best served by the election of Mr. W. G. Morrow as Mayor of Peterborough for 1910.

Daily Examiner.

The Circulation of The Evening Examiner is now over

3000

COPIES

Sworn to and Guaranteed Detailed Statement for the year on application

The Daily Examiner, published every lawful evening, by The Peterborough Examiner, Limited. Office, 419 George Street.

The Weekly Examiner, published every Thursday morning.

The subscription price of The Daily Examiner is $4.00 per annum: that of The Weekly, $1.00.

R. M. GLOVER, Managing Director.

Advertising Rates on application.

"Peterborough Means Progress."

MONDAY, DECEMBER 27, '09

LITTLE BUT LARGE.

The action of the Dominion Government in applying a policy of conservation of our national resources of flood and forest, is a most praiseworthy one, not only through its general application by the medium of the conservation commission, but specially in reference to the conservation of the tributary waters of the Trent Canal watershed. A day or two ago the Examiner contained a reference to a further movement in this direction. The estimates for the year 1910-11, contain, in addition to a very generous appropriation for construction work on the canal—$1,750,000—an appropriation of $12,000 for conservation dams in this district. Of this sum $4,000 is to be devoted to the construction of a new dam at White Lake on the east branch of the Burnt River. Another $4,000 goes to building a new dam on Devil's Lake, also on the east branch of the Burnt River, the remaining $4,000 to be devoted to a dam of more immediate interest to Peterobrough, because nearer to the city. A new dam is to be built at Jack's Lake to control the waters passing through Jack's Creek to Stony Lake. These dams will be built of concrete and will practically for all time be effective factors in conserving the waters of the back lakes and streams. The Jack's Lake dam in the township of Methuen is perhaps the most important of the new dams. The lake has an area of 4,196 acres, including its tributary streams, and by the proposed dam an eleven foot head will be provided. In addition to these dams smaller structures are provided for. A timber dam is to constructed at Dinner Bay in the Deer Bay watershed, which together with Fair, Buzzard and Poplar lakes will make an area of 460 acres.

With the incompiete conservation system previously in operation, the water powers of Peterborough have felt the great benefit in a practically uninterrupted flow of water sufficient for power purposes even in the extremely scarce season of last winter, when the power of Ottawa and other places was shut off from lack of water, an immense loss, industrially and in the matter of employment of labour. The conservation of the Trent water system in its improved condition, resulting from the construction of the proposed dams, will insure even in the dryest seasons double the flow there would be at dry seasons of the year. When we see the splendid results from conservation works in the Trent Valley watershed, we must admit that the expenditure made and to be made by the Dominion government is fully justified. The money is well spent. Criticism is directed against the allaged extravagant expenditure of the Goevrnment, especially upon minor works all over the country. The whole country contributes a large revenue and it seems to be the right way of disposing of it to return a liberal share of it to the people in the form of wharves, dredging and other minor improvements. As in the case of the water conservation dams in this district, only those who live in the districts benentted can adequately appreciate the value of the improvements, which may seem trivial to those at a distance. With an abundant revenue, the government is doing the right thing in providing widely distributed public mprovements, possibly of minor importance in the grand aggregate, but individually and locally, matters of great value. It is a case where comparatively little things become relatively great.

BRITAINS ENORMOUS TRADE

The efforts of the House of Lords to sidetrack the budget issue and substitute therefore a cry for tariff reform, do not seem to be meeting with success, and the chief reason for these failrures is not hard to seek. The British Board of Trade returns for November, which were issued on December 7, show that the tide has turned and tha tthe Mother Country is again experiencing a period of great prosperity.

Of the imports there was an increase as compared with 1908 of £7,492,000 in raw materials, no less than £4,021,357 of which was in raw cotou ,which marks the great revival of that Lancashire industry. Next in order come oils, etc., £764,078 more; wood and timbr, £560,682 more ;hides and undressed skins, £290,277, and miscellaneous ores, £233,851. All these improvements presage very well indeed for British industry. Manufactured articles increased not more than £2,048,921, the largest increase being £273,067 in miscellaneous metals, and the next £201,490 in leather goods, including gloves. Food, drink, etc., increased by £2,158,079, chiefly in dutiable imports.

The exports of British manufactures show an increase as compared with oNvember 1908, amounting to £3,336,483, the leading item being a gain in the cotton goods, which were £1,577,139 up. Wood improved by £505,504 iron and steel by £442,555, chemicals by £225,518, and miscellaneous textiles by £222,996. On the other hand, machinery exhibits a comparative decline of £239,078, and new ships have not yet come in with an increase, being £129,461 less. There was an increase of £368,819 in the exports of food, drink and tobacco.

It is noted that the November returns show beter results in British manufactured exports than those in the corresponding month of 1908 and even of the banner year of Britain's trade. Many of the industries which the Tariff Reformers put in the "vanishing" and "doomed" list, notably tin plates and cement, anow substantial gains.

Taking the figures for the eleven months of the year the expansion appears in more striking fashion. There has been the enormous aggregate increase of between thirty-four and thirty-five million pounds in the trade turnover of the country as compared with last year. It is true that the bulk of the increase is in imports, but considering that more than half of this increase (£15,629,075, to be exact) was in raw materials to supply the workshops and factories of the United Kingdom, the talk about vanishing industries" appears to lost much of its force. During the whole of the eleven months the increase in the imports of manufactured articles over 1908 amounted to only £3,480,303. and, according to the forecasts of the Board of Trade officials, the full returns for 1909 promise to make an equally good showing.

When we consider that the total trade of Britain in the eleven months of this year reached the studendous total of £990,000,000, that the receipts from income tax, the savings bank reposits and the London bank clearings, representing the savings of the masses and the employment of capital, have grown steadiyl, we may readily see that the "blue ruinists" of the Mother Country have rather an uphill fight before them, and that in matters of trade it is not wise to dogmatise. The United States may prosper under protection, Canada under a revenue tariff, and Great Britain under a policy of free trade, all at one and the same time.—Brantford Expositor.

Do You Need Shaking?

Like a Stove Choked with Ashes.

You have probably noticed how much more briskly the fire burns when freshly built or shaken. You doubtless remember too, how much more briskly you used to get around when you were in your 'teens or twenties.

The cases are parallel You are like the fire that is choked with ashes.

The cells which compose the body are constantly dying and being renewed. Then there is the indigestible part of the food to be removed. This cleansing of the body is the duty of the bowels, kidneys and skin. When any of these organs fail to do their work properly, the system becomes clogged and the fire of life burns low.

There is an increasing tendency towards constipation, kidney trouble and poisoned blood as one grows older. In most cases, the need is felt of something to regulate these vital organs.

"Fruit-a-tives" the famous fruit medicine, does this perfectly. It acts directly on the liver, increasing the flow of bile and causes the bowels to move regularly and naturally. "Fruit-a-tives" is the greatest of kidney regulators, overcoming the tendency to congestion of the kidneys and strengthening these organs. "Fruit-a-tives also stimulates the skin to renewed action.

By their combined action on bowels, kidneys and skin, "Fruit-a-tives" keeps the system free of all poisons and renews the vigor of youth.

"Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c—or may be obtained from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

MORE SUBSCRIPTIONS

Children's Aid Society Acknowledge Receipt of Further Donations.

The Children's Aid Society beg to acknowledge the receipt of the following:

Friend	$3.00
Friend	5.00
Committee Judge Roger banquet	3.00
R. Fair & Co.	5.00
Mrs. Pearce	2.00
Mrs. Hazlitt	5.00
Mrs. Walsh	5.00
J. W. Bennet	10.00
B. F. Ackerman	5.00
Friend	100

W. F. MORROW AND E. F. MASON FOR THE MAYORALTY

(Continued from Page 7.)

sioners assured Mr. Morrow that they would make provision for future power development at the water works dam should it be decided to harness the water that is now going to waste there. The 900 h.p., which would be at the city's disposal, if sold at $15 a h.p., would bring in $13,500. This would enable the commissioners to cut the water rate into two, or even reduce it by three quarters of what it is at present.

Mr. Morrow presented a statement of the city's finances, which, on account of its length, will be published in Tuesday's issue.

An Old Friend.

"My opponent in this election," Mr. Morrow stated, has been my friend since boyhood, and I trust that our friendship will not be interrupted by this campaign. In conclusion, I would like the elector to consider my record in dealing with civic affairs, and if it meets with their approval I trust they will give me their hearty influence and support. It will be my aim to forward the interests of Peterborough in every direction possible.

"I am pledged to neither class nor party, and I will receive all questions and consider them with a free and unbiased judgment."

Mr. T. F. Matthews.

Mr. T. F. Matthews seconded the nomination of Ald. Morrow, and stated that he was pleased to back up his sentiment. Of all the citizens available for the position of Mayor he looked upon Ald. Morrow as the best candidate. His record on the Council has been clear and in every respect a most favourable one. The citizens could make no mistake in electing him." Mr. Mason is a good man in every respect, but Mr. Morrow is my choice. I am pleased to see that he has included in his platform permanent roads. The people, I believe, want to see permanent roadways and also permanent bridges over the Otonabee. I am pleased to have the privilege of proclaiming myself a supporter of Mr. Morrow."

Mr. William Langford.

"I have admired Mr. Morrow on the Council, and have been pleased with the manner in which he has looked after the city's interests. If he were not connected with the Council I am sure he would take a deep interest in Peterborough's welfare, and since he has been on the Council he has proved his ability. If he is elected Mayor I am sure he will put forth his best efforts. I feel that he will help every man who owns a piece of property in this city."

Mr. Mason's Address.

"Some time ago," Mr. Mason stated, "I was requested to come out as a candidate for the Mayoralty. I did not desire it, but my friends and a large number of citizens have persistently urged me to come out even in the face of such opposition. Since they have had the confidence to make me their nominee I will not imply that their confidence is misplaced by declining the compliment. My fellow citizens know better perhaps than I how my work as Chairman of the Finance Committee pleased them. The rates were lower then than they had previously been or have since been. I looked after every detail. My policy was to go into the work with my heart and soul, and to carry it out in the very best interests of the people. I do not appeal on any one issue, but upon the broad and general welfare of the city. I will not take any stand in connection with the hotel men or the temperance party. I have not, as has been reported, given one cent as a subscription to either party. You have only my word for it and nothing stands better than a man's word in this city. My record is there for your inspection and I will put it up against that of any other chairman of the Finance Committee for years back."

Ald. Hicks, who moved the nomination of Mr. Mason, spoke in his behalf. Before concluding the meeting Ald. Morrow stated that last year there had been a great scarcity of labour and the labouring class had but little to do. In view of this the Board of Works decided to spend the city's money, providing work for these men, and for that reason the expenses of the Board for that year had been larger than usual. It had, however, been spent in the city, as it was felt that it was preferable to provide work than to spend the money dispensing charity, as would have been the case.

By this time it was the noon hour and City Clerk Armstrong called for the nomination of candidiates for the seven vacancies on the Aldermanic Board.

HOW CROUP IS DREADED

If there is any warning use Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine and prevent the terrible struggle of the little one for breath. If you know nothing of it till the struggle comes, cause the child to vomit and then use Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine frequently in small doses to prevent repeated attacks This great medicine is wonderfully effective in curing croup and bronchitis.

Morrow For Mayor

UNCLE WALT---THE POET PHILOSOPHER

Now there'll be no retrogression, for our congress is in session, and the gobblins that affright us will be forced to take a walk; and the ills that hover o'er us and the grievances that bore us will be driven to the timber, if there's anything in talk. Is the nation CONGRESS AT WORK torn and bleeding, worn by tariff talk, and needing something soothing that will help her to recover from the shock? Is she facing frightful horrors? There's a cure for all her sorrers; Doctor Congress will prescribe it, and its Latin name is Talk. Are we loaded down with taxes? Do we daily get the axes where the turkey got the cleaver when its head was on the block? Congress all our woes will banish; every gall and sore will vanish; and we'll all march on to glory in the radiance of Talk. You have spoken truly, sonny; congress costs a lot of money, but we couldn't do without it, so it isn't wise to knock; even though it is expensive, I am rather apprehensive that without it we'd be fussing for the winter run of talk!

Walt Mason

FIRST CHRISTMAS AT THE NEW CHURCH

The first Christmas in the Church of the Sacred Heart was celebrated Saturday. The first mass was at 5.30 a.m., and was a high mass. They were continued without an interruption until the last, at 10.30 o'clock. Rev. Father Hurley assisted Rev. Dr. O'Brien. The altar was beautifully decorated with flowers presented by members of the parish. The singing at the 5.30 and 10.30 o'clock masses was very good. The solos were taken by Miss Annie Simons and Mr. Ed. Keon, tenor, and Mr. J. H. Quinlan, bass.

WHAT IT WILL DO

A woman buys a sewing machine for what it will do; not as an article of furniture. A man carries a watch to tell him the time; not as an investment of surplus capital. The same principle when one is ill. We want the medicine of the treatment which will relieve and cure. The friend in need must be a friend indeeed—something or somebdy, with a reputation, with a good record, with a history that justifies our confidence. There should be no guesswork in treating diseases. People have the right to know what a medicine is, and what it will do, before they take it. It must have behind it an open record of benefit to others for the same disease, a series of cures that proves its merit and inspires confidence. It is because it has such a record that is bought and used without hesitation or doubt. Its Good Name is the solid basis for the faith the people have in it; and a good name has to be earned by good deeds. For the purpose for which it is commended it is honest, true and practical. It does what you have a right to expect it to do. It is palatable as honey and contains all the curative properties of pure Cod Liver Oil, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hyphophosptites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. In Scrofula, Anaemia, Nervous and General Debility, Influenza, Blood Impurities and Wasting Complaints, it is to be thoroughly relied upon. Dr. J. B. O. says: "I have had remarkable success with it in the treatment of Consumption, Chronic Bronchitis, Catarrh and Scrofulous affections. It is of special value in nervous prostration and depraved nutrition; it stimulates the appetite and the digestion, promotes assimilation, and enters directly into the circulation with the food. I consider it a marvellous success in medicine." Every dose effective., "You cannot be disappointed in it." All chemists. Warne Drug Co.

FERROL TASTELESS

SHOT BY FATHER

Sixteen Year Old Boy Accidentally Injured is Not Expected to Recover.

St. Catharines, Ont., Dec. 27.—Chas. Liney 16 years old was accidentally shot by a rifle in his fathers' hands, while the latter was setting a muskrat trap near Lock 13, of the Welland Canal. The bullet entered above the boys' ear and his prospects of recovery are slight.

Morrow For Mayor

CHRISTMAS SUGGESTIONS

EVERYTHING NEW THIS YEAR

Toilet Sets

Values from ..... $2 to $15

Fancy Perfumes

In Pleasing Boxes, real Flower Odours, prices ..... 25c to $5

Lowney's Chocolates

25c to $2.00

ASK FOR OUR '10 CALENDAR

J. D. TULLY

DRUGGIST

Auction Sale

Fire Sale of Boots & Shoes by Auction

I will sell by Public Auction at No. 247 George Street, the balance of Stock of Boots and Shoes, for Men, Women, Misses and Children, all of which must be sold without any reserve before the first of January, 1910.

Sale will commence on Tuesday, the 28th of December, at half past seven p.m. and each night until January 1st.

JOHN HAGGART, Auctioneer.

2d 8631

Something You Want to Buy ? You Want to Sell ? Or is it a House or Rooms To Rent ?

In any case, it's THE EXAMINER that can do it for you with our rapidly growing circulation.

Twenty cents will pay for a 20 word classified advertisemen.

Real Estate Sales Room

HOUSES FOR SALE

1.—2 storey and attic, solid Red Brick, west, double parlours, dining room, kitchen, pantry, front and rear stairs, 4 bed-rooms, bath-room separate toilet, coal grate, electric lights, hot water furnace, double cellars, laundry tubs, large lot, price $4,500

2.—2 storey and attic, Red Brick, north, parlour, dining room, kitchen pantry, summer kitchen, wood-shed 4 bed-rooms, bath-room, furnace, electric lights, good well, large lot, price $2,500

3.—Frame House, south of city, 1½ storeys, 6 rooms, ½ acre choice garden lot 5 minutes from street railway line, price $1,000

4.—1½ storey Brick, north, parlour dining-room, kitchen, wood-shed, summer kitchen, 3 bed-rooms, and stable, price $900

Farms for Sale

200 acres, 6 miles north of city, all under cultivation, soil clay loam, good orchard, good frame house, 3 first-class barns, good stables in stone basements under the barns, price $10,000

100 acres, 6 miles east, 90 acres under cultivation, balance pasture, soil clay loam, good fences, good brick house and frame barns on stone foundation, close to school, price $5,500

Houses to Rent

7-roomed, north, conveniences $12

7-roomed, south, light water, $11

7-roomed, west, light, water, $8

4-roomed, west $7

9-roomed, central, all conveniences $18

J. T. O'Connell & Co.

138 Hunter Street. 'Phone 376

WANTED.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

WANTED — 100 LADIES TO USE OUR Stocking Darning Sewing Machine Attachment. Fits on any machine. Also for repairing curtains, table cloth. Best time, labour and money saving device. Send post paid on receipt of post office money order, 25c. Agents wanted.—The Quebec Hardware Mfg. Specialties, St. Rock P. O., Quebec, Que. fyr75-7578

PERSONAL.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

IF THE PARTY WHO ADVERTISED FOR "Safe Wanted," will call at the Examiner office, he will be given the address of where he can secure one. d142

HELP WANTED—FEMALE.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

DINING ROOM GIRL WANTED AT ONCE at the White House. 2d148-8683

WANTED — GIRLS AT THE QUAKER Oats Co. 3d147-8669

WANTED—AN EXPERIENCED DINING room girl and kitchen woman. Apply National Hotel. 6d-144-8619

GOOD KITCHEN WOMAN WANTED—Apply Montreal House, 234 Aylmer street. 6d144-8615

SITUATIONS VACANT.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

AN INTELLIGENT PERSON MAY EARN $100 monthly corresponding for newspapers. No canvassing. Send for particulars. Press Syndicate, 3972, Lockport, N.Y. dtf-51-7398

ANYONE, ANYWHERE, CAN START A mail order business at home. No canvassing. eB your own boss. Send for free bokiet. Tells how. Beacock, 2972, Lockport, N.Y. dtf-51-7342

SITUATIONS WANTED.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

WORK WANTED OF ANY KIND BY A young Englishman. J. H., this office. 6d-143-8590

WANTED — PLAIN SEWING OR TWO OR three families) washing, by young Englishwoman. E. 2., this office. 6d143-8589

HANDY MAN WANTS WORK OF ANY kind. Apply 478 Rubidge street.6d143 8601

PATENTS.

For particulars about Patents, send for booklet.

REN. B. PANNETT, Ottawa, Ontario.

FOR RENT.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

TO RENT—OFFICE NO. 12 IN BANK OF Commerce Building; heated, possession immediately Apply at 437 George street.

TO RENT — NEW HOSUE—CITY WATER —$7.50. Apply 543 Concession street. Phone 1323

FOUND.

OUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

FOUND—AT THE PETERBOROUGH CANdy Works, J. Haggis, Prop., a five dollar bill. Will the lady who lost same about a week or ten days ago, please call and get it and oblige. 2d150-8697

SATCHEL FOUND — CONTAINING PAIR of glasses, etc. Owner can have same by applying at this office. 1d

FOUND—A BUNCH OF KEYS ON WATER street. Owner can have same by applying at this office. 1d

LOST.

YOUR Ad in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

LOST — ON THURNDAY — A YELLOW collie about seven months old, answers to the name of Bobs. Please leave information at this office or with Dr. Pulkinhorn's livery 3d146-8678

LOST — ON THURSDAY — AT CORNER of George and Hunter streets a small fox terrier, with strap buckled on neck. Will finder please leave word at 312 Boswell avenue, or Examiner office, and oblige. 1d146-8672

LOST — BETWEEN DUBLIN AND LONdon on Reid street, a door key. Finder please leave at Examiner Office and

LOST—LAST WEEK A LARGE BROWN fox tail of a ruff. Finder kindly leave at Examiner office. Mrs. T. H. Crowley, Lundy's Lane. 3d146-8641

LOST—ON CHRISTMAS NIGHT BETWEEN Rubidge street and the Auditorium Roller Rink, by way of Wolfe, Aylmer and Dalhousie streets ,a gold locket and chain. Reward at the Examiner Office. 1d150-8696

LOST—ON FRIDAY EVENING A FIVE dollar bill. Reward if left at this office. 2d150-8696

LOST — ON SUNDAY EVENING BEtween East City and St. Paul's church, a lady's gold watch with initials J. G. engraved on same. Reward if left at this office. 3d150-8700

LOST — LADY'S GOLD LOCKET — INItialled V.E.W. Return to this office. Reward 703 Aylmer st. 3d150-868

LOST—ON SUNDAY AFTERNOON—BLACK Osprey out of lady's hat. Finder please leave at this office. 1d-8694

LOST—ON CHRISTMAS EVE — A PEARL sunburst with emerald, on train on the C. P. R. Reward at 118 Boundary Line. 2d-148-8692

HOUSES AND ROOMS TO LET

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

TO LET — A LARGE FURNISHED FRONT room, well heated, very central. Apply at 231 Hunter street. 12d138-8678

TO RENT — SEVERAL FURNISHED rooms suitable for light housekeeping; very central; every convenience; not three minutes' walk from the post office. Apply 202 Charlotte street. 6d143-8592

GOOD FRAME HOUSE FOR SALE WITH stable; also two story brick house, 7 rooms. Cheap and on terms to suit purchaser. Apply to H. C. Stabler & Co., 350 Water st. d131

ROOMS TO RENT ON GEORGE STREET, fitted with water, electric light, etc. Apply to Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr.

TO RENT—SUITE OF ROOMS IN GRAND Central Building. Heated and all modern improvements. Rent moderate Apply 437 George street

FOR SALE.

YOUR Ad in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

FOR SALE OR TO RENT—CASTLEKNOCK, the late residence of Mrs. Dennistoun. Extensive grounds, commodious residence, stable, etc. Apply to Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr, Water street. 4m-m and s-144-8622

FOR SALE—100 ACRE FARM—80 ACRES cleared fit for machinery, 20 acres seeded 1½ mile from Indian River Station. Must be sold by Feb. 10th next. Apply to A. Nesbitt, Westwood, P.O. 6w-51

FOR SALE — RUBBER-TYRED RUNAbout, buggy, cutter and harness; also straw cutter, all in good state of repair. B. R. Poole, V.S., 420 Water st., Peterborough 3d147-8666

FOR SALE—A THREE STORY BRICK house, 162 Smith street, containing nine rooms, besides halls, bathroom and closets; also five rooms in basement; coal and gas cooking ranges; furnace; electric light fixtures. Large lot, stable and driving house. Terms easy. Call at premises. J. Coyle Brown, Peterborough. 1mod127-8368

A new brick house near the corner of Sherbrooke and Park, modern improvements; will sell on monthly payments, or rent to small family. A good chance for a mechanic to own his own home. tf94-7567 G. W. HATTON.

FOR SALE—TWO CHOICE BUILDING lots on Water street (west side of street). Each 30 feet frontage back to a 16 foot lane. For particulars apply at 123 Antrim street, city, or Examiner office tf48-7234

GEORGE STREET PROPERTY FOR SALE Parts of lots 1 and 2, west of George street and north of Dalhousie street, frontage on George street, 192 ft. by a depth of 193 ft., with use of a 12 foot lane from Dalhousie street. This lot adjoins the wholesale Harness Factory of E. F. Ackerman & Son and is suitable for wholesale houses or manufactory. Apply to Dumble & Johnston, or E. B. Wood, Solicitors. tm48

MONEY WANTED!

We can place sums from One Thousand dollars up, at a reasonable interest and on gilt edge security. If you have money to invest, call, or telephone name and address.

We have some superior investments in Farm and City property as for instance below;—

100 acres clay loam in Otonabee near river and on good road, first class brick house and barn on stone sill, orchard, good maple bush, a superior property for Six Thousand Dollars.

Nice brick house in convenient neighbourhood, large garden, a cheery place for $1150.

For Rent, nice, new, comfortable house and 19 acres of land just South across city boundary; seven acres of this is warm, early soil for early vegetables, etc., remainder is black loam for fruits, celery, cabbage, etc. Houses to rent.

SOUTH CITY REALTY CO.

Phone 1295 and 1281 130 Park St.

Now Offices Opposite C. G. E.

SEE THESE SOON

$200 Will buy a choice lot in the south part of the city in a first-class locality We have a number of these lots to dispose of for a quick sale,

$1900 Will buy a 7 roomed Brick House in west part of city with modern improvements

$1600 Will buy a good 2 storey Brick House in west part of city

R. A. Elliott & Co

REAL ESTATE AGENTS, WATER STREET

TO INVESTORS.

35 to 50 per cent. per annum and Gilt Edge Security

Can be had by procuring stock in the

Alberta Wheat Growing Co., Limited.

A careful estimate shows that an investment of $300 in six years will produce $19.6 to $1500 profit.

For further particulars write.

F. N. Tennant,

134-123 Box 59, Brampton, Ont

HOUSES TO RENT

Houses to let at reasonable rent. Apply for particulars at W. H. BRADBURN'S OFFICE, over the Dominion Bank, Corner of George and Simcoe Streets. dtf

Dyment, Cassels & Co

Members Toronto Stock Exchange

Bank of Nova Scotia Building 34 Melinda St. Toronto

ORDERS EXECUTED ON ALL EXCHANGES

TELEPHONE MAIN 6311

LOTS FOR SALE

ON

Big Island, Stony Lake

Fourteen lots, comprising a little more than the south half of Big Island, have been sold.

Lots eleven, twelve, fifteen, sixteen, eighteen and nineteen, comprising almost all of the northern half of the Island, are still for sale.

These lots now being offered are good building sites and splendidly situated.

Plan may be seen at the Examiner Office.

dtf-128-8301 R. M. GLOVER.

Manual labour taxes the strength of the human machine. The man who works appreciates to the fullest extent the recuperative qualities and purity of

CALCUTT'S ALE, PORTER & LAGER

It is the popular beverage of the man who earns his living by actual, muscular work. You have tried the rest—

NOW TRY THE BEST

Manufactured by

The Calcutt Brewing & Malting Company

Ashburnham. 'Phone 88

New and Second-Hand Clothing Boots, Rubbers, etc. Furniture.

JAY'S Stores

390 AYLMER STREET

PHONE

Pains or Cramps

"I carry Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills with me all the time, and for aches and pains there is nothing equals them. I have used them for rheumatic pains, headache, and pains in side and back, and in every case they give perfect satisfaction."

HENRY COURLEN,
Boonton, N. J.

Pain comes from tortured nerves. It may occur in any part of the head or body where there is weakness or pressure upon the nerves.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills

Relieve pain, whether it be neuralgiac, rheumatic, sciatic, headache, stomache, pleurisy or ovarian pains.

Druggists everywhere sell them. If first package fails to benefit, your druggist will return your money.

MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

REAL GENUINE
SCOTCH SHORT BREAD
Ornamented with any motto if ordered before noon Thursday

TRY OUR
PITCAITHLY SHORT BREAD

New Years Receptions are incomplete without our special lines of
MACAROONS & FANCY CAKES
Nothing finer on the continent

FANCY BOXES OF DELICIOUS
CHOCOLATES AND BON BONS

WE ARE THE CATERERS

COLEMAN BROS. 420 GEORGE ST. TELEPHONE 396

EGGS!
for sale in any quantities.
PETERBOROUGH COLD STORAGE CO.

W. SCOTT & CO.
—OFFICES—
Cor. George & Hunter Both Phones 203
196 Robinson Street. Both Phones 254 (East City).

O'Keefe's
Special Extra Mild PORTER
Extra mild, mind you. Brewed for those who find that ordinary Porter is too heavy.
Order O'Keefe's, remember.

A. ROUNTREE, AGENT,
416 Water Street.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

When the average girl is trying to decide whether to say "Yes" or not, I think it would be a pretty fair estimate to say that half her mind is on John and how beautiful it will be to have him with her all the time instead of three evenings a week, one-eighth on what the girls will think when she wears an engagement ring, one-eighth on what kind of a wedding she will have, and one-quarter on how nice it will be to have a cunning little home of her own.

If you are good at fractions you can probably reckon from that without my assistance how much mind that gives her to decide whether John has the qualities that will make a good husband and a happy home.

Some of my readers are doubtless even now standing "with reluctant feet" where the brook of maidenhood and the full, deep river of married life meet.

Before they take the irrevocable step I wonder if they would not like to ask themselves some of these questions about "him."

Is he good to his mother? Is he thoughtful of her feelings? Does he ever take her to the theatre or the concert?

I don't think any truer epigram was ever written than "a good husband is a good son grown up."

Are you in love with him or with his love and wooing of you?

I thoroughly believe that a great many women confound those two things and that that confusion is one of the great causes of unhappy marriages. A man never runs for a car after he gets it, you know, and if it is just the wooing that you care about you will have a slight chance for happiness when it is over.

Des he laugh at the same things you do?

That is not a little thing by any means.

It would be very lonely never to have sympathy in one's griefs, but we laugh more often than we weep and it seems to me it would be about as bad never to have sympathy in one's laughter.

I should hate to have a man to whom I could not look when any funny little incident happened and have his silent twinkle answer mine. On the whole I think a sense of humour is one of the most valuable things two young persons can have in common.

Does he have many little ways and habits that annoy you but that you fancy you can easily correct because of his great love for you?

Don't make that mistake. That love is just what will make it hard for you to try to alter him. Someone he cared less for might suggest that he improve his table manners or wear more harmonious shirts and neckties, but he thinks you love him as he is and any alteration that you suggest is an aspersion on your love.

(To be continued in the next.)

Ruth Cameron

The Prize Winners In The Essay Competition

Some time ago, the Temperance and oMral Reform League of the city offered prizes fr the best esays on the subject of "Why the Bar should be abolished in Peterborough." A number of essays were handed in. These have been read and valued and the names of the prize winners is here given. The essays were read by Rev. Dr. O'Brien and Public School Inspector Mowat.

General Prize for Best Essay.
Mamaduke Pearson.
Central School—
1. Leslie Pearson.
2. Hazel Richardson.
3 Laidlaw Anderson.
South Central School.
1. Viola Palmer.
2 Stella Sherwin.
3. Grace Edmison.
King Edward School.
1. Verda Watt.
2. Grace E. Naylor.
3. Florence Emmerson.
Convent.

The prizes will be presented at the public meeting in Murray St. church on Friday evening, Dec. 28th.

PRESENTATION MADE

Mrs. (Rev. Dr.) Marsh Was Honoured by the Ladies of the Springville Presbyterian Church.

The ladies of the Springville Presbyterian church took advantage of the coming of Christmas to show the appreciation and esteem in which they hold to present Mrs. Marsh, wife of the popular pastor of the church, with a purse lined with gold.

At the sacrament a week ago the membership of the church increased by ten, makin ga total increase of ninety members since Rev. Dr. Marsh toow charge of the church.

The services yesterday were very interesting and of a nature suitable to the festive spirit of the occasion.

Morrow For Mayor

MR. W. H. MOORE,
Who Was Re-Elected Water Commissioner by Acclamation To-day.

WEDDING BELLS

ELLIS—BETTES.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at half past three on Christmas Day at the residence of Mr. J. H. Bettes, on Hunter street, East, when his eldest daughter, Miss Mabel M. E. was united in marriage to Mr. James Campbell Ellis, manager of the Peterborough mattress factory. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. R. Webb, pastor of Murray Street Baptist church, in the beautifully decorated drawing room. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in a beautiful gown of cream crepe de chene, with trimmings of liberty satin. She wore a bridal veil and carried lilies of the valley. She was assisted by Miss Mary A. Ellis, sister of the groom, who was ecomingly attired in a dress of green silk. She carried white carnations. The groom was supported by Mr. Bruce Quinn, of this city.

After the ceremony and hearty congratulations had been bestowed upon the newly-married couple, the guests to the number of sixty sat down to a sumptuous wedding repast. A large array of beautiful presents were received.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis left on the 4.38 train for a trip to Toronto and points west. Mrs. Ellis travelled in a suit of taupe with hat to match. On their return to the city they will reside on Harvey street.

BREAD DOWN!
Standard 3lb. Loaf 10c
22 Tickets for $1.00
LUSH & SONS,—Bread Bakers,
241 Dublin St.—phone 511

Morrow For Mayor

We have completed arrangements with the leading chemists in Huddersfield, England, and Germany, Paris and France to supply us with the latest dye stuffs which we import direct. With the new process many things are possible which were not a year ago. Parker's Dye Works, 177 Charlotte St. R. M. Beach, Prop. 1m 145

TO THE ELECTORS of the City of Peterboro'

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,

ALDERMAN BULLER

the people's representative, desires to thank all those who so generously supported him in the past and elected him for a term of two years, and wishes all a Very Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Mr. Morrow's Committee Rooms

Committee Rooms have been opened up at

No. 173½ Simcoe St

where the supporters of Mr. W. G. MORROW, Candidate for the Mayoralty, are invited to call at any time during the day or evening until after polling day.

The Gift He Didn't Get

Play Santa Claus till New Years. Follow up the good work and come this week to

SCHNEIDER'S UNRESERVED JEWELRY SALE

Make this week the busiest of the year. Help us to reduce our Stocks still lower. We have more than enough for another Christmas.

Lots of the Best Gifts Still Left

A Phenomenal Christmas Trade calls upon us to let profits go for the rest of the year, so long as we can unload stock.

Those who have bought can afford to buy some more, and those who haven't bought can now buy all the more away less than "January Prices" now.

F.S.Schneider&Co
GREAT JEWELRY CLEARING SALE

WEDDING BELLS

PERRY—BUNTIN.

A very pleasant event took place on Christmas day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Buntin, 569 Albert St., when their daughter, Gertrude was united in marriage to Mr. William Joseph Perry, of Lakefield. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. C. Riddiford, of the Park St. Baptist church.

Among those present were: Mrs. A. Abbey, and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Abbey, Toronto; Mr. C. H Mann, Hamilton; Mr and Mrs. W. E. Dixon, of Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. J Buntin, Mr. and Mrs. W. Kempt, Mr. and Mrs. Geo Whately, Mr. and Mrs. Collins, Mr. Guy Kennedy. Mr. and Mrs. Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. C. Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Fricks, Mrs. Chas Greer, Mr. and Mrs. W C. Barrie, and Mrs W. C. Riddiford.

The young couple were unattended. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Perry will take up their residence in Lakefield.

MEACHAN—MANN.

On the afternoon of Dec. 22, Hawthorne Cottage, Smith, the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Mann, was the scene of the marriage o ftheir eldest daughter, Margaret Eva, to Walter Roy Meacham, of Calgary, Alta, son of Mrs. and the late Dr. Meacham. The Rev. J. R. Bonner, of Gilmour Memorial church, was the officiating clergyman and the wedding march was played by Miss M. Nettie Nelson, of Lakefield, who also sang the wedding hymn. The bride was assisted by her sister, Miss A. Mildred, Flora Denyes ,of Newbury, was a dainty flower girl and Mr. Charles E. Moore supported the groom.

The drawing room was tastefully decorated with evergreen and white and the dining room, where the wedding dinner was served, was decorated with pink and white and the light was given by numerous white candles on a small evergreen tree in the centre of each table. The young couple left amid showers of confetti and good wishes for Newbury and will proceed to their new home in Calgary about the first of the new year.

The bride's wedding dress was of semi-princess design and was developed in cream silk eolienne with embroidered net and silk applique. She wore the conventional bridal veil and orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of white Killarney roses.

She travelled in a suit of brown chevron with silk waist to match and a large amethyst hat with black plumes.

The bridesmaid was in robins 'egg blue of French voile with trimmings of white fillet net and gold braid and carried pink carnations. The floral girl wore white silk trimmed with valenciennes lace.

rMs. Mann was in black corded silk with white applique trimming.

Mrs. Meacham was in black silk.

Miss Blanche Mann was in Saxby blue voile and white.

Mrs. Denyes, sister of the groom, was becomingly attired in green silk

The groom's gift to the bride was a carved gold bracelet, to the bridesmaid a signet ring and to the flower girl and pianist pearl crescents and to the groomsman a pearl stick pin.

The many beautiful presents testified to the high esteem in which both the bride and groom are held by their many friends.

The bride was the recipient of a very handsome fern pot from the Gilmour Memorial Church, of which she is a member, accompanied by the following address:

Miss Eva Mann, Smith—

Dear Friend,—We, the members and adherents of Gilmour Memorial Baptist church take this opportunity of expressing to you the high esteem and love in which we hold you. From your early childhood we have had the pleasure of your interested attendance at our services and in later years your readiness to assist in any department of work which needed help, has won from us all a deep and lasting regard.

We ask you to accept this silver fern pot as a token of our kindly feelings and hope it may often remind you of your many friends in Smith.

While we regret you severing your connection with us, we heartily congratulate you on the happy occasion which removes you to the distant west.

May you always remember that the prayers and the hearty good wishes of a host of friends at Gilmour Church will follow you to your new home. Signed on behalf of the church.

Rev. J. R. Bonner, Pastor,
J. A. McGregor, Treasurer.
Jas. A. Young, Clerk.

Lifebuoy Soap is delightfully refreshing for bath or toilet. For washing underclothing it is unequalled. Cleanses and purifies.

THE ARRIVAL OF KITTY.

The biggest crowd of the season saw the "Arrival of Kitty" at the Grand Opera House on Christmas night and found the play a veritable landslide of laughter, full and overflowing with humourous situations, laugh provoking incidents and bright lines. Written to amuse it was a splendid offering for a holiday attraction and a tide of laughter that swept throughout the house almost incessantly during the action showed how thoroughly the big audience entered into the spirit of the farce.

"The Arrival of Kitty" has been seen here before and the favourable impression made on that occasion was heightened on Saturday. The company is unusually strong and they presented the delightful little comedy in a most pleasing manner. Florence Forrest and Hal Johnston were the stars of the offering, but they were ably assisted.

Although not a musical show a number of splendid songs are interpolated and are by no means the least enjoyable features of the offering. Hattie Williams 'famous song "Experience," "My Cousin Caruse," "Carrie-Marry-Harry, "In the Garden That Blooms For You," and "Don't' Go Into the Water, Daughter," were the hits.

"The Volunteer Organist," William B. Gray's splendid play, will be seen to-night at the Grand and will no doubt get a big reception.

RHEUMATISM

I want every chronic rheumatic to throw away all medicines, all liniments, all plasters, and give MUNYON'S RHEUMATISM REMEDY a trial. No matter what your doctor may say, no matter what your friends may say, no matter how prejudiced you may be against all advertised remedies, go at once to your druggist and get a bottle of the RHEUMATISM REMEDY. If it fails to give satisfaction, I will refund your money.—Munyon

Remember this remedy contains no salicylic acid, no opium cocaine, morphine or other harmful drugs. It is put up under the auspices of the Pure Food and Drug Act.

For sale by all druggists. Price, 25c.

HARD WOOD

Cut and Split

Special Leads for GRATES

MIXEDWOOD

Over Half Hardwood Limbs

CORD, CUT ANY LENGTH AND SPLIT : : :

160 AYLMER ST.

BOTH PHONES 116

OBITUARY

CORA E. LIGHTFOOT.

The death occurred on Sunday morning at nine o'clock, at the residence of Mrs. John Lightfoot, 352 Stewart St., of her second daughter, Miss Cora Ethel Lightfoot, after an illness extending over four months. She was twenty-five years of age and was well known in this city. She was a young lady of many estimable qualities and was very popular among a host of friends who will learn with deep regret of her death. Until the time she was taken ill she was for two years in the office of the Portland Cement Co., at Montreal and previous to that was for five years with the same company at Lakefield. Her mother, two brothers and two sisters are left to mourn her loss. The brothers are Messrs. Bert, of Great Falls, Montana, and John, of this city. The sisters are Misses Jessie and Minnie residing at home.

The funeral will leave on Tuesday, at 2.30 p.m from the family residence to the Little Lake cemetery.

GLADYS BISHOP

The death occurred at two o'clock this morning of Gladys Bishop, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bishop, Chamberlen street. The deceased was only seven years of age.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday morning at eleven o'clock from the family residence to Little Lake Cemetery.

MRS. J. J. CUNNINGHAM.

The death occurred in Nicholl's Hospital yesterday afternoon of Mrs. J. J. Cunningham, after an illness of short duration. The deceased, while having been in poor health for some time, passed away very suddenly. She was thirty-five years of age and had lived all her life here. Her maiden name was Janet A. Douglas, she being the daughter of Mr. T. A. Douglas of Webbwood. She was married to her now surviving husband thirteen years ago. She was a woman of many estimable qualities and was highly esteemed by all who knew her. Her husband and six small children are left to mourn his loss. Her father and one brother, Wm. Douglas, in Webbwood, also survive her.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday, at 2.30 o'clock from the family residence, 154 Lock St., to the Little Lake cemetery. It will be under Salvation Army auspices.

JOHN D. KNOX.

The news of the death of Mr. John D. Knox, who passed away at the home of his mother, 384 Queen street, last night at half-past seven, was received throughout the city with the profoundest regret. While the deceased's health had been declining for about a year he had only been confined to his bed for the past three weeks. He was a young man who was exceedingly popular with a host of friends, and his death has removed from their midst a kind and generous fellow. He was born in Belleville, but had lived practically all his life in Peterborough, where his genial and pleasant nature made for him many warm friends, who are grieved to hear of his demise. He was an adherent of St. Paul's Presbyterian church. His mother and two sisters are left to mourn his loss. The sisters are Mrs. John Comstock and Miss Stella Knox of this city.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon. Service at the house will be held at 2.30, and the funeral will leave the house at 3 o'clock and proceed to the Little Lake cemetery.

ANOTHER LETTER FROM MR. LASTAR

This letter and any others that may follow, under the signature of Mr. Lastar, are independent of any other party or parties, and are paid for by him for their insertion.

To the Editor of the Examiner:—

In last Friday's local option literature, a supporter of local option claimed that the Anti-local option people gave much attention to Owen Sound; and although there are many other towns where there are no licenses, they claim but one failure. So you do acknowledge that Owen Sound is a failure. Well, let me tell you that the failure is all over where local option exists. Just the same undeniable facts, with the records of their police, that the statements made by your speakers are inaccurate. You say why do we argue only about Owen Sound; and not with any other place. It was because it was your own local option speakers, who were giving as an example of purity and high moral improvement, the good that local option had done for Owen Sound; and claimed that we would have the same success if we passed local option here. I have proved to you, and to every citizen of Peterborough, that local option in Owen Sound is a failure. When you brought your great speaker Ireland of Owen Sound, who is certainly no credit to their town and who goes all over stating that their town is the most hideous in the Dominion. How would you like it if a Peterborough man should go around advertising Peterborough in the same way. Would you give him much credit. Would you not tell him that he is a traitor to your city. Still the moral reformers are proud of a man like him, and bring him in places where they preach the holy gospel of truhtfulness and justice to state absolute inaccuracies when he said in last four years he has not seen nor heard of a drunkard. When there is actually double the number of drunkards and lawbreakers in Owen Sound, than in the three years before local option was passed. Then you come and challenge any one to prove that you are wrong; and when any one comes forward to do so, you say it is Sunday, and a holy day, and it is not proper to discuss it. Is this not modern hyprocrisy. Why that is your own selected place that you have brought as an example; and now when you cannot get away from the fact that you have made a mistake by bringing Owen Sound to the front, you are trying to say, "That is only one of the places where it is a failure." Now I venture to say, if you will bring forward any other town where local option is in force, that I can prove to you by facts, the same as in Owen Sound, that local option is a failure all over. Then you state, that a citizen, (who is no one but myself) has challanged you to come on the public platform and discuss the issue involved; and that your answer is that no attention was given to the challenge because I was not a hotel keeper; nor did I represent a hotel man. I certainly do not represent a hotel man, but myself and hundreds of citizens who are opposing local option. Therefore we claim the right to discuss the question, as it concerns us as much as the local option people. You did not state at any time in your letters nor on the platform that you wanted only hotel men to come and hear you discuss this matter; but everyone was invited. And when you say anyone is in opposition to you, you did not say hotelmen. But you invited men who are opposed to the local option movement in general. You recognise every man who is opposed to local option, and then you try and make an excuse, that you do not give any attention to my challenge because I am a private citizen. There you are disputing your own words in your own letter; and although you say you did not give any attention to my challenge and questions, you state a little further that besides all the points that have been made by the party referred to, that the questions have been answered repeatedly and fully, not only in this column, but on the public platform during the meetings. Are you not contradicting your own statements, besides telling what is not correct. How dare you make such atrocious statements, and say that you have answered my questions. I challenge the whole moral reform association, if any of you can prove that you have answered any of my questions. But always under all kinds of excuses, you have avoided them. And if pressed, you call in the Police to protect you, and not to let the people see you as you really are. But it is like you; although charged and proved that you are not telling the facts, you still up ahead and mislead the people, so that you may have other victims to follow you. But let me tell you, by this time the people, and even those who were supporting you before, see that you are not carrying this campaign on straightforwardly, and are getting sick of the whole business.

Then I heard the speaker making statements yesterday; and I am sure if he knew Peterborough, he would never attempt to make such statements. He got his experience with negroes in the South, or in the mining camps ;but we are not to be compared with either of them. We are not in such a state as they were. The way in which he put this to the audience is, that we are all drunkards, and that every house is affected with it. He must not have used his brains, when he stated that there is no family that is not affected with the cursed drunkenness in Peterborough. First let him go and see some of the homes in Peterborough, and he will be convinced that they are just as good, if not better, than where it is under the local option law. He was making great challenges under the protection of the police; and what were his challenges? "Can any one say that using too much liquor is not a curse?" Why certainly there is not a man in Peterborough, who will not say that. And you have no right to state to the public such falsehoods, that we are encouraging the poor to drunkenness. Why we have here a man who has done more for limiting drunkenness, and has succeeded in doing it in peaceful ways, and has done more than you will ever be able to do with local option. To hear you, and all your speakers, one would think, if we did not atolish the bars, now that the next generation would all be drunkards and criminals. Why our fathers lived in times when drunkenness was more dangerous than now, and I am in a position to tell that great speaker that we are not all lost to the devil; and I am sure our children are just as safe, providing those unreasonable moral reformers will leave us alone. Any one to hear him speak must come to the conclusion that he doesn't know the people of Peterborough. Such an address would just suit a certain class of drunkards, or men without brains; or would be very suitable for a House of Correction, where there are only criminals. But we are not in any of those classes. We are intelligent enough to understand, and therefor this is not the place to make such statements. They are nothing more than outlandish.

Now some of the former speakers have said that drunkards are to be pitied and helped; and one of them stated, "Look to your ministers. They are your guides." And the last speaker mentioned the ten commandments, where it says that they shall not steal nor perjure themselves; and also stated that we should see that our officials and ministers do their duty. I must acknowledge that some of the ministers are trying to educate their people to the best of their ability. But the ministers are divided in opinion, as to the best way to abolish drunkenness, and save the poor from further misery. The first class of ministers are going this way,—when they see a drunkard, they put him in his bed, and then they visit the man, and talk to him, and use all his authority and power to influence him to abstain from liquor, and does not leave the man until he gets him to take a pledge, that he will not take any more; nor bring home any liquor. That man is saved; and his children are saved, because they are brought up to be total abstainers. Then we have seen a minister, who was forced to give evidence in a certain case,when he made the following statement. That he gave his evidence under protest; because his motto is to relieve distress. And if a man is in trouble to get him out of that trouble, and if he needs help to help him, and advise him, as to the best way to get him out of the trouble; and therefore he was not willing to give evidence in a certain case, when he made the following statement. That he gave his evidence under protest; a standing and ways as those ministers of those churches are taking, in my opinion, cannot get too much praise, and their congregations should be proud of them. And those ministers, as far as I can find out are opposed to local option. There are also other ministers, who do their work differently and what ways do they adopt to help drunkenness, when they see it. In my opinion it is very sad to say anything wrong about a man who preaches the Holy Gospel; but here we are forced by facts. In their own sealousness to bring local option here, they are forgetting that they are supposed to save men who are doing wrong, and try and induce them to be good. But they have tried their utmost to bring an innocent man into trouble, that might end in a serious term of imprisonment. The above mentioned two local optionists were walking about 11.30 at night a few weeks ago, and they met a man who was on the blacklist, having a bottle in his hand. Now if that man should actually have been drunk, what was their duty? Was it not to go and tell him to drop the bottle, and bring him home, and try to use their influence to keep him from breaking the law, because he was to be punished if caught by an officer of the law in an intoxicated state. But those over zealous local optionists who were looking for an advertisement for their cause, even to the ruination of a human being, as soon as they saw the man, who was on the blacklist with the bottle in his hand, they did not stop to make sure what was in the bottle, but ran to the license inspector, stated that they had seen a blacklisted man, intoxicated on the street, having a bottle in his hand, and giving liquor to a crowd of boys. But when the license inspector asked them if they were sure it was liquor, and if they were prepared to swear as to what was in the bottle, they went out with contempt. The idea of him not to believe their word; and went straight for a constable, because they were bound to get the man and have him brought before a magistrate. They even wanted the license inspector to go at twelve o'clock, and get the man What was the result? When the man was brought up before magistrate, when he told and proved that he had a bottle of lemon sour, purchased from one of the Italian stores, the magistrate would not take the evidence of the ministers. Because if they swore that they saw him drinking whiskey out of the bottle, then they would have to be charged with perjury. Therefore he did not take their evidence, but honourably acquitted the man on his own evidence.

Now we have had lately so many manufactured perjury cases; and who were to blame for them? Was it the policemen? Everyone would almost think so, according to the evidence. But I say, the policemen were only tools in the hands of some of those moral reformers. Because in the case of the man convicted for perjury, they stated that on information from some party, thit if they went to a certain place, they could see Martin in a backroom, drunk. Now whose business would it be, if the man was lying in his own backroom drunk. They do not care for the thousands of dollars it cost the community to pay for trying those cases. They did not care for the honour, nor even the existence of these fellowmen. Those moral reformers wanted some proof for their case; but they miserably failed in that. Then those men can claim to be trying to save us from misery and crime.

I am told and you would be astonished to hear that some members of the ministerial association have tried by letters to influence the Judge, who showed up their letters the next day. And that ministers of the English church have resigned from the ministerial association, when they heard of that last inhuman and unworthy deed Some prominent members of your churches have resigned on account of the ways their ministers have been acting.

And now citizens of Peterborough, I am leaving to you, to judge what way to follow. The ways of the just ministers which are based on truthfulness and purity, and who act accordingly, as honourable men would. Would you take advice from your own Mayor, who has been with you for fifty years, and knows the best Peterborough, and who is honoured by every citizen, and who is held in the highest esteem, even by the moral workers. What does he think of local option. eH says local option will not be good, and is not necessary for Peterbozough.

Or will you follow those men who do not care for the honour, nor for the very existence of their fellowmen, who can only blindfold the people that their cause is right, and by bringing irresponsible speakers here, who do not know Peterborough, nor do not care about Peterborough, so long as they get paid. They will tell you all kinds of stories, such as Peterborough never knew, and I hope will never know. And by avoiding straight arguments they want to induce you. Citizens of Peterborough think and consider both ways, and judge accordingly.

Yours truly,

B. LASTAR.

An Invitation

We cordially invite everyone interested in something for New Year's, to visit our store and note the fine lines, perfect quality and moderate prices here shown. Nothing more appropriate than some of the following suggestions for New Year Gifts :—

Gentlemen's Gold Watches
Ladies' Gold Watches
Diamond Rings
Pearl Rings, lots of designs
Gold Cuff Links, 14 karat
Gold Lockets
Signet Rings, Gentlemen's
Pearl Brooches, nice pattern
1847 Rogers Cutlery, Special Prices.

NO TROUBLE TO SHOW YOU GOODS. Call and Inspect Them.

WARNE'S

345 George St. 'Phone 57.

GAS, HEARTBURN AND DYSPEPSIA VANISH

Makes Your Out-of-Order Stomach Feel Fine in Five Minutes.

You can eat anything your stomach craves without fear of Indigestion or Dyspepsia, or that your food will ferment or sour on your stomach if you will take a little Diapepsin occasionally.

Your meals will taste good, and anything you eat will be digested; nothing can ferment or turn into acid or poison or stomach gas, which causes Belching, Dizziness, a feeling of fullness after eating, Nausea, Indigestion (like a lump of lead in stomach), Biliousness, Heartburn, Water brash, Pain in stomach and intestines or other symptoms.

Headaches from the stomach are absolutely unknown where this effective remedy is used. Diapepsin really does all the work of a healthy stomach. It digests your meals when your stomach can't. A single dose will digest all the food you eat and leave nothing to ferment or sour and upset the stomach.

Get a large 50-cent. case of Pape's Diapepsin from your druggist and start taking now, and in a little while you will actually brag about your healthy, strong Stomach, for you then can eat anything and everything you want without the slightest discomfort or misery and every particle of impurity and Gas that is in your stomach and intestines is going to be carried away without the use of laxatives or any other assistance.

Should you at this moment be suffering from Indigestion or any stomach diacrder, you can get relief within five minutes.

POST CARD COLUMN

FREE TRADE PROTECTION.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—Your contemporary, The Review, state that the "cost of living generally, is very much higher in Great Britain and Europe than in Canada and the United States." Absolutely false; as the majority of your readers, being British, could testify. Bread, for instance, in Lancashire, is about 4½d. or 9 cents for the four lb. loaf.; and you could live in a mansion for what you pay for a house here. As for cottages there are none here at all like in the old country. On the railways the fare is never more than 2 cents a mile, with very cheap excursions and workmen's special fares. On the streets 1 cent for a short ride is general.

W. A. BAILEY.

To the Editor of The Examiner.
Peterorough, Dec. 23.

Sir,—I see by last night's Review a "Wise Citizen" is protesting against Dr. Cook coming here, on the ground that we have enough liars here already; also it is not the "poor man" that is doing the lying. Well, I think that all the good class of citizens will agree to a man with humbug for the recent liquor cases show that. Next "Fair Play" butts in and says that here is an attempt to belittle Stewart, and in the same strain gives him a boost by saying the Department considers the local Inspector as one of the straightest and best officials in the Province. In the last boost-up, any one can clearly read between the lines of the writer of "Fair Play's" letter and see who gave the information in the first place. But it is very easy to detect an article concocted by two sore heads, and its pupose. What will the Deparemtn think of this straight and efficient officer now, who not long ago in the police court volunteered his informant's name, and the information he received by cutting his own throat, and then, at a later date, goes out of his way to slander a police officer behind his back, who was his best supporter, and to whom Inspector Stewart owes most of his best captures, and who more than once supplied the Great Inspector with men, horses, and rigs, without a thank you. And, later, when pressed to give his reasons for his jealous attack on our Oyster Shell Officier, he makes an attempt to slander another officer, whom he alleges, told him things months ago, detrimental to the most brilliant, hard earned and brainiest capture ever made in our city. It is wonderful, Mr. Editor, what a little time in a closet with well-known writers of boosters will do for men whose brains never could work any faster than an eight-day clock.

Yours, etc.,

ONE WHO KNOWS.

Anyone Overlooked ?

CHANCES STILL GOOD at the PETERBOROUGH BOOKSTORE

As you have helped us to roll up such a great sales-record at Christmas, we will devote the balance of the year to surprising offerings and still greater sacrifices on all lines in the store prices to make lookers quick buyers.

NEW YEAR'S PRESENTS

The display of Gift Goods for New Year's presents affords abundant chances for good selections of high-art articles in many popular lines, such as:—

Books	Purses
Bibles	Leather Goods
Poets	Toilet Sets
Gift Books	Art Goods
Stationery	Toys and Dolls
Cut Glass	Sleighs
Ebony Brushes	Games, etc.

Friends who have been unintentionally overlooked can still be remembered.

A. H. STRATTON & CO.

PETERBOROUGH BOOKSTORE

417 George Street - Peterborough

ESTEEMED LADY PASSED AWAY

Death of Mrs. (Rev.) Kilgour on Sunday —Funeral This Afternoon.

As the old Market Clock was striking ten on Christmas night there passed away in the Western part of our City on whose life and work deserve more than a passing reference, in the person of Mrs. Phoebe C. Kilgour, relect of the late Rev. Joseph Kilgour.

The late Mrs. Kilgour was born in the County of Prince Edward, being the daughter of Richard and Abigail Youman. In her early life she was a teacher of music. She was married to Rev. Joseph Kilgour to whom for so many years she was undoubtedly a help mate in the truest and fullest sense. She was indentified very prominently in the promotion, organization and operation of the various subordinate institutions of the Methodist Church during the whole of her long and active Christian life and after the death of her beloved husband—about six years ago, she seemed to redouble her efforts to assist in carrying on the work of the Church. Though very frail in body she possessed an energy that enabled her to outdo very many in sowing and doing works of kindness and charity in and about the sphere of her activities. In the Woman's Missionary Society she was very active, occupying the position of President for some years. To her many friends she has left a heritage of good deeds, well done, and a nexample of what may be accomplished by one who is truly devoted to Christian work.

Her illness was of brief duration, she having attended Charlotte St. Methodist twice on Sabbath 19th, inst. On Monday last she was stricken with Pneumonia, and despite all that Medical skill could accomplish, her gentle, patient spirit passed to its reward on Saturday evening. Were she to leave a parting word to her sisters in the Church it might be fittingly expressed in the language of the poet:—

"Go and sow beside all waters—"
In the morning of thy youth
In the evening scatter broadcast
Precious seeds of Living Truth,
What though much may sink and perish
In the barren rocky mould—
And the harvest of the labors
May be less than thirty fold
Let thy hand be not with bolden
Still beside all waters sow—
For thou knowest not which shall prosper,
Whether this or that shall grow—
Therefore sow beside all waters
Hoping, trusting, toiling on.
When the fields are white for harvest
"God shall send His angels down."

The funeral held this afternoon at 2.30 p.m. was largely attended.

Your Holiday Snapshots Enlarged

Work guaranteed first-class—Enlargements made from your best pictures, for any size frame.

Louis Mewbb

STUDIO —374½ George Street, East Side. The only Studio on George St.

GLEANING TIME

After the Harvest come the Gleaners. No doubt some friend has remembered you unexpectedly, or some one was overlooked. You can reciprorate now at very, very little cost. AT

HALL'S GREAT FIRE SALE PRICES

Innumerable things suitable for New Year's Gifts—at more astounding reductions than ever, to effect positive close-outs of many distinctive gift wares.

RICHARD HALL & SON, LIMITED, 353-55 George St

Suit AND Coat Sale

FOR SIX DAYS

65 This Season's Coats | 13 Last Season's Coats

35 This Season's Suits
9 Last Season's Suits

THIS is the story in short of our Coat and Suit Stock after the most remarkable season's selling this department has ever seen—and now we cut prices deep for six days.

We put every one of these garments on sale at unprecedently low prices—low enough to make it worth while to buy now. Each garment comes under these price reductions as the following list will show plainly :—

All $30 Suits and Coats 6 DAYS' SALE PRICE.....$23.75
All $25 Suits and Coats 6 DAYS' SALE PRICE.....$19.50
All $20 Suits and Coats 6 DAYS' SALE PRICE.....$15.90
All $15 and $16 Suits & Coats 6 DAYS' SALE PRICE.... $13.75
All $10 and $12 Suits & Coats 6 DAYS' SALE PRICE..... $8.75
All $7 and $8 Coats 6 DAYS' SALE PRICE..... $4.95

One table of odds and ends in Coats ; some short—some long—mostly one only of a kind—some one year and some two years old, original prices were up to $12.00—but because of them being odd garments and some not strictly up to the hour in style we put them out for your price for only 3.90

Fur Lined Coats 4 only, Fur Lined Coats with Fur Collar, our regular $50 line, SIX DAY SALE PRICE..... $39

As a special inducement to buy during this sale we will make ALTERATIONS FREE OF CHARGE, which we do not generally do on "sale price" garments.

DEPARTMENT STORES Cressman's

REUNIONS IN LOCAL HOMES MANY HOLIDAY VISITORS

Christmas of 109 will be remembered in Peterborough by at least one noteworthy feature, i.e., the invasion of the city by hordes of old boys and girls, too, for that matter, who hurried home to gather around the festive board. Never has there been a greater home-coming than there was for this holiday. The incoming trains on Friday, especially the late trains, were jammed with happy people coming from all over the continent, to spend the day under the family roof tree. There were hundreds of happy reunions everywhere in the city, and Saturday and Sunday will be regarded as red-letter days in most Peterborough households. Below will be found some of the Peterborough people who found their way home for the holiday.

Mr. George Adam, with the staff of the Bank of Commerce, Guelph, Ont., spent his Christmas vacation in the city.

Miss Gladys Rose, Otonabee, spent the holiday visiting friends in Toronto.

Mr. W. K. Huston, Napanee, Ont., was home for Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Art Wood, Toronto, is spending the Christmas vacation with his parents in the city.

Mr. Ernest Hamilton, Toronto, came down on Friday evening to spend the holiday at his home.

Mr. T. A. Coughlin, Cobalt, Ont., passed through the city on Friday evening on his way to Hastings to spend the Christmas vacation.

Mr. George Burnham, Toronto, was in the city over the holiday.

Mr. Walter Roseborough is spending a few days at his home in Smith. He has been out west and his present visit is the first in four years.

Mr. Max Dobbin, of the Mail and Empire staff, Toronto, was home over the holiday.

Mr. John Roseborough, Buffalo, N. Y., visited at his home in Smith over Christmas.

Mr. Thomas Kelly, with the head office of the Toronto Bank, Toronto Ont., was in the city over Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Julia Choate of the Conservatory of Music staff, is spending the Christmas vacation at her home in Warsaw.

Misses Ethel and Gertrude Primeau, Toronto, spent Christmas at their home in East City.

Miss Annie Kelleher, of Toronto, spent Christmas with her parents here.

Mr. Harry Rogers, of Toronto, is spending a few days at his home, Hunter street east,.

Miss Mabel White and Mr. Percy hite of Toronto, spent Christmas th their parents, Aylmer street.

Mr. Oscar Davidson of Ottawa, was ome over the holiday.

Miss Kathleen Merrill, of Toronto, spent Christmas with her parents, Homewood Ave.

Mr. Gordon Logan, of Galt, spent Christmas at the home of his grandfaither, Mr. H. Calcutt, Robinson St

Mr. Oscar Dumble of the Bank of Montreal, Montreal, was home for the holiday.

Mr. Frank Sawers, of the Bank of Montreal, at Chatham, spent Christmas with his parents, Brock street.

Mr. N. Miller of Toronto, was home over the holiday.

Mr. David Moore of the Review, spent the holiday in Hamilton.

Mr. Bert Huston of Toronto, spent Christmas at his home in Otonabee.

Mr. Harry Smith of the Royal Military College, Kingston, spent Christmas at the home of Mrs. H. Deane, Water street.

Mr. Max Yelland of Toronto University, is spending his holidays at his home, Brock street.

Miss Agnes Mercier of Rochester, N.Y., arrived home on Saturday to spend the winter at her home, Burnhem street, East City.

Mr. Alphonse Delaire of Rochester, N.Y., is spending a few days at his home, Aylmer street.

Mr. and Mrs. Clements, East City, are spending Christmas in Chatham.

Mr. Walter Tighe, of Hamilton, spent the holiday at his home, Rogers street, East City.

Mr. Melville Moore, of Toronto, spent Christmas at his home in East City.

Mr. Dave Patterson of Toronto, spent Christmas at the home of Mr. Chas. Moore, Hunter St., East.

Mr. W. Butcher, of Toronto, spent Christmas at his home, East City.

Mr. Elmer Faux, of Parry Sound, spent Christmas at his home Burnham street, East City.

Mr. Bruce Gillespie, of Montreal, spent Christmas with his parents, Hunter street, East.

Miss Margaret L. Faux, of Lindsay, was home for the holiday.

Mr. Jas. Tobin of Rochester, was home for Christmas.

Mr. Jos. White, of Toronto, spent Christmas at his home, Rubidge St.

Miss Hilda Kelly, of Montreal, spent the holiday at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred McDonnell, of Oshawa, spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. C. C. McDonnell, Downer's Corners.

Mr. Jack Connors of Flint, Mich., is home for the holidays.

Mr. Thomas Kennedy of Chicago, is visiting his home here for the holidays.

Mr. Dave Hatton was down from Toronto for Christmas.

Mr. Phil. Smythe is home from Queen's University for the holidays.

Mr. Wm. Graham of Toronto, spent Christmas at his home in Peterborough.

Mr. Allan Robinson, of Toronto was one of the homecomers for Christmas.

Mr. David Shea is down from Brantford for a few days.

Mr. Rich. Dawson was home from Youngstown for the holiday.

Miss Ada Minns of Toronto, is spending a few days in the city the guest of friends.

Mr. E. A. Wilson of North Bay, spent Christmas at his home in the city.

Mr. Jack Primeau, of Hamilton, was home for Christmas.

Mr. Gordon Campbell is home from the Royal Military College for the holidays.

Mr. Harold H. Eliott, of the Bank of Montreal, Deseronto, spent the holiday in the city.

Mr. Ernest Saxby of the Dominion Bank, Guelph, spent the holiday in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Ricketts and family, of Toronto, spent Christmas at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. McDonnell, Downer's Corners.

Mr. Kennedy Gray of the Canadian Oil Company, Toronto, and wife and daughter are spending the Christmas holidays the guests of Dr. J. W. Gray, 205 Sherbrooke street.

Mr. R. Lynch is home from Rochester, for the holiday.

Mr. Vernon Dawson, of Toronto, spent Christmas at his home, Donegal St.

Mr. Walter Pakenham and his son Arthur, of Toronto, were at their home in East City over the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Pakenham and Misses Margaret and Jean, are visiting friends in Campbellford.

Mr. Blake Brown, of the Bank of Toronto, spent Christmas at his home, Homewood ave.

Mr. Coughlin, of the Bank of Ottawa, Lanark, spent Christmas at his home, Aylmer St.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Kennedy, spent the holiday with friends in Toronto.

Dr. Wm. Pakenham, of the Faculty of Toronto University, and Mrs. Pakenham, are the guests of the former's mother, Aberdeen Ave.

Miss Geraldine Shea of Ottawa is home for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Kearns of Summit, N.J., are spending the holidays in Peterborough.

Mr. James Conlin, of the firm of P. C. Browne & Co., church decorators, Toronto, is spending the holidays at home.

Mr. J. E. Flannigan has returned to the city after spending the holidays with his parents in Cobourg.

The Misses Garrow of Oshawa, are spending the Christmas holidays with their brother, Mr. James Garrow, 463 Park street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Wood of Toronto, spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. P. Glover, East City.

r. and rs. Fred T. Weir of Toronto, spent the holiday with relatives.

CHURCH SERVICES

KNOX.

Monday—Young People's Society, at 8 o'clock. The evening to be spent in election of new officers for the new year.

Monday (to-night) Session will meet at 264 Rubidge St., instead of at the church as intimated at the service yesterday, at 8 o'clock.

Tuesday—Children's Christmas tree entertainment at 6 o'clock, Program and concert at 7.30 o'clock.

Thursday—Women's Missionary Society at 3.30 p.m., afternoon.

ST. JOHN'S NOTICES

Monday—St. John's Day.

Tuesday—Holy Innocents Day.

Children rehearse for Thursday's Party, 9.30 a.m.

Thursday.Sunday School children at 7.30 p.m. Members of the congregation are asked to send cakes to the school at 4 p.m. on Thursday afternoon. This party is for teachers and scholars only. Parents and friends will be invited to a specially prepared programme to be given early in the New Year, but are requested not to come on Thursday the 30th.

The Rev. Canon Davidson announced at both services yesterday that the new Canadian Church hymnal will be used for the future, A and M numbers will not be announced.

ST. ANDREW'S.

The Christmas services at St. Andrew's church yesterday were particularly interesting and inspiring. The choir loft and pulpit were decorated with evergreens, and across the choir railing were placed in large letters of evergreen the words: "Peace on earth, good will to men." The decorations were done by the Young Men's Guild.

The musical services were excellent. At both services the initial numbers were bright Christmas carols. The anthems were also apropriate and well rendered. The solo work of Miss Olive Howell ,and the leader, wm. Gordon Wright, was exceptionally good.

Miss Marjorie Brodie, of Toronto, grand-daughter of County Judge Eamison, who has been a welcome visitor to St. Andrew's each holiday season, delighted everybody with her splendid selections, which she delivered in a forceful and pleasing manner.

Miss Brodie has sung in Toronto, but this was her first public appearance in church work in Peterborough, and her many admirers will congratulate her on her unqualified success.

In the morning she sang "Come Unto Me," and in the evening, "Hark What Mean Thouse Holy Voices."

Morrow For Mayor

DIED.

LIGHTFOOT.—On Sunday, December 26th, at her home, 352 Stewart St., Cora Ethel Lightfoot, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lightfoot.

Funeral on Tuesday, December 28th, at 2.30 p.m., to Little Lake cemetery.

Y. M. C. A. CAMPAIGN

To-morrow the Boys of the Y.M.C.A. open their campaign to raise $250.00. This money will be used to furnish their own rooms which at present do not offer the attraction they would if the walls were decorated, better games provided and more comfortable furniture installed.

The campaign is being conducted entirely by the Boys who feel that they will receive generous support on account of the nature of their work in the Y.M.C.A. and the fact that this is the first time they have asked any assistance from the citizens. The canvas will continue till Wednesday night.

Any person who is interested in the Boys' Department might place a subscription directly in the hands of the Boys' Secretary as the boys may overlook some well disposed friends.

It is worthy of mention that the members themselves are raising $25 of the amount required, thus showing their desire to help themselves as well as solicit assistance.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding, or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refuded. 50c.

IMPRESSIONS OF CHRISTMAS EVE CAUGHT IN THE CROWDS

Busy Crowds Hurried Here and There—Hundreds Arrived Home for the Holiday and all Jostled Here and There Happy in the Spirit of the Day.

SOME OF THE INCIDENTS

Christmas Eve, 1909, in the words of the song from "The Prince To-night," will never come again. It passed quietly and uneventfully into history just as the old year is rapidly declining and will soon be relegated to the almost forgotten past. To dwell upon the fact only enkindles feelings of regret that the days and years are inevitably slipping by us and the sense of utter helplessness to arrest old Father Time in his monotonous diurnal round only dulls the edge of hope and begets thoughts that were better unconceived. The night before Christmas should find the world happy and the people individually endeavouring to broaden the spirit of good will the occasion fosters. And Friday night was a typical Christmas eve. True, the wind was not blowing a loose snow about the streets, nor did a keen frosty air sting and bite, but the Santa Claus crowds were out, old familiar faces were recognized after an absence, hearty wishes for the best the season afforded were heard on every hand and altogether a happy, genial spirit was evidenced in the many smiles and hand shakes and the good natured struggling along the pavements.

The incoming trains were long overdue but the expectant friends heeded not this unavoidable inconvenience. Noticeable among the conveyances that were driven around the narrow limits of the station yard were many farmers' sleighs from the cutter to the long "Bob." It was a striking evidence of the fact that country boys and girls really leave home, as is often stated, and Christmas eve is one of the few occasions which afford the opportunity of a visit home to the old folks. And are they really glad to get home? That question would have been answered satisfactorily to anyone who was not interested in the arrival of one of his own kin. Will or Jack as the case happened to be, was spied by sister as he elbowed his way through the throng, but there, you can draw the rest of the picture yourself. The city folk emptied from the C.P.R. local that arrived about ten o'clock and a waiting street car with a hand strap and the vestibule crowded sped on up town, while the luckless conductor attempted to collect the fares and punch transfers.

The street cars carried hundreds of people throughout the day and particularly in the evening. Some of the conductors exhausted their supply of tickets when the traffic was at its height ,and Inspector McCann had to secure $5 or $30 worth more. Apart from the regular business some of the conductors were considerate enough to assist an occasional traveller who had reached the stage when he became separated from his pals, and after considerble trouble sprawled into the car as the safest and easiest way home.

In the stores the clerks put forth an extra effort to attend to the wants of the hundreds who waited until the last moment to make their purchases. "Gee, this has been an awful day Kate" sighed the girl who sold the white goods as she paused for a moment beside her nearest neighbour, the girl behind the stocking counter, "I feel as if my Slaters were lined with lead. Lend me your knife, I broke my lend pencil." Down in the office the proprietor was all smiles and had a half idea to raise the salary of the whole staff. Monday morning he probably saw things in another light.

The women had a "high" time. They had been looking for Christmas Eve for the past three weeks and purposely left some article unbought as an excuse to crowd into the stores. They at any rate appeared to enjoy the jam. A fire sale or Thursday morning's white lawn "special" was tame in comparison to this. The only disappointing feature was the absence of some particular line that everyone was grabbing for as at one of those special bargain affairs. Anyway they were enthused with the Christmas spirit and would not haggle with a clerk nor attempt to buy the waist Mrs. Blank was looking at. A little careful glance here and there proved that the men were much in the minority in spite of the fact that they had been at work all day. They were either outside, behind a baby carriage or at home preparing about that time to put the tots to bed, dilating upon all the good things that mamma was going to tell Santa Claus to bring.

And in those crowds were here and there persons who could not afford to be lavish in their expenditure and yet they wanted to get something that would not fail to please some dear one. With them it was not just a case of what to buy, their difficulty was to obtain the best their scanty means would allow.

Christmas brings its little worries. They are really not worries, but cause a sort of perplexity for the time being and afterwards repay the individual by the happiness that has been occasioned. While the average person may say "Well, I'm glad that's over" down in their hearts they regret the passing of Christmas and dearly hope that it will be their lot to enjoy another and many of them.

Good Resolves

FOR

1910

This is the time for making good resolutions for the New Year.

Here's a Good one:-

That I will not put off until to-morrow what I can do to-day.

The best Clothing can be obtained from

Merrell & Meredith

New Year's Gifts

Splendid Suggestions to offer you.

The time to get them is

Now!

And the Place

Merrell & Meredith

NOBODY SPARED

Kidney Troubles Attack Peterborough Men and Women, Old and Young.

Kidney ills seize young and old.
Come quickly with little warning.
Children suffer in their early years,
Can't control the kidney secretions.
Girls are languid, nervous, suffer pain.
Women worry, can't do daily work.
Men have lame and aching backs.
The cure for man, woman or child.
Is to cure the cause—the kidneys.
Booth's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys.

Cure all forms of kidney suffering. Peterborough testimony proves it.

Mrs. A. Graham, of 547 Water St., Peterborough, Ont., says: "My back was so weak and tender that I could not turn in bed. A heavy dull pain had settled across the small of it and caused me almost constant suffering. I became weak and languid. I was run down generally and had little ambition to move around. Headaches were frequent and often accompanied by spells of dizziness. Spots would dazzle before my eyes and I would be unable to see. I had tried numerous remedies without getting results. Booth's Kidney Pills were advertised at McDermid & Jury's Pharmacy, which I tried and soon found relief. The kidneys were quickly regulated and each symptom of kidney trouble was quickly cured. I am glad to recommend Booth's Kidney Pills as I believe them to be the best and most reliable of all kidney remedies."

Sold by dealers. Price 50 cents. The R. T. Booth Co., Limited, Fort Erie, Ont., Sole Canadian Agents.

Morrow For Mayor

We're in

GOOD HUMOUR

A Bumper Holiday Business prompts us to bargain generosity.

If you have overlooked giving a Present in FURS for Xmas, what more appropriate time for reconsideration and choosing one for New Year's Day ? Second Thoughts are best.

You'll find anything you need in Furs at Holiday Prices at

Wm. E. Lech
366 GEORGE STREET With Tiger Marble Floor. Call 736
Near Corner of Simcoe Street.

ADAMS' STORE FOR WOMEN

383 George St. 486 TELEPHONE

NEW YEAR'S GIFTS

After a tremendous Christmas business we have many broken lots of Xmas Goods which we are going to clear this week regardless of profit. You may have overlooked a friend during the Xmas rush and would like to remember them with a New Year's Gift, if so visit Adams' this week and share in the bargains we are offering.

Boxed Collars
Beautiful fancy Collars. Each boxed in a fancy box. Our special Xmas 25c line all this week, your choice for 19c

50c Boxed Collars 39c
3 dozen beautiful fancy boxed Collars, each box contains a Collar and a Frill to match. Extra Xmas value 50c. Your choice all this week, for 39c

Hair Pin Holders
2 dozen beautiful hand painted Hair Pin Holders nicely trimmed with ribbon, a very useful article, regular 35c. This week your choice for 19c

Handkerchiefs—2 for 25c
One lot of Handkerchiefs, our regular 20c and 25c lines all thrown into one basket. Your choice 2 for 25c

Similar Reductions also in the followings:—

LACE SCARFS | KID GLOVES | FANCY BELTS
SILK SCARFS | BED ROOM SLIPPERS | PHOENIX MUFFLERS
FASCINATORS | FANCY COLLARS | LINEN CENTRES

and several other lines, appropriate New Year's Gifts

Results Of The Tests Of Milk In Peterborough

Folowing is the milk test for the last month:

W. J. Robertson	3.8	D. R. McGregor	4.4
J. J. McCrea	3.6	C. Lasenby	3.6
E Butler	3.6	E. Curtis	3.4
T. Lillico	3.5	T. H. Dick	4.4
W. C. Fallis	3.9	W. Curtis	3.4
E. Marshall	4.5	E. L. Duffus	4.4
W. Brumwell	4.4	W. Goodfellow	4.
G. S. Shaughnessey	3.8	H. Cox	3.9
J. A. Wilson	3.8	S. W. Londry	4.1
E. Hunter	4.1	J. W. Lewis	2.8
C. McBride	3.6	W. Brown	3.4
		Isaac Hetherington	4.22
		George Dobbin	3.9

CAROL SERVICE AT ST. JOHN'S

Nearly fifty voices in St. John's Chancel last night gave a magnificent rendering of the Christmas Festival Evensong. From the opening hymn, "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," to the recmonal "Our Day of Praise is done," the service was joyous, but devout and uplifting, the great theme of Praise and Worship dominating the whole congregation. The music was distinctly Anglican. Many lovely choral effects being obtained by grouping of parts, indeed not a single solo was sung. The employment of soprano and tenor voices in verses with full chorus refrains, was a happy arrangement, but the most striking carol of the service was W. F. Sherwin's setting to the Rev. John Carwood's Christmas Hymn, "Hark! What Mean Those Holy Voices." Four tenor voices sing the opening melody accompanied by four alto voices, moving by thirds in similar motion, and finely blended. The chorus was sung in four part harmony with the Soprano ladies singing the obligato, "Glory in The Highest," concluding with full choir in the last lines. A word should be said of the Anthem "While Shepherds Watched," a descriptive anthem with plenty of scope for good choral singing, which was easily achieved by the choristers. "Never heard such Carols in St. John's during the twenty-seven years I have attended," said a gentleman to some of the choir at the end of the service. "It was splendid."

Considerable work must have been put in at rehearsal by the choir which gave to show what may be accomplished chorally by a well organized body of singers, who voluntarily and unselfishly give their services to the church, their reward and joy being in the giving and rendering of their best.

SANTA CLAUS AT THE SALVATION ARMY TEMPLE

Christmas night at the Salvation Army Barracks was celebrated by a Christmas tree for the children. A telegram was received from Santa Claus announcing the time of his arrival and the little ones were all agog when in he came, and, strange to say, he knew them all by name. The presents were taken from the tree and passed around to the little ones. Mr. R. C. Braund was largely instrumental in arranging the success of the affair.

Kidney and Liver Medicated Pads

Cure all Kidney and Urinary Weakness, Pains in back, Lumbago, Rheumatic, Neuralgia. All Liver and Stomach complaints. All male weakness, painful and irregular periods. Men, Women and Children are benefitted alike. Price one pair one dollar. But to quickly introduce will mail with first order One Pair Free—that is two pairs on receipt of this advertisment and one dollar. Order to-day this cheap and reliable treatment. 4
Address—THE MEDICATED PAD COMPANY
90 VICTORIA AVE., WINDSOR, ONT., CANADA

It's Confidence That Does It

Season's Greetings

At this, the Festive Season, we offer our thanks to the public for their liberal patronage during the year now rapidly drawing to a close. It has been our constant endeavor to give satisfaction to everyone, and the results of the year's business would seem to indicate that we have in a great measure succeeded.

Ready again to serve you with FAMILY GROCERIES, perfect in quality, perfectly kept and moderately priced.

CANDY, don't be without Candy. New Year's wouldn't be New Year's without Candy. We have bushels of it and Nuts and other Table delicacies,

WHITE & GILLESPIE

What a Lady saw at McWilliams' Fur Store and pronounced a most suitable and reasonable Xmas Gift.

An Empire Sable Muff for only $12.

not dyed nor coloured, but original fur. Exceptional value. Ask to see them.

E. N. McWILLIAMS

374 George St. - Peterborough

A New Year's Resolution

"I purpose buying my Footwear for 1910 at

R. McWHINNIE'S

BOTH PHONES, 384 GEORGE ST

Brock St. Rink

Season 1909-10

Tickets for the season entitling the holder to a skating privileges, on sale Monday, Dec. 13th, at F. B. Clarke & Son, E. N. McWilliams, W. A. Vanderson, W. Madill, Payne's Drug Store, McDermid & Jury, and at the rink.

Gentlemen ...$3.00
Ladies 2.00
Youths 16 to 18..$2
Boys under 16, 1.50
Girls 1.50

NO EXTRA CHARGE

The Oliver Back-Spacer—
The Oliver Tabulator—
The Oliver Line-Ruling Device—

Each supplements and completes the others for billing, statement, or any kind of statistical work and up-to-date correspondence.

LET US SHOW YOU HOW AND WHY

THE PETERBOROUGH TYPEWRITER COMPANY

PUBLIC STENOGRAPHERS
AUDITORS and BOOK-KEEPERS

Phone 655 159 SIMCOE STREET

DOMINION CHINESE

328 George CAFE 328 George

Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch, don't forget to call at

283 George St. HARRY HAMILTON

Ice Cream and Soft Drinks

Toronto Savings and Loan Company

Notice is hereby given that a Quarterly Dividend at the rate of six per cent (6%) per annum for the three months ending December 31st, 1909, has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this Comp'y, together with a bonus of two per cent 2%) for the year 1909, making a total dividend disbursement for the year of eight per cent (8%). The said dividend and bonus will be payable at the office of the company in this city on and after January 1st, 1910.

The transfer books of the company will be closed from the 17th to the 31st of December, both days inclusive.

W. G. MORROW MANAGING DIRECTOR

Peterboro, Dec. 10th, 1909.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

THE LATEST NEWS OF SPORT — TOLD IN BRIEF FORM

WHITCROFT WILL FIGURE ON THE EDMONTON CUP TEAM

At the reuest of the players of the team, a meeting of the executive of the Edmonton Hockey Club, in conjunction with the players, will be held to-morrow afternoon at five o'clock in the parlour of the Young Mens' Liberal Club, to reconsider the refusal of the Stanley Cup dates by the executive at a meeting last week at which only a few of the members were present.

It is understood that a number of the members of the executive who were not notified of the meeting in time to be present, are in favour of sending the team east after the cup, although the Patricks have been lost. The players are anxious to go, and if Hay Miller will consent to make one of the team are prepared to take the matter of financing the trip into their own hands. The necessary money it is claimed, could easily be raised by subscription.

Edmonton hockeyists are certainly anxious to see a team go east after the cup, and it is thought would rather see Edmonton represented by a team that had a fighting chance than by none at all.

The players who would figure on the team would be: Millar, right wing; Bolton, left wing; Ross, cover point; Deeton, centre; Winchester, goal; Whitcroft, rover, and one other player in view for the point position.

It is not likely that the executive will take any further action, but the players are very much in earnest and will make an effort to keep the dates given Edmonton by the trustees.

THE ONLY PITCHER WHO HAD THE GOAT OF HANS WAGNER

"Hans Wagner as a baseball player, has no weakness," writes Hugh S. Fullerton in the January American Magazine. He continues:

"As a player, Wagner's work should be studied piecemeal," and starting with the branch of the game in which perhaps he is most proficient. Excepting possibly Anson and Cobb, Wagner is the greatest batter that ever faced a pitcher. He stands loosely slouchily in the batter's box, leaning slightly forward and watching every motion of the pitcher. He runs forward, moves in and out around the batter's box, and hits with a lunging swing with the full power of his massive shoulders behind the drive of his arms.

"'It's no use to fool him,' complained one pitcher this summer. 'Why, I fooled him three times on fast curves to-day, and after he had been fooled he followed the ball through with his hat and hit it.'

"Pitchers who have looked for Wagner's weakness at the bat say he has none. 'His only weakness,' said Brown, of Chicago, 'is a fast straight over the plate, waist high. He doesn't think any pitcher has nerve enough to put one there, and he's likely to miss it.'

"During all his career there never has been but one pitcher who troubled Wagner all the time, and he was Jack Taylor, formerly of the Chicago club. The first time Taylor pitched against Wagner he has successful, and he said when cimplimented: 'That Dutchman can never make a base-hit off me.' Every one laughed at the boast, but the players say that during six years in which Taylor pitched against Wagner, and he pitched, perhaps a dozen games a year, being especially effective against Pittsburg, Wagner never made but one hit off his delivery, and that time he turned around, batted left-handed and made a two-base hit.

"Taylor used a slow ball almost entirely against Wagner, a slow floater, low, and over the inside corner of the plate, mixed with a tantalizing slow curve just outside. The word went around that Taylor had at last discovered 'Wagner's 'weakness,' and pitchers began trying him on slow ones, but stopped suddenly, when Wagner started shattering the outfield fences with the ball, taking a short run forward to meet the slow ones and breaking up the games with long hits."

FITZ WAS BEATEN

Veteren Lasted Twelve Rounds Against Bill Lang the Australian Champion—Was a Hard Bout.

FITZ WORKED HARD

Sydney, N.S.W., Dec. 27.—The veteran Bob Fitzsimmons lasted twelve rounds out of the scheduled twenty in his battle to-day with Bill Lang, the Australian champion, in the Stadium at Rushcutter's Bay. They fought for a $12,500 purse, dividing 60 and 40 per cent. Fitz needed the money, and took a desperate chance against a hard hitting second-rater.

The fight opened rather tamely, Lang showing extreme nervousness. He was freely hooted for holding in the clinches and frequently butting his opponent and refusing to break clean, Fitzsimmons, on the contrary, fought cleanly and quickly become the favourite of the crowd.

As the fight progressed Lang regained confidence and forced the pace, but Fitzsimmons cleverly evaded his rushes and frequently landed good blows on the face and body. In a hot rally in the eleventh round Fitzsimmons cut Lang's right eye with a left hand punch.

When the twelfth and last round opened Lang rushed Fitzsimmons through the ropes and floored him with a right hand swing. Fitz took the count of nine and rose groggy. Lang was at him fiercely as soon as he regained his feet, battering the tottering veteran about the ring. He forced Fitzsimmons against the ropes and with a hard right uppercut on the jaw sent him down and out.

Lang was a strong favourite in the betting at odds of 1 to 2. His weight was announced as 188 pounds, while Fitzsimmons gave his as 156. Arthur Scott was the referee. The weather was warm and 12,000 spectators witnessed the fight.

HOAGLAND WON

Defeated Champion of Pennsylvania in a Handicap Walk.

Elmira, Dec. 24—Willard A. Hoagland, the champion heel and toe walker of the world, defeated R. H. Hubbell, the champion of Pennsylvania, here last night in a ten-mile walk, at the State Armoury. Time one hour, 24 minutes, 45 seconds. Hubbell was given a handicap of a quarter of a mile.

SPORT NOTES

There will be a full practice of the Intermediate and Junior O. H. A. teams at Brock Street Rink to-night between 7 and 8 o'clock, and every candidiate for both teams is asked to be out in uniform, as there is not much time left to get into shape before the season opens. The teams will practise on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, between 7 and 8 o'clock, and all players are asked to turn out.

There is some promising material for the Peterborough junior O. H. A. team, and a seven will be placed on the ice that will give the Lindsay team and the Collegiate Institute a very hard battle for the honours. There is an abundance of stuff for a forward line, but from the present indications the team is a little lacking for defence material. However, this difficulty may be wiped out before long and the practices may uncover some stars that have not been looked for.

The Collegiate Institute seven will be strong this year, and the garnet and gray proposition is looked upon as a probable winner of the district. They play their first game two weeks from to-night with Lindsay, which by the way, will open the O. H. A. season in Peterborough.

Jock Oldham's West End City League team had their first workout of the season on Christmas morning at Brock St. rink and the rail birds ope ned their eyes when they saw the bunch that wily West End magnate trotted out. He had a big squad in uniform and they chased the puck for over an hour in a fashion that promises breakers ahead for some of the other City League teams before the schedule is unravelled. Connie Halpin of last year's West End team, was between the goal posts and showed that his eye had lost none of its cunning by picking off shot after shot in cool fashion. Len Dobson and Jack Seymour of last year's Strathconas, were among the squad and the two will add great strength to the West Enders. Dobson is apparently faster than ever this season and Seymour was also going great guns. Hal. Wallis, last year with the Chieftains, and Collegiate was a promising youngster was in line and among the others out were Charlie Dobson, Harry Munro, Cyril Giroux, Ben[illegible] and several others.

The West Ends will appear in attractive new uniforms this season. will be yellow and black and the body of the sweater being in black with yellow trimmings.

All the City League teams have sent in their deposits to Secretary-Treasurer Craig, which means that Keene, West Ends, T.A.S. and Strathconas are in the race for keeps. All four have their teams practically rounded up now and all that is left is to get them into shape. In this respect Keene will have a little over the others, as they have already been at work for over a week while the local teams are just beginning training. However, this disadvantage will be counterbalanced by the difference in the size of the two rinks.

It is rumoured that Bill Short, with the West Ends and Peterborough Junior O.H.A. teams last year, will be with the Keene City League team this season.

It is likely that the West Ends will send a team to Keene to-morrow night to give the Otonabee team a practice game.

The Peterborough Intermediate and Junior O. H. A. teams had a good workout at Brock St. rink on Christmas morning. A good squad was out in uniform including the following: Derocher, Giroux, Gordon Nichols, Winch, Denison, Len Dobson, Charlie Ray, Weatherstone, McMillin, Pratt, Halpany, Burritt, Waram.

"Jakie Moore, cover point for the Peterborough Intermediate O. H. A. team last year came down from Toronto to spend the holiday at his home here. He will be with the Toronto Canoe Club this season. Dick Baker, former trainer of the Strathconas, is handling the liniment for the same outfit. "Jakie" says that Wallie Parnell is with the Parkdale Canoe Club and that the two Peterborough players will have to play against each other on Wednesday night, when their two teams play an exhibition game.

MR. MASON RESIGNS

His Position on Board of Education to Run for Mayor.

Mr. E. F. Mason tendered his resignation to the Board of Education at a special meeting this morning. This does not entail the election of another member to the Board, but at the first meeting in the new year the members will appoint a success to Mr. Mason, whose term of office was not terminated until December, 1910. A member of the Board explained to an Examiner reporter to-day that it was within their power to make this appointment. He could not tell who would be chosen.

Spruce Up For The NEW YEAR

And have your Cutters and Sleighs repaired and put in good condition when the snow flies. By

BEN YELLAND

174 Murray Street

Card From

Alderman GILLESPIE

(Second Term)

Ladies and Gentlemen :—

Please accept my best wishes at this joyous season for a Happy and Prosperous New Year. I feel grateful for the many expressions of kindness and support during 1909, and as you have made me one of your Second Term Aldermen, I renew my promise of endeavouring to serve the best interests of the city in 1910, as I have strives to do in 1909.

Geo. A. Gillespie.

Meats Poultry Fruit Vegetables, Provisions

Our large Store is the foremost Meat Market in the city. Best place to buy not only Turkeys and Meats, but also a host of other items of importance for the Hoiday Table.

Western Beef

Nothing more substantial or delicious than our well-fed Western beef. We are carrying a heavy stock, and can supply the public with anything from a tongue to a tail.

Choice Sealshipt Oysters and other Good Things to eat.

S. A. OKE

340 GEORGE STREET

Phone 276

SUNLIGHT SOAP

JUST THINK!

With half the labor, and at half the cost of other soap, Sunlight does the whole washing in half the time, yet without injuring the most delicate fabric.

LATEST CITY NEWS.

Probabilities.

Westerly winds, partly cloudy with light, local snow falls.

Tuesday—Westerly winds ,fair and moderately cold.

New Church.

"If this should meet the eye of any New Church people in Peterborough or vicinity, will they please call on Mr. E. Hawkinson, 310 Maitland Avenue in that city.

We Repair and Clean Clothing.

The gay winter season is here with its many social functions. Let us take your dresses and wraps, repair and clean them so they will look like new. We make a specialty of repairing winter overcoats. W. B. Rickey, "My Valet," 204 Charlotte St. Phone 575.

A Superior Gift.

—Exceptional quality of tone and brilliancy; nothing superior ,and few equals, constructed for durability, to last a life time and improve with use, The Celebrated Karn Pianos; 171 Simcoe street. Terms to suit purchasers; inspection invited. Reynor and Cunningham.

Dennistoun's Xmas.

—Tags, Xmas. Seals, Xmas. Gum Labels, large and varied assortment of the best designs; regular price 10c for 5c, Holly-covered empty boxes for sending away gifts at half price. The biggest and best Holly Box of Note Paper and Envelopes, regular 25c for 15c, at Stratton's Retiring Sale. Everything must be sold before Xmas. Shop in the morning.—A. H. Stratton & Co.

Order Your Fruit Early for Christmas.

And save our drivers delivering on Christmas morning. We have the very best goods we can get for our trade, such as Boston Head Lettuce, Cucumbers, Celery Lettuce, Green Onions, the very best California and Mexican Oranges, Florida Grape Fruit, fancy Malaga Grapes, Dates, Figs, Select Table Raisins, Candies, Nuts, Fish and Oysters of all kinds, Holly and Mistletoe. Thanking you all for generous trade durin gthe season. Order early and you will get better attention. WALTER J. OKE.

What We Manufacture.

—The Peterborough Showcase Co., situated at 709 Water street, manufactures all designs of counter cases, silent salesmen showcases, wall cases, store fittings, and all designs of high-grade cabinet work, such as china cabinets, kitchen cabinets, music cabinets, writing desks, book cases, medicine cases, etc. Furniture made to order and repaired. Dealers in British plate glass and mirrors. All sizes. Second-hand silent salesman for sale. Corner Smith and Water streets. Call and see the works.

WENT UP FOR 10 DAYS

Two Indians in Police Court This Morning for Being Drunk.

Two Indians were before Magistrate Dumble, at the Police Court this morning, charged with infractions of the Liquor License Act on Christmas Day. One of these was the celebrity, Billy Naughon, the pedestrian from Hiawatha and the other was a man by the name of Peters from the Rama reserve who came to Peterborough to spend the holiday. When asked where they got their liquor they said that a man whose name they did not know, gave it to them.

His Worship fined them each five dollars to be paid forthwith or ten days in gaol. They had to take the latter as they had no money.

Wm. Ramsay from Rice Lake was allowed to go. He pleaded guilty to being drunk on Saturday but it being his first offence he was dismissed.

Morrow For Mayor

MANY PRESENTS

Children in the Margaret Cox Home for Girls Were Remembered.

The girls of the Margaret Cox Home for Girls were the recipients of abundant Christmas cheer, and many useful gifts from the following generous donors:

Mr. and Mrs. Cressman—A gift for each.
Mr. Robert Cox—A goose.
Mr. Wm. Kemp—Turkey.
Mrs. Wm. Davidson—Cake, oranges, nuts and candies.
Mr. Hamilton—Turkey.
Mr. J. E. A. Fitzgerald—Oranges.
Mr. Wm. Stock & Sons—Cake, flour, soap, for each.
Mr. H. S. MacDonald—Perfume for each.
Mr. Robt. Fair—Candies.
Mr. E. F. Mason—Oranges, nuts, candies, nuscatels.

Morrow For Mayor

GET BUSY!

GREAT CREDIT SALE

—OF—

Ladies' and Men's Ready-to-wear Clothing

We give you a grand opportunity to get your new holiday outfits in the very latest styles and materials, It makes no difference whether you have the cash or not. Here are a few of our extra special bargains :

Ladies' Garments

6 only Suits, black, blue and green Venetian striped goods, very latest shades, regular $15 to $20, holiday prices $10

5 only Ladies' black and blue Coats, Venetia and Melton cloths, nicely trimmed, regular from $18 to $25, $15

6 Coats, different shades in Beaver and Venetian Cloths, regular prices $15 to $20, holiday sale .. $12

Ladies' Skirts, in Venetian cloths, different shades and colors, very nicely trimmed, reg. $6 to $7, for $4

Special line of Ladies' Waists, silk and net silk lined, different shades and all sizes, reg. $5 to $6, holiday price... ..... $2.49

Men's Clothing

On all our Men's Suits the entire stock, embracing all the latest fashions and shades of material special holiday offering 20 PER CENT OFF.

3 only Men's Beaver Overcoats, with Persian Lamb collar, the very best in this season's style, were sold at $30..... $22.50

Men's Beaver Cloth Coats, with velvet collars, reg. $14 to $16, for.. $11

A few Men's Military and College colour Coats, assorted shades, run from $14 to $18, special from ..... $11 to $15

HOUSEFURNISHINGS Very nice line of Tapestry and Chenille Curtains, Table Covers in specially good patterns, Squares and Rugs, House Linen, etc., all reduced.

Special line of All Wool Blankets, reg. from $6 to $8 for $5.00.

Come and see us, and whether you buy or not we will present you with a beautiful Calendar. Open evenings until Christmas.

OUR TERMS SUIT ALL—CASH OR CREDIT

The Knickerbocker Co.

422 George Street — Opposite Examiner Office

Grand Opera House, Wednesday, Dec. 29

HOWARD HALL CO. Presents the Greatest Laughing Comedy of the Period Acts, in 3 acts

OTHER PEOPLE'S MONEY With the Well-Known Character Comedian

JAMES R. WAITE and a Superb Company of Players The Funniest Comedy Ever Written

Prices 15c, 25c, 35c, 50c and 75c. PLAN NOW OPEN.

WAS RE-ELECTED

Mr. W. H. Moore, the retiring member of the Board of Water Commissioners, was this morning re-elected by acclamation. This is a matter for congratulation to both Mr. Moore and the pulic, whob have received the benefit of his excellent services for the past seven years. Peterborough has been most haply in its choice of water commissioners, who have shown so great usiness capacity and administrative ability that they have received repeated public endorsation by repeated re-election. Mr. Matthews has continuously been a member of the Board, and chairman, to boot, since the city acquired the water works in 1901; Mr. W. H. Hill has also been a member for eight years, and Mr. Moore enters upon his eighth year. The normal term is three years. Mr. Moore was due to retire this year, but was re-elected. Mr. Hill's term expires, next year, and Mr. Matthews, who was re-elected last year, has two years more to serve before he will need to present himself for re-election.

On Friday afternoon the members of the echanical Department of the Examiner presented their foreman, Mr. Harry Donnelly, with a handsome umbrella, as a token of the esteem in which he is held by them.

COOK IN CANADA?

Discredited Explorer Believed to Have Been in London To-day.

Special to The Examiner.

London, Dec. 227.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, the discredited explorer is believed to have spent a few minutes in London this morning. Thomas Pinch, a News agent says that a man closely resembling rD. Cook bought a paper from his stand at six twelve this morning and while comparing his features with the magazine of Dr. Cook he read the card on the tag of teh travellers' grip which read "Dr. F. A. Cook." The man took the train for Detroit a moment later

THE ROUTE TO GOWGANDA

Is via Grand Trunk to North Bay, T. & N. O. Railway, North Bay, to Charlton, thence by stage route to Elk Lake and Gowganda. The service from Charlton is performed by covered sleighs, accommodating eight passengers each, containing footwarmers and modern in every respect. Connecting with 10.20 p.m. train from Toronto. Arrangements have been made to issue through tickets, also to check baggage through. Full information and tickets from Mr. W. Bunton, City Agent; F. Sandy, Depot Agent.

The Aftermath of Christmas Business!

Christmas Selling always leaves us with many broken lines and odd articles, which we dispose of during this season at a big reduction from regular price.

These are a few of the lines which bear the reduced prices :

Plain and Fancy Handkerchiefs
Silk Initial Handkerchiefs
Fancy Boxed Frills
Fancy Evening Scarfs
Leather Hand Bags and Purses
Fancy Neckwear and Collars
Muslin, Silk and Net Blouses
Golf Coats and Jackets
Ladies' and Children's Coats
Fancy Belts in Boxes
Plain and Fancy Dress Silks
Many Lines of Dress Goods
Fancy Drawn Work Linens
Battenburg Art Linens
Knitted Wool Gloves
Wool and Fur Lined Gloves

If you have neglected some person or receive an unexpected gift, you can reciprocate at very little cost by visiting this store to-day.

ROBERT FAIR & CO.

383 GEORGE STREET : : LIMITED

Window Shades. Curtain Poles.

THE GOLDEN LION STORE

DR. YOUNG
305 Stewart St., Peterborough
SPECIALTIES—Surgery and Diseases of Children
Both Phones 347 lydw

The Evening Examiner.

WATERSON FRAMER'S latest pictures and calendar going quickly. Make your present us once and let us Frame for you. Our Factory is working Day and Night.
Pillsworths' Picture & Art Store, 420 George Street

VOL. XLVII No. 150 PETERBOROUGH TUESDAY DECEMBER 2f 1909 PRICE TWO CENTS

THE GOLDEN LION STORE

The Aftermath of Christmas Business!

Christmas Selling always leaves us with many broken lines and odd articles, which we dispose of during this season at a big reduction from regular price.

These are a few of the lines which bear the reduced prices :

Plain and Fancy Handkerchiefs
Silk Initial Handkerchiefs
Fancy Boxed Frills
Fancy Evening Scarfs
Leather Hand Bags and Purses
Fancy Neckwear and Collars
Muslin, Silk and Net Blouses
Golf Coats and Jackets
Ladies' and Children's Coats
Fancy Belts in Boxes
Plain and Fancy Dress Silks
Many Lines of Dress Goods
Fancy Drawn Work Linens
Battenburg Art Linens
Knitted Wool Gloves
Wool and Fur Lined Gloves

If you have neglected some person or receive an unexpected gift, you can reciprocate at very little cost by visiting this store to-day.

ROBERT FAIR & CO.
383 GEORGE STREET : : LIMITED
Window Shades. Curtain Poles

Peterborough Music Company
Special Inducements for the Christmas Season in Pianos & Organs

We carry in stock the high-class DOMINION, MARTIN-ORME, BELL and MASON & RISCH PIANOS, and the old favourite BELL, DOMINION and THOMAS ORGANS—the cream of the trade.

It is surprising the number of suggestions you find here—Phonographs Violins, Banjos, Guitars, Accordeons, Piccolos, Flutes, Autoharps, Mandolins Harmonicas, Music Portfolios, Music Rolls, Sheet Music—all specially priced for the Christmas trade.

J. P. CUNNINGHAM - PROPRIETOR
404 George Street. 2 Doors North of Hunter Street.

Eye Help for the Long Evenings

Reading and Fancy Work will soon make eyes busy at sitting room and library tables. All right if the eyes are perfect. Alright if the troublesome eyes have the needed help. So easy to hurt the eyes—so easy to help them if you start in time. Our optical specialist will fit your exact need if glasses will help you. Then if you wish we will supply the perfect lenses set in whatever frame you choose. Prices will vary from $1 to $12 per pair. We replace broken lenses with or without prescription, at 50c to $3 each. Solder repairs 25c to 25c. Frames 25c to $5.

J. W. BROWETT Optical Specialist, Teacher of Opticians. Graduate of Optical Colleges of Montreal, Toronto, Philadelphia, New York, Chicago and Detroit.

MANY APPOINTMENTS ARE MADE FOR DAY OR EVENING EXAMINATIONS BY TELEPHONE — BELL 1221, MACHINE 7.

Over twenty years experience in examining Eyes for Glasses.

The Peterborough Optical Institute
IN THE MARKET BUILDING : : GEORGE STREET

A RETURN GIFT

On New Years Day will be appreciated by those you forget to remember during the rush of Christmas. If the gift you want is for a man, there is no other such stock—no such variety—no satisfying assortment of suitable things, such as Neckwear, Shirts, Underwear, Gloves, Hosiery, Braces, Handkerchiefs, to be found elsewhere in Peterborough.

H. LeBRUN & CO.

ROYAL

If you want to enjoy an hour's pleasant and innocent amusement seeing good pictures and good Vaudeville come to the Royal.

Special Vaudeville for To-day

Hedder & Son
COMEDY ACROBATS

The wonderful comedy acrobats, Hedder & Son, who are known all over the United States and Canada, will appear in their very exciting and very funny acrobatic tricks. The little boy is a child-wonder, being the greatest acrobat of his age and size in America.

COMPLETE CHANGE OF MOTION PICTURES

Extra new films for to-night the latest, most up-to-date and best that have yet been produced. Do not miss the Royal to-night for something good in Motion Pictures and Vaudeville.

— NEW ILLUSTRATED SONG —

5c—ADMISSION—5c

PHONE 679

Same To You!

Peterborough's High-Class Men's-Wear Shop

THE SHOP FOR MEN

Repeating what we have so often said. Our stock of Men's Furnishings contains every thing that a good dresser might ask for.

Our quality and prices are always right.

Our careful attention to your wants is unsurpassed.

We solicit your patronage.

Fashion Craft

D. L. & W.
SCRANTON COAL
THE FUEL WITHOUT A FAULT
First-Class Hardwood Cut and Split to order
R. Hicks & Co.
Office and Yards—248 Murray Street
Phones Nos. 47 and 48

Cash Paid for Second-Hand Furniture
Bargains in good Second-Hand Stoves, Heaters and Cookstoves, and other household goods at
BARRETT'S
303 George Street North of Charlotte

SON BURIED TWO MONTHS WHILE PARENTS SEARCHED THE PROVINCE

William F. Gorman Started From Cobalt for His Home in Peterborough on October 30th—Dropped Dead in Toronto the Next Night—Was Unidentified in the Morgue and Buried—Had Been Very Ill.

WOR BRO. A. P. McLEAN
Worshipful Master of Peterborough Lodge.

WOR. BRO. H. R. H. KENNER
Chairman of Last Night's Successful Celebration of St. John's Day by the Masonic Brethren.

PARENTS' LONG SEARCH

Nearly two months ago a clipping from a Toronto paper appeared in the Examiner to the effect that the body of an unknown young man had been picked up lifeless by Police Constable McGee of that city and it was thought he came from Peterborough because of the fact that his hat bore the stamp of Wm. Lech and Sons. A week or two passed and the item was forgotten, but on Saturday last Mr. Thos. Gorman, 343 Rubidge St. learned for a certainty that the body was that of his son, William P. Gorman who had written his parents on October 30th that he was ill and was coming home. Mr. and Mrs. Gorman received the letter which included a sum of money and a number of shares of mining stock. Time passed, but no word was received of their son. On account of the fact that he had been ill when he started for home his parents gradually began to fear that something had happened their son and their misgivings became more acute when every effort to locate him failed.

A Vain Search.

Mr. Gorman telephoned and wrote to the Cobalt hospital authorities and the officers of the Cobalt Central Mines, where he had worked in an endeavour to learn which direction the missing boy had taken, but the sole information obtained was that he had left suddenly but no one knew which train he had taken. The doctor who had attended the young man was communicated with and forwarded the intelligence that he had been very ill, his temperature having risen to 102 degrees when last treated by the doctor. The parents were at a loss to know what step to take to find a clue of their son. They were anxious to learn whether he had gone east or west but in an effort to secure a trace of him they telephoned to the hospitals in North Bay, Orillia, Barrie, Toronto and also in Ottawa and other eastern cities and towns, as he had told the doctor that he was going to Toronto or Ottawa.

Identified.

Mr. Gorman wrote to a friend in Toronto, Mr. J. J. Kenney, telling him that they believed their son to be in Toronto somewhere. A complete description and photograph of the young man was forwarded to Mr. Kenney who after a diligent search found a clue which cleared up the mystery of the disappearance. The undertaker identified the photograph as that of the young man who had been found dead on Hallowe'en. The identity was also proved by detectives and others. Young Gorman had been found on the night of October 31st at 11.30 o'clock and his letter from Cobalt had been stamped October 30th. The cause of his death is not exactly known but it is felt that he was deathly ill when he left Cobalt and was practically dead on reaching Toronto. The body was kept in the morgue for eight days and not being identified was buried.

A sad feature of this very sad occurrence is the fact that the boy must have felt a great illness coming over him for he left Cobalt practically as he left the mines. Instead of changing his working clothes at his boarding house he caught the first train. His machinery tools, in fact all his belongings, were left at Cobalt and the doctor states that he was very ill when he last treated him.

Was an Engineer.

William P. Gorman was born in Ottawa 22 years ago and came to Peterborough with his parents 8 years ago. He entered the C. G. E. works six years ago and learned the trade of machinist. He had many friends in the city to whom the announcement of his death will come as a great shock. About ten months ago he went to Cobalt and was engaged as an engineer at the Cobalt Central Mines. He was a quiet and unassuming young man and had every prospect of making a success of the occupation he had chosen. The members of the family, besides the sorrowing parents are two brothers, Judd, of Rochester, and Stanley at home, and his sisters, Marion, Kathleen, Marguerite and Vera.

The funeral will be held to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock from Lane & Eano's undertaking establishment to St. Peter's cemetery.

Family Re-unions At Christmas

Don't neglect the opportunity to have a group taken. It may not come again.

The Roy Studio
140½ Hunter Street
MAKERS OF THE FAMOUS SOUVENIR POST CARDS

Another large stock of

HAIR BRUSHES

bought less than Manufacture's prices.

McDermid & Jury

will sell the above Goods at a straight 25 per cent discount.

We will give special Discounts on all Xmas Goods, including —

Xmas Perfumes
Ebony Mirrors
Brush, Comb and Mirror Sets
Fountain Pens
Shaving Mirrors
Military Brushes

Don't forget the Store on the Corner Where the Street Car Turns.

McDermid & Jury
The Safe, Satisfactory Druggists

$100 REWARD $100

The Temperance League of this city offers one Hundred dollars reward for information that will lead to the Conviction of any person guilty of Bribery at the approaching vote on Local Option.

The League has been informed that an attempt will be made to buy the consciences and votes of men.

The Temperance and Moral Reform League will not be responsible for debts contracted in its name for any work or duties performed in connection with the Local Option Vote—with or without the signature of any of its officers.

All workers or agents are hereby warned against the use of any promise or threat that will in any way unduly influence any voter. Such action is totally unauthorized. 4d-150

WEDDED LESS THAN A WEEK BRIDE TAKES HER OWN LIFE

Mrs. Lousia Firth, of Shelburne, Took Strychnine While Visiting Toronto on Her Honeymoon—Was Married Last Wednesday.

A STRANGE AFFAIR

Examiner Special.

Toronto, Dec. 28.—For reasons unknown to her husband and her relatives in Toronto, Mrs. Louisa Firth, a bride of five days, yesterday committed suicide at the home of her uncle, Mr. Francis G. Dunn, 14 Parkview Avenue. She took about 20 grains of strychnine, which she had purchased in the morning at Cruttenden's drug store, at the corner of Sumach and Gerrard Streets, and died in the General Hospital last night as the result. The husband and all the people who know the woman are puzzled for an explanation of the tragedy. She apparently was in good spirits, and had been planning to buy a number of things before leaving for her home in Shelburne yesterday afternoon. She had spoken to her husband about different things which would help to ornament the new home, and it was planned to leave the house early so as to finish the shopping before 4 o'clock.

Before marriage deceased's name was Louisa Shaw, and last Wednesday she was married to a Dr. J. Firth by a minister on Broadview Avenue. They went out of town, and Sunday came back again, registering at the Winchester Hotel. They left there early yesterday morning, however, and went to Mrs. Firth's uncle, on Parkview Avenue.

About 12.30 Mr. Firth went up to his wife's room and found her lying on the bed. He spoke to her for a few minutes and told her she had better hurry and get ready or they would not get their shopping done in time to catch the train for home. He then went downstairs, but within two minutes heard a sound of something falling overhead. He and Mr. Dunn ran up and found the woman on the floor. All she said to her husband was, "I did it, and I know I shouldn't have, and I'm sorry." She then told where the bottle which had contained the poison was.

Dr. Bryans and Dr. Kinnear were called, and had the woman removed to the hospital at once. The poison had taken effect, however, and nothing could have been done for her.

The woman was 25 years of age, and had been an orphan for years. Her husband is a young man and owns a farm near Shelburne. He said he knew that she had gone to a drug store in the morning, but thought that she wanted some medicine, and thought nothing of it. She told Dr. Bryans that she had taken the poison, and begged of him to do something for her. Chief Coroner Johnson was notified and an inquest may be held. Nothing will be done till the woman's brother Mr. M. Shaw, of Dundas arrives in town.

Band at Street Railway Rink to-night.

HEAVY TRAFFIC

Regular Procession of People in and Out of Union Station, Toronto, Last Night.

The Christmas traffic began to subside with the early morning trains this morning, but until after New Years it will not sink to the normal. The trains last night were overdue and crowded. The second section of the midnight did not arrive until about 3 a.m. and was thronged. The crowds at the Union Station, Toronto, were of the usual holiday kind, in point of numbers and while hundreds returned to the Queen City just as many left for their homes in the smaller towns.

WAS SKATING AND BROKE THROUGH

Youth Had Cold Dip in Little Lake the Other Day.

Merton Adams, the young son of City Treasurer Frank Adams, had an experience the other day which he will not soon forget. He went down to skate on Little Lake, and when skating out a short distance from the shore he struck some thin ice and broke through. The water was over the youth's head and he made two unsuccessful attempts to get out, each time the ice breaking away. On his third effort he got on some safe ice and hurried to shore. It was not long before he reached his home, which, fortunately, was not far distant. He was drenched through and had to make a complete change of clothing, but nothing serious resulted from his unpleasant experience.

C. N. A. AND C. N. A. 44 New Discoveries by an old physician C. N. A. Tablets for Internal Use. C. N. A. local nourisher for external use. The two—both used in conjunction at the same time produces more invigorating, vitalizing and rejuvenating effects than has ever before been offered. Sufferers from vital weakness and lost vigor, that saps the pleasures of life, will find one of each produces wonderful invigorating, recharging and lasting results. Free Trial Sample mailed in plain package on receipt of this advertisement and six cents postage. Address—THE NERVINE CO. 90 VICTORIA AVE., WINDSOR, ONT., CANADA

HAPPY NEW YEAR

— THE — NUGENT DRUG CO.

Extend New Year Greeting to all those who have so kindly patronized this store during the past years. : :

A. A. Fowler A. J. Johnston

HAPPY NEW YEAR

Sour Stomach and Heartburn?

LITTLE DIGESTERS

CURE OR YOUR MONEY BACK

At all Druggists or direct from

COLEMAN MEDICINE CO., Toronto

25c. a Box.

Daily Examiner.

The Circulation of The Evening Examiner is now over

3000

COPIES

Sworn to and Guaranteed Detailed Statement for the year on application

The Daily Examiner, published every lawful evening, by The Peterborough Examiner, Limited. Office, 60 George Street.

The Weekly Examiner, published every Thursday morning.

The subscription price of The Daily Examiner is $4.00 per annum; that of The Weekly, $1.00.

R. M. GLOVER, Managing Director.

Advertising Rates on application.

"Peterborough Means Progress."

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 28, '09

THE LIGHT AND POWER BY-LAW

Peterborough, from situation, transportation facilities and other advantages is naturally destined to become a much more important manufacturing and commercial centre than it is at present. Our City Council, Board of Trade and leading business men are moving energetically to launch a policy of bringing new industries to the city. They can only succeed by the help of the ratepayers generally. The latter must co-opedrate and be a help to those who are trying to build up the city. The ratepayers must take a broad and liberal view of undertakings. A more friendly attitude towards new enterprises would tend to the strengthening of our industrial standing; to the benefit of every ratepayer. Many take a hostile attitude to every by-law proposed in the interests of civic advancement, not because they are opposed to progress, but from a natural prejudice—because they do not take steps to thoroughly inform themselves as to the merits of the proposed measure.

The qualified ratepayers are urged to put themselves in a position to vote intelligently, with full knowledge of the facts. This applies to what is known as the Light and Power by-law, a by-law to grant a thirty-year pole franchise to the Peterborough Light and Power Co. If any ratepayer will take the trouble to read carefully and analyze the by-lay to be voted upon on Monday next, he will see that of the seventeen clauses, sixteen are in favour of the city, and one in favour of the Company. The passing of the by-law, giving a long-date franchise, will enable the Company to float its bonds to better advantage, to raise money for local improvement, money which will be spent locally by a local concern, to make it more effective in providing a better public service.

In regard to the pole franchise the Company has had such a franchise for nearly thirty years, and has established claim to public considerations for services given. In the public interest, and the request for an extension of the franchise is a deference to popular approval for which substantial public advantages are given.

There are many good reasons why the by-law should be carried, as a good arrangement for the city. These, or some of them may be summarized briefly.

The by-law fixes for 30 years the maximum or highest prices which the company can charge, and also gives the city the right every five years to have the rates reduced by the Provincial Government Municipal Board. If the by-law does not pass the Company can, if they should so decide, at any time raise the present prices as high as they desire, and there will be no competition. Experience has shown that railway or other corporations, however strong the rivalry, will agree on rates. Under the conditions of the by-law a combine to raise prices is made impossible.

The by-law prevents the Company from charging rent for meters as is done in nearly every other town and city in Canada.

It requires an immediate increase of discount—from 25 to 30 per cent.—such reduction to be permanent.

It gives the City Engineer control of the placing of poles and provides for the change of location of poles.

It provides for the removal of all unnecessary poles from George street, and placing poles of an attractive appearance on this street.

It provides that upon the demand of the Council the Company shall, after Jan. 1st, 1914, put their wires underground in the business section of the city, and when the city shall have a population of 30,000, to underground all the wires on every street on the order of the Municipal Board.

It provides that the City may use the poles of the Company for public purposes, and that the poles may be used by another company, thus preventing the duplication of pole lines on the streets.

It provides that the Company will indemnity the city against accidents.

It binds the Company to pay an increased rental for poles.

It provides that at the end of the term the Company will on demand of the city remove its poles from the streets.

It provides that the City shall not be prevented from undrtaking municipal lighting or preventing any other parson or company from using the streets for a similar purpose

The by-law does not grant an exclusive franchise nor prevent the city giving the contract for street lighting to any other company or doing it themselves.

For these considerations the by-law grants the Company the right to use the streets for its poles for thirty years. The poles are there now, and have, many of them, been there for nearly thirty years, and the Company has been using them to serve the public at a very fair and liberal rate compared with other places. Suppose the city had the power, which is extremely doubtful, to say to the Company: "Take your poles off the streets"; would such an action on the part of any council be justified in the public interests? And if they did take such a course what would be the effect upon manufacturers, and those in their employment, and the people using power and light supplied by the Company?

Points to be remembered are, that this by-law does not give the Company any exclusive franchise, and does not prevent the city from giving the contract for street lighting to another Company or doing it itself. The by-law gives the Company what it practically has now, but it limits, defines, and makes clear what the Company's rights will be.

If the Company benefits from the agreement under the by-law, it benefits in a way to enable it to more easily provide means for equipping itself for extended and improved service in the public interests.

It should be remembered that the Light and Power Company and the Quaker Oats Company are important local industries, and if the public can do anything to assist them, especially as they can do, without injury to themselves, they should do so.

The public is requested to study the by-law carefully. If this is done it seems impossible that they will find anything in its terms detrimental to the city's interest. While, on the contrary, many things in the public interest—such, briefly expressed, as the permanent reduction of rates, the abatement of the pole nuisance, increased rental from poles, absence of monopoly, no meter rent, payment for lamps in proportion to size, regular adjustment of rates, use of poles by the city, or another company, the reserve of 2,000 horse power for manufacturing purposes, etc... All the Company gets for this is a long-term franchise, which is asked because by that the Company can raise money on more favourable terms and more easily finance its undertakings. And the stock objections urged against a long-term franchise are removed by the modifying conditions; it will not be an exclusive franchise; will not prevent the city from doing its own lighting, or from giving a franchise of the streets to another company.

What are the reasons that should lead any ratepayer voting against the by-law? There are none that will at all weigh against compensating advantages.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Montreal is ambitious It not only insist on purifying its City Council, but demands that its city water be filtered.

The Supreme Court decision that the Government is merely the guarantor of the G. T. P. bonds to the amount of what they bring in the market, and is not called upon to make good whatever loss may be realised is, says the Hamilton Times, a vindication of the stand taken throughout the long discussion regarding them by the Government. The Opposition had hoped to make some party capital out of this matter and will be considerably disappointed.

If Cook submitted the alleged proofs of his alleged discovery of the North Pole to the Copenhagen savants, why should Commander Peary be relieved of a similar test. If he has really discovered the earth's Ultima Thule, Peary had like Cook, no white witnesses of his asserted discovery; and if he really reached the pole, he should have no hesitation in submitting his proofs. Cook's discredited claims have made the world scpetical and only actual proof will satisfactorily instal him in the position of the real discoverer of the North Pole.

DIED IN COBOURG

Mrs. Katharine Corigal Was Well Known to the Older Residents of Peterborough.

Rev. Canon Davidson and Mayor Rush left to-day fo rCobourg to attend the funeral of the late Miss Katharine Cougal, who passed away on Sunday. A number of years ago Miss Congal resided in Peterborough and had many friends and acquaintances here.

NO KIDNEY TROUBLE OR BLADDER MISERY

Just a Few Doses Will Overcome Any Kidney Disorder and End Backache.

The most effective and harmless way to cure backache and regulate out-of-order kidneys, or end bladder trouble, is to take several doses of Pape's Diuretic.

You will distinctly feel that your kidneys and urinary organs are being cleaned, healed and vitalized, and all the miserable symptoms, such as backache, headache, nervousness, rheumatism and darting pains, inflamed or swollen eyelids, irritability, sleeplessness, or suppressed, painful or frequent urination (especially at night) and other distress, leaving after taking the first few doses.

The moment you suspect any kidney or urinary disorder, or rheumatism, begin taking this harmless preparation as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine, at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which will effect so thorough and prompt a cure as a fifty-cent treatment of Pape's Diuretic, which any druggist can supply.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker, or any mercantile agency will tell you that Pape, Thompson & Pape, of Cincinnati, is a large and responsible medicine concern, thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

Don't be miserable or worried another moment with a lame back or clogged inactive kidneys or bladder misery. All this goes after you start taking Pape's Diuretic, and in a few days you feel and know that your kidneys, liver and urinary system are healthy, clean and normal, and all danger passed.

Accept only Pape's Diuretic—fifty-cent treatment—from any drug sore—any where in the world.

UNCLE WALT---THE POET PHILOSOPHER

HALLEY'S COMET

I have heard of Halley's comet, and the tail protruding from it, and it surely is a hummer if the things I read are true; through the distant airy spaces it is straining in its traces, bound to reach its destination at the hour when it is due. All the scientists, in chorus, say the blamed thing's headed for us, by some strange, unknown attraction to our little world it's drawn; if it jolts against this planet we won't have much time to scan it—we'll be cooked and turned to ashes ere we know what's going on. It will, in a festive manner, swing itstail, like some huge banner, o'er the surface of this blobelet and there'll be a ghastly thud; this old world will fly to pieces like a flock of frightened geeses, and we cannot save the fragments, and our names will all be Mudd. In this world of rush and hurry men are given much to worry over things not worth the trouble, over griefs that do not pay; now we have a chance to borrow something genuine in sorrow—let us worry o'er this comet, starting on the job today! Other woes, in cultured phrases we shall ask to go to blazes, we are sweating over Halley and his comet with its tail! Let us all be melancholy; let us talk of naught but Halley, let us show this muley comet how a people doomed can wail!

Don Mason

PILES Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain and guaranteed cure for each and every form of itching, bleeding and protruding piles. See testimonials in the press and ask your neighbors about it. You can use it and get your money back if not satisfied. 60c. at all dealers or EDMANSON, BATES & Co., Toronto.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

Something You Want to Buy ? You Want to Sell ? Or is it a House or Rooms To Rent ?

In any case, it's THE EXAMINER that can do it for you with our rapidly growing circulation.

Twenty cents will pay for a 20 word classified advertisemen .

MILK UPSET

Sunday Morning Accident to Mr. T. H. Deck.

Mr. T. H. Deck, milk vendor, did not deliver all the milk he started out from his home with Sunday morning. He had gone as far as Chamberlen street, on his rounds, and was driving a team of horses, one of which was a colt and inclined to be nervous. A C. P. R. freight train approaching caused trouble as soon as the colt saw it, as the animal became almost unmanageable and shied into the ditch, in spite of the driver's efforts to keep it on the highway. The result was that the sleigh struck a driveway into a yard and upset, throwing the cans, furs, etc., out and snapping a bolt, giving the horses their freedom. Mr. Deck succeeded in saving a large quantity of the milk before it had emptied from the various cans, but there was more than enough for one cup of tea lost. The horses were recovered about a block away.

OTTAWA MAN WAS ALLOWED TO GO

Alexander Campbell, who claims Ottawa as his home, has the police to thank for being able to be around this morning. He came to the police station last night very much intoxicated, and was given refuge in a warm, comfortable cell. He was without a cent and would undoubtedly have frozen if he had to remain out all night. He told the Magistrate that he was waiting for money to take him back to Ottawa. He had been working on the C. P. R. at Metcalfe. His Worship allowed him to go.

For Pale Delicate People

D.L.Emulsion

Builds up Strength; brings back the ruddy glow of health by creating a natural appetite for nourishing food.

Get only the D. & L., the original.

50c. and $1.00, at all druggists.

Davis & Lawrence Co., Montreal.

PATENTS

PROCURED ON EASY TERMS.

TRADE MARKS AND COPYRIGHT

Books and advice free. Highest references. 2 years experience. We are registered attorney and sketch of your invention for free opinion as to patentability.

CRISWELL & CRISWELL

468 F. ST., N. W., WASHINGTON, D. C.

45 Broadway New York City

Peterboro' Testimonials

By the score, can be furnished, affirming the great value of having your doors and windows fitted with CHAMBERLAIN

Metal Weather Stripe

Not only do they keep out the cold, but they are Dust Proof, Rattle Proof and Draught Proof.

A. J. LONGLAND Manager for Peterborough

537 HARVEY ST. - PHONE 1292

3m65

CHRISTMAS SUGGESTIONS

EVERYTHING NEW THIS YEAR

Toilet Sets

Values from ..... $2 to $15

Fancy Perfumes

In Fleming Boxes, real Flower Odours, prices ..... 25c to $5

Lowney's Chocolates

25c to $2.00

ASK FOR OUR 10 CALENDAR

J. D. TULLY

DRUGGIST

Auction Sale

Fire Sale of Boots & Shoes by Auction

I will sell by Public Auction at No. 245 George Street, the balance of Stock of Boots and Shoes, for Men, Women, Misses and Children, all of which must be sold without any reserve before the first of January, 1910.

Sale will commence on Tuesday, the 28th of December, at half past seven p.m and each night until January 1st.

JOHN HAGGART, Auctioneer.

Real Estate Sales Room

HOUSES FOR SALE

1—2 storey and attic, solid Red Brick, west, double parlours, dining room, kitchen, pantry, front and rear stairs, 4 bed-rooms, bath-room separate toilet, coal grate, electric lights, hot water furnace, double closets, laundry tubs, large lot, price $3,500

2—2 storey and attic, Red Brick, north, parlour, dining room, kitchen pantry, summer kitchen, wood-shed 4 bed-rooms, bath-room, furnace, electric lights, good well, large lot, price $2,500

3.—Frame House, south of city, 1½ storeys, 6 rooms, ¼ acre choice garden lot 5 minutes from street railway line, price $1,000

4.—1½ storey Brick, north, parlour dining-room, kitchen, wood-shed, summer kitchen, 3 bed-rooms, and stable, price $900

Farms for Sale

200 acres, 6 miles north of city, all under cultivation, soil clay loam, good orchard, good frame house, 3 first-class barns, good stables in stone basements under the barns, price $10,000

100 acres, 6 miles east, 90 acres under cultivation, balance pasture, soil clay loam, good fences, good brick house and frame barns on stone foundation, close to school, price $5,500

Houses to Rent

7-roomed, north, conveniences $10

7-roomed, south, light water, $11

7-roomed, west, light, water, $8

4-roomed, west $7

9-roomed, central, all conveniences $15

J. T. O'Connell & Co.

136 Hunter Street. 'Phone 376

WANTED.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

WANTED — 100 LADIES TO USE OUR Stocking Darning Sewing Machine Attachment. Fits on any machine. Also for repairing curtains, table cloth. Best time, labour and money saving device. Send post paid on receipt of post office money order, 25c. Agents wanted.—The Quebec Hardware Mfg. Specialties, St. Rock P. O., Quebec, Que. 1yr75-7378

PERSONAL.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

IF THE PARTY WHO ADVERTISED FOR "Safe Wanted," will call at the Examiner office, he will be given the address of where he can secure one. d142

HELP WANTED—FEMALE.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

EXPERIENCED STENOGRAPHER WANTed at once. Apply Peterborough Typewriter Agency Co. 3d150-8723

DINING ROOM GIRL WANTED AT ONCE at the White House 2d148-8583

WANTED — GIRLS AT THE QUAKER Oats Co. 3d147-8569

WANTED—AN EXPERIENCED DINING room girl and kitchen woman. Apply National Hotel. 6d-144-8619

GOOD KITCHEN WOMAN WANTED—Apply Montreal House, 234 Aylmer street. 6d144-8615

SITUATIONS VACANT.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

WANTED — GOOD STEADY MAN—MUST know the town well. Used to horses. Apply Dr. F. L. Robinson, Charlotte street. 3d150-8718

AN INTELLIGENT PERSON MAY EARN $100 monthly corresponding for newspapers. No canvassing. Send for particulars. Press Syndicate, 3072, Lockport, N.Y. dtf-51-7398

ANYONE, ANYWHERE, CAN START A mail order business at home. No canvassing. eB your own boss. Send for free booklet. Tells how. Hancock, 1372, Lockport, N.Y. dtf-51-7398

SITUATIONS WANTED.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

PATENTS.

For particulars about Patents, send for booklet.

REN. B. PANNETT, Ottawa, Ontario.

FOR RENT.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

TO RENT—OFFICE NO. 12 IN BANK OF Commerce Building; heated, possession immediately Apply at 427 George street

TO RENT — NEW HOSUE—CITY WATER —$7.00. Apply 533 Concession street. Phone 1323.

FOUND.

OUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

FOUND—LAST WEEK — A MUFF—OWner can have same by proving property, and paying for this advt. Stamp Vendor, Post Office. 1d150-8721

FOUND—AT THE PETERBOROUGH CANdy Works, J. Haggis, Prop., a five dollar bill. Will the lady who lost same about a week or ten days ago, please call and get it and oblige. 2d150-8697

SATCHEL FOUND — CONTAINING PAIR of glasses, etc. Owner can have same by applying at this office. 1d

FOUND—A BUNCH OF KEYS ON WATER street. Owner can have same by applying at this office. 1d

LOST.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

LOST—UNITED STATES LINCOLN CENT brooch—valued as a keepsake. Finder kindly return to Examiner. 3d150-8711

LOST — GOLD WATCH, CHAIN AND locket, with engraving on back, on George street, on Friday afternoon. Finder leave at this office. 3d150-8704

LOST — ON THURSDAY — A YELLOW collie about seven months old, answers to the name of Bobs. Please leave information at this office or with Dr. Pulkinhorn's livery. 3d148-8678

LOST — BETWEEN DUBLIN AND LONdon on Reid street, a door key. Finder please leave at Examiner Office and

LOST—ON CHRISTMAS NIGHT BETWEEN Rubidge street and the Auditorium Roller Rink, by way of Wolfe, Aylmer and Dalhousie streets, a gold locket and chain. Reward at the Examiner Office. 1d150-8696

LOST—ON FRIDAY EVENING A FIVE dollar bill. Reward if left at this office. 2d150-8696

LOST — ON SUNDAY EVENING BEtween East City and St. Paul's church, a lady's gold watch with initials J. G. engraved on same. Reward if left at this office. 3d150-8700

LOST — LADY'S GOLD LOCKET — INItialled V.E.W. Return to this office. Reward 703 Aylmer st. 3d150-868

LOST—ON CHRISTMAS EVE — A PEARL sunburst with emerald, on train on the C. P. R. Reward at 118 Boundary Line. 2d-148-8692

HOUSES AND ROOMS TO LET

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

TO RENT — A SEVEN ROOM BRICK house with all modern conveniences in mediate possession. Apply at 188 Douro street, East City. 1d150-8717

TO LET — A LARGE FURNISHED FRONT room, well heated, very central. Apply at 231 Hunter street. 12d138-8670

TO RENT — SEVERAL FURNISHED rooms suitable for light housekeeping; very central; every convenience; not three minutes' walk from the post office. Apply 208 Charlotte street. 6d143-8592

GOOD FRAME HOUSE FOR SALE WITH stable; also two story brick house, 7 rooms. Cheap and on terms to suit purchaser. Apply to H. C. Stabler & Co., 250 Water st. d131

ROOMS TO RENT ON GEORGE STREET, fitted with water, electric light, etc. Apply to Denniston, Peck & Kerr.

TO RENT—SUITE OF ROOMS IN GRAND Central Building. Heated and all modern improvements. Rent moderate Apply 437 George street

FOR SALE.

YOUR Ad in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

PERSON IN MOURNING HAS NEW YORK hats for sale cheap—this winter's styles. Apply Examiner office. 2d150-8709

FOR SALE — A NUMBER OF CHICKENS —Buff Orpingtons, cockerels and pullets. Pretty good stock. Apply 235 Water street. 6d150-8724

FOR SALE OR TO RENT—CASTLEKNOCK, the late residence of Mrs. Denniston. Extensive grounds, commodious residence, stable, etc. Apply to Denniston, Peck & Kerr, Water street. 5w-m and p-144-8622

FOR SALE—100 ACRE FARM—80 ACRES cleared fit for machinery, 20 acres seeded 1½ mile from Indian River Station. Must be sold by Feb. 10th next. Apply to A. Nesbitt, Westwood, P.O. dtf-91

FOR SALE — RUBBER-TYRED RUNAbout, buggy, cutter and harness; also straw cutter, all in good state of repair. E. E. Poole, V.S., 420 Water St., Peterborough 2d147-8666

FOR SALE—A THREE STORY BRICK house, 163 Smith street, containing nine rooms, besides halls, bathroom and closets; also five rooms in basement; coal and gas cooking ranges; furnace; electric light fixtures. Large lot, stable and driving house. Terms easy. Call at premises. J. Coyle Brown, Peterborough. 1med127-8386

A new brick house near the corner of Sherbrooke and Park, modern improvements; will sell on monthly payments, or rent to small family. A good chance for a mechanic to own his own home. 1f94-7387 G. W. HATTON.

FOR SALE—TWO CHOICE BUILDING lots on Water street (west side of street). Each 30 feet frontage back to a 16 foot lane. For particulars apply at 121 Antrim street, city, or Examiner office. 1d6-7334

FARM FOR SALE.

FARM FOR SALE — ONE OF THE BEST farms in the Township of South Monaghan, 200 acres, brick house, 26 x 34, kitchen and wood shed attached, barn 115 x 36, on stone foundation, stables in basement, barn 105 x 30 on posts, drive shed and hen house. Never failing water supply, spring creek and wells, ½ mile from post office and cheese factory, churches and schools convenient; 160 acres cleared; easily worked by machinery, no stumps or stones; 40 acres bush and pasture land. A lot of valuable basswood, some pine, balance beech and maple. Frame house for hired help. Terms very easy. Must be sold; a snap for somebody. Possession 1st of March. Apply to Walter Fisher, 493 Water street, Peterborough. 4mon150

MONEY WANTED!

We can place sums from One Thousand Dollars up, at a reasonable interest and on gilt edge security. If you have money to invest, call, or telephone name and address.

We have some superior investments in Farm and City property as for instance below:—

100 acres clay loam in Otonabee near river and on good road, first class brick house and barn on stone sill, orchard, good maple bush, a superior property for Six Thousand Dollars.

Nice brick house in convenient neighbourhood, large garden, a cheery place for $1150.

For Rent, nice, new, comfortable house and 19 acres of land just South across city boundary; seven acres of this is warm, early soil for early vegetables, etc., remainder is black loam for fruits, celery, cabbage, etc. Houses to rent.

SOUTH CITY REALTY CO.

Phone 1295 and 1281 130 Park St.

New Offices Opposite C. G. E.

SEE THESE SOON

$300 Will buy a choice lot in the south part of the city in a first-class locality We have a number of these lots to dispose of for a quick sale,

$1900 Will buy a 7 roomed Brick House in west part of city with modern improvements

$1600 Will buy a good 2 storey Brick House in west part of city

R. A. Elliott & Co

REAL ESTATE AGENTS, WATER STREET

TO INVESTORS.

35 to 50 per cent. per annum and Gilt Edge Security

Can be had by procuring stock in the Alberta Wheat Growing Co., Limited.

A careful estimate shows that an investment of $600 in six years will produce $1800 to $1500 profit.

For further particulars write.

F. N. Tennant,

124-122 Box 89, Brampton, Ont.

HOUSES TO RENT

Houses to let at reasonable rent. Apply for particulars at W. H. BRADBURN'S OFFICE, over the Dominion Bank, Corner of George and Simcoe Streets. dtf

Dyment, Cassels & Co

Members Toronto Stock Exchange

Bank of Nova Scotia 34 Wellington St. Building Toronto

ORDERS EXECUTED ON ALL EXCHANGES

TELEPHONE MAIN 6311

LOTS FOR SALE

ON

Big Island, Stony Lake

Fourteen lots, comprising a little more than the south half of Big Island, have been sold.

Lots eleven, twelve, fifteen, sixteen, eighteen and nineteen, comprising almost all of the northern half of the Island, are still for sale.

These lots now being offered are good building sites and splendidly situated.

Plan may be seen at the Examiner Office.

dtf-128-8321 R. M. GLOVER.

New and Second-Hand Clothing Boots, Rubbers, etc. Furniture.

JAY'S Stores

390 AYLMER STREET

PHONE

W. E. ELMORE & CO.

Brokers and Promoters

TORONTO AND MONTREAL

114-20 Traders Bank—126-6 Coristine Bldg. Hamilton Office: 401 Bank of Hamilton Building. 'Phone 3310.

GEORGE STREET PROPERTY FOR SALE

Parts of lots 1 and 2, west of George street, and north of Dalhousie street, frontage on George street, 122 ft. by a depth of 163 ft., with use of a 12 foot lane from Dalhousie street. This lot adjoins the wholesale Harness Factory of R. F. Ackerman & Son, and is suitable for wholesale houses or manufactory. Apply to Dumble & Johnston, or R. H. Wood, Solicitors. 4mon

OXO

Made by the Firm with the Farm.

REAL GENUINE

SCOTCH SHORT BREAD

Ornamented with any motto if ordered before noon Thursday

TRY OUR

PITCAITHLY SHORT BREAD

New Years Receptions are incomplete without our special lines of

MACAROONS & FANCY CAKES

Nothing finer on the continent

FANCY BOXES OF DELICIOUS

CHOCOLATES AND BON BONS

WE ARE THE CATERERS

COLEMAN BROS. 426 GEORGE ST. TELEPHONE 666

EGGS!

for sale in any quantities.

PETERBOROUGH COLD STORAGE CO.

W. SCOTT & CO.

—OFFICES—

Cor. George & Hunter Both Phones 288
194 Robinson Street. Both Phones 234
(East City).

LIFE INSURANCE is Just as Necessary as Fire Insurance

You would think a man foolish who left his buildings uninsured. What do you think of the man who doesn't protect the full value of his own life to his family?

THOMAS MARK, General Agent, THE MANUFACTURERS LIFE Insurance Company.

Bank of Commerce Building Peterborough

S. A. OKE'S Gratitude and ... Greeting ...

We congratulate our customers on the measure of prosperity the year has brought, and the promise of still greater things for 1910.

Our trade has been big and most satisfactory and in extending the compliments of the season to one and all we add a hearty "Thank you" for the generous support and encouragement accorded us.

S. A. OKE

340 GEORGE STREET
Phone 275

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

I gave yesterday some of the questions that I thought any girl who stood hesitating "where the brook and river meet," would do well to ask herself in regard to the man who stands beckoning her onward.

Here are a few more.

Are you alike in your tastes?

"The attraction of opposites" is one of those half understood phrases that do a great deal of harm in the world. "We don't like at all the same things," I heard a girl say the other day, "but that is a good sign—the attraction of opposites, you know." That is a big mistake—the difference should be in disposition, not in tastes. Of all foundations for a happy marriage I think congenial tastes about the best.

Are your ages compatible?

Everyone knows the danger in a man's marrying a woman much older than himself, but many people seem to think it is a good thing for a woman to marry a man ten or fifteen or even twenty years older than she is.

I think that is almost, if not quite, as undesirable as the other way. He will be getting over all his enthusiasms just as she is entering upon hers. And there is nothing more fatal to comradeship than such a difference in point of view.

A difference of not more than two or three years either way seems much the best to me ,although, of course, you must remember that of a man and woman the same age the woman is usually from three to five years older, and that some people are much older or younger than others of the same age.

Does he like children?

Is he kind to animals and do children and the dumb creatures like him?

Dickens says, "I love little children and it is not a slight thing when they who are fresh from God love me."

I agree with all my heart. I would not trust a man from whom my dog shrank or of whom babies were afraid.

"Children and dogs see souls," you know.

Is he of a jealous disposition?

Don't be misled by the flattery of jealousy. Before you marry you may think it is an ornament, but afterwards it is sure to become a galling chain.

If you take the trouble to notice I think you will find that in from one-third to one-half of the murders that are chronicled in the newspapers jealousy takes some part.

Jealousy in a lover may be somewhat flattering.

In a husband it's—well a shorter and uglier word.

Think twice before you marry a selfish man, and ten times before you marry a jealous one.

And now, if "he" stands most of these tests well, and if on top of all that you can say with no suspicion of doubt in your mind, "I love him and he loves me—I don't believe you need hesitate one instant longer.

And if he fails them? Well—are you fond of big risks?

Ruth Cameron

We have completed arrangements with the leading chemists in Huddersfield, England, and Germany, Paris and France to supply us with the latest dye stuffs which we import direct. With the new process many things are possible which were not a year ago. Parker's Dye Works, 177 Charlotte St. R. M. Beach, Prop. 1m 145

NOMINATIONS IN OTONABEE

At the nomination meeting held in the Township Hall, North Monaghan from one to two o'clock p.m. Monday, 27th inst., the Clerk, Mr. G. W. Bennett, presiding, the following were nominated for Reeve and Councillors for 1910:

For Reeve.

John Brown, proposed by J. J. Bennett and seconded by J. McIntosh.

Wm. G. Howden, proposed by J. A. Williams and seconded by J. H. Forster.

R. A. Dobbin, proposed by Ira Goodfellow and seconded by Robt. Sanderson.

For Councillors.

Alex Laing, proposed by G. Lockie, and seconded by J. F. Clark.

R. A. Dobbin, proposed by B. Sanderson, and seconded by G Ward.

J. C. Morrow, proposed by B. Sanderson and seconded by G. Ward.

J. H. Forster, proposed by R. Lillico and seconded by W. J. Byers.

G. H. May, proposed by W. J. Byers and seconded by R. Colin.

Wm. Robson, proposed by A A. Preston and seconded by J. F. Clarke.

R. M. Waddell, proposed by J J. Bennett and seconded by B. Johnston.

W. G. Howden, proposed by J. Coombs and seconded by B. Johnston.

Alf. Sandies, proposed by J. Coomba and seconded by J. A. Williams.

Walter McKee, proposed by John Brown and seconded by W. G. Howden.

Alex. Gordon, proposed by T. M. Hunter and seconded by B. Johnston.

J. F. Clark, proposed by T. M. Hunter and seconded by R. Colin.

Wm. Brown, who is the present Reeve of the township, withdrew, thus leaving a contest for the Reeveship for 1910 between Mr. W. G. Howden and Robt. A. Dobbin, both of whom were councillors last year.

Messrs. Howden and Dobbin who were also nominated for councillors, elected to contest the reeveship and J. F. Clark resigned his candidature as councillor. The remaining candidates for councillors having until 9 o'clock p.m. on the 28th inst to decide, it is probable others will withdraw, but an election seems to be assured.

At the close of the hour for nominations a public meeting was called. Mr W. G. Bennett was elected chairman and speeches were made by the several candidate. The meeting was perhaps the largest yet held in the township for the purpose of electing a council, there being upwards of 100 electors present.

An interesting feature of the meeting was the eloquent and instructive address of Mr. Brown, who on retiring from the Reeveship gave an account of the various important transactions and of township and county affairs during his term of office.

Throughout the meeting, while some speakers criticised others complimented the old council and altogether there was a strong feeling of good fellowship and many suggestions were made which will be highly beneficial to the incoming council. The leading question of the day seemed to be "Good roads and how to get them." The matter of constructing sidewalks at Byersville was also introduced. By the time the meeting was over it would have seemed to an onlooker that "nothing was too good for North Monaghan," and each ratepayer present seemed determined to get it and the various candidates also seemed determined that they should, until after election day at any rate.

The tortures of Eczema can scarcely be described.

And words fail to express the gratitude which very many people feel toward Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment because it has cured them of this annoying ailment. The itching, stinging, burning which brings discomfort by day and makes sleep impossible by night, soon disappears when

Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment

is applied. With patient treatment it is only a matter of time until the sores are healed and new, smooth, natural skin formed

Success in the cure of this worst form of itching, skin disease has made Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment known and recognized throughout the world as the standard ointment.

It is wonderfully soothing and healing and you can depend on it absolutely to bring relief quickly from itching and irritation and to thoroughly heal the skin.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment, 60 cts. a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for free copy of Dr. Chase's Recipes.

See that the Name CROMPTON Is on your Corsets

It means Correct Fit Latest Style and Wearing Qualities unsurpassed — 53 Years uninterrupted Popularity

FUNERAL ON CHRISTMAS DAY

The funeral of the late Margaret Soucie, who died suddenly at Willard, N.Y., on Wednesday, December 22nd, was held on Christmas Day at Two o'clock, p.m. from her late home at 93 6Perry Street, to the Church of the Sacred Heart and thence to the Roman Catholic Cemetery for interment. The esteem in which the deceased was held was evidenced by the large number who followed the remains to the grave. There were also many floral tributes, among them being a beautiful boquet of carnations from the pupils of the Willard High School of which the deceased was a teacher.

The late Margaret Soucie graduated from the New York State Normal School at Geneseo, N.Y., in 1897, and has taught in the public and high schools of that State ever since, with the exception of one year in Philadelphia. She was a very capable teacher, and made a great success in her chosen profession.

Death was caused from hemorrhage of the brain and her illness was of only 20 hours duration.

Her mother, brothers and sister have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

EXTRA CHOICE BEEF For New Year's

The pick of Prime Western Heifers and Steers.

Specialty Fed Lamb, Veal, Pork, Hams, Bacon, Sausage, etc., etc.

TURKEY Prizes

Everyone purchasing one dollars' worth or over at this shop will be entitled to a guess on the weight of a Prize Turkey. The party guessing the nearest to its weight will get a Turkey free.

Turkeys cheaper than before Xmas

R. COX

402 George St.
Phone 20

The Gift He Didn't Get

Play Santa Claus till New Years. Foliow up the good work and come this week to

SCHNEIDER'S UNRESERVED JEWELRY SALE

Make this week the busiest of the year. Help us to reduce our Stocks still lower. We have more than enough for another Christmas.

Lots of the Best Gifts Still Left

A Phenomenal Christmas Trade calls upon us to let profits go for the rest of the year, so long as we can unload stock.

Those who have bought can afford to buy some more, and those who haven't bought can now buy all the more.

"January Prices" now and less.

F. S. Schneider & Co

GREAT JEWELRY CLEARING SALE

was of only 20 hours duration.

Her mother, brothers and sister have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

MUSICAL.

MISS BESSIE BLCOMB, Teacher of Piano. For terms, etc., address Peterborough Conservatory of Music, or 402 Harvey St. 2m-54-T31

MRS. G. B. MILLER—Leader of Murray Street Baptist Church Choir. Teacher of Voice and Piano—402 Dublin Street Peterborough.

MISS JULIA CROATE—Violin Soloist and Teacher. Concert engagements accepted For terms etc., apply Conservatory of Music.

MEDICAL.

DR. A. W. MacPHERSON—Office 134 Murray St., Cor. Water. Late House Surgeon Toronto Isolation Hospital, Toronto Sick Children's Hospital and Member Lane Maternity Hospital. Phones Bell 645. Residence.

DR. T. P. McCULLOUGH—Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Specialists. Office 198 Brock Street.

DR. BUCHANAN, F.R.C.S. Edinburgh M.R.C.S. England, L.R.C.P. London, Specialist of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Phone 238 160 Charlotte Street. Hours—9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m., 7-9 p.m.

DR. E. A. HAMMOND—Office, 543 Water Street. Late Assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, England. Also of Rotunda Maternity Hospital at Dublin. Special diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach. Bell Phone —Office 483; House Phone 1304.

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ADA C. WALMSLEY — Osteopathic Physician. Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce, Bagshaw Street entrance Bell Phone 649. Office Hours—9 to 12 a. m., 2 to 4 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free.

LEGAL.

ROBERT RUDDY, K.C.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc., Office, corner George and Hunter Sts. Money to loan at Current Rates. Successor to George Edmison K.C.

DENNISTOUN, PROCTOR & KERR, Barristers, Solicitors, and Notaries. Office 150 Water Street. Money to loan.—R. A. Peck, K. C. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr DUMBLE & JOHNSTON—Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Office over Toronto Dominion Bank and Loan Company, 458 George St —E. W. Dumble, K.C.; W. P. Johnston.

A. R. DIXON—Barrister, Solicitor, Etc Office—Corner Hunter and George Sts. entrance next Maddry Drug Store. tfm

HALL & HAYES & HALL. — Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public, Hunter Street, Peterborough, next to St. John's Church. Money to loan at lowest rate of interest.—E. H. D. Hall, City Solicitor; Louis M. Hayes, K. C., and Basil D. Hall.

HALL, HEDD & DAVIDSON—Successors to Strickson & Hall, Barristers, Solicitors etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office, Corner of Hunter and Water Streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce. E. E. Hall K. T. Hedd. W. S. Davidson.

C. H. MOORE—Barrister, Solicitor, etc, Office—Entrance first hallway west of Post Office Peterborough. Ont. Money to loan.

A. P. POUSSETTE—Barrister and Solicitor—370 Water Street. Money to loan at lowest current rates. A. P. Poussette K.C.

G. S. WOOD—Barrister, etc., Comm. Crown Attorney, Office over Canadian Express Office George Street. Money to Loan

DENTAL.

DR. H. E. WOOD, Dentist—Office, No. 433 1/2 George Street. Phone 238 day or night.

UNDERTAKERS.

D. BELLEGHEM.—Funeral Director.—Calls may be given day or night at warerooms, 189 Hunter Street, or at Residence, 288 Hunter Street. Telephone No. 56.

LANE & KANE—Undertakers and Embalmers. Can be found at their office, corner King and Hunter Sts., day or night. 179 Hunter street 'Phone 37

MONEY TO LOAN.

MONEY TO LOAN—On Farm and Town Property, at lowest current rates on most favorable terms of repayment. HALL, HEDD & DAVIDSON, (Successors to Strickson & Hall, Barristers, Peterborough, Ont., Office Over the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

MONEY TO LEND.—On first-class City and Farm Securities only, on current rates. BENNET & GOODWILL, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., No. 205 Water street, Peterborough. Telephone, No. 101. J. W. Bennet; R. L. Goodwill.

MONEY TO LOAN—On any terms. O'CONNELL & GORDON, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc. Canadian and Dominion Banks. Private Attorneys. Money to Loan 2 doors west of Post Office. Hunter St. O'Connell; George H. Gordon

ARCHITECTS.

J. BLACKWELL—Architect and Civil Engineer. Plans and estimates made for churches, public buildings and dwelling houses. Specialties, concrete and steel work and reinforcing. Office, City Water Power, Peterborough.

SINGER SEWING MACHINE COMPANY

J. W. STUART, Mgr. Office 347 George St. Residence Phone 347. Office Phone

Queen Quality

SHOE

Everything that women wear in Shoes. In "Queen Quality" smart, exclusive styles, fit, comfort.

J. T. Stenson & Sons
364 GEORGE STREET

HARD WOOD
Cut and Split
for GRATES.

MIXEDWOOD
Own Mill Hardwood Limbs
CORD, CUT ANY LENGTH AND SPLIT

Rubber Gloves
Regular $1.00 for
65 cents

Every lady should have a pair. Keep hands clean and skin soft and free from roughness.

Wm. Madill
Chemist & Druggist
OAK HALL DRUG STORE
Corner George and Hunter Sts

Mrs. M. J. Byrne
Dealer in Ladies' Furnishings
and Hair Work

Ladies' Underwear, Children's Clothing and Ornamental Needle Work and Stamping executed to order and kept in stock.

LADIES' HAIR DRESSING
skilfully attended to. Ladies hair dressed for balls, parties, entertainments and all public and private occasions. Switches, Bangs, etc., always in stock and made to order fashionably. Combings of Hair done up in any desired style. Masks, Wigs, etc., rented for carnivals, concerts and all occasions.
424 George St. Phone 262

Better Stock and More of It

Cut Flowers

Ferns — Flowering Plants
Palms — Floral Designs
Bouquets — Wreaths, etc.

All work done in an artistic manner, on shortest notice. Orders by mail, telephone, or telegraph, promptly and carefully attended to.

Visitors always welcome at

West-End Greenhouses

Take the Jackson Park Street Car. Car stops within a few yards of Greenhouses

547 Park St. Phone 21
Day and Night

DOWN-TOWN AGENCY—At White & Gillespie's Grocery, 336 George St.

Hot biscuit, hot breads, cake—the finest, most tasteful and healthful—made with Royal, impossible without it.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

THE ONLY Baking Powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar

O. Y. B. OFFICERS

Hymers Lodge No. 108 Held Their Annual Meeting Last Week.

The O. Y. B. Lodge, No. 108, held their annual meeting in the Orange Hall at Hymer's on Dec. 18, with Bro. Clarence Prouty, W.M., in the chair.

After the general routine of business had been gone through, came election of officers. Bro. Clarence Prouty was re-elected W.M.; Bro. Albert D.M., F. Whittaker, Chap.; Bro. Alex. Prouty, re-elected Rec.-Sec; Bro. Robt. Couch, Fin.-Sec.; Bro. Joseph Foods, re-elected Treas.; Bro. Chas. E. Prouty D. of C.; Bro. B. Whittaker, Lect.; Bro. Thos. Bays, 1st Com.

After the officers were installed several very interesting addresses were given by the officers and members of the lodge.

When lodge was over a cold lunch was served in the hall and several very nice selections were given on the violin by Messrs. Albert Tanner and B. Whittaker, after which the officers and members departed to their respective homes, feeling that they had enjoyed a very enjoyable evening.

NECESSARY FOR THE FAMILY

If health is to be maintained there must be at hand in every household a medicine which can be positively relied upon to regulate the liver, kidneys and bowels. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have proven their right to first place in this regard, and already hold a secure position in the great majority of homes.

THE WEATHER.

The thermometer (for the first time this winter) registered below zero last night. Seven below was reached. December of this year has been very much milder than December of last year, as we had some severe cold snaps and some of the coldest weather of the winter during that month.

Shiloh's Cure
quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs. . . 25 cents

It's Confidence That Does It

Season's Greetings

At this, the Festive Season, we offer our thanks to the public for their liberal patronage during the year now rapidly drawing to a close. It has been our constant endeavor to give satisfaction to everyone, and the results of the year's business would seem to indicate that we have in a great measure succeeded.

Ready again to serve you with FAMILY GROCERIES, perfect in quality, perfectly kept and moderately priced.

CANDY, don't be without Candy. New Year's wouldn't be New Year's without Candy. We have bushels of it and Nuts and other Table delicacies.

WHITE & GILLESPIE

ST. JOHN'S NIGHT WAS FITTINGLY CELEBRATED

Peterborough and Corinthian Lodges A. F. and A. M. Have Installation of Officers and a Most Successful Banquet Last Night---Speeches Were Bright and Enjoyable.

The annual celebration of the anniversary of St. John the Evangelist by the members of Corinthian Lodge No. 101 and Peterborough Lodge No. 15 A.F. and A.M. last night was marked by one of th emost successful and enjoyable banquets in the history of the local Masonic Order. Featured by bright and eloquent speeches and by the spirit of good fellowship and congeniality, the gathering will long be remembered by the members and St. oJhn's night of 1909 will be a red letter event in the chronicles of the Peterborough Masons.

There was a large attendance of the members of both Lodges and in addition there were many visitors. The installation of officers was performed by Wor. Bro. H. R. H. Kenner, the following officers were duly installed.

CORINTHIAN LODGE No. 101
W. Bro. R. P. Watt .....W.M.
W. Bro. W. G. Morrow .....I.P.M.
Bro. M. Comstock .....Sr. W.
Bro. F. D. Kerr .....Jr. W.
W. Bro. M. A. Morrison.....Chap.
W. Bro. T.A.S. Hay .....Treas.
Bro. T. H. Gillespie .....Sec.
W. Bro. H. R. H. Kenner....D. of C.
Bro. R. M. Waddell .....Sr. D.
Bro. H. W. Morphet .....Jr. D.
Bro. J. F. Allin .....I.G.
Bro. S. T. Medd .....Sr. S.
Bro. W. R. Morris.....Jr. S.
Bro W. S. Holloway .....Organist
W. Bro. W. H. Bradburn .....Tyler
Rt. W. Bro. R. E. Wood.....Trustee
W. Bro. W. H. Bradburn, Bro. W. R. Morris, Auditors.

PETERBOROUGH LODGE No. 155
W. Bro. A. P. McLean .....W.M.
W. Bro. W. Hill .....I.P.M.
Bro. W. J. Henry .....Sr. W.
Bro. A. Davidson .....Jr. W.
Bro. (Rev.) J. R. Bonner .....Chap.
Rt. W. Bro. A. Gibson..Treasurer
Rt. W. Bro. W. H. Walker, ...Sec.
W. Bro. J. G. M. Wilson ....D. of C.
Bro. W. R. G. Higgins.....Sr. D.
Bro. A. A. Fowler .....Jr. D.
Bro. W. S. Campbell .....I.G.
Bro. W. J. Dunlop .....Sr. S.
Bro. D. H. Downie .....Jr. S.
W. Bro. John Crane .....Organist
Bro. E. B. Wilson .....Tyler
W. Bro. G. I. Rossel .....Trustee
Rt. W. Bro. H. Raph, Bro. W. Menzies, Auditors.

Bro. T. H. Hooper was the caterer for the very enjoyable repast that was served and to which ample justice was done by the members.

Wor. Bro. H. R. H. Kenner was chairman for the occasion while Wor. Bro. R. F. Morrow was Vice-chairman.

"The King and the Craft," the first toast was heartily honoured. In the absence of Most Worshipful Bro. E. T. Malone of Toronto, Rt. Wor. Bro D. aWlker dealt with the next toast, that to "The Grand Master and the Grand Lodge of Canada, in Ontario," in a most able speech that was followed with close attention. Bro. F. D. Kerr, in the toast to "Canada" made a most patriotic speech, his telling remarks being warmly aplauded at frequent stages by those gathered around the toast.

Wor. Bro. R. P. Watt, Master of Corinthian Lodge and Wor. Bro. A. P. McLean, Master of Peterborough Lodge did the honours for the Newly Installed Officers."

The visiting brethren," were honoured by Bro. S. T Keyes in an effective discourse while Bro. (Rev.) J. R. Webb dealt with the toast to "The Absent Brethren."

Wor. Bro. W. G. Morrow and Wor. Bro W. Hill spoke on behalf of the "Retiring Officers," while Wor. Bro. H. R. H. Kenner in replying to the toast of the "Installing Master," won the oratorical honours of the evening in a most happy and eloquent speech.

"The Junior Warden's Toast," brought the post prandrial speeches to a close.

During the evening Bro. W. McIlroy and Bro. Monck of Belleville contributed very enjoyable vocal selections in which they were assisted very much by the sympathetic accompaniments of Bro .John Crane.

The absent brethren of the two local Masonic Lodges were honoured by a place on the programme. The interesting list is as follows:

Corinthian Lodge, No. 101.

V. Wor. Bro. R. M. Dennistoun, Winnipeg, Man.
Wor. Bro. John Beatty, Cobourg.
Wor. Bro. F. D. McKay, Toronto.
Wor. Bro. W. D. Parker, Montreal
Wor. Bro. H. C. Rogers, Victoria, B.C.
Bro. D. G. Armstrong, Toronto.
Bro. Chas. A. Barton, New York.
Bro. Geo. B. Boucher, Hudson Bay Co.
Bro. H. B. Burnham, Edmonton, Alberta.
Bro. G. F. Cafrnie, Westmount, Que.
Bro. F. A. Clarke, Winnipeg, Man.
Bro. H. G. Constant, Morrisburg, Ont.
Bro. T. H. Drew, Cobalt.
Bro. F. H. Dixon, Winnipeg.
Bro. Geo. D. Edwards, Brooklyn.
Bro. Fred Freeman, Haliburton, Ont.
Bro. Walter J. Francis, Montreal, Que.
Bro. E. U. Gibbs, York, Pa.
Bro. J. W. Garvin, Toronto.
Bro. A. F. Grant, Cairo, Egypt.
Bro. Jos. Gibson, Montreal.
Bro. E. W. Holst, Boston, Mass.
Bro. E. H. Kells, Toronto.
Bro. A. A. Hollingshead, Toronto.
Bro. A. T. LeFevre, Hondo, South America.
Bro. B. A. Lillie, Toronto.
Bro. E. K. Mahon, Nelson, B.C.
Bro. P. J. C. McDonald, Ottawa.
Bro. A. F. McNee, Kingston.
Bro. A. Mercer, Montreal.
Bro. H. C. F. Poste, Massena, N.Y.
Bro. N. K. Reid, Toronto.
Bro. G E. Revell, Nelson B.C.
Bro. Dr. Sheffield, Cold Springs, Ont.
Bro. F. L. Somerville, Toronto.
Bro. E. J. Toker, Toronto.
Bro. W. J. Todd, Hamilton
Bro. J. M. Watt, Midland, Ont.
Bro. Herbert W. Wood, Vancouver, B.C.
Bro. Arthur White, Toronto.
Bro. Chas. Wynn, Optic, Alberta.
Bro. K. Eardley-Wilmot, Perth.

Peterborough Lodge, No. 155.

R. Wor. Bro. W. L. Armitage, Picton, Ont.
R. Wor. Bro. W. J. Drope, Grimsby Ont.
Wor. Bro. James Alexander, Uxbridge, Ont.
Wor. Bro. W. B. Bamford, London, Ont.
Wor. Bro. John Jeffries, Toronto, Ont.
Wor .Bro. Geo. McWilliams, Toronto, Ont.
Wor. Bro. A. St. A. Smith, Keene, Ont.
Bro. W. Aitchison, Montreal.
Bro. C. E. Anderson, Hamilton.
Bro. T. H. Bell, Winnipeg.
Bro. Dr. D. J. Bagshaw, Toronto Ont.
Bro. T. E. Boddy, Streetsville, Ont.
Bro. Percy S. Byshe, Toronto, Ont.
Bro. Walter Cotton, Pittsfield, Mass.
Bro. E. J. Cookson, Regina, Sask.
Bro. John H. Craft, Rochester, N. Y.
Bro. W. H. O. Crosby, Regina, Sask.
Bro. Harry W. Cook, Kingston, Ont.
Bro. Geo. E. Chamberlain, Rome, Italy
Bro. D. Cameron, California.
Bro. James T. Evans, Toronto.
Bro. Esra Good, Didsbury, Alta.
Bro. Wm Hamilton, Pittsburg, P. A.
Bro. J. E. Hodgson, Springfield, Mass.
Bro. Theo. L. Joy, Brampton, Ont.
Bro. H. Kemp, Newton, Mass.
Bro. A. E. Lech, Windsor, Ont .
Bro. H. J. Latimer, Cavan Ont.
Bro. Rev. J. G Lewis, Picton, Ont.
Bro. Richard Lees, Waltham, Mass.
Bro. Archie R. Laing, Montreal, Que.
Bro. W. Hamilton Munro, Toronto, Ont.
Bro. J. F. Madgett, Schenectady, N. Y.
Bro. Rev. W. Major, Montreal, Que.
Bro. T. J. Main, Toronto.
Bro. R. G. Mackey, Lipton, Sask.,
Bro. Frank Mercer, Toronto.
Bro. Thos. Munro, Philadelphia, Pa.
Bro. Arthur R. Mann, Grand Forks, B.C.
Bro. M. W. Matchett, Hamilton.
Bro. H. B. McBain, Vancouver, B. C.
Bro. T. C. McFadden, Meyronne, Sask.
Bro. Dr. W. A. McFall, Toronto.
Bro. Dr. D. McKercher, Lansing, Mich.
Bro. R. E. Mason, Toronto
Bro. W .A. Noble, Port Esington, B.C.
Bro. Stewart Paterson, Toronto.
Bro. James Paterson, Toronto.
Bro. K. Robertson, Hague, Sask.
Bro. Dr. A. Rose, Toronto.
Bro. J. G. Scott, Edmonton, Alta.
Bro. O. B. Shortly, Ottawa, Ont.
Bro. W. H. Smith, Didsbury, Alta.
Bro. Walter Stone, Webster, Mass.
Bro. G. H. Sweetlove, Toronto.
Bro. T. J. Tilly, Lindsay, Ont.
Bro. Harry Varnes, Winnipeg, Ont.
Bro. G. B. Van Blaricom, Toronto.
Bro. H. B. VanEvery, York, Pa.
Bro. W. W. VanEvery, Milwaukee,
Bro. E. I. Wenger, Urbana, Ill.
Bro T. J. Winship, New York, N. Y.
Bro. William White, Orangeville, Ont.
Bro. Frank White, Havelock, Ont.
Bro. John Young, Lakefield, Ont.

Band at Street Railway Rink to-night.

PRIZES WILL BE PRESENTED

Best Essay Writers Will Receive Their Awards at Meeting To-night.

At the public meeting in Murray St. Baptist church to-night the prizes given by the Temperance and Moral Reform League for the best essay on "Why Local Option should pass in Peterborough' 'will be presented to the successful competitors by Inspector Mowat.

In this connection the name of Miss Gertrude Brousseau as the winner at the convent was inadvertently omitted last night.

Croup and Throat and Lung Troubles are treated successfully with Allens' Lung Balsam.

An Invitation

We cordially invite everyone interested in something for New Year's, to visit our store and note the fine lines, perfect quality and moderate prices here shown. Nothing more appropriate than some of the following suggestions for New Year Gifts :--

Gentlemen's Gold Watches
Ladies' Gold Watches
Diamond Rings
Pearl Rings, lots of designs
Gold Cuff Links, 14 Karat
Gold Lockets
Signet Rings, Gentlemen's
Pearl Brooches, nice pattern
1847 Rogers Cutlery. Special Prices.
NO TROUBLE TO SHOW YOU GOODS. Call and Inspect Them.

WARNE'S
345 George St. 'Phone 57.

Anyone Overlooked ?

CHANCES STILL GOOD
at the
PETERBOROUGH BOOKSTORE

As you have helped us to roll up such a great sales-record at Christmas, we will devote the balance of the year to surprising offerings and still greater sacrifices on all lines in the store prices to make lookers quick buyers.

NEW YEAR'S PRESENTS

The display of Gift Goods for New Year's presents affords abundant chances for good selections of high-art articles in many popular lines, such as:—

Books — Purses
Bibles — Leather Goods
Poets — Toilet Sets
Gift Books — Art Goods
Stationery — Toys and Dolls
Cut Glass — Sleighs
Ebony Brushes — Games, etc.

Friends who have been unintentionally overlooked can still be remembered.

A. H. STRATTON & CO.
PETERBOROUGH BOOKSTORE
417 George Street - Peterborough

Make Christmas Day a Merry One

Navel Oranges	Mixed Candy
Mexican Oranges	Cream Candy
Table Raisins	Chocolates
Almonds	Dates
Walnuts	Figs
Filberts	Malaga Grapes
Brazil Nuts	Lemons
York Ginger Ale	York Springs Soda Water.

E.F. MASON & CO., Grocers

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, Wed., Dec. 29
J. J. TURNER & SONS OWNERS AND MANAGERS
HOWARD HALL CO.
Presents the Greatest Laughing Comedy of the Period in 3 Acts ENTITLED
OTHER PEOPLE'S MONEY
With the Well-Known Character Comedian
JAMES R. WAITE
and a Superb Company of Players. The Funniest Comedy Ever Written.
Prices—15c—25c—35c—50c and 75c. PLAN IS NOW OPEN

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, SATUR., JAN. 1
(J. J. Turner & Sons, Owners and Managers) Matinee and Night
Special New Year's Offering. Clarence Bennett Productions, Inc., present
Canada's Favourite Funmaker, MR. GEORGE H. SUMMERS,
in the Great Cook-Peary Play
"Under the North Star"
or "A Dash for the Pole." A Superbe of Scenic Splendour,
Interspersed with Pathos, Humour and Stirring Climaxes.
Prices : Matinee—25c, 35c, 50c. Children, 15c.
Evening—25c, 35c, 50c, and 75c.
44-150 Reserved Seat Sale opens Thursday Morning.

GLEANING TIME

After the Harvest come the Gleaners. No doubt some friend has remembered you unexpectedly, or some one was overlooked. You can reciprocate now at very, very little cost, at

Hall's Great Fire Sale!

Innumerable things suitable for New Year's Gifts—at more astounding reductions than ever, to effect positive close-outs of many distinctive gift wares. : : : : : :

RICHARD HALL & SON, LIMITED, 353-55 George St.

215 th Annex Event - - - Wednesday, Dec. 29th

Bargain Annex

Registered

You're On Time Yet

Perhaps you overlooked somebody who you had not intended to or you wish to pay some obligations. Now's your chance. The Annex will have many lines for sale that will answer the purpose immensely. Real natty little remembrances for not much money. Visit the Annex Wednesday. : : : :

Wednesday Leader

CHILDREN'S WHITE and LINEN PINAFORES

Natty lace and embroidery trimmed pinafores worth from 35c to 50c. The lot comprises the overmakes of several manufacturers, nothing the matter with them except the price is too low. Hardly worth while making them up when you can buy them ready to put on. In the Annex at only 19c

700 Yards of Good Flannelettes

The lot consists of 100 yards of light and medium stripe Saxony Flannelettes, nearly 20 different patterns, a soft combed cloth, free from dressing, worth 9c yard. In the Annex Wednesday yard..... 6½c

Get into the merry crowd for these. (See Window)

Two O'clock Leader

BLACK SATEEN UNDERSKIRTS

Good Black Sateen Underskirts in generous widths, with deep fancy flounce, lengths 38, 40, 42 Positively a limit of 3 to a customer. Can you believe the price? In the Annex at two o'clock, see window..... 35c

Shop In The Annex Wednesday

Department Stores Cressman's

Dozens Such As These To-morrow

LABOUR REPORT FOR NOVEMBER

Mr. A. J Sharp, correspondent for Peterborough Ont., and district, to the Labour Gazette, reported as follows for the month of November:

General Condition of the Labour Market.

Labour conditions during November showed little change, very few men being idle. The building trades continued active, the weather during the month being most favourable. At least 125 new residences were either completed or under construction in this city this year, at a cost of over $200,000. The new Roman Catholic church has just been completed; it will have a seating capacity of 1,000. Two new business blocks have also been erected. The past year has shown a falling off in the amount of cheese sold on the Peterborough Board. There were 39,214 cheese boarded this year, compared with 41,250 last year. The total receipts for 1909 were $383,983, compared with $418,083.13 in 1908, a decrease in 1909 of $34,099.65. The contract for the erection of a new dam at Burleigh Falls, to cost $60,000, has been awarded to Messrs. Bishop and Buchanan. The charitable societies have not been very much taxed this fall, the open weather and the amount of outdoor work available having relieved the situation. The great majority of the labouring classes have had plenty of work.

Condition of Local Industries.

Agricultural.—Farmers have been very busy ploughing and marketing produce.. Potatoes are plentiful at fifty cents per bag; last year they brought $1.00 per bag. Hay has been high in price, though there is plenty in the country, nineteen dollars per ton is being asked.

Lumbering.—This industry was extremely atcive, though some of the camps had not got their full complement of men. The wages paid this year are $28 per month; last year $23 per month were paid.

Manufacturing.—Activity was the rule. In several of the factories extra men were engaged and some were working overtime.

Condition of Particular Trades.

The building and metal trades were busy. Woodworkers had steady work, as had all branches of the printing trades. Garment workers, boot and shoe workers were steadily employed, as were confectioners and bakers. Leather workers were very busy. Railway and street railway employes and other branches of the transportation trades continued active.

District Notes.

Port Hope.—The Grand Trunk Railway Company has decided to at once take up the sidings in its yards as desired by the Ideal Company, in order to give room for the new buildings to be erected by that Company.

Band at Street Railway Rink to-night.

Your Vote and Influence respectfully solicited for the re-election of J. J. TURNER, Jr. for Alderman.

COON COATS

Don't freeze—buy a Coon Coat. Such qualities and new styles as we offer you seldom see, except at extravagant prices. In Men's Coon Coats no one can give you a greater exchange for your money. Also Wallaby, Bulgarian Lamb, Russian Calf and Dog Coats, Fur Caps, Collars and Gauntlets. :: ::

W. E. LECH

366 GEORGE STREET, :: WITH THE TIGER MARBLE FLOOR

ADAMS' STORE FOR WOMEN

393 George St. 486 TELEPHONE

NEW YEAR'S GIFTS

After a tremendous Christmas business we have many broken lots of Xmas Goods which we are going to clear this week regardless of profit. You may have overlooked a friend during the Xmas rush and would like to remember them with a New Year's Gift, if so visit Adams' this week and share in the bargains we are offering.

Boxed Collars
Beautiful fancy Collars. Each boxed in a fancy box Our special Xmas 25c line all this week, your choice for 19c

50c Boxed Collars 39c
3 dozen beautiful fancy boxed Collars, each box contains a Collar and a Frill to match. Extra Xmas value 50c. Your choice all this week, for 39c

Hair Pin Holders
2 dozen beautiful hand painted Hair Pin Holders nicely trimmed with ribbon, a very useful article, regular 35c. This week your choice for 19c

Handkerchiefs—2 for 25c
One lot of Handkerchiefs, our regular 20c and 25c lines all thrown into one basket. Your choice 2 for 25c

Similar Reductions also in the following:—

LACE SCARFS, SILK SCARFS, FASCINATORS, KID GLOVES, BED ROOM SLIPPERS, FANCY COLLARS, FANCY BELTS, PHOENIX MUFFLERS, LINEN CENTRES

and several other lines, appropriate New Year's Gifts

WEDDING BELLS

TEDFORD—KIDD.

On Wednesday evening, Dec. 22nd, a pretty wedding took place at "Sunny Brae," the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Kidd on the 4th con. of Dummer, when their eldest daughter, Sophia Beatrice, was united in marriage to Mr. Richard Tedford, also of Dummer, in the presence of about 80 relatives and guests. At 6 o'clock the bridal party entered the parlour to the strains of the wedding march, played by Miss Barbara R. Kidd, the bride leaning on the arm of her father, who gave her away. The ceremony was performed by Rev. P. W. Curry, of Warsaw, under an arch of evergreens prettily decorated with holly. The bride, who looked very pretty dressed in cream silk, trimmed with Valenciennes lace and insertion, was attended by her cousin, Miss Mary B. Kidd, who wore cream lustre trimmed with satin. The groom was supported by Mr. Jas. Hawthorne. After the ceremony the party were invited to the dining room, which was tastefully and appropriately decorated, where a bountiful wedding supper was provided. After this the evening was pleasantly spent with music and dancing. Some excellent gramaphone selections were contributed by the kindness of Mr. Jas. White, of Westwood. The presents were numerous and costly, bearing ample testimony of the popularity of the bride. The groom's present to the bride was a beautiful gold chain and locket.

The guests from a distance were Mrs. John Garrow, of Flint, Mich., Mrs. John Griffith, of Wroxeter, Ont., and Mr. Lawrence A. Kidd, of Jerry City, Ohio. Guests were also present from Trent Bridge, Westwood, Young's Point and Warsaw. Mr. and Mrs. Tedford will reside about two miles south of Warsaw. All unite in wishing them a happy and prosperous future.

ABBOTT—BILLINGS.

A very interesting event took place last evening at the residence of Mr. Geo. Billings, 20 Lisburn street, Auburn, when his eldest daughter, Violet Travers, was united in holy wedlock to Mr. James Abbott, of Collinsville, Mass. The parlour was prettily decorated with evergreens and Christmas bells, and the bridal party entered the room to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Hazel Billings, sister of the bride. Rev. J. G. Potter performed the ceremony, the bride being given away by her father. Miss Lily Porter of Toronto, acted as bridesmaid, while Mr. C. S. Billings, brother of the bride, assisted the groom The bride was becomingly attired in a gown of cream net over Champagne silk, and carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations Her going-away costume was an amethyst worsted suit with hat to match. The bridesmaid was prettily gowned in a pale silk mull with black trimmings, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Little Evelyn Curtis, cousin of the bride, who acted as flower girl, wore a beautiful white silk dress, and carried a basket of roses and carnations.

After the wedding ceremony about forty guests sat down to a dainty repast, after which speeches were made by Rev. J. G. Potter and Mr. G. G. Pratley, expressive of good wishes for the future happiness of the bride and groom.

Mr. and Mrs Abbott were the recipients of many beautiful presents, and left on the midnight C P. R. train for their new home in Collinsville, Mass., accompanied by the best wishes of their many friends.

BURKE—VALLANCE.

At 1.30 o'clock this afternoon the wedding was quietly solmenized by Rev. E. A. Pearson at the George St. Methodist Church parsonage of Mr. Frederick John Burke and Miss Adelaide Vallance, both of Belleville. The young couple were unattended.

Important Notice to Business Men

Mr. J. C. Miller of Orillia, President of the Orillia Tannery Company will prove to the business men of Peterboro' that Local Option increases & prospers business. To get at the truth business men will prefer to believe a progressive and successful business man than the Ont'io Brewers Association.

Mr. Miller is the Ex-president of the Canadian Lacrosse Club and is also prominent in Social Circles.

The Public Meeting will be held in Murray St. Baptist Church To-Night (Tuesday night) at 8 o'clock.

EVERYBODY WELCOME

MR. LASTAR'S CANDIDATURE

One of the new men in the field for alderman this year is Mr. B. Lastar, who has been prominently before the public for some weeks past. Mr. Lastar has been in the city seven years, has conducted a successful business, and has accumulated sufficient property, he claims, to warrant him in taking a deep interest in the city's welfare.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

I respectfully solicit support and votes in my favour as a candidate for election to the City Council.

I will try my best to be of real service to the city.

JAS. E. GRAHAM

4d—150

Your Vote and Influence respectfully solicited for re-election of

Joseph R. Metheral
as Alderman for 1910

4d—150

If you want a man to assist in conducting the business of the City HONESTLY, without fear or favour,

VOTE FOR

B. LASTAR
FOR ALDERMAN

TO THE ELECTORS
of the City of Peterborough

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,

I see that I have been nominated to run as Alderman for the City of Peterborough for the coming year. As it is not my intention to stand, I desire to thank my mover and seconder, and notify them of my withdrawal from the field.

Wishing you all a very prosperous and Happy New Year, I am,

Yours sincerely,

J. J. HOWDEN

W. G. MORROW for Mayor

To the Electors of the City of Peterborough

Ladies and Gentlemen : —

At the urgent solicitation of a large number of ratepayers, I am now asking your support for my election to the Mayoralty of the city of Peterborough for the year 1910; and in doing so I am relying upon my record as a ratepayer, as a life-long citizen, as one materially interested in the manufacturing and industrial development of the city, and as one who as an Alderman served you for the past three years, first as as Chairman of the Manufacturers Committee and secondly as Chairman of the Finance Committee.

It is usual for one aspiring to the Chief Magistracy to attempt to outline some definite policy to be pursued during the term of office. In compliance with that custom I can only say that it will be my one aim to serve the city to the utmost of my ability, to do what I can to promote its commercial, industrial and moral development, to give fair and just consideration to all questions which may come before the Council, having regard to neither class nor party, as I am pledged to none.

Our city has made rapid progress in recent years, and the continuation of this progress will depend largely upon the growth and expansion of the city's present industries, and upon the establishment of new ones to which every encouragement and legitimate inducement should be given—the Council should give immediate attention to securing an adequate supply of cheap power; every effort conducing to these ends has my fullest sympathy and support.

The time has arrived when the Council must take into consideration the question of permanent roadways in the business section, as well as permanence in general street construction, & of the extension & improvement of the sewer system in the southern parts of the city. To both of these matters I shall, if elected, give my earliest attention.

I am in favour of carrying out a policy of the strictest economy consistent with proper service in every department of the municipal business.

As the time between now and Election Day is short it will be impossible for me to personally call upon every ratepayer; I therefore take this means and opportunity of soliciting for myself the honour of your vote and influence.

Wishing you all a very Happy and Prosperous New Year, I am,

Yours Sincerely,

W. G. MORROW

TO THE ELECTORS
of the City of Peterborough

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,

I respectfully request your votes for re-election as Alderman for 1910. If elected I shall endeavour to serve the best interests of the city and to promote its prosperity, and shall deal with all matters arising in the Council in a spirit of fairness to all concerned, with special regard to the interests of the small ratepayers. I am in favour of a vigorous policy of securing new industries and cheap power.

Wishing you the compliments of the season, I am,

Yours respectfully,

JOS. J. DUFFUS

RE-ELECTION OF

Ald. Duncan

To the Electors of the City of Peterborough

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,

Having accepted the nomination for re-election as Alderman of the City for the coming year, I respectfully solicit your vote and influence.

If I am favoured with your confidence and secure election, I shall do my very best to look after your interests and to faithfully discharge the duties pertaining to the position in such a manner as to, I hope, merit the approval of the majority of the electors.

Wishing you all a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

GEO. H. DUNCAN

YOUR VOTE AND INFLUENCE FOR RE-ELECTION OF

W. H. BRADBURN
For Alderman.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE
To-morrow Evening

"Other People's Money"

THE LATEST NEW YORK COMEDY!

THE TELEPHONE is the coal man's best salesman.

Many of his customers he never sees, for their orders come by wire and their checks by mail.

If you move into a new house or have an unexpected need of fuel, you can often save a day's time by telephoning your order.

In the mining and shipping of coal, the Bell Telephone has become an important factor. The wholesale markets and sources of supply are kept in constant touch with the Bell Long Distance Service and the danger of a coal famine greatly reduced.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF CANADA.

Every Bell Telephone is the Center of the System.

ELECTIONS SETTLED

E-Mayor Is Evicted by the Police After Attack on Judge Chisholm—Belleville, Guelph, Ottawa, Hamilton and Kingston Among the Cities That Will Have No Contests For Mayoralty.

Municipal nominations were general throughout Ontario yesterday. A feature was the unusually large number of elections of mayors and reeves by acclamation. Belleville, Guelph, Hamilton, Kingston and Ottawa's present chief executives are returned unopposed.

In Kingston, it is more than ten years since there has been no contest for the mayoralty.

At Berlin nomination meeting last night, ex-Mayor Huber was proposed as mayoralty candidate, although he is no longer an elector. In addressing the electors, he made a vicious attack on County Judge Chisholm, who recently dismissed Huber's appeal regarding his assessment. Mayor Hahn in his official capacity refused to allow the speaker to continue his harangue and he was removed from the platform by police officers.

At Woodstock, Water Commissioners Alfred Watts and Whitaker declared a surplus of $10,500 for the year in the municipal plant, and were re-elected by acclamation.

The compromise way of electing the Brockville town council, which has prevailed there for the past six years was cast to the four winds at last night's nomination, and there is a great crop of candidates.

At Trenton there were 16 nominations for the mayoralty. The result of the elections there is of considerable importance on account of the situation as regards the electric power franchise.

At Belleville, in one ward there was only one nomination for alderman, although there are three seats to be filled, while in only one ward is there a contest for the school board.

Kingston elected the school board by acclamation, and in many other places most of the trustees are unopposed.

Galt's public meeting endorsed the Ontario power policy.

Mattawa elected the entire council by acclamation, and the same is true of several township councils, including Scarboro.

A Kemptville despatch says: Nomination day here and in the adjacent Townships of Oxford and South Gower witnessed a complete triumph for the good roads party. Reeve Bennett of South Gower, Reeve Sanderson and Deputy Reeve Kidd of Oxford are re-elected by acclamation.

Following nominations for mayor at Fort William yesterday, when seven were nominated, a nomination meeting was held last night, when for aldermen there were 103 nominees and 17 for the board of education.

The following were elected by acclamation:

Mayors.

Almonte—H. H. Cole.
Aurora—W. J. Baldwin.
Belleville—L. W. Marsh (re-elected).
Bowmanville—John J. Mason (re-elected).
Guelph—George Hastings (re-elected).
Harriston—A. Spotton.
Hamilton—J. T. McLaren (re-elected).
Hespeler—G. D. Forbes.
Kenora—Harding Rideout (re-elected).
Kingston—Daniel Couper (re-elected).
Mattawa—Geo. L. Lamothe (re-elected).
Mitchell—T. A. Campbell.
Newmarket—P. W. Pearson.
Oakville—George Hillmer.
Ottawa—Charles Hopewell (re-elected).
Owen Sound—Fred W. Harrison.
Renfrew—Arthur Gravelle.
Rockland—Dr. Desrosier.
Sault Ste. Marie—T. E. Simpson (re-elected).
Welland—W. H. Crowther.

Reeves.

Brooke Township—A. Darville.
Cavan Township—T. A. Kelly.
Colborne—R. Snetsinger.
Collingwood Township—S. B. McKnight.
Delaware Township—John Jones.
Drayton—George M. Fox.
Gower South Township—Reeve Bennett.
Humberstone Township—H. J. Knoll.
Harwich Township—J. B. Clark.
Hullet Township—Hugh Hill.
Humphrey Township—C. K. Belay.
L'Original—W. S. Ball.
Markham Township — Jonathan Nigh.
Mersea Township—Reeve Drummond.
New Hamburg—J. F. Katzenmeier.
North Dumphries—T. Allison.
Oxford Township—Reeve Sanderson.
Paisley—T. Shoemaker.
Pickering Township—Reeve White.
Portsmouth—E. J. Baiden.
Scarboro Township—Reeve Annis.
Thorah Township—Don. A. Brown.
Tottenham—A. P. Potter.
Usborne Township—John Moir.
Vaughan Township—D. Longhouse.
Walpole Township—J. T. Parkeson.
Whitchurch Township—Sam Foote.
Woolwich Township—J. J. Wilkinson.

Expropriate by Government.

Brockville, Dec. 29.—The Dominion Government has expropriated two small shoals in the vicinity of Chimney Island, belonging to the estate of Frederick Bunhal of New York City to install a light to improve navigation.

Kingston Man's Suicide.

Rochester, N.Y., Dec. 28.—Thomas Johnson, 38 years of age, of Kingston, Ont., slashed his throat with a razor at a rooming-house on St. Paul street yesterday morning and bled to death.

Stenographer Suicides.

Winnipeg, Dec. 28.—Miss Margaret Swing, aged 24, a stenographer, took carbolic acid and died Sunday evening.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS
FOR ALL KIDNEY DISEASES
CURES RHEUMATISM
BRIGHT'S DISEASE
DIABETES BACKACHE
NUMBER 23 THE PROPRIETORS

Damage Is Extensive

Davis Palmer Believed to Have Gone Down With 12 Men—Several Other Boats In Peril—Spain and Portugal Suffer From Storm and Flood—Eighteen Lives Are Lost In and Around New York.

Boston, Dec. 28.—The probable loss of the big five-masted schooner Davis Palmer and her crew of 12 men off Boston harbor and the wrecking of nine other vessels along the Massachusetts coast may be but part of the toll taken on the sea by the great storm which swept New England Saturday night and Sunday.

The three-masted schooner Nantasket was hurled ashore at Scituate. Volunteer life-savers, using the breeches buoy, rescued her crew of ten men.

The schooner Belle Halliday, after grounding Saturday and being refloated, was again hurled against the shore at Brant Point, Nantucket, where she is still exposed to the fury of the sea. The fate of her crew is unknown, but it is believed that they have been rescued.

On the rocky shores of Matha's Vineyard two schooners are being swept by every sea. They are the A. K. McLean, a British vessel, bound from Perth Amboy to Halifax, and the Stonington, Maine, schooner Mad Seward, Port Reading for Provincetown. Both crews have been taken off.

At Princetown, the sloop Bonito is at the mercy of the waves and in the flats of Plymouth harbor are four small schooners, all of which will probably be refloated with little damage.

Many places in Southeastern Massachusetts have not had a railroad train for two days. New Bedford and Fall Rover have been cut off from telegraph communication with the outside world since Sunday morning.

The property loss by the storm in New England is estimated at $5,000,000.

Damage In Spain.

San Sebastian, Spain, Dec. 28.—Details of the damage caused by the disastrous floods last week are pouring into this city. Only three houses were left standing in the village of Santa Cristine and at Davicilla, a church was the only building able to withstand the storm. Benavente, a town 34 miles north of Zamoora, with a population of 5,000, was under water for five days. The village of Villabeza has been destroyed.

20,000,000 Loss In Portugal.

Lisbon, Dec. 28.—The damage done by the storm at Oporto, and in the adjacent country is estimated at $20,000,000. Seven hundreds of boats that were at anchor have been swept out to sea, and it is believed that all have been lost.

Eighteen Deaths In New York.

New York, Dec. 28.—Eighteen persons in and near New York perished in the Christmas blizzard or died from accidents caused. Six of this number died from exposure after being caught in snowdrifts. Others were drowned, and a number were killed by trains.

Storm In Newfoundland.

St. John's, Nfld., Dec. 28.—A terrific storm, which began on Christmas Eve, and was still raging yesterday, has caused great damage in the vicinity of this city. Throughout the colony telegraph and telephone lines are down, and the railroads are impassable with snow. There is a loss of $150,000 in and around the city.

Laurier to Be Invited to S. Africa.

Ottawa, Dec. 28.—Private information has been received that Sir Wilfrid Laurier will get an invitation to accompany the Prince of Wales to South Africa to attend the opening of Parliament of the United South Africa. It is not at all likely that the Premier will be able to accept. Should the opening occur any time within the next four months he will be busy in Ottawa, and next summer will probably take a trip to the Pacific coast.

Conductor Killed.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Dec. 28.—Conductor Thomas F. Pal[illegible] when coupling cars in the M. C. yards at Montrose yesterday morning, was caught between the bumpers and fatally crushed.

COUSINS IN TRUCE

Archbishop Bourne Calls on Them to Vote For the Unionist Party and Sectarian Schools—Navy League's Campaign — Liberals Are Putting Especial Care on Interests In City of London.

London, Dec. 28.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—As a result of issuing writs on Jan. 10, a great many borough pollings will occur on Saturday, Jan. 15. A fair guess can then be made as to how the elections are going. The Liberals recognise that London is so unsure that the leaders will address meetings there next week.

Gerald Balfour has not yet become a candidate, and there is a rumor that the whip is unable to find a safe seat. Efforts to induce the two Tory candidates for East Marylebone to retire in his favor have been unsuccessful. The Unionists claim that they have good chances in North London, in the southeast, and part of the east end untouched by the influence of Labor members.

The split between the Liberals and Labor members for Bow and Bromley, Shoreditch and North and Central Hackney, give the Tories hope of success. Mile End is also claimed by them. The squabbling between two Conservative candidates at Marylebone, Unionists fear, may lead to disaster.

The short Christmas truce will be broken to-day, and the campaign renewed with the greatest vigor. There will be 10,000 meetings this week alone, 4,500 whereof are Unionist. The Unionists are short of canvassers, and want 100,000.

It will be a great poster campaign, and scores of millions of leaflets have been issued.

Balfour is now convalescent, but Milner is unwell. A modest article in The Morning Post expresses the view that the London home counties are safe, and estimates that the following will be the result of the elections: Unionists 278, Liberals 260, Nationalists 83, Labor 49. The Post editorially thinks that raising the constitutional issue has been a failure, and urges the Unionists to bring tariff reform to the front vigorously on every occasion and victory is then assured.

The News thinks the Liberal prospects in London are much brighter than a month back. A Liberal has withdrawn his candidature in East Manchester, and the Socialist from South Bristol, thus leaving a "straight fight."

Appeal to the Navy League.

London, Dec. 28.—(Montreal Star Cable.)—The reality of the Christmas truce is best illustrated by the following society item: "A small party is staying with the Duke of Marlborough at Blenheim, including the Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill and Mrs. Churchill. The duke and Mr. Churchill, though cousins, are keen political opponents, often in a platform conflict with each other. The duke has said more bitter things against Mr. Churchill in recent months than any other Unionist, and will begin again to say them on Thursday."

"Dr. Bourne, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Westminster, in a pastoral letter implores Catholics to vote for the supporters of Catholic schools—that is Unionists. No other question, that is to say even the Irish home rule, should be considered.

"Another fact to be noted is the peremptory call of the Navy League, which is to be placarded through England on posters. It declares: 'Every candidate who refuses to accept two keels to one as the standard and Navy League program is a traitor to the country, and every elector who votes for such a traitor betrays and disgraces the Empire. Drop party for once, and vote for a supreme navy.'"

Belleville Company in Big Merger.

Belleville, Dec. 28.—The Belleville Bolt & Horseshoe Co. will be included in the big merger to be known as the Canadian Bolt & Nut Co., with a capital of $2,500,000. The other companies are: The Toronto Bolt & Forging Co., The Brantford Screw Co., The Gananoque Bolt Co. Lloyd Harris, M.P., of Brantford, will be president, and T. H. Watson of Toronto, vice-president and general manager.

It is the intention to instal new machinery at the Belleville plant, double the present output and run night and day.

Found Dead Kneeling by Bed.

Kingston, Dec. 28.—On Sunday evening Mrs. Mary L. Sands, wife of Thos. Sands, Bay street, died very suddenly. Mrs. Sands had been in her usual good health and about nine o'clock went upstairs to go to bed, and about 15 minutes later was found kneeling beside her bed, dead.

35-Mile Ride For a Nickel.

Chicago, Dec. 28.—A 35-mile ride for five cents will be made possible by the $70,600,000 merger of all the surface railway lines of the south side.

YOU would soon get rid of a servant who did only half the work in double the time of a capable one. Then why continue using a flour that gives half the nourishment and double the work to digest?

Royal Household Flour

is made from selected spring wheat—a wheat that is rich in nutriment. It is the whitest and finest flour made; it makes fully one-third more bread to the pound than any soft wheat flour and is more dependable in every respect. 19

Ogilvie Flour Mills Co., Limited, Montreal.

THE BANK OF OTTAWA
ESTABLISHED 1874.

Capital Authorized . . . . . $5,000,000.
Capital Paid Up . . . . . $4,000,000.
Rest and Undivided Profits . . $4,405,991.

Special facilities for
Collections
Agents in every Banking Town in Canada and correspondents throughout the world.

G. C. Wainwright, Manager, Peterborough Branch

The matter appearing in this space from time to time is furnished by the Ontario Brewers' Association, who have arranged for its publication.

How Would You Like this Reported of Your Town?

[illegible] case with gold mountings.

GRIMSBY COLD TO MAYOR

Auto Party Couldn't Find Hotel and Had to Move on to Beamsville.

GRIMSBY, Oct. 17.—(Special.)—A revised version of Old Mother Hubbard would fit the experience of Mayor Oliver of Toronto and a party who arrived here late last night in two automobiles.

They found the town bare of hotel accommodation, and, although it was nearly midnight, had to re-embark and motor a course for Beamsville.

When Grimsby went "dry" several years ago the hotels went out of business, and the "Village Inn," a newly appointed hotel, run on temperance lines, threw up the sponge after the vote to repeal local option was defeated last January by a slender majority. Consequently there is no provision for the travelling public, as Mayor Oliver found to his cost.

"CHAS."

From Toronto World, Oct. 18, 1909

Local option drives trade to the next town, as even scanty hotel accommodation cannot be found for travellers.

Local option, therefore, injures business and depreciates property values.

Local option abolishes the sale of light beers and wines in sanitary hotels under proper license supervision, and substitutes therefor the sale of adulterated whiskey in low dens.

Vote Against Local Option so that your Town may not be given the go-by. 11

What it Cost

10 Annual Premiums of $43.20 each, $432.—This represent the TOTAL COST of Policy No. [illegible] for $1000 in

The Canada Life Assurance Co'y.

In other words $432 purchased a PAID UP POLICY for $1000, dated June 21st, 1872, on the 10 payment Life Plan, with dividends applied every 5 years to increase the policy as follows:—

Policy paid up.....	$1000.00
Dividend additions to 1909.....	648.75
The Company would pay.....	$1648.75

should the assured die to-day, and this amount will increase annually so long as he lives.

Read The Top Line Again

Can you create an estate to compare or even approach this?

Don't Wait Until it is too Late.

DAVIS-THOMPSON COMPANY
LIMITED
Agents for Peterboro—433 George St.

Building Lots For Sale

THE PETERBORO SUGAR CO. PROPERTY has been cut up into lots, which are now offered for sale: lots 50-ft. frontage by 120-ft. in depth.

These lots are most desirable for building purposes, and any person contemplating the purchase of a lot for this purpose will do well to look over this property before purchasing elsewhere.

Ful particulars and all information can be had on application to

The Toronto Savings and Loan Company
437 George Street, City

SOMETHING ELECTRICAL

In the Electrical line, many novelties have been brought out lately—articles of household use which give comfort and satisfaction every day. These make ideal gifts, up-to-date: —

ELECTRIC IRONS	PORTABLE TABLE LAMPS
ELECTRIC TOASTERS	ELECTRIC FIXTURES
ELECTRIC HEATERS	ELECTRIC DOMES

Get our prices on entire Electric House Fixtures. We save you money. We do House Wiring. Install Motors, Bells, etc.

The F. J. R. MacPHERSON CO.
341 GEORGE STREET : : LIMITED

Manual labour taxes the strength of the human machine. The man who works appreciates to the fullest extent the recuperative qualities and purity of

CALCUTT'S ALE, PORTER & LAGER

It is the popular beverage of the man who earns his living by actual, muscular work. You have tried the rest—

NOW TRY THE BEST

Manufactured by

The Calcutt Brewing & Malting Company
Ashburnham. 'Phone 98

J. N. Watson
PAINTING, GRAINING, PAPER HANGING AND DECORATING
54 Chambers Street — Behind Examiner Office

—Toronto— Savings and Loan Company

Notice is hereby given that a Quarterly Dividend at the rate of six per cent (6%) per annum for the three months ending December 31st, 1909, has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this Comp'y, together with a bonus of two per cent 2%) for the year 1909, making a total dividend disbursement for the year of eight per cent (8%). The said dividend and bonus will be payable at the office of the company in this city on and after January 1st, 1910.

The transfer books of the company will be closed from the 17th to the 31st of December, both days inclusive.

W. G. MORROW MANAGING DIRECTOR
Peterboro, Dec. 10th, 1909.

The Children's Aid Society
For the Care of Neglected and Ill-Treated Children.

Incorporated by Act of Legislature. Information required. Informant's name kept strictly private.

Children for Adoption
GEO. COCHRANE,
Bell Phone 238 — Agent and Asst.-Sec. — 765 George St.

When— The Stomach is Sick
The Liver Sluggish
The Bowels Clogged
The Blood Impure
The Skin Sallow

Then— It's Time to Take
That grand, old, time-tested remedy—
BEECHAM'S PILLS
Prepared only by Thomas Beecham, St. Helens, Lancashire, England. Sold by all Druggists in Canada and U. S. America. In boxes 25 cents.

Small but Effective--- A WANT AD IN "THE EXAMINER"

What a Lady saw at McWilliams' Fur Store and pronounced a most suitable and reasonable Xmas Gift.

An Empire Sable Muff for only $12.

not dyed nor coloured, but original fur. Exceptional value. Ask to see them.

E. N. McWILLIAMS

874 George St. - Peterborough

How Would You Like Your

Tan Shoes

Changed to

BLACK?

We can do the trick for you. We colour them a good black to stay black. Send them in.

Soft Felt Hats

Cleaned to Look Like New

YEOTES BROS

SHOE SHINE PARLOURS GEORGE STREET

Your favourite Polish on Sale

A New Year's Resolution

"I purpose buying my Footwear for 1910 at

R. McWHINNIE'S

BOTH PHONES, 384 GEORGE ST

Brock St. Rink

Season 1909-10

Tickets for the season entitling the holder to a skating privileges, on sale Monday, Dec. 13th, at F. R. Clarke & Son, F. N. McWilliams, W. A. Goodeve, W. Medill, Payne's Drug Store, McDermid & Jury, and at the rink.

Gentlemen ...$3.00

Ladies 2.00

Youths 16 to 18..$2

Boys under 16, 1.50

Girls 1.50

BEST CHINESE LAUNDRY

169 SIMCOE ST. PETERBOROUGH

Orders telephoned to Mr. George Record promptly filled. Ladies' and gentlemen's washing at moderate rates Parcels called for and delivered.

NO EXTRA CHARGE

The Oliver Back-Spacer—

The Oliver Tabulator—

The Oliver Line-Ruling Device—

Each supplements and completes the others for billing, statement, or any kind of statistical work and up-to-date correspondence.

LET US SHOW YOU HOW AND WHY

THE PETERBOROUGH TYPEWRITER COMPANY

PUBLIC STENOGRAPHERS AUDITORS and BOOK-KEEPERS

Phone 655 159 SIMCOE STREET

DOMINION CHINESE

328 George CAFE 328 George

Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch, don't forget to call at

283 George St. HARRY HAMILTON

Ice Cream and Soft Drinks.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

THE LATEST NEWS OF SPORT — TOLD IN BRIEF FORM

THE IMPORTANT EVENTS OF SPORTING WORLD OF 1909

Jan. 4—M. W. Savage buys Minor Heir, pacer, 1:59 1-2, $45,000.

Jan. 21.—The Eel paces mile on ice in 2:11 1-2, world's record.

Jan. 24.—Oscar Gunderson jumps 138 feet on skis, world's record.

Feb. 19—Jem Driscoll outpoints Abe Attell.

March 6—Lipmans break world's five-man bowling record with 2,982 pins at Pittsburg tournament.

March 24—Walter Georke sets new five-mile motorcycle record, 3.30 1-5.

March 24—Robertson creates new two-mile bicycle record 3:45 1-5.

March 24—Jos. Fogler creates new two-mile bicycle record 3:45 1-5.

March 24—Walter Goerke sets new torcycle 69 miles in 57:25 4-5, world's record.

Robt. Stubbs rides mile on motorcycle in 43 2-5, world's record.

March 26—Ketchell defeats Jack O'Brien, 10 rounds.

March 29—Johnson posts $5,000 to bind match with Jeffries.

April 2—St. Yves wins Marathon, setting world's record at 2:40:50 3-5.

April 12 — American League season opens.

April 14—National League season opens.

April 14—Frank Gotch defeats Mahmout.

April 20—Jeffries announces intention to fight Johnson.

May 15—Billy Papke knocks out Hugo Kelly.

May 19—Johnson and O'Brien fight six-round draw.

May 26—Minoru wins English Derby.

May 28—Bat Nelson knocks out Dick Hyland.

May 30—Dan Ahearn breaks world hop, skip and jump record, doing 49 feet, 8 in.

June 2—Geo. Sutton wins 18.1 balk line title from Geo. Slosson.

June 9—Ketchell knocks out Jack O'Brien.

June 12 — John Flanagan breaks world's record, throwing 16-pound hammer, 174 feet, 10 1-8 inches.

June 19—Monte Attell knocks out Frankie Neil.

June 25—Geo. Sargent wins open golf championship.

June 29—Hazel Hotchkiss becomes national woman tennis champion.

June 30 — Pittsburg's $1,000,000 ball park opened with record-breaking crowd of 30,388.

July 1—Harvard defeats Yale in annual boat race.

July 5—Ketchell beats Papke.

July 5—Meadowbrook polo teams bring American cup from England.

July 5—May Sutton defeats Hazel Hotchkiss, tennis champion, in challenge round.

July 5—Martin Sheridan makes 1,385 points in all-round athletic championship, breaking all records.

July 9—Lewis Strange breaks 50-mile circular track automobile record in 52-48.

July 13—Nelson outpointed by Ad Wolgast.

July 14—Edward Payson Weston concludes coast to coast walk, five days behind time.

July 28—Jeffries posts $5,000 forfeit to meet Johnson.

July 28—Harry Pulliam, president National League, suicides.

Aug. 2.—John Heydler elected president National League.

Aug. 2.—Johnson covers Jeffries' forfeit.

Aug. 13.—Country Jay sets trotting to saddle mark at 2.10 1-2, world's record.

Aug. 13.—Hedgewood Boy and Lady Maud C. set world's team pacing record at 2.02 3-4.

Aug. 14.—Ralph Rose puts 16-pound shot for world's record, 50.95 feet.

Aug. 15—Theo. Breitenstein pitches no-hit-run game.

Aug. 25.—Hamburg Belle defeats Uhlan in two fastest heats ever trotted in a race, 2.01 1-4 and 2.01 3-4, and is sold for $50,000.

Aug. 31.—Sweep wins Futurity.

Sept. 9 — Johnson outpoints Kaufman.

Sept. 15.—Country Jay trots to saddle in 2.08 1-4, world's record.

Sept. 17.—Willie Anderson retains western open golf championship.

Sept. 20.—Philadelphia-Detroit draw 117,208 paid admissions in four days, world's record.

Sept. 30. — Detroit wins American League flag.

Sept. 30—Pittsburg wins National League flag.

Sept. 30.—C. K. G. Billings buys Uhlan, champion trotting gelding, for $35,000.

Oct. 2.—Montreal wins N. L. U. championship.

Oct. 8.—Papke beats Willie Lewis.

Oct. 9.—Dorothy Campbell, Englishwoman, becomes United States open golf champion.

Oct. 9.—Ottawa defeats Tigers in Rugby.

Oct. 13—The Harvester, unbeaten trotter, becomes ill during race at Lexington. Poisoning suspected.

Oct. 16. — Pittsburg wins world's series.

Oct. 16.—Johnson knocks out Ketchell.

Oct. 25.—Sir Thos. Lipton challenges for cup race.

Oct. 29.—Jeffries and Johnson sign to fight.

Oct. 31.—Alco car wins Vanderbilt race.

Nov. 9—Gotch beats Raicevitch

Nov. 10—Hamburg Belle dies.

Nov. 15.—E. C. Brown elected president of A. A. U.

Nov. 20—Ottawas win Interprovincial Rugby championship

Nov. 27.—'Varsity defeats Ottawa for Canadian Rugby honours.

Nov. 29.—Yale beats Harvard.

Nov. 29.—American tennis players defeated in Australia

Dec. 1—Bids opened for Jeffries-Johnson fight.

Dec. 2.—Bid of Rickard and Gleason accepted by fighters.

Dec. 3.—Calvin Demarest wins18.2 balk line tournament.

Dec. 11.—Tigers defeat Ottawa at New York.

Dec. 11.—Rutt and Clarke win six-day bike race.

Dec. 13.—Bat. Nelson signs to fight Freddie Welsh.

Dec. 14.—Signal tipping in American League whitewashed.

Dec. 15—Western Golf Association becomes American Golf Association.

Dec. 17.—Jim Corbett returns from England to train Jeffries.

Dec. 17—John Aitken broke all automobile records from 1 to 20 miles on Indianapolis speedway; 20 miles in 16:18:4.

Dec. 17.—Walter Christie drove automobile quarter mile in 8 7-8, new American record.

SPORTING NOTES

The Peterborough junior and intermediate O. H. A. teams will practice to-morrow night at 7 o'clock in Brock Street Rink. A full attendance is expected of both teams, as there is not much time left before the season opens and there is considerable work to be done yet before the two sevens begin to round into shape.

The Collegiate Institute team had its first practice of the season yesterday afternoon and the garnet and gray turned out a squad that promises to cut quite a swath in the junior O. H. A. ranks this season. Sides were chosen and a lively practice game played. Among those out were Lees, Wade, Denison, Crane, Burritt, Halpany, Minorgan, Conroy, Richardson, Rankin, Gibson, Stratton, Kelly Leahy and others.

Pete Weatherstone was the victim of a painful accident during the practice last night, a skate pentrating his foot and inflicting a nasty gash, which bled profusely. Dr. Frederick was summoned and dressed the wound. He will be out of the game for a practice or two, but the injury is not considered serious.

The Strathcona City League team will practise to-night between 7 and 8 o'clock.

"The greatest turnout I ever saw at the first practice," said Caretaker Jack Thirnbeck, as he watched the Peterborough Junior and Intermediate O. H. A. teams at work at the rink last night. And it was, too. There were over twenty men out in uniform and the practice was a lively one, featured by the number of fast juniors in line. A number of members of the executive were on hand and the practice delighted the fans. The intermediates lined up against the juniors, and although the seniors had the advantage in weight the greater number of the juniors helped them and honours were about even as far as scoring went. Most of the squad went at top speed for the hour, and the workout was a splendid one. The intermediates out were Derocher, Len Giroux, Dobson, Seymour, Dusty, Ray, Weatherstone, McMillan, Lech, Winch Quinlan and Lambe, while among the juniors were Cyril Giroux, Pratt, Turner, Mills, Sabatino, Heffernan, Corkery, Bamfield, Pelton.

A pair of gloves found in the O.H.A. teams' dressing room in the Brock St. rink last night may be secured at The Examiner office by the owner.

ALCOHOL NEVER A BENEFIT

The statement made on the authority of the Brewers' Association that alcohol is contained in every vegetable substance in nature is without a single semblance in truth. There is not a drop of alcohol in any living substances either vegetable or animal. It is always formed as a by-product in the process of fermentation, which is a process of decay, and in no other way is it ever formed, either by science or by nature. These facts can be verified by consulting any standard work on Chemistry or Biology. The statement is simply a plain lie for the purpose of deceiving those who of necessity do not possess scientific knowledge of the true nature of alcohol. It is a good sample of all the statements coming from this source. From one judge all.

The Brewers tell us that alcohol is a power for preventing disease and prolonging life. What are the facts? The following table compiled from the figures of one of the largest and oldest British Life Insurance Companies ought to be convincing. Observe that it does not compare total abstainers with drunkards, but with moderate drinkers. The life insurance men are perhaps the most thorough and accurate in dealing with facts of any class in the community. Do you prefer their facts or the brewers' fiction? The figures show the number of deaths per 10,000 between the ages mentioned. It will be seen that beginning with that number in each class at the age of 20, there would be 18,869 more of the abstainers alive at 70. No one really believes that alcohol prolongs life.

Ages	Total Abstainers	Moderate Drinkers	Excess Deaths among moderate drinkers Number	Per Cent
20-30	4,221	4,667	456	11
30-40	4,201	7,041	2,840	68
40-50	6,246	10,861	4,615	74
50-60	13,056	18,524	5,468	42
60-70	29,078	34,568	5,490	19

The brewers are authority for the assertion that alcohol is a force energizing the brain and quickening the creative faculty. This statement contains just as much truth as the others that have come from the same source, and that is none at all. In the Local Option Department of the city papers, on March 20th, there appeared a summary of an article prepared by two of the most distinguished scientists and medical men of America. It showed that long continued and carefully conducted experiments by distinguished scientists of both continents prove beyond the shadow of a doubt that alcohol taken even in the smallest doses, impairs the efficiency of brain, nerve and muscle. No matter what your work is, you will do less and with less accuracy after taking alcohol. Space will not permit a fuller discussion here, but those who still doubt are referred to the article mentioned in McClure's Magazine for March in which the original article appears.

The brewers are really away behind the times and evidently take it for granted that the people of Peterborough will believe any old worn out fable. This is a good example of the way they are reasserting old discredited falsehoods. From one judge all.

Suppose it were true (which it is not) as the brewers tell us, that alcohol can be of some benefit to a man when taken into his physical system, would that be sufficient reason for licensing its sale in our midst?

Suppose a wild beast were at large in our city, and that for days or even weeks, he would play with the children, allow the boys to ride on its back and scuffle with him, furnish amusement and pleasure for the older people, but every now and again would become enraged and kill, not ones or twos of our dear ones, but scores and hundreds, would we grant him a license to continue? Suppose a dangerous lunatic were in our midst who fancied himself a skilled physician, and that he should for months bring joy and entertainment to children and older people by pretending to prescribe for them, brings that might even be good but would some day administer a dose of deadly poison, would we take $5,000 from him and let him go on? on?

If alcohol ever did any good when used as a beverage, it has done so many million times as much harm, that there is not a particle of excuse for it. But don't be deceived, it never did any good.

TO HAVE A BEAUTIFUL SKIN

About one sixth of all the waste matter discharged from the human body passes through the pores of the skin. If the skin is to be kept beautiful the pores must be kept in healthful condition by bathing and by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment which overcomes all chafing and irritation of the skin and cures pimples, eruptions, and the many forms of eczema.

Band at Street Railway Rink To-night.

BRONCHITIS,

Huskiness, Throat Catarrh

Delightful Cure Discovered That Cures Quickly.

Old-fashioned remedies were administered through the stomach only, but as it is impossible to swallow anything into the lungs, little benefit ever resulted.

Strong drugs, such as opium, chlorodyne and cocaine, were resorted to, but did more harm than good.

Nowadays, when a doctor meets a case of catarrh — finds the throat filled with mucous—sore all the way down, he prescribes Catarrhozone because he knows it goes direct to the disease.

Catarrhozone cures by antiseptic balsams that are carried by the air you breathe direct to the source of the trouble.

It aids expectoration — clears away the phlegm—carries health-laden vapors to the sore, irritated tissues

In one minute you experience decided relief with Catarrhozone and invariably it does cure every type of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Irritable throat and hoarseness.

Just think of it—a cure cure without noxious drugs—one that is guaranteed and delightfully pleasant as well. Catarrhozone only, complete for two months' use, $1.00; small (trial) size 50c, at all dealers.

CATARRHOZONE A SURE CURE.

When Cold Winds Blow

When cold winds blow, biting frost is in the air, and back-draughts down the chimney deaden the fires, then the

PERFECTION Oil Heater

(Equipped with Smokeless Device)

shows its sure heating power by steadily supplying just the heat that is needed for comfort.

The Perfection Oil Heater is unaffected by weather conditions. It never fails. No smoke—no smell—just a genial, satisfying heat. The new prevents the wick being turned too high. Removed in an instant.

Automatic Smokeless Device

Solid brass font holds 4 quarts of oil—sufficient to give out a glowing heat for 9 hours—solid brass wick carriers—damper top—cool handle—oil indicator. Heater beautifully finished in nickel or Japan in a variety of styles.

Every Dealer Everywhere. If Not At Yours, Write for Descriptive Circular to the Nearest Agent of

THE QUEEN CITY OIL CO., Limited.

Good Resolves FOR 1910

This is the time for making good resolutions for the New Year.

Here's a Good one:-

That I will not put off until to-morrow what I can do to-day.

The best Clothing can be obtained from Merrell & Meredith

New Year's Gifts

Splendid Suggestions to offer you.

The time to get them is

Now!

And the Place

Merrell & Meredith

Edwin Elcome

TAXIDERMIST

BIRDS, Animals, Fish and Snakes stuffed and mounted in the best life-like styles at the lowest price.

DEER HEADS A SPECIALTY.

A stock of foreign and native Birds always on hand for sale. Dealer in Eyes, Artificial Leaves and frosting; also Importer of Foreign Birds and Skins from all countries. Best Nature Study Books.

692 Harvey St. Peterboro

TALBOT'S Delicatessen

TWO STORES

We wish to impress upon the minds of housekeepers that we always have an abundant supply of

FRESH FISH

FRESH HADDOCK FINAN HADDIE

FRESH SALMON FRESH WHITE FISH

in addition to our regular supply of

BEST BEEF BEST PORK

BEST LAMB BEST VEAL

Also, Fresh Oysters, Canned Goods, Allan's Cider, Chopped Suet, Mince Meat.

A.L. TALBOT

243 George St. Phone 736

410-12 George St., Phone 833

d-Sat-65

Spruce Up For The NEW YEAR

And have your Cutters and Sleighs repaired and put in good condition when the snow flies. By

BEN YELLAND

174 Murray Street

COAL

That Is Coal

Is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL at

$7.50 Per Ton

HARDWOOD

First Class—Best in City—at

$6.00 Per Cord

4 feet long. Cutting and Splitting as desired, at

J. E. A. Fitzgerald's

Cor. Brock & Aylmer Phone 111

Nothing more appropriate for a Christmas Gift than Snowshoes or Tobogganss. We have a very large assortment. Call & see them

J. J. TURNER & SONS

Peterborough - Ontario

Peterborough Club Rooms To Rent

Opposite Post Office, Hunter St. Steam heated, with private bath and lavatory. Will rent whole flat or dividual rooms. Temporary or a permanent lease. Apply to

Peterborough Business College

SLEIGHING

Drawing near and your Cutter or Business Sleighs require revarnishing or repainting. Now is the time to have it done and stored until you want them. For a good reliable up-to-date job of Carriage Painting or Lettering give

W. J. ANDREWS

a trial this time. Shop

172 Murray St., opp. New Armouries

1yr.

JAS. FROWDE

CARPENTER AND BUILDER

is prepared to do all kinds of first-class Carpenter Work at reasonable prices. Residence--409 Walton Street, south of Weller Street Peterborough.

Railway Time Table

GRAND TRUNK

	Arrive.	Depart.
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst, North Bay, Stouffville and Toronto	11.40 a.m.	6.55 a.m.
	9.00 p.m.	6.55 p.m.
Port Hope and points east to Montreal and Boston	6.55 a.m.	11.40 a.m.
	6.30 p.m.	9.00 p.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and West, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Cobourg, Montreal & East.	6.55 a.m.	11.40 a.m.
	6.30 p.m.	9.00 p.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge and Markham.	11.40 a.m.	7.10 a.m.
	9.00 p.m.
	12.15 p.m.	6.15 p.m.
Lindsay Local	6.15 a.m.	9.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and East.	9.10 a.m.	6.30 a.m.
	6.55 p.m.	1.40 p.m.
	9.00 a.m.	6.55 a.m.
Lakefield.	6.15 p.m.	12.30 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Going East	Leave Peterboro'
For Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal, Kingston.	11.25 a.m.
For Indian River, Norwood, Havelock Tweed.	..7.51 p.m.
For Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal.	12.31 a.m.
Going West	Leave Peterboro'
For Toronto, Galt, London, Detroit, Chicago.	..5.25 a.m.
For Burketon, Bobcaygeon, Myrtle, Toronto.	..7.55 a.m.
For Toronto, Detroit, Chicago, Winnipeg and Northwest Points.	4.25 p.m.

'09 CANADIAN PACIFIC '10

NEW YEAR'S RATES

SINGLE FARE

Good going Dec. 31st and Jan. 1st Returning Monday, January 3rd

FARE AND ONE - THIRD

Good going Dec. 28th, 29th, 30th, Dec. 31st, Jan. 1st, Return limit Jan. 4th

Secure tickets and all information at city office. With best wishes for a happy and prosperous New Year.

W. McILROY, City Pass. Agent

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

NEW YEAR EXCURSIONS

Between all stations in Canada.

Single Fare

Good going Dec 31st, 1909 & Jan. 3rd, 1910. Return limit January 3rd, 1910.

Fare & One-Third

Good going Dec. 28th, 1909, to Jan. 1s 1910. Return limit Jan. 5th, 1910.

Secure tickets & further information from

F. SANDY Depot Agent — W. BUNTON City Agent

EAST CITY

Coal and Wood YARD

MAIN OFFICE—111 Hunter St., East Phone 96

All sizes of Best Mined Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.

Egg, Stove and Nut Coal per ton $7.50

Pea or No. 2 Nut Coal, per ton $6.50

Dry Tamarac and Mixed Wood.

First Class Dry Hardwood.

WEIR & O'BRIEN

ARCH WEIR — JAMES O'BRIEN

B. SHORTLY'S CHRISTMAS STORE

Every year more and more people find here just what they are looking for in the Gift line, such as

Trunks Satchels

Travelling Bags

Shopping Bags

Suit Cases Purses

Fitted-Out Bags and Club Bags

for both ladies and gentlemen

Wallets, Pocket Books

Nothing Nicer for Xmas Gifts

We never had a better assortment, either in quality and design, and the prices will be found very reasonable and adaptable to every purse

B. SHORTLY

Sign of the Horse - George Street

China Painting

Mrs. Langley McCarthy

Teaches Bischoff's New and Beautiful Dark Work in China Painting. Lessons in Oil Painting for Advanced Pupils. Studio 41 Dorcas Street

Gratitude and Greeting

At this joyous season, we desire to express our Grateful Appreciation for the large patronage bestowed on our little Drug Store during 1909, and to thank one and all for the many kind comments regarding the superiority of our goods and money-saving prices. :: :: :: ::

On and after Jan. 1st, 1910, we will occupy our new and more commodious store, 351 George St., next to Richard Hall & Son's, Limited. We trust the service we have given in the past will warrant a continuance of its patronage during the new year. ¶ May 1910 be brimful of Happiness and Prosperity to all. :: :: :: :: ::

THE
WARNE DRUG CO.
345 GEORGE STREET :: LIMITED

When your stomach goes out of business eat for ten mornings—then keep on eating it. It keeps the stomach sweet and clean and the bowels healthy and active.

SHREDDED WHEAT

THE PALACE GROCERY
XMAS FRUIT
—at—
Graham & Co's.
EVERYTHING NEW

Finest Selected Raisins
4 lbs. for 25c.
Choicest Cleaned Currants
3½ lbs. for 25c.
English Mixed Peel
20c per lb.
Yeplant's Mince Meat
Choicest on the market.
3 lbs. for 25c.
Shelled Almonds or Walnuts
40c per lb.

We respectfully solicit a share of your patronage.
293 GEORGE ST.
Nearly opposite Opera House
PHONE 483

FIRE!

I am selling off my whole stock of New Boots and shoes at Fire Sale Prices. All reduced since the Fire. Come and get Footwear Bargains and Holiday Footwear at marked down prices while they last.

Robt. Di Bernardo
BROOKS BLOCK
Corner George and Sherbrooke Streets.

A Good Resolve

If you want Good Bread on your table every day during 1910, it is up to you to start the New Year with a dollar's worth of tickets for

Gilgour & Mackay's Home-Made BREAD

Order from the driver or ring up the bakery office Telephone 640.

Fancy Cakes, Buns, Biscuits, Pastry, etc., Fresh every morning
Store and Bakery, Corner George and Edinburgh, Sts.

CENTRAL CANADA LOAN & SAVINGS COY.
26 KING ST. E. TORONTO.

Notice is hereby given that a quarterly dividend at the rate of eight per cent. (8%) per annum for the three months ending December 31st, 1909, has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this Company, payable on and after January 1st, 1910, and a bonus of two per cent. (2%) for the year 1909, making a total dividend disbursement for the year ten per cent. (10%). The said dividend and bonus will be payable at the office of the Company in this city on and after January 1st, 1910.

The Transfer Books of the Company will be closed from the 20th to the 31st of December, both days inclusive.

E. R. WOOD,
Managing Director.
Toronto, December 15th, 1909.

Mr. Morrow's Committee Rooms

Committee Rooms have been opened up at

No. 173½ Simcoe St

where the supporters of Mr. W G. MORROW, Candidate for the Mayoralty, are invited to call at any time during the day or evening until after polling day.

R. P. TOBIN
CONTRACTOR & BUILDER
358 Brock St. Phone 1258
6m-43

LUMBER

And Builders' Materials of all kinds Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Casing, and Base and all kinds of finish. Doors and Sash Blocks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE
Point St. Charles Mills

B. LASTAR
BARGAIN HOUSE

Santa Claus Takes Off His Cap

To B. Lastar's Holiday Stock of Christmas and New Year's Presents. Come and see them, they are the cheapest in Town

Ladies' Furs, Coats, Skirts, Suits, Waists, Millinery, Feathers, Plumes, etc.
Men's Overcoats, Suits, Hats, Caps.
Boys' Clothing, Neckwear, Scarfs and etc.
Children's Furs, Coats and Caps, Toys, Fancy Goods, Jewellery, Purses, Brooches, etc.

Your Holiday Snapshots Enlarged

Work guaranteed first-class—Enlargements made from your best pictures, for any size frame.

Louis Mewett

STUDIO —374½ George Street, East Side.
The only Studio on George St.

J. J. SHADGETT

Up-to-date Carriage and Sign Painter. Dealer in Waggons, Cutters and Sleighs. All Repairing promptly executed.

57 Hunter St. Phone 443

"The Prospective Patentee" Fetherstonhaugh Dennison & Co. PATENTS STAR BUILDING 20 KING ST. W. TORONTO. OFFICES—MONTREAL WINNIPEG OTTAWA WASHINGTON.

LATEST CITY NEWS.

Here's

—Wishing you all a Happy and Prosperous New Year and a continuance of your valued orders. WALTER J. OKE.

Christmas Entertainment.

—The annual tea and Christmas entertainment for the scholars of St. Andrew's Sunday School will be held this evening. Tea will be served from 5 to 7.

The Ward System.

—The Examiner has received a lengthy letter on the ward system, signed "Ad Libitum," which it was not possible to publish to-day. It will appear to-morrow.

Watch-night Service

—There will be no prayer service in the George St. Methodist Church to-morrow evening. Instead there will be a watch-night service between 11 and 12 o'clock on Friday night.

Appointed Administrators.

The Trusts and Guarantee Co., Toronto, have been appointed administrators of the late Catharine Mary Rooney, of the County of Fergus, in the State of Montana. The estate consists of cash in the Dominion Bank in Toronto amounting to about $2,000.

We Repair and Clean Clothing.

The gay winter season is here with its many social functions. Let us take your dresses and wraps, repair and clean them so they will look like new. We make a specialty of repairing winter overcoats. W. B. Rickey, "My Valet," 204 Charlotte St. Phone 575.

A Superior Gift.

—Exceptional quality of tone and brilliancy; nothing superior ,and few equals, constructed for durability, to last a life time and improve with use, The Celebrated Karn Pianos; 171 Simcoe street. Terms to suit purchasers; inspection invited. Reynor and Cunningham.

Dennistoun's Xmas.

—Tags, Xmas. Seals, Xmas. Gum Labels, large and varied assortment of the best designs; regular price 10c for 5c. Holly-covered empty boxes for sending away gifts at half price. The biggest and best Holly Box of Note Paper and Envelopes, regular 25c for 15c, at Stratton's Retiring Sale. Everything must be sold before Xmas. Shop in the morning.—A. H. Stratton & Co.

What We Manufacture.

—The Peterborough Showcase Co., situated at 702 Water street, manufactures all designs of counter cases, silent salesmen showcases, wall cases, store fittings, and all designs of high-grade cabinet work, such as china cabinets, kitchen cabinets, music cabinets, writing desks, book cases, medicine cases, etc. Furniture made to order and repaired. Dealers in British plate glass and mirrors. All sizes. Second-hand silent salesman for sale. Corner Smith and Water streets. Call and see the works.

BREAD DOWN!
Standard 3lb. Loaf 10c
22 Tickets for $1.00
LUSH & SONS,—Bread Bakers,
241 Dublin St.—phone 511

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Mr. Charlie Primeau spent the holiday in Campbellford.

Mr. Jack Linton, of Campbellford, was in the city yesterday.

Miss Kenneallev ,of Lakefield, is visiting friends in this city.

Mr. Ernie Wilson, of North Bay, is spending a few days at his home here.

Mr. Herbert Miller, of Allandale, is spending a few days at his home here.

Miss Lillian Fair, of Galt, is spending a few weeks at her home in East City.

Miss Edith Ross, of Toronto, is the guest of Miss Eva Irwin, "Highland Hall."

Mr. Art Whaley and children, of Port Hope ,are the guests of friends in East City.

Mr. and Mrs. Colon, of Toronto, were guests of friends here over the holiday.

Mr. Harry Phillips, of Toronto, is spending the holidays at his home, East City.

Miss Annie Smith, of Detroit, Mich., is the guest of Mrs. J. H. Smith, Roger St., East City.

Misses Eva McNulty and J. McLaughlin, of Toronto, are the guests of the Misses Sullivan, East City.

Mr. J. H. Smith, of Pittsburg, Pa., is spending the Christmas holidays at his home, Roger St, East City.

Miss Ella P. Ray returned to Toronto after spending the Christmas holidays at her home on Water street.

Mr. John E. Potte left for St. Johns, N. B., after spending the Christmas holidays at Mrs. S. Ray's home, Water street.

Miss Birdie Thompson ,of Montreal, who has been a guest of Mrs. R. E. McKee, Water St., has returned to her home.

Miss Esther Sullivan has returned to the city after spending the holiday with her sister, Mrs. Fred Dunnett, Barnardo Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Weir and children, of Toronto, are spending the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cox, Rogers St., East City.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Stuart of Toronto who have been spending Christmas with their daughters, Mrs. O. S. Matchett and Mrs. Geo. A. Goheen have returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Mantell of Tillsonburg, and Miss Gertrude Mantell, of New York, were the guests over the Christmas holidays, of their daughter and sister, Mrs. J. C. Edwards, of 540 Downie street.

John C. Miller, ex-President of the Canadian Lacrosse Association, president of the Orillia Tannery Company and president of the Orillia Hotel Company, popularly known as Jack Miller, will be the guest of Dr. W. D. Scott. He will speak at the Local Option meeting in Murray St. Baptist church to-night.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cox, Rogers St., East City, was the scene of a most happy family gathering on Christmas Day. There were twenty-nine present. In the evening they drove to the home of Mr. Robt. Cox, where they had a Christmas tree, that was laden with presents for all. The children were more than surprised when Santa Claus appeared and read the program for the opening, and afterwards presented all with the presents off the tree. Mrs. Cox served refreshments, after which they spent the rest of the evening in games and music.

Band at Street Railway Rink to-night.

POST CARD COLUMN

To the Editor of the Examiner

Sir,—Confirming my statement to Alderman W. G. Morrow, at yesterday's nomination, and in view of the fact, as it appears to me, that some of the newspapers of the city are muzzled to such an extent as to leave from their report of the meeting, my statements on the city's financial management, I again challenge Mr. W. G. Morrow to meet me at a public meeting, to discuss municipal affairs.

The privilege of speaking on behalf of Alderman Morrow, will be given to the proprietors or other employees of the newspapers, so muzzled, as referred to above.

Conditions to be arranged with me before noon to-morrow.

(Signed) R. HICKS.

BOSTON'S BARBER REGULATIONS

Board of Health Orders Sterilization of All That Barbers Use on Customers.

A special despatch from Boston, May 5, 1900, to the New York Sun gives new regulations of the Boston Board of Health as to barber shops: "Mugs, shaving brushes and razors shall be sterilized after each separate use thereof. A separate, clean towel shall be used for each person. Materia to stop the flow of blood shall be used only in powdered form, and applied on a towel. Powder puffs are prohibited." Wherever Newbro's "Herpicide" is used for face or scalp after shaving or hair cutting, there is no danger of infection, as it is antiseptic, and kills the dandruff germ. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Sold by McDermid & Jury, Druggists; also Payne's Drug Store. One Dollar bottles guaranteed.

THE BOYS' CAMPAIGN

Y. M. C. A. Youngsters Opened Their Fight for Funds This Morning.

The campaign of raise $250.00 for the purpose of improving the Boys' Department of the Y. M. C. A. opened this morning with several enthusiastic, determined boys presenting the need and possibilities of this work to their friends, and hope by to-morrow night, when the canvass closes, to have been successful in raising the necessary amount.

Those who are interested in boys' problems will qnd an opportunity to help those who are endeavouring to solve some of them by contributing to this very worthy object.

Lifebuoy Soap is delightfully refreshing for bath or toilet. For washing underclothing it is unequalled. Cleanses and purifies.

PRIZES FOR THE SHOW

The special prizes to be given at the Peterborough Poultry Association's second annual show next week are on exhibition in the north window of Lang and Maher's store, and are attracting considerable attention to-day. They include cash prizes, handsome silver cups and other valuable awards.

QUALIFICATIONS WERE FILED SLOWLY TO-DAY

Five for the Board of Education and four for the council was the complete lists of candidates who had qualified for election at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon. Those who possessed the necessary requirements to stand for election for one of those cane-bottomed, easy arm chairs behind the desks in the council chamber were Mr. B. Lastar, Ald. J. J. Duffus, Ald. Duncan and Ald. Turner. The list for the Board of Education comprised T. H. Adams, W. H. Hill, J. W. Miller, D. W. Dumble and John Crane. By nine o'clock to-night all those who intend to "run the gauntlet" must have qualified so "shop early."

From the prospects an election is bound to ensue for the Council and School Trustees.

MARRIED.

HALL — BINGHAM — At Windsor, Ont., on Sept. 6th, 1900, by Rev. F. V. Hollinrake, of Central Methodist Church, Mr. Robert Neil Hall, of Campbellford, to Miss Helen Mabel Bingham, sister of Mrs. M. A. Turner, of Peterborough

FOR SALE—Letter Press, in use only a couple of months. Apply Examiner Office. dtf-101

LOWER PRICES THAN EVER.

Our Credit Sale will be continued all this week

Men and Women who require Winter Clothing have a good chance this week to buy Ready-to-Wear Garments at the very Lowest Prices before New Year's. We offer extraordinary Bargains in—

Ladies' Coats

Just a few left, and they go at Half Price. Made in the new 1909 styles and in the best and most popular cloths.

In Men's Suits

A Reduction of 25 per cent. off, this week only.

Housefurnishings

Such as Curtains, Floor Coverings, Rugs, Table Coverings, House Linens, and many other lines at Low Prices.

Special Bargains in Blankets and Furs this week.

Our Terms Suit All—Cash or Credit

The Knickerbocker Co.
422 George Street Opposite Examiner Office

To the Electors of the City of Peterborough:

To the Ratepayers,—

At the earnest solicitation of a large number of citizens, I have finally decided to come forward as a candidate for the Mayoralty. I am convinced that a forward and progressive policy for the city is essential.

Respectfully,

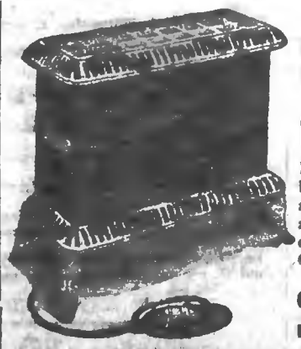
E. F. MASON.

OTHER PEOPLE'S MONEY

There is no business that has made such rapid development as the amusement business in the past decade. Formerly the promoters of shows were speculators without either business training or capital. Theatres as adequate places for giving entertainments were only to be found in the larger towns and cities and the shows were scarce and in most cases of inferior merit and only in the larger cities could the public enjoy first class productions and capable actors. To-day millions are expended by the best business firms in the country. Opera houses have been built in every town of a class to produce the heaviest New York productions, and the same plays with the same scenery and players are taken on tour from Maine to California and the patrons of amusement in the smaller towns have been educated to a standard so high that none but the best can hope to succeed.

Among the best comedies the brightest, wittiest and greatest laugh maker is "Other Peoples' Money" by Edward Owen Towne, telling an interesting story, but in a manner so humourous that it is one great big laugh from beginning to end. This famous comedy will be produced at the Grand to-morrow evening.

The company will be first class in every respect headed by the well known character comedian, James R. Waite, with special stage mountings and effects.



Your BATHROOM Warmed in TEN MINUTES with a

Collier Electric Radiator

It does not burn the air. What a boon. A fine warm room and pure air. In the sick room it is invaluable. Used wherever you have an electric lamp. Ask us about it. Only $7.00.

COLLIER - CUNNINGHAM CO'Y. Limited
Phone 666. 77 Simcoe St.

R. A. DUTTON

Wishes his many customers a Happy and Prosperous New Year

R.A. DUTTON, 420 George St. Telephones 304
GROCER AND FRUITERER

MUSIC AND DRAMA

THE VOLUNTEER ORGANIST

"The Volunteer Organist," William B. Gray's powerful play in which is woven a strong temperance lesson was the attraction that pleased two large audiences at the Grand Opera House in matinee and evening performances yesterday. In view of the fight that is going on in Peterborough just now over local option the temperance sentiment of the action was of special interest and the progress of the play was followed closely by the audiences. The scenes are laid in a Vermont village and the characters are of the "Old Homestead" type, giving opportunity for some very funny characterizations and some of the comedy scenes were responsible for long continued out bursts of laughter.

The scenic investure was good especially the church scene in the third act in which Masters Willie Golden and Freddie Gould won much favour by their splendid singing of "The Palms."

The acting cast was a good one and the wor of the company on the whole was excellent. The play was seen here two years ago and added to its laurels yesterday.

One of the most important dramatic announcements of the present theatrical season has just been made by Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons, to the effect that the Shuberts will present "The Blue Mouse," here on Tuesday, Jan 11 with Mabel Berrison, Harry Conor an dthe entire New York cast.

OTONABEE NOMINATIONS

Keene, Ont., Dec. 27.—The municipal nominations for the Township of Otonabee took place here to-day and resulted in the election of W. Porter, Reeve and W. B. Stewart, Deputy Reeve by acclamation.

The nominations for councillors of which three are to be elected were as follows: Messrs. W. Anderson, Leary, Nelson, John Miller, Robt. Humphries, Robt. Easson.

Red Rose Tea "Is Good Tea"
ALL ITS FLAVOUR AND STRENGTH IS RETAINED in the SEALED PACKAGE

DR. YOUNG
305 Stewart St., Peterborough
SPECIALTIES—Surgery and Diseases of Children
Both Phones 347 lydw

The Evening Examiner.

HARRISON FISHER'S latest picture and calendar going quickly. Select your present at once and let us Frame for you. Our Factory is working Day and Night.
Pillsworths' Picture & Art Store, 430 George Street

VOL. XLVII No. 151 12 PAGES PETERBOROUGH WEDNESDAY DECEMBER 29 1909 PAGES 1 TO 6 PRICE TWO CENTS

A RETURN GIFT

¶ On New Years Day will be appreciated by those you forget to remember during the rush of Christmas. If the gift you want is for a man, there is no other such stock—no such variety—no satisfying assortment of suitable things, such as Neckwear, Shirts, Underwear, Gloves, Hosiery, Braces, Handkerchiefs, to be found elsewhere in Peterborough.

H. LeBRUN & CO.

Peterborough Music Company
Special Inducements for the Christmas Season in Pianos & Organs
We carry in stock the high-class DOMINION, MARTIN-ORME, BELL and MASON & RISCH PIANOS, and the old favourite BELL, DOMINION and THOMAS ORGANS—the cream of the trade.
It is surprising the number of suggestions you find here—Phonographs Violins, Banjos, Guitars, Accordeons, Piccolos, Flutes, Autoharps, Mandolins Harmonicas, Music Portfolios, Music Rolls, Sheet Music—all specially priced for the Christmas trade.
J. P. CUNNINGHAM - PROPRIETOR
404 George Street. 2 Doors North of Hunter Street.

E. B. CLEGG & CO.
Holiday Goods

Useful and Beautiful New Year's Gifts
Can be selected from our varied stock of FINE FURNITURE and at very low prices. Call and see if we cannot interest you in some of these different articles such as :—
Ladies' Mahogany Dressing Tables
Ladies' Sewing Tables in Oak and Mahogany
Gentlemen's Chiffoniers in Oak and Mahogany
Ladies' and Gentlemen's Easy Chairs and Rockers in endless variety.
Desks, Book-cases, China Cabinets, Tables for Parlour, Library or Den.
Children's Chairs and Tables, etc.
427 George Street. CLEGG'S FURNITURE STORE PHONE 79

Make Christmas Day a Merry One

Navel Oranges	Mixed Candy
Mexican Oranges	Cream Candy
Table Raisins	Chocolates
Almonds	Dates
Walnuts	Figs
Filberts	Malaga Grapes
Brazil Nuts	Lemons
York Ginger Ale	York Springs Soda Water.

E.F. MASON & CO., Grocers

R. A. DUTTON
Wishes his many customers a Happy and Prosperous New Year
R.A. DUTTON, 420 George St. Telephones 304
GROCER AND FRUITERER

SLEIGHING
Drawing near and your Cutter or Business Sleighs require revarnishing or repainting. Now is the time to have it done and stored until you want them. For a good reliable up-to-date job of Carriage Painting or lettering give
W. J. ANDREWS
a trial this time. Shop
173 Murray St., opp. New Armouries

Nothing more appropriate for a Christmas Gift than Snowshoes or Toboggans. We have a very large assortment. Call & see them.
J. J. TURNER & SONS
Peterborough - Ontario

ROYAL
If you want to enjoy an hour's pleasant and innocent amusement seeing good pictures and good vaudeville come to the Royal.
Special Vaudeville for To-day
Hedder & Son
COMEDY ACROBATS
The wonderful comedy acrobats, Hedder & Son, who are known all over the United States and Canada, will appear in their very exciting and very funny acrobatic tricks. The little boy is a child-wonder, being the greatest acrobat of his age and size in America.
COMPLETE CHANGE OF MOTION PICTURES
Her Dramatic Career—One of Pathe's latest and best dramas, telling a most pathetic story of the troubles of an unfortunate poor woman and how she outlives them and lives a happy life.
A Useful Present for a Child—A very funny comedy with a long laugh all through. Johnny got a Xmas present of a set of tools, and you should see the fun Johnny had with them.
After Midnight — Another of Pathe's very thrilling dramas, showing how a woman burglar got into trouble and how she was converted to a new life
To-morrow Complete change of Vaudeville by new performers
— NEW ILLUSTRATED SONG —
5c—ADMISSION—5

PHONE 679
Same To You!
Peterborough's High-Class Men's-Wear Shop
THE SHOP FOR MEN
Repeating what we have so often said. Our stock of Men's Furnishings contains everything that a good dresser might ask for.
Our quality and prices are always right.
Our careful attention to your wants is unsurpassed.
We solicit your patronage.
Fashion Craft

D. L. & W.
SCRANTON COAL
THE FUEL WITHOUT A FAULT
First-Class Hardwood Cut and Split to order
R. Hicks & Co.
Office and Yards—248 Murray Street
Phones Nos. 47 and 48

Cash Paid for Second-Hand Furniture
Bargains in good Second-Hand Stoves, Heaters and Cookstoves, and other household goods at
BARRETT'S
303 George Street South of Charlotte

Framed Views and Photograph Calendars for Xmas & New Year
are now ready for your inspection. Call and see them while the stock is large.
Roy
STUDIO, 140½ Hunter street
P.S.—Ask for Roy's Famous Souvenir Post Cards to send to friends at a distance.

Night Classes at the Peterborough Business College
are being largely attended. Are you among the ambitious ones? If not, why not?,
ENTER NOW
Individual instruction.
Call for Particulars.
GEO. SPOTTON, PRESIDENT J. A. McKONE, PRINCIPAL

Vizier Is To Be Recalled

Committee of Union and Progress Finds That Charges Against Kiamil Pasha Are Unjust and Would Have Him Back Again—Tewfik Pasha Is Also Named For the Job—Young Turks Dominate.

Constantinople, Dec. 28.—The whole Turkish Cabinet resigned last evening, following the resignation of Hilmi Pasha, the grand vizier, who withdrew from the Ministry earlier in the day.

It is reported that serious conflicts have occurred at Bagdad, but this is not confirmed officially.

It is believed that the committee of union and progress has decided upon a change in the Ministry, because they have arrived at the conclusion that the accusations against the former grand vizier, Kiamil Pasha, which caused his resignation, were unjust. It is understood that the committee favors the appointment of Tewfik Pasha, the present ambassador at London, as grand vizier, but it is not unlikely that Kiamil Pasha will return to power.

Hilmi Pasha was appointed grand vizier by the Sultan, on the resignation of Kiamil Pasha on Feb. 14, 1909, and the new Cabinet was constituted May 5. Soon after its formation the Chamber of Deputies and the Senate with scarcely a dissenting voice voted confidence in the Ministry, after the Government's policy was explained. This policy included the enforcing of economies to meet the financial deficit and the eradication of the causes which led to the Adana outbreak.

The committee of union and press, which was the moving spirit in the overthrow of Sultan Abdul Hamid, has since the change in administration occurred, retained a firm grip on the Governmental machinery, and there have been rumors since the early part of September that the Cabinet would resign or be forced out of office. More recently the committee demanded the resignation of the Minister of Public Works, and this demand was complied with. There has been much active opposition also in the Chamber to the grand vizier, whose program did not satisfy the wishes of the Young Turks.

War In Chinatown.

New York, Dec. 29.—Scores of detectives and uniformed patrolmen were sent into Chinatown yesterday to check, if possible, the outbreak of the Tong war, in which one Chinaman has been killed within a few hours and another mortally wounded.

Police Captain Galvin states that the new assassins, known in the Tong as "gun men," were sent here from Boston, following the recent legal execution there of five Hip Sing Tong members, who were convicted of killing several On Leong Tong men, and that their mission was revenge.

Low Jung, a 75-year-old Celestial, was riddled with bullets late Monday night. He was the treasurer of the Four Brothers' Society, a western Tong, which has taken a part in the war, making it three-sided. The Four Brothers are supposed to have brought a large sum of money to this city for the purpose of employing "gun men" to kill enemies. Low Jung was the custodian and reputed dispenser of the fund.

All Chinamen are being searched for weapons and every strange Celestial is being closely watched.

Shoots Two and Himself.

Macon, Ga., Dec. 29.—Despondent and in an ugly mood following excessive drinking, Edward B. Alford shot his wife dead, seriously wounded his mother-in-law, Mrs. Martha Exum, and then shot himself. Officer R. L. Thomas would also have fallen a victime except that all five cartridges had been previously fired. As the officer walked up where the three bodies lay beside a fence, Alford, prostrate on the ground, groaning with pain, turned and snapped his revolver in the policeman's face.

A DOUBLE TRAGEDY AS THE RESULT OF WILD DRIVING

Farmer is Killed and Remorseful Constable Commits Suicide---The Third Party is Missing---Knocked a Farmer Out of a Waggon.

Red Deer, Man., Dec. 29.—A grim tragedy was enacted Christmas morning between Penhold and Innisfail, fifteen miles north of here.

A farmer named Johnson, from near Markerville, was driving toward Penhold, where it is stated he was to have been married, when he met a team driven at a furious pace by two men who, it is alleged, were under the influence of liquor. They ran into Johnston's rig, throwing him out and causing him to sustain a fracture of the spinal cord which proved fatal that day night.

One of the men, H. A. Wilson, a mounted police constable, living at Innisfail, after seeing the result of the accident, committed suicide by shooting himself. The other man has not been located. Johnston was a widower with six small children. Wilson's wife is seriously ill in the hospital and the suicide of her husband is being kept from her. The other man's name was Coffin, and he was driving the team, which belonged to Wilson.

Says It's A Huge Gamble

In Fiery Manifesto, Published at Dundee, Liberal Minister Says the Lords Are Out Gambling With the Control of Britain For Their Prize—Must Bread Be Taxed, and Luxuries Go Free.

London, Dec. 29.—A feature of the campaign yesterday was the issue of a fiery manifesto to the Dundee electors by Winston Churchill. He devotes the larger part to an attack on the House of Lords, and points out that a vote for the Tories will give the Lords the absolute veto, not only in legislation but in finance. What he asks, have the British people who belted the world with free institutions, done to deserve this restraint? On tariff reform as an alternative to the budget, he wants to know, "Is money to be got from taxes on board and meat, and manufacturers or from luxuries, monopolies and superfluities? Behind the tariff grow trusts. The whole vast abuse from millionaire organizers to the top, to the most petiful investor at the bottom, sits down deliberately to coax, wheedle, bully and bribe new favors from the political caucus with whom it is allied. The forces of reaction are out for a double event. They are gambling with the right of freedom of the nation. They are running a terrible risk to win a tremendous prize. That prize is no less than the complete tying up of democracy, both through it politics and its industry."

Churchill after eulogising the German state insurance against unemployment and sickness, also said it is a system which the Liberals intend to carry even further.

The Unionists held more meetings than their opponents last night. The principle speaker was Lord Rothschild, who addressed a stormy gathering at the east end. He said in regard to the budget, that what he objected to was the system of bureaucracy it introduced. He added he would have nothing to do with tariff reform if it increased the cost of living. The Duke of Westminster at Chester reminded the audience of Lloyd-George's pro-Boer days, and asked, ought a man of his kind to aspire to the position as leader.

Sir Edward Grey, Salisbury, got sarcastic about Tory members to reform the House of Lords if it meant the House was to be changed into a self-elected body of superior persons, it was not reform at all, it was worth nothing.

Many peers made speeches and Liberals have made great preparations for the celebration of the centenary of Gladstone's birth to-day.

New C.P.R. Route.

Vancouver, B.C., Dec. 29.—At a recent conference of western officials of the Canadian Pacific Railway in Winnipeg, plans were made, subject to the approval of the board of directors, providing for the construction of fifty miles of the Kootenay Central Railway next year. There is every reason to believe that the plans will be ratified.

It is proposed to start work early in March at or near Wardner Station on Crow's Nest Pass Railway. Tenders will likely be called for early in February.

The new line will open up one of the most fertile agricultural and fruit growing districts in the interior, including the famed Windermere Valley. Completed surveys show maximum gradients not to exceed four-tenths of one per cent. C.P.R. own in both valleys land grants aggregating two hundred thousand acres, most of which is available for agricultural or fruit growing purposes.

C.P.R. Profits For November.

Montreal, Dec. 29.—For November, 1909, the C.P.R. gross earnings were $9,075,984; working expenses, $5,383,-686 and net profits. $3,692,336; in November, 1908, net profits were $3,231,079. For the five months ended Nov. 30, 1909, the figures are as follows: Gross earnings, $41,710,753; working expenses, $24,756,300; net profits, $16,954,453. For the five months ended Nov. 30, 1908, there was a net profit of $11,844,426.

The increase in net profits over the same period last year is, therefore, $5,471,259, and for the five months ending Nov. 30, $5,110,027.

Cartoonist Davenport Ill.

San Francisco, Dec. 29.—Homer C Davenport, cartoonist, is seriously ill at the home of friends in San Francisco. He is suffering from a complete nervous collapse, and his physicians regard his condition as serious.

DEMANDS SURRENDER.

Madriz Offers Nicaraguan Rebels an Early Election.

Washington, D.C., Dec. 29.—Gen. Estrada, the revolutionary leader in Nicaragua, will not accept the extraordinary terms proposed by the new President Madriz as a basis of peace.

A telegram from Bluefields Monday night states that on the 22nd inst. Madriz proposed, in a telegram to Estrada, a suspension of hostilities, pending the arrival of a committee which he was sending to Estrada, to discuss an amicable and equitable settlement of the present strife. Madriz begged the revolutionary leader not to obstruct his efforts for peace.

Estrada in his reply expressed his willingness to meet the Madriz commissioners, but said that the revolutionary party would not recognize the action of the Legislative Assembly in placing power in the hands of Madriz, and stated that he saw in Madriz the usurper of the rights of the Nicaraguan people.

The terms upon which Madriz is willing to make peace, it is believed, are shown in a letter which purports to have been signed by him and addressed to a friend. In it he expressed his desire for peace without further bloodshed, and stated that whatever might happen compatible with his dignity and with the public interests, he was willing to accept. The revolutionists should recognize his Government, and that after such recognition both armies should be disbanded, all arms and ammunition being turned over to him.

He would recognize the debts and contracts of the revolutionists and within six months he would look for the holding of an election, guaranteeing free voting. He adds that he would turn over such power as he has impartially to the person elected President and that he would accept any other proper conditions.

A telegram from Managua to the State Department says that the Madriz party is making preparations to send troops to the eastward to meet Estrada's army.

Accept Dismissal.

New York, Dec. 29.—Pio Bolanos, the Nicaraguan consul in New York, refuses to take seriously his discharge as consul by the new Madriz Government at Managua. The consul declares that he will not recognize the order from Managua cancelling his letters patent and relieving him of his duties as consul. Yesterday he gave out the text of the following cablegram he had sent to Managua:

Baca, Managua.—"I will not receive any orders from you, being that it is not from a constitutional Government, and I will not receive orders in the future unless it is from a Government which is recognised by the United States. (Signed) Consul Bolanos."

First Report Exaggerated.

Washington, Dec. 29.—Commander Shipley at Bluefields, in a despatch dated Monday, states that the report hitherto sent out regarding the number of killed and wounded, prisoners taken, etc., at the recent battle at Rama, were much exaggerated, and that the ammunition captured amounted to only about 100,000 rounds, and the killed to not more than 500.

Hazzard Inquest Resumed.

Whitby, Dec. 29.—The coroner's inquest into the death of Ida May Hazzard, from exposure in traveling from Claremont to Whitby, while sick with scarlet fever last November, was resumed last night, and evidence submitted as to the condition of deceased, when leaving uptown here for her home on Hickory street.

Miss Eplett and Miss Elliott noticed her plight in passing along the station platform after stepping from the train. She was hardly able to walk and took a very long time to go a short distance.

Further adjournment was made for three weeks because the Hazzards are still under quarantine from three cases which developed amongst brothers and sisters of the deceased.

Sold Liquor In Local Option District.

Kingston, Dec. 29.—John Berryman and his wife, who keeps an hotel at Cunningham's Corners, in a local option township, were found guilty of selling liquor. The former was fined $50 and costs and the latter $10 and costs.

Veren Larsen, a Swede, appeared before Judge Price charged with threatening to burn down some buildings at Parham, belonging to a man named Lea.

Earl Grey's New Aide.

Ottawa, Dec. 29.—The Earl of Lansdborough, who has been appointed military secretary to the Governor-General, has arrived in Ottawa. He was formerly A.D.C. to the Duke of Connaught, the King's brother, and his appointment here may account somewhat for the rumor that the Duke of Connaught is to be the next Governor-General.

Have You Forgotten Any of Your Friends?
OFTEN in the rush and hurry of the Christmas-tide you will overlook a friend whom you had intended to remember with a gift. Not intentional, of course, but an oversight; then perhaps someone remembered you and you wish to return the compliment. New Year's Day is a most fitting time to settle your debts of compliment.
Though the Christmas trade was a most satisfactory one, we still have a nice showing of suitable gifts for Men, and in most cases the prices are much lowered, even on the finest goods. No harm to come and see what we have that will please the Men.
Creasman's
TOGGERY SHOP
389 GEORGE STREET

Bare-Legged In Snow.

Philadelphia, Dec. 29.—While neighbors watched from their windows in astonishment, four-year-old Menelkas Duncan, son of Raymond Duncan, exponent of the art of going bare-legged in all kinds of weather, appeared in the backyard of his home at 13th and Spruce streets, yesterday morning, and with nothing over his ankles helped his father make a snow man.

The youngster did not seem to mind it a bit, and though his toes looked rather blue, he danced merrily about and played in the yard for half an hour.

Raymond Duncan, despite the drifts of snow and biting wind, appeared at tea yesterday at the home of Mrs. Willard Parker, on South 12th street, clad in his accustomed Grecian garb.

Belleville Lacks Aldermen.

Belleville, Dec. 29.—Municipal affairs in this city are in a bad muddle. With twenty-one aldermen to be elected, three from each ward, in one ward only one candidate was nominated. This makes it impossible for twenty-one aldermen to be elected. In other wards the full three aldermen have not qualified.

Legal opinion seems to be divided as to whether another nomination shall be held for the wards which have not their full complement of candidates, or whether another nomination or the whole city shall be held.

This is the first election since Belleville returned to the ward system.

Training the Naval Militia.

Washington, Dec. 29.—To procure a higher degree of proficiency among the naval militia of the various states a four-inch gun, equipped with Morris tubes, will be sent to each of the naval militia armories for training purposes. Twenty-three states are affected.

HAPPY NEW YEAR
THE NUGENT DRUG CO.
Extend New Year Greeting to all those who have so kindly patronized this store during the past years. : :
A.A.Fowler A.J.Johnston
HAPPY NEW YEAR

Daily Examiner.

Examiner Agencies

NORTH WARD

F. T. Braund, 736 George, cor. Smith st.
D. Sullivan, 639 George cor. Edis st
Mr. Young, cor. McDonnel and George.
L. E. J. Lockhart, 520 Water st.
J. M. Donovan, cor. Aylmer & McDonel

WEST WARD

Nelson Bentley, cor. Brock & Park.
H. Bradshaw, cor. Downie and Charlotte
John James, cor. Reid & McDonel.

CENTRE

Palmer Bros. 431 George.
R. J. Sedon, 560 George.
F. O. Cubitt, 370 George.
C. J. Murphy, 326 Charlotte.
A. E. Stratton, 417 George.

SOUTH

Mrs. Durnford, cor. Sherbrooke & Rob
E. O. Braund, cor. Albert & Park.
M. H. Halpin, cor. Perry & George.
R. McGill, corner Lake and Aylmer.

EAST

Mrs. M. Geerin, cor. Roger & Hazlett.
Martin Kylie, Rogers street.
David Flynn, 160 Concession, cor Carlisle
P. B. Manion, corner Mark and Hunter streets

UNION LABEL

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 29, '09

MUSICAL.

MISS BESSIE ELCOME, Teacher of Piano Forte terms, etc., address Peterborough Conservatory of Music, or 802 Harvey St. 2mo-26-7311

MRS G. B. MILLER—Leader of Murray Street Baptist Church Choir. Teacher of Voice and Piano—418 Union Street Peterborough.

MISS JULIA CHOATE—Violin Soloist and Teacher. Concert engagements accepted For terms etc., apply Conservatory of Music. 2mo-1

MEDICAL.

DR. A. W. MacPHERSON—Office 124 Murray St., Cor. Water. Late House Surgeon Toronto Isolation Hospital, Toronto Sick Children's Hospital and Mashatan Maternity Hospital. 'Phones Bell 648. Machine.

DR. T. F. McCULLOUGH—Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Specialists. Office 108 Brock Street.

DR. BUCHANAN, F.R.C.S. Edinburgh, M.R.C.S. England, L.R.C.P. London, Specialist of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat 'Phone 349. 160 Charlotte Street. Hours—9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m.

DR. H. A. HAMMOND—Office, 143 Water Street. Late Assistant Westminster Hospital Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, England. Also of Rotunda Maternity Hospital at Dublin. Special diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach. Bell Phone—Office 63; House Phone 1301.

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY — Osteopathic Physician. Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce; Hunter Street entrance Bell Phone 649. Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 4 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free

LEGAL.

ROBERT RUDDY, K.C.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Office, corner George and Hunter Sts. Money to loan at Current Rates. Successor to George Edmison K.C.

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR, Barristers, Solicitors, and Notaries. Office 11 Water Street. Money to loan.—E. A. Peck, R. M. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr

DUMBLE & JOHNSTON—Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Office over Toronto Savings and Loan Company, 435 George St.—D. W. Dumble, K.C.; W. F. Johnston

A. S. DIXON—Barrister, Solicitor, Etc. Offices—Corner Hunter and George Sts. entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

HALL & HAYES & HALL.—Barristers Solicitors and Notaries Public, Hunter Street, Peterborough, next to St. John's Church. Money to loan at lowest rates of interest.—E. H. D. Hall, City Solicitor; Louis M. Hayes, K. C., and Basil D. Hall.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON—Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Solicitors etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office, Corner of Hunter and Water Streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce. E. R. Hall, K. T. Medd, W. S. Davidson.

W. H. MOORE—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Office—Entrance first hallway west of Post Office. Peterborough, Ont. Money to loan.

A. P. POUSSETTE—Barrister and Solicitor—379 Water Street. Money to loan at lowest current rates. A. P. Poussette K.C.

E. B. WOOD—Barrister, etc., Counsel Crown Attorney. Office over Canadian Express Office George Street. Money to loan

DENTAL.

DR. H. F. WOOD, Dentist—Office, No. 439 George Street. Phone 208 day or night

UNDERTAKERS.

D. BELLEGHEM.—Funeral Director.—Calls may be given day or night at warerooms, 198 Hunter Street, or at Residence, 198 Hunter Street. Telephone No. 35.

LANE & BANG—Undertakers and Embalmers. Can be found at their warerooms day or night. 172 Hunter street Phone 42

MONEY TO LOAN.

MONEY TO LOAN—On Farm and Town Property, at lowest current rates on easiest terms of payment. HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON, (Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Peterborough, Ont. Office Over the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

MONEY TO LEND.—On first-class City and Farm Securities only, on current rates. BENNET & GOODWILL, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., No. 375 Water street, Peterborough. Telephone, No. 101. J. W. Bennett; E. L. Goodwill.

MONEY TO LOAN—On easy terms. O'CONNELL & GORDON, Barristers, Solicitors Notaries, etc. Canadian and United States. Patent Attorneys. Hunter St. 2 doors west of Post Office. Dominion Chambers. George M. Gordon.

ARCHITECTS.

W. BLACKWELL—Architect and Civil Engineer. Plans and estimates made for churches, public buildings and dwelling houses. Buildings, heating and plumbing a specialty. Office 371 Water Street Peterborough.

THE ORDEAL OF PRETTY MARCIA.

Aunt Calverley's Story and the Visit That Followed It.

By MARTHA M'C.-WILLIAMS.

Marcia came up the walk with a sigh of relief so intense it was almost a sob. All afternoon she had been braving it out, forcing herself to smile and chatter dutifully, listen respectfully to Calverley strictures upon the world—her world—and life in general and make the requisite automatic responses.

Aunt Calverley was no blood kin, only her father's stepsister, but all the more punctilious and difficult because of it. Twice a year she came in state to spend the night and day after at Greenways. The visits always left Marcia and her mother uncomfortable, but this was the first whose legacy had been true heartache.

"Don't look so, daughter. I don't believe it," Mrs. Alston said, drawing Marcia down beside her upon the piazza bench. She was small and fair and blue eyed, all unlike her daughter. Even Aunt Calverley admitted grudgingly that Marcia was Alston through and through. That meant she was beautiful.

"As handsome as an Alston" had been a saying of the countryside this hundred years. As a race the Alstons were slim and supple, dark eyed, dark browed, with fine olive skin and clear, healthy scarlet showing richly in lips and cheeks; light stepping too. Marcia in especial had the motion of a flower swaying in gentle breezes. There had been something of natural irritation, but no surprise whatever, when Ivor Morris fell in love with her at first sight.

There could be no doubt of it. He called the very next day and the next and the next, then upon the fourth planned a picnic in the grounds of High Brook, his ancestral estate. He was but newly come to it. The big house had been shuttered and shrouded almost twenty years. That was his excuse for asking his new friends to make merry with him outdoors. Though he was far too well bred to devote himself conspicuously to Marcia when thus playing host, by a sort of tacit consent she was pushed forward to be the head and front of everything. The next day he vanished unaccountably, but in a week he was back again and evidently more in love than ever. He managed somehow to see Marcia every day for a month; then came another absence and in the midst of it Aunt Calverley.

Aunt Calverley was bursting with news. Mrs. Alston was certain of it the minute she set eyes on her. There was a certain swelling as of pride in her own discerning mixed with ostentatious pity for the blindness of her kinfolk. Still, she told nothing out of the common until after the midday dinner, when she had begun veering delicately to the subject of her departure. Although the length of her visit was always as fixed as the laws of the Medes and Persians, she felt sadly slighted if in the last hours of it she was not begged to make it longer. Mrs. Alston had just said, with a commendable show of heartiness, "I'm sure there's nothing to call you home—you had just as well stay with us until Monday," when the revelation came.

"I hope I shall never be foolish enough to wear out my welcome anywheres," Aunt Calverley returned viciously. "I know you two will be wantin' to go right off and see your new neighbors. Of course you know Ivo Morris is fetchin' home his wife and twins. Don't tell me you hadn't heard? And him here so much! Well, I am astonished. But men air queer—specially the Morris men. How else did the old major have six sons and just this one grandson? And Ivo's father was the wildest of the lot. Maybe that's why I mistrusted his son so from the very first. You won't make me believe he's bringin' the wife of his own good will and pleasure. I believe there's been trouble between 'em, and she's brought the gentleman up with a round turn. How do I know? You know he has got Peggy Henderson to keep house for him. On the way here I stopped at High Brook to ask Peggy if she reckoned I could get her daughter Fanny to come and quilt for me next fall. Peggy was so flustered I couldn't hardly get a sensible word out of her. Ivo had sent her a telegraph: 'Comin' home Saturday. Prepare adjoining rooms for Mrs. Morris and twin children' "—

"Why didn't you tell us yesterday? I would love to have made a cake for those children. Peggy Henderson's cake is always as heavy as she is," Marcia interrupted so gayly her mother gave her a look of adoring pride. "Now it's too late," Marcia ran on. "Do stay over Sunday, Aunty Calverley. The Morrises will surely come to church. I'd like to know what you think of her."

But there was no luring Aunt Calverley away from talk of Ivor Morris. His sins, actual and potential, beguiled her into staying until sundown, although she had to drive ten miles.

Marcia endured it all wonderfully—just how she never quite understood. She did not break down even at her mother's wistful comforting—only locked her fingers hard and said, gazing far away into the glowing sunset: "Why shouldn't it be true, mamsie? Ivor Morris has looked love at me and spoken it, but never a word of marriage."

"He—he—called me 'mother' the very last time I saw him," Mrs. Alston said tremulously. "I tell you he is not wicked."

"No; perhaps only weak," Marcia said, drawing her mother within her arms. "He worships beauty, and I am truly very pretty, mother. He is impulsive too. I know for the time he loves me with all his heart. Maybe he has loved his—I mean somebody else—with all his heart. Maybe also he will keep on doing it all his life. And I love him, mother. But he has saved and spared me this much—he has never given me the chance to tell him so. Now I know why. Let us both be grateful and show it by helping to make things easy for him. People will gossip wildly over this unheard of wife. We must pretend to have been in the secret."

"Can you do it? Are you strong enough?" Mrs. Alston said, drawing Marcia's head within the hollow of her arm.

Marcia nestled closer and said clearly: "I must be strong enough, mamsie. You must be strong enough. We will begin by going to church tomorrow. That will be the hardest thing. Oh, how I dread facing all those curious eyes!"

"No more than we do. Therefore all of us must stay away," Ivor Morris said, coming around the corner of the piazza. Madeira vines grew so rank there they hid everything. Ivor's eyes danced a bit, but his mouth was grave and even set. He half led, half dragged a very pretty woman, whom he seated unceremoniously beside Mrs. Alston. "We walked across the woods, Melainie and I, on purpose to ask your good offices. Melainie is Mrs. Morris, but not my wife. That honor belongs to my Cousin Graham, who didn't know he was a Morris until six weeks back. It seems his mother, when very young, married privately my wild Uncle Royal, disagreed with him and ran away from him before Graham was born. The day after she left Uncle Roy broke his neck in the hunt, but it was months before his widow knew it. When she did know she married an old lover, who adopted her son and brought him up as his own. I am, it seems, very like my uncle. When she saw me the first time, just after I came here, she broke down and told me the whole story. She did not know how much of the Morris fortune was entailed or that in proving Graham the eldest heir male I was half beggaring myself. All that has, however, settled itself. Graham is a trump. He will take over High Brook on account of the twins. Still, I'm not so bad a match I don't dare ask Marcia to marry me. I've been on the point of doing it fifty times at least. But who could be brutal enough to ask a princess to exist on nothing a year?"

"Don't scold him, please! I have done that already," Melainie entreated prettily, holding Marcia's hand. Marcia stood very straight and asked severely, trying to frown on Ivor as she spoke: "How long had you been behind those vines? Did you dare eavesdrop?"

"Certainly! I love to confound proverbs," Ivor said audaciously. "Listeners do sometimes hear good of themselves. But I know it was wrong. I'll do any penance you may set me after"—

"After what?" Marcia asked as he stopped tentatively, his eyes entreating.

"After the wedding day, sweetheart," he said. Then, heedless of others present, he took her in his arms.

When women have backache they often attribute their suffering to other disorders and do not realize that the kidneys are diseased.

Neglect usually means the development of Bright's disease.

You know how dreadfully painful and fatal that is.

There is quick relief from backache and thorough cure for kidney disease in the use of

Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney & Liver Pills

This medicine has a truly wonderful record of cures and is known in nearly every home as the most effective treatment obtainable for liver complaint, biliousness, constipation, backache and kidney disease.

One pill a dose, 25 cts. a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Look out for imitations and substitutes.

Corn, Oats and Wheat as "Seeds."

School children in the crowded part of New York do not speak of corn and oats and wheat by those names, but always refer to them as "seeds." The other day in one of the big schools the teacher was talking to her pupils about gardening. She ended with a request for each pupil to bring a few seeds the next day to be planted in the window boxes. The following morning the children appeared mostly with either oats, wheat or corn. While putting a few grains of each in the earth the teacher referred to them by their familiar names. One of the girls in the class took courage to "set the teacher right" and said: "Some one must 'a' told you wrong, teacher. That," pointing to the wheat, "is bread seed, an' that yellow stuff ain't corn; it's pigeon seed. We always call them that in the block where we live."—New York Sun.

The matter appearing in this space from time to time is furnished by The Ontario Brewers' Association have arranged for its publication.

CONSIDER THESE POINTS

The friends of local option are never done declaring that drink leads to crime. A truer statement of fact is that crime leads to drink—to drown conscience.

Statistics in the large show that there is little connection between crime and drink. Crime is a mere index of good or bad times. When times are good there is small temptation. Consequently there is less crime and more drinking. When times are bad there is greater temptation. Consequently there is more crime and less drinking, because drink is a luxury, and is one of the first things to be cut off when people have no money to spare.

Drink does not fill our penitentiaries. It may cut some figure in petty jail cases, but the big crimes which land men in prison for long terms need cool heads and sober planning.

Drink does not fill our asylums. More people get into the hospitals for the insane through religious mania than through hard drinking. Yet there is no movement to prohibit religion.

Far from filling our asylums, alcohol has given a filip to many a great mind, and helped many a great man to do his work. Look at Daniel Webster, Lord Eldon, Brougham, Thurlow, Mansfield. Look at Sir John Macdonald. Some of these men even used alcohol to excess. What does Macaulay say of Addison? "Wine was the charm that lifted the spell from his fine mind."

What harm has beer done Germany or England? They divide the eye of the world for brains, enterprise, industry.

The "wine-bibbing" races are the conquering races, and civilization owes everything, not to the abstentious Hindoo or Mussulman, but to the wine-tasting Greek, the hard-drinking Roman, and the beer-consuming Teuton. Temperance yes. But prohibition—that is another story.

THEN VOTE AGAINST LOCAL OPTION. 10

Ready Wit.

Many good stories are told of the "Poet" Craig, for so many years a familiar figure on the London cricket and football grounds. On one occasion Craig began at the Oval, "Gentlemen, this is my favorite ground," when some one interrupted:

"Craig, you said that at Leyton last week."

"Yes, sir," returned the unabashed poet, "and I shall say it at Canterbury next week. The ground on which the noble game is being played before an assembly of intelligent and enlightened purchasers of my poetry is always my favorite ground for the time being."

But Craig knew how to keep an impertinent interrupter in his place. Once a stout, red faced man broke in on one of his speeches with: "Craig, you're making a lot of money out of fools. When are you going to set up a 'pub?' "

"When you come and live next door to me, sir!" was the answer, and the red faced man rushed crimson.

Another man at the Oval once said: "Now, Craig, tell us how much you've made out of bad poetry."

"More, I venture to say, sir, than you've made out of bad manners!"—London Scraps.

The Wall Street Game.

The burning question on Wall street is always whether stocks will go up or down. If any man were able to answer it correctly he could make himself a millionaire in a day, but speculation is neither a fortune telling nor a gambling game, and the man who believes otherwise is bound to lose his money and to join the ranks of the disconsolate, disgusted and depleted who make the outcry against the evils of Wall street, says Leslie's Weekly.

The winner in Wall street is gifted with the same business characteristics that bring success in any line of enterprise. He utilizes them in buying and selling stocks, just as he would if he were engaged in merchandizing. He knows, for instance, that prosperous conditions are reflected by what are called the bank exchanges, by railway earnings, the record of failures, the condition of the iron market, the balance of trade and especially the outlook for the crops.

Baked Cheese Omelets.

Baked cheese omelets are most appetizing and may be prepared in several ways. A good recipe calls for a pint of milk, four large eggs, one heaping tablespoonful of flour, one of butter and a teaspoonful of salt. Let the milk heat on the stove until it reaches the boiling point. Beat the butter and flour to a cream and gradually mix it with the hot milk, taking care that no lumps form. Cook the mixture for five minutes. Let it cool and add the egg after beating the yolks and the whites separately. The whites should be beaten to as stiff a froth as possible. Pour the omelet into a buttered dish, sprinkle the top with grated cheese and fold some of the cheese through the omelet. The more cheese used the better. Let the omelet bake for half an hour or until it is solid, so that it will not "run" when dipped out with a spoon. It should bake in a hot oven.—New York Tribune.

Immigration For October.

The total immigration into Canada for October was 17,301, as compared with 9,089 in October of last year, 3,033 arrived at ocean ports, an increase of 78 per cent., and 9,269 from United States, an increase of 102 per cent., as compared with the same month of last year.

The total immigration for seven months, April to October inclusive, was 136,244, as compared with 109,566 for the same months of last year, an increase of 26 per cent.

LETTER HEADS
STATEMENTS
BILL HEADS
ENVELOPES
CARDS

The Examiner

Has recently added many New Faces of Type, New Borders, New Ornaments, New Cuts, Etc., to its Job Printing Department.

Anything and everything in the way of High-grade Printing produced. If something original is desired, we will be pleased of an opportunity to prove to you that we can put character into our work.

POSTERS
CIRCULARS
CATALOGUES
PROGRAMMES
CHECK BOOKS

Poser For the Husband.

Returning home from Atlantic City a Frankford man drew a photograph carefully from his pocket and showed it to his wife. Said he, "There's a man who's in love with you."

It was not a good picture, one of those cheap pingpong photographs. The husband had not been in a condition to be well "taken," and there was little likeness. His wife looked at the picture for several minutes, very much puzzled. Finally she spoke up:

"Why, it's Jim! Where did you see him? And where did you get this? And what did he tell you?"—Philadelphia Times.

To Tame Him.

"So you're going to introduce baseball among the prisoners? I don't approve. What will become of discipline?"

"If a man gets too obstreperous," replied the warden confidently, "we'll make him umpire." — Philadelphia Ledger.

A Matter of Hours.

Bangs—What is the difference between a woman's whist club and a man's poker club? Wangs—Why, in one you get home to dinner and in the other to breakfast.—Newark Star.

Building Lots For Sale

THE PETERBORO SUGAR CO. PROPERTY has been cut up into lots, which are now offered for sale: lots 50-ft. frontage by 120-ft. in depth.

These lots are most desirable for building purposes, and any person contemplating the purchase of a lot for this purpose will do well to look over this property before purchasing elsewhere.

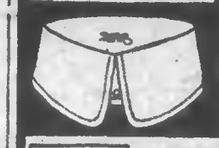
Ful particulars and all information can be had on application to

The Toronto Savings and Loan Company

437 George Street, City

The "Cambra" for Comfort . . .

FAMOUS CASTLE BRAND



3 for 50 Cents

Berlin, Ont.

At 2 for 25c. you can buy this shape in Elk Brand named "DAKOTA."

SOMETHING ELECTRICAL

In the Electrical line, many novelties have been brought out lately—articles of household use which give comfort and satisfaction every day. These make ideal gifts, up-to-date: —

ELECTRIC IRONS — PORTABLE TABLE LAMPS
ELECTRIC TOASTERS — ELECTRIC FIXTURES
ELECTRIC HEATERS — ELECTRIC DOMES

Get our prices on entire Electric House Fixtures. We save you money. We do House Wiring. Install Motors, Bells, etc.

The F. J. R. MacPHERSON CO.
341 GEORGE STREET LIMITED

The RAYO LAMP is a high grade lamp sold at a low price. There are lamps that cost more but there is no better lamp at any price. The Burner, the Wick, the Chimney-Holder—all are vital things in a lamp; these parts of the RAYO LAMP are perfectly constructed and there is nothing known in the art of lamp-making that could add to the value of the RAYO as a light-giving device. Suitable for any room in the house. Every dealer everywhere. If not as yours, write for descriptive circular to the nearest Agent of

The Queen City Oil Co., Limited.

HIGHEST FOOD-VALUE.

EPPS'S COCOA is a treat to Children, a sustenant to the worker, a boon to the thrifty housewife.

BREAKFAST SUPPER CHILDREN THRIVE ON "EPPS'S."

In strength, delicacy of flavour, nutritiousness and economy in use "Epps's" is unsurpassed.

SOLDER

Plumbers' Wiping and Bar Tinsmiths' and Electrical Wire Solder

THE CANADA METAL CO., Limited

TORONTO ONTARIO

What it Cost

10 Annual Premiums of $43.20 each, $432.—This represent the TOTAL COST of Policy No. 12307 for $1000 in

The Canada Life Assurance Co'y.

In other words $432 purchased a PAID UP POLICY for $1000, dated June 21st, 1872, on the 10 payment Life Plan, with dividends applied every 5 years to increase the policy as follows :—

Policy paid up.....	$1000.00
Dividend additions to 1900.....	648.75
The Company would pay.....	$1648.75

should the assured die to-day, and this amount will increase annually so long as he lives.

Read The Top Line Again

Can you create an estate to compare or even approach this?

Don't Wait Until it is too Late.

DAVIS-THOMPSON COMPANY

LIMITED

Agents for Peterboro—433 George St.

Your BATHROOM Warmed in TEN MINUTES with a

Collier Electric Radiator

It does not burn the air. What a boon. A fine warm room and pure air. In the sick room it is invaluable. Used wherever you have an electric lamp. Ask us about it. Only $7.00.

COLLIER - CUNNINGHAM CO'Y. Limited

Phone 666. 77 Simcoe St.

Hotel Cumberland

NEW YORK CITY

BROADWAY AT 54th STREET

Near 50th St. Subway Station, 53d St. "L" and all surface lines.

Near Depots, Shops and Central Park. New and Fireproof. Strictly First-Class. Rates Reasonable. $2.50 with Bath, and up. All hardwood floors and Oriental Rugs. Ten minutes walk to twenty Theatres. Excellent Restaurant. Prices moderate.

SEND FOR BOOKLET

HARRY P. STIMSON

Formerly with Hotel Imperial

R. J. BINGHAM

Formerly with Hotel Woodward

The Children's Aid Society

For the Care of Neglected and Ill-Treated Children.

Incorporated by Act of Legislature. Information required. Informant's name kept strictly private.

Children for Adoption

GEO. COCHRANE,

Bell Phone. Agent and Asst.-Sec. 705 George St.

Spruce Up For The NEW YEAR

And have your Cutters and Sleighs repaired and put in good condition when the snow flies. By

BEN YELLAND

174 Murray Street

LANSDOWNE IN CANADA.

When He Was Governor-General He Showed Great Promise.

Canadians will remember Lord Lansdowne, now so prominently in the public eye owing to the contest between the British House of Commons and the House of Lords, as governor-general.

If he lacked the warmth or the spontaneous brilliancy of a Dufferin, or the bluff heartiness of a Stanley, he offered a dignity, a weight, a lucidity of utterance, a scrupulous exactness, a foresight which marked him out for leadership in the large place.

A certain austerity was marked, but it well became him.

One could not well think of him as greatly relaxing, and yet he had warmth and geniality. At the same time he was the representative of Her Majesty: he was the copy of royalty; he was in a position requiring dignity and measured relations. In all his public functions he expressed this sense of responsibility.

In all his public speeches he offered grace and illumination. He had the chosen word, which fitted its place like a glove. His diction was polished like a cameo. Something of Celtic fervor he missed, but there was always weight and meaning, and value in his deliverance.

He showed a deep interest in the progress of art and learning, and his addresses at the convocations of the various univeraities were models of clearness, of weighty reflection.

With the abounding life of this country he was in full sympathy, and kept in touch with all its manifestations.

Lady Lansdowne was stately and queen-like, of a delicate, patricial beauty, and well fitted to give distinction to a young society, whose growth she encouraged in all charming ways.

The term of office of Lord Lansdowne was not marked by any large event; but it was contemporaneous with the beginnings, it may be said, of the C.P.R., and all the development which was contingent upon the completion of that system.

It may be remembered, at the same time, that a sensational episode marked the beginning of Lord Lansdowne's rule at Ottawa. His lordship owned and still owns (if he has not recently sold under the Purchase Act) extensive estates in Ireland. At that time (1883-4) the Land League was very active, and boycotting was in full force, and the landlords had rather a lively time of it. A certain unpopularity attached to Lord Lansdowne as an absentee landlord, who, it was alleged, insisted upon his "pound of flesh" in the form of rack rents.

Before Lord Lansdowne landed on our shores the press of the world was filled with the alleged details of a Land League plot to assassinate him the moment he landed in the Dominion.

Although names were mentioned, yet the story was plausibly concocted, and many in the Mother Country expected to hear of the "removal" of his lordship, after the manner of the Phoenix Park murders.

Nothing happened. The governor-general, with Lady Lansdowne and suite, proceeded to Rideau Hall unharmed. The story was made out of whole cloth. A certain news agency in London was arraigned before the London courts in the connection, and admitted that beyond a few vague lines of cable from this side, it had nothing to support the story, which was written up in the office of the agency.

The incident was soon forgotten, but the story, which filled pages of the public press, gave the whole world one of those shuddering thrills, which, while it dreads, it at the same time seems to long for.

A Song of Canada.

It will interest many to know that Canada has found her way into the popular songs of the motherland. An enterprising Scotsman, realising that many of his countrymen have settled in this country, and assuming with good grounds of probability that they have sweethearts at home waiting to come out here, has written a love-song for use in the towns of the motherland, entitled "Won't You Come to Me in Canada?" It starts off:

"Across the broad Atlantic, in Canada's domain,
A colonist was working for the loss he longed to gain,
Inside his little cabin, he pictured day by day
The image of his sweetheart, and with longing he would say:
Won't you come, come, come to me in Canada, Canada, in Canada—
Won't you come, come, come to me in Canada, far away across the foam?
With the church bells ringing on our wedding-day
We'll drive away
Upon a sleigh,
So if you'll be my wife
We'll be happy for life
In my cosy Canadian home."

He Got One.

A Winnipeg despatch says: A. A. Gilroy, western manager of The T. Eaton Co., is a great lover of music, and when with J. C. Eaton, president of the company, often stopped on the street to listen to street pianos. The other morning he received as a present from Mr. Eaton the handsomest street piano which could be procured in Europe.

Starvation Treatment a Failure

The Sensible Cure for Indigestion Is "Little Digesters".

Probably because the taking of food causes such intense discomfort, many dyspeptics think that by abstaining from this and that—practically starving themselves—they can cure the trouble.

Of course, where Indigestion is caused by sheer gluttony, cutting down the food would no doubt do good. But in most cases Indigestion is caused, not by overeating, but by lack of physical exercise, and consequent lack of vigor in the organs of digestion. Partial starvation still further impairs the bodily vigor, and makes the trouble worse.

The dispeptic needs plenty of good, wholesome food. He can eat it, and DIGEST IT, TOO, if he takes a "Little Digester" after each meal. "Little Digesters" help the weakened stomach to do properly that which it cannot do alone—digest and assimilate the food needed to build up the system.

At your druggist's, or by mail from the Coleman Medicine Co., Toronto, for 25c a box. 20

DUFFERIN'S LOSS.

Late Dr. John Barr, M.P., Was Beloved In His District.

The County of Dufferin is just beginning to realise the great loss it has sustained in the death of its Federal member of Parliament, the late Dr. John Barr, who died recently. Already scores of people are heard discussing the impossibility of filling his place. From the busy streets of the village to the lonely homes on the township side roads a unanimous expression of regret is voiced by the people regardless of their political opinions.

For nearly half a century he was a resident of the county and became so identified with its interests, both in his private kindnesses and public benefactions, that he was looked upon as a county institution. Some idea of his great popularity as a physician may be gained from the fact that in the Township of Osprey there was only one house to which he was not called in his capacity as medical advisor, although this township is not situated in Dufferin, its nearest boundary being 15 miles north of Shelburne.

Upon the formation of Dufferin as a separate county in 1875, he became its first member of Parliament, and with the exception of the short period when political lines were obliterated by the transient patron movement, he has been in public life ever since.

He knew the County of Dufferin better probable than any other man who ever lived in it, and hundreds looked upon him as a personal friend. He was a great dispenser of hospitality and the very antithesis of the modern politician, who forgets his supporters after the day of election. To those in trouble he always gave a sympathetic ear and did whatever lay in his power to aid them in their difficulties, and although he accumulated a fortune in the practice of his profession, he was never known to enter court to recover a claim.

To these many excellent qualities he owed his great popularity as a public man, and was generally returned to Parliament with one of the largest majorities in Canada given to rural members.

As a public man, his influence was always exerted for the benefit of his constituents and he was looked upon as one who could not, under any circumstances, be influenced to betray this trust. To his influence may be traced many reforms in the law directly benefiting the common people. He was pointed out by representatives of the Quebec press in Ottawa as a model member for a rural constituency. Although a supporter of the Temperance and Moral Reform Movement in Parliament, he was a great lover of individual freedom in personal tastes and was looked upon as a connoisseur in all the requisites for the convivial board.

He had the happiness to be united in marriage to a lady who had the grace of perfect breeding and enjoyed in her sphere of action an equal popularity with himself.

The River Jordan.

The Jordan is the "Descendar." During its course it falls over 1,200 feet. At no point is it navigable even by a small craft to any considerable distance and presents the unique spectacle of a river which has never been navigated flowing into a sea which contains not one living creature.

Humming Birds.

The humming bird, of which about 400 species have been recognised, is so called because of the humming sound which is produced by the rapid vibration of its wings.

Why Water Won't Fry.

Why cannot we fry in water? Because water can only be heated to the boiling point, 212 degrees, and any additional heat does not increase its temperature. Two hundred and twelve degrees of heat will not brown the surface of anything. Fat, on the contrary, can be made much hotter, the temperature depending on the kind.

ONLY TWELVE YEARS.

In That Time Canada Has Made Immense Strides.

No parallel to Canada's rapid development of her natural resources can be found in the history of any other country in the world. With her vast riches and especially with her agricultural possibilities; with a government policy in force for over twenty-five years by which an actual settler could obtain a free grant of 160 acres of the richest grain-producing and stock-raising land in the world, to be selected out of an area of three hundred million acres, it can with difficulty be believed that hardly 1,000 persons, or less than one-tenth of one per cent. of the number that could have found homes on those fertile western prairies, actually settled there in 1896. The fact is that up to that year the West was practically an unknown region. Since then, or within the past twelve years, the number accepting the offer of free land has grown until the total for the past ten years is nearly 270,000 persons who took up free homesteads offered to actual settlers. These entries represent forty-five million acres taken up for development by farmers from Eastern Canada, the United States, Great Britain and Continental Europe. The Canadian West is no longer in an experimental stage. Its fertility as a grain-producing country is now established beyond question. Its yield during the season just closed, although not yet exactly known, is estimated by the best-informed to be nearly four hundred million bushels of grain, of which one hundred and twenty-five million bushels are wheat. The population of the West is fully a million and a quarter, which is six or seven times greater than was the population of twelve years ago.

During that same period fruit-growing in the West, and particularly in British Columbia, has developed wonderfully. Where there were then less than one hundred acres in orchards, there are now one hundred thousand acres set out with apple, pear, peach and other varieties of fruit trees. The Yukon goldfields have been discovered and one hundred and twenty million dollars extracted from the gravel in the valleys of Bonanza, Eldorado, Hunker, Dominion and other streams in the Klondike district. The silver deposits of Cobalt during the past five years have proved enormously rich, and millions of dollars have already been taken from those rocky hills, which contain perhaps the richest known deposits in the world. The great iron industries of Great Breton and Northern Ontario have come into existence, showing vast possibilities for the future.

The discovery and development of seemingly illimitable coal area is no less astounding. With the opening up of the West and the on-coming of the tide of settlement in the prairie provinces, whose supply of wood-fuel is limited to a comparatively small area, comes the discovery of deposits estimated by competent authority to contain sufficient fuel to supply the West for thousands of years.

With these discoveries behind us, who can foretell the discoveries of the future? So far only the fringe of our resources has been touched.

While this development of our natural resources has been going on, changing the whole aspect of the country, the expansion of our manufactories and commerce has made steady progress. Our railway mileage has increased by thousands of miles of new lines in every part of the Dominion, and our shipping has grown enormously. The Canada of twelve years ago can scarcely be recognized when compared with the Canada of to-day.—Canadian Life.

A Football Hero's Experiences.

Someone, in congratulating Stronach, of the Ottawa Rugby team, hailed him as chiefly responsible for the Tigers' recent defeat. The big Scot declined the honor.

"People are very kind," said he, "but Williams won the game."

His interviewer tried him on another tack. "Which game do you prefer, the English or Canadian?" The Rough Rider thought he couldn't express an unprejudiced opinion. He had been brought up in the Old Country style of play, and had played in Canada only two years, but the Canadian game was well enough.

"Do they make it rough for you?"

"No," said Stronach, gently rubbing the centre of his forehead whence a nondescript bruise extended to the bridge of his nose.

"Just where Ben Simpson's toes landed when I threw him once," he explained.

In Scotland, he volunteered, he had experienced a few knocks. His collar-bone was broken and his skull fractured. "I lost the originals of these in one game," said he, removing an upper set of store teeth; "then I had an ankle broken, and my knees haven't been any good for a long time. Finally, my best friend was the occasion of my suffering a fractured thigh, and curiously enough, he sustained the same injury at my hands later on. But it's all in the day's work."

Means Nothing.

The whole question revolves back to the only logical position, real aid to the British navy. A Canadian navy, such as has been outlined, is a farce, a blowing in of millions for nothing. Money voted to strengthen the British navy means something; money voted for a tin-pot Canadian navy means nothing.—Winnipeg Tribune.

At the Capital.

A glimpse of the development of Ottawa during the past ten years must convince the average man that any portion of the urban and suburban area which is now sparsely settled will be within another ten years pretty well filled up.—Ottawa Journal.

Not So Canada.

It would be a calamity if commercial war should come between Canada and the United States; but if it is bound to come, the chief sufferer will not be Canada but the United States, in whose favor the balance of trade lies so greatly.—Ottawa Free Press.

Liszt's Advice.

Being asked one day what one should do in order to become an efficient piano player, Liszt replied laconically, "One [illegible] and walk much."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is the best of all medicines for the cure of diseases, disorders and weaknesses peculiar to women. It is the only preparation of its kind devised by a regularly graduated physician—an experienced and skilled specialist in the diseases of women.

It is a safe medicine in any condition of the system. THE ONE REMEDY which contains no alcohol and no injurious habit-forming drugs and which creates no craving for such stimulants.

THE ONE REMEDY so good that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient on each outside bottle-wrapper and attest to the truthfulness of the same under oath.

It is sold by medicine dealers everywhere, and any dealer who hasn't it can get it. Don't take a substitute of unknown composition for this medicine of KNOWN COMPOSITION. No counterfeit is as good as the genuine and the druggist who says something else is "just as good as Dr. Pierce's" is either mistaken or is trying to deceive you for his own selfish benefit. Such a man is not to be trusted. He is trifling with your most priceless possession—your health—may be your life itself. See that you get what you ask for.

Silkman Boasts He Makes the "Finest" Flour in Canada

The "silkman" is the chap who has charge of the sieve-bolting devices in the FIVE ROSES mills.

A quiet, unassuming fellow—every detail at his finger tips. Another of those fellows who firmly believes his work is the really important work—acts accordingly.

From his speech we at once suspected him of "book-larning". Pleaded guilty.

"When the rolls have broken up the wheat kernels into different sized fragments or 'middlings', as we call them," explained the Silkman, "my work begins."

"Yes?" we put in encouragingly.

"The most important part of the whole system," he confided earnestly.

"Just so"—very understandingly.

"I'm here," he went on, "to——"

"Draw pay?" we suggested innocently.

"To see"—gravely ignoring the flippancy—that the "middlings" are divided and classified into groups of uniform particles. Later these are finished properly on the next floor.

"See here"—tip-toed gently to an immense square-looking affair (one of a floor-full) which vibrated and shook as if tickled sick with inward merriment. "Peep in. See how it works. The shaking business sets the fragments moving over the series of screens and silks dividing the material into a dozen or more streams varying in fineness and general merit."

He took a handful from somewhere and another from——somewhere else.

It edified us muchly to note the difference even with unexpert eyes. One was quite coarse and dark—the other almost smooth and ever so much clearer.

Our respect heightened visibly—began speculating on the size of the lump in his pay envelope.

A silent rebuke was handed us when the white-uniformed silkman religiously wiped the metal work where our hand had rested. Thinks as much of that shining machinery as a new mother of her first baby.

"The best bolting silk", he continued, "comes from Switzerland and the best is none too good for FIVE ROSES. Think of the absolute uniformity in granulation and fineness. FIVE ROSES must pass through fully a dozen of these silk sieves and bolting devices each with finer meshes. And every particle not fit for the highest quality of flour is amputated instanter. Some of these silk sieves are so fine they contain 15,000 meshes to the inch."

"But", we interrupted with that "I've-got-you-now" air: as the meshes get finer doesn't the stuff clog 'em up?"

"Not me. Constant watching and cleaning keep the perforations free. Then, there's a dinky little bunch of brushes working gradually under the silk surface to keep it clear. Sure, FIVE ROSES is mighty 'fine' flour, in more ways than one."

* * * *

Here are some "whys", Madam, of FIVE ROSES liveliness and unusual quality. A cooking revelation awaits you if you've never used FIVE ROSES flour.

See your grocer at once. Mistress Housewife, don't delay the day of YOUR baking triumph.

LAKE OF THE WOODS MILLING CO., LTD., MONTREAL

(13)

Duchess

COMBINATIONS

—Corset Covers and Drawers
—Corset Covers and Petticoats

are luxuries for every woman who wants daintiness and comfort.

They do away with all fullness around the waist and over the hips—improve the figure—and make gowns fit better.

In fine cotton, nainsook and bar check muslins,—$1.25 up.

Every "Duchess" garment is guaranteed by the makers as well as the dealers.

If you can't obtain "Duchess" Combinations, Kimonas, Waists etc. at your dealer's, write us.

DUNLAP MANUFACTURING CO., MONTREAL. 10

Cowan's Cake Icings

If you had trouble with prepared Cake Icing, it was not Cowan's. Even a child can ice a cake perfectly, in three minutes, with Cowan's Icing. Eight delicious flavors. Sold everywhere.

THE COWAN CO. Limited, TORONTO. 73

Surgical Aids to the Afflicted Authors & Cox 139 Church St. Toronto. Est. 1860.

Knee Supports The illustration shows our improved Thomas Knee Support. In this, we replace the antiquated ring with a short thigh-lacer, thereby allowing wearer to take the weight with a greater degree of comfort. We realize that no one shape will suit all cases—so make all styles to order to suit each individual case.

Our achievements in Orthopedic work have won the admiration of the medical profession. Our Artificial Limbs, Appliances for the Spine, Hip Knee and Ankle Joints, Paralysis, Knock Knees, Club Feet etc., are equally reputable.

If afflicted, write us for help. 10

The Bank that has your account is an important factor in your business: many a business man owes his success to the fact that he had the right bank back of him : : :

THE ROYAL BANK OF CANADA

CAPITAL $4,700,000 RESERVE $5,400,000 ASSETS $55,000,000

Invites the accounts of corporations, firms and individuals on the most liberal terms consistent with conservative banking.

VINCENT EASTWOOD : : Manager Peterborough

TREES ARE BOOKS in the YALE FOREST SCHOOL

Mr. Gifford Pinchot's Pennsylvania Estate the Training Ground for Students Who Seek to Solve the Mysteries of Dendrology.

(Copyright, 1910, by the New York Herald Co. All Rights Reserved.)

SOME eleven miles from the railroad at Port Jervis and two miles from the little town of Milford, Pa., the Yale Forest School has pitched its camp. Here for ten healthy outdoor weeks those who, according to a camp-fire song,

• • • Want to be a forester
And work for Gifford P.

assemble, from the snows of Oregon to the sunshine of California, to receive their first instruction in the profession of forestry.

The camp is situated on a high plateau which is part of the estate of Mr. Gifford Pinchot, Chief Forester of the United States, whose home, Gray Towers, lies half a mile away, across the gorge of the Sawkill.

The camp proper has four simple one story buildings, and a stone cottage near Gray Towers, in which those who are taking the short course have their lectures.

These buildings are the mess hall, roofed, but open to the winds of heaven on the sides, with its accompanying kitchen; junior hall, where the surveying instruments are kept, and the lectures and recitations in surveying held; a small building which contains the office of the director of the camp, with a small working technical library, and supplies of calipers, tapes, hypsometers and other instruments pertaining to the profession of forestry, and last, but dearest to the heart of the students, the club house, a building with one large room and an immense fireplace, the walls hung with pictures of past classes and the colors of many colleges.

The students live in army tents, two to each canvas covering, pitched along the two streets, Fifth avenue and Broadway, which extend from the Flatiron Building, a rather dudishly white tent, into the woods back of the club house. The residences along these two famous thoroughfares are furnished with cots and blankets, washstand with washbowl, two chairs and a table. Luxury creeps in in the form of bookcases, improvised from fragments of packing boxes, and a straight limb swung from the ridge pole of the tent, on which a man may hang his other flannel shirt and khaki trousers. These two streets are the healthiest in the world, and trade never has and never will encroach on them.

On July 6, 1900, when the school opened, there were forest fires burning on the hills in several directions, and a call for volunteers to fight them was issued. The wise ones put on heavy hobnailed boots and left their coats behind; the unpolitated suffered for their ignorance. There can be no more pitiful sight than a man wearing his coat and smooth soled shoes trying to carry two pails of water up the side of a hill made glacial with pine needles.

Under the orders of the instructors and some senior students the fires were beaten out with hemlock boughs dipped in pails of water, then tiny but effective fire trenches were dug, and scientific back firing foiled the hungry flame with its own weapons.

Many a Sore Muscle.

When night came the fires were either out or under control, but there were sore muscles and blistered hands galore. The way beans and roast beef disappeared in the mess hall, however, banished all fears of internal injuries.

The next day the camp was formed into two divisions, one of which went to Junior Hall, where it was given a short lecture on the fundamentals of surveying and then turned loose outdoors with tape, plumb bob and instruments to put into practice what it had just heard. The other division assembled in the club house, where it listened for an hour and a half to a lecture on mensuration. They were told how by measuring an arbitrary distance from the foot of a tree, setting up a stick with a notch in it at a given distance from the ground, and lying down and squinting across this notch till they got it in line with the top of the tree they could find the length by the method of similar triangles.

They discovered that calipers were simply a piece of wood, with one fixed and one sliding limb, which placed on the trunk of a tree showed its diameter in inches on the piece of wood along which the limb slid, and that a hypsometer was an instrument which gave the height of trees in a more refined manner than the stick and notch method. After some information had been furnished as to the standard lengths into which logs are cut, they were divided into crews of three and four and sent into the woods with a small map to find how many logs might be cut from a certain area.

There are only three subjects in the regular curriculum of the summer school, all very practical. The surveying is all field work, the office work being done later in New Haven; mensuration, which covers the estimating, cruising and valuation of timber from every point of view, the study of log rules and volume tables, and ends with stem analysis, by means of which the age, contents and rate of growth of individual trees is determined. The timber is all felled, trimmed and cut by the students themselves. Dendrology, the third subject, teaches the scientific name of every tree. The students are taught by frequent field expeditions to recognise at sight by both scientific and common name more than a hundred different trees and important shrubs. Those who had not studied geology and elementary botany in college were given this year an opportunity to take these subjects Saturday and Wednesday afternoons as extra courses.

There is a short course in forestry, covering seven weeks, which is open to those who have not a college degree, but the men who intend to make forestry a profession and receive the degree of master of forestry at the end of their course must be graduates of a college or technical school of recognized standing.

The aim of the greater part of the men is to go into the government forestry service, but lumbering, private and State forestry claim their quota. The demand for men with a technical training in these pursuits increases each year and far exceeds the supply.

The students are drawn from all over the United States, with an occasional stray from other countries, as many as twenty-nine different colleges being represented in one class. For the most part the men are athletes, the absence of letter or numeral on a sweater, the emblem of prowess at football, baseball or track, being rather the exception than otherwise. In age they range from the recent college graduate in the twenties to the man nearing forty, who has finally succumbed to the call of the wild.

The standard of scholarship is very high. It could not be otherwise when each man is doing exactly what he has chosen for his life work. There is no nonsense in the course; it is intensely practical, and weaklings, physical or mental, find themselves quickly by the wayside.

Plenty of Good Play.

One must not think, however, that it is all work. There is good, healthy play, and plenty of it. A baseball team, and a very good one at that, plays the neighboring villages on the Wednesday and Saturday half holidays, while the students encourage their champions with a cheer which is an astounding compound of one of the Indian tongues and the piercing note of the hoot owl:—

"Kick a lack, kick a lack, toodle kle ay!
Kick a lack, kick a lack, toodle kle ay!
Ca-hoo! ca-hoo!
Forest School! Forest School!
Yale! Yale! Yale!"

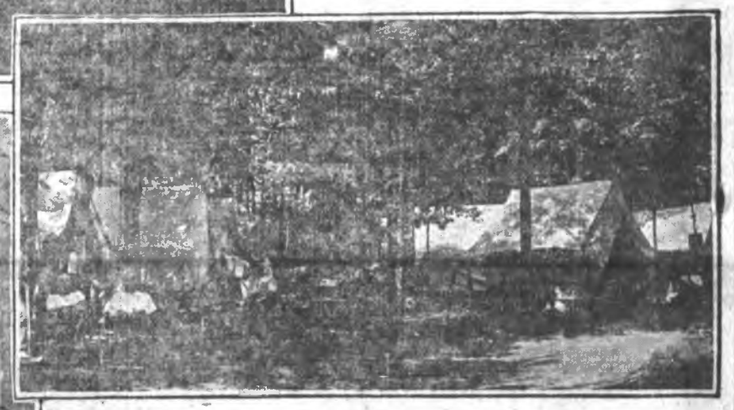
The translation of the euphonious first part being:—"Get away, get away, little yaller dog."

There are two good home made tennis courts, on which the championship of the camp is decided, and numerous trout streams in the neighborhood and all the treasures of the forest.

In the rugged gorge through which the Sawkill flows willing hands have built a dam, behind which there rises a beautiful deep pool, just the spot for a tired forester after a twenty mile "hike" through the woods.

Camp Fire Night

The Club House



View of the Camp Looking Up Fifth Avenue

Two Foresters and Their Home

By far the most individual and characteristic feature of the school is the "campfire," which takes place every other week.

Mr. Gifford Pinchot dropped in between trains early in the summer and was present at one of these events. No body of men ever listened to a leader with deeper attention than that silent circle, lit only by the flames of the fire, as he spoke of the life before them, warningly, encouragingly, prophetically. He spoke as man to man, and the earnest, living words far surpassed any flights of oratory.

A day or two after his advent the following slogan sprang into existence:—

"Mine eyes have seen the coming of the saviour of the tree,
Our great and glorious champion who set the forests free.
His name shall go resounding over land and over sea
While Pinchot marches on.
Glory, glory conservation!
Glory, glory conservation!
Glory, glory conservation!
Three cheers for Gifford P.

When there is no one to address the campfire meeting the students furnish their own programme. A quartet sings an ode to the pitch pine, in which, in defiance of its scientific classification, it is characterized as a "daisy" and the audience is further informed that "It certainly sticks to me" a statement which they have ample opportunity to prove correct, for the whole assembly breaks into the following classic ditty:—

"Oh, underneath the hill there is a little still,
And the smoke goes curling to the sky.
You can easily tell by the smiths and the smell
There's good liquor in the woods close by.

"It fills the air with fragrance rare
That's only known to few,
So pucker your lip and take a little sip
Of the good old mountain dew."

while the echoes of the astonished woods and rocks of darkest Pennsylvania give back the last long drawn out "dew-w-w-w."

At other times representatives from various colleges are called upon to tell of their alma mater. And last, but by far the most interesting, are the tales of those who have been in the forests of this land and others.

There was one man who started to run by compass the boundary line between two South American republics some years ago. His bearers deserted him, food gave out, water was only drinkable when taken from a certain vine which stored it up, and, when cut, released it drop by drop. After wading through swamps, at times breast high, for the better part of two days, where the alligators made night hideous by their bellowings he reached dry land only to be informed that a revolution was taking place and that bandits were lying in wait on his trail. The story of how he avoided the bandits and the final quelling of the revolution is an epic in itself.

A young Westerner had spent the previous summer with a surveying party which was running a line through the heart of the Ku-Klux country. By chance they stumbled on a store of the characteristic garments of these gentry hidden in a cave and which had evidently been undisturbed for many years. They promptly appropriated them as souvenirs, swearing each other to secrecy, and went their way.

Unfortunately, a rodman looked on the local unraveled liquor in its original virgin white strength and let the secret out.

Not many days afterward, in the dead of night, the surveying camp was visited by a party of masked men with large and businesslike revolvers. The surveyors were driven from their tents, their bags unceremoniously dumped on the ground, and the Ku-Klux garments recovered and burned. They were then given a drink of mountain dew and warned to leave all such finds alone in the future and not to mention the present incident on pain of very disagreeable consequences.

"And you bet your life we didn't," concluded the narrator, "until we got good and plenty out of the country."

There were tales innumerable of the wild beasts of the wilderness, of mighty trees, great forests fires and the devastating rush of winter avalanches.

It was all delightfully informal. The men lie around the big fire on blankets, the smoke of their pipes drifting into the darkness.

Two miles down the hill and three miles back home up the same hill lies Milford. The inhabitants will never understand why the embryonic foresters "pay for doin' work that they could get a dollar and a half a day for doin'," but, nevertheless, they welcome them to the hotel dances.

The last campfire is ladies' night. The club house is decorated with axes, saws and calipers and spoils of the forest, contrasting with the bright college colors on the walls. Fair maidens and their escorts sit around the campfire while the quartet sings its sweetest and the bold foresters look their boldest. There are no carriages, and each man gallantly sees the lady of his choice to her doorstep.

When the ten weeks are up as happy and healthy a set of men as there are in the United States leave for the two weeks' vacation. They have had a solid practical experience on which to base the highly technical work in New Haven. At the end of September they gather together in the City of Elms and continue their instruction, half in the field, half in the classroom, until the spring.

For the most part they then secure minor positions in the government forestry service for the summer, teach or work with surveying or cruising parties, and come back in the autumn to finish the course, for which they spend the last four months in the Southern lumber woods.

They are graduated after the two year course with both a practical and technical knowledge of forestry in all its branches, and find an opening ready for them in lumbering, teaching, private forestry or after passing Mr. Pinchot's examinations a place in the government forestry service.

THE HASH DIALECT

"THE old order changes, all right," said the white haired bookkeeper, taking a tray from a pile at one of the "Help yourself" quick lunch places and passing down the counter. "It's changed so blame much that nowadays you don't give any order at all.

"I've been buying lunches down town for thirty years," he went on, as he settled himself at a table with his selected repast, "and I tell you I miss the old of restaurant we used to have before these parcel automatic, self-clocking resorts came in. Why, there used to be some mental stimulus and agreeable amusement with your hash. But now you hurl in as many as you can hold or afford, glare at your neighbor as you thought he was going to grab the pie, and then for the door.

"Take this matter of orders. You won't hear anything in hash dialect nowadays, except maybe, 'one in the black' or 'brown the wheats,' even where the old still keep waiters. A man used to be kept guessing in the old days, figuring out the combinations every restaurant had for certain dishes.

"Now there was 'Tommy in the no-owl.' Tommy? You'd hear a waiter bellow that and if you were initiated you knew he was ordering tomato soup. 'Bobby dance on the iron!' was certainly an effective substitute for baked bluefish. 'Moonlight on the lake' had a little more poetry to it than plain 'poached egg on corned beef hash.' 'Adam and Eve on a raft' was way ahead of a prosaic demand for poached eggs on toast. But that's the tendency these days. Life is growing harder, faster and smarter. We're losing the graces. The hash dialect went out with cranking telephones and the Country Democracy."

MONKEY ROBS POLICEMAN

New York—Adam Ward, an attendant at Roche's bathing pavilion, Far Rockaway Beach, was looking in the dressing rooms after the bathers had gone, when he found a monkey dressed in a red bathing suit. Ward took the monkey to the police station.

After the doorman had locked up the monkey, the lieutenant on duty missed a fifty cent piece that he had in his waistcoat pocket. The money was found in the monkey's jacket.

When one is robbed of money, it may be a misfortune; but when one is robbed of health, it is a calamity.

Faulty digestion, if neglected, quickly develops into chronic Indigestion and Dyspepsia. The way to prevent serious Stomach Trouble is to take a "Fruit-a-tives" tablet half an hour before meals.

"Fruit-a-tives", or fruit juice tablets, sweetens and strengthens the stomach, insures sound digestion, and corrects the tendency to Constipation which almost always accompanies Indigestion.

50c. a box—6 for $2.50—or trial box, 25c. At all dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Railway Time Table

GRAND TRUNK

	Arrive.	Depart.
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst, North Bay, Stouffville and Toronto	11.40 a.m.	8.35 a.m
	9.00 p.m.	5.35 p.m.
Port Hope and points east to Montreal and Boston	8.35 a.m.	11.40 a.m
	5.30 p.m.	9.00 p.m
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and West, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Cobourg, Montreal & East.	8.35 a.m.	11.40 a.m.
	5.30 p.m.	9.00 p.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge and Markham.	11.40 a.m.	7.10 a.m.
	9.00 p.m.	9.10 p.m.
	10.15 p.m.	6.35 p.m
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	9.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and East.	9.10 a.m.	9.35 a.m.
	5.55 p.m.	1.40 p.m.
	9.50 a.m.	8.35 a.m.
Lakefield.	8.15 p.m.	12.20 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Going East	Leave	Peterboro'
For Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal, Kingston.		11.28 a. m
For Indian River, Norwood, Havelock Tweed.		7.51 p.m.
For Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal.		12.31 a.m.
Going West	Leave	Peterboro'
For Toronto, Galt, London, Detroit, Chicago.		5.26 a.m.
For Burketon, Bobcaygeon, Myrtle, Toronto.		7.55 a.m.
For Toronto, Detroit, Chicago, Winnipeg and Northwest Points.		4.38p.m

'09 CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY '10

NEW YEAR'S RATES

SINGLE FARE — Good going Dec. 31st and Jan. 1st Returning Monday, January 3rd

FARE AND ONE - THIRD — Good going Dec. 28th, 29th, 30th, Dec. 31st, Jan. 1st. Return limit Jan. 4th

Secure tickets and all information at city office. With best wishes for a happy and prosperous New Ye r.

W. McILROY, City Pass. Agent

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

NEW YEAR EXCURSIONS

Between all stations in Canada.

Single Fare

Good going Dec 31st, 1909 & Jan. 3rd, 1910, Return limit January 3rd, 1910.

Fare & One-Third

Good going Dec. 28th, 1909, to Jan. 1s 1910 Return limit Jan. 5th, 1910.

Secure tickets & further information from

F. SANDY, Depot Agent — W. BUNTON, City Agent

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS

ANY PERSON who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

DUTIES.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

N.B.—Unauthorized publications of this advertisement will not be paid for.

W. W. CORY, C.M.G.
Deputy of the Minister of Interior.

Roses and Repentance

By V. A. WAYNE

Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.

The sun shone warm upon the banks of the Chipela, upon the tall pines and the low bending dogwoods and upon the little cabin in the half acre clearing that was devoted to chicken raising and sweet potato growing.

There were odors of new growth in the air, the glint of fresh green among the foliage, and from a branch of the flowering dogwood a mocking bird was singing its delirious joy of the spring sunshine and flowers.

A white haired negro came slowly around the cabin, grasping with both hands a large bowl from which a piece had been broken. As he appeared there was a sudden commotion, which spread quickly to the remote parts of the clearing and to the undergrowth beyond, and chickens of all sizes and colors came squawking toward him with wings outstretched and feet scarce touching the ground. He scattered the food among them.

After the chickens had, with impartiality and many admonitions to behave, received all the food from the hand of the old man, he then sought a plank where the sunshine fell warm and unbroken and closed his eyes and spread out his trembling arms that he might enjoy it to the full.

There were sounds of dishes being washed in the cabin, the swish of a broom, the passing of a hot iron across newly starched cloth and above all the bubbub of eager, expectant, joyful voices. The day was not an ordinary one; that was evident.

A hoe leaned against the cabin, a mattock lay upon the ground near the door, a saw still pressed its jagged teeth into the trunk of a half sawn branch at the meager wood pile—all these implements of toil as they had been left when work was over the night before.

No one came to resume work this morning, so it was evident that something out of the ordinary was going on.

Presently a dusky young face appeared at the window.

"Hey, gran'pap!" a shrill, childish voice called. "Mammy say fo' yo' to come in fo' yo' clean shut. Yo' gwine dress up fus' case yo' wa'k slower."

Grandpap moved toward the cabin As he went in a troop of six pickaninnies came tumbling out, all boys but one. A peremptory voice followed them.

"Now, doan yo' chilluns go fur off Soon's yo' gran'pap's done fix yo' gwine be fix too. Now, min'."

At one end of the cabin a rosebush clambered up and about the low eaves. As though through previous understanding, the boys began to sidle toward this, keeping an inquiring look upon their sister the while. But not until one of their bands reached slyly toward a freshly opened rose did she notice. Then she said:

"Stop dat, Washunton! Ain' yo' member dat mammy say all dem roses gwine be save fo' Aun' Celia's marr'ge?"

"But new ones done bloom arter mammy say dat," expostulated Washington petulantly. "'Sides, hit's 'mancipation an' 'mancipation's more'n jes' marr'ge."

"I don't keer. Dat's what mammy say, an' yo' all know mammy ain' say one t'ing twice."

"Yo' gwine be telltale, Macie?" scornfully.

"No, I ain' gwine be telltale. But dat's what mammy say, an' yo' know mammy mighty sot on what she say. Yo' know dat, doan yo'?"

Washington looked doubtfully at his companions and from them back to the roses.

"Dey gwine look mighty nice on we alls now clo's," he said wistfully, "an dar's shorely too many for jes' marr'ge. An' dey keep openin' up all de durin' time. Mammy ain' gwine car' fo' jes' one rose fo' we alls 'mancipation. Yo' know dat, Macie."

Macie did not answer, and Washington went on persuasively:

"Yo' know dat two nickels I done make totin' t'ings, Macie. Well, I's gwine spen' hit all fo' sweet stuff, an yo'se gwine hab half. An', 'sides, yo'd shorely look mighty fine 'long o' one dem roses pinned on yo' blue calliker, yo' shorely would."

Macie hesitated.

"Dar's mo' roses openin' up, sho' nuf," she said thoughtfully, "an' I don' 'low mammy'd car' much, specially if she didn't know. An' marr'ge ain' nuffin to 'mancipation nohow. Den yo' say right 'bout dat rose lookin' peart 'long o' my calliker. Yaas, I reckon jes' one rose dat away gwine be all right; but, min' you', half dat ar sweet stuff 'longs to me."

"Chilluns, chilluns! Wh'ar yo' all be? Come, rusticate yo'se'fs now. Gran'pap's done fix an' gwine up de road. Yo'se to foller him. Den Mose an' me'll come 'long. We hit de road faster dan yo'll ails. Quick, now. Yo' heab me?"

Their hands were already plucking the forbidden flowers, but at that call the roses fell to the ground, momentarily unheeded in the sudden consternation, then were picked up and hurriedly concealed about their tattered clothing. As they shuffled round the corner Washington slipped in behind his companions. But in his trepidation he neglected entirely to conceal liberately round the corner of the cabin to the rosebush. There were telltale leaves and bits of broken branches upon the ground.

"So yo' didn' keer nuffin fo' what I 'spressly ordered," she said at length, with mingled regret and reproach in her voice. "Now I's gwine tell yo' some'n', chillun. De roses ain' much, cep'n' dat I say not tech dem. Dat make all de diff'runce. Now dey's gwine lose yo' de 'mancipation. Yo' pap an' me an' Macie'll go to de doin's, an' yo' alls will stay right hyeh by de cabin all de 'durin' day, an' Washunton he's gwine chop wood. Come, Macie, an' be fix up."

But Macie hung back doubtfully, a mighty struggle evidently going on in her small body. Suddenly she raised her head.

"I done stole one o' dem roses, too, mammy," she faltered.

"Wha' dat, Macie? An' I 'pend 'spressly on yo' to look out fo' de odders. Oh, chile, chile!"

Her mother spoke slowly, and Macie's head dropped still lower.

"I's sorry, mammy," she said, scarce above a whisper, "but I did stole one. Dat's de truf. I's badder'n dey is, case I was to look out fo' dem."

"Yas, yo'se badder'n dey is," her mother assented, "an' I reckon yo' got to be punish wuss. Dar's dat bag o' corn dat ain' crack yet. Yo' bring hit out hyeh an' poun' on hit all day. Yo' pap an' me'll go to 'mancipation by ourse'fs. An', min', all o' yo'," impressively, "if da's any goin's on while we's off dar's gwine be mo' punishment tomorrer."

The children made no reply, but stood about sullenly until the old people had disappeared up the road toward Marianna, where the "doings" were to be held.

"I ain' gwine do a stitch o' wuk all de 'durin' day," Washington declared defiantly. "If de wood git chopped hit jes' chop hitse'f."

His companions grumbled their approval, and one of them kicked viciously at the hoe which stood near him.

"An' all dis fo' some no 'count ole roses," Washington went on irritably, then: "Wha' yo' gwine to do dar, Macie? Yo' ain' gwine to wuk shorely?"

"Yass, I be," sturdily. "I's gwine poun' dis corn, jes' like mammy say. An' I's pow'ful 'shamed o' myse'f, I is. Mebbe de roses ain' no 'count, but dat ain' de p'int. Mammy say not tech dem. An'—an' mammy's been mighty good to we alls. Yo'se know dat."

Yes, they knew, but not one of them was ready to admit it just yet. So they lay there, scowling and digging their heels and toes into the sand and making jeering remarks at Macie. But she worked quietly on, and at length they rose uneasily, one by one, and found places in the window and inside the cabin, where they swung their legs and continued to scowl.

But all the time they were thinking, and at length, in seeming desperation, Washington pushed his way between the row on the window seat and dropped to the ground.

"I declar', hit's sights easier to wuk dan to set hyer 'long o' sech grumblers," he snorted. "I's gwine into dat wood pile jes' to 'de change."

Presently one of the leg swingers on the window seat slipped to the ground and picked up the hoe.

"An I 'low dat sweet inter patch has mo' fun fo' me dan dis crowd," he muttered as he moved away.

One by one the others thought of some occupation that was "mo' fun" and shuffled in search of it. And, curiously enough, as they set to work the scowls and grumbling and discontent disappeared, and it was not long before most of them were whistling or singing. Never in the history of the clearing had there been greater industry nor, toward the end of the day, greater cheerfulness. When the old people returned there was a crowding line to meet them with eager accounts of the day's work and with embarrassed apologies for the disobedience of the morning.

"Laws a-massy me!" ejaculated mammy, with smiles that were very near to tears. "What chillens dey is! An' all dem taters hoed, an' all dat corn pounded, an' all dat udder wuk done! My, my, jes' to t'ink! An' hit's 'mancipation day an' fo'ks all off to de doin's. But I ain' fo'git yo, chillens," softly. "I's done got peanuts fo' yo' alls, an' candy an' raisings an' yaller oranges. Hyer," removing package after package from her capacious pockets. "Now, yo' alls run off an' hab a 'mancipation jes' by yo'se'fs. An' tomorrer yo' all kin go fishin'."

As she turned and entered the cabin she murmured to herself softly: "What chillens dey is! What chillens dey is!"

The nobleness of life depends on its persistency, clearness of purpose, quiet and ceaseless energy.—Ruskin.

There Is Only One

"Bromo Quinine"

That Is

Laxative Bromo Quinine

CURES THE WORLD OVER TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.

Always remember the full name. Look for this signature on every box. 25c. E. W. Grove

DAVIS' MENTHOL SALVE

A soothing, cooling ointment for all inflamed conditions of the skin.

Eczema, Chafing, Piles and Ulcers

No other remedy is so quickly effective as this wonderfully healing combination of Japanese Menthol, vaseline and other ingredients.

Get the genuine.

25 cents a box, all druggists.

DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., Montreal.

THE SAMPLE BOOTH.

Clever and Money Making Feature For Church Bazaar.

A novel feature at a bazaar would be a sample booth. This should be built across a corner of the room with counter projecting down each side to allow extra space. The hollow half square not only gives more room, but permits more artistic decoration of the wares.

The committee in charge solicits contributions of different business houses and also writes to various firms advertised in magazines. The samples are donations, but orders are taken at the booth for more goods, and the committee gets the commission, to be devoted to the pet charity.

This not only makes a novel corner, but is a mighty good advertising scheme, so there is usually generous response to the requests for contributions.

Everything must be done on a most systematic basis or the workers may find themselves out of pocket. The chairman or some one she may deputize has sole charge of the order book. Addresses and orders should be carefully written down, and money or check should accompany each order.

As presumably you will be dealing only with reputable firms, it will be easier all around to get paid in advance. Give receipt for money. All complaints can thus go through the committee, and it is responsible for the delivery of goods. By having all sent to one place there is a saving in expressage.

Have as varied an assortment of wares as possible. Choose those that are of moderate price and distinct usefulness. Among things likely to be popular are novel household utensils, such as odd molds, pastry tubes, patent knives or egg beaters. Different beauty articles are also good, such as the latest thing in curlers, a special complexion brush, shampoo brushes, new wrinkles in vanity cases, and so on.

There could also be samples of fancy work, such as jabots, underwaists and sweaters, for which orders can be given. An attractive corner could be a delicatessen department, with samples of the wares to be tasted as well as seen.

If the selection of goods is carefully made such a booth is not only interesting, but should prove paying.

An appropriate decoration for such a booth would be the gay patchwork silk or cotton quilts beloved of our ancestors. These should be draped in front of each counter and, if good looking enough, can form a background on the walls.

A rope can be stretched from corner to corner on which to hang various samples, plainly labeled with name and price. Women with even slight artistic sense can get a good color effect from their varied wares.

A Product of Thanksgiving Day.

New York city is unique in the possession of numerous bands of ragamuffins who throng the streets in the residential section of the metropolis as soon as the busy world of affairs is awake and alive on Thanksgiving day. The recruiting force for the ragamuffin bands is gathered for the most part from children of the poorer sections of the town. Dressed in all kinds of outlandish costumes—usually the castoff wearing apparel of grownup members of the family—they are a merry, funny sight with their faces masked by the most grotesque kind of false faces. They blow horns and waylay people in the streets, holding them up for pennies. Doorbells are rung, and a Thanksgiving mite is demanded of the person opening the door. In fact, these merry jesters own the town during Thanksgiving day.

NEW YORK RAGAMUFFINS.

The custom is supposed to have originated years ago among the children in the foreign quarters of the city until now it has become an established order of the day.

A Good Reason.

Wantanno—Why do you call that boy of yours Flannel? Duzno—Because he just naturally shrinks from washing.—London Tit-Bits.

The Nature Student's Story.

"In my boyhood I once captured a nest of three young thrushes. I put them in a gilt cage by an open window, and their mother came and fed them regularly with worms and grasshoppers."

The speaker, a nature student, sighed.

"The mother," he resumed, "must have expected her little ones to be soon liberated. She fed them, as I said, regularly for three days on flesh food. Then one evening at sunset she appeared with a sprig of green in her mouth. She thrust the green in through the gilt bars. Then, singing a sweet, sad song, she flew away. And she never came back. Her offspring the next morning lay dead, side by side, on the bottom of the cage. The sprig she had brought them, which was nearly consumed, was a sprig of the deadly larkspur. 'Freedom or death! Death or freedom!' That is what must have been the burden of her farewell song."

The narrator paused, and from his listeners a low murmur arose, a murmur perhaps of sympathy, perhaps of angry disbelief.

An American Grammar.

Robert R. Hitt, who at the time represented our government in Paris as a secretary of legation, went to Egypt in regard to a matter involving the life of a Greek American subject. He landed in Alexandria and went to the Hotel Europe and found the rooming clerk busy assigning rooms to the newly arrived passengers, a regular polyglot in languages. He heard him speak Arabic, Greek, French, Italian and German. So when it came Mr. Hitt's turn to register he jocosely said, "Do you speak American?" The clerk promptly replied: "A leetle. Der vas one American here lately who gave me an American grammar." Mr. Hitt asked to have a look at the book. The clerk promptly told one of the garcons to get the book out of his room, and while the book was being brought the clerk said, "De grammar is phonetic." When the book was brought, lo and behold, it was a copy of Petroleum V. Nasby's letters. D. R. Locke while in Egypt had presented a copy to the clerk, telling him it was an American grammar.

Mended His Manners.

A certain English officer is noted for his ready wit and quickness in repartee. In the very early days of his career he was ordered to Bombay and was attached to the staff of the then commander in chief as A. D. C.

Shortly after his arrival, at a function at the government house, a new military secretary who, in the conscious pride of his new position, had a hearty contempt for subalterns of all degrees, with a glassy stare through his eyeglass, offered him two fingers to shake.

The A. D. C., quite unabashed, looked at him for a moment or two and then said genially:

"Hang it all, major, the governor gives me three!"

The whole room was convulsed, and the military secretary, now a colonel, profited by the hint and mended his manners, but he never forgave the A. D. C.—London Tit-Bits.

Horses and Rain.

Day after day the lover of animals had stopped to pet the baker's horse, which happened to be hitched at a certain corner at the hour when the animal lover passed, and the horse apparently appreciated the attention. But one day his mood changed, and he snapped viciously. "Well, of all things!" exclaimed the animal lover. "He never did that before."

"Probably because you never petted him before in rainy weather," said the man who knows a little bit about horses. "As you value your ten fingers and general safety of limb, don't get familiar with a horse when he is soaked with rain. No matter how peaceable his disposition, the rain makes him cranky, and there is no telling how he will take unsolicited fondling."—Exchange.

He Who Laughs Last, Etc.

The old colored man had climbed into the dentist's chair of torture.

"Shall I give you laughing gas, uncle?" queried the tooth carpenter.

"Not till after de toof am out, boss," replied the old man. "Reckon mebby Ah'll feel mo' lake laffin' den."—Chicago News.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head

ACHE Is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.

CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.

Regulate the Bowels

"I have been troubled with constipation for several years, and have tried a great many kinds of pills, as well as medicine from the doctor. Nothing seemed to help me until I began taking Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills. I found the little pills very effective, and I am thankful that at last I have a reliable remedy."

MRS. F. M. DUNKIN, LeRoy, Ills.

Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills

simply cause the bowels to move in a normal manner, and without the griping effects of cathartics and purgatives. That's why they are so universally used by women and children. The longer they are taken the less are needed. Natural conditions gradually being restored.

Sold by druggists everywhere. If first package does not benefit, your druggist will return your money.

MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

O'Keefe's

"Gold Label" ALE

The New O'K Brew. A treat in hops and malt. Rich and old and creamy.

Remember to ask for O'Keefe's "Gold Label" Ale—O'Keefe's new brew. 10

A. ROUNTREE, AGENT, 416 Water Street.

B. SHORTLY'S CHRISTMAS STORE

Every year more and more people find here just what they are looking for in the Gift line, such as

Trunks Satchels
Travelling Bags
Shopping Bags
Suit Cases Purses
Fitted-Out Bags and Club Bags

for both ladies and gentlemen

Wallets, Pocket Books

Nothing Nicer for Xmas Gifts

We never had a better assortment, either in quality and design, and the prices will be found very reasonable and adaptable to every purse.

B. SHORTLY

Sign of the Horse - George Street

COAL

That Is Coal

Is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL at

$7.50 Per Ton

HARDWOOD

First Class—Best in City—at

$6.00 Per Cord

4 feet long. Cutting and Splitting as desired, at

J. E. A. Fitzgerald's

Cor. Brock & Aylmer Phone 111

EAST CITY

Coal and Wood YARD

MAIN OFFICE—111 Hunter St., East Phone 96

All sizes of Best Mined Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.

Egg, Stove and Nut Coal per ton $7.50
Pea or No. 2 Nut Coal, per ton $6.50
Dry Tamarac and Mixed Wood.
First Class Dry Hardwood.

WEIR & O'BRIEN

ARCH WEIR — JAMES O'BRIEN

China Painting

Mrs. Langley McCarthy

Tuition Bischoff's New and Beautiful Dark Work in China Painting, Lessons in Oil Painting for Advanced Pupils. Studio — At Dennis' Store

Good Resolves FOR 1910

This is the time for making good resolutions for the New Year.

Here's a Good one:-

That I will not put off until to-morrow what I can do to-day.

The best Clothing can be obtained from Merrell & Meredith

New Year's Gifts

Splendid Suggestions to offer you.

The time to get them is Now!

And the Place Merrell & Meredith

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

Moles, Birthmarks, removed permanently by Electrolysis, without pain or scar, (positively no return.) Established Toronto, Hamilton and Guelph. Days in Peterborough. Satisfaction where others fail References. Write for particulars. Miss A. Graduate. Box 269 Brampton Ontario.

Classes at Conservatory of Music

THE MISSES STERNBERG of Toronto are organizing classes in DANCING, PHYSICAL CULTURE AND FENCING

in connection with the Peterborough Conservatory of Music to open October 14.

Applications may be made immediately. Children's Classes in Aesthetics, Social Dancing, and Fancy Steps, 4:30 to 6:00 p.m. Adults, beginners, 7:30 to 9:00 p.m. Social evening, advanced pupils, 9:00 to 10:30.

Private Lessons and Classes on request Write for Prospectus containing full information regarding fees, etc. 2m-w&s

Edwin Elcome

TAXIDERMIST

BIRDS, Animals, Fish and Snakes stuffed and mounted in the best life-like styles at the lowest price.

DEER HEADS A SPECIALTY.

A stock of foreign and native Birds always on hand for sale. Dealer in Eyes, Artificial Leaves and feeding, also Importer of Foreign Birds and Skins from all countries. Best Nature Study Books.

692 Harvey St. Peterboro

JAS. FROWDE

CARPENTER AND BUILDER

is prepared to do all kinds of first-class Carpenter Work at reasonable prices. Residence—409 Walton Street, south of Weller Street Peterborough.

Gratitude and Greeting

At this joyous season, we desire to express our Grateful Appreciation for the large patronage bestowed on our little Drug Store during 1909, and to thank one and all for the many kind comments regarding the superiority of our goods and money-saving prices. :: :: :: ::

On and after Jan. 1st, 1910, we will occupy our new and more commodious store, 351 George St., next to Richard Hall & Son's, Limited. We trust the service we have given in the past will warrant a continuance of its patronage during the new year. ¶ May 1910 be brimful of Happiness and Prosperity to all. :: :: :: :: ::

THE
WARNE DRUG CO.
345 GEORGE STREET :: LIMITED

THE PALACE GROCERY

XMAS FRUIT
—at—
Graham & Co's.
EVERYTHING NEW

Finest Selected Raisins
4 lbs. for 25c.

Choicest Cleaned Currants
3½ lbs. for 25c.

English Mixed Peel
20c per lb.

Yeplant's Mince Meat
Choicest on the market.
3 lbs for 25c.

Shelled Almonds or Walnuts
40c per lb.

We respectfully solicit a share of your patronage.

293 GEORGE ST.
Nearly opposite Opera House
PHONE 483

CENTRAL CANADA
LOAN & SAVINGS COY,
E. & KING ST. E., TORONTO.

Notice is hereby given that a quarterly dividend at the rate of eight per cent. (8%) per annum for the three months ending December 31st, 1909, has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this Company, together with a bonus of two per cent. (2%) for the year 1909, making a total dividend disbursement for the year ten per cent. (10%). The said dividend and bonus will be payable at the office of the Company in this city on and after January 1st, 1910.

The Transfer Books of the Company will be closed from the 20th to the 31st of December, both days inclusive.

E. R. WOOD,
Managing Director.

Toronto, December, 15th, 1909.

R. P. TOBIN
CONTRACTOR & BUILDER
358 Brock St. Phone 1258
6m-43

B. LASTAR
BARGAIN HOUSE

Santa Claus Takes Off His Cap

To B. Lastar's Holiday Stock of Christmas and New Year's Presents. Come and see them, they are the cheapest in Town

Ladies' Furs, Coats, Skirts, Suits, Waists, Millinery, Feathers, Plumes, etc.

Men's Overcoats, Suits, Hats, Caps.

Boys' Clothing, Neckwear, Scarfs and etc.

Children's Furs, Coats and Caps, Toys, Fancy Goods, Jewellery, Purses, Brooches, etc.

J. J. SHADGETT

Up-to-date Carriage and Sign Painter. Dealer in Waggons, Cutters and Sleighs. All Repairing promptly executed.

57 Hunter St. Phone 443

Fetherstonhaugh Dennison & Co. PATENT SOLICITORS
TORONTO. 18 KING ST. W. STAR BUILDING.
OTTAWA. WINNIPEG. WASHINGTON. MONTREAL.

Sanitariums For Police.

Brussels, Dec. 29.—The Socialists in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday opposed the civil list of the King, which amounts to 3,300,000 francs ($660,000) and reaffirmed their allegiance to a republic.

M. Royer declared that the royal chateaus should be turned into sanitariums. The appropriations, however, were adopted by a vote of 100 to 29.

The King's civil list is the same as that granted to Leopold, the new sovereign declining the Catholic party's suggestion of an increase.

May Lose $500,000 Gift.

New York, Dec. 29.—Unless the American Bible Society can raise $127,000 between now and next Friday, there is a possibility that a $500,000 endowment gift offered by Mrs. Russell Sage, on condition that the society be able to set aside a similar amount, may be withdrawn. Officials of the society admit there is small likelihood of raising the necessary sum, but hope Mrs. Sage will duplicate that which has already been subscribed.

Railway Must Refund.

Washington, Dec. 29.—Holding that a common carrier charged with exacting an unreasonable rate cannot escape liability upon the ground that the shipments could have been transported over a route carrying a lower rate, the Interstate Commerce Commission has ordered reparation of unreasonable charges upon eighteen carloads of newspaper shipped from Grand Mere, Que., to San Francisco.

Masons to Hunt For Child.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 29.—The Kellner family in a last effort to gain some tidings of their little daughter Alma, who mysteriously disappeared from home three weeks ago, yesterday began mailing circular letters to each grand secretary of every grand lodge of Masons in the United States and Canada, requesting that every effort to locate the missing child be exerted.

Madison Square Gardens Sold.

New York, Dec. 29.—Madison Square Gardens, designed by the late Stanford White, and erected at a cost of $3,000,000, has been sold to a real estate syndicate, and will be replaced by a modern office building. According to a report in realty circles yesterday.

The property has been on the market for some time at $3,000,000. As an investment the garden has not proved profitable. Some months ago there was an agitation that the city should purchase the building.

Found Tramp Killing Husband.

East Douglas, Mass., Dec. 29.—Entering her kitchen unexpectedly yesterday, Mrs. Charles Potter found a young wayfarer, who had asked to be allowed to warm himself, in the act of cutting the throat of her 77-year-old husband. The assailant fled, but not before he had cut the aged man's windpipe, and it is thought he will die.

Sent Poison by Mail.

Paris, Dec. 29.—The arrest here of a young saleswoman in a departmental store, has uncovered a poison-by-mail mystery. According to the police, chocolates containing arsenic were sent through the mail to a person who failed to partake of them, but an ineffensive guest, a tenor at the opera, ate several and died a few hours later.

Fire at Caribou, B.C.

Skagway, Alaska, Dec. 29.—The Caribou Hotel, the White Pass and Yukon depot, and Fickhardt's general store, were destroyed by fire at Caribou, B.C., on Christmas Eve. Loss $30,000. A high wind was blowing.

Mr. Morrow's Committee Rooms

Committee Rooms have been opened up at

No. 173½ Simcoe St

where the supporters of Mr. W. G. MORROW, Candidate for the Mayoralty, are invited to call at any time during the day or evening until after polling day.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

Wolves are reported to be plentiful in Parry Sound district.

The cost of refitting the Rainbow at Portsmouth will be $70,000.

There will be 1,200 exhibitors at the Anglo-Japanese exposition to be held at Tokio.

The German freight steamer Capua with her crew of 23 has been given up for lost.

Count Leo Tolstoi, the Russian novelist, is suffering from bronchitis and inflammation of the liver.

A scarcity of milk and dairy farm produce has been caused at Philadelphia because of the Christmas storm.

P. M. Draper, secretary of the Trades and Labor Congress, has retired from the contest for board of control in Ottawa.

Some $20,000 and George A. Capron, cashier of the U. S. Express Co., at the Englewood branch office in Chicago, disappeared Christmas eve.

The bodies of two well-dressed hunters, who had been frozen to death, were discovered lying on the bank of Swayn's Channel, near Wildwood, Nova Scotia.

The Ohio River was gorged with ice at two points below Cincinnati, and unless warmer weather causes a break millions of dollars worth of floating property will be in danger.

Jos. Jubinville, a prominent farmer, was found frozen to death in a bush. The body was in a sitting posture. Jubinville had been missing since Friday night. He was to have been married next month.

George Northern, Herb Cole and Charles McIvor were canoeing across Kootenay Lake Sunday afternoon, fetching medicine for a sick man, when the canoe upset. Northern and Cole started to swim and drowned. McIvor clung to the canoe and was saved.

Cause of Aurora Borealis.

Boston, Dec. 29.—Neon, a newly-discovered gas, is the cause of the aurora borealis, according to a statement made yesterday by Dr. W. L. Dudley of Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., before the division of physical and inorganic chemists, at yesterday's session of the American Association for the advancement of science.

Dr. Dudley showed what he said was the only sample of neon in this country. It requires over 100 tons of air to get a pint of it. Dr. Dudley has discovered that friction of neon against mercury in a Crooks' tube produces a yellow light, and when held near a wireless coil Hertzian waves illuminate the gas.

Dr. Dudley's conclusions are that at the magnetic poles of the earth, neon, under high pressure because of the cold, is acted upon by magnetic currents, thus producing the aurora borealis, a phenomenon that has always puzzled scientists.

Stole Secrets of Wireless.

London, Dec. 29.—The wholesale theft of wireless plans, models and sketches, which in the hands of an expert would reveal all the workings and innermost secrets of the wireless service of the British navy, is charged against Richard Knowlden, who was placed on trial at Portsmouth yesterday.

Knowlden is a draughtsman attached to the torpedo school ship Vernon. In his rooms were found no less than eighty plans of wireless improvements and certain books of the most confidential character which are issued to officers only.

The authorities attach the greatest importance to the arrest of the accused man, as they contend that if the documents abstracted from the Vernon had reach foreign Governments, all the labor of recent years given to the perfection of wireless system for the British navy would have been rendered practically fruitless.

French Foreign Policy.

Paris, Dec. 29.—Replying in the Chamber of Deputies t oM. De Pressens, who urged a more active foreign policy, M. Pichon, Minister of Foreign Affairs, declared that the situation in Europe, thanks to the policy of ententes, was better than for years past. He said that France was forced to face stern realities, not ideas. Her object was while strengthening her defences, to preserve peace by all means in her power.

"Our policy in these affairs," said the Minister, "was consistent and logical. It aimed at substituting honorable for bloodthirsty action, and the result has gained the applause of Europe."

800 Civil Servants Disqualified.

Ottawa, Dec. 29.—Eight hundred civil servants who have refused to pay the income tax pending the completion of a new agreement between the city and the Government, have been disqualified from voting at the municipal elections next Monday. Seven hundred of these are in one ward.

It is said that two or three members of the Cabinet are in the same boat.

Seven Children Burned.

Dubois, Pa., Dec. 29.—Seven children, ranging in age from 2 to 11 years, were burned to death and three persons perhaps fatally injured late Monday night, when fire followed by an explosion of powder, destroyed the home of Stephen Bronosky, a miner, at Sykesville, Pa., near here. The fire started from an overheated coal stove, and communicated with a keg of mine powder.

Passed a Derelict.

Norfolk, Va., Dec. 29.—Capt. Dunn of the British steamer Reliance from Savannah reported here having passed 85 miles off Cape Henry, Monday afternoon, the derelict three masted schooner Nattie Champion, Captain Lloyd of Somers Point, N.J., from Norfolk, Dec. 22, to New York, lumber laden. The crew were missing with their fate unknown.

Sees Her Children Cremated.

Pratt, Kan., Dec. 29.—While Mrs Henry Blanton was across the street talking to a neighbor Monday, she looked at her home to see it a mass of fire with her three children inside burning to death. It was impossible to save the children after the flames were discovered.

United States Customs.

New York, Dec. 29.—An increase of $41,600,502 in United States customs in 1909 over 1908, is shown in Collector Loeb's annual report, issued yesterday. The total duties collected at the port of New York for 1909 amount to $217,590,897.

Hotelkeeper Goes to Jail.

Brampton, Dec. 29.—A second conviction for violation of the Liquor Act followed the sale of liquor to two whisky detectives by Robt. Young, a hotelkeeper of Mono Mills. Young appeared before the magistrate yesterday morning and in spit of strenuous denials by himself and two witnesses, was sentenced to four months in jail.

The hotel at Mono Mills has been without a license for some time. Two detectives visited the premises Nov. 30 and both men yesterday swore that they obtained whisky and beer at Young. The defence witnesses said they got nothing stronger than local option beer and fruit wine, but their statements were contradicted.

FOR ALDERMAN.

Your vote and influence is solicited for my election for the sixth year as Alderman for the city. The same careful consideration will be given my actions in the future as in the past.

Wishing you all a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Yours Sincerely,

A. A. McINTYRE

To The Electors
of the City of Peterborough

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,

I have been nominated for the third time for Alderman, and desire to put before you my views regarding the accepted methods of election of candidates.

I am personally opposed to any canvass being made, as it places the elector in an embarrassing position. If you know a candidate soliciting support, you do not wish to hurt his feelings by refusing him. You may promise support but have the impression that he will not make a suitable representative. On election day you will keep your word against your better judgment, or you do not vote as promised, which position you are forced into by the soliciting of candidates for support.

I have been nominated, and if elected will give the best of my ability to the work of the City. It is for the Electors to say AS I DO NOT INTEND TO CANVASS. If you think I have made an efficient servant during my two years of office, Vote for Me on Monday, January 3rd.

Yours Sincerely,

J. J. TURNER, Jr.

I respectfully solicit support and votes in my favour as a candidate for election to the City Council.

I will try my best to be of real service to the city.

JAS. E. GRAHAM

4d—150

Your Vote and Influence respectfully solicited for re-election of

Joseph R. Metheral
as Alderman for 1910

4d—150

RE-ELECTION OF
Ald. Duncan

To the Electors of the City of Peterborough

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,

Having accepted the nomination for re-election as Alderman of the City for the coming year, I respectfully solicit your vote and influence.

If I am favoured with your confidence and secure election, I shall do my very best to look after your interests and to faithfully discharge the duties pertaining to the position in such a manner as to, I hope, merit the approval of the majority of the electors.

Wishing you all a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

GEO. H. DUNCAN

YOUR VOTE AND INFLUENCE FOR
RE-ELECTION OF
W. H. BRADBURN
For Alderman.

VOTE FOR E. F. MASON
AS MAYOR

The Nominations are over;
I am a candidate for the Mayor's Chair;
I appeal to you, THE PEOPLE, for your support.
If elected I will do the very best for the people.
No class, clique or party will have my influence.
Straight, clean, economical and business methods will be adopted and the usua olverdraft and reckless expenditures will be abolished.

Wishing you all the compliments of the season and again cordially soliciting your vote and influence,

I Remain
Yours Truly

E. F. MASON

Your Vote and Influence for the Election of

W. S. ROBINSON

to the Board of Education for 1910

"Economic Administration of our Schools," my Policy

VOTE FOR
W. J. JOHNSTON

Five years' experience in City Council.

Five years in Ashburnham Council.

A fearless supporter of Local Option, and of honesty and efficiency in all civic business.

Vote For Johnston.

If you want a man to assist in conducting the business of the City HONESTLY, without fear or favour,

VOTE FOR

B. LASTAR
FOR ALDERMAN

TO THE ELECTORS
of the City of Peterborough

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,

I respectfully request your votes for re-election as Alderman for 1910. If elected I shall endeavour to serve the best interests of the city and to promote its prosperity, and shall deal with all matters arising in the Council in a spirit of fairness to all concerned, with special regard to the interests of the small ratepayers. I am in favour of a vigorous policy of securing new industries and cheap power.

Wishing you the compliments of the season, I am,

Yours respectfully,

JOS. J. DUFFUS

W. G. MORROW
For Mayor

To the Electors of the City of Peterborough

Ladies and Gentlemen: —

At the urgent solicitation of a large number of ratepayers, I am now asking your support for my election to the Mayoralty of the city of Peterborough for the year 1910; and in doing so I am relying upon my record as a ratepayer, as a life-long citizen, as one materially interested in the manufacturing and industrial development of the city, and as one who as an Alderman served you for the past three years, first as as Chairman of the Manufacturers Committee and secondly as Chairman of the Finance Committee.

It is usual for one aspiring to the Chief Magistracy to attempt to outline some definite policy to be pursued during the term of office. In compliance with that custom I can only say that it will be my one aim to serve the city to the utmost of my ability, to do what I can to promote its commercial, industrial and moral development, to give fair and just consideration to all questions which may come before the Council, having regard to neither class nor party, as I am pledged to none.

Our city has made rapid progress in recent years, and the continuation of this progress will depend largely upon the growth and expansion of the city's present industries, and upon the establishment of new ones to which every encouragement and legitimate inducement should be given. The Council should give immediate attention to securing an adequate supply of cheap power. Every effort conducing to these ends has my fullest sympathy and support.

The time has arrived when the Council must take into consideration the question of permanent roadways in the business section, as well as permanence in general street construction, and of the extension and improvement of the sewer system in the southern parts of the city. To both of these matters I shall, if elected, give my earliest attention.

I am in favour of carrying out a policy of the strictest economy consistent with proper service in every department of the municipal business.

As the time between now and Election Day is short it will be impossible for me to personally call upon every ratepayer; I therefore take this means and opportunity of soliciting for myself the honour of your vote and influence.

Wishing you all a very Happy and Prosperous New Year, I am,

Yours Sincerely,

W. G. MORROW

When wanting a natty outfit for business or pleasure ring up
PULKINGHORN'S LIVERY
successor to Akey & Milburn
193 Hunter. 'Phone 278

The Evening Examiner.

ONE CENT A WORD
The Evening Examiner Want Ads. always bring results. For Sale, To-let, Losts-10 words-10c

12 PAGES PETERBOROUGH WEDNESDAY DECEMBER 29 1909 PAGES 7 TO 12

MR. JOSEPH BATTEN IS AN ALDERMAN BY ACCLAMATION

Only One to Qualify for the Position Left Vacant by Ald. Morrow's Resignation---Nine Will Fight it Out for the Other Six Places---The Candidates for the Board of Education.

Mr. Joseph Batten has been elected to the aldermanic board by acclamation to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Ald. Morrow.

There will be contests for the Board of Education, two year term aldermen and the mayoralty.

Nine candidates will fight it out for the six vacant positions on the city council, while a similar number of candidates will ask the ratepayers to give them one of the five seats in the Board of Education.

The time for qualifying for the different contests closed at 9 o'clock last night and it was found that most of the new men nominated for the council had failed to qualify. In fact the only man who has not had any municipal experience before to make the necessary declarations was B. Lastar.

Three other candidates were nominated for the one year term, but all retired in favour of Mr. Batten, who comes back to the council after a three years' absence. The new alderman had five years' continuous experience in the council.

W. J. Johnston and Jas. G. Graham two of the candidates for the council, are ex-aldermen. The list of candidates is as follows:

For Mayor.
W. G. MORROW.
E. F. MASON.

For Aldermen.
W. H. BRADBURN.
JOS. J. DUFFUS.
G. H. DUNCAN.
B. LASTAR.
JAS. G. GRAHAM.
J. J. TURNER, Jr.
J. R. METHERAL.
A. A. McINTYRE.
W. J. JOHNSTON.

For Board of Education.
W. S. ROBINSON.
T. H. ADAMS.
DR. GEO. BURNHAM.
JOHN CRANE.
D. W. DUMBLE.
W. H. HILL.
R. G. KINGAN.
J. W. MILLER.
J. W. MILLER.
W. F. NELSON.

Christmas At The Shelter Was An Enjoyable Affair

The people of Peterborough who contributed to the Christmas festivities at the Children's Shelter would have had ample reward if they had been present on Christmas day when the gifts were given out. There was an abundance of articles for the children, thanks to the generosity of the people of Peterborough and the little folks had their hearts made happy by toys, books, sleighs and many other things of equal importance to the child mind. A large Christmas tree was bowed down with the presents sent in and there were many gifts for each of the children. In addition there was a dinner such as the children will not soon forget. There was a turkey that looked as big as the great auk and the Oliver Twist spirit of asking for more was encouraged. It was a happy occasion indeed for the youngsters. Unfortunately many of the parcels sent in were unmarked with the name of the sender and the Society is therefore unable to thank personally each of those who helped to make the event a success. They therefore ask the contributors to accept through the papers their heartfelt gratitude to the citizens who made donations.

Geo. H. Summers Here In Polar Play New Year's Day

The Clarence Bennett Productions Company are the first on the ground with an Arctic play that is great!

"Under the North Star" or "The Dash for the Pole,' 'a play whose whole atmosphere is taken from the explorer's accounts of his daring and glorious dash to plant the flag on the north pole. Right on time and the most thrilling and interesting play of the year, telling a brilliant story of heroism and daring, throbbings of the heart interest, scintillating with the most brilliant and merriest comedy and humour, at once the greatest dramatic success and the strongest concentrated extract of laugh of any play that has come out for a long time, and the most beautiful and novel scenic production for years. It is correct in all its Arctic details and the inimitable Irish comedian, George P. Summers, in the personification of the funniest, richest and most natural Irish comedy the American stage has seen in a decade. His Harrigan, "That's me!" stands without a rival.

PRESENTATION TO MISS BENNETT

Honoured by Her Bible Class of the Cold Springs Sunday School.

On Monday evening of this week a sleigh party had a very pleasant drive to the home of Mr. Sidney Bennett, Otonabee. The occasion was a surprise visit to Miss Laura Bennett, to present her with a gold brooch and belt from her Bible Class of the Cold Springs Sunday School, as a mark of appreciation of her untiring efforts on behalf of her class and the school as a whole.

The presentation was made by Mrs. Moorhouse and Mr. Walter Kidd spoke in terms of the highest praise of Miss Bennett's work in the school

Refreshments were served and a most enjoyable time spent.

"POOR RICHARD" SAID

"The people are the best judges of merit." This is forcibly illustrated by the increased demand for the famous Cod Liver and Iron tonic known as VINOL.

Its worth is demonstrated over and over again in building up the run-down, weak and aged ,and to overcome pulmonary troubles. White worthless remedies are disappearing entirely, the fact that the demand for VINOL is rapidly increasing is ample proof of its intrinsic merit. McDermid and Jury, Druggists, Peterborough, Ont.

DID NOT ARRIVE

"Other People's Money" Company Will Not be Seen at the Grand To-night.

"Other People's Money" not having arirved in the city to-day there will be nothing doing at the Grand Opera House to-night. This comedy was to have appeared and it is regretted by the management that notification of the cancellation had to be announced. Those who purchased their tickets may have their money refunded at the box office to-morrow.

DOURO ELECTIONS

Dennis Moloney and Frank Moher Nominated for Reeveship.

Messrs Frank Moher and Dennis Moloney will once more contest the reeveship of Douro. At the nominations on Monday they were proposed together with Barth Leahy and Michael Welsh. The latter two declined to stand and thereby left the fight to Mr. Moloney and Mr. Moher. The nominations for the Council brought out the following men, W. J. Charlton P Farley, Barth. Leahy, Michael Welsh, Michael Moloney, W. J. Bullock, and Wm. Quinlan. The last mentioned nominee declined to run, leaving six men in the field for the Council. The nominations passed off quietly. The addresses were well received and were not coloured by any feeling. The contest for the Reeve's chair promises to be an interesting one.

PRIZES PRESENTED

To Scholars Who Wrote Winning Essays.

The presentation of the prizes won by the school children who wrote the best essays in the competition conducted under the Moral and Reform League was made last night at a meeting in the Murray St. Baptist church. Mr. A. Mowat who with Rev. Dr. O'Brien had examined the essays and marked them, stated that the task had been a pleasant one as the contestants had shown considerable originality in their ideas and had expressed themselves well. The prize winners were Marmaduke Pearson, winner of general prize for best essay. Central School—Leslie Pearson, Hazel Richardson, Ladiaw Anderson; South Central School—Viola Palmer, Stella Sherwin, Grace Edmison. King Edward School—Verda Watt, Grace E. Naylor, Florence Emmerson. Convent — Gertrude Brousseau.

Rev. J. R. Webb addressed the children, congratulating them upon their success and hoping that they would always remain true to the principles they had advanced in their essays.

ORDERED THE ACCOUNT PAID

Last Meeting of the Charity Board for the Year—House of Providence Paid for Maintenance of Some of its Inmates.

OTHER ACCOUNTS

A meeting of the Charity Board was held last night with Mayor Rush in the chair and Messrs. Geo. Cochrane, John McClelland, Wm. Yelland, R. C. Braund, M. McIntyre ,Wm. Kemp, Jos. Batten, F. W. Miller, Rev. Dr. Langfeldt and Rev. Father McColl.

The following statement of orders given was read:

	Since Last Meeting	During ing 1909
Groceries	$ 70.00	$1080.20
Wood	67.25	689.37
Tickets	2.30	25.50
Sundries	167.47	798.82
	$307.02	$2523.89

The following accounts were presented:

R. C. Braund	$ 800
C. P. R. Co.	2.30
R. P. Carey	3.15
Mrs. M. J. Dunford	6.00
Geo. Goheen	12.00
J. H. Heal	2.60
R. Hicks & Co.	15.00
White and Gillespie	30.00
W. H. Hamilton	3.00
John Jones	2.00
Little Lake Cemetery Co.	8.50
E. F. Mason Co.	8.11
N. Routley	11.50
Mrs Clara Roberts	5.00
D. Sullican	4.00

A letter was read from W. D. Scott, Supt. of Immigration, saying that the Department would provide for the passage of Wm. Swann and family to England if the municipality would give them tickets to St. John, N.B. Moved by Dr. Langfeldt and Mr. Kemp, that the tickets be furnished.

Moved by Dr. Langfeldt, seconded by Mr. McClelland, that the House of Providence be paid $648 towards the maintenance of the following inmates of the Home from the city for the year 1909: Charles Kennedy, Thos. Tierney, Michael Sweeney, Wm. Barry, Mrs. B. Doris, Miss J. Gaffery, Mrs. Johnston, Miss McCabe, and Thos. Owen.

Moved by Dr. Langfeldt and Mr. McIntyre, that the poor of the city shall only be provided for in city institutions, if being approved of by the Charity Board.

STOMACH DISTRESS SIMPLY VANISHES

No Dyspepsia, Gas, Heartburn, or Indigestion Five Minutes Later.

If you had some Diapepsin handy and would take a little now your stomach distress or Indigestion would vanish in five minutes and you would feel fine.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, out-of-order stomach before you realise it.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you eat seems to fill you or lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of Indigestion.

Ask your Pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin, and take a little just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness, or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness, or Intestinal griping. This will all go, and besides there will be no undigested food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odours.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it prevents fermentation and takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is at any drugstore waiting for you.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion or any other stomach disturbance.

ONE MONTH IN JAIL

Second Offence—Received a Heavier Punishment.

Alexander Campbell, who faithfully promised the Magistrate yesterday morning that he would never appear before him again, proved himself to be not a man of his word. This morning on his re-appearance he did not fare so well as yesterday. His Worship would not listen to his excuses to-day, and fined him five dollars, to be paid forthwith, or one month in gaol. Campbell took the latter as he had no money with which to pay the fine.

Be young! It is only necessary to take Miller's Compound Iron Pills to retain youthful appearance and vigor.

SCHOONERS ARE LOST

Report From St. John's, Nfld., Says That Eleven Boats With Crew of Sixty Have Perished in Storm.

VILLAGES FLOODED

Special to The Examiner.

St. Johns, Nfld., Dec. 29.—Eleven schooners, with their crews of sixty men, are believed to have been lost as the result of a terrific storm which has been raging off the Newfoundland coast for the past six days, and which reached its height Sunday. All telegraph lines in the interior of the island are down, but reports already received indicate great destruction of property throughout the island. The town of Placentia was flooded for three days, while the village of Blackhead, three miles from St. Johns, was almost swept away.

CHRISTMAS CONCERT

The Sunday school Christmas gathering of about 300 children and parents of St. Andrews Sunday school sat down to tea in the lecture hall as guests of the teachers and officers last night. At eight o"clock a programme was given and proved exceedingly interesting. It took the form of a cantata representing the various holidays of the year. T he different persons taking part were attired in appropriated costumes. The holidays represented were New Year's Day, St. Valentine, Victoria, Summer Time, Dominion, Thanksgiving and Christmas. Mr. Stewart Lang was Santa Claus and at the conclusion of the cantata the presents were distributed from the tree to the infant and primary classes.

To Miss Bella King is due the success of all the training of the children for the various parts and chorus es in the cantata. Many of the costumes also being prepared by herself.

LAID TO REST

Funeral of Late John D. Knox Held Yesterday Afternoon.

The funeral of the late John D. Knox took place yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock from his late residence, Queen St., to the Little Lake cemetery. Rev. Robt. Pogue, of St. Paul's church conducted the services at the house and at the grave. The funeral was largely attended and the floral tributes were also very numerous. The pallbearers were Messrs. Harry Gunsolus, Harry Morgan, Wm. Menzies, Terrot Glover, T. Meredith, and C. G. Graham.

COLD STORAGE FOR PRINCE RUPERT.

Mr. Pat Burns, the Calgary cattle king, is said to be at the head of the syndicate which is building at Prince Rupert a cold storage plant with fishing station attached, to cost one and a half million dollars. Another syndicate is planning to promote a line of steamers for the Oriental trade.

The Government docks being built at Prince Rupert are 80 by 600 feet. In addition to this great public work a large hospital is being built and a public school building to cost $30,000.00. A new post office is also among the things promised in the near future.

ONLY TWO WILL BE CANDIDATES

Peculiar State of Affairs Exists in Connection With Hastings Council.

Hastings, Ont., Dec. 22.—A most unusual circumstance has occurred in connection with the municipal nominations here in which the number of candidates, who have qualified, is not sufficient for the positions necessary to be filled. Mr. Thos. Howard was elected reeve by acclamation, but only two candidates for the Council made the necessary declarations. Eleven were nominated for the four positions, but of these only two, one an old councillor, and the other, a new candidate, qualified.

GIVEN A MORRIS CHAIR

Mr. J. H. McClellan Remembered by Office Staff of Trent Canal.

On Friday last the members of the office staff of the Trent Canal presented the Superintendent, Mr. J. H. Clellan, with a handsome Christmas gift, a beautiful Morris chair. This was given as a token of the very high esteem in which Mr. McClellan is held by his staff.

RALLY FOR MR. MORROW

A Mass Meeting in His Interests To-night in Committee Rooms —Will Be Addressed by Prominent Speakers

EVERYBODY WELCOME

There will be a rally in Mr. Morrow's committee rooms, Simcoe St., at 8 o'clock to-night in support of Mr. Morrow's candidature for the mayoralty.

The following gentlemen will deliver addresses: Jas. Kendry, T. F. Matthews, Andrew McFarlane, Ald. Harry Phelan, W. H. Moore, J. J. Hartley and others.

The public generally is invited to be present and to hear the issues of the day discussed by speakers who are thoroughly conversant with the conditions.

GET PRIZES FOR BEST DRESSED WINDOWS

Mr. Silas N. Ridley of the Warne Drug Company, has been remarkably successful in the window dressing competition fathered by the Nyal Remedy Co., of Windsor, Ont., winning the first, second and third prizes. He is indeed to be congratulated upon his success. The following letter from the company is self-explanatory:

Windsor, December 22, 1909.

Mr. Silas N. Ridley,
Warne Drug Co., Limited,
Peterborough, Ont.

Dear Sir,—In connection with the photo-competition inaugurated and carried out by us:

The different windows sent in were submitted independently to five judges, not one of whom had any interest one way or other in the award. There was some little difference of opinion as to just which window would carry the FIRST prize but all were unanimous in awarding you first, second and third place for the different windows.

You seem to have caught the spirit of creating a window that not only attracts the passers-by but excites interest and creates sales. If anyone can show us that there is anything more to window dressing than just this, we have got to be convinced.

We had pretty windows sent in by the score, but pretty windows will not often sell the goods. Like the man with the silk hat and the sweater, they may attract attention but their actual cash value is somewhat doubtful.

It gives us a great deal of satisfaction under the circumstances to enclose you herewith at this appropriate season, a remittance for $25 as promised in our offer published in connection with the competition.

We wish you a merry Christmas, and we know that you will have the consciousness of good work well done throughout the year.

Yours very truly,
THE NYAL REMEDY CO.,
Windsor, Ont.

Mr. Ridley is naturally elated over his success, as well as with the decisions of the contest committee. The flattering references to his genius for effective window advertising, as well as the cheque he received, covering the amount of the three prizes, are further testimonies to his artistic and original talents.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding, or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refuded. 50c.

A TEMPERANCE PRAYER MEETING

Will be Held in the Murray Street Baptist Church To-night.

There will be a special temperance prayer meeting in the Murray St. Baptist church to-night in view of the coming contest on Monday next. All who are not attending prayer meetings elsewhere to-night will receive a hearty welcome at Murray St.

The President of the Temperance League desires to warn all friends of Local Option against the attempts being made by a pious looking old man to keep the lady voters from going out to vote. The old codger leaves the impression that he believes in Temperance, and seems quite concerned about the convenience and comfort of the ladies.

Now we need every single vote.

We need a very large majority to carry the Local Option By-law and we simply cannot do without your vote. Your vote may mean the vote of Victory.

You will do good to the cause if you will secure this mans name and communicate at once to the President.
2d—151 Telephone 685

BIRTHS.

FITZGERALD. — at No. 1 Concession st., on Christmas Day, December 25th, 1909, to Mr. and Mrs. Herb Fitzgerald, a daughter.

ENDED HIS LIFE IN POLICE CELL BY DRINKING CARBOLIC ACID

Edward Shannelley Committed Suicide Early This Morning ---Had Gone to the Police Station for Shelter for the Night---Was Found About Half Past Two---No Inquest to be Held.

By taking a large dose of carbolic acid, Edward Shannelley, a man about fifty-five years of age, ended his life in a cell at the police station early this morning. Dr. McPherson was called, but the unfortunate fellow passed away a few minutes after his arrival. Coroner Dr. Gray was also notified and decided to hold an inquest at 2 o'clock this afternoon at Mr. D. Belleghem's undertaking establishment.

Came For Shelter.

Shannelley called at the police station last night shortly after ten o'clock, seeking shelter from the cold. He had no place to go and on two or three occasions, had slept in the police station. Last evening, when he called he went to one of the cells and laid down on the bench. On coming in he bade the officer in the station "Good night," and passed along to the corridor, nothing more being said. The officers did not bother the deceased, thinking all the time that he was sleeping, until half-past two, when P. C. Meharry and Meagher, who were changing their duties, heard someone fall from a cell bench to the floor. Going to Shannelley's cell they found him lying with his face on the floor, and the empty bottle was lying beside him. His lips and mouth showed evidences of his having taken carbolic acid, but when discovered he was still breathing. Dr. McPherson was sent for and was soon at the side of the dying man, but any effort to save his life were of little avail, and he passed away shortly after the doctor's arrival. The bottle from which he drank was a five-ounce one, but it cannot be ascertained whether it was full or not. No motive for the man's rash act can be learned.

Shanelley came originally from England. He had been around here about six years and during that time was employed as yardsman at various hotels. He was a year in Cobalt and only returned from there two months ago. He had no relatives in Canada.

No Inquest.

The Coroner, Dr. Gray, met the men summoned for the jury at Mr. Belleghem's store at 2 o'clock and explained that no inquest would be held. In event of the deceased having been a prisoner in the police station, an inquest would have been a necessity, but when he was merely a lodger, the coroner did not deem one necessary.

Mr. Ted Cavanagh, who had been called as a juryman, stated that the unfortunate fellow had a brother and a sister in Manchester, England. He said that the deceased had told him that he was married but his wife had left him and was on the stage. Mr. Cavanagh saw Shannelley about a week and a half ago with the bottle of carbolic acid. The latter said to Mr. Cavanagh ,holding the bottle up, "This will finish me." Mr. Cavanagh knew that Shannelley used it as a wash for a sore limb.

No arrangements have yet been made for the funeral.

License Commission Was Charged With Sale Of Liquor

The temptations to the breach of the law to supply a "modest quencher", as Dick Swiveller calls it, to allay alcoholic thirst seems to be in some cases irresistible. The Sudbury Star of last Friday states that no less important a personage than a license commissioner of Chapleau has been charged with selling liquor without a license. In the absence of a crown witness the hearing of the case was adjourned. The accused, in addition to being a license commissioner for the Sudbury district, is described by the Star as "an ardent local optionist and a merchant of the town of Chapleau." At the same session of the court, two persons were fined for selling liquor without a license. So it seems that the license inspector, or somebody, is doing his duty. A local option contest is on at Chapleau.

"THE FAIR CO-ED" TO BE PLAYED

Mr. Rupert Gliddon, leader of the 57th Regimental Band, has received copies of the selection from the Ade-Luders musical comedy success, in which Elsie Janis is making such a pronounced hit, "The Fair Co.-Ed," and this will be added to the repertoire of the band, and will be played during the winter. It is full of tuneful hits and will undoubtedly prove very popular.

RIGS FOR LOCAL OPTION

All persons intending to give the use of horses and rigs for the Local Option Contest in the City of Peterborough will report as early as possible, Monday, January 3rd at the Y.M.C.A. Building (North Door) corner of George and Murray Sts. Abundance of shed room all around the Headquarters at the Y.M.C.A. Refreshments will be served in the different Churches by the ladies throughout the day.

WE WILL DEPEND UPON YOU — RAIN OR SHINE.

2d—151—1w—151

DANCE WAS A SUCCESS

A most enjoyable social event was the dance last evening in the Conservatory of Music Hall, under the auspices of the geneltmen of Peterborough. Some one hundred and fifty people were present, including a number of visitors from outside points and the occasion was one of thorough enjoyment. Delightful music was provided by Fraelick's orchestra form Toronto, their splendid playing adding much to the enjoyment of the event. The refreshments were served by Messrs. Coleman Brothers.

The committee in charge of the most successful event was composed of the following: Messrs. John Crane, Jas Hamilton, Hon. J. R. Stratton, Dr A. W. MacPherson, F. D. Kerr, S H. Rush, W S. Davidson, L. F. Cross K. G. Loch, W. H. Burritt and C. Ross Cameron, Hon. Secretary. The patronesses were Mrs. (Hon.) J. R Stratton, Mrs. R. R. Hall, Mrs. John Crane, Mrs. Peter Campbell, Mrs Jas. Hamilton, Mrs. S. D. Hall, Mrs T. A. S. Hay, Mrs. R. W. Travers

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Miss E. Heard, who has been visiting for the last few days in Norwood, has returned home.

Miss Grace Gordon, of Toronto, is visiting her brother, Mr. G. N. Gordon, and Mrs. Gordon, at 360 Simcoe street.

Miss Grace E. Crowe, of Grafton & Co., Brantford, is spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Crowe.

Mr. Thomas McFarlane, of Fenelon Falls, is visiting at his uncle's, John McLean. He was here for Miss McLean's marriage to Mr. W. J. Neill.

Miss Arnott, of Toronto, is on a visit at her sister's, Mrs. J. McLean, 358 Stewart St. She attended Miss McLean's marriage on Christmas day.

SICK HEADACHE

Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Canker, Sore Mouth Cured by Mi-o-na.

Sick headaches are caused by indigestion and a general disturbed condition of the stomach.

Cure the indigestion, and the headache, nausea, heartburn, sour stomach and that "all in" feeling will vanish.

Mi-o-na tablets will cure indigestion or any other stomach trouble. They will relieve almost instantly. Wm. Madill has so much faith in them that he will give you your money back if they don't.

Mi-o-na cures by making the stomach strong enough to produce enough gastric juices to digest all the food you want to eat. It promptly puts new life and energy into the overworked and played-out walls of the stomach.

Use Mi-o-na for a week, and you can eat what you want any time you want it, and take pleasure in doing it.

Your blood will be richer, redder, purer, after taking Mi-o-na, and it only costs 50 cents a large box.

Frank Oke, St. Thomas, Ont., says: "My wife was troubled with indigestion for a number of years. We tried a number of preparations to no effect. Finally she began to use Mi-o-na, and has been entirely relieved of all these troubles. I can confidently recommend Mi-o-na."

HYOMEI
(PRONOUNCED HIGH-O-ME)

CURES CATARRH, ASTHMA, Bronchitis, Croup, Coughs and Colds, or money back. Sold and guaranteed by Wm. Madill.

Daily Examiner.

The Circulation of The Evening Examiner is now over

3000

COPIES

Sworn to and Guaranteed Detailed Statement for the year on application

The Daily Examiner, published every lawful evening, by The Peterborough Examiner, Limited. Office, 419 George Street.

The Weekly Examiner, published every Thursday morning.

The subscription price of The Daily Examiner is $4.00 per annum; that of The Weekly, $1.50.

R. M. GLOVER, Managing Director.

Advertising Rates on application.

UNION LABEL

"Peterborough Means Progress."

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 29, '09

THE MAYORALTY.

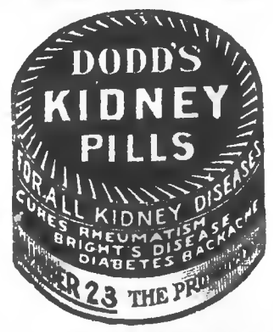
The selection of a mayor for a growing city like Peterborough is a purely business matter, entirely above sentiment and petty issues. In the present contest there are no personal considerations involved. Both candidates are estimable and public spirited citizens; the question is which will best be able to serve the interests of the city aceptably in the capacity of mayor. The financial question while important, is not the all important, unless we regard matters from a standpoint that will check all enterprise and progress. If the citizens would be content with muddling along without the conveniences that distinguish the city from the village, we should have no debt, and a low tax rate levy, for in that event, the value of property would be so low that the assessment would yield a low revenue. Other growing cities have found it profitable to incur indebtedness for public purposes. The point is, after all, do we get value for the money spent? It will not be denied that we have not done so in the past in the administration of our streets. In the matter of bridges and pavements we have done well. We have laid pavements and built bridges that are practically everlasting, that is for one or two generations. We have incurred indebtedness for another generation to pay, while we get the present benefit. But upon our streets we have been wasting money, because we have not aimed at work of a permanent character.

Mr. Morrow's policy in this regard is a sound one. He advocates permanent street work in the matter of material and construction. Highways can be built so as to last for years; so built that, the work once done, the expense once incurred, it will be done and incurred for years. Any other mode is waste.

A growing city has many large matters to deal with. This year we shall have important negotiations with the Canadian Pacific Railway, with reference to water-front privileges. In these the city will need the best equipped influence available in order to protect its interests. We shall be dealing with our water front in a way that will be permanent. If we make a bad bargain, so to speak, we shall be at a loss for all the future. If we have the city's interest well protected we shall secure permanent benefit. In view of the early completion of the canal, our water front bulks very largely in importance, and we should so deal with it as to ensure to the city the greatest possible advantage; we should not, to secure railway facilities, sacrifice the full or any part of the superior advantages of water transportation.

In dealing with this question Mr. Morrow, as mayor, is able, through personal and business relations, to command the help and influence of Hon. Senator Cox. From his commanding influence in finance and industrial circles, he can reach the ear and influence the attitude of a great corporation like the C. P. R. in a way that, possibly, no other Canadian can do. Hon. Senator Cox has been a good friend to Peterborough, and has always done his duty towards it in promoting its material welfare. In the matter mentioned above he can be a powerful ally to Mr. Morrow if he is chosen for Mayor, as well as in other ways. A friend at court is always a benefit; good business connections are valuable in a commercial employee, and are a valuable asset in a mayor.

The electors have a great interest in building up Peterborough, and can do their share by taking a large view of the conditions that affect our growth and progress. Personal considerations, personal prejudices, and considerations of temporary importance should give way to consideration of our future as affected by our present actions. In chosing our mayors or other representatives we are too apt to yield to the influence of minor things and neglect larger things that influence the future. In regard to the good, general and financial management of the city, these interests would be safe in the hands of either candidates for mayor, but when we go beyond that and consider the development of the city's best interests with regard to our growth and progress, it seems plain that Mr. W. G. Morrow would be the best occupant of the Mayor's chair for 1910.



THE DIVORCE EVIL.

Those who regard the sancity and indissolubility of the marriage bond as the safety of society and the state, look with alarm upon the prevalence and growth of divorce in the United States. What adds to the gravity of the circumstances is that a college professor seriously defends the divorce system, which he describes as the nation's "growing pains" and thinks that "no violent efforts should be made to check the activity of the divorce courts." He says: "The reactionary attempt in our day to increase ecclesiastical and legal restraint • • • is misdirected energy and invites disaster. Arbitrarily to diminish the number of divorces would be to increase immorality and crime." What an astounding apology for the terrible moral leprosy of divorce! One cannot wander at such an evidence of deadened moral sense under conditions that make the United States take rank the second highest in the divorce records of the world, the highest of any professedly Christian country. In the World's Work for January, published in New York, there is given a table of the divorce rate per 100,000 of population of several countries. In this table Japan — a heathen country — heads the list with a total of 213 divorces per 100,000 persons; the United States—a Christian republic—comes next with 73 per 100,000; Switzerland, a republic, comes next with 32 per 100,000 persons; France, another republic, comes next with 23 divorces per 100,000 persons; England, a constitutional monarchy, is credited in the same table with a divorce rate of 2 per 100,000. If Canada had one divorce per 100,000 she would be humiliated. It is to be hoped, and it is pretty certain, that the college professor referred to in his defence of wholesale divorce, the greatest of any Christian country, does not reflect the sentiments of the great mass of soberminded, moral citizens of the United States. The English language is the only language in the world that has the word home in the same sacred sense as our word evxpresses it. The integrity of the home is the foundation stone of the social fabric. Divorce not only complicates and entangles family relations, but destroys the home and makes marriage a subject of sensual experimentation, makes a mockery of a divinely instituted ordinance. The same laxity of contract, if applied to business undertakings, would destroy all commercial and allied intercourse between mankind and produce, universal, anarchy and chaos. There is only one Scriptural justification of divorce, and as, in civilized countries, human law is founded upon divine law, no other ground of divorce should be accepted. Outside of this there is no safety.

CANADA'S MILITIA.

Considerable progress has been made during the past year in the organization of a Canadian general staff, which will eventually become the Canadian section of the imperial general staff. According to a recent departmental report, steady progress has been made also in the expansion of the militia, ten squadrons of cavalry and twenty-eight companies of infantry having been added during the year. Musketry trainings in camps of instruction were more satisfactory than in former years, and the force in general has made appreciable progress towards efficiency and readiness for the field. Major-Gen. Lake, the inspector-general, claims, however, that "it is quite impossible for any force with only twelve days' training in the year to be either efficient or ready to take the field. The rifle associations, both military and civilian, show a satisfactory increase, the total membership being now close upon forty thousand.

The strength of the permanent force is well up to the limited establishment allowed. On the whole, says the report, the administration of the commands, and districts has shown fair progress, but before the ideal of complete decenralization can be realized it will be necessary for the majority of officers commanding to understand more thoroughly their responsibilities and the powers placed in their hands. The attendance of officers at the royal schools of instruction has been satisfactory.

General Lake's inspection last year was mostly west of Lake Superior, and he declares the mounted corps of Manitoba and Saskatchewan to be the best of the kind in the country. Some of the western corps have reached a stage of drill and manoeuvre highly creditable, considering the short period available for training. The major-general recommends the arming of these corps with a shorter rifle than at present in use.—London Advertiser.

WHAT IT WILL DO

A woman buys a sewing machine for what it will do; not as an article af furniture. A man carries a watch to tell him the time; not as an investment of surplus capital. The same principle when one is ill. We want the medicine of the treatment which will relieve and cure. The friend in need must be a friend indeeed—something or somebody, with a reputation, with a good record, with a history that justifies our confidence. There should be no guesswork in treating diseases. People have the right to know what a medicine is, and what it will do, before they take it. It must have behind it an open record of benefit to others for the same disease, a series of cures that proves its merit and inspires confidence. It is because it has such a record that is bought and used without hesitation or doubt. Its Good Name is the solid basis for the faith the people have in it; and a good name has to be earned by good deeds. For the purpose for which it is commended it is honest, true and practical. It does what you have a right to expect it to do. It is palatable as honey and contains all the curative properties of pure Cod Liver Oil, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hyphophosptites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. In Scrofula, Anaemia, Nervous and General Debility, Influenza, Blood Impurities and Wasting Complaints, it is to be thoroughly relied upon. Dr. J. B. O. says: "I have had remarkable success with it in the treatment of Consumption, Chronic Bronchitis, Catarrh and Scrofulous affections. It is of special value in nervous prostration and depraved nutrition; it stimulates the appetite and the digestion, promotes assimilation, and enters directly into the circulation with the food. I consider it a marvellous success in medicine." Every dose effective. "You cannot be disappointed in it." All chemists. Warne Drug Co.

FERROL TASTELESS

TO THE ELECTORS OF PETERBOROUGH

Gentlemen:—After studying and being convinced that local option would not be of any benefit to Peterborough, I have been sitting long hours into the night studying this, and expressing my opinion in letters through the press. In spending sleepless nights and taking abuse in the first part of the campaign from a numbre of people, I have even lost a certain amount of trade on account of the prejudice of parties who are opposed to my views. I am not looking for any good paid job from the city. You will say why have I done it. But because it is my nature, when I see a man insulted and attacked without any real cause by statements that have been made that as the people of Peterborough have been and the majority of them are drunkards and criminals and effected with misery through drunkenness, that I came out to show that after seven years living in Peterborough, and having to do mosly with the poorer classes of working men, I was convinced that they are absolutely wrong, and that we have only a few drunkards and criminals. Neither is there misery through drunkenness. I did not care about the abuse. But I stood against all odds, and losses an dgave you my opinion. And Now I have dosens and dosens of letters from citizens who are encouraging me, and we are giving me credit for what I have done. And therefor having seen in my mind that the liquor question can be settled in a peaceful way, without injuring any one, I came out to stand as a candidate for the Council for the coming year. In the first place, if elected, no matter what the verdict of the people will be, I will be there to see that without favor or any obligations to any one, that the law is obeyed. Then I hope that thoes men who are opposing me in my views at the present time will give me their assistance and as a member of the Council I will have more influence, and will be able to regulate the liquor question once and for all, and that we shall have no necessity for bringing here in the future all kinds of speakers, to call us drunkards and criminals.

I will do my utmost to see that Peterborough is to be an example of purity and peace, if supported and elected by you.

Yours respectfully,
B. LASTAR.

PAST PRESIDENTS TO MEET

A meeting of the past presidents of the T. A. S. will be held in the Society's rooms this evening at eight o'clock, for the purpose of completing arrangements for the concert to be held on the tenth of January, the tenth anniversary of the organization of the society.

A MASS MEETING FOR THE WORKING MEN OF THE SOUTH END :: ::

A most interesting Mass Meeting has been arranged for tomorrow (Thursday) night in the new and beautiful Auditorium of Park Street Baptist Church at 8 o'clock. H.E. Irwin K.C., of Toronto, will be the speaker. Mrs. Irwin, who is also a Temperance Worker and Speaker will take part. 2D151

Everybody Welcome
Bring Doubtful Voters

LUMBER

And Builders' Materials of all kinds Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Casing, and Base and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE
Point St. Charles Mills

PATENTS

PROCURED ON EASY TERMS.
TRADE-MARKS AND COPYRIGHTS

Books and advice free. Highest references. Best results. 25 years experience. We are registered attorneys to the U.S. Send sketch of your invention for free opinion as to patentability.

CRISWELL & CRISWELL
902 F. ST., N. W., WASHINGTON, D. C.
45 Broadway, New York City

Peterborough Club Rooms To Rent

Opposite Post Office. Hunter St. Steam heated, with private bath and lavatory. Will rent whole flat or dividual rooms Temporary or a permanent lease. Apply to

Peterborough Business College

CHRISTMAS SUGGESTIONS

EVERYTHING NEW THIS YEAR

Toilet Sets
Values from ..... $2 to $15

Fancy Perfumes
In Pleasing Boxes, real Flower Odours, prices ..... 25c to $5

Lowney's Chocolates
25c to $3.00

ASK FOR OUR '10 CALENDAR

J. D. TULLY
DRUGGIST

Auction Sale

Fire Sale of Boots & Shoes by Auction

I will sell by Public Auction at No. 245 George Street, the balance of Stock of Boots and Shoes, for Men, Women, Misses and Children, all of which must be sold without any reserve before the first of January, 1910.

Sale will commence on Tuesday, the 28th of December, at half past seven p.m and each night until January 1st.

JOHN HAGGART,
Auctioneer.

1d 8693

Something You Want to Buy ? You Want to Sell ? Or is it a House or Rooms To Rent ?

In any case, it's THE EXAMINER that can do it for you with our rapidly growing circulation.

Twenty cents will pay for a 20 word classified advertisemen .

Real Estate Sales Room

HOUSES FOR SALE

1.—2 storey and attic, solid Red Brick, west, double parlours, dining room, kitchen, pantry, front and rear stairs, 4 bed-rooms, bath-room separate toilet, coal grate, electric lights, hot water furnace, double ce lars, laundry tubs, large lot, price..... $4,500

2—2 storey and attic, Red Brick, north, parlour, dining room, kitchen pantry, summer kitchen, wood-shed 4 bed-rooms, bath-room, furnace, electric lights, good well, large lot, price $3,500

3.—Frame House, south of city, 1½ storeys, 6 rooms, ½ acre choice garden lot 5 minutes from street railway line, price..... $1,000

4.—1½ storey Brick, north, parlour dining-room, kitchen, wood-shed, summer kitchen, 3 bed-rooms, and stable, price..... $900

Farms for Sale

200 acres, 6 miles north of city, all under cultivation, soil clay loam, good orchard, good frame house, 3 first-class barns, good stables in stone basements under the barns, price..... $10,000

100 acres, 6 miles east, 90 acres under cultivation, balance pasture, soil clay loam, good fences, good brick house and frame barns on stone foundation, close to school, price..... $5,500

Houses to Rent

7-roomed, north, conveniences $13

7-roomed, south, light water, $11

7-roomed, west, light, water, $8

4-roomed, west..... $7

9-roomed, central, all conveniences..... $18

J. T. O'Connell & Co.
136 Hunter Street. 'Phone 376

WANTED.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

WANTED — 100 LADIES TO USE OUR Stocking Darning Sewing Machine Attachment. Fits on any machine. Also for repairing curtains, table cloth. Best time, labour and money saving device Send post paid on receipt of post office money order, 25c. Agents wanted.—The Quebec Hardware Mfg. Specialties, St Rock P. O., Quebec, Que. 1yr75-7578

PERSONAL.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

YOUR FORTUNE TOLD — YOUR PAST and future can be revealed: my horoscopes are wonderful diviners—try and see. Send birth date with three two cent stamps. Alfred Dumas, Box 67, St. Laurent, Jacques-Cartier Co., P. Que. 2d-s-153

IF THE PARTY WHO ADVERTISED FOR "Safe Wanted," will call at the Examiner office, he will be given the address of where he can secure one. d142

HELP WANTED—FEMALE.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

MAID WANTED—APPLY EVENINGS TO Mrs. C. N. Gordon, 360 Simcoe street. 2d151-8744

WOMAN WANTED TO DO HOUSEWORK and take care of baby. Apply 40 Robinson street. 3d151-8729

SITUATIONS VACANT.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

WANTED — FIRST CLASS MACHINISTS for Gisholt lathe, milling machine, band screw machine and lathe hands. Apply at once to Canada Cycle and Motor Co., West Toronto. 3d151-8736

WANTED AT ONCE — TWO OR THREE boys to set up pins in bowling alley. Apply J. D. Clarke, Examiner office. 1d151

WANTED—BRIGHT YOUNG MAN AS traveler—splendid opportunity for the right man. 174½ Charlotte street. 3d151-8727

AN INTELLIGENT PERSON MAY EARN $100 monthly corresponding for newspapers. No canvassing. Send for particulars. Press Syndicate, 3972, Lockport, N.Y. dtf-51-7392

ANYONE, ANYWHERE, CAN START A mail order business at home. No canvassing. eB your own boss. Send for free boklet. Tells how. Hasoock, 3972, Lockport, N.Y. dtf-51-7392

PATENTS.

For particulars about Patents, send for booklet.

BEN. B. PANNETT,
Ottawa, Ontario.
mos-91

FOR RENT.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

TO RENT—OFFICE NO. 12 IN BANK OF Commerce Building; heated, possession immediately Apply at 437 George street

TO RENT — NEW HOSUE—CITY WATER —$7.50. Apply 533 Concession street. Phone 1328.

FOUND.

OUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

FOUND—AT THE PETERBOROUGH CANdy Works, J. Haggis, Prop., a five dollar bill. Will the lady who lost same about a week or ten days ago, please call and get it and oblige. 2d156-8697

SATCHEL FOUND — CONTAINING PAIR of glasses, etc. Owner can have same by applying at this office. 1d

FOUND—A BUNCH OF KEYS ON WATER street. Owner can have same by applying at this office. 1d

SITUATIONS WANTED.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

WANTED — RESPECTABLE WOMAN wants work by the day. Apply Examiner office. 3d151-8742

LOST.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

PAIR OF GLASSES LOST ON MARKET Wednesday. Finder leave at this office. 1d151-8150

LOST—UNITED STATES LINCOLN CENT brooch—valued as a keepsake. Finder kindly return to Examiner. 3d150-8711

LOST — GOLD WATCH CHAIN AND locket, with engraving on back, on George street, on Friday afternoon. Finder leave at this office. 3d150-8704

LOST — LADY'S GOLD LOCKET — INItialled V.E.W. Return to this office. Reward 703 Aylmer st. 3d150-868

LOST — BETWEEN DUBLIN AND LONdon on Reid street, a door key. Finder please leave at Examiner Office and

LOST—ON FRIDAY EVENING A FIVE dollar bill. Reward if left at this office. 2d150-8696

LOST — ON SUNDAY EVENING BEtween East City and St. Paul's church, a lady's gold watch with initials J. G. engraved on same. Reward if left at this office. 3d150-8700

HOUSES AND ROOMS TO LET

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

TO RENT — SEVERAL FURNISHED rooms suitable for light housekeeping; very central; every convenience; not three minutes' walk from the post office Apply 202 Charlotte street. 6d145-8592

GOOD FRAME HOUSE FOR SALE WITH stable; also two story brick house, 7 rooms. Cheap and on terms to suit purchaser. Apply to H. C. Stabler & Co., 350 Water st. d131

ROOMS TO RENT ON GEORGE STREET, fitted with water, electric light, etc. Apply to Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr.

TO RENT—SUITE OF ROOMS IN GRAND Central Building. Heated and all modern improvements. Rent moderate Apply 437 George street

FOR SALE.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

FOR SALE OR EXCHANGE — GENERAL purpose Reg. Horse; black, sound and quiet; would trade for driving colt 15.3 or over, broken or unbroken. Apply at this office. 2w-51-8735

PERSON IN MOURNING HAS NEW YORK hats for sale cheap—this winter's styles. Apply Examiner office. 2d150-8709

FOR SALE CHEAP — A SMALL FIRST class fireproof safe, combination lock; also a first class White sewing machine. Apply J. J. Turner & Sons, tent manufacturers, George street, Peterborough. 3d151-8743

FOR SALE — A NUMBER OF CHICKENS First class, well bred, pedigreed. The original stock for the pair cost over $15. Apply 236 Water street. 6d150-8734

FOR SALE OR TO RENT—CASTLEKNOCK, the late residence of Mrs. Dennistoun Extensive grounds, commodious residence, stable, etc. Apply to Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr, Water street 4w-m and s-148-8627

FOR SALE—A THREE STORY BRICK house, 162 Smith street, containing nine rooms, besides halls, bathroom and closets; also five rooms in basement; coal and gas cooking ranges; furnace; electric light fixtures. Large lot, stable and driving house. Terms easy. Call at premises. J. Coyle Brown, Peterborough. 1mod127-8550

A new brick house near the corner of Sherbrooke and Park, modern improvements; will sell on monthly payments, or rent to small family. A good chance for a mechanic to own his own home. t194-7567 G. W. HATTON.

FOR SALE—TWO CHOICE BUILDING lots on Water street (west side of street) Each 30 feet frontage back to a 16 foot lane. For particulars apply at 183 Antrim street, city, or Examiner office t149-7134

FARM FOR SALE.

FARM FOR SALE — ONE OF THE BEST farms in the Township of South Monaghan, 200 acres, brick house, 26 x 36, kitchen and wood shed attached, barn 115 x 30, on stone foundation, stables in basement, barn 105 x 30 on posts, drive shed and hen house. Never failing water supply, spring creek and wells, ½ mile from post office and cheese factory, churches and schools convenient; 160 acres cleared; easily worked by machinery, no stumps or stones; 40 acres bush and pasture land. A lot of valuable basswood, some pine, balance beech and maple. Frame house for hired help. Terms very easy. Must be sold; a snap for somebody. Possession 1st of March. Apply to Walter Fisher, 493 Water street, Peterborough. 3mos150

MONEY WANTED!

We can place sums from One Thousand Dollars up, at a reasonable interest and on gilt edge security. If you have money to invest, call, or telephone name and address.

We have some superior investments in Farm and City property as for instance below:—

100 acres clay loam in Otonabee near river and on good road, first class brick house and barn on stone sill, orchard, good maple bush, a superior property for Six Thousand Dollars.

Nice brick house in convenient neighbourhood, large garden, a cheery place for $1150.

For Rent, nice, new, comfortable house and 19 acres of land just South across city boundary; seven acres of this is warm, early soil for early vegetables, etc., remainder is black loam for fruits, celery, cabbage, etc. Houses to rent.

SOUTH CITY REALTY CO.

Phone 1295 and 1281 130 Park St.
New Offices Opposite C. G. E.

SEE THESE SOON

$200 Will buy a choice lot in the south part of the city in a first-class locality We have a number of these lots to dispose of for a quick sale,

$1900 Will buy a 7 roomed Brick House in west part of city with modern improvements.

$1600 Will buy a good 2 storey Brick House in west part of city

R. A. Elliott & Co
REAL ESTATE AGENTS. WATER STREET

TO INVESTORS,

35 to 50 per cent. per annum and Gilt Edge Security

Can be had by procuring stock in the

Alberta Wheat Growing Co., Limited.

A careful estimate shows that an investment of $530 in six years will produce $1200 to $1500 profit.

For further particulars write.

F. N. Tennant,
12d-123 Box 59, Brampton, Ont.

HOUSES TO RENT

Houses to let at reasonable rent. Apply for particulars at W. H. BRADBURN'S OFFICE, over the Dominion Bank, Corner of George and Simcoe Streets. dtf

Dyment, Cassels & Co
Members Toronto Stock Exchange
Bank of Nova Scotia Building 34 Melinda St. Toronto
ORDERS EXECUTED ON ALL EXCHANGES
TELEPHONE MAIN 6311

LOTS FOR SALE

ON

Big Island, Stony Lake

Fourteen lots, comprising a little more than the south half of Big Island, have been sold.

Lots eleven, twelve, fifteen, sixteen, eighteen and nineteen, comprising almost all of the northern half of the Island, are still for sale.

These lots now being offered are good building sites and splendidly situated.

Plan may be seen at the Examiner Office.
dtf-123-9301 R. M. GLOVER.

New and Second-Hand Clothing Boots, Rubbers, etc. Furniture.

JAY'S Stores

390 AYLMER STREET
PHONE

W. E. ELMORE & CO.

Brokers and Promoters
TORONTO AND MONTREAL

114-20 Traders Bank—125-6 Coristine Bldg. Hamilton Office: 401 Bank of Hamilton Building. 'Phone 3310.

GEORGE STREET PROPERTY FOR SALE

Parts of lots 1 and 2, west of George street and north of Dalhousie street, frontage on George street, 122 ft. by a depth of 183 ft., with use of a 12 foot lane from Dalhousie street. This lot adjoins the wholesale Harness Factory of E. F. Ackerman & Son, and is suitable for wholesale houses or manufactory. Apply to Dumble & Johnston, or R. S. Wood, Solicitors. 4mo8

UNCLE WALT---THE POET PHILOSOPHER

That solemn day is close at hand when men forswear the vinous dragon; when all the sad, remorseful band, will climb upon the water wagon. A thousand vows will then be spoken; we'll all be saints, SWEARING OFF TO-DAY the fat cigar will disappear. We'll then eschew all vulgar sinning, forsake all malice, envy, spite, and go our ways with smiles so winning, the girls will fall in love, at sight. We'll lavish kindness on our neighbours, and pay our debts, abandon guile, and buckle to our divers labours until our smoke is seen a mile. There'll be so much of shining virtue, when first the year is ushered in, it would astonish you and hurt you, if you should stumble o'er a sin. But in a month we'll all be hedging—we are not angels, we are men; we'll find it pretty heavy sledging; the fleshpots will look good again. O, this desire for better living is quite heroic and sublime; but we might gain more ground by giving up one bad habit at a time.

Dean Mason

☞REAL-GENUINE
SCOTCH SHORT BREAD
Ornamented with any motto if ordered before noon Thursday

TRY OUR
PITCAITHLY SHORT BREAD

New Years Receptions are incomplete without our special lines of
MACAROONS & FANCY CAKES
Nothing finer on the continent

FANCY BOXES OF DELICIOUS
CHOCOLATES AND BON BONS

WE ARE THE ☞ CATERERS

COLEMAN BROS. 420 GEORGE ST. TELEPHONE 336

EGGS!
for sale in any quantities.
PETERBOROUGH COLD STORAGE CO.

W. SCOTT & CO.
—OFFICES—
Cor. George & Hunter Both Phones 203
194 Robinson Street. Both Phones 264
(East City).

LIFE INSURANCE is Just as Necessary as Fire Insurance

You would think a man foolish who left his buildings uninsured. What do you think of the man who doesn't protect the full value of his own life to his family?

THOMAS MARK, General Agent,
THE MANUFACTURERS LIFE Insurance Company.
Bank of Commerce Building
Peterborough

S. A. OKE'S Gratitude and ... Greeting ...

We congratulate our customers on the measure of prosperity the year has brought, and the promise of still greater things for 1910.

Our trade has been big and most satisfactory and in extending the compliments of the season to one and all we add a hearty "Thank you" for the generous support and encouragement accorded us.

S. A. OKE
340 GEORGE STREET
Phone 275

SINGER SEWING MACHINE COMPANY
J. W. STUART, Mgr. Office 347½ George St. Residence Phone 917. Office Phone

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

Imagine a leading lady insisting on having the prettiest women she could find in her company.

You can't can you?

But if you won't call it an irreverent comparison I'll tell you of a very similar situation that we often see, and that is a plain bride-to-be asking her very prettiest girl friends to act as bridesmaids.

Most girls do that, and isn't it strange?

A bride is seldom at her best. She is apt to be nervous, almost sure to be tired, and she usually dresses in dead white, which is about the most unbecoming thing anyone can wear.

The bridesmaids, on the other hand, have probably nothing special to tire them, are more likely to be pleasurably excited than nervous, and usually wear some of the exquisite pale shades that make the plain girl pretty and the pretty girl a ravishing beauty.

In Japan, where the parents make the marriages and the bride-elect and groom-elect often do not even see pictures of each other until the great day when it is time for the wedding, the parents of the bride-elect bring her into the room where the bridegroom-elect is waiting for her, accompanied by the homeliest girl in the household, and as ugly a maidservant as can be found. So to the young man the girl he is about to marry is always very beautiful.

I fancy the Japanese will be surprised to know that in this country we do just the opposite by inviting our prettiest friends to come and try to outshine us.

It may be because our women depend on something besides beauty to fascinate their husbands.

I wonder.

Did you ever try a "put someone else in your place" test on yourself?

When you are on the eve of doing anything about the advisability of which you feel some doubt there is no better way to test that advisability than to try to picture, not what other people would think if you were to do the thing but what you would think if some friend of yours were to do it.

Often you will be fairly surprised at the feeling of distaste that comes over you at the picture you invoke, and will need no further warning.

Why not try it the next time you start to do or say something you are not absolutely sure is going to look or sound well.

These are two of the most beautiful words in the English language that is seems to me we do not hear spoken half enough.

And these are "father" and "mother."

Surely these terms are infinitely more pleasant and dignified than "mamma" and "papa", or "ma" and "pa" or any other way of addressing our parents that we have, and yet you hear "mother' and "father" in one home to ten where you hear some other title employed.

Strangely enough, too, you hear 'father' 'about one half as often as you do "mother."

In several homes where I go the children speak of "papa" and "mother" or even "pa" and "mother."

Anyone will admit it is a very simple thing to teach your children to call you by these dignified and beautiful names.

Why not begin to-day and do it?

Ruth Cameron

STATEMENT OF PETERBORO'S DEBENTURE OBLIGATIONS

As Presented by Mr. W. George Morrow in His Address to the Citizens Assembled in the Council Chambers on Nomination Day.

At the public meeting for nominations yesterday Mr. W. G. Morrow, who is a candidate for the mayoralty, presented a statement of the financial condition of the city, which, he stated, was strong, and should be a source of gratification to the ratepayers. The following is the statement of the city's debenture debt on December 31st, 1909:

Water works, 31st Dec. 1908 ..	$312,000.00
Issued in 1909 ..	120,000.00
		$432,000.00
Local Improvem't frontage rate .	190,976.23
Issued in '09 for 1908 work . . .	13,157.17
		204,133.40
Local Improvem't general rate ..	100,521.31
Issued in '09 for 1908 work . . .	11,960.88
		112,482.19
Concrete cross'gs 31st Dec., 1908	6,000.00
Issued in '09 for 1908 work . . .	2,000.00
		8,000.00
King Edw'd Park	3,000.00
		3,000.00
Public Schools 31st Dec. '08 ..	124,900.00
Issued in 1909 .	4,000.00
		128,900.00
Collegiate Institute, 31 Dec. '08	60,863.88
Issued in 1909 .	10,000.00
	70,863.88
Less am't payable '09, B. L. 1077	825.89	79,036.99
City Gen'l rates. Issued in 1909:	256,250.00
Smith St. Bridge	32,500.00
Street Extension	21,500.00	54,000.00
	$310,250.00
Less am't payable '09, B. L. 173..	4,500.00
		305,750.00
		$1,278,302.58

Summary

The following is a summary of the statement of the debenture debt. on December 31st, 1909:

Water Works ...$312,000.00
Water Works ... 120,000.00
	$432,000.00
Loc'l Imp'ments frontage	204,133.40
Local Imp'ments General	112,482.19
Public Schools .	126,900.00
Collegiate Inst..	79,036.99
King Edw'd Park	3,000.00
Concrete cross'gs	8,000.00
General Deb't's .	305,750.00
	$1,273,302.58
Debenture Debt, 31st Dec. '09.	1,278,302.58
Debenture Debt, 31st Dec. '08.	1,063,520.32
	209,782.26
Amout issued in 1909	$215,108.15
Less Amt. paid in 1909	5,325.89
	209,782.26

Actual Debt.

For the purpose of finding the actual Debenture Debt of the city, for which the General Taxpayer is assessed deduct the following items:

Water Works.—The interest and sinking fund, of which is paid by Water Commissioners Water Comm'r's	$432,000.00
Local improve'ts frontage rates	204,133.40
Sinking and Surplus Funds	212,715.86
	$848,849.26
Deduct this amount from the total debenture debt and we have a balance of	$424,453.32
The Liquid Assets held against this sum are as follows:
Market property and buildings	$130,000.00
School buildings..	232,191.00
City offices..	17,595.00
Fire Hall	25,000.00
Hilliard Farm	10,000.00
Various other properties .	14,920.72
	$429,636.72

These items, as you will notice, do not include the local improvements made by general rate, concrete crossings, or bridges.

We have been spending a considerable sum of money each year for sidewalks and sewers. We now have forty-six and one-half miles of concrete walks built, and there are now about 14 miles of wooden walks.

Womanly Health
How to Preserve It

The good looks of every woman depend largely upon the proper working of her stomach and other internal organs.

If your stomach is strong and digestion is good, the cheeks flush with color, eyes dance and sparkle, breath will be pure, and your hair smooth and glossy.

Let indigestion creep in, and the skin becomes sallow and rough, pimples break out, eyes get dark circles, ill-breath is all too apparent.

Get the stomach toned up with Dr. Hamilton's Pills—they increase the secretion of the gastric juices, promote vigorous digestion, increase the supply of blood, and thereby invigorate the entire system.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills
CURE WOMAN'S ILLS.

The system is quickly won back to a normal healthy condition by Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and every girl or woman who uses this remedy will show it in a clear, wholesome complexion and a sound healthy body. Sold in 25c boxes by all dealers.

BY ACCLAMATION

There Will be no Municipal Elections in Smith.

The nominations for the township of Smith, were held yesterday in the County Council chambers, and resulted in the whole council being elected by acclamation. Reeve R. N. Scott retired and Mr. T. H. Graham was elected in his stead. The new man in the council is Mr. Andrew Jobe, of Chemong. Mr. J. H. Garbutt as deputy reeve will be a new man in the county council. The nominations are as follows:

T. H. Graham, Reeve.
J. H. Garbutt, Deputy Reece.
Fred. McKee.
Wm Davis.
Andrew Jobe.

COLD ON THE LUNGS

This letter gives some idea of the confidence placed in Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine by people who know by experience of its exceptional merit. Mrs. E. D. Turner, Broadview, N.W.T., writes:—"We have seven children and have used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for them all when troubled with colds on the lungs. We buy four bottles at a time and always keep it in the house, believing there is nothing so good for coughs and colds."

A STORY ABOUT "MOLLY KELLY"

She Tried Her Hand at Baking Pies and a Burglar's Life Was in Danger.

H. H. Frazee tells the following story about Amanda Hendricks, the clever actress who played Molly Kelly in The Time, the Place and the Girl Company at the Grand Opera House a week ago:

Last summer a lot of lively actresses rented a cottage down on Long Island, where they put up a sign "Angels' Rest. No men on the premises without a Chaperon."

Each took turns at cooking extra dainties for the day's excursion. Wednesday was Amanda Hendricks' turn, and after her hard work was done she was so fagged out that she retired early. About midnight one of the other girls rushed over to her room, exclaiming, "Wake up, Amanda, there's a burglar in the pantry, and I am sure he is eating all our pies!"

"Well, I don't care," replied the tired actress, "so long as he doesn't die in the house."

GALWAY NOMINATIONS.

Mount Irwin, Dec. 28.—Reeve Coben of Galway and Cavendish will be contested for that position for the coming year by Mr. David Curtin and there is every liklihood of a warm campaign until voting day arrives. The following is the result of the nominations held on Monday.

For Reeve, Charles Coben and David Curtin.

For Councillors, James Allen, John Clark, Easel Crego, William Dudman, Christopher Graney, William Hunter, Edgar Harrison, John McKinley, J. Molyneaux, William Peacock, Robert White.

CORNS CURED IN 24 HOURS
You can painlessly remove any corn, either hard, soft or bleeding, by applying Putnam's Corn Extractor. It never burns, leaves no scar, contains no acids; is harmless because composed only of healing gums and balms. Fifty years in use. Cure guaranteed. Sold by all druggists. 25c. bottles. Refuse substitutes.
PUTNAM'S PAINLESS CORN EXTRACTOR

The Gift He Didn't Get

Play Santa Claus till New Years. Follow up the good work and come this week to

SCHNEIDER'S UNRESERVED JEWELRY SALE

Make this week the busiest of the year. Help us to reduce our Stocks still lower. We have more than enough for another Christmas.

Lots of the Best Gifts Still Left

A Phenomenal Christmas Trade calls upon us to let profits go for the rest of the year, so long as we can unload stock.

Those who have bought can afford to buy some more, and those who haven't bought can now buy all the more. "January Prices" now and less.

F.S.Schneider&Co
GREAT JEWELRY CLEARING SALE

Toronto Savings and Loan Company

Notice is hereby given that a Quarterly Dividend at the rate of six per cent (6%) per annum for the three months ending December 31st, 1909, has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this Company, together with a bonus of two per cent 2%) for the year 1909, making a total dividend disbursement for the year of eight per cent (8%). The said dividend and bonus will be payable at the office of the company in this city on and after January 1st, 1910.

The transfer books of the company will be closed from the 17th to the 31st of December, both days inclusive.

W. G. MORROW MANAGING DIRECTOR
Peterboro, Dec. 10th, 1909.

J. N. Watson
PAINTING, GRAINING, PAPER HANGING AND DECORATING
64 Chambers Street — Behind Examiner Office

EXTRA CHOICE BEEF
For New Year's

The pick of Prime Western Heifers and Steers.

Specially Fed Lamb, Veal, Pork, Hams, Bacon, Sausage, etc., etc.

TURKEY Prizes

Everyone purchasing one dollars' worth or over at this Shop will be entitled to a guess on the weight of a Prize Turkey. The party guessing the nearest to its weight will get a Turkey Free.

Turkeys cheaper than before Xmas

R. COX
401 George St.
Phone - - 39

Advertise in the Examiner

Queen Quality
SHOE

Everything that women wear in Shoes. In "Queen Quality" smart, exclusive styles, fit, comfort.

J. T. Stenson & Sons
304 GEORGE STREET

HARD WOOD
Cut and Split
Special Lengths for GRATES

MIXEDWOOD
Over Half Hardwood Limbs
CORD, CUT ANY LENGTH AND SPLIT : : :

160 AYLMER ST.

BOTH PHONES 116

Rubber Gloves
Regular $1.00 for
65 cents

Every lady should have a pair. Keep hands clean and skin soft and free from roughness.

Wm. Madill
Chemist & Druggist
OAK HALL DRUG STORE
Corner George and Hunter Sts

Mrs. M. J. Byrne
Dealer in Ladies' Furnishings
and Hair Work

Ladies' Underwear, Children's Clothing and Ornamental Needle Work and Stamping executed to order and kept in stock

LADIES' HAIR DRESSING

Skilfully attended to. Ladies hair dressed for balls, parties, entertainments and all public and private occasions. Switches, Bangs, etc., always in stock and made to order fashionably. Combings of Hair done up in any desired style. Masks, Wigs, etc., rented for carnivals, concerts and all occasions.

424 George St. Phone 262

Better Stock and More of It

Cut Flowers

Ferns — Flowering Plants
Palms — Floral Designs
Bouquets — Wreaths, etc.

All work done in an artistic manner, on shortest notice. Orders by mail, telephone, or telegraph, promptly and carefully attended to.

Visitors always welcome at

West-End Greenhouses

Take the Jackson Park Street Car. Car stops within a few yards of Greenhouses

547 Park St. Phone 21
Day and Night

DOWN-TOWN AGENCY—At White & Gillespie's Grocery, 336 George St.

$100 REWARD $100

The Temperance League of this city offers one Hundred dollars reward for information that will lead to the Conviction of any person guilty of Bribery at the approaching vote on Local Option.

The League has been informed that an attempt will be made to buy the consciences and votes of men

The Temperance and Moral Reform League will not be responsible for debts contracted in its name for any work or duties performed in connection with the Local Option Vote—with or without the signature of any of its officers.

All workers or agents are hereby warned against the use of any promise or threat that will in any way unduly influence any voter. Such action is totally unauthorized. 4d-150

GOVERNOR GLENN'S APPEAL FOR LOCAL OPTION MADE A SPLENDID IMPRESSION

Like every impressive and successful speaker, Governor Glenn, of South Carolina, gives utterance to what he has to say with the expression that convinces one that he is absolutely sincere in everything he states, and he also puts every particle of his remarkable physical force and magnetism into an address. He is not in the least sensational, but he arouses the enthusiasm of his hearers by his ardour and convincing zeal, and even the dissenter from his opinion would be very reluctant to contradict him without being well armed for the combat, for if he were not his defeat would be speedy and ignominious — and one would judge that this reluctance would be especially marked when he came to crossing swords with Governor Glenn on the question of temperance in its various phases. For the Governor not only speaks with the conviction of strong personal opinion and the unalterable opinion that he is working on the right side but backs up what he says with a wall of solid facts that would appear as impregnable as the rock of Gibraltar.

He is a strong man this Governor of one of the most important and prosperous states in the whole of Uncle Sam's domains of increasing millions, a strong man physically and mentally, and it does not take one long to come to the conclusion that he is also a strong man morally and has telling truth to state in the interests of the great temperance movement that is sweeping over the continent like a huge unrestricted wave.

His three addresses in Peterborough for the furtherance of the local option movement in this city have been the most powerful appeals yet given in the cause of the local campaign, and this is said without wishing to detract from the eloquent and effective efforts of the other interesting and gifted speakers. But Governor Glenn is the executive head of a state that was one of the most drink-depraved states in the union before the passing of the prohibition law, and now stands in the front rank as a manufacturing and industrial state, and one in which the criminal statistics are low, and the undeniable evidences of morality and prosperity are most encouraging and gratifying to citizens of the state and to the republic at large. With its wide agencies for good, prohibition — prohibition which prohibited by means of the strct and thorough enforcement of the law—has, according to Governor Glenn, been the means of bringing about this splendid state of affairs. The Governor should be in a position to know, and it is hard to believe that a man of his superior stamp could have any object that was not absolutely accurate and that had been proved by an actual and thoroughly satisfying trial.

On Christmas night Governor Glenn spoke at the George street Methodist church and at the opera house yesterday afternoon and evening. At all three addresses he was heard by large audiences, and last night at the opera house there was an especially big attendance. All the seating room was taken up and many had to stand in the aisles and passages. At the Opera House those in attendance did not display any hesitancy in enthusiastically applauding the speaker's remarks at frequent stages of his addresses.

DR. A. W. CHASE'S CATARRH POWDER 25c.
is sent direct to the diseased parts by the Improved Blower. Heals the ulcers, clears the air passages, stops droppings in the throat and permanently cures Catarrh and Hay Fever. 25c. blower free. Accept no substitutes. All dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

It's Confidence That Does It

Season's Greetings

At this, the Festive Season, we offer our thanks to the public for their liberal patronage during the year now rapidly drawing to a close. It has been our constant endeavor to give satisfaction to everyone, and the results of the year's business would seem to indicate that we have in a great measure succeeded.

Ready again to serve you with FAMILY GROCERIES, perfect in quality, perfectly kept and moderately priced.

CANDY, don't be without Candy. New Year's wouldn't be New Year's without Candy. We bushels of it and Nuts and other Table delicacies,

WHITE & GILLESPIE

Orillia Business Man Speaks On Success Of Local Option

Mr. J. C. Miller, President of Orillia Tannery Company, Addressed Large Audience at Murray Street Baptist Church---Orillia Has Made Better Progress Than Ever Under Local Option---Some of the Slanders Refuted by Mr. Miller.

Mr. J. C. Miller, president of the Orillia Tannery Company, asserted in no uncertain terms that Local Option has been a success in every particular and the great majority of those citizens who were opposed to the by-law when it was first presented, have been completely won over to acknowledge its success, and many of them are now its most ardent supporters. Mr. Miller spoke at a largely attended meeting in the Murray Street Baptist church, and as a manufacturer and a man who has had a wide experience in Orillia's civic administration, he was enabled to present facts as he had found them through his own experience. He stated that he wished to speak as a citizen of Orillia, as a manufacturer, and as a patriotic Canadian, advocating the adoption of a measure that has proved successful. In Peterborough it is not a question of local option being put on trial. It is the ratepayers, the men and women voters who are being put on trial. Local option has proven its value, and it is a case of whether the people will take the opportunity of freeing themselves from a recognized evil. Mr. Miller had never heard of a reason for voting against local option. He had heard of excuses, but, if the average man begins to reason the question out he has but one conclusion to come to, viz., that the by-law should be supported.

It had been stated in Orillia before the by-law was passed that it would result in people leaving the town. It is a question whether the persons who say that they will leave the municipality mean them as threats or promises. "Those of us who wanted a clean town worked all the harder when we understood the class of people who were making these promises. Two hotel men left Orillia, and they were two who had depended mostly upon their bar trade. They had nothing to leave. They owned no property and had been put in their positions by brewing interests, and were removed, like other chattels, perhaps to places where the by-law had not been carried.

A new industry had been created, known in common language, as the 'hip-pocket dispensary'. A few men started out in this business, but it was not long until they found the law too strict, and they were apprehended. They were given a few days to secure the money for the fines, which had been laid against them, but they left the town, as they could not pay them. The community was better off by the absence of those few who did leave. No merchant, manufacturer, or labourer left on account of the by-law coming into force. If any man says he will leave Peterborough if your by-law carries, he will not if he is a valuable citizen, and if he is not you are better without him."

Compensation.

Continuing, Mr. Miller stated that it was claimed by some that the dealers in the liquor traffic should be compensated. He agreed with this idea, but the compensation should be equitable. Line the bar tenders and hotel men on one side, and the children, wives, and men who had suffered through the liquor business, and let the one compensate the other, accordingly as it has profited over the other. Mr. Miller would not lift up one finger to compensate those who had left their mark on homes.

Is Enforced.

He had read in a paper that the Chief Magistrate had said the by-law would not be enforced in Peterborough.

Mr. Miller said he could not understand how this statement could have been made. What's the use of our laws and constitution, h easked. It has been put in force in Orillia, and the streets are singularly free from drunken men. An Englishman had written home that Orillia was the first town he had ever seen without a drunken man on Christmas Day. The hotel men found they could not break the law. One man tried it and repeated the offence and was sent to Barrie jail for four months. He learned that there is no second offence under the local option law.

Last Friday was the biggest market day in the history of Orillia, and the law has been in force there during the past twenty months. It has not only affected the farmers' trade, but it has improved it.

Many Won Over.

Mr. Miller explained the reasons for Orillia having to ask for local option at the coming elections, and to demonstrate that the people are pleased with the law, 756 names were signed to the petition in five days, whereas, when the measure was first asked for in 1907, the total vote in its favour was 558. "That's our answer to the slanders that have spread through the country," Mr. Miller remarked.

Hotel Accommodation.

"It has been stated that local option entails poor hotel accommodation. I am on the road a great deal and would not like to see poor hotel provision. Five years ago, had the by-law been voted on by travellers alone I believe it would have been defeated by over 90 per cent of the voters. If they were to vote on it now I believe they would support the measure by a majority of seventy-five per cent." With the exception of Grimsby, Mr. Miller stated that he did not know of a place where the accommodation had not been improved. Such he had found to be the case in towns like Owen Sound, Orillia, and other places. "When a man cuts out the bar end of the business, he is bound to put that energy and attention to the improvement of the hotel proper. He had slept in places where the license act was supposed to be enforced and was unable to get to sleep until two o'clock in the morning, owing to the sounds of the revelry coming up from downstairs.

In regard to the effect on taxation, Mr. Miller stated that the people of Orillia had been affected to the extent of one-third of a cent a week by the by-law. He figured that Peterborough people would be affected per head by one-half a cent per week, or about thirty cents a year. This 30 cents which is now being received is the citizens' share of the profits from the hotel traffic.

Town's Finances.

In 1908, Mr. Miller had been chairman of the Finance Committee, and an overdraft of $11,000 was carried. This had been wiped out and the town is now in a better condition than it has ever been. It is customary to give a discount on taxes that are paid before December 10th. Under the License Act the best record had been 85 per cent. of the taxes paid by that date. Under the first year of local option this had increased to 88 per cent. and this year it was 92 per cent., figures, which the speaker said, explained themselves.

In regard to the alleged depreciation of the value of hotel property, Mr. Miller showed that in the last year under the license act hotel property in Orillia had been assessed at 52,000, and last year the same property was assessed at $61,695. The hotels had been greatly improved, were more homelike, and greater attention was paid to the comfort of the guests. Mr. Miller is president of the company that bought over the Daly House and are now running it as a temperance hotel. He explained the improvements that had been made to it, and other hotels in the town, and showed that the assessment on the hotels had been increased $8,795, and had not been decreased as had been stated. Mr. Miller gave instances of men who had increased their businesses under local option, and contrary to what had been stated, had not suffered in the least. There are no empty stores in the town, and he pointed out Orillia as a municipality in which Local Option had proved itself a splendid success. He asserted that the passing of the by-law was an economic necessity, and from the fact that a large sum of money is diverted into the proper channels it could not help but be a success.

An Invitation

We cordially invite everyone interested in something for New Year's, to visit our store and note the fine lines, perfect quality and moderate prices here shown. Nothing more appropriate than some of the following suggestions for New Year Gifts :--

Gentlemen's Gold Watches
Ladies' Gold Watches
Diamond Rings
Pearl Rings, lots of designs
Gold Cuff Links, 14 karat
Gold Lockets
Signet Rings, Gentlemen's
Pearl Brooches, nice pattern
1847 Rogers Cutlery, Special Prices.

NO TROUBLE TO SHOW YOU GOODS. Call and Inspect Them.

WARNE'S
345 George St. 'Phone 52.

Anyone Overlooked ?

CHANCES STILL GOOD at the

PETERBOROUGH BOOKSTORE

As you have helped us to roll up such a great sales-record at Christmas, we will devote the balance of the year to surprising offerings and still greater sacrifices on all lines in the store prices to make lookers quick buyers.

NEW YEAR'S PRESENTS

The display of Gift Goods for New Year's presents affords abundant chances for good selections o high-art articles in many popular lines, such as:—

Books	Purses
Bibles	Leather Goods
Poets	Toilet Sets
Gift Books	Art Goods
Stationery	Toys and Dolls
Cut Glass	Sleighs
Ebony Brushes	Games, etc.

Friends who have been unintentionally overlooked can still be remembered.

A. H. STRATTON & CO.
PETERBOROUGH BOOKSTORE
417 George Street - Peterborough

Anaemic women and children who frequently feel chilly, are pale and exhausted, will derive great benefit from the use of Ferrovim, the invigorating tonic, which consists of iron in a form they can assimilate, fresh lean beef and pure Sherry Wine. Nothing could be better than this combination of strength-giving agents in such cases. $1.00 per bottle.

More Wonderful Values

In Goods suitable for New Year's Remembrances, at

HALL'S WONDERFUL FIRE SALE

Holiday Selling still at flood-tide, and what's more important, hundreds of opportunities for genuine economy in the Buying of Useful Gifts, such as the following:

Neckwear	Tailored Coats	Hand Bags	Lace Curtains	Centre Pieces
Gloves	Silk Waists	Opera Bags	Portieres	Doylies
Hosiery	Fancy Belts	Opera Scarfs	Bed Spreads	Napkins
Corsets	Parasols	Frilling in Boxes	Comforters	Trays
Underwear	Umbrellas	Fancy Work Bags	Blankets	Shams
Handkerchiefs	Mufflers	Ribbons	Rugs	Table Cloths
Underskirts	Wool Gloves	Fancy Hose	Mats	Veilings

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED :: 353-355-357 GEORGE STREET

SALE OF MEN'S AND WOMEN'S OVERSHOES

THE SALE THAT'S RIGHT IN SEASON

A TREMENDOUS PURCHASE OF MEN'S AND WOMEN'S WOOL Lined, Rubber Soled Overshoes placed away last May before the Fall delivery and the heavy advance in raw materials gives us a latitude that warrants this unheard of price cutting in this seasonable article. "Maltese Cross" Brands Overshoes and Wool Lined Rubbers are made of Up-River Para Rubber, and is the most satisfactory kind on the market to-day. Every line we quote here is just as advertised and will be a sure department crowder to close the old year and open the new. The following sale prices are good for Eight Shopping Days commencing Dec. 30th and ending Saturday, January 8th. See window to-night for display of Men's and Women's Overshoes. All specially priced for this sale.

MEN'S OVERSHOES SPECIALLY PRICED

NO. 1—Ozar three buckle overshoes, first quality, the finest grade of shoes in the market, all sizes 6 to 10, never sold regularly less than $3.00. Winter Overshoe Sale 2.29

NO. 2—Premier one buckle Overshoes, standard shape, first quality, all sizes 6 to 10. Best $2.00 grade. Winter Overshoe Sale, only 1.69

NO. 3—This is our regular $1.75 Overshoe, a one buckle, perfect-fitting foot garment, all sizes, Winter Overshoe Sale 1.29

NO. 4—Men's wool lined Rubbers in medium and wide toe, worth to-day, $1.35, all sizes. Winter Overshoe Sale..... 89c

NO. 5—Men's Overshoe Rubbers, storm cloth tops, extra warm, but light weight, all sizes, regular $1.50. Winter Overshoe Sale, only 1.29

All Men's Lines in Men's Shoe Section :
Rear Semi-Ready Wardrobe

WOMEN'S OVERSHOES SPECIALLY PRICED

NO. 1—Eight button (Lion Brand) overshoes, first quality, correct shapes. all sizes, regularly $2. Winter Overshoe Sale.. 1.49

No 2—Women's "Doris" Maltese Cross Brand eight button overshoes, stella last, very finest grade, all sizes, our special $2.25 line. Winter Overshoe Sale 1.69

No. 3—Women's Overshoe Rubbers, storm cloth top, wool lined. The Maltese Cross "Arcadia", worth to-day $1.25. Winter Overshoe Sale..... 95c

No. 4—Women's wool lined Rubbers, Maltese Cross "Petite" and "Linden", a stylish warm foot garment, special at 85c. Winter Shoe Sale 74c

WOMEN'S AND CHILDREN'S RUBBER BOOTS

The leading foot covering for cold and stormy weather, enables you to wear 2 or 3 pair of hose with comfort, all first quality, women's regular $2.25 line, Winter Overshoe Sale $1.59 Children's regular $2.00 line, Winter Overshoe Sale 1.39

WATCH for the ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE ANNUAL BLUE PENCIL SALE.

Department Stores Cressman's

DO YOUR NEW YEARS SHOPPING TO-MORROW & SAVE MONEY.

RESULTS OF CHRISTMAS COLLEGIATE EXAMINATIONS

The Standing of the Pupils in the Different Forms as Shown by the Written Examinations in December---A Guide to the Work of the Students During the First Half of the Term.

Following are the results of the Christmas examinations in the Peterborough Collegiate Institute as supplied to the Examiner for publication by Principal H. R. H. Kenner. They show the respective standing of the pupils in the different forms by percentage:

Form 3A.—E. McNamara 72, F. Hinchliffe 71, M. Armstrong 69, E. Brown 68, A. Adams 67, N. Kylie 66, W. Coon 65, L. Ego 65, M. Adams 61, M Edwards 60, J. Harvey 60, M. Mann, 56, M Halpin 55, G. Moore 54, K. Corkery 54, F. McNamara 52, A. Morrow, 51, M. Squair 49, L. Grady 47, F. Douglas 46, S. Elliott 45, H. Moffatt 44, K Skinner 45, N. Weatherell 45, W. Phillips 45, J. Collins 43, E. Robertson 41, E. Wedlock 38, L. Kincaid 35, W. Stewart 33, E Pearson 34, F. Brooks 30, A. Primeau 22.

Form 3B.—R. Scott 73, W. Browett 70, V. Fessenden 67, H. Lees 65, R Kirn 63, Mabel Brown 63, W Gibson 62, J. Brightman 61, W. Thornton 61, M. Pearson 60, S. Sheehy 60, V. Elliott 59, John Harstone 59, E. Brown 58, F. Mitchell 57, F. Denison 56, G. Rankin 56, E. Porter 55, R. Palmer 54, A. Howson 53, M. Metherell 52, A .Brown 52, R. Park 50, H. Bonus 47, F. Conroy 47, K. Crane 46, L. Logan 45, Jack Harstone 45, R Montgomery 44, G. Sullivan 44, L. Mather 41, G. Minorgan 39, P. Denne 37, May Grady 36, J. Marsh 34, G. Cameron 33, G. Sanderson 32.

Form 2A.—S Shearer 89, M. Brown 71, W. Dobbin 69, V. Henry 68, B. Malan 67, B Trotter 64, O. Johnston 62, A. Curtis 62, B. Ray 62, W. Skuce 61, V. Carveth 61, E. Cuffe 60, M. Grady 60, E. Mowatt 59, M. Whitfield 58, J. M. Brown 58, L. Herridge 58, E. Fitzgibbons 57, L. Park 54, I. Brumwell 53, J. Neill 52, C. Johnston 51, L. Hatrick 51, A. Graham 50, A. Harper 50, C .Hardwicke 50, G. McClennan 49, M. Dundas 48, A. Whitfield 47, A. Gilbert 47, K. Connor 47, B. Record 47, M. Packenham —, A. Hill 45, M. Nelson 36, M. Eastwood 32.

Form 2B.—H. Stock 73, W. Hatrick 72, H. Eastwood 69, M. Huycke 68, J. Hill 68, W. Harstone 65, E. Kelly 64, G. Maher 63, H. Armstrong 61, D. Conroy 60, M. Wood 60, M. Carlisle 60, G. Matthews 60, R. Dickson 59, R. Laing 58, C. Armstrong 58, E. Langford 57, R. Rankin 57, C. Elcombe 56, M. Patterson 56, —. Maley 56, H. Leahy 55, D. Carlisle 54, V. Mollott 54, G. Hogan 53, N. Lewis 52, C. Bartlett 49, —. Stevenson 49, V. McCabe 49, H. Smith 48, O. Meyers 46, R. Cunningham 45, V. Hayes 44, M. Potter 44, G. Potter 43, C. McIntyre 41, B. Gillespie 35, H. Hill 34, D. Huycke 32, R. Langford 30.

Form 1A.—C. Doughty 68, W. Moher 68, L. Shearer 67, L. Scott 62, M. Succee 62, E. Outram 62, M. Brooks 61, R. Buyers 61, E. Briou 60, I. Douglas 60, L. Thorne 60, L. Cann 59, A. Wadell 59, B. Barrie 58, R. Gaskins 58, A. Logan 58, G. Mather 56, W. Blewett 56, M. Hanmer 56, G. Durranceau 55, E. Ingram 55, F. Payne 53, W. Perks 52, B. Lees 50, H. Mulhern 50, A .Ackerman 49, H. Elliott 48, F .Emmerson 47, R. Kelly 46, A. Dickson 45, S. Steele 44, L. Milloy 43, B. McNeill 42, R. Howden 41, S. Thompson 39, I. Detlor 38, J. Milloy 38, F. Patterson 38.

Form 1B.—H. Greaves 73, M. Rountree 72, L. Froom 66, W. Adams 66, E. Knox 65, F. Hooper 64, H. Davidson 63, L. Copp 63, H. Adams 62, G. Crowe 59, A. Horsfield 55, E. Adamson 55, G. Burritt 55, H. Henry 55, A. Grady 54, L. Grady 54, P .Butler 54, C. Feeny 53, V. Armstrong 53, B. Beavis 51, J. Feeny 51, J. Brumwell 51, E. Curtis 49, C. Hore 49, E. Guerin 48, W. Ryan 46, S. Cresswell 46 J. Cook 45, J. Sheehy 39 H. Hill 37 A. Fowler 36.

Form 1C.—S. Sherwin 67, F. Reid 66, G. Rudkins 64, D. Scott 64, M. Morrison 63, I. Morphet 62, G. Stenson 59, V. Watt 59, H. Wilson 59, E. McCusker 59, I. Mitchell 57, V. Hines 57, M. McKim 57, A. Kelly 56, J. McCabe 55, I. Nesbitt 54, W. Stratton 53, G. Naylor 51, W. Moher 51, R. O'Brien 50, H. Rogers 49, K. Johnston 48, J. Picard 47, V. Sanderson 46, J. Owens 46, G. Pentland 46, M. Moher 44, G. Wyatt 44, C. Taber 41, A. Overend 36, N. Phelan 32.

Form 1D.—G. Stevenson 77, L. Anderson 76, E. Lattimer 69, P. Curry 66, L. Pearson 65, B. Giroux 63, (D. Dobbin 62 and L. Ingram 62), (M. Kennedy and C. Arnott 61), M. Overend 59, L. Simpson 58, (A. Dryland, J. Cressman and B. Spofford 56), (H. Outram and N. Mather 55), H. Gillespie 54, M. Rutherford 54, V. Merril 54, F. Morris 53, E. Hutton 51, K. O'Brien 51, C. Clementi 49, F. Howden 48, H. Burritt 47, A. Hewson 46, C. Reid 41, H. Lowes 38, M. O'Toole 33, C. Hayes 33.

Commercial Form Results.

Com. II.—M. A .Carter 77, F. Hunter 75, M. Evans 70, A. McGill 70, M. Graham 69, V. Peters 68, B. Hamilton 66, M. Hardhill 60, M. McGill 59, A. O'Connell 58, E. Delahey 56, E. Derocher 56, E. McCabe 54, M. Birchard 54, G .Dineen 51, D. Johnston 50, J. Grady 50, P. Jackson 48, T. O'Donnell 47, M. Merrill 45, Specials, M. White 64, on 4 subjects.

Com. I.—M. Eastwood 75, Lila Waterman 70, Viola Palmer 66, Ruby Lynch 63, G. Edmonson 62, Aimee Rathbone 62, (Harry Taylor 61, Walter Jones 61, equal), Jack Hope 61, Ethel Armstrong 61, Sadie Edmison 61, Stella Wallace 60, Hazel Crane 59, Greta Pakenham 57, Amy Pakenham 57, Katie McCarney 56, Ines Duncan 56, Harriett Pierce 55, Phyllis Dawson 54, O'Dee Dutton 54, Margaret Eaton 54, Blanche Hart 53, Myrtle Wolf 52, Bert Carpenter 52, Joyce Cunningham 50, Florence Emerson 49, L. Shaughnessy 47, Willa Pethick 47, Linda Lundy 45, Etta Kemp 45, Myrtle Pethick 45, Ferne Smyth 41, Annie Brotherson 38, Mildred Martin 38, Helen Burgess 33.

Lifebuoy Soap is delightfully refreshing for bath or toilet. For washing underclothing it is unequalled. Cleanses and purifies.

ART AND THE RAILWAY.

One of the greatest living English painters has completed a series of friezes for the Grand Trunk Railway offices in London, England. Mr. Frank Brangwyn, A.R.A., is, perhaps the greatest figure-painter in the world, as well as one of the few great masters of colour. His commission from the Grand Trunk Railway System is one more evidence of the fact that genius is hand in hand with commerce in an industrial age.

Of the work of Mr. Brangwyn, the Canadian Courier says: "No bigger work has, perhaps, ever been done in England, than Brangwyn's friezes for the new Grand Trunk office built by Sir Aston Webb, the most distinguished British architect. The friezes are superb historic groups representative of the conquest of Canada by commerce and the railway. They will be seen by more people than as though they had been done for an art gallery, by, perhaps, as many people as have seen the frescoes of Raphael in the churches of Italy. A railway company which does things of such magnitude is doing a great work in the esthetic development of the people. Such work costs a great deal if money, but it is counted a good investment by a corporation which has had to deal so intimately with the public as a great railway.

COON COATS

Don't freeze—buy a Coon Coat. Such qualities and new styles as we offer you seldom see, except at extravagant prices. In Men's Coon Coats no one can give you a greater exchange for your money. Also Wallaby, Bulgarian Lamb, Russian Calf and Dog Coats, Fur Caps, Collars and Gauntlets. :: ::

W. E. LECH

366 GEORGE STREET, :: WITH THE TIGER MARBLE FLOOR

ADAMS' STORE FOR WOMEN

393 George 486 TELEPHONE

NEW YEAR'S GIFTS

After a tremendous Christmas business we have many broken lots of Xmas Goods which we are going to clear this week regardless of profit. You may have overlooked a friend during the Xmas rush and would like to remember them with a New Year's Gift, if so visit Adams' this week and share in the bargains we are offering.

Boxed Collars
Beautiful fancy Collars. Each boxed in a fanny box. Our special Xmas 25c line all this week, your choice for 19c

50c Boxed Collars 39c
3 dozen beautiful fancy boxed Collars, each box contains a Collar and a Frill to match. Extra Xmas value 50c. Your choice all this week, for 39c

Hair Pin Holders
2 dozen beautiful hand painted Hair Pin Holders nicely trimmed with ribbon, a very useful article, regular 35c. This week your choice for 19c

Handkerchiefs—2 for 25c
One lot of Handkerchiefs, our regular 20c and 25c lines all thrown into one basket. Your choice 2 for 25c

Similar Reductions also in the following:—

LACE SCARFS, SILK SCARFS, FASCINATORS, KID GLOVES, BED ROOM SLIPPERS, FANCY COLLARS, FANCY BELTS, PHOENIX MUFFLERS, LINEN CENTRES

and several other lines, appropriate New Year's Gifts

Your Holiday Snapshots Enlarged

Work guaranteed first-class—Enlargements made from your best pictures, for any size frame.

Louis Mendel

STUDIO —374½ George Street, East Side. The only Studio on George St.

Manual labour taxes the strength of the human machine. The man who works appreciates to the fullest extent the recuperative qualities and purity of

CALCUTT'S ALE, PORTER & LAGER

It is the popular beverage of the man who earns his living by actual, muscular work. You have tried the rest—

NOW TRY THE BEST

Manufactured by

The Calcutt Brewing & Malting Company

Ashburnham. 'Phone 98

A Good Resolve

If you want Good Bread on your table every day during 1910, it is up to you to start the New Year with a dollar's worth of tickets for

Gilgour & Mackay's Home-Made BREAD

Order from the driver or ring up the bakery office Telephone 640.

Fancy Cakes, Buns, Biscuits, Pastry, etc., Fresh every morning

Store and Bakery, Corner George and Edinburgh, Sts.

December Coal 7.50 Per Ton Cash

YOU KNOW just what you need for the winter. Why delay? Order this month and save.

COAL For Every Purpose.

WOOD Any way you want it.

The Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Company, Limited

162 CHARLOTTE ST.
PHONE—Bell, 270-261. Mach., 270
134 AYLMER ST.
PHONE— . . . . Bell 238

Never Too Late To Put On

WEATHER STRIPS, like Fuel, are necessary in this climate. They keep the house cosy and warm, free from drafts and freezing, and save you fuel.

You won't be selfish if you spend the money necessary to fit Chamberlain's Metallic Weather Strips on your doors and windows.

With best wishes, etc.

A. J. LONGLAND Manager for Peterborough
537 HARVEY ST. - PHONE 1292

FIRE !

I am selling off my whole stock of New Boots and shoes at Fire Sale Prices. All reduced since the Fire. Come and get Footwear Bargains and Holiday Footwear at marked down prices while they last.

Robt. Di Bernardo

BROOKS BLOCK
Corner George and Sherbrooke Streets

Upholstering, Repairing, Etc. Vacuum Carpet Cleaning. Some god Sofas for sale

A. R. Jackson

420 Water Street

BELLEVILLE TRAIN WAS DELAYED

Accident at Birdsall's Station the Cause of It—Three Cars off the Track.

The Belleville train, due to leave here at twenty minutes to two, was delayed several hours yesterday, owing to an accident at Birdsall's station. Three cars of a freight train were off the track there. The auxiliary went through from Omemee about three o'clock and the Belleville train had to wait until the line was clear. It was half past three before it left here.

A MOST REMARKABLE CASE

My face was paralyzed, I could not speak; five doctors failed to help me and I was in despair when hearing of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I used this wonderful restorative treatment and became well and strong in every way. I would not go back to my former condition for all the gold in the country," writes Mr. Wm. J. Brennan, Western Hill, St. Catharines, Ont.

CHURCH SERVICES

CHARLOTTE ST.

There will be a special meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society to-night at 7 o'clock.

At the prayer service Mr. Gordon Horseley will speak of his work in the Northwest.

At 9 o'clock Rev. Mr. Henderson will take up the Sunday school lesson preparation.

Lame Back Cured

Just rub the painful spot with Nerviline; not much rubbing, because Nerviline is made to penetrate. You'll not suffer long after Nerviline is applied for it acts like lightning, swift and sure. Nerviline is good for everything a liniment ought to be good for—wherever there is pain. Apply Nerviline and the pain disappears.

No remedy so thoroughly cures lame back, stiff joints, sore muscles, lumbago, and cold in the chest as

Nerviline

The farmer, the mechanic, the man who works at hard labor, is subject to the baneful influence of dampness, fog, and inclement weather. It's hard for him to escape pain. What he needs at home is a bottle of Nerviline, which gives instant ease to every kind of pain.

Nerviline is about four times as strong as the ordinary liniment. It gets right at the core of pain and cures it as no other remedy can. So strong and concentrated is Nerviline that one application is always as good as six ordinary rubbings with other liniments. Try a large 25c bottle. Sold everywhere.

POST CARD COLUMN

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—I am a lady voter and as such do not express my opinions on public matters very often; at least through the press. However, on this occasion I feel it incumbent upon me to refer to the mayoralty contest and to point out to my sister voters that while both candidates are real nice men, Mr. Morrow appeals to the feminine ratepayer in a way that Mr. Mason cannot possibly do under the circumstances, and therefore is a more eligible candidate in more than one way.

Yours truly,
"A LADY VOTER."

P. S.—I am not in the matrimonial arena myself.

WEDDING BELLS

FAIRWEATHER—ROGERS.

A quiet but exceedingly pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Luke's church, Ashburnham, this afternoon at half past two when Miss Edna T. Rogers eldest daughter of Mr. R. B. Rogers, was united in marriage to Capt. Henry Ivan Fairweather, son of Col. C. H. Fairweather of Sussex, New Brunswick. The ceremony was performed by the rector, Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, M.A., in the presence of a large number of the relatives and friends of the bride and groom. At half past two, to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by the organist, Miss C. English, the bridal procession, headed by the two ushers, Messrs. Harry Rogers, of Toronto, and George Rogers, of Frankford, brothers of the bride, entered the church. The bride who was given away by her father, looked very pretty in a gown of white Brussels net over taffeta with trimmings of Duchess satin and lace. She wore a veil and orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of white carnations. The bridesmaid, Miss Lillian Rogers, sister of the bride, was becomingly attired in a dress of cream cashmere with silk trimmings. She wore a hat to match and carried pink carnations. The groom was ably supported by Mr. Herbert White, of this city.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the bridal party drove to the residence of the bride's father, 174 Hunter St. East, where hearty congratulations were bestowed upon the young couple and a recherche luncheon served.

Mr. and Mrs. Fairweather left on the 4.38 train for a honeymoon trip west. Mrs. Fairweather travelled in a brown tailored suit with hat to match and sable furs. On their return they will reside at Nassau, where Mr. Fairweather is electrician in the C. G. E. power house.

PRINCE RUPERT.

One of the most comprehensive unbiassed articles on Prince Rupert by a writer on the spot is an article by Mary Markwell, famous for her writings on Alpine climbing. She pictures and paints so that you see the thing through her description. To quote:

"We landed at Prince Rupert at 6 o'clock a.m., and the unloading of merchandise will go on until 2 p.m. The army of dockers were disemboweling the boat's hold as I walked over the gangway, and the dray men, numberless, were carrying stuff up the steep hill to the "town."

"I expected to find the morning showery, to see nothing but shacks and up ankle deep in slush, for it had been snowing all night. But the reputation of Prince Rupert has been sadly maligned. Some of the private residences stand on fine stone foundations, that cost upwards of $5,000.00; and it surprised me to learn that building lumber was sold at Vancouver prices."

"Real estate is dancing jigs in and around Prince Rupert. One purchaser of two lots paid $115.00 apiece and sold the same at $2,200.00 each. But this is fever-heat prices and speculation only. Another man bought a double corner lot, paying $6,800.00 and resold within a few weeks for $15,000.00, and the first payment had only been made. One has to judge for one's self as to the common sense of buying at fever-heat prices; but there's certainly limited acres to this hill-side town, which has sprung into existence from a forest of firs."

"To the north of Prince Rupert lies the Queen Charlotte group of islands with a fabulous wealth of farm lands, timber and rich placer mines. Coal in abundance in there inexhaustible, while the fisherics are already being developed by eager capitalists, largely Americans, I understand."

North, again, big mining camps already in active operations; mills, concentrators, trams, with assay valuations beyond belief. It is a new empire, drained by the Skeena and the great Naas rivers, whose output in fish alone reaches the figure of 1,250,000 annually."

"I would hesitate," the writer adds, "to advise working men and women to invest in Prince Rupert real estate, at the present hour, but the possibilities for wage earners are large."

We have completed arrangements with the leading chemists in Huddersfield, England, and Germany, Paris and France to supply us with the latest dye stuffs which we import direct. With the new process many things are possible which were not a year ago. Parker's Dye Works, 177 Charlotte St. R. M. Beach, Prop. tm 145

A FAIR MARKET

Holiday Business Has Not Yet Passed off the Scene.

The Wednesday market to-day was rather large, owing no doubt to the holiday time that is not yet spent. Butter was plentiful, eggs were rather scarce and a good supply of poultry was offered. The prices are about the same as were demanded last week.

For the Board of Education.

Your Vote, Influence and Support is respectfully solicited for the Re-election of

W. H. HILL

as a Member of the Board of Education. His Policy is now and has ever been Efficiency in the conduct of our Schools, which, in the interest of the Public, is the true policy.

Notice To Voters

Every citizen whose name appears in the Voters' List for 1910 is entitled to vote for THE PETERBOROUGH LIGHT and POWER COMPANY BY-LAW. VOTE for the By-law and help to reduce the price of Light.

Heavy Fur Coat Time

Ladies' and Men's Fur Coats

Not How Cheap—but How Good. Quality Remains Long After Price is Forgotten.

E. N. McWILLIAMS

374 George St. - Peterborough

How Would You Like Your

Tan Shoes

Changed to

BLACK?

We can do the trick for you. We colour them a good black to stay black. Send them in.

Soft Felt Hats

Cleaned to Look Like New

YEOTES BROS

SHOE SHINE PARLOURS

GEORGE STREET

Your favourite Polish on Sale

A New Year's Resolution

"I purpose buying my Footwear for 1910 at

R. McWHINNIE'S

BOTH PHONES, 384 GEORGE ST

Brock St. Rink

Season 1909-10

Tickets for the season entitling the holder to a skating privileges, on sale Monday, Dec. 13th, at F. R. Clarke & Son, E. N. McWilliams, W. A. Sanderson, W. Madill, Payne's Drug Store, McDermid & Jury, and at the rink.

Gentlemen ...$3.00
Ladies 2.00
Youths 16 to 18..$2
Boys under 16, 1.50
Girls 1.50

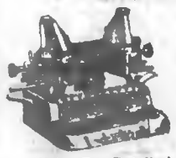
BEST CHINESE LAUNDRY

169 SIMCOE ST. PETERBOROUGH

Orders telephoned to Mr. George Record promptly filled. Ladies' and gentlemen's washing at moderate rates Parcels called for and delivered.

Have You Seen the New Model OLIVER No. 5 Typewriter ?

A Nugget of Gold from the Mine of Experience



It Establishes A NEW STANDARD

Write For Detailed Description

Peterboro' Typewriter Co.

Phone 655 180 SIMCOE STREET

DOMINION CHINESE

328 George CAFE 328 George

Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch, don't forget to call at

283 George St. HARRY HAMILTON

Ice Cream and Soft Drinks.

Christmas is Next

If you intend sending Photographs as Christmas Gifts do not delay arranging for sittings at W. G. LENDRUM'S Ground Floor Studio. 170 Charlotte Street.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

THE LATEST NEWS OF SPORT — TOLD IN BRIEF FORM

KEENE BEAT A SCRATCH WEST END TEAM LAST NIGHT

The West End City League team sent a scratch team to Keene last night for an exhibition game with the visitors. Only one or two of the regulars were on the line-up and they were defeated 10 to 22. A Keene report of the game is as fololws:

Keene, Dec. 28.

Keene Hockey Club and West Ends of Peterborough met this evening in an exhibition game, Keene winning by a score of 10 to 2.

The game, considering the fact that both teams have had but little practice, was fast and interesting. The Peterborough team were somewhat handicapped by the size of the ice. The game was a clean one throughout, there being but one penalty and that for a minor offence. These teams will likely meet in a game in Peterborough on Thursday evening, Dec. 30th.

The line-up was as follows:

Keene		West Ends
H. Weir	Goal	Dawson
Dickson	Point	Munroe
MacDougall	Cover	Taylor
Short	Rover	Lynch
B. Weir	Centre	Rose
McIntyre	R. Wing	Cameron
McCarthy	L. Wing	Richardson

Referee—J. R. McIntyre, Keene.

Goal Umpires—D. McCarthy, Keene, Geo. Hoocy, Peterborough.

ANOTHER LETTER FROM MR. LASTAR

This letter and any others that may follow, under the signature of Mr. Lastar, are independent of any other party or parties, and are paid for by him for their insertion.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

In reference to the statements I have made, I will prove that some of the speakers for local option have made statements that are not correct. Starting with the speaker who is supposed to be a professor and delegate of the International Association in London. He represented himself as a great mathematician, as he was giving some great figures at the time of the meeting. In his speech he made two statements, that I will deal with. The first one was that liquor was a curse 4,000 years before Christ. According to his statement, it would have been bentficial if local option had been passed 4,000 years before Christ. Now after studying this statement, where I can only go by Biblical history, where the creation of the world started with Adam and Eve and that is 5,670 years since the world has been created. Now we have 1910 years after Christ. S oit leaves us 3,76 0years to the beginning of the creation of the world. Then we have the first drunkard in Bible history, which was Noah, and this was 1,656 years after the creation of the world. So if you will just take up those figures, you will find, that according to the statements made by the speaker, local option should have been passed 240 years before the world was created, or 1896 years before the first drunkard was on record. Now would you take this ground, and these statements to pass local option here. The next statement was:—that the population of France has decreased in population since the last fifty years of account of th euse of strong liquor. Now let me tell that speaker, and everyone who is supporting him; that everyone who has studied the prosperity of the nations will find that the population of France has decreased in the last fifty years, not from the use of strong drink, but because of the unnatural race suicide. By using every artificial means to prevent increasing the population. And there is at the present time no man in the Government giving any prizes, nor limiting the rate of taxation, for stopping the use of strong liquor. But the most prominent men of France, and the Government itself, are giving special prizes for homes with the largest families and who will bastain from race suicide. And the Government went so far as to pass a law that those men with the largest families will be given a limited rate of taxation. They have not given any prizes discouraging the use of liquor. So you can see that this statement is absolutely incorrect.

Now the next speaker; the waterwagon man certainly amused the audience by cracking some jokes, and telling stories of all kinds, in parts where negroes and miners are. But there was only one question that really interested us in Peterborough; and this was like himself and the speaker Mr. Gibson and Gov. Glenn have asked.—Why do the hotel-men kick about the passing of local option when they say that more liquors are sold under loca loption than under the license law. No other business would do the same. The hotel-men are conscientious and they will not see the people use too much liquor even when they see that they would have a more prosperous business. Now this question took up very much of my attention; and by studying it what conclusion did I come to? The hotelmen do not want to sell liquor illegally, and although now they are complying with the laws, rules and regulations of their country, and are contributing the necessary fees to conduct their business; then there would be dozens in the same business and who would not be contributing one cent to the community, and who would be doing th esame business without any cost. And by this those hotelmen are ruined and robbed of what they have. No compensaton has been given to one of the mwhen their business is taken from them, so that is the reason why th ehotelmen are kicking.

Now the next speaker was a lawyer from Toronto. And what did he say. He proved to you that no other business had such restrictions as the hotel business. He mentioned all kinds of business; but he forgot to mention the drug business. Now no men who is not a reliable and responsible man can conduct a drug store. Why? Because a druggist sells poisons, and mixes medicines that represent poisons, and a man has to be a qualified man to conduct a drug business. Now I would say the same thing in regard to the hotels. Do not give any license to men who are not reliable and responsible men, because liquor when used to excess is just as poisonous as some of those in the drug store. If you will do with the hotel men the same as you are doing with the druggists, the hotel will be just as safe as the drug store.

Then the next speaker was the Rev. Smith. He said, if a man is bound to have his drink; by all means let him have it a thome and drink himself to death, and that we would not prevent him from taking liquor home. Well now that is a point where I am sure now if you will agree with him, and that is just what I would like to prevent. In the first place we don't want any man to get dead drunk, but by saving him and inducing him to abstain from the use of liquors, and to influence him to take the pledge not to touch liquor nor bring it to his home. In this way we will save the next generation.

The next speaker was the Owen Sound man, Mr. Ireland, with whom I have already dealt. He certainly did not make a creditable showing.

Then there was another Toronto lawyer. He said that half of the population of our cities in Canada could not get a drink if they wanted it. That means, as far as I can understand that half th epopulation are on the blacklist. Before he made that statement he should have come here, and made sure how many men were on the blacklist. We are certainly not in that class. We have only from a population of 17,000, 64 men on the blacklist. So his statement could not be of any value to us. But it is the same wrth all those speakers. They only come here and tell you irresponsible stories, and some of them very sad of things and happening sthat we never have here.

Therefor, I certainly think when all those speakers would know the real standing of the people of Peterborough ,they would not advocate any local option by-law for us. And I am surprised at those moral workers who ought to know, well, the standing of Peterborough that they should bring those kind of men here, who give addresses suitable only for drunkards and criminals.

I therefor, people of Peterborough, leave to your own good judgment how far you can take their statements; and I hope you will act accordingly.

Yours truly,

B. LASTAR.

New life for a quarter. Miller's Compound Iron Pills.—Wm. Madill, Druggist.

LATEST CITY NEWS.

Open Meeting.

There will be an open Thanksgiving service in Knox church to-night at 8 o'clock.

Women's Missinary Society.

To-morrow afternoon at 3.30 o'clock the closing meeting of Knox Church Women's Missionary Society will be held.

Choir Will Practise.

The Charlotte St. Methodist church choir will meet for rehearsal to-morrow, Thursday evening. Every member is expected to be on hand at half past seven sharp.

We Repair and Clean Clothing.

The gay winter season is here with its many social functions. Let us take your dresses and wraps, repair and clean them so they will look like new. We make a specialty of repairing winter overcoats. W. B. Rickey, "My Valet," 204 Charlotte St. Phone 575.

A Superior Gift.

—Exceptional quality of tone and brilliancy; nothing superior ,and few equals, constructed for durability, to last a life time and improve with use, The Celebrated Karn Pianos; 171 Simcoe street. Terms to suit purchasers; inspection invited. Reynor and Cunningham.

Dennistoun's Xmas.

—Tags, Xmas. Seals, Xmas. Gum Labels, large and varied assortment of the best designs; regular price 10c for 5c. Holly-covered empty boxes for sending away gifts at half price. The biggest and best Holly Box of Note Paper and Envelopes, regular 25c for 5c, at Stratton's Retiring Sale. Everything must be sold before Xmas. Shop in the morning.—A. H. Stratton & Co.

What We Manufacture.

The Peterborough Showcase Co., situated at 709 Water street, manufactures all designs of counter cases, silent salesmen showcases, wall cases, store fittings, and all designs of high-grade cabinet work, such as china cabinets, kitchen cabinets, music cabinets, writing desks, book cases, medicine cases, etc. Furniture made to order and repaired. Dealers in British plate glass and mirrors. All sizes. Second-hand silent salesman for sale. Corner Smith and Water streets. Call and see the works.

Christmas Party.

St. John's Sunday School scholars and teachers are reminded that their Christmas party will assemble to-morrow (Thursday) night at 7.30 p.m. Teachers are asked to be on time to greet their class members at 7.15 p.m.

Teachers and scolars only at this party. Parents and friends are cordially invited to a New Year's gala night on Tuesday, Jan 4th, when a lovely succession of numbers will be presented with staging, and electric light effects. Will the members of the congregation kindly help along the good work by sending along a plentiful supply of cakes, which will be gladly received at the schoolhouse on Thursday at 4 p.m.

BREAD DOWN!

Standard 3lb. Loaf 10c

22 Tickets for $1.00

LUSH & SONS,—Bread Bakers' 241 Dublin St.—phone 511

"Ad Libitum" Writes Objections To The Light and Power By-law

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I did not see in any of the nomination speeches one word about the "Ward System" or Power By-laws. I looked anxiously for their opinions. The Power By-law unquestionably favours the rich man—the labouring classes are not considered. Can the city give a domestic service in case the Company becames extortionate in their charges? I answer, no. The poor man, who pays the burden of the taxes would have to pay, the major portion of the Company's revenue as well. Do the citizens of Peterborough think that the Company will keep any one of the first five clauses of their agreement? Not unless they are positively compelled to do so. Has the R. Ry. Co. filled in between the tracks on all streets, as they agreed to do when they got the franchise some few years ago? No, again! And if they did not keep the old agreement, do you think, Mr. Editor, they will keep the new one? I say no, again. All of these large corporations are the same. Clause 10 is only a blind, and will never be kept, in fact. It would be out of all reason to expect it to be kept. Clause 12 is exorbitant. No man has any right to pay for more than he uses, and why should a man pay for $9.00 worth of light if he does not use it. It is not good business to do so. Clause 12 (b) $3.00 per year for a 16 c.p. lamp is also exorbitant. The whole by-law tinges with "Let us get possession and then!" "What we have we hold," and come back in five or six years again for a fresh foot-hold. Have this Company lived up to this agreement so far. Not in the least, and they won't do so in the future, unless the electors say "No," on January 3rd "We will not listen to one word of it." Why was not the matter of the gas mains included in this By-law? Do the Company own the streets? You would think so by the way they act. Vote against the By-law and show this aggregation that we, the citizens of Peterborough, own the streets.

Now the "Ward System" By-law. Some will tell you that by going back to the Ward System, we are showing ourselves up, and that just as we got a two-year term passed by Legislature, we are wanting a change again. Who was it that asked for the "two year term" for the Councillors? Was it the electors? or was it the "cabinet" in the Council? It certainly was not the electors and it would never have gone to the Legislature if the electorate had had their say, and one of the Councillors who is coming forward, seeking for the franchise of the electors, tried hard to put what the Parliamentarian calls "the closure" on the electorate this year, on this very question of the "Ward System." Let him stay at home, fellow electors, and put "the closure" on him, and, by the way, he is also going around town, asking voters to support him, and him only. When you mark your ballots on Monday be sure to leave his space vacant and teach this kind of a candidate a lesson. The Ward System would settle this kind of a candidate in earnest. What right has a man in one ward, to vote for a representative to another ward. None what ever; any more than I have a right to vote for all the representatives for the House of Commons all over Canada in a Dominion election.

"Vote for the Ward System By-law—working men—and get fair representation in the Council."

Yours, etc.,

"AD LIBITUM."

The Examiner publishes the letter of "Ad Libitum" because in an intelligent discussion of a subject both sides should be heard. Our correspondent's letter is open to criticism, for the spirit it manifests—an unreasoning hostility to a corporation, evidently because it is a corporation; and because of the evident aim to arouse a class spirit and set one section against another. As to corporations, the whole industrial fabric of the city is founded upon corporations. The bread and butter of thousands of working men and of their families depend upon the employment offorded by corporations. There is hardly a manufacturing industry, nor a public utility that is not managed by a corporation—an incorporated company. In this case, instead of a coporation being hostile to the working man it is his best friend. There is a common bond of interest, the corporation cannot do without the working man, nor the working men without the corporation. As to the Light and Power Company, that is necessary in the matter of what it supplies to the city, and the company could not exist without the city, which will gain by placing the Company in a position to give an improved and cheaper service.

What is the Light and Power Co. asking that it should be attacked and berated as a greedy engine of tyranny and oppression? It simply asks a thirty-year franchise, in order that it may sell its bonds to better advantage to raise money to make improvements and extensions. Where is there anything in that to injure the city or oppress any citizen or class of citizens? In return for this privilege the Company makes many concessions all in the interests of the citizens, as recounted yesterday. The conditions remove every trace of monopoly and guarantee competition, if desired, even by the city itself.

Now, a word or two as to "Ad Libitum's" specific charges, which seem to have proceeded either from prejudice or a misunderstanding of the terms of the by-law. He asserts that the by-law "favours the rich man, the labouring classes are not considered."

This is a misunderstanding. The Peterborough rate is 7 cents per kilowatt, with no meter rent. The rate in St. Catharines, the lowest in the province, outside of Peterborough, under the new by-law, is 4.95 cents per kilowatt with a meter rate of 25 cetns per month. This is the case of a moderate user like "Ad Libitum's" "labouring classes." who are "not considered" is a considerably higher rate than in Peterborough. Any man using light to the amount of $15 or less gets a cheaper light at 7 cents per kilo. and no meter rent than the St. Catharines rate gives. From $15 a year and up the Peterborough rate would rule a little higher than St. Catharines. Thus the rich man "who is favoured," pays a higher rate because he uses a much larger amount of light.

In answer to another charge, it may be said that there is nothing in the by-law to prevent the city from doing domestic or street lighting, or any kind of lighting, if it chooses, to do so.

"The Company cannot become extortionate in its charges." Clause 13 provides for the adjustment of rates periodically by the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board and if excessive, the Board can cut them down.

It is alleged that Clause 12 is "exorbitant—no man has any right to pay for more than he uses." In this clause the Company agrees in addition to an increased discount of five per cent. to reduce the minimum metre rate from $... to $9 per year. Toronto proposes a rate of ten cents per room per month, and, in addition, a meter rent. In a house of 9 rooms this means 90 cents per month, plus a meter rate, which, at 25 cents per month, means a total of $13.80, as against $9 for a similar service, in Peterborough, distributed over the whole year, including metre rate on amount used, so that the small user is distinctly favoured. As to a man paying for what he does not use, it is only necessary to point out that a water rate is charged according to the number of rooms in a house. As to lighting, a Company has to have some return for its investment, and is compelled in self defence, to charge a minimum rate large enough to pay expenses.

It is charged that the Company has not lived up to its agreement. Contrtry to what is charged, the Company has lived up to its agreement in maintaining the street between its tracks in as good condition as the adjacent street. As to the extension of the street railway, the city has been wise in not enforcing the agreement. The railway is not paying a dividend nor the interest on its bonds, and did not extend because it had not the money. If the city crowded the railway too closely it would have to go out of business, and we should be reduced to the inglorious position of having an "underground railway," as we had when the enterprise of the present Company dug it up out of the ... possed ...q ... Company can raise money, and the city extensions for the coming summer can and will be built.

The Company does not "own the streets," nor seek to own them. It requests a long-term franchise as a matter of financing its bonds. It does not ask an exclusive franchise; does not ask sole control of the poles it erects—they will be available for use by the city or by another company.

The ratepayers are asked to think over the matter without passion or prejudice. If they do so they will see that, while the Company will gain an advantage in selling its bonds, the ratepayers and the city generally will gain decided advantages; they will see that while the defeat of the by-law will handicap the company it will mean a greater loss to the city.

For Board of Education

Having been nominated for the Board of Education, I have decided to become a candidate, and I therefore take this opportunity of soliciting your Vote and Influence.

Yours Respectfully,

J. W. MILLER

Your Vote and Influence

For Re-election of

W. F. NELSON

on the Board of Education for 1910.

TALBOT'S Delicatessen

TWO STORES

We wish to impress upon the minds of housekeepers that we always have an abundant supply

OF

FRESH FISH

FRESH HADDOCK FINAN HADDIE

FRESH SALMON FRESH WHITE FISH

in addition to our regular supply

OF

BEST BEEF BEST PORK

BEST LAMB BEST VEAL

Also, Fresh Oysters, Canned Goods, Allan's Cider, Chopped Suet, Mince Meat.

A.L. TALBOT

243 George St. Phone 736

410-12 George St., Phone 332

d-3m-65

LOWER PRICES THAN EVER.

Our Credit Sale will be continued all this week

Men and Women who require Winter Clothing have a good chance this week to buy Ready-to-Wear Garments at the very Lowest Prices before New Year's.

We offer extraordinary Bargains in -

Ladies' Coats

Just a few left, and they go at Half Price. Made in the new 1909 styles and in the best and most popular cloths.

In Men's Suits

A Reduction of 25 per cent. off, this week only.

Housefurnishings

Such as Curtains, Floor Coverings, Rugs, Table Coverings, House Linens, and many other lines at Low Prices.

Special Bargains in Blankets and Furs this week.

Our Terms Suit All—Cash or Credit

The Knickerbocker Co.

422 George Street Opposite Examiner Office

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, SATUR., JAN. 1

(J. J. Turner & Sons, Owners and Managers) Matinee and Night

Special New Year's Offering. Clarence Bennett Productions, Inc., present

Canada's Favourite Funmaker, MR. GEORGE H. SUMMERS,

in the Great Cook-Peary Play

"Under the North Star"

or "A Dash for the Pole." A Superbe of Scenic Splendour.

Interspersed with Pathos, Humour and Stirring Climaxes.

Prices : Matinee—25c, 35c, 50c. Children, 15c. Evening—25c, 35c, 50c, and 75c.

4d-130 Reserved Seat Sale opens Thursday Morning.

Kidney and Liver Medicated Pads

Cure all Kidney and Urinary Weakness, Pains in back, Lumbago, Rheumatic, Neuralgia, All Liver and Stomach complaints. All Female weakness, painful and irregular periods. Men, Women and Children are benefitted alike. Price one pair one dollar. But to quickly introduce will mail with first order One Pair Free—that is two pairs on receipt of this advertisment and one dollar. Order to-day this cheap and reliable treatment. 4

Address—THE MEDICATED PAD COMPANY

90 VICTORIA AVE., WINDSOR, ONT., CANADA

The Aftermath of Christmas Business!

Christmas Selling always leaves us with many broken lines and odd articles, which we dispose of during this season at a big reduction from regular price.

These are a few of the lines which bear the reduced prices :

Plain and Fancy Handkerchiefs
Silk Initial Handkerchiefs
Fancy Boxed Frills
Fancy Evening Scarfs
Leather Hand Bags and Purses
Fancy Neckwear and Collars
Muslin, Silk and Net Blouses
Golf Coats and Jackets
Ladies' and Children's Coats
Fancy Belts in Boxes
Plain and Fancy Dress Silks
Many Lines of Dress Goods
Fancy Drawn Work Linens
Battenburg Art Linens
Knitted Wool Gloves
Wool and Fur Lined Gloves

If you have neglected some person or receive an unexpected gift, you can reciprocate at very little cost by visiting this store to-day.

ROBERT FAIR & CO.

383 GEORGE STREET : : LIMITED

Window Shades. Curtain Poles

THE GOLDEN LION STORE

DR. YOUNG
305 Stewart St., Peterborough
SPECIALTIES—Surgery and Diseases of Children
Both Phones 347 lydw

The Evening Examiner.

HARRISON FISHER'S latest picture and calendar going quickly. Select your present at once and let us Frame for you. Our Factory is working Day and Night.
Pillsworths' Picture & Art Store, 430 George Street

VOL. XLVII No. 152 | 12 PAGES | PETERBOROUGH THURSDAY DECEMBER 30 1909 | PAGES 1 TO 6 | PRICE TWO CENTS

Eye Help for the Long Evenings

Reading and Fancy Work will soon make eyes busy at sitting room and library table. All right if the eyes are perfect. Alright if the troublesome eyes have the needed help. So easy to hurt the eyes—so easy to help them if you start in time. Our optical specialist will fit your exact need if glasses will help you. Then if you wish we will supply the perfect lenses set in whatever frame you choose. Prices will vary from $1 to $12 per pair. We replace broken lenses with or without prescription, at 50c to $3 each. Solder repairs 25c to 35c. Frames 25c to $5.

J. W. BROWETT Optical Specialist, Teacher of Opticians. Graduate of Optical Colleges of Montreal, Toronto, Philadelphia, New York, Chicago and Detroit.

MANY APPOINTMENTS ARE MADE FOR DAY OR EVENING EXAMINATIONS BY TELEPHONE— BELL 1221, MACHINE 7.

Over twenty years experience in examing Eyes for Glasses.

The Peterborough Optical Institute
IN THE MARKET BUILDING : : : GEORGE STREET

A RETURN GIFT

On New Years Day will be appreciated by those you forget to remember during the rush of Christmas. If the gift you want is for a man, there is no other such stock—so such variety—no satisfying assortment of suitable things, such as Neckwear, Shirts, Underwear, Gloves, Hosiery, Braces, Handkerchiefs, to be found elsewhere in Peterborough.

H. LeBRUN & CO.

Peterborough Music Company
Special Inducements for the Christmas Season in Pianos & Organs

We carry in stock the high-class DOMINION, MARTIN-ORME, BELL and MASON & RISCH PIANOS, and the old favourite BELL, DOMINION and THOMAS ORGANS—the cream of the trade.

It is surprising the number of suggestions you find here—Phonographs Violins, Banjos, Guitars, Accordeons, Piccolos, Flutes, Autoharps, Mandolins Harmonicas, Music Portfolios, Music Rolls, Sheet Music—all specially priced for the Christmas trade.

J. P. CUNNINGHAM - PROPRIETOR
404 George Street. 2 Doors North of Hunter Street.

Make Christmas Day a Merry One

Navel Oranges	Mixed Candy
Mexican Oranges	Cream Candy
Table Raisins	Chocolates
Almonds	Dates
Walnuts	Figs
Filberts	Malaga Grapes
Brazil Nuts	Lemons
York Ginger Ale	York Springs Soda Water.

E. F. MASON & CO., Grocers

R. A. DUTTON

Wishes his many customers a Happy and Prosperous New Year

R. A. DUTTON, 420 George St. Telephones 304
GROCER AND FRUITERER

Never Too Late To Put On

WEATHER STRIPS, like Fuel, are necessary in this climate. They keep the house cosy and warm, free from drafts and freezing, and save you fuel.

You won't be selfish if you spend the money necessary to fit Chamberlain's Metallic Weather Strips on your doors and windows.

With best wishes, etc.

A. J. LONGLAND Manager for Peterborough
537 HARVEY ST. - PHONE 1202

Upholstering, Repairing,

Etc. Vacuum Carpet Cleaning. Some good Sofas for sale

A. R. Jackson
430 Water Street

PATENTS
PROCURED ON EASY TERMS.
TRADE MARKS AND COPYRIGHTS

Books and advice free. Highest references. 9 years experience. We are registered attorneys Send sketch or your invention for free opinion as to patentability.

CRISWELL & CRISWELL
903 F. ST., N. W., WASHINGTON, D. C. or Residence New York City.

LUMBER

And Builders' Materials of all kinds Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Casing, and Base and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE
Point St. Charles Mills

ROYAL

If you want to enjoy an hour's pleasant and innocent amusement seeing good pictures and good vaudeville come to the Royal.

Special Vaudeville for To-day

Backe's Dogs & Musical Act

This is the best Musical Act yet seen at the Royal. Mr. and Mrs. Backe will appear with their Trained Dogs in this wonderful act. Do not miss seeing them.

MOTION PICTURES

"WHEN WOMAN WINS"—This is indeed one of the funniest comedies, showing what will happen this world of ours when women vote & take man's place on earth.

"THE RUBBER MAN"—Another very funny & amusing comedy showing what happened to a rubber automatum whose wires got crossed and things got mixed. It will make you laugh.

Her Dramatic Career—One of Pathe's latest and best dramas, telling a most pathetic story of the troubles of an unfortunate poor woman and how she outlives them and lives a happy life.

— NEW ILLUSTRATED SONG —

5c—ADMISSION—5

PHONE 679

Same To You!

Peterborough's High-Class Men's-Wear Shop

THE SHOP FOR MEN

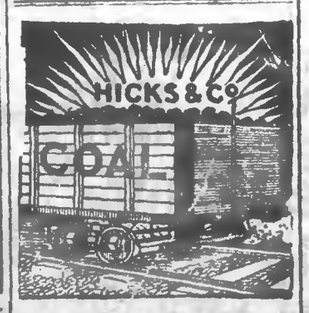
Repeating what we have so often said. Our stock of Men's Furnishings contains everything that a good dresser might ask for.

Our quality and prices are always right.

Our careful attention to your wants is unsurpassed.

We solicit your patronage.

Fashion Craft



D. L. & W. SCRANTON COAL

THE FUEL WITHOUT A FAULT

First-Class Hardwood Cut and Split to order

R. Hicks & Co.

Office and Yards—248 Murray Street
'Phones Nos. 47 and 48.

Cash Paid for Second-Hand Furniture

Bargains in good Second-Hand Stoves, Heaters and Cookstoves, and other household goods at

BARRETT'S
303 George Street South of Charlotte

THIS DEATH MYSTERIOUS

Inquest Into Death of James Moore, Who Died on Dec. 21, Shows That Injuries Were Occasioned by Considerable Violence — Room-mate Named Hope Cannot Be Found —Inquiry Is Adjourned.

Toronto, Dec. 30.—Contradictory evidence was given at the continuation of the inquest on James Moore, who was found dead at 144 Peter street, Dec. 22, at the morgue last night.

Mrs. Isabella Slater, proprietor of the rooming-house, said she heard a thud about 3 o'clock in the morning, which sounded as though someone fell downstairs. She thought Moore fell from the top to the bottom without striking any of the intermediate steps. She then heard Moore's voice say: "Oh Lord." Then she thought she heard Hope, the man with whom he roomed, drag him upstairs to his bed. She heard no quarreling, but heard the two men talking for the next two hours.

Dr. Fred Winnett, who made the post mortem examination, said four ribs were fractured and each was broken in two places. The man's liver had been lacerated by the blow. He described it as having been pounded into a pulp. The tearing of the liver caused a hemorrhage. He thought a broad, padded body caused the wound. Why he thought it was padded was because there were no abrasions. He did not think it could have been caused by a fall downstairs. It could have been caused by falling on a banister. A man could have inflicted the wound with his knee. He did not think the man could have lived more than fifteen minutes after receiving the injury. He swore that in his opinion the man could not have lived over half an hour after having been hurt.

Mrs. Slater interjected that she heard Moore groan and say, "Oh, God," every time he moved for the two hours subsequent to the thud.

Charles Haslam, a roomer there, said he heard a thud which sounded like a man falling out of bed. He heard talking and it sounded as though it came from their room.

Wm. Kohr, another roomer, heard a thud which awakened him. He said the sound came from the room occupied by deceased and his friend. The noise sounded as though a man fell from the bed. He heard someone say, "Oh Lord," and then someone said, in a kindly tone of voice, "Come on and get back to bed."

Mrs. Conn, 112 Peter street, said Moore had a wife and three children in Ireland.

Hope, the man who was living with Moore, and who disappeared the morning of the death, has not been heard from since. The police are endeavoring to locate him. The enquiry was adjourned until Jan. 7, to enable them to find Hope.

Dr. John T. Clarke was the coroner and T. L. Monahan appeared for the crown.

No Use For Modern Languages.

Ithaca, N.Y., Dec. 30.—"What is the use of retaining the study of German and French and other modern foreign languages? What are the grounds for maintaining them? If you exclude college and university teachers, probably not one in 500 who have learned the languages will ever use them or could if they were called upon to do so."

President Jacob Gould Schurman of Cornell University suggested the radical change in college curriculum implied in the above words, in speaking before the convention of the Modern Language Association of America here yesterday.

OLD STING IS MISSING

Accident to His Knee Robs Unionists of One of Their Most Powerful Leaders—Tory Press Bitterly Laments the Lack of Men to Lead the Battle For the Lords—Polling Will Not Start Before Jan. 15.

London, Dec. 30.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The Unionists maintain that the Liberals have exhausted their budget ammunition and that the attacks on the Lords are falling flat, while, on the contrary, tariff reform is booming, even in Lancashire. Be this as it may, many Unionist hearts have undoubtedly emitted a sigh that, for a fortnight they could have the old-time Chamberlain. Especially is this the case now that Milner is hors-de-combat, as he is the most powerful advocate of tariff reform. Since he is absent from the field, the Unionist campaign is more than ever a "Soldiers Battle."

Another prominent Tory paper yesterday laments the disparity between the parties in the matter of leaders and bitterly regrets that the Unionist chiefs "failed to follow the sagacious example of their opponents in making available for highest services those whose talents are not with birth and wealth."

Joseph Chamberlain's manifesto to his constituents breathes but little of the fire so dreaded by his opponents a few years back. He says, "I cannot think the budget will secure your support. It taxes unequally men of equal means and throws the whole burden of taxation on our own people, without even attempting to secure any contribution from foreigners. I believe its effect will be to lessen the amount of employment and thereby aggravate the distress already so bitterly felt."

He maintains that the Lords did not go beyond their duty in rejecting the budget and believes the time is ripe for tariff reform, because "we now have the opportunity of securing more largely the trade of our sister states and our colonies, which are willing to meet us if we consent to a reciprocal system equally advantageous to them and to us."

The present Government, in continuing free trade, actuated by prejudice alone, "If we throw away this opportunity," he says, "I do not think any other will come to us. We shall have lost altogether the chance which is now ours."

The great protagonist of a fiscal change also urges the danger of home rule and declares that the naval preparations are insufficient.

The campaign is in full swing. The Unionists endeavored to hold a great demonstration at Carnarvon, Wales, but the Chancellor's supporters reduced it to an uproar.

Walter Long strongly urged tariff reform and preference at Sleaford, while Lord Rothschild, in order to reassure the elderly voters, personally guaranteed all the old age pensions in Buckinghamshire, if the Unionists were returned to power. These pensions are one of the Liberals' strongest cards.

Postmaster-General Buxton and other Cabinet Ministers and lesser stars continued the Government's fight, emphasizing constitutional issue, advocating the budget proposals and ridiculing naval scares.

The writs will be issued that no polling will be possible before Jan. 15.

The Mail thinks the Unionists prospects, are good in the midlands, where the Liberals now hold 44 seats and the Unionists 32.

The Express says that of the present Labor members, 14 hold safe seats, 14 are doubtful and 15 will lose.

The Liberal press is pulling the leg of The Times. One paper criticizes its Toronto correspondent for saying pretty plainly that the increasing preponderance of foreign population in the Canadian West cannot be kept loyal to the Empire unless it is given a bribe in the shape of a tax on the food of the people of Great Britain. This, it says, is imperial thinking which one may believe has slandered the people of Canada, to characterize it adequately.

Another paper remarks that its mammoth supplement published Tuesday, to the glorification of South America, than which, The Times says, fewer portions of the globe offer richer reward to the capitalists, is a hint to the judicious to accelerate that exodus of British capital which the tariff reformers lament, couple with The Times' undisguised pride in the fact that British capital has had a great deal to do with the development of Latin America. This is all amusedly pointed out.

At Rugby, Lord Salisbury said he thought that it was a pity to have two elected bodies to govern the country. An independent body was wanted with a great sense of responsibility in doing its utmost to interpret the wishes of the country.

Doctors Prolong Patients' Illness.

Philadelphia, Dec. 30.—Charges that some physicians deliberately prolong the period of illness of patients in order to increase their income are made by Dr. Joseph S. Neff, director of the Department of Health and Charities, who offers this reason for the increase in diphtheria for the present year. He says they neglect to use anti-toxin.

Prosperous New Brunswick.

Fredericton, N.B., Dec. 30.—The provincial financial statement for the past fiscal year was published yesterday in The Royal Gazette, and shows ordinary expenditures of $1,265,381, as compared with $1,042,196 last year, while receipts show a big increase, and amount to $1,259,286, leaving a balance of about $4,600

Family Re-unions At Christmas

Don't neglect the opportunity to have a group taken. It may not come again.

The Roy Studio
140½ Hunter Street
MAKERS OF THE FAMOUS SOUVENIR POST CARDS

FOUR FIRES WERE COSTLY

Town Near Sault Ste. Marie Loses Half of Its Business Section—New Water Service Proves a Blessing —Loss Estimated at a Hundred Thousand — Galt Bookstore Is Gutted—Kingston Explosion.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Dec. 30.—As a result of a disastrous fire at Thessalon, starting at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, about half of the business section is now in ruins.

The fire started in the Wilson Printing Co.'s office from an unknown cause and spread rapidly both ways. Most of the business houses were constructed of wood, and although no wind was blowing the flames met practically no opposition, although the fire brigade, assisted by those of Saginaw and Thessalon Lumber Companys, fought valiantly. The town has but recently installed a water service and yesterday's fire proved that it was a boon to the place, otherwise the entire town would have gone up.

The loss is figured by insurance men last night at $100,000, and may largely exceed this figure. Many Soo insurance men are interested, but no statement of risks carried can be obtained until the ruins have been inspected.

Business houses destroyed are: Wilson Printing Co.; Argue's gents' furnishings; Lonis' candy store; Fleaher's tobacco store and poolroom; Bateman's clothing store; Fulton's butcher shop; White's barber shop.

Galt Book Store Burned.

Galt, Dec. 30.—Frank Austen, book, stationery and fancy goods store in the Buchanan block was completely gutted by fire yesterday; loss $8,000.

The fire originated in the basement and made rapid progress after the firemen forced the windows to get access to the fire, which appeared to be located near the hot air furnace among most combustible materials. The contents of the store were valued at $8,000, and are a total loss. They were insured for $6,500, as follows: Economical, $1,000; Anglo-American, $2,000; Montreal-Canada, $2,000; Wellington, $1,500. The loss to building, about $300, is covered by insurance. Brown & Tait, hardware merchants and Oak Hall Clothing, the adjoining stores on either side, suffered slightly from smoke.

Barn Burns.

Deseronto, Dec. 30.—A barn, owned by William Brown, and containing two hundred bushels of grain, one hundred bushels of roots and one cow, was totally destroyed by fire Tuesday night. Loss estimated at $1,000; insurance $400.

Gas Meter Exploded.

Kingston, Dec. 30.—An overheated furnace in the drygoods house of Crumley & Co. caused the blowing up of a gas meter and a fire, which caused $5,000 damage.

Lincoln Museum Burned.

Danville, Ills., Dec. 30.—The old war museum, where President Lincoln had his office when he was riding the circuit, as an attorney, burned yesterday. The museum contained many valuable relics.

96 Head of Cattle Burned.

Kingston, N.Y., Dec. 30.—The large cattle barns of R. Hume, near Hobart, were burned yesterday, with ninety-six head of cattle.

Privations of One Family.

Ottawa, Dec. 30.—A terrible story of distress from the silver country has been brought out by miners who came down Lake Temiskaming on the last boat. On board were three small children named Lamarche, who were being taken to a Montreal orphanage by a Quebec gentleman surveyor, who found them in a shack near a settlement called Fabre. The father had gone in search of work, the mother was insane, and the grandmother in a dying condition. There was no food in the place, and the hut was also devoid of a floor or door. The family was in a half-frozen and starved condition when found.

May Lose His Right Arm.

Buffalo, N.Y., Dec. 30.—While a score of workmen and police officers worked for two hours to release him, Lawrence W. Smith, aged 31, of Collingwood, Ont., first assistant engineer on the steamer Tionesta, lay pinioned under an air pump on the big Anchor Line steamer yesterday. He is at the Emergency Hospital, in danger of losing his right arm.

Killed While Walking Track.

Niagara Falls, Dec. 30.—Charles Stewart, a section man, found the frozen body of a man alongside the G.T.R. tracks, four miles west, yesterday afternoon, which was identified as that of Arthur Bell, aged 35, son of Joseph Bell, fruitgrower of St. Davids, who started Tuesday night to walk the track and was presumably hit by some train.

Will Contest Election.

Montreal, Dec. 30.—The Nationalists held a meeting yesterday and decided to contest the election of Mr. Bobillard in St. James, who defeated Mr. Lafamme some weeks ago in the election for the Legislature.

Those Who Go to Jail.

Washington, Dec. 30.—There are 629 persons out of every 100,000 of the population arrested and lodged in jail each year, according to census bureau figures just made public.

Acclamation at Orangeville.

Orangeville, Dec. 30.—Mayor Dr. W. H. Riddell, Reeve Thomas Arnett, Deputy Reeve Dr. G. H. Campbell, were elected by acclamation.

A CARD OF APPRECIATION 1910

Our business for 1909 so far exceeded in volume of business any former year in our history that we cannot but believe that our

"Putting Our Customers Ahead of Ourselves Policy"

has been the means to the end, but even with that square deal policy we have an appreciative host of customers to heartily thank for our great increase in business in 1909.

You will find that a safe policy to trade under whenever you require anything from the Drug Store, and only under that policy is your patronage solicited for 1910.

McDermid & Jury
The Safe, Satisfactory Druggists

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

Ex-President Zelaya of Nicaragua is now in Mexico City.

Montreal coroners have investigated over 800 deaths this year.

The Montreal Herald estimates 4,800 cases of typhoid fever now in that city.

Peary's friends are arranging a big demonstration for him in the Metropolitan Opera House, New York, on Feb. 8.

The British Government will establish a wireless telegraph system in Australia, New Zealand and the Figi Islands.

Roy Saunderson, aged 19, escaped from the Mimico Industrial School, is under arrest at London, charged with theft.

Girl shortwaist strikers in New York have issued a newspaper setting forth their grievances and are selling copies on the streets.

William Clenahan of Kingston has been presented with a watch and chain for having not missed Sunday school once in 14 years.

Roy McKinney, aged 23, of Indianapolis, shot and killed Dora Chappell, aged 18, a waitress at Peru, Ind., and then killed himself.

A claim that his wife has negro blood is the base of a suit for annulment of marriage brought by W. S. Horton, a prosperous contracting plumber of New York.

Forty-five hundred motormen and conductors employed on the street car lines controlled by the public service corporation of New Jersey are to receive an increase in salary of a cent an hour.

For twenty minutes Mrs. Mary Johnston of London, Ont., struggled for her life with William Nicholls, a boarder, who came home drunk and had a big six-shooter in his possession. In court he was fined $15.

VOTE
MASON
FOR MAYOR

HAPPY NEW YEAR

THE NUGENT DRUG CO.

Extend New Year Greeting to all those who have so kindly patronized this store during the past years. : :

A.A.Fowler A.J.Johnston

HAPPY NEW YEAR

Daily Examiner.

Examiner Agencies

NORTH WARD
S. T. Braund, 734 George, cor. Smith st.
D. Sullivan, 439 George, cor. Hilln. st.
Mr. Young, cor. McDonnel and George.
L. E. J. Lockhart, 430 Water st.
J. M. Donovan, cor. Aylmer & McDonel

WEST WARD
Nelson Bentley, cor. Brock & Park.
H. Bradshaw, cor. Downie and Charlotte.
John James, cor. Reid & McDonel.

CENTRE
Gainey Bros., 423 George.
R. J. Sedon, 469 George.
F. G. Cubitt, 370 George.
G. J. Murphy, 326 Charlotte.
A. M. Stratton, 417 George.

SOUTH
Mrs. Dunford, cor. Sherbrooke & Bah.
B. G. Braund, cor. Albert & Park.
M. H. Halpin, cor. Perry & George.
R. McGill, corner Lake and Aylmer.

EAST
Mrs. M. Guerin, cor. Roger & Hamlet.
Martin Kylie, Rogers street.
David Flynn, 150 Concession, cor Carlisle.
T. B. Manion, corner Mark and Hunter streets.

UNION LABEL

THURSDAY, DECEMER 30, '09

MUSICAL.

MISS BESSIE BLCOME, Teacher of Piano Forte terms, etc., address Peterborough Conservatory of Music, or 902 Harvey St. 1m-16-7211

MRS G. B. MILLER—Leader of Murray Street Baptist Church Choir. Teacher of Voice and Piano—415 Union Street Peterborough.

MISS JULIA CROATE—Violin Soloist and Teacher. Concert engagements accepted For terms etc., apply Conservatory of Music. 1m-5

MEDICAL.

DR. A. W. MacPHERSON—Office 134 Murray St., Cor. Water. Late House Surgeon Toronto Isolation Hospital, Toronto Hsh Children's Hospital and Manhat tan Maternity Hospital. 'Phone Bell 648. Machine.

DR. T. P. McCULLOUGH—Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Specialists. Office 166 Brock Street.

DR. BUCHANAN, F.R.C.S. Edinburgh M.R.C.S. England, L.R.C.P. London. Specialist of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat 'Phone 618. 180 Charlotte Street. Hours—9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m.

DR. E. A. HAMMOND—Office, 543 Water Street. Late Assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, England. Also of Rotunda Maternity Hospital at Dublin. Special diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach. Bell Phone—Office 663; House Phone 1201.

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY — Osteopathic Physician. Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce; Hunter Street entrance Bell Phone 649. Office Hours—9 to 12 a m., 2 to 4 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free.

LEGAL.

ROBERT HUDDY, K.C.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Office, corner George and Hunter Sts. Money to loan at Current Rates. Successor to George Edmison K.C.

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR, Barristers, Solicitors, and Notaries. Office 11 Water Street. Money to loan.—E. A. Peck, K. M. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr

DUMBLE & JOHNSTON—Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Office over Toronto Savings and Loan Company, 435 George St —D. W. Dumble, K.C.; W. P. Johnston

A. R. DIXON—Barrister, Solicitor, Etc. Office—Corner Hunter and George Sts entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

HALL & HAYES & HALL. — Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public, Hunter Street, Peterborough, next to St. John's Church. Money to loan at lowest rates of interest.—E. H. D. Hall, City Solicitor; Louis M. Hayes, K. C., and Basil D. Hall.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON—Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Solicitors etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office, Corner of Hunter and Water Streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce.. R. R. Hall K. Y. Medd. W. S. Davidson.

W. H. MOORE—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Office—Entrance first hallway west of Post Office. Peterborough, Ont. Money to loan.

A. P. POUSSETTE—Barrister and Solicitor —370 Water Street. Money to loan at lowest current rates. A. P. Poussette K.C.

R. E. WOOD—Barrister, etc., County Crown Attorney. Office over Canadian Express Office George Street. Money to loan

DENTAL.

DR. H. J. WOOD, Dentist—Office, No. 6 1/2 George Street. Phone 326 day or night

UNDERTAKERS.

D. BELLEGHEM.—Funeral Director.—Calls may be given day or night at warerooms, 190 Hunter Street, or at Residence, 188 Hunter Street. Telephone No. 51.

LANE & HANG—Undertakers and Embalmers. Can be found at their warerooms day or night, 173 Hunter street 'Phone 48

MONEY TO LOAN.

MONEY TO LOAN—On Farm and Town Property, at lowest current rates on easiest terms of payment. HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON, (Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Peterborough, Ont., Office Over the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

MONEY TO LEND.—On first-class City and Farm Securities only, on current rates. BENNET & GOODWILL, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., No. 375 Water street, Peterborough. Telephone, No. 191. J. W. Bennet; H. L. Goodwill.

MONEY TO LOAN—On easy terms. O'CONNELL & GORDON, Barristers, Solicitors Notaries, etc. Canadian and United States. Patent Attorneys. Hunter St. 2 doors west of Post Office. Daniel O'Connell; George M. Gordon.

ARCHITECTS.

W. BLACKWELL—Architect and Civil Engineer. Plans and estimates made on churches, public buildings and dwelling houses. Buildings, heated and plumbed a specialty. Office 372 Water street, Peterborough.

KEENE PUBLIC SCHOOL PUPILS HELD COUNCIL

Examiner Special.

Keene, Ont., Dec .227.—On Thursday evening last, Dec. 23rd, the members of the Bible Class of Keene Presbyterian church assembled at the home of their teacher, Mr. Jos. H. Taylor, when they presented him with a handsome mantel clock, accompanied with the following address:

Dear Mr. Taylor,—We the members of your Sabbath school class desire to thank you very heartily for your earnest and untiring efforts for our good during the years that you have been our teacher We feel that you have helped us and oyur regularity and punctuality of attendance have been an inspiration to us.

As a slight token of our appreciation of your work and of the esteem and regard we have always held for you, we ask oyu to accept this clock. We hope it may be useful.

We trust that you may be with us for many years to come and we wish to assure you that yo uhave our very best wishes for a happy Christmas, and may the coming year bring to you and yours every success and happiness."

Signed on behalf of the class,
Mrs. D. A. McFarlane,
Mrs. W. Rae,
Mr. Taylor made a suitable reply.

DIRTY KIDNEYS ARE CAUSE OF BACKACHE

A Few Doses Will Clean and Regulate the Kidneys and Make You Feel Fine.

If you take several doses of Pape's Diuretic, all backache and distress from out-of-order kidneys or bladder trouble will vanish, and you will feel fine.

Lame back, painful stitches, rheumatism, nervous headache, dizziness, irritability, sleeplessness, inflamed, or swollen eyelids, worn-out, sick feeling and other symptoms of sluggish, inactive kidneys disappear.

Uncontrollable, smarting, frequent urination (especially at night) and all bladder misery ends.

This unusual preparation goes at once to the disordered kidneys, bladder and urinary system and distributes its healing, cleansing and vitalizing influence directly upon the organs and glands affected, and completes the cure before you realize it.

The moment you suspect any kidney or urinary disorder or feel rheumatism pains, begin taking this harmless medicine with the knowledge that there is no other remedy at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which will affect so thorough and prompt a cure as a fifty-cent treatment of Pape's Diuretic, which any druggist can supply.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker, or any mercantile agency will tell you that Pape, Thompson & Pape, of Cincinnati, is a large and responsible medicine concern, thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

Only curative results can come from taking Pape's Diuretic, and a few days' treatment means clean, active, healthy, kidneys, bladder and urinary organs—and no backache.

Accept only Pape's Diuretic—fifty cent treatment—any drug store—anywhere in the world.

THE JUDGE WILL INSPECT THE PIG

Examiner Special.

Fraserville, Dec. 27.—Mr. Richard Stewart of Montreal, is spending his Christmas holidays with his parents here.

Miss Weatherilt is spending Christmas with her parents, at Osaca.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Clayton, of Osaca, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cruikshank.

Misses Hattie and Tessie Might have arrived from Manitoba to spend the holidays with their mother, Mrs. S. Might.

Mr. H. Cruikshank is spending a few days visiting friends in Peterborough.

Mr. James Cunningham is still confined to his bed as a result of a fall out of a waggon some few weeks ago.

The Atcheson-Berry pig trial, which was held in Millbrook on Thursday, was adjourned till some future date. The witnesses on both sides made sworn statements, which were almost, and in some cases, entirely contrary to each other, and, as a result, his Honour Judge Roger, decided to inspect the pig himself, and for this purpose it will be brought to the village. It is thought the inspection will take place on Friday next.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McLean spent Christmas with the latter's parents.

Miss Maud McElroy is spending her Christmas holidays with her parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. Reid Ball of illbrook, is the guest of their son, Mr. Ormond Ball.

Miss Cora Scobell of Peterborough, is the guest of her parents here.

Miss Luella Stewart of Peterborough is the guest of her parents.

Mr. W. Fisher and daughter, Lillian, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Fisher.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen iller, of Warsaw, spent Christmas day with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kidd, here.

Mr. Geo. Anderson of Centreville, was inthe village on Friday last.

Miss Lillie Cunningham and Mr. George Cunningham of Peterborough, spent Christmas with their parents.

Misses Lila and Violet McElroy are visiting friends in Port Hope.

Miss Irene Walters of Peterborough, spent Christmas with her sister, here.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine

Carter's Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of

Brent Good

See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.

Very small and as easy to take as sugar.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

FOR HEADACHE.
FOR DIZZINESS.
FOR BILIOUSNESS.
FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION
FOR SALLOW SKIN.
FOR THE COMPLEXION

Purely Vegetable. Brent Good

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

PRESENTED WITH GOLD CHAIN

An enjoyable gathering took place at S. S. No. 1, Enniamore, on Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 22nd, when Rev. M. F. Fitzpatrick and a number of the ratepayers assembled The feature of the evening was the presentation to the teacher, Miss K. O'Donoghue, of a pretty gold chain. An address was read by Master James Harrington and the presentation was made by Miss Marguerite Hickson. The address was as follows:

To Miss Katie O'Donoghue—

Dear Teacher,—We the pupils of S. S. No. 1, Ennismore, having heard of your intended departure at the close of the present year, avail ourselves of the opportunity to give expression to the commingled regret, reverence and love which fill our youthful hearts For the past three years it has been our good fortune to be under your wise and skilful guidance and during these years we learned ,among other things, to appreciate your honest efforts in our behalf. Always kind, courteous, patient and forgiving you have set an example that each of us may safely follow; animated us with a noble ambition, lovable desire, to acquire a higher education, and marked out to us by your own daily life and lofty precepts, the path we should aim to tread. We soon learned to recognize in you the true friend, pointing out to us our many faults and imperfections and showing us at the same time to do the right and proper thing; sympathising with us in all our childish difficulties and encouraging us in all our work and by making our school pleasant and cheerful.

We are indeed, dear teacher, sorry to hear that you are soon to leave us, as in you we recognize the best, the truest and the kindest of teachers. Any success we may have achieved is owing almost entirely to your painstaking and unselfish labour for our advancement, for which we wish to express our sincere thanks. As a further proof of our sincerity we will ask your acceptance of this gold chain and pray that God may continue to watch over and direct your every effort for good in whatever path of life you may choose to follow.

Signed on behalf of the pupils.
Irene Hickson,
Loretta Harrington,
Lizzie Harrington,
Marguerite Costello,
Maye Killen,

You'll enjoy this nutritious food

The smooth, snappy, appetizing flavor of this cheese delights the most delicate taste. It is nourishing, health-giving and surcharged with all the abundant food properties of the richest cream.

MacLAREN'S IMPERIAL CHEESE

is ideal food, as good for children as for adults. Prepared under exacting sanitary conditions and fully matured, no indigestion in it. Sealed in sterilized opal porcelain jars—good to the very last bit. 10c, 15c, 25c and 50c—at all reputable grocers.

IMPERIAL PEANUT BUTTER

A nourishing, appetizing pure food—just as superior as MacLaren's Imperial Cheese. All the concentrated goodness of the finest selected Spanish peanuts—rich in tissue-building properties. A food butter for every meal—the best for young and old alike. Kept by your grocer—10c, 20c and 30c the bottle.

Ask your grocer about IMPERIAL DESSERT JELLY—the food dessert with the delicious flavor—and CANADA CREAM CHEESE. mild, rich and creamy. In packages, three sizes, 10c up.

Manufactured and guaranteed pure by the MacLaren Imperial Cheese Co., Ltd.
TORONTO, CANADA

MANY NORWOOD CITIZENS HOME FOR CHRISTMAS

Examiner Special.

Norwood, Dec. 28th.—Miss L. M. Scott of Toronto, is spending her vacation with her sister, Mrs. E. C. Squire.

Mrs. Dickson of Wiarton, is visiting her sister Mrs. W. J. Puffer.

Mr. Harold Scales of Toronto, is visiting at his home here.

Miss Theresa Robson, of Toronto, is spending her vacation at her home here.

Mr. Gordon Kidd spent Christmas at his home near Warsaw.

Miss Florence Foster was in Peterborough on Friday.

Miss H. L. MacLachlan of Bracebridge, is pending her holidays at her home here.

Mrs. D. Sanders and son, Bert., of West Toronto, are visiting friends in town.

Mr. J. Tollett, of Toronto, spent a few days the guest of Mr. F. H. Buck.

Mr. W. R. Howson of Sterling, and Mr. George Howson of Ottawa, spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. owson.

Miss Edith Stewart of Toronto, is visiting at the home of her aunt, Miss J. Stewart.

Miss Annie Burkell of Toronto, Mr. E. Burkell, of Thorold, and Mr. O. Burkett, of Havelock, spent Christmas at their home here.

Mr. Alex. Calde of Toronto, and Miss G. Calder of Campbellford, were home for Christmas.

Mr. Joe Power of Sudbury, was in town on Sunday.

Miss Jessie Trout of Toronto, spent Christmas with her sister, Mrs. W. J. Puffer.

Mr. W. S. Duffield of Toronto, was home for Christmas.

Mr. Russel Finlay, of Toronto, spent Christmas with his mother, Mrs. Wm. Finlay.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Elpheck and Mr. R. Elpheck of Peterborough, spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. George Elpheck.

Rev. W. B. Tucker spent Christmas with friends near Belleville.

Dr. and Mrs. F. T. Sutton, spent Christmas day in Madoc.

Mr. B. Lees, Misses May and Margaret Lees of Peterborough, are visiting at the home of their grandfather, Mr. R. W. Waters.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Roxhugh and daughter, Jean, spent Christmas with friends in Port Perry.

Mr. and Mrs. Tremonth are spending the vacation in Bowmanville.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Mills spent Saturday and Sunday in Campbellford.

Mr. Carl Pickard spent Christmas at his home in Newcastle.

Mrs. H. A. Thomson and children of Trenton, spent a few days with Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Pickford.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W Valleau of Hastings, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Cuffe on Christmas Day.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Fitzgerald and family, of Tweed, spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Callonder.

Mr. F. B. McCleary and Mr. McLaren, of Merrickville, were guests of the former's mother, rs. J. McCleary for Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. F. Campbell, of Georgetown, spent Christmas with the latter's uarents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Pearce.

Messrs. Edwin and Howard Searight of Peterborough, spent Christmas with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Searight.

Mr. W. Wilkins, of Toronto, spent Christmas at his home here.

Miss Annie Richardson of Otonabee, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Richardson.

Miss Jennie Buck of Selwyn, is spending her holidays with her parents Mr. and Mrs. O. Buck.

Miss Gertrude Squire of Montreal, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Squire.

LATEST NEWS FROM FOWLER'S CORNERS

Fowler's Corners, Dec. 20.—The annual Christmas tree and entertainment in connection with S. S. No. 2, Smith, was held as usual in the Temperance Hall, on Wednesday, Dec. 22nd, and was a decided success financially and otherwise. The large crowd testified to the yearly school concert and the audience listened to a well prepared programme which consisted of variable selections throughout.

The chair was ably filled by Mr. Alex. McGregor ,one of the popular trustees. The programme was as follows:

Opening school chorus, Canada.
Address of welcome, Jennie Paul.
Chairman's address.
Recitation, Ray Bell.
Recitation, Mildred Archer.
Song, Eva and Gertrude Archer.
Recitation, Madeline Deyell.
Recitation, Lochart Wright.
Recitation, Beatrice Nurse.
Instrumental, Archer Bros.
Doll drill.
Recitation ,Stanley Mahood.
Dialogue, The Three Mothers.
Recitation, Lawrence Archer.
Song, Grace and Mary Graham.
Recitation, Elsie Kimball.
Instrumental, Mr. Will and Miss Mabel Paul.
Dialogue, Scene in Beech Hollow School.
Recitation, Grace Graham.
Recitation, Wilhelmine Archer.
Recitation, Gordon McGregor.
Chorus, Jingle Bells.
Club swinging, Misses Alma Darling and Clara Young.
Tableau, "Things as They Seem to Be."
Dialogue, Tom's Practical Joke.
Recitation, Mary Graham.
Song, Eva and Gertrude Archer.
Instrumental, Mr. Will and Miss Mabel Paul.
Recitation, Mildred Archer.
Recitation, Gertrude Archer.
Song, Grace and Mary Graham.
Dialogue, The Sleepwalker.
Recitation, Miss Ruby Archer.
Song, A Nest in the Oak Tree.
Tableau, Things as They Really Are or the Only Pebble on the Beach.
Recitation, Miss Mabel Darling.
Flag Drill.
School Chorus, Santa Claus is Coming.

At the close of the chorus Santa Claus appeared and the presents were distributed, after which the national anthem was sung.

HARVEY COUNCIL BY ACCLAMATION

Results of Nominations in Belmont and Havelock.

Havelock, Dec. 27.—The candidates for the different municipal offiers for 1910 for the Village of Havelock, are as follows:

Reeve—Joseph Knox, S. S. Joyce.

Councillors—W. A. McMaster, Geo. Young, Geo. Phillips, John Toman, Jr., Wm. Weese and Alex. Matheson.

School Board—W. H. Jones, Ed. Fennell, M. McNichol, H. Falkner, A. Primrose, Dr. Holderoft, Dr. Kindred.

In the Township of Belmont the following are thecandidates:

Reeve—James Russel, Joseph Johnson.

Councillors—Wm. Griffith, John Anderson, A. A. Wilde, Wm. Rylott, T. McConnell, Jas. Kitchen, Allan Elmhirst, Robt. McCutcheon.

TOWNSHIP COUNCIL MET

Galway, Dec. 16th.—Statutory meeting of the township council was held on December the 15th.

All the members were present, the Reeve, Charles Coben, presiding. The minutes of the last special meeting were read and confirmed.

Communications from T. H. Kidd, an accountant, asking for the appointment of township auditor.——Referred.

By-law No. 232, that polling sub-division No. 1 be held at the house of Mrs. John McGees, and polling subdiv. No. 2 be held at John Jackson's house and Robert White be deputy returning officer. By-law was then regularly passed.

Moved by Wm. Hunter and John Clark that the collector's time to collect taxes be extended until the 15th day of January, 1910.

Moved by James Allen and Easel Crego, that lots 16, con. 16, and lots 15-16, con. 17, be placed on the resident assessment roll.

On motion of James Allen and Wm. Hunter, that the following accounts be paid:

Robert White, auditor	$ 3.00
J. J. Allinj, auditor	3.00
William Hunter, session allowance	3.00
Easel Crego, session allowance	1.50
James Allen, session allowance	1.50
Charles Coben, taking H. Thompson to House of Refuge	10.00
Edmond Allen, collector's salary and postage	84.00

On motion Council adjourned.

Weak blood when analyzed, shows lack of red corpuscles—the vital part of the blood.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food actually forms new, red corpuscles in the blood—makes the blood rich, nourishing and life invigorating.

Because it works hand in hand with Nature the cures it brings about are both thorough and lasting.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food

builds up the system and cures headaches, sleeplessness, indigestion, nervousness and irritability, nervous prostration, partial paralysis and locomotor ataxia.

The illustration shows style of package. Imitations will only disappoint. 50 cts. a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for free copy of Dr. Chase's Recipes.

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

Smokeless Oil Heater

The automatically-locking Smokeless Device is an exclusive feature of the Perfection Oil Heater. This doesn't allow the wick to rise to a point where it CAN smoke, yet permits a strong flame that sheds a steady, glowing heat without a whiff of smoke.

Automatic Smokeless Device

No other heater in the world compares with the

PERFECTION Oil Heater

(Equipped with Smokeless Device)

Turn the wick high or low—no smoke, no smell. Burns for 9 hours with one filling. Instantly removed for cleaning.

Solid brass font holds 4 quarts of oil—sufficient to give out a glowing heat for 9 hours—solid brass wick carriers—damper top—cool handle—oil indicator.

Heater beautifully finished in nickel or Japan in a variety of styles.

Every Dealer Everywhere. If Not At Yours, Write for Descriptive Circular to the Nearest Agent of

THE QUEEN CITY OIL CO., Limited.

The matter appearing in this space from time to time is furnished by the Ontario Brewers' Association, who have arranged for its publication.

What SCIENTISTS Say Against Local Option:---

Professor A. B. MacCallum,
Lecturer on Physiology to The University of Toronto:
"The results of careful experiments show that alcohol, taken in diluted form in small doses is oxidised within the body and so supplies energy like common articles of food; and that it is incorrect to designate it as a poison."

Professor F. H. Pye-Smith,
Lecturer to Guy's Hospital Medical School, London:
"Malt liquors, for a large number of people (perhaps for most adults), do more good than harm when taken with meals. Temperance is much better than abstinence."

Prof. Lafayette B. Mendel,
Yale University, New Haven:
"Man is by nature a temperate animal, and it is only by distinguishing between temperance and intemperance (i.e., use and abuse) that the evils of alcoholism can be combated. Present methods fail in this respect."

Professor T. J. Clouston,
Lecturer to the University of Scotland, Edinburgh:
"Alcohol is a food, and may in a diluted form (as in beer) be a very valuable adjunct to ordinary foods, by exciting appetite, by improving digestion, and by stimulating certain nutritive processes, e.g., the laying on of fat."

Local Option does not promote temperance---it does promote the misuse of drink.

"It should not be taught that the drinking of one or two glasses of beer or wine at meals, by a grown-up person, is dangerous; for it is not true."

Prof. (of Chemistry) W. O. Atwater
Wesleyan University.
Prof. (of Pathology) H. P. Bowditch
Harvard University.
Prof. (of Pathology) R. H. Chittenden
Yale University.
Dr. Wm. H. Welch, (of Pathology)
Johns Hopkins University.

Your BATHROOM Warmed In TEN MINUTES, with a

Collier Electric Radiator

It does not burn the air. What a boon. A fine warm room and pure air. In the sick room it is invaluable. Used wherever you have an electric lamp. Ask us about it. Only $7.00.

COLLIER - CUNNINGHAM CO'Y. Limited
Phone 666. 77 Simcoe St.

MUSIC LESSONS FREE

The J. M. Greene Music Co., Limited, Opera House Building, are giving Free Music Lessons on all Instruments purchased from them during Xmas and New Year's.

Building Lots For Sale

THE PETERBORO SUGAR CO. PROPERTY has been cut up into lots, which are now offered for sale: lots 50-ft. frontage by 120-ft. in depth.

These lots are most desirable for building purposes, and any person contemplating the purchase of a lot for this purpose will do well to look over this property before purchasing elsewhere.

Ful particulars and all information can be had on application to

The Toronto Savings and Loan Company
437 George Street, City

SUNLIGHT SOAP

No trouble with Sunlight Soap. Just follow the directions on the wrapper and Sunlight does the rest. Costs little—goes far—never injures hands or clothes.

Good Resolves

FOR

1910

This is the time for making good resolutions for the New Year.

Here's a Good one:-

That I will not put off until to-morrow what I can do to-day.

The best Clothing can be obtained from

Merrell & Meredith

New Year's Gifts

Splendid Suggestions to offer you.

The time to get them is

Now!

And the Place

Merrell & Meredith

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS

ANY PERSON who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

DUTIES.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

N.B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of Interior.

ANNUAL CHRISTMAS ENTERTAINMENT

Held in Hastings Methodist Church—Curling Club Organized.

Examiner Special.

Hastings, Dec. 28.—Our young people are daily amusing themselves at their favourite winter sport—skating.

One evening last week the prominent business men of the town held a meeting at the Clarendon House to talk over the matter of organizing a Curling Club. After a short discussion the following officers were elected: Pres., Mr. C. P. Fisher; Vice Pres., Mr. A. Stephen; Treas., Mr. J. J. English; Sec., Mr. L. F. Clarry, with an executive committee. Those interested feel that their thanks are due to Mr. A. Stephen, who has been the prime mover in the project.

Mr. Thos. Stevenson of Percy, has disposed of his farm to Mr. Thos. Hill of Alnwick, for which he realized a handsome sum. Mr. Stevenson purposes moving to the West in the near future.

The directors of the public library have added some seventy new and popular books to those already in use and are exceedingly anxious to increase the membership so as to reach the required number in order to claim the Government grant. Mr. Bingham, librarian, will be pleased to issue any number of membership tickets.

Mr. Arthur Thomson and Mr. Robt. Oakman, who have spent the summer in western Canada, have returned to their homes for the winter.

Dr. andMrs. Edmison are rejoicing over the birth of a son.

Rev. Mr. Harrison of Warkworth, occupied the pulpit of the Methodist church on Sunday at both services. The reverend gentleman preached two very thoughtful sermons, which were listened to with rapt attention.

Rev. C. W. Barrett was in Warkworth over Sunday, taking Mr. Harrison's work there.

Mrs. J. Fraser and children, of Outlook, Sask., are spending the holidays with her mother Mrs. H. Fowlds.

Mr. F. Stephen left town last week for a trip to Winnipeg.

Mr. Eric Fowlds of the School of Science, Toronto, is holidaying under the parental roof.

Mr. J. McCarthy of Peterborough Normal School is home for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wilson are visiting at Mrs. Wilson's home in Toronto.

Mr. Bingham was called to Bowmanville on Wednesday to attend the funeral of his mother, who died very suddenly at her home there. His many friends extend sympathy in his sad bereavement.

Miss Stephen is spending a holiday with friends in Collingwood.

Our schools have closed for the Christmas vacation and the children are free for a short time.

Mr. W. Spellman, of Toronto, is spending the holidays with his parents.

The large plate glass window in Buck & McCarthy's store, which was broken recently, has been replaced just in time for Christmas decoration.

In spite of the inclemency of the weather on Christmas night a large crowd gathered in the town hall to be entertained by the pupils of the Methodist S. S. in their annual Christmas concert. The programme consisted of vocal and instrumental music, glees, fancy drills, motion songs, and recitations by the little tots, ending up with a play entitled "The Widow's Mite," by some of the older ones. The programme throughout was well rendered, the little ones in particular, receiving well-merited applause. After sing the National Anthem all repaired to their homes feeling well satisfied with the evening's entertainment.

Miss Ellen Beavis spent Christmas at the home of her brother, Mr. Nelson Beavis.

NOBODY SPARED

Kidney Troubles Attack Peterborough Men and Women, Old and Young.

Kidney ills seize young and old.
Come quickly with little warning.
Children suffer in their early years.
Can't control the kidney secretions.
Girls are languid, nervous, suffer pain.

Women worry, can't do daily work.
Men have lame and aching backs.
The cure for man, woman or child.
Is to cure the cause—the kidneys.
Booth's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys.

Cure all forms of kidney suffering. Peterborough testimony proves it. Mrs. A. Graham, of 647 Water St., Peterborough, Ont., says: "My back was so weak and tender that I could not turn in bed. A heavy dull pain had settled across the small of it and caused me almost constant suffering. I became weak and languid. I was run down generally and had little ambition to move around. Headaches were frequent and often accompanied by spells of dizziness. Spots would dazzle before my eyes and I would be unable to see. I had tried numerous remedies without getting results. Booth's Kidney Pills were advertised at McDermid & Jury's Pharmacy, which I tried and soon found relief. The kidneys were quickly regulated and each symptom of kidney trouble was quickly cured. I am glad to recommend Booth's Kidney Pills as I believe them to be the best and most reliable of all kidney remedies."

Sold by dealers. Price 50 cents. The R. T. Booth Co., Limited, Fort Erie, Ont., Sole Canadian Agents.

SUN FIRE

The oldest Insurance Office in the world
FOUNDED A.D. 1710 BI-CENTENARY 1910
HOME OFFICE: LONDON, ENGLAND

Canadian Branch, Sun Building, Toronto. H. M. Blackburn, Manager.
W. H. HILL, AGENT - - - - - - PETERBOROUGH.

CHRISTMAS ENTERTAINMENT WAS GREAT SUCCESS

Interesting Affair Held in the Warsaw Methodist Church—Other News From the Dummer Capital.

PERSONAL ITEMS

Examiner Special.

Warsaw, Dec. 28.—The Christmas tree entertainment given by the Sunday school children of the Methodist church on Christmas night was a successful event. In point of attendance it was quite the equal of former years, which shows that the public of this place and surrounding country appreciate the efforts of the children. To those, who by self-sacrifice, patience and perseverance the juveniles had been tutored in their numerous parts, belongs a very great deal of the credit to which the event is due. The following programme was rendered in excellent fashion, each and all of those taking part acquitting themselves favourably:

Opening Chorus.
Prayer.
Chairman's address.
Chairman's address.
Children's song—G-double-o-d.
Honouring one's parents.
Vocal duet—Misses Mabel Taylor. and Winnifred Clysdale.
Recitation—Miss Alice Wasson.
Mouth organ solo—Ralph Payne.
Recitation—Miss Mildred Clements.
Solo and Chorus—Three stars.
Dialogue—Changed housewife.
Reading—Miss Marvin.
Duet—Miss Ada Payne, Mr. J. White.
Mouth organ solo—Mr. H. Osborne.
Drill—Heralds of the Christ.
Recitation—Ralph Wasson.
Christmas in heaven.
Solo—Miss Sinia Bell.
Dialogue—Aunt Melissa's Money.
Closing chorus.

At the conclusion of the programme the arch, decorated with evergreens, and ornaments, and heavily laden with gifts of divers descriptions, was attacked by Santa Claus and the presents distributed.

The annual entertainment of the scholars of the Presbyterian church will be held in the church on Friday evening, Jan. 10. The program will consist of, among other numbers, a lecture with lime-light illustrations.

The Christmas tree and entertainment held under the auspices of the Carmel Methodist church, on Tuesday of last week, was a complete success.

Miss E. M. C. Swann left on Thursday for Norwood and Havelock, where she will visit during the holidays.

Mr. C. A. Radcliffe returned on Monday from Eglinton, where he spent Christmas with his parents.

Messrs. D. Munro, M.D., and W. J. Selkirk, were in Toronto on Friday.

Mr. Archie Hawthorne, Norwood, is spending the holidays at his home here.

Mr. E. J. Glenney, manager of the Bank of Montreal, visited in Oshawa Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Ada Richardson left on Thursday for Peterborough where she will visit during the holidays.

Mr. T. Miller, Toronto, is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Sanderson and daughters, Misses Ethel and Emma, spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Selkirk.

Mrs. Richards, of Bailieboro, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. A. W. Smithson.

Mr. H. Stock, of Peterborough, was in town on business on Wednesday.

Miss V. B. Marvin, left on Tuesday for Rochester, where she will spend a week as delegate to the National Missionary conference.

Mr. Roy and Miss Grace Hamblin, Deloraine, Man., are visiting relatives here.

Mrs. (Rev. Dr.) Marvin is spending the holidays with friends in Lindsay and Woodville.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Clements and children and Mr. and Mrs. A L Dunsford left on Thursday for Wilberforce, where they were spending a few days.

Mr. N. Wettlaufer, Inspector Bell Telephone Co., was in town on Wednesday and Thursday.

Mr. James Eyers of Peterborough, was the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Marvin on Tuesday.

Mr. Meacham and daughter Fleda, of Whitby, renewed acquaintances here on Thursday.

Miss Bella Yourex, Norwood, is the guest of Miss Barbara Kidd.

Miss M. E. Nesbitt is spending the holidays at her home in Westwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Batten left on Thursday for Paisley, Ont., where they will spend a few weeks.

Messrs. David and Wm. Crowe, of Calgary, are visiting their mother, Mrs. M. E. Crowe.

Rev. Dr. Marvin left on Tuesday to spend the holidays and New Years in Belleville and Prince Edward County.

Mrs. W. K. Payne of Peterobrough, was in town on Thursday.

Miss Clara Dewart, Clarina, is spending the holidays at her home here.

Miss Hazel Moore left last week for Peterborough, where she will in future reside.

Mr. Robt. Brown, Moosomin, Sask., is visiting his father, Mr. Robert Brown.

Mr. Colvin, Goldsmith, Ont., is visiting friends here after an absence of thirty-five years.

Mrs. James Herron, of New Liskeard, is spending the holidays with her father, Mr. Byron Helps.

Mr. Harold Thompson, visited his parents at Lang, Ont, on Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Bullock, were in Lakefield over Christmas and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Crowe, spent Christmas at Hastings.

Mr. John Dewart, of Pinewood, Ont., is home for the holidays.

Mrs. J. B. Forster, Peterborough, spent a few days in the village last week.

Mr. Harry Kidd, Lakefield, was in town on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McKeeley, of Havelock, spent Christmas at the latter's home here.

Miss Mary Peters and Mr. Herman Peters, Canton, Ont., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Edwards.

Mr. Roy Harmer, of Peterborough, is visiting Mr. Geo. Tucker.

Miss J. R. Selkirk, is spending a few days at Lakefield

RADIANT HAIR

New York Society Women's Hair Matched Only by Parisians.

While much attention is given to choicest gowns by New York society women, the turbulent fad just now is the care of the hair.

For many years the clever women of Paris have been famed for the magnificent beauty of their hair.

"Glorious hair," a Virginian calls it; "so radiant and luxuriant that it not only attracts but fascinates and compels unstinted admiration."

But now that the elite of New York, ever anxious to improve their beauty, have learned that Parisian Sage, a remarkable and almost marvellous hair nourisher and beautifier, is almost entirely responsible for the charming hair of the ladies of France the demand for it has become enormous.

Parisian Sage is now sold all over Canada and in Peterborough by Mr. Madill, who is glad to guarantee it to eradicate dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks or money back. Large bottle, 50c.

SCHOOL REPORTS

S. S. NO. 12, DOURO AND DUMMER.

The following are the names of the pupils of S. S. No. 12, Douro and Dummer, according to merit: Senior III.—Raymond Carlow, John O'Brien. Junior III.—Mary O'Brien, Veronica O'Brien, Percy Rutherford, Kenneth Cavanagh, Thomas Cavanagh. Junior II.—Leo Healey. Part II.—Bertha O'Brien, Alex. Carlow, Gerald O'Brien. Primer—Johnnie O'Brien.

FOWLER'S CORNERS.

Following is the report of S. S. No. 2, Smith, for December. Names are in order of merit.

Class V.—Vincent Bell. Class Sr. IV.—Gertrude Archer, Grace Graham, Harry Young. Class Jr. IV.—Bruce Darling, Allie McGregor, George Tindle, Reuben Maitland. Class Sr. III.—Helen Moore, Mary Graham. Class Jr. III—Maud Cromie, Jennie Paul, Vernon Ferguson, Elwood Deyell. Class Sr. II.—Smithson Nurse, Wilhelmina Archer, Irene Kimball, Irene Maitland. Class Jr. II.—Ray Bell, Stanley Mahood. Class Part II.—Elsie Kimball, Wallace Darling. Class Sr. I.—Madeline Deyell, Lochart Wright, Lawrence Archer, Gordon McGregor, Mildred Archer. Class Jr. I.—Beatrice Nurse, Harry Ferguson. A. Class—Whipple Fairburn, Gilmour Paul. Average attendance for the month—27. E. M. Dewart, teacher.

The following is the school report for S. S. No. 3, Otonabee, for the mont of December:

Form V.—Lottie Fitzgerald.

Form IV Sr.—Francis Fitzgerald, Annie Fitzgerald.

Form IV Jr.—Gertrude O'Grady, Nellie Fitzgerald, Josep O'Grady, Ethel Shepherdson, Minnie Shepherdson, Charlie Elmhirst, Loretta Fitzgerald.

Form III.—Alice Fitzgerald, Tennie Elmhirst, Edward Johnston, Harvey Borland, Andrew Hall, Bridget Fitzgerald.

Form II.—Stella Evans, Rose Fitzgerald Violet Dickson, Emmett Fitzgerald, Hazel Hall ,Frank Grady.

oFrm I Sr.—Adeline Torpey.

Form I Jr.—Maggie Shepherdson, Mabel Hall, Mark Fitzgerald, Michael Fitzgerald, Marguerite Breckenridge.

Primer Class, Sr.—Irene Fitzgerald, John iFitzgerald, Joseph Torpey. Jr.—Tommy O'Grady, Arthur Borland, Margaret M. Fitzgerald, Jean Robertson.

Pupils who attended every day for the monthMinne Shejherdson, Ethel Shepherdson, Stella Evans, Mabel Hall

Average attendance for the month 26.

Following is the report of S. S. No. 7, Douro, for the month of December. Figures indicate the percentage taken and the number of days attended by each pupil during the year out of a possible 204 teaching days, respectively:

V. Class—Wm. Towns, 80:160; Annie Garvey, 76:154.

IV. Class Sr.—Clara Barry, 64:130; Annie O'Brien, 61:158; Pearl Moher, 59:128; Emma O'Brien, 55-122.

IV. Class, Jr.—John Sheehan, 57:166; Angela O'Brien, 64:132; Loretto Garvey, 50:144.

III. Class, Sr.—Eva Sullivan, 71:189; Maggie Towns, 68:180; Kathleen Condon, 62:176; Jas. Barry, 66:169; Stasia Sullivan, 66:109; Annie Christie, 64:28; John Casey, 63:123; Wm. O'Brien, 60:106; Katie Moher, 60:134; John O'Brien, 53:82.

III. Class, Jr.—Alphonsus Moher, 50:72; Ada McCann, 50:194; Jas. Moher 45:88; Alphonsus Condon, 45:105; Florence Allen, 43:177; Myrtle Allen, 41:182; Morgan O'Connor, 40:163.

II. Class—Norman Allen, 85:175; Ignatius Condon, 85:184; Maggie O'Brien 70:113; Maggie Casey (absent) 125.

I Class, Sr.—Dick O'Brien, 75-188; Katie Casey (absent) 151; Frank Burke, 60:63; Bertha McCann, 60:180.

I Class, Jr.—Geraldine Moher 115, Walter Barry 120, Frank Sullivan, 185.

Primer—Frank O'Brien 99, Rosabelle Sullivan 99, May Allen 97.

Average attendance for month 94, average for year 37; number on roll for month 44; for year 65.

KEENE ITEMS OF INTEREST

Keene, Dec. 28.—Mr. Roy Taylor, of the School of Practical Science, Toronto, is spending the holidays with his parents.

Miss Maude Eason, of Peterborough, is visiting her brother, Mr. F. A. Eason.

Mrs. William McIntyre spent Christmas in North Bay.

Mr. John Bennet, Somerberry, Sask., is visiting relatives in this vicinity.

Mr. Fred Taylor and Miss Sarah Taylor visited friends in Fenella, Colborne, and Trenton this week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Douglas, Cavan, spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor, Almonte.

Mr. Albert Nelson, of Queen's University, is spending the holidays with his parents.

Misses Gertrude and Sadie Greenbank, Norwood, are spending their Christmas holidays with their cousin, Miss Elsie Taylor.

Messrs. Gustarus, and Percy Harris, Ottawa, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Christmas.

Mr. Duncan Powell spent Christmas in Keene, the guest of his aunt, Miss B. Read.

Mr. and Mrs. William Read and family spent Christmas in Keene.

Mr. Percy Skinner, is spending the holidays with his parents in Keene.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Humphries, Asphodel, visited relatives in Keene this week.

Mr. John Mitchell is the guest of his mother, Mrs. J. Dinsdael.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Doughty, of Peterborough, spent Christmas in Lang, the guests of rs. Doughty's parents.

Misses Agnes and Lillian Campbell, who have been attending Queen's University, are spending the holidays with their parents.

Master Harry Taylor, of Peterborough, is visiting friends in Keene.

Mrs. J. Mein, Mrs. W. McCrea and Mr. John Mein, Peterborough, were the guests of Mrs. Hug McFarlane on Christmas.

A very successful concert was held in the town hall Thursday evening by the pupils of the Keene Public school The hall was crowded and the programme was a credit to the school.

Fololwing is the programme:

Chorus—"O Radiant Morn," school children.
Chairman's address.
Recitation—Darcy Kempt.
Recitation—Helen Wedlock.
Drill—The small girls.
Recitation—Master Bertie McNeil.
Recitation—Edna McCarthy.
Duet—Miss Margaret Bryce and Mrs. W. McIntyre.
Recitation—Lois Kempt.
Recitation—Winifred Fletcher.
Song—Mr. Maycock.
Recitation—Mary Connell.
Recitation—Vera McNeil.
Song—Mr. McCamus.
Reading—Beatrice Scriver.
Dialogue—"The Pocket", by eight little girls.
Recitation—Marion Macfarlane.
Duet—Master Frank Moore and Michael Ccarthy.
Recitation—Mary Burley,
Chorus—"Jingle Bells."
Recitation—Lillian Meese.
Dialogue—The country cousin.
Recitation—Master Jack Wedlock.
Mouth organ selectionMH. Renwick and L. Robertson.
Recitation—Jean Hore.
Solo—Mrs. Wm. McIntyre.
Recitation—Alice Chapman.
Duet—Amy and Marion Macfarlane.
Reading—Miss R. Halliday.
Recitation—Alfred Fletcher.
Drill—The older girl pupils.
Recitation—Willie Brown.
Recitation—Jean Hore, Marion Macfarlane.
Gun drill—The boys.
Recitation—Mabel Hore.
Recitation—Isabel McCarthy.
Chorus—Canada.

Neglected Colds Lead to Consumption

Unless a complete cure is effected the inflammation passes rapidly to the throat's bronchial tubes and then to the lungs.

You can't make new lungs any more than you can make new fingers or a new nose—hence consumption is practically incurable.

But Catarrh can be cured, except in its final and always fatal stage.

Catarrh sufferers, meaning those with colds, sore throat, bronchial trouble, etc., can all be cured right at home by inhaling "Catarrhozone."

In using Catarrhozone you don't take medicine into the stomach—you just breathe a healing piney vapor direct to the lungs and air passages.

Catarrhozone Guaranteed to Cure

The purest balsams and the greatest antiseptics are thus sent to every spot where catarrhal trouble exists—germs are killed, foul secretions are destroyed, nature is given a chance and cure comes quickly.

Colds and throat troubles can't last if the pure healing vapor of Catarrhozone is breathed—sneezing and coughing cease at once, because irritation is removed.

Use Catarrhozone to prevent—use it to cure your winter ills—it's pleasant, safe, and guaranteed in every case, 25c., 50c., and $1.00 sizes. Sold by all dealers. By mail from the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

The ideal food for school or workshop is

SHREDDED WHEAT

Crisp, delicious shreds of baked whole wheat—Try it for breakfast with milk or cream, salt to taste.

What it Cost

10 Annual Premiums of $43 20 each, $432.—This represent the TOTAL COST of Policy No. 12997 for $1000 in

The Canada Life Assurance Co'y.

In other words $432 purchased a PAID UP POLICY for $1000, dated June 21st, 1872, on the 10 payment Life Plan, with dividends applied every 5 years to increase the policy as follows:—

Policy paid up.....	$1000.00
Dividend additions to 1909.....	648.75
The Company would pay.....	$1648.75

should the assured die to-day, and this amount will increase annually so long as he lives.

Read The Top Line Again

Can you create an estate to compare or even approach this?

Don't Wait Until it is too Late.

DAVIS-THOMPSON COMPANY LIMITED

Agents for Peterboro—433 George St.

SOMETHING ELECTRICAL

In the Electrical line, many novelties have been brought out lately—articles of household use which give comfort and satisfaction every day. These make ideal gifts, up-to-date:—

ELECTRIC IRONS — PORTABLE TABLE LAMPS
ELECTRIC TOASTERS — ELECTRIC FIXTURES
ELECTRIC HEATERS — ELECTRIC DOMES

Get our prices on entire Electric House Fixtures. We save you money. We do House Wiring. Install Motors, Bells, etc.

The F. J. R. MacPHERSON CO. LIMITED
341 GEORGE STREET

S. A. OKE'S Gratitude and ... Greeting ...

We congratulate our customers on the measure of prosperity the year has brought, and the promise of still greater things for 1910.

Our trade has been big and most satisfactory and in extending the compliments of the season to one and all we add a hearty "Thank you" for the generous support and encouragement accorded us.

S. A. OKE
340 GEORGE STREET
Phone 275

EGGS!

for sale in any quantities.

PETERBOROUGH COLD STORAGE CO.

W. SCOTT & CO.
—OFFICES—
Cor. George & Hunter Both Phones 262
194 Robinson Street. Both Phones 264 (East City).

J. N. Watson
PAINTING, GRAINING, PAPER HANGING AND DECORATING
84 Chambers Street — Behind Examiner Office

—Toronto— Savings and Loan Company

Notice is hereby given that a Quarterly Dividend at the rate of six per cent (6%) per annum for the three months ending December 31st, 1909, has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this Comp'y, together with a bonus of two per cent 2%) for the year 1909, making a total dividend disbursement for the year of eight per cent (8%). The said dividend and bonus will be payable at the office of the company in this city on and after January 1st, 1910.

The transfer books of the company will be closed from the 17th to the 31st of December, both days inclusive.

W. G. MORROW, MANAGING DIRECTOR.
Peterboro, Dec. 10th, 1909.

LIFE INSURANCE Is Just as Necessary as Fire Insurance

You would think a man foolish who left his buildings uninsured. What do you think of the man who doesn't protect the full value of his own life to his family?

THOMAS MARK, General Agent,
THE MANUFACTURERS LIFE Insurance Company.
Bank of Commerce Building
Peterborough

SINGER SEWING MACHINE COMPANY
J. W. STUART, Mgr. Office 207½ George St. Residence Phone 317. Office Phone

HOLIDAY ADVERTISING

THE HOLIDAYS are the harvest time for the Merchants, and they bend their energies towards inducing the largest possible volume of trade at this season of the year.

In most cases, enterprising merchants who are Regular Newspaper Advertisers increase their space before Christmas, and non-regular advertisers get into the papers about that time and drop out entirely after the Holidays.

Business Hypnotism.

You Have Heard It Said :

"I Don't Need To Advertise"

"I don't need advertising. My business was never better". This is the merchant we would like to convince of the weakness of the position he is assuming.

The advertising solicitor has seen many a man go under who for years had been hypnotised with this idea. Business was good and continued good with these men until such time as a more enterprising rival sprang like a bolt from the blue, and through a wise use of Printers' Ink and other up-to-date methods, had, in a few years, succeeded in focussing the attention of the Public on the Newcomer's Goods, to the dismay and ruin of the old firm.

JOHN WANAMAKER

Once said to a young business man who sought his service :—

"I owe my success to Newspaper Advertising. I know that, because I can reach a larger number of best buyers that way". : : : : : : : : : : : : :

"But It Costs Too Much"

says another merchant. That depends upon how you use it and where you place your advertising. Let us see :—THE DAILY EXAMINER print this week an average of over 3000 copies every day. It's fair to assume that in the 3000 homes in this City and District into which THE DAILY EXAMINER is received, an average of at least three readers in each home read it.

THE WEEKLY EXAMINER has an average Weekly Circulation of 2650 copies. It's fair to assume that in the 2650 homes into which the WEEKLY EXAMINER is received, an average of at least three readers in each home read it.

The Total Approximated Number of Readers of the Daily and Weekly Examiner Each Week is 16,950

The Total Cost for Twelve Months of each one inch of Advertising in The Daily and Weekly Examiner per 1000 Readers is 15c.

The Daily Examiner covers the city from one end to the other and,—The Weekly Examiner covers Seventy-Five different Post Offices in the County. Judged by this test, The Examiner is in a class by itself as far as the City and County of Peterborough are concerned.

MR. BUSINESS-MAN,--

Opportunity is Knocking at Your Door

REAL GENUINE
SCOTCH SHORT BREAD
Ornamented with any motto if ordered before noon Thursday

TRY OUR
PITCAITHLY SHORT BREAD

New Years Receptions are incomplete without our special lines of
MACAROONS & FANCY CAKES
Nothing finer on the continent

FANCY BOXES OF DELICIOUS
CHOCOLATES AND BON BONS

WE ARE THE CATERERS

COLEMAN BROS. 426 GEORGE ST. TELEPHONE 336

B. SHORTLY'S
— for —
NEW YEAR PRESENTS

Every year more and more people find here just what they are looking for in the Gift line, such as

Trunks Satchels
Travelling Bags
Shopping Bags
Suit Cases Purses
Fitted-Out Bags
and Club Bags
for both ladies and gentlemen
Wallets, Pocket Books
Nothing Nicer for New Year Gifts

We never had a better assortment, either in quality and design, and the prices will be found very reasonable and adaptable to every purse

Sign of the Horse - George Street

Manual labour taxes the strength of the human machine. The man who works appreciates to the fullest extent the recuperative qualities and purity of
CALCUTT'S ALE, PORTER & LAGER
It is the popular beverage of the man who earns his living by actual, muscular work. You have tried the rest—
NOW TRY THE BEST
Manufactured by
The Calcutt Brewing & Malting Company
Ashburnham. 'Phone 98

FIRE!

I am selling off my whole stock of New Boots and shoes at Fire Sale Prices. All reduced since the Fire. Come and get Footwear Bargains and Holiday Footwear at marked down prices while they last.

Robt. Di Bernardo
BROOKS BLOCK
Corner George and Sherbrooke Streets

FOREST CONDITIONS IN FRONTENAC COUNTY, ONT.

From Farm and Dairy.

Editor, Farm and Dairy:—The article in Farm and Dairy, November 4th, dealing with reforesting waste lands in Ontario was of much interest, so much so that will you allow me a little space in which to make some suggestions as concern reforesting in our locality, where trees will grow luxuriantly without having to be planted.

I am living in a part of Ontario where people are trying to farm on land that is natural bush land and where the brush comes up in spite of all that can be done to work the land among the rocks or stone piles. It seems to me that the country is starting to work at the wrong end of this reforesting job. To appreciate this one ought to see the way in which lumber is still wasted around the mills, as for instance, by using circular saws that cut out one-quarter of an inch to every cut, making I am told some 25 or more feet, board measure of saw-dust per log; sawing nothing less than nine feet long under which length all stuff goes over to the slab table to be sold in four foot wood at $2.00 a cord, f.o.b., the cars, so that only about one half of the log, even when sound, is sold as lumber—and all this but 60 miles from a city and well settled country.

TIMBER MENACED BY FIRE

This whole country, if left to itself, would be covered with good timber in a few years. That is, if it were looked after. But it is only very thinly settled in this township, as is the case with a lot more of the northern part of Frontenac County, and as even the J.P.'s never seem to think of fire laws, all timber is menaced by fire. Someone, maybe, has a brush pile to burn, or perchance a beaver meadow. He takes the first windy dry day to do this work as then he will tell you it will "run good." And it generally does run good. It gets well into this second growth brush and often will run for five or six miles or until a rain puts it out. In this way, the second growth is all killed off again and again.

It is quite safe to estimate that not five acres out of every 200 in this locality and in adjoining townships are worked as farming land. The remainder is covered with second growth soft and hard wood, of various ages. Much of the second growth is poplar, a very good wood for inside work and for purposes where basswood is used. I have seen fine strips of poplar trees, four, eight and 10 inches in diameter and from 25 to 40 feet long killed by fire, only to fall to feed some fire three of four years later, should someone set a fire near. After this second fire, the only thing that comes up is buckhorn "brakes" that is no use for anything and scrub poplar that will grow only a few feet high. Besides all this, the land is useless even for pasture.

FIRE LAWS INEFFECTIVE

The fire laws, like most other laws, ought to be taken out of the hands of men in politics. No man should be allowed to set out fire without a permit, even in his own door yard, as some men seem to have a love for fire and the bigger it is the better. More is being wasted even now at the mills and by fire than can be grown in the way of reforesting in 50 years.

The money that will be used to reforest some other place would buy out practically every settler in some of these townships and ship them out west where they could farm and live, which is something that some of them cannot do now, as many of them do not get enough ahead to pay their store bills. And these people never will get much ahead. They have been used to clearing a new piece of land on which to grow their crops. Since that kind of practice is a thing of the past, they can barely live, they not being given to reading or to posting themselves on anything or on other ways of handling their land. The sandy soil in our locality will grow good corn and potatoes, but on it tame hay and grain only end in failure.—Chas. Blake, Frontenac Co., Ont.

CURED WHEN DOCTORS FAILED

Mr. Felix Villeneuve, Clarence Creek, Ont., writes: "I was a great sufferer from kidney disease and inflammation of the bowels and liver troubels and doctors could not help me much. Could not sleep, water contained sediment, had frequent desire to urinate and often passed blood. Had dreadful headaches, one side almost paralyzed, and was deaf in left ear for eight years. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills cured me and I am very grateful. I want to thank you."

BIG LOSS TO CANADA

From Farm and Dairy.

A recent issue of an American exchange made the following statements in regard to the cheese industry of Canada. Knowing the facts not to be warranted by actual conditions

THIN
Perhaps Losing Weight

Not quite sick, but robbed of ambition to work—find it hard to think clearly. Not ill enough to think of dying, but bad enough for life to be pretty dull. There is a remedy — Ferrozone — that quickly lifts that half-dead feeling. Gracious, but Ferrozone makes you feel good; it sharpens the dullest appetite, makes it as keen as a razor.

FERROZONE
Builds Up

Blood? Ferrozone makes lots of it, the rich, nourishing kind that vitalizes the whole body. You'll be wonderfully quickened, immensely strengthened, feel hearty and vigorous after using Ferrozone. Buoyant health, surplus vigor, and reserve energy all come from this great restorative. Fifty cents a box of fifty tablets, at all dealers.

For Headaches
Caused by sick stomach, ill-regulated bile, sluggish bowels, nervous strain or overwork, the safest and surest remedy is
BEECHAM'S PILLS
Sold Everywhere. In Boxes 25 cents.

Farm and Dairy submitted the article to Mr. W. W. Moore, chief of the Markets Division of the Dairy and Cold Storage Branch of Agriculture, Ottawa. Mr. Moore's comments reproduced on this page are well worth the careful attention of all who have the welfare of Canada's dairy industry at heart.

Canada is losing her hold on the cheese trade, according to a report published in the Chicago papers, which says that the production of Canadian cheese, so far this season, is approximately 1,786,000 boxes, which is only 8,000 boxes in excess of the production during the same period last year, but the price received is, on the average one cent a pound less than was obtained a year ago. In explaining this anomalous situation exporters say the lower prices are due, to a considerable extent, to the increase in New Zealand's cheese output. Last year 520,000 boxes were made in New Zealand, which five years ago produced only 66,000 boxes. This increase in production has been tremendous throughout the past five or six years and the latest reports are to the effect that this year's production will be 20 per cent. greater than that of last year.

New Zealand's make of cheese has now displaced Canadian makes on the English market, in the winter season. Especially is this true of the London district as the New Zealand boats land their cargoes there.

The present prices for Canadian cheese do not encourage the farmers of Canada to increase the number of their cows. The only hope for Canadian cheese in the British market, lies in the possibility of New Zealand turning to the manufacture of butter, in which science New Zealanders excel Canadians easily. They can make better butter than Canadians and they would rather make butter than cheese. If butter prices in Great Britain advance New Zealanders will be encouraged to return to the manufacture of that article, and then Canada may get another show in the British cheese market.

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S QUEUE

It Hid a Luxuriant Suit of Straight and Very Dark Hair.

The Father of his Country concealed a luxuriant suit of hair beneath his queue wig. Many now wish the old fashion were in vogue, to conceal thinned hair or baldness. Yet no one need have thin hair nor be bald, if he cures the dandruff that causes both. Dandruff cannot be cured by scouring the scalp, because it is a germ disease, and the germ has to be killed. Newbro's Herpicide kills the dandruff germ—no other hair preparation will. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." There's no cure for dandruff but to kill the germ. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Sold by Jury & McDermid, druggists; also Payne's Drug Store. One Dollar bottles guaranteed.

Vote for Morrow

MINDFUL OF SMALL MATTERS

From Farm and Dairy.

As a rule, beginners in the poultry business are not mindful of the small details, and this fact has probably led up to more disaster than anything that we could name. The poultry business will not suffer leaks. At the end of the first year the average beginner classes himself as an expert, and maps out a course entirely different from that followed by the practical man who has spent years of hard work and study. He will theoretically lay the foundation for an income which the expert has never been able to attain. It is not necessary to dwell upon the results.

Why is it that the fowls in the yards of successful poultry men show that healthy, pink condition? It is due to their constant watch and promptly nipping in the bud the first symptoms of ill health. The beginner aims to acquire the art of poultry doctoring—the expert exercises his wits in the art of prevention.

LOOKING AHEAD

The expert does everything in a systematic way, is regular in all his duties, never postpones any duty, is constantly looking ahead, and stays ahead in his work. He makes repairs before they become dangerous leaks, and in a rather slow but careful tread goes about his work that he may do all things well. The amateur, especially if his living does not solely rely upon his labors, looks upon the mindfulness of these small matters as trivial, but sooner or later he finds out that they mean maintaining good health, good condition and good returns.

It is not such a severe task to drive out a small army of lice, but when every crack and crevice in the poultry house is filled to overflowing it becomes hard work and work that is not always completely satisfactory Allowing dirt and filth to accumulate is not only a breeder of lice but also of disease. Allowing piles of wood and rubbish to heap up nearby the buildings, affords a safe hiding place for rats, minks, weasles and other poultry enemies. Allowing houses to remain open at night, nothing secure, affords a strong temptation to midnight poultry raisers.

The price of roofing may be saved for the time being by not repairing the holes here and there, and some labor may be avoided by allowing the crooks to remain in the walls, but when the rains come down, and the draughts of cold air blow through, there may have to be double the amount of labor spent to save the afflicted stock. For surely such conditions must have their dire results.—F.C.E.

A New York Deluge.

New York, Dec. 30.—More than five million gallons of water were used by firemen yesterday in a seven-hour fight with a blaze, which gutted the six storey lift building at 214-218 Sullivan street. At times 13,500 gallons of water a minute deluged the structure from 27 lines of hose under the new high pressure system.

Too Bashful to Live.

Toledo, Dec. 30.—Lonesome, although at home with his parents, and in the midst of a city, because his abnormal bashfulness prevented him from having chums and companions like other young men, Henry Welte, aged 22, a teamster, shot himself yesterday with fatal result.

In a note, begging his parents's forgiveness, he said: "I am so bashful; I always have to stay in the house. I could not stand it any longer."

Oakville Man Killed Under Train.

North Bay, Dec. 30.—At Temagami station on the T. and N. O. Railway, William Anderson, miner and prospector, who owns a mine at Doherty eight miles from Temagami, had just purchased a ticket for Oakville, where he was going to visit his parents, and made a rush for the train, which was already in motion. He missed the step and fell under the wheels, dying in a short time.

"The Man That Broke the Bank."

London, Dec. 30.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—A Monte Carlo despatch says: The most sensational play for some time occurred yesterday, when a French Canadian, Grouzier, accompanied by an Italian, won $115,000 at roulette staking the maximum of $4,000 "or the dozens." He then lost $112,000 but recovered it again and the bank was replenished several times.

Died From Convulsion.

London, Dec. 30.—A postmortem was held on the body of Frank Madison, aged 7, who was found dying in a hallway at Wolseley Barracks, on Tuesday afternoon. The doctors found that death was caused by a convulsion which passed into a state of coma He was the son of Bugle Sergt. Arthur Madison of the barracks.

Melvin-Jones on the Bench.

Among the prominent residents of Toronto recently fined for exceeding the speed limit with his automobile, was Senator Lyman Melvin-Jones, who contributed five dollars to the civic exchequer. And this is not the first time that Mr. Jones has paid a fine and helped to swell the coffers of a large corporation.

The other incident was in Winnipeg back in the early eighties, when he was mayor of that city. It was then a common practice for men to saw cordwood on the streets, for the prairie capital had not acquired anything like the metropolitan air that it has to-day. A bylaw was passed by the City Council that no wood-sawing should be done on the public thoroughfares. Yet, what was the poor average resident to do? There were few back yards fenced off, and wood sheds were not numerous.

One day an offending citizen was summoned by the police for a violation of the bylaw. Mayor Jones presided in the Police Court that morning. The defendant acknowledged his guilt, and the acting magistrate, for the purpose of setting an example to other probable offenders, taxed him a dollar and costs. The man asked if he could have time to pay, and was allowed a week. Before the seven days had elapsed, the mayor went down in his own pocket and settled with the city. After that the police were allowed to overlook the practice of sawing wood on the street, as it was felt by his worship that to enforce the regulation too rigidly would be a hardship in those pioneer days. Mr. Jones is probably the only Canadian mayor who ever taxed a citizen for violating a bylaw and then paid the fine himself.

Duck Hunting With Nets.

Duck hunting with nets, which is declared by E. Tinsley, chief game inspector of Ontario to be "the dirtiest form of law-breaking possible," has cropped up again in the neighborhood of Belleville, where it used to be rife some years ago, and the department is taking vigorous measures to stamp it out. One offender, who has been apprehended, in addition to having his nets confiscated, has had to pay a fine of $20.

Port Rowan, Fort Erie and Belleville were formerly the resorts of gangs of law-breakers of this stamp, who set the department at defiance and on one occasion even murdered an inspector. These, however, had been pretty well cleaned out, until the present recrudescence of the evil.

Chops Wood at 102.

The Port Credit News, a hustling newcomer in the ranks of Peel County journalism, says:

It is not often that we hear of a person living to the age of 102, but we have one citizen, Patrick Long, who celebrated his 102nd birthday on Friday, Nov. 12, by a large gathering of his family and many friends. Some were present from Toronto. Mr. Long was born in Ireland, and came to Canada when a young man, and has lived in Port Credit vicinity ever since. At present he is living with his daughter, Mrs. Joseph Block, and is enjoying good health and is able to be out each day, and often indulges in the good exercise of cutting light wood.

[illegible] them.

"The pastor of a Tallapoosa church," said a southern senator, "said rather pointedly from the pulpit one Sunday morning:

"'Ah sutny am rejiced to see Bruddah Calhoun White in chu'ch once mo'. Ah's glad Bruddah Calhoun has saw de error of his ways at lawst, fo' dere is mo' joy obah one sinnah dat repenteth dan obah de ninety an' nine'—

"But at this point Brother Calhoun White interrupted angrily.

"'Oh,' said he from his seat, 'de ninety an' nine needn't crow, Ah could tell some things erbout ninety an' nine of Ah wanted ter!'"

LETTER HEADS
STATEMENTS
BILL HEADS
ENVELOPES
CARDS

The Examiner
Has recently added many New Faces of Type, New Borders, New Ornaments, New Cuts, Etc., to its Job Printing Department.

Anything and everything in the way of High-grade Printing produced. If something original is desired, we will be pleased of an opportunity to prove to you that we can put character into our work.

POSTERS
CIRCULARS
CATALOGUES
PROGRAMMES
CHECK BOOKS

December Coal
7.50 Per Ton Cash

YOU KNOW just what you need for the winter. Why delay? Order this month and save. . .

COAL
For Every Purpose.
WOOD
Any way you want it.

The Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Company, Limited
162 CHARLOTTE ST.
PHONE—Bell, 270-361, Mach., 270
134 AYLMER ST.
PHONE— . . . . Bell 269

A Good Resolve

If you want Good Bread on your table every day during 1910, it is up to you to start the New Year with a dollar's worth of tickets for

Gilgour & Mackay's Home-Made BREAD

Order from the driver or ring up the bakery office Telephone 640.

Fancy Cakes, Buns, Biscuits, Pastry, etc., Fresh every morning
Store and Bakery, Corner George and Edinburgh, Sts.

TALBOT'S Delicatessen
TWO STORES

We wish to impress upon the minds of housekeepers that we always have an abundant supply of

FRESH FISH
FRESH HADDOCK FINAN HADDIE
FRESH SALMON FRESH WHITE FISH

in addition to our regular supply of

BEST BEEF BEST PORK
BEST LAMB BEST VEAL

Also, Fresh Oysters, Canned Goods, Allan's Cider, Chopped Suet, Mince Meat.

A.L. TALBOT
243 George St. Phone 736
410-12 George St., Phone 338
d-Sat-65

Little Things.

Now, if you manage just to smile
When you would rather frown
And if you say a cheery word
When you yourself feel "down,"
And if some chance remark has caused
A hidden scar to ache,
But you can hide it with a smile
Just for the other's sake,
So that the ones who love you best
Don't guess they've hurt you so
Do you not think the Master's eye
Sees all you do not show?
He knows it's rather hard each day
To be so gay and bright,
To smile for others' sakes and keep
The pain all out of sight.
I think the very effort, too,
Some comfort with it brings
And that we please the Master well
By just these "little things."
—London [illegible]

PILES Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain and guaranteed cure for each and every form of itching, bleeding and protruding piles. See testimonials in the press and ask your neighbors about it. You can use it and get your money back if not satisfied. 60c, at all dealers or EDMANSON, BATES & Co., Toronto.
DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

EAST CITY
Coal and Wood
YARD
MAIN OFFICE—111 Hunter St., East
Phone 96

All sizes of Best Mined Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.

Egg, Stove and Nut Coal per ton $7.50
Pea or No. 2 Nut Coal, per ton . . $6.50
Dry Tamarac and Mixed Wood.
First Class Dry Hardwood.

WEIR & O'BRIEN
ARCH WEIR JAMES O'BRIEN

Edwin Elcome
TAXIDERMIST

BIRDS, Animals, Fish and Snakes stuffed and mounted in the best life-like styles at the lowest price.

DEER HEADS A SPECIALTY.

A stock of foreign and native Birds always on hand for sale. Dealer in Eyes, Artificial Leaves and frosting, also Importer of Foreign Birds and Skins from all countries. Best Nature Study Books.

692 Harvey St. Peterboro

JAS. FROWDE
CARPENTER AND BUILDER

Is prepared to do all kinds of first-class Carpenter Work at reasonable prices. Residence—409 Walton Street, south of Weller Street Peterborough.

The Children's Aid Society
For the Care of Neglected and Ill-Treated Children.
Incorporated by act of Legislature. Information required. Informant's name kept strictly private.
Children for Adoption
GEO. COCHRANE,
Bell Phone. Agent and Asst.-Sec.
[illegible] 765 George St.

Spruce Up For The NEW YEAR

And have your Cutters and Sleighs repaired and put in good condition when the snow flies. By
BEN YELLAND
174 Murray Street.

China Painting
Mrs. Langley McCarthy
Teaches Bischoff's New and Beautiful Dark Work in China Painting, Lessons in Oil Painting for Advanced Pupils. Studio 48 Hunter St. West

EXTRA CHOICE BEEF
For New Year's

The pick of Prime Western Heifers and Steers.

Specially Fed Lamb, Veal, Pork, Hams, Bacon, Sausage, etc., etc.

TURKEY Prizes

Everyone purchasing one dollars' worth or over at this shop will be entitled to a guess on the weight of a Prize Turkey. The party guessing the nearest to its weight will get a Turkey Free.

Turkeys cheaper than before Xmas

R. COX
461 George St.
Phone - - 10

Railway Time Table

GRAND TRUNK

	Arrive.	Depart.
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst, North Bay, Sturgeville and Toronto	11.40 a.m.	6.35 a.m.
	9.00 p.m.	6.35 p.m.
Port Hope and points east to Montreal and Boston	6.35 a.m.	11.40 a.m.
	6.30 p.m.	9.00 p.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and West, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Cobourg, Montreal & East.	6.35 a.m.	11.40 a.m.
	6.30 p.m.	9.00 p.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge and Markham.	11.40 a.m.	7.10 a.m.
	9.00 p.m.
	10.15 p.m.	6.35 p.m.
Lindsay Local	6.35 a.m.	9.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and East.	8.10 a.m.	8.30 a.m.
	6.05 p.m.	1.40 p.m.
	9.30 a.m.	6.35 a.m.
Lakefield.	6.15 p.m.	12.30 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Going East	Leave Peterboro'
For Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal, Kingston.	11.20 a.m.
For Indian River, Norwood, Havelock Tweed.	7.51 p.m.
For Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal.	12.31 a.m.
Going West	Leave Peterboro'
For Toronto, Galt, London, Detroit, Chicago.	5.20 a.m.
For Barkston, Bobcaygeon, Myrtle, Toronto.	7.53 a.m.
For Toronto, Detroit, Chicago, Winnipeg and Northwest.	4.30p.m.
Points.

'09 CANADIAN PACIFIC '10
NEW YEAR'S RATES

SINGLE FARE
Good dated Dec. 31st and Jan. 1st Returning Monday, January 3rd

FARE AND ONE - THIRD
Good dating Dec. 28th, 29th, 30th, Dec. 31st, Jan. 1st, Return limit Jan. 5th

Secure tickets and all information at city office. With best wishes for a happy and prosperous New Year.
W. McILROY,
City Pass. Agent

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
NEW YEAR EXCURSIONS
Between all stations in Canada.
Single Fare
Good going Dec 31st, 1909 & Jan. 3rd, 1910. Return limit January 3rd, 1910.
Fare & One-Third
Good going Dec. 28th, 1909, to Jan. 1s 1910 Return limit Jan. 5th, 1910.
Secure tickets & further information from
F. SANDY Depot Agent
W. SUNTON City Agent

COAL
That Is Coal
Is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL at
$7.50 Per Ton
HARDWOOD
First Class—Best in City—at
$6.00 Per Cord
4 feet long. Cutting and Splitting as desired, at
J. E. A. Fitzgerald's
Bar. Brock & Aylmer Phone 111

Gratitude and Greeting

At this joyous season, we desire to express our Grateful Appreciation for the large patronage bestowed on our little Drug Store during 1909, and to thank one and all for the many kind comments regarding the superiority of ourgoods and money-saving prices. :: :: :: ::

On and after Jan. 1st, 1910, we will occupy our new and more commodious store, 351 George St., next to Richard Hall & Son's, Limited. We trust the service we have given in the past will warrant a continuance of its patronage during the new year. ¶ May 1910 be brimful of Happiness and Prosperity to all. :: :: :: :: ::

THE
WARNE DRUG CO.
345 GEORGE STREET :: LIMITED

CENTRAL CANADA
LOAN & SAVINGS COY.
26 KING ST. E. TORONTO.

Notice is hereby given that a quarterly dividend at the rate of eight per cent. (8%) per annum for the three months ending December 31st, 1909, has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this Company, together with a bonus of two per cent. (2%) for the year 1909, making a total dividend disbursement for the year ten per cent. (10%). The said dividend and bonus will be payable at the office of the Company in this city on and after January 1st, 1910.

The Transfer Books of the Company will be closed from the 20th to the 31st of December, both days inclusive.

E. R. WOOD,
Managing Director.
Toronto, December, 15th, 1909.

Mrs. M. J. Byrne
Dealer in Ladies' Furnishings
and Hair Work

Ladies' Underwear, Children's Clothing and Ornamental Needle Work and Stamping executed to order and kept in stock

LADIES' HAIR DRESSING

skilfully attended to. Ladies hair dressed for balls, parties, entertainments and all public and private occasions. Switches, Bangs, etc., always in stock and made to order fashionably. Combings of Hair done up in any desired style. Masks, Wigs, etc., rented for carnivals, concerts and all occasions.

424 George St. Phone 262

Your Holiday Snapshots Enlarged

Work guaranteed first-class—Enlargements made from your best pictures, for any size frame.

Louis Mewett

STUDIO—374½ George Street, East Side.
The only Studio on George St.

SLEIGHING

Drawing near and your Cutter or Business Sleighs require revarnishing or repainting. Now is the time to have it done and stored until you want them. For a good reliable up-to-date job of Carriage Painting or lettering give

W. J. ANDREWS

a trial this time. Shop
173 Murray St., opp. New Armouries
1yr.

B. LASTAR
BARGAIN HOUSE

B. Lastar's Holiday Stock is the cheapest in Town.

Ladies' Furs, Coats, Skirts, Suits, Waists, Millinery, Feathers, Plumes, etc.

Men's Overcoats, Suits, Hats, Caps.

Boys' Clothing, Neckwear, Scarfs and etc.

Children's Furs, Coats and Caps, Toys, Fancy Goods, Jewellery, Purses, Brooches, etc.

J. J. SHADGETT

Up-to-date Carriage and Sign Painter. Dealer in Waggons, Cutters and Sleighs. All Repairing promptly executed.

57 Hunter St. Phone 443

FOR ALDERMAN.

Your vote and influence is solicited for my election for the sixth year as Alderman for the city. The same careful consideration will be given my actions in the future as in the past.

Wishing you all a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Yours Sincerely,

A. A. McINTYRE

To The Electors
of the City of Peterborough

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,

I have been nominated for the third time for Alderman, and desire to put before you my views regarding the accepted methods of election of candidates.

I am personally opposed to any canvass being made, as it places the elector in an embarrassing position. If you know a candidate soliciting support, you do not wish to hurt his feelings by refusing him. You may promise support but have the impression that he will not make a suitable representative. On election day you will keep your word, against your better judgment, or you do not vote as promised, which position you are forced into by the soliciting of candidates for support.

I have been nominated, and if elected will give the best of my ability to the work of the City. It is for the Electors to say AS I DO NOT INTEND TO CANVASS. If you think I have made an efficient servant during my two years of office, Vote for Me on Monday, January 3rd.

Yours Sincerely,

J. J. TURNER, Jr.

I respectfully solicit support and votes in my favour as a candidate for election to the City Council.

I will try my best to be of real service to the city.

JAS. G. GRAHAM

4d—150

Your Vote and Influence respectfully solicited for re-election of

Joseph R. Metheral
as Alderman for 1910

4d—150

Your Vote and Influence for the Election of

W. S. ROBINSON

to the Board of Education for 1910

"Economic Administration of our Schools," my Policy

Drama to Boom Suffragism.

Chicago, Dec. 30.—The gospel of "votes for women" will be spread through Illinois by means of the drama. Three companies are on the point of being organized in Chicago for amateur performances of plays dealing with suffrage.

Morrisburg's Suffragist.

Morrisburg, Dec. 30.—Especial interest attaches to the municipal campaign in Morrisburg, as a woman, Mrs. Wingard, is a candidate for the board of education. She has been brought out by the Women's Institute.

Line From Naples to Montreal.

Naples, Dec. 30.—The Italian-Montreal steamship line will begin operations as soon as navigation opens in the spring. It is backed by the Italian Government.

MEMORY OF GLADSTONE.

Admirers of G. O. M. Commemorate Centenary of Birth.

London, Dec. 30.—The centenary of the birth of William Ewart Gladstone was commemorated yesterday, not only in the land of his birth, but in countries like Greece, the Balkans and Armenia, whose peoples still cherish the memory of the statesman's exertions in their behalf.

Many foreign delegations joined in services which were held at Westminster. At Hawarden, where Mr. Gladstone died, on May 19, 1898, and at other points throughout the country largely attended memorial meetings were held.

The statue of Gladstone in the Strand was fairly hidden beneath floral offerings that had come from all parts of the world, while his tomb in Westminster Abbey was covered with tributes, including a large solid silver wreath received from the Government of Bulgaria.

At New York.

New York, Dec. 30.—Hon. James Bryce, the British ambassador, delivered to a large audience in Carnegie Hall Tuesday night, an address in commemoration of William E. Gladstone. The meeting was arranged by the civic forum. J. P. Morgan, Jacob H. Schiff and Mrs. Russell Sage were present. Former Mayor Seth Low presided.

"Gladstone," wrote President Taft, "has been one of my heroes."

Clerical Organ Shocked.

Montreal, Dec. 30.—L'Action Sociale, the Quebec clerical organ, is much scandalized at the fact of leading men in this city attending the funeral of Dr. Cote, who has persistently refused to receive a priest at the time of his last illness. L'Action Sociale is not at all surprised to find the names of Free Masons in the funeral cortege, but it refers to the pious Senator David, two professors of the Catholic University at Laval, Judge Lafontaine, H. Gervais, M.P., Judges St. Pierre and Choquette, and also to several journalists.

"Nothing can justify," says L'Action Sociale, "either before God or man, the fact of a Christian voluntarily participating in a public injury organized underhandedly against the Church of God."

Col. M. D. Dawson Dead.

London, Ont., Dec. 30.—The death took place yesterday afternoon of Col. M. D. Dawson, who from 1884 to 1907 was paymaster and superintendent of military stores in this district. He was born in New Brunswick in 1838, and came to London in 1851, where, except from 1865 to 1861, he resided continuously. He was secretary of St. John's Masonic Lodge for over 40 years, and was also prominent in the Oddfellows and Workmen. He was married in 1859 to Miss Eliza Jane Hannah of St. John, N.B., who died in 1897, leaving two children, Charles and Leilias. Col. Dawson married a second time in 1869, to Miss Rebecca Jane Hearn of Montreal, and of four children, Louis H., Mabel G. and Melville survive.

Italian Buried Alive.

Hamilton, Dec. 30.—Benimia Rubis, 19 years of age, an Italian, met a horrible death at the steel plant last evening, when he was buried alive by a landslide of iron ore. He was engaged in unloading ore, and was buried under a big heap that gave away. His companions made desperate efforts to release him and just as they had almost succeeded the pile slid again and he was buried a second time. When the ore was removed he was dead.

Peter McCowell, South Garth street, who fell downstairs Sunday evening, is in a critical condition.

Submarine Save Sailors.

Toulon, Dec. 30.—The submarine Cigogone performed a remarkable lifesaving feat during a recent storm. The boat was practically diving in the open sea, when the commander saw a large fishing boat suddenly overwhelmed and sunk.

The submarine immediately dived right under the fishing craft, of which the mast head alone was above water. The valves were operated quickly and the Cigogone rose to the surface, lifting the boat and holding it above water long enough to take off the crew.

Won't Send Out Sealers.

Victoria, B.C., Dec. 30.—In view of the decision of the Canadian Government to adjudicate an international agreement embracing Britain, America, Russia and Japan for the suppression of pelagic sealing, the Victoria Sealing Co., at its annual meeting yesterday, decided to send out none of the vessels of its fleet next season. Upwards of sixty schooners will consequently be idle.

Canada Really Independent.

New York, Dec. 30.—Before the American Historical and Political Science Association, yesterday, Prof. G. M. Wrong of the University of Toronto, declared that Canada, to all intents and purposes, was a free country, and could break her ties with the Mother Country without a struggle, with the people of Canada hardly knowing a change had been taking place.

Crows Stealing Corn.

Chatham, Dec. 30.—Crows have been eating hundreds of bushels of corn in Harwich, Raleigh, and Dover Townships and the scene is now being visited by C. W. Nash, director of the biological department of the Ontario Legislature.

Aged Couple Die Together.

St. John, N.B., Dec. 30.—At Carlingford, in Carleton County, Richard Everett, aged 80, died in his chair. Within 15 minutes his wife, aged 90, also died in her chair. They had been married 60 years. Their son died a month ago.

Eleven Schooners Lost.

St. John's, Nfld., Dec. 30.—Eleven Newfoundland schooners and their crews of 60 men, are believed to have been lost in the Christmas blizzard.

MARKET REPORTS.

Liverpool Wheat Futures Close Higher, Chicago Lower—Live Stock —Latest Quotations.

Wednesday Evening, Dec. 29.

Liverpool wheat futures closed to-day ½d to ⅝d higher than yesterday; corn futures ⅛d lower.

At Chicago, December wheat closed ⅛c lower than yesterday; December corn unchanged, and December oats ⅛c lower.

Winnipeg Options.

At Winnipeg, December wheat closed ½c higher than yesterday; December oats unchanged.

Wheat—December, $1.08½; Jan., $1.03½; May, $1.04½.

Oats—December 34½c, Jan. 34½c, May 38¾c.

Toronto Grain Market.

Wheat, fall, bush	$1 09	to $1 10
Wheat, goose, bush	1 05	....
Wheat, red, bush	1 09	....
Buckwheat, bushel	0 58	....
Rye, bushel	0 76	....
Barley, bush.	0 63	0 64
Peas, bushel	0 90	....
Oats, bushel	0 40	....

Toronto Dairy Market.

Cheese, per lb	0 13	0 13¼
Eggs, case lots, dozen	0 25	0 28
Butter, separator, dairy, lb.	0 25	0 26
Butter, store lots	0 23	0 24
Butter, creamery, solids	0 26	....
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls	0 27	0 30
Honey, extracted	0 10½	....
Honey, combs, per dozen	2 25	2 00

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Easy—United States Markets Quiet and Steady.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—London cables for cattle are dull, at 12c to 13c per lb. for live cattle, dressed weight; Liverpool dressed, ½c to 1c lower at 11½c to 12c per lb; refrigerator beef dull and lower.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Dec. 29.—(Special.)—Since the close of navigation from this port, business in export live stock cargoes has been very quiet, as export cattle thruout the country are scarce. Steamship agents are finding it difficult to fill ocean freight space from Portland and St. John, N.B., even at the low rates ruling, while from American ports it is offering at 25s to Liverpool, without meeting with takers. The run of northwest ranch cattle is now about over for this year, and what few lots are coming forward are in most cases being sold on the local market, realizing much better prices than in foreign markets on account of the scarcity of good domestic cattle for home consumption. A recent shipment of northwest ranch cattle of 300 head, which was made to the Liverpool market, lost the exporter $12 per head, altho they only cost on the ranch 4½c per lb. The tone of the market here is strong and prices are steadily tending towards a higher level on account of the temporary scarcity, but it is stated by exporters that the present high values will no doubt induce farmers to sell their stallfed stock before they are half finished, in fact, contracts have already been made for them in some districts at 6c per lb. in the stalls.

At the Canadian Pacific Live Stock Market this morning offerings were 800 cattle, 250 sheep and lambs, 400 hogs and 100 calves. There was no important change in the condition of the market for cattle. Choice steers sold at 5¾c; good, at 5¼c to 5½c, fair, at 4¾c to 5c; medium, at 4½c to 4½c, and cows and bulls, 3c to 4½c per pound.

In small meats there was an increased strength for hogs and prices scored a further advance of 25c per cwt., attributed to the keen demand from packers and small receipts. An active trade was done at $9.25, weighed off the cars for selected lots, the highest price in 20 years. In sheep and lambs trade was quiet on account of small offerings. Sheep sold at 4½c and lambs at 6½c per lb. The demand for calves was good at from $3 to $12 each.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Dec. 29.—Cattle unchanged.

Veals—Receipts, 75 head; active and 50c higher, $5 to $11.

Hogs—Receipts, 1000 head; active and steady; roughs, $8.15 to $8.25; stags, $6.50 to $7.50.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 2200 head; sheep, active and steady; lambs, slow and 10c to 15c higher; lambs, $5.25 to $8.30; Canada lambs, $8.40 to $8.60.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Beeves—Receipts, 2695; irregular; steers, $5.30 to $7; oxen, $4 to $6.25; bulls, $3.50 to $5.40; cows, $2.45 to $4.75; dressed beef, slow. Exports to-day, 2250 quarters of beef.

Calves—Receipts, 1852. Veals, steady; barnyard calves, quiet; westerns, steady; veals, $7.50 to $11.50; culls, $5.50 to $7; barnyard calves, $4 to $4.75; westerns, $4.50 to $4.75; dressed calves, steady to strong; city dressed veals, 11c to 18c; country dressed, 10c to 14½c; dressed barnyard calves, 8c to 10c.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 3969; sheep, firm; lambs, steady; medium, slow; sheep, $3.50 to $5; culls, $3.50 to $3; lambs, $7.50 to $9; culls, $5 to $6.50; yearlings, $6 to $6.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 7692; firm at $9.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—Cattle—Receipts, 13,000; market, steady; steers, $5 to $9; cows, $3.50 to $5; heifers, $3.40 to $6; bulls, $3.40 to $4.75; calves, $5 to $9.75; stockers and feeders, $3.75 to $5.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 20,000; market, steady; choice heavy, $8.65 to $8.75; butchers, $8.40 to $8.70; light mixed, $8.20 to $8.40; choice light, $8.20 to $8.45; packing, $8.20 to $8.55; pigs, $7.50 to $8.25; bulk of sales, $8.40 to $8.60.

Sheep—Receipts, 15,000; market, steady; sheep, $4 to $5.75; lambs, $6.25 to $8.50; yearlings, $5.25 to $7.60.

Should Find Causes of Every Suicide.

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 30.—The probing of every suicide, to determine the cause of the act, was advocated by Prof. J. G. Hume, of Toronto University, before the American Philosophical Association at Yale.

Prof. Hume claimed that realistic, sensational press accounts of harrowing details of unfortunate acts exert a morbid influence upon those struggling with the temptation of committing crime.

Paris to Improve.

Paris, Dec. 30.—The Chamber of Deputies yesterday voted authorization to the Paris municipality to contract for a loan of 900,000,000 francs ($180,000,000), for an elaborate scheme of improvements, including the demolition of insanitary quarters, the construction of new streets, gardens and schools, and for changes in public works.

Want to Join the Navy.

Ottawa, Dec. 30.—Over a hundred applications have been received at the Marine Department for positions in the proposed Canadian navy. Included in the number are applications from several men who have served in the British navy and are now on the reserve.

French Tariff Bill.

Paris, Dec. 30.—The Chamber of Deputies yesterday adopted the new tariff bill as a whole. The vote was 363 to 142.

VOTE FOR
W. J. JOHNSTON

Five years' experience in City Council.

Five years in Ashburnham Council.

A fearless supporter of Local Option, and of honesty and efficiency in all civic business.

Vote For Johnston.

If you want a man to assist in conducting the business of the City HONESTLY, without fear or favour,

VOTE FOR

B. LASTAR
FOR ALDERMAN

Mr. Morrow's Committee Rooms

Committee Rooms have been opened up at

No. 173½ Simcoe St

where the supporters of Mr. W G. MORROW, Candidate for the Mayoralty, are invited to call at any time during the day or evening until after polling day.

Aged Man Struck by Street Car.

Toronto, Dec. 30.—Concussion of the brain, sustained by being struck by a street car at Bloor street and Rusholme road, at 4.45 yesterday afternoon, will probably result in the death of Arthur Gayser, aged 70, of 242 Havelock street. He also sustained internal injuries and cuts on both temples, which required ten stitches to close.

Mr. Gayser left a car at Bloor and Rusholme and walked behind it. A Bloor and McCaul car was coming from the west and he stepped in front of it. The car struck him, knocking him to one side. Witnesses carried the man into Dr. R. S. Conboy's office and, after he was attended temporarily, from there he was taken to the Western Hospital. His condition is regarded as being critical.

Suit Against Candidate.

Ottawa, Dec. 30.—Something of a sensation was sprung yesterday by the issuance of a writ against Dr. S. N. Parent, one of the French-Canadian candidates for the board of control, by A. E. Lussier, who, on behalf of Napoleon Gougeon, claims $3,000 damages for neglect of professional services requested.

Gougeon declares that Parent did not respond to a call to the bedside of Gougeon's wife, who died as the result of this alleged neglect of professional duty.

Dr. Parent declares that he was never called, and that the writ is a plan to injure his candidature. He offers to give $5,000 to charity if it can be shown that he refused to attend the dying woman.

New Dental College Opened.

Toronto, Dec. 30.—Lieut.-Governor Gibson formally opened the new building of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons at the corner of Huron and College streets yesterday afternoon in the presence of a distinguished gathering of university professors, members of the dental and medical professions and friends of the college, among whom were quite a number of ladies. His honor referred to the superior class of practitioners of to-day compared to those of the early days of the college.

Didn't Get Widow; Sues for $10,000.

Winnipeg, Dec. 30.—As the result of a practical joke played by Geo. Moore, a well-known Winnipeg man, on August Brandis, a wealthy farmer of Toulin, Man., the latter has instituted a suit against Moore for $10,000 damages. It appears that Moore promised to get Brandis a wife, who he said was a rich widow worth $50,000. Brandis came to Winnipeg, but the widow failed to materialize, hence the suit.

Committed Suicide in Cell.

Peterboro, Dec. 30.—Edward Shanney, sixty years of age, committed suicide in one of the cells at the police station yesterday morning by drinking carbolic acid from a bottle. He has been a regular night lodger at the station for a week or so.

W. G. MORROW
For Mayor

To the Electors of the City of Peterborough

Ladies and Gentlemen: —

At the urgent solicitation of a large number of ratepayers, I am now asking your support for my election to the Mayoralty of the city of Peterborough for the year 1910; and in doing so I am relying upon my record as a ratepayer, as a life-long citizen, as one materially interested in the manufacturing and industrial development of the city, and as one who as an Alderman served you for the past three years, first as as Chairman of the Manufacturers Committee and secondly as Chairman of the Finance Committee.

It is usual for one aspiring to the Chief Magistracy to attempt to outline some definite policy to be pursued during the term of office. In compliance with that custom I can only say that it will be my one aim to serve the city to the utmost of my ability, to do what I can to promote its commercial, industrial and moral development, to give fair and just consideration to all questions which may come before the Council, having regard to neither class nor party, as I am pledged to none.

Our city has made rapid progress in recent years, and the continuation of this progress will depend largely upon the growth and expansion of the city's present industries, and upon the establishment of new ones to which every encouragement and legitimate inducement should be given. The Council should give immediate attention to securing an adequate supply of cheap power. Every effort conducing to these ends has my fullest sympathy and support.

The time has arrived when the Council must take into consideration the question of permanent roadways in the business section, as well as permanence in general street construction, and of the extension and improvement of the sewer system in the southern parts of the city. To both of these matters I shall, if elected, give my earliest attention.

I am in favour of carrying out a policy of the strictest economy consistent with proper service in every department of the municipal business.

As the time between now and Election Day is short it will be impossible for me to personally call upon every ratepayer; I therefore take this means and opportunity of soliciting for myself the honour of your vote and influence.

Wishing you all a very Happy and Prosperous New Year, I am,

Yours Sincerely,

W. G. MORROW

Notice To Voters

Every citizen whose name appears in the Voters' List for 1910 is entitled to vote for THE PETERBOROUGH LIGHT and POWER COMPANY BY-LAW. VOTE for the By-law and help to reduce the price of Light.

RE-ELECTION OF

Ald. Duncan

To the Electors of the City of Peterborough

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,

Having accepted the nomination for re-election as Alderman of the City for the coming year, I respectfully solicit your vote and influence.

If I am favoured with your confidence and secure election, I shall do my very best to look after your interests and to faithfully discharge the duties pertaining to the position in such a manner as to, I hope, merit the approval of the majority of the electors.

Wishing you all a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

GEO. H. DUNCAN

Morse Must Go to Prison.

New York, Dec. 30.—Judge Hough of the United States Circuit Court, yesterday afternoon denied the motion for a new trial for Charles W. Morse, who is now in the Tombs under sentence for having violated the national banking laws.

The motion for a new trial was made on the ground that some of Mr. Morse's jurors were not fit to pass upon questions presented.

Morse will now have to begin serving a term of fifteen years imprisonment in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., unless his counsel can find ground for a further move to postpone execution of sentence.

Died From Exposure.

Waterford, Dec. 30.—A coroner's jury last night decided that William Schram accidentally wandered into the river while under the impression that he was on the road for home and that he died from exposure and not from drowning.

Five Killed by Explosion.

Reading, Pa., Dec. 30.—Five men were instantly killed early yesterday by the explosion of a boiler at the new plant of the Metropolitan Electric Co. The bodies were hurled several hundred feet, one of them over a high tree and 200 feet beyond.

Red Rose Tea "Is Good Tea"
NEVER VARIES IN QUALITY; EVERY PACKAGE IS GOOD.

When wanting a natty outfit for business or pleasure ring up
PULKINGHORN'S LIVERY
successor to Akey & Milburn
193 Hunter. 'Phone 278

The Evening Examiner.

ONE CENT A WORD
The Evening Examiner Want Ads. always bring results. For Sale, To-let, Losts-10 words-10c

12 PAGES PETERBOROUGH THURSDAY DECEMBER 30 1909 PAGES 7 TO 12

OBSTRUCTED THE POLICE

Fred Stevens Fined in the Police Court This Morning for Interference With Officer Who Was Making an Arrest.

PLEADED NOT GUILTY

It is not altogether a wise idea to start a fight in front of the police station, particularly in the broad daylight. Two men realized this this morning, when on account of a fistic encounter they had beside the Peterborough Club Building, they came within sight of the police officers and were placed under arrest

Three night workmen on their way home early this morning stopped at an hotel. After remaining there for about two hours they resumed their homeward walk. They went down Water street linked arms, attracting considerable attention by their boisterous behaviour. At the corner of Simcoe street they got into a fight and Chief Roszel and P. C. Newhall saw them from the window and went out and arrested two of them.

Fred Stevens, one of the two, was charged with assaulting a police officer, obstructing him in the arrest of Thomas Desent. Stevens pleaded not guilty and elected summary trial.

P. C. Newhall said that three men came along Water street this morning. They were quarrelling and were disorderly. Two of them fell down, both being very drunk. P. C. Newhall went out and helped one of the drunken men to his feet. The prisoner interfered and tried to prevent the witnes taking the man to the police station. The officer hit him on the head with his baton, and he ran away. Chief Roszel corroborated P. C. Newhall.

The prisoner said that he was trying to save his friend, admitting that in endeavoring to do so he interfered with the police.

His Worship fined the prisoner $2 and costs, amounting to $5.75 to be paid in ten days. Desent was too intoxicated to bring into court this morning.

A MASS MEETING FOR THE WORKING MEN OF THE SOUTH END :: ::

A most interesting Mass Meeting has been arranged for tomorrow (Thursday) night in the new and beautiful Auditorium of Park Street Baptist Church at 8 o'clock. H.E. Irwin K.C., of Toronto, will be the speaker. Mrs. Irwin, who is also a Temperance Worker and Speaker will take part. 3D151

Everybody Welcome
Bring Doubtful Voters

EARLY EASTER--- EARLY SPRING

If an early Easter, as is generally stated, is an indication of an early spring, the winter will come to an end betimes. In 1910 Ash Wednesday will fall on Feb. 9th, Good Friday on March 25th and Easter Sunday on March 28th.

MARVELLOUS HEALING POWERS

The most severe test to which a healing ointment is ever put is the cure of eczema. So successful has Dr. Chase's Ointment proven in the cure of torturing itching eczema that many people refer to its effects as magical and marvellous. After the first few applications it positively stops the dreadful itching and then gradually and naturally heals up the sores.

FUNERAL WAS HELD YESTERDAY

The funeral of the late William Gorman, who died in Toronto some two months ago, was held yesterday to the Roman Catholic cemetery. Rev. Father Meagher officiated at the cemetery. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Patrick Kane, Jos. Primeau, Ray Welsh, Jos. O'Brien, W. Brousseau and Stanley Gorman.

Mr. Hugh Gorman, of Ottawa, uncle of the deceased, and Mr. Justin Gorman, of Rochester, his brother, were here for the funeral.

VOTE
Mason
For Mayor

OVER 4800 CASES NOW

Epidemic of Typhoid in Montreal is Raging—New Cases Every Day and Deaths are Resulting—Due to Contamination of Water.

SUMMARY OF CONDITIONS

According to a canvas made by reporters of the Montreal Herald there are more than 4800 cases of typhoid fever in that city, and the number of deaths during December up to the present has been 43. The city is in the midst of an epidemic, which has spread like wild fire and is supposed to be due to the improper or careless disposa lof sewage.

The Herald has the following reference to the epidemic:

Thirty-one new cases of typhoid were reported at the office of the Civic Health Department this morning.

Two deaths from the same cause wer eregistered from noon yesterday till 11 o'clock this morning, thus making the total mortality from this disease forty-three for the month of December to date.

This alone equals the number of deaths from the saem cause for the months of October and November combined and is more than three times the number reported during September.

Of the thirty-one new cases reported to-day only six were from the city proper, or that portion supplied with water by teh Civic Water Works, with twenty-two from districts supplied by the Montreal Water and Power Company. They were distributed as follows: St. Henri and St. Cunegonde, 11; St. Denis, 11; outside, 3; other city wards, 6.

Many cases were refused at the city hospitals to-day. The General turned away nine, the Royal Victoria four, the Not reDame, six, and the Western eigth.

SKATING POPULAR

Big Crowds Every Night at the Brock Street Rink.

The cold snap of the last couple of days has started the skating season with a vengeance and each night sees a big crowd at Brock Sreet Rink, where Caretaker Thirnbeck has a splendid sheet of ice available for the skaters. The zero weather has enabled him to flood the arena frequently and the result is that the ice has been built up rapidly and is now in splendid shape. As usual the rink is a popular gathering place for the young people and the patrons this winter promise to be more numerous than ever before. New Years' Day will be a special occasion and the band will be on hand during the afternoon and evening.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets Druggists refund money if it fails to cure E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box 25c.

MR. ARTHUR E. RODGERS IS APPOINTED

A Member of Technical Education Commission of the I. C. S.

The many friends fo Mr. Arthur E. Rodgers, of the Examiner staff, will be pleased to learn that he has received the appointment, as a member of the Technical Education Commission of the International Correspondence Shools of Scranton, Pa.

This is recognized as the largest Technical Education Commission in the world, and is the highest honour that can be conferred on an I. C. S. student.

For some time past the schools have been on the lookout for a student capable of holding this position, and have decided in favour of Mr. Rodgers, as he is recognized as an authority on both practical and theiretical sides in his lines, and the schools are to be congratulated in securing such a valuable man.

With his appointment Mr. Rodgers has been presented with a valuable set of books, known as the Library of Technology, which are the same as those used in the principal universities in Canada and the United States.

T. A. S. AT HOME

Will be Held on Tuesday Evening Next at 8 o'clock.

An At Home will be held on Tuesday evening next, at St. Peter's T. A. S. rooms, when a very enjoyable time is promised. The committee have had the arrangements under consideration for some time, and have spared no detail. Progressive euchre will, as usual, be a feature. Refreshments will be served by the ladies.

REPRESENTATIVE CITIZENS RALLY TO THE SUPPORT OF MORROW AS MAYOR FOR 1910

Substantial Reasons Put Forth Stating Why Mr. Morrow is Preferable for the Position of Mayor---Possesses Particular Ability and Has Valuable Experience That Fits Him for the Mayor's Chair---A List of Those Who Spoke With Synopsis of Their Remarks.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of citizens was held last night in Mr. W. G. Morrow's committee rooms on Simcoe St., at which an unanimous support was expressed in favour of his candidature for the Mayoralty and leading business men, merchants and mechanics stated their reasons for their desire to secure the election of Mr. Morrow as Mayor of Peterborough. As a rally it demonstrated a thorough confidence in the candidate's ability and fitness for the position and perhaps the main trend of the speeches was the feeling that Mr. Morrow should be the people's choice at this stage of the city's development when it is all important that the strongest man that can be secured should be placed at the head of the Council. It was not only expressions of confidence and support that marked the meeting, but the citizens present promised to lend every effort to ensure Mr. Morrow's election.

Ald. Gillespie was on motion appointed chairman of the evening. He was pleased to support Mr. Morrow because he had two years' experience in the Council with him. He knew him to give all questions of interest to the city his hearty support and he was always fair and straightforward. He knew Mr. Mason and he esteemed him very highly. He was only sorry that he was opposing Mr. Morrow.

Ald. Gillespie called upon Mr. T. F. Matthews to address the assembly.

Mr. T. F. Matthews.

Mr. T. F. Matthews was very glad to be a supporter of Mr Morrow. He believed that the people should look around and find out the right man before making a choice for Mayor and it was his opinion that in Mr. Morrow the city had the right one. He did not seek the nomination, it being only after earnest solicitations from numerous friends that he consented to contest the Mayoralty.

Mr. Matthews thought that a man should possess certain qualities to make an excellent mayor. He should be honest and of a good character. He should be loyal to the city, and a man with something at stake. Mr. Morrow had large interests in Peterborough, and its welfare would be foremost in his mind. The mayor should have a broad vision. He must look ahead. Mr. Morrow was connected with large concerns and a man who had great influence. Mr. Mason was always a friend of the speaker, and he hoped he always would be. However, he felt he would be remiss in his duty if he did not come forward and speak for Mr. Morrow.

In regard to the remarks of Ald. Hicks, the other day, he said that he considered him a gentleman who always knocked but never boosted. Mr. Matthews recalled the pamphlets issued by him when the Water Commissioners were asking for 0120,000 for the development of power when Mr. Hicks claimed they would not have the power they said they would. He hoped soon to be able to provide what they had promised. This was an instance of Ald Hicks' bad judgment. The most economical man was not always the best. It was necessary to construct a fine city with good roads and sewer connections. He believed he was supporting Mr. Morrow for good osund reasons. Mr. Mason has not had the opportunities Mr. Morrow had. Mr. Morrow was the right man.

Mr. James Kendry

Mr. James Kendry was also glad to support Mr. Morrow. The city needed such men as he. He was honest and a man of good influence. Mr. Morrow had hte city's interests at heart ,and as a manufacturer, the speaker was anxious to see the city go ahead. He had been eighteen years in the council himself and he knew that the aldermen were often unjustly criticized. He remembered when Ald. Phelan referred to, as to the conditions in 1908 when so many men were out of work. He believed the council did what was right when they supplied work for the unemployed. He did not think all the blame should be attached to the chairman of the Finance committee. Extra expenditure had been incurred during the past year by smallpox epidemic. No one could help that.

He was not going to support Mr. Mason. A man, he said, who stated he wouldn't take a stand either on the liquor side or on the temperance side because he was a business man was not the man for mayor. A business man, the speaker believed, should speak out and should stick to his own opinion. The chief magistrate should have opinions of his own and should lead the council. Mr. Morrow was, he was sure, the right man.

Mr. A. F. McFarlane.

"I am supporting Mr. Morrow because I believe him to be the best man for the position of Mayor of our city,' Mr. Andrew McFarlane stated. "There has been considerable stir locally in regard to securing new industries and the city requires a man who will have the most influence to bring capitalists to Peterborough. When we consider the two men from this standpoint we cannot but decide upon Mr. Morrow. He assisted to resuscitate the Wm. Hamilton Co., and has always shown a deep interest in the city's industrial advancement. If we put him in the Mayor's chair he will work for the best interests of Peterborough."

Ald. Phelan.

Ald. Phelan said he was pleased to be present to support Mr. Morrow. "It is the first time since I've been on the Council that I have taken a hand in an election. I have sat in the Council for three years with Mr. Morrow and I have found him capable and cool in judgment. I have every respect for Mr. Mason and consider him a good citizen. Mr. Morrow, however, I consider the right man for the position." Speaking about the overdraft in 1908 which Ald. Hicks had placed against Mr. Morrow, Ald. Phelan stated that he wished to explain the situation as he knew it. The appropriations had been met but during that year there was a great number of men out of employment. Mechanics who had been receiving good wages were idle and many of them asked for work from the city. A special meeting of Council was called and the question was carefully considered. It was unanimously decided to provide as much work as possible and face the overdraft. All the members of the Council had to accept the responsibility of this step and it was unfair that the overdraft should have been brought against Mr. Morrow, as it was on the Council's decision that the action had been taken.

Mr. J. J. Hartley.

Mr. John J. Hartley, contractor, said that two months ago he had spoken to Mr Morrow about his coming out for the Mayoralty. He did not show a very strong desire at that time to take it up, but Mr. Hartley thought then and does yet that Mr. Morrow was the best man for the Mayor's chair. "Both the men in this contest are good citizens," he said, "but you will find it difficult to meet one who can say that Mr. Morrow has not been honest and square in his dealings. Mr. Mason has stated in his address that he would not allow an overdraft if he were elected, nor would he stand for any clique or class." Mr. Hartley felt that there was an insinutation in these words but he failed to have noticed nor to have heard of an incident or occourrence that should have prompted the statements. Ald. Hicks had spoken recently against an overdraft, but he did not raise his voice throughout the year. "I don't know when we needed the most capable man we can secure for the Maoyr's chair as we do now. The past year has been fairly good from a business standpoint, but we want even better times and we must bring out our very best man. Mr. Morrow has always been a business man and has had a splendid training. He has had far more experience in financing than Mr. Mason. He also has the advantage of a splendid backing which will undoubtedly lead to new industries coming this way, and a financial influence that will mean a great deal for the welfare of the city. For the welfare of Peterborough and its prosperity Mr. Hartley hoped to see Mr. Morrow returned at the coming elections on Monday.

Ald. Gillespie stated that there was no such a thing as a clique in the Council as far as he knew and there never had been any pre-arranged business. A few had put forth the supposition that there was a cabinet among the aldermen but nothing had been done to strengthen or support this idea, and there was no reason for the statements in that regard.

Wm. Scott.

Mr. Wm. Scott, East City, was pleased to support Mr. Morrow. He had nothing against Mr. Mason. He was a good alderman, but had been out of the Council too long. Mr. Morrow had the better experience with present civic affirs.

R. J. Seden.

Mr. R. J Soden said that he had come to work for Mr. Morrow. Speaking of the criticism made on the financing of city funds, he said that where success was to be sing that where success was to be achieved, there must necessarily be considerable expenditure. Every business man knew that and while everybody hadn't agreed with the Council, he believed that the aldermen had conscientiously done their best in the city's interests. Mr. Morrow, he claimed, was better fitted for the Mayor's chair. He was a man of interests and of great influence. A man that would not take a stand on a public issue had no right to seek a public position such as ayor. If because of his business he would not express himself, then he would, the speaker believed, deal with the city's affairs in the same manner.

W. H. Meldrum.

Mr. W. H. Meldrum stated that many good reasons had been given why Mr. Morrow should be Mayor. The time had come when Peterborough should either go forward or backward and it required an aggressive, influential, man like Mr. Morrow at the head of affairs. The question was "Why didn't Peterborough own its own power?" He hoped that Mr. Morrow would not rest, after his election, until he got that power for the city.

Ex-Ald. Robt. Neill thought that no mistake had been made in the choice of a candidate for Mayor. Mr. Morrow would receive his support.

Mayor Rush.

Mayor Rush stated that during the last three months he had repeatedly urged Ald. Morrow to come out for the Mayoralty. He felt that the best interests of the city would be served in his election. Mr. Mason was a good man, but he was sorry he was opposing Mr. Morrow.

Ald. Buller also proclaimed himself a supporter of Mr. Morrow.

Mr. F. D. Kerr.

Mr. Kerr stated that Mr. Morrow had shown himself possessed of the qualties required to make a good Mayor. By his own industry, activity and experience he had demonstrated his ability and fitness for the position. Mr. Mason is a man of means and substance and it is not a question of the rich and the poor man but a question of fitness and the best interests of Peterborough. Mr. Kerr said he would have voted for Mr. Mason if he had come out against a weak man. On this occasion Mr. Morrow was the best man for the position and Mr. Kerr would therefore support him.

He felt that the election of Mr. Morrow was in the best interests of Peterborough.

Mr. Robt. Fair.

Mr. Fair said he agreed with previous speakers that Mr. Morrow was well adapted for the Mayoralty on account of his ability and experience. He had noticed him on the Board of Education and on the Council and he did not know of any man in Peterborough who was better equipped for the position. His connection with certain interests should, if he were elected, be brought to bear upon the city for its advancement.

Messrs Wm. and Robt. Harstone expressed their approval of Mr. Morrow and their intention to support him.

Several mechanics and business men were asked to speak but they replied

Continued on Page 12.

SOME FEATURES OF THE SPEECHES AT LAST NIGHT'S MEETING IN FAVOUR OF MR. MORROW

"I have noticed Mr. Morrow on the Board of Education and on the Council and I do not know of any man in Peterborough who is better equipped for the position of Mayor."—Robert Fair.

"Mr. Morrow has always been a business man and has had a splendid training. He also has the advantage of a splendid backing which will undoubtedly lead to new industries coming this way and a financial influence that will mean a great deal for the welfare of the city."—J. J. Hartley.

"By his own industry, activity and experience Mr Morrow has demonstrated his ability and fitness for the position of Mayor."—F. D. Kerr.

"The city needs such men as Mr. Morrow. He is honest and a man of good influence. He has the city's interests at heart and as a manufacturer I am anxious to see the city go ahead."—Jas. Kendry.

"Mr. Morrow has large interests in Peterborough and the city's welfare will be foremost in his mind."—T. F. Matthews.

"The time has come when Peterborough will go either forward or backward, and it requires an aggressive, influential man like Mr. Morrow at the head of affairs."—W. H. Meldrum.

"There has been considerable stir locally in regard to securing new industries and the city requires a man who will have the most influence to bring capitalists to Peterborough. When we consider the two men from this standpoint we cannot but decide upon Mr. Morrow."—Andrew McFarlane.

"I have sat in the Council for three years with Mr. Morrow and I have found him capable and cool in judgment. Mr. Morrow, I consider the right man for the position."—Ald. Harry Phelan.

"Mr. Morrow is better fitted for the Mayor's chair. He is a man of great interests and large influence."—R. J. Soden.

"The city should secure all the power possible for delivery here if new industries are to be located in Peterborough."—Mr. W. G. Morrow, Mayoralty candidate.

MARKET WAS VERY SMALL

Farmers' Wives Had to Wait Until After Four O'clock Yesterday Before Selling Produce —Buyers Were Few.

TO-MORROW MARKET DAY

For some reason or other, the large Wednesday market yesterday was not patronized as it should have been. The result was that quite a number of the farmers' wives did not get away until after four o'clock, and from all accounts they did not get the sound prices that have been received up to the present. One woman left the market after four o'clock to drive to her home in Emily, with the mercury dropping slowly to the bottom of the glass. There was a large number of geese and turkeys offered but the demand was small, buyers being few, and as a consequence, the prices did not soar. From 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. is a long wait but the women from the country were patient and waited for any possible purchaser that came along.

There will be another large market to-morrow and as the supply of poultry is not quite exhausted there should be a large number of turkeys and geese offered.

ANOTHER LETTER FROM MR. LASTAR

This letter and any others that may follow, under the signature of Mr. Lastar, are independent of any other party or parties, and are paid for by him for their insertion.

MR. LASTAR THINKS HE HAS CORNERED THE LOCAL OPTION MEN.

To the Editor of The Examiner,—

Now, moral workers, I have you where I wanted you. In connection with the local option fight, I have seen that some of the moral reformers are trying to make capital of a statement made by me. Now, if these moral reformers cannot get any better facts to prove their cause, than to make material from my statement, then they are lost for sure. Because that is what and where I wanted you in order that you should not have any excuses. What was my statement in the early part of the campaign? That I was paying for the printing of my own letters, and I did not represent any liquor men and I do not represent any of the liquor men at the present time. To that you have stated that you will not recognize any private man, but a man to represent the liquor men. I was bound to have you answer my questions, and therefore I asked their support. But when I had sent to me from unknown sympathisers with my views $13, and contributed $50 of my own money for this cause, I think I made good the fact that I was paying my own expenses. In order to go on with the fight I had to write more letters than I had expected, and as I could not contribute any more money than I had already done, surely there was nothing to be ashamed of in going and asking some of the men who were mostly concerned, if they would be kind enough to assist me in the fight, and they generously promised me their support. Now, let me tell you that I am not ashamed of taking contributions from any of these parties for this cause, as I am not a millionaire. But that does not make the moral reformer's cause any better. Have any of them spent any of their own money? I guess not. They are rather getting paid for their work from the collections made at their meetings. So surely they have no right to kick, if I am supported in my fight by liquor men, or no liquor men.

Then, furthermore, I was bound to force you to come on the open platform to discuss the question before the public ,and as you would not recognize any one, except one who represented the liquor interests, that was one of the reasons why I asked for their support. That you have no reason nor excuse for not answering my questions in public.

And, now, I challenge you again, to come at any time before the public as you see I have the support of the liquor men, and answer the question laid before you.

Yours truly,
B. LASTAR.

VOLUNTEER RIGS

Friends and Supporters of Mr. Morrow, who can give him assistance on election day by offering their Rigs, are kindly asked to leave word at the Committee Rooms, 173½ Simcoe St., with those in charge.

SUPPORTS MR. MORROW

Mr. J. J. McBain, for Forty Years Resident of Peterborough, Gives Many Reasons for Election of That Gentleman.

HAS THE QUALIFICATIONS

To the Editor of The Peterborough Examiner:—

As a citizen for nearly forty years, and as a large ratepayer, it is a matter of gratification to me to learn that Mr. W. G. Morrow has decided to allow his name to stand for election as Mayor of this city for 1910.

I have known Mr. Morrow personally since his very young days, and was also connected with him for nearly fifteen years in connection with the Board of Education of this City as well as in many other spheres of activity, and have always found him to be in all transactions an honourable, upright, careful, and economical citizen. Reflections have been made as to Mr. Morrow's ability, but from my own personal knowledge of him, I am of the opinion that these are more fancied than read. A man of Mr. Morrow's standing, training and business ability, may be depended upon to conduct the city affairs with the same scrupulous care, and efficiency as he could, and would in his own personal activities, and any reflection cast upon him cannot be borne out by facts, in my humble judgment.

It is high time that the citizens, and ratepayers of this good city realized the duty developing upon them, and to endeavour to place at the head of affairs the best and most efficient men obtainable who have proven themselves by years of experience to be able to cope with the many important problems of civic affairs, and men who can spare the time and give the many matters of importance the attention required, in order to show a record, which is not open to criticism.

This feature is very apparent in the City of Vancouver, B.C., where it was my privilege to reside for a considerable time this year. There the citizens carefully consider the selection of capable and worthy men for municipal honours as of first importance, and this is borne out by the unparalleled progressiveness of that great and important growing city of the West at the present time.

Peterborough must, if it will continue to grow, get new industries, other places of less importance appear to be fortunate in this respect, and an earnest effort is absolutely necessary to secure, and point out the advantages and benefits of locating here. With a man like Mr. Morrow at the head of our Municipal affairs, backed up by a good council, we may be sure from the very considerable vested interests represented by him that he will not leave a stone unturned to obtain good results, and build up the city in this respect. With these and many other matters in view affecting the best welfare of this fair city, and as it is very important at this time that the citizens, ratepayers and property owners should have a good careful, progressive and economical city council, in my opinion we will make no mistake in electing Mr. W. G. Morrow, Mayor of the City of Peterborough for 1910. J. J. McBAIN.

Lifebuoy Soap is delightfully refreshing for bath or toilet. For washing underclothing it is unequalled. Cleanses and purifies.

NOMINATIONS MADE FOR SEPARATE SCHOOL BOARD

The nominations for Separate School trustees were held in St. Peter's School at noon yesterday,when the following nominations were made, but as only the necessary number of trustees were nominated, there will be no election:

SOUTH WARD

Rev. Dr. O'Brien, nominated by P. Kane, seconded by N. Bibby.

Joseph Goselin, nominated by Jas. O'Brien, seconded by M. Neary.

CENTRE WARD

H. Carveth, nominated by J. J. Lynch, seconded by Jos. Maher.

WEST WARD

John R. Burns, nominated by P. J. Hickey, seconded by James Murty.

NORTH WARD

James Clancy, nominated by James Murty ,seconded by J .J. Lynch.

EAST WARD

John H. Primeau ,nominated by T. Cleary, seconded by J. J. Lynch

Bearine, a delicate pomade grows hair because it contains genuine Canadian bear grease. 50c. a jar.

The T. A. S. will hold an "At Home" on Tuesday, January 4th, 1910. The programme will commence at 8.15 o'clock. 3-152

Daily Examiner.

The Circulation of The Evening Examiner is now over

3000

COPIES

Sworn to and Guaranteed Detailed Statement for the year on application

The Daily Examiner, published every lawful evening, by The Peterborough Examiner, Limited. Office, 380 George Street.

The Weekly Examiner, published every Thursday morning.

The subscription price of The Daily Examiner is $4.00 per annum; that of The Weekly, $1.00.

R. M. GLOVER, Managing Director.

Advertising Rates on application.

"Peterborough Means Progress."

THURSDAY, DECEMER 30, '09

MORROW FOR MAYOR.

In the best interests of Peterborough, a mayor should be elected who can be the most largely instrumental in promoting its larger interests. Smaller interests, as a rule, will take care of themselves. But larger issues, plans for its material and industrial advancement, need a mayor with the largest possible influence, and the most influential connections. These conjoined with large business and financial ability and experience are conjoined in Mr. Morrow, much more strongly than in his opponent, an equally estimable private citizen. The rally in Mr. Morrow's committee-rooms last night shows that representative citizens—with large interests, liable to lose most by bad government and to gain most by good government and capable administration, strongly support Mr. Morrow for Mayor. The issue is not a personal one; both candidates are irreproachable as citizens. The vital question is which of the two will, as mayor, be the better equipped, the most capable, the better able to wield influences in Peterborough's favour, and the better to promote the interests associated with Peterborough's growth and progress. A sober study of the situation will show that this man is W. G. Morrow.

THE LIGHT AND POWER BY-LAW

Any citizen who regards the growth and progress of Peterborough as an all-important matter, fails to understand the unreasoning hostility, in some quarters to the by-law to grant a 30-year pole franchise to the Peterborough Light and Power Company. The Company is only asking what it now has and will have for five years more. The Company asks a long-date franchise so that it can to better advantage negotiate its bonds to raise money for extensions and improvements.

What the Company asks does not cost the city a cent, but it helps the Company, and benefits the citizen by assurance of a substantial reduction in lighting rates. These rates cannot be increased, but the by-law specifically provides that on the application of the City Council the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board can reduce the rates.

A thirty-year franchise would be objectionable if it were an exclusive franchise, a franchise that shut out competition. But the terms of the by-law permits the use of the Company's poles to any other Company and permits the City to do its own lighting if it si desires.

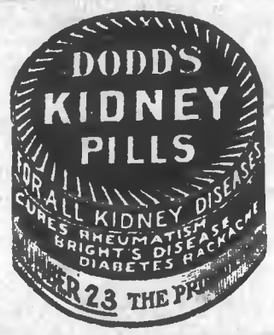
The terms of the by-law guarantee cheaper rates for lighting, subject to further reduction by an independent commission.

All the Company gets is a long-term franchise, for which it gives the city and citizens substantial reduction of rates and other advantages.

Why, then, the opposition, which seems to be unpatriotic and unneighbourly? The Company is composed of our own fellow citizens and represents a service or services which provide the essentials of advanced modern conditions and at least one of our largest industries. We are demanding increased manufacturing industries; we are clamouring for a policy that will build up the city and provide it with every equipment that can contribute to its holding first place among the minor cities of the province. There are some, however, who seem to set their faces against improvements, and adopt as a policy to vote down every proposal that represents an advance step! This does not seem to be in the interests of the city's growth and improvement. It does not seem to be a public-spirited attitude to take.

Shiloh's Cure

quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs. 25 cents



We talk of booming and advertizing Peterborough, but should we not begin by helping what we have, when we can do it to our own advantage, and without spending money; do it simply by giving a non-exclusive franchise to a Peterborough Company to help it give better service, a service worthy of a city like Peterborough.

Last year the people decided that it did not want the city to do its own lighting by voting against a proposal to provide for it in connection with the Water Works dam. Will it be wise this year to hamper the lighting facilities we now have by refusing the request of a franchise to the Light and Power Company?

VOTE FOR MORROW

THE BEAVER'S TOOTH.

The enterprise of the Manitoba Free Pres finds and has found for years, delightful expression at Christmas time by the sending abroad of some significant and interesting souvenir suggestive of the resources of the Great Canadian West. This year this gift is represented by a beaver's tooth silver mounted, so as to be worn as a watch charm. This tooth, as the interesting little booklet which accompanies the gift, says, is one of the incisor teeth of the industrious beaver. It is also stated that on behalf of the Free Press the Hudson Bay Company's officials have spent four years in search of beavers' teeth for the purpose of its Christmas souvenirs. The little booklet gives a most interesting history of the beaver, its habits and skill as a dam-builder, and the place it has occupied in history and in providing "the hat my father wore" and other interesting details about the national emblem of Canada, the symbol of the industry and perseverance which accounts for the growth and progress of Canada; and of which the Free Press, in its sphere, is a striking example. This journal which in its solid character and influence takes rank amongst the foremost journalistic forces of the country, has in this way mentioned and in other ways grandly contributed to the gorwth and development of the West, in giving publicity to its exhaustive capability as the granary of the empire and the home of millions of happy and prosperous citizens. The Examiner acknowledges with gratitude the yearly Christmas courtesies of the Free Press and becomes one of thousands who heartily wish it not one but many prosperous New Years, both for itself and the wide constituency it enterprisingly and effectively represents.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

One of the strongest bonds of Empire is facility of intercommunication of the several parts of the whole. A great step was made in imperial solidification when Canada led the way in cheapening postal rates. Hon Mr. Lemieux has been in England endeavouring to procure cheaper telegraphic communication between Britain and Canada, and still more greatly lessened postal rates. It is announced that the postage on parcels between the United Kingdom and Canada has been reduced from 16 to 12 cents per pound, the limit of weight of a parcel being eleven pounds. This is another advance step in bringing Canada practically closer to the mother country.

Montreal's civic affairs are in a fine muddle. Judge Cannon's investigation of Montreal's methods discovered that eight aldermen had been guilty of corrupt practices, which had wasted one quarter of the civic revenue. He virtually reported that these eight aldermen were thieves, yet they still hold, and with singular effrontery, take, their seats. But seven other aldermen, who, as members of a committee, committed the technical irregularity, of voting the expenses of the Mayor and his Secretary, as the city's delegates, on their journey to Europe, have been disqualified from sitting in the City Council for two years. Justice in Montreal must be blinder than she is generally represented to be.

THE WARD SYSTEM.

Toronto Star.

Toronto electors are asked to signify their approval of a return to the ward system of electing the Board of Education, but there seems to be no valid reason for changing the present method. All-city voting has resulted in the return of men equally as good as those who attained office under the ward system, and it has done away with sectionalism, which is always to be regarded as a civic danger. To unnecessarily go back to the election of representations by wards would be to return to a method which seems to have no advantage over that now in use. It would be a retrograde step, and citizens should vote no on the by-law which propses it.

This applies, with equal force, to the position of Peterborough. Judge Cannon has, after thorough investigation, declared in a formal judgment that one of the greatest causes of the terrible civic corruption, "graft" and waste of a million dollars of the people's money in Montreal was due to the prevalence of the Ward system. Under the present system in Peterborough no section of the city suffers injustice. No alderman has it in his power as he would have under the ward system, to bargain with other aldermen to secure expensive favours for his own ward on condition that he should help others to secure special favours, that would cost money, for theirs. It would be better to let well enough alone. We should try the biennial system for one term at least before we make ourselves ridiculous by asking the Legislature to make another change, which they might well refuse. The Star is right in its contention that the return to the ward system of electing aldermen would be a retrograde step, and bring Peterborough back to the village stage.

The President of the Temperance League desires to warn all friends of Local Option against the attempts being made by a pious looking old man to keep the lady voters from going out to vote. The old codger leaves the impression that he believes in Temperance, and seems quite concerned about the convenience and comfort of the ladies.

Now we need every single vote.

We need a very large majority to carry the Local Option By-law and we simply cannot do without your vote. Your vote may mean the note of Victory.

You will do good to the cause if you will secure this mans name and communicate at once to the President.

2d—151 Telephone 685

TO THE ELECTORS OF PETERBOROUGH

Gentlemen:—After studying and being convinced that local option would not be of any benefit to Peterborough. I have been sitting long hours into the night studying this, and expressing my opinion in letters through the press. In spending sleepless nights and taking abuse in the first part of the campaign from a number of people, I have even lost a certain amount of trade on account of the prejudice of parties who are opposed to my views. I am not looking for any good paid job from the city. You will say why have I done it. But because it is my nature, when I see a man insulted and attacked without any real cause by statements that have been made that as the people of Peterborough have been and the majority of them are drunkards and criminals and effected with misery through drunkenness, that I came out to show that after seven years living in Peterborough, and having to do mostly with the poorer classes of working men, I was convinced that they are absolutely wrong, and that we have only a few drunkards and criminals. Neither is there misery through drunkenness. I did not care about the abuse. But I stood against all odds, and losses and gave you my opinion. And now I have dozens and dozens of letters from citizens who are encouraging me, and we are giving me credit for what I have done. And therefore having seen in my mind that the liquor question can be settled in a peaceful way without injuring any one, I cam eout to stand as a candidate for the Council for the coming year. In the first place, if elected, no matter what the verdict of the people will be, I will be there to see that without favour or any obligations to any one, that the law is obeyed. Then I hope that those men who are opposing me in my views at the present time will give me their assistance and as a member of the Council I will have more influence and will be able to regulate the liquor question once and for all, and that we shall have no necessity for bringing here in the future all kinds of speakers, to call us drunkards and criminals.

I will do my utmost to see that Peterborough is to be an example of purity and peace, if supported and elected by you.

Vote for Morrow

We have completed arrangements with the leading chemists in Huddersfield, England, and Germany, Paris and France to supply us with the latest dye stuffs which we import direct. With the new process many things are possible which were not a year ago. Parker's Dye Works, 177 Charlotte St. R. M. Beach, Prop. 1m-145

MOBBING A HYPNOTIST.

The Man With the Magnetic Eye and His Manager Had to Flee.

The recent troubles of a traveling hypnotist in Glasgow recall an episode in Toronto in which students played no part, but in which a traveling hypnotist fared badly. Years ago, before Hanlan's Point became a wilderness of shows and a large area of land, it was a small breathing space with a white-washed hotel, a few trees, a wharf, and a showman in the person of Julius Caesar Connor, a native of Whitby, Ont., and since deceased. Connor looked like the imaginary likenesses of Artemus Ward, which figure in old editions of that humorist's works, and was proud of the fact that he had never worn a necktie. He maintained that for a man with a chin whisker a necktie was superfluous—that it was, so to speak, gilding the lily. Although the showman, he was in reality the show; for though he used to employ entertainers, they were not nearly so entertaining as his own speeches in introducing them. On one occasion he introduced a strong woman of vast dimensions with the words, "The little lady will now lift a hawse." And he did raise a hefty beast.

Hypnotism was then the craze, and Connor found a hypnotist and a "subject." The performer was advertised as a marvel unequalled, and after the first performance it was seen that his entertainment was manifestly the thinnest kind of a fake. It was not even funny. The same crowd used to go over to the Point every night, and at the second performance they went armed. As the unequalled marvel reached the climax of his performance an egg struck him. Connor jumped to the platform. "I will give ten dollars in real money for the name of the man who threw that aig," he cried. Hardly were the words out of his mouth when another egg struck him square on the left cheek. The hypnotist, in the meantime, decamped, and the crowd who had nothing against Connor followed him. They chased him on board the steamer, and though he tried to hide in a dark corner, they rooted him out of there and made him take refuge on top of the paddle-box, where he maintained a precarious position all the way across the bay. Derisive passengers suggested that he hypnotize his tormentors, but he did not try it, and when the city was reached was glad to find safety behind the sheltering blue uniform of a constable on the wharf.

Where Jumbo Was Killed.

St. Thomas Times: On Sept. 15 next it will be just a quarter of a century since the famous elephant, the mammoth Jumbo, was killed near the Grand Trunk Railroad crossing on Woodworth avenue, St. Thomas. Barnum's Circus had been exhibiting on the 12-acre lot, north of the track, part of what is known as the Mann Farm, and where circus tents have been annually pitched for years.

This historic spot, along with the 14 acres lying on the south side of the track, is now being offered for sale.

VOTE

Mason

For Mayor

R. P. TOBIN

CONTRACTOR & BUILDER

358 Brock St. Phone 1258

6m-63

UNCLE WALT---THE POET PHILOSOPHER

THE VACANT CHAIR

Gloomy is the world and dreary, since good Father Noah went; all the days are slow and weary, and this life's not worth a cent. All the future now looks yellow, and the skies are grim and dark; put away his old umbrella, put the shutters on his ark. Never more on earth we'll kiss him, never more we'll grasp his hand; we shall meet but we shall miss him, when it rains to beat the band! Heedless he how weather varies; he is sleeping deep and sound; take away the dromedaries, lead the ostrich to the pound; take away the two gorillas, and the hive of bumble bees; Noah's sleeping 'neath the willows; he's forgotten things like these. Take away the stoat and lizard and the buzzard and the kite; all the list, from A to Izzard—take, O take them from my sight! For it breaks my heart to hear them wailing for him all the day; Father Noah isn't near them—he has climbed the Milky Way. Take his gum-boats to the cellar, hang his slicker in the hall, cherish his green umbereller — Noah's gone and left them all!

Wm Mason

Something You Want to Buy ? You Want to Sell ? Or is it a House or Rooms To Rent ?

In any case, it's THE EXAMINER that can do it for you with our rapidly growing circulation.

Twenty cents will pay for a 20 word classified advertisemen.

Real Estate Sales Room

HOUSES FOR SALE

1—2 storey and attic, solid Red Brick, west, double parlours, dining room, kitchen, pantry, front and rear stairs, 4 bed-rooms, bath-room separate toilet, coal grate, electric lights, hot water furnace, double closets, laundry tubs, large lot, price..... $3,500

2—2 storey and attic, Red Brick, north, parlour, dining room, kitchen pantry, summer kitchen, wood-shed 4 bed-rooms, bath-room, furnace, electric lights, good well, large lot, price $3,500

3.—Frame House, south of city, 1½ storeys, 6 rooms, ½ acre choice garden lot 5 minutes from street railway line, price..... $1,000

4.—1½ storey Brick, north, parlour dining-room, kitchen, wood-shed, summer kitchen, 3 bed-rooms, and stable, price..... $900

Farms for Sale

200 acres, 6 miles north of city, all under cultivation, soil clay loam, good orchard, good frame house, 3 first-class barns, good stables in stone basements under the barns, price..... $10,000

100 acres, 6 miles east, 90 acres under cultivation, balance pasture, soil clay loam, good fences, good brick house and frame barns on stone foundation, close to school, price..... $5,500

Houses to Rent

7-roomed, north, conveniences $12

7-roomed, south, light water, $11

7-roomed, west, light, water, $8

4-roomed, west..... $7

9-roomed, central, all conveniences..... $18

J. T. O'Connell & Co.

136 Hunter Street. 'Phone 376

WANTED.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

WANTED — 100 LADIES TO USE OUR Stocking Darning Sewing Machine Attachment. Fits on any machine. Also for repairing curtains, table cloth. Best time, labour and money saving device. Send post paid on receipt of post office money order, 25c. Agents wanted.—The Quebec Hardware Mfg. Specialties. St. Rock P. O., Quebec, Que. 1yr78-7578

PERSONAL.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

YOUR FORTUNE TOLD — YOUR PAST and future can be revealed; my horoscopes are wonderful diviners—try and see. Send birth date with three two cent stamps. Alfred Dumas, Box 67, St. Laurent, Jacques-Cartier Co., P. Que. 2d-s-153

IF THE PARTY WHO ADVERTISED FOR "Safe Wanted," will call at the Examiner office, he will be given the address of where he can secure one. d142

HELP WANTED—FEMALE.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

WANTED—Twelve smart Girls. Apply C. G. E. 1d-152-8764

MAID WANTED—APPLY EVENINGS TO Mrs. G. N. Gordon, 360 Simcoe street. 2d151-8744

WOMAN WANTED TO DO HOUSEWORK and take care of baby. Apply 40 Robinson street. 3d151-8729

PATENTS.

For particulars about Patents, send for booklet.

BEN. B. PANNETT, Ottawa, Ontario. mon-61

FOR RENT.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

TO RENT—OFFICE NO. 12 IN BANK OF Commerce Building; heated, possession immediately. Apply at 457 George street.

TO RENT — NEW HOUSE—CITY WATER —$7.50. Apply 533 Concession street. Phone 1228.

FOUND.

OUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

FOUND—Last week, small sum of money. Owner may have same by proving property and paying for adv. Apply Examiner Office. 1d-152-8781

LOST.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

LOST—A brown and white spaniel puppy answering to name of Daisy. Finder will kindly return to 500 College Street. 2d-152-8758

LOST—On Friday, December 24th, a collie pup, 6 months old, cinnamon colour with white breast and face, called "Sea-cefield." Any info mation concerning his whereabouts will be thankfully received by John Cronin, Lockmaster, East Ward. 3d-152-8768

LOST—UNITED STATES LINCOLN CENT brooch—valued as a keepsake. Finder kindly return to Examiner. 3d150-8711

LOST — GOLD WATCH CHAIN AND locket, with engraving on back, on George street, on Friday afternoon Finder leave at this office. 3d150-8704

LOST — LADY'S GOLD LOCKET — INitialled V.E.W. Return to this office. Reward 703 Aylmer st. 3d150-868

LOST — BETWEEN DUBLIN AND LONdon on Reid street, a door key. Finder please leave at Examiner Office and

LOST — ON SUNDAY EVENING BEtween East City and St. Paul's church, a lady's gold watch with initials J. G. engraved on same. Reward if left at this office. 3d150-8700

SITUATIONS WANTED.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

WANTED — RESPECTABLE WOMAN wants work by the day. Apply Examiner office. 3d151-8742

SITUATIONS VACANT.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

WANTED — FIRST CLASS MACHINISTS for Gisholt lathe, milling machine, hand screw machine and lathe hands. Apply at once to Canada Cycle and Motor Co., West Toronto. 3d151-8736

WANTED—BRIGHT YOUNG MAN AS traveler—splendid opportunity for the right man. 174½ Charlotte street. 3d151-8727

AN INTELLIGENT PERSON MAY EARN $100 monthly corresponding for newspapers. No canvassing. Send for particulars. Press Syndicate, 3978, Lockport, N.Y. dtf-51-7392

ANYONE, ANYWHERE, CAN START A mail order business at home. No canvassing. Be your own boss. Send for free booklet. Tells how. Hasnock, 29/2, Lockport, N.Y dtf-51-7399

FOR SALE.

YOUR Ad in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

PERSON IN MOURNING HAS NEW YORK hats for sale cheap—this winter's styles. Apply Examiner office. 2d150-8706

FOR SALE CHEAP — A SMALL FIRST class fireproof safe, combination lock; also a first class White sewing machine. Apply J. J. Turner & Sons, tent manufacturers, George street, Peterborough. 3d151-8743

FOR SALE — A NUMBER OF CHICKENS First class, well bred, pedigreed. The original stock for the pair cost over $15. Apply 826 Water street. 6d150-8734

FOR SALE OR TO RENT—CASTLEKNOCK, the late residence of Mrs. Dennistoun. Extensive grounds, commodious residence, stable, etc. Apply to Dennistoun, Peak & Kerr, Water street. 3m-m and e-144-8623

FOR SALE—A THREE STORY BRICK house, 162 Smith street, containing nine rooms, besides halls, bathroom and closets; also five rooms in basement; coal and gas cooking ranges; furnace; electric light fixtures. Large lot, stable and driving house. Terms easy. Call at premises. J. Coyle Brown, Peterborough. 1mod127-8350

A new brick house near the corner of Sherbrooke and Park, modern improvements; will sell on monthly payments, or rent to small family. A good chance for a mechanic to own his own home. 1f94-7557 G. W. HATTON.

FOR SALE—TWO CHOICE BUILDING lots on Water street (west side of street). Each 30 feet frontage back to a 16 foot lane. For particulars apply at 183 Antrim street, city, or Examiner office. tf68-7234

HOUSES AND ROOMS TO LET

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

GOOD FRAME HOUSE FOR SALE WITH stable; also two story brick house, 7 rooms. Cheap and on terms to suit purchaser. Apply to H. C. Stabler & Co., 350 Water st. d151

ROOMS TO RENT ON GEORGE STREET, fitted with water, electric light, etc. Apply to Dennistoun, Peak & Kerr.

TO RENT—SUITE OF ROOMS IN GRAND Central Building. Heated and all modern improvements. Rent moderate Apply 437 George street

LOTS FOR SALE

—ON—

Big Island, Stony Lake

Fourteen lots, comprising a little more than the south half of Big Island, have been sold.

Lots eleven, twelve, fifteen, sixteen eighteen and nineteen, comprising almost all of the northern half of the Island, are still for sale.

These lots now being offered are good building sites and splendidly situated.

Plan may be seen at the Examiner Office.

dtf-LR-9581 R. M. GLOVER

Begin Right

Begin the year well by investment in Real Estate, the surest, as well as the most remunerative.

Our City is on the eve of a great advance which requires little penetration to foresee.

Have confidence in your city and share in her prosperity.

We have superior investments in both City and Farm properties as per sample.

$1100—Seven roomed house, city water and electric light, on nice street, convenient to schools, work, etc;

$3000—An ideal residence entirely modern hot water heating, gas, etc., make a lovely house.

$5000—114 acres in Otonabee, first-class loam, barns on stone and piped from spring. Houses to Rent. A good Market Garden to Rent.

SOUTH CITY REALTY CO.

Phone 1295 and 1281 130 Park St.

New Offices Opposite C. P. R.

SEE THESE SOON

$200 Will buy a choice lot in the south part of the city in a first-class locality We have a number of these lots to dispose of for a quick sale,

$1900 Will buy a 7 roomed Brick House in west part of city with modern improvements.

$1600 Will buy a good 2 storey Brick House in west part of city

R. A. Elliott & Co

REAL ESTATE AGENTS. WATER STREET

TO INVESTORS.

35 to 50 per cent. per annum and Gilt Edge Security

Can be had by procuring stock in the

Alberta Wheat Growing Co., Limited.

A careful estimate shows that an investment of $500 in six years will produce $1200 to $1500 profit.

For further particulars write.

F. N. Tennant,

1m-123 Box 59, Brampton, Ont.

HOUSES TO RENT

Houses to let at reasonable rent. Apply for particulars at W. H. BRADBURN'S OFFICE, over the Dominion Bank, Corner of George and Simcoe Streets. dtf

Dyment, Cassels & Co

Members Toronto Stock Exchange

Bank of Nova Scotia Building 34 Melinda St. Toronto

ORDERS EXECUTED ON ALL EXCHANGES

TELEPHONE MAIN 6311

New and Second-Hand Clothing Boots, Rubbers, etc. Furniture.

JAY'S Stores

390 AYLMER STREET PHONE

W. E. ELMORE & CO.

Brokers and Promoters

TORONTO AND MONTREAL

114-20 Traders Bank—126-6 Coristine Bldg. Hamilton Office: 401 Bank of Hamilton Building. 'Phone 3310.

GEORGE STREET PROPERTY FOR SALE

Parts of lots 1 and 2, west of George street and north of Dalhousie street, frontage on George street, 122 ft. by a depth of 183 ft., with use of a 12 foot lane from Dalhousie street. This lot adjoins the wholesale Harness Factory of B. F. Ackerman & Son, and is suitable for wholesale houses or manufactory. Apply to Dumble & Johnston, or R. H. Wood, Solicitors 6m-62

Peterborough Club Rooms To Rent

Opposite Post Office, Hunter St. Steam heated, with private bath and lavatory. Will rent whole flat or dividual rooms. Temporary or a permanent lease. Apply to

Peterborough Business College

CHRISTMAS SUGGESTIONS

EVERYTHING NEW THIS YEAR

Toilet Sets

Values from..... $2 to $15

Fancy Perfumes

In Pleasing Boxes, real Flower Odours, prices..... 25c to $5

Lowney's Chocolates

25c to..... $2.00

ASK FOR OUR '10 CALENDAR

J. D. TULLY

—DRUGGIST—

For the Board of Education.

To the Electors of the City of Peterborough.—

Ladies and Gentlemen:

At the urgent solicitation of many of the electors, I have consented to become a candidate for representation on the Board of Education for 1910, and respectfully solicit your vote & influence.

If elected, I will endeavour faithfully to discharge the duties of the position.

As I do not approve of canvassing, I ask for your voluntary support on Election Day.

T. H. (Harry) ADAMS

YOUR VOTE AND INFLUENCE FOR

RE-ELECTION OF

W. H. BRADBURN

For Alderman.

For the Board of Education.

Your Vote, Influence and Support is respectfully solicited for the Re-election of

W. H. HILL

as a Member of the Board of Education. His Policy is now and has ever been Efficiency in the conduct of our Schools, which, in the interest of the Public, is the true policy.

TO THE ELECTORS

of the City of Peterborough

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,

I respectfully request your votes for re-election as Alderman for 1910. If elected I shall endeavour to serve the best interests of the city and to promote its prosperity, and shall deal with all matters arising in the Council in a spirit of fairness to all concerned, with special regard to the interests of the small ratepayers. I am in favour of a vigorous policy of securing new industries and cheap power.

Wishing you the compliments of the season, I am,

Yours respectfully,

JOS. J. DUFFUS

For Board of Education

Having been nominated for the Board of Education, I have decided to become a candidate, and I therefore take this opportunity of soliciting your Vote and Influence.

Yours Respectfully,

J. W. MILLER

Your Vote and Influence

For Re-election of

W. F. NELSON

on the Board of Education for 1910.

Nothing more appropriate for a Christmas Gift than Snowshoes or Toboggans. We have a very large assortment. Call & see them.

J. J. TURNER & SONS

Peterborough - Ontario

Advertise in the Examiner

THE PALACE GROCERY

GRAHAM & COMPANY

For Your New Year Supplies

of

Groceries and Table Dainties

New Stock

293 GEORGE ST.

Nearly opposite Opera House

PHONE 488

Grand Opening

of the NEW STORE for Men and Women

This store will give the greatest bargains in the City in Ladies' and Gentlemen's Ready-to-Wear Clothing and Furnishings, Underwear, &c. Also Household Furnishings. Special Bargains for Opening Week.

Opening December 20th.

Call in and look over our stock for yourself.

Canadian Furnishing House

163 Charlotte St. Near cor. George St.

2m-eod-132

Bjornson's Advice.

There is a story told of Bjornstjerne Bjordson that, arriving at a late hour at the town of Bergen, which was en fete to receive him, he vouchsafed to the expectant people no finer words of wisdom than a general recommendation to go to bed.

In vain they appealed to him for "song or sentiment." The great Bismarck, said he, gave the same advice under conditions all similar, and what was good enough for Berlin must suffice for Bergen.

Three years later, on visiting the town for the second time, the master novelist found a deserted city. Not a light burned in the dismal railway station, no banners waved, no addresses were read by portly burgomasters. In vain Bjornson asked for a speech.

"They have all gone to bed," was the reply. And so Bergen remembered.

His Failing.

"You are beside yourself," he retorted hastily.

She gave a shrill, unpleasant laugh. "Seeing double again, eh?" she cried. —New York Press.

The Elmsbury Ghost

It Appeared In Person to Mr. Ebenezer Pollock

By CLARISSA MACKIE

Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.

"Going once! Going twice! Going three times and sold to Mr. Ebenezer Pollock for $1,000!"

The auctioneer's hammer fell with a resounding thud and nearly grazed the nose of the purchaser.

"Didn't mean to damage a good customer," chuckled the man of the hammer as he pulled down the red flag above the gate and climbed into his buggy. "Come down to Lawyer Fitch's office bimeby, 'Neezer, and we'll close the deal right and proper."

"Very well," said Ebenezer gruffly.

He watched the crowd of women tiptoeing out of the house and waited until the last one had passed through the gate, each with a furtive glance at the new owner. He was aware that they marveled because he had bought a ghost ridden house.

When he was alone in the shadows of the tall oaks he looked up at the house, dark and forbidding in the midst of rank grass and weeds. Whatever had been its original color, it was now faded to a dingy mustard hue, blotted with the dark green of heavy wooden shutters tightly closed.

There were years and years when the shutters had never been closed. Those were the days before old Simon Elmsbury's granddaughter had run away with the schoolteacher and had in consequence been disinherited by the old man. Simon had left the house and land and furniture to the Foreign Missionary society, and now, five years after his death, they had put it up at auction, and Ebenezer had bought it at much below its real value.

It was well known that Simon would have opposed his granddaughter's marriage to any man. He was selfish enough to wish to keep her at his side to wait upon him, for she was the only relative he had.

"Let us come and live with you, grandfather," Cornelia had pleaded with her arms around his neck. "You will like Henry better when you know him." But the obdurate old man had angrily flung her aside, and the next day the girl had been married to Henry Stone and disappeared from Melville.

After that Simon Elmsbury closed the main part of the house and lived in the east wing for ten years, and then he died without one relenting word to Cornelia. The Stones had never been heard from since their departure from Melville. No one knew where they lived or even if they were alive. Old Simon Elmsbury went to the grave unattended by any relative.

Since Simon's death gossip had it that the house was haunted. On stormy nights, the credulous said, the old piano tinkled softly behind the closed shutters, and a woman's thin, sweet voice was heard singing in low tones. Snatches of this weird music could be heard sometimes in the lull of shrieking wind or dashing rain. On other nights all was still. Some claimed that Cornelia was dead and that her sweet spirit came back to sing in the rooms of the old home, where she had spent a happy girlhood.

In spite of ghostly rumors, Ebenezer Pollock had suddenly made up his mind to give up boarding in the village hotel and occupy a home of his own. The Elmsbury place suited him. It was near his harness shop, and the east wing was just large enough to serve his simple purposes. As for the main portion of the house, he gave it over to rats and mice and mold.

Now he walked up the path and entered the front door, creaking rustily on its hinges in the south breeze that swept the yard. On the second floor a door banged loudly. Ebenezer started and then, with an exclamation of disgust, entered the house.

A long, dark hall stretched away into inky blackness, and to the right and left open doors gave glimpses into darkened rooms faintly illuminated with candles placed there by the auctioneer.

Ebenezer crooked in and out of the rooms filled with decaying furniture, carefully blowing out the candles. Upstairs the candles were flickering strangely, and there was a chill in the large north bedroom as if from an open window, but all the windows were tightly shuttered and barred.

Once outside again, he turned the great brass key in the front door with an involuntary sigh of relief. The east wing had a separate entrance and was shut off from the rest of the house by a sealed door. A day's work by black Anna would make the wing very habitable for him and his bachelor belongings. Ebenezer didn't want a housekeeper—he detested women.

He had lived in the Elmsbury place for three weeks before he heard the singing ghost. It was the 21st of September, and the equinoctial gale was shaking the old house to its very foundations. Ebenezer had gone to bed, but he could not sleep. The wind screamed down the wide chimney and whistled around the windows. The roar of beating rain drowned all sound save the whistling wind. There were creaking sounds beyond the walls, and Ebenezer fell to thinking of the ghost.

It was then that the wind paused for breath and the rain fell more lightly. From a distance came the echoing jangle of an old piano touched by timid fingers and a mere thread of melody in a woman's voice; then the rain continued its monotonous beat, and he heard the music no more.

Ebenezer Pollock was angry. He resolved to lay the intruding ghost if possible, and so the next day when a watery sun rendered the house a little less dreary he lighted a lantern and unsealed the door that led into the other side of the house.

The house was quite as dusty and forlorn as on the day he had bought it. Strangely enough, Ebenezer did not look at the little piano which stood open just as Cornelia Elmsbury had left it so many years ago, with a yellowed sheet of music upon the rack. He scurried through the rooms with a half realization that some slender spirit was flitting through the rooms away from his contaminating presence.

A few weeks afterward there came another storm of wind and rain, and again he heard the ghostly music. Ebenezer had a twinge of the rheumatism that night, and he very irritably rapped on the wall with his cane. The music stopped abruptly, and he did not hear it again, although there were many storms that fall.

One winter evening, when the old house was wrapped in a blinding snowstorm, Ebenezer awoke from his first sleep with every muscle aching and drawing with pain. Rheumatism held him a captive. For hours he groaned dismally, conscious that the fire in his air tight stove was nearly out at a time when he needed heat. There was no ministering hand to apply hot napkins to his swollen joints and muscles or to allay his torture with soothing liniments.

It was then that the ghost came again—this time with groping fingers upon the sealed door. It knocked gently and spoke to him in faint, frightened whispers.

"Go away!" shouted Ebenezer wrathfully. "Go away, ma'am! It ain't proper that you should be loit'ring around here! Go away, I say!"

There was a silence, and presently Ebenezer's thick, grizzled hair stood almost upright on his head. Ghostly footsteps sounded in the rooms over his head and softly, tap, tap, tap, down the narrow staircase that opened into his bedroom.

The lamp beside his bed gave forth a cheering light, and Ebenezer Pollock, thoroughly frightened for the first time in his life, watched with fascinated eyes the slowly opening door at the foot of his couch.

Tall and slender and pale, she stood before him at last, her tender blue eyes filled with pitying tears. Perhaps she was forty years old, but the hair framing her delicate face made her appear much younger.

"I could not bear to hear you moaning with pain all alone. My husband used to have rheumatism before he died, and I know just what to do," she said in a low tone.

"Ma'am!" gasped Ebenezer. "Ma'am!"

He watched her slender figure as it flitted to and fro about his rooms. She mended the fire, and soon its cheering warmth brought relief to his aching limbs. She heated water and flannel cloths and applied soothing liniments with very human fingers.

When the lines of suffering had relaxed and Ebenezer's face still sought hers questioningly she sat down in a low chair and spoke somewhat sadly.

"I'm Mrs. Stone—Cornelia Elmsbury that was. I've been living here four years."

"Here—in this house? How?" demanded Ebenezer doubtfully.

"In the big back attic," said Cornelia, with a little smile. "It looks out on the tall chestnut woods, you know, and the short chimney comes out there. Grandfather left the cellar full of coal and wood. I've got it real comfortable up there, and on stormy nights I'd come down in the dark and play on my piano till you drove me away. I used to walk over to Baltor on dark evenings and get all my groceries and things. It was hard work, but it was heaven to me to get home again after all I went through!" She broke into sobs.

"What made you hide? What did you do it for?" asked Ebenezer excitedly.

"My husband was poor. He died and left a little insurance money—just enough to buy my food and not enough to pay rent. My eyesight is so poor I cannot work, and so I thought I would come back here. I heard the place was shut up, and it was my own by rights. I knew I'd be driven out if any one knew I was here!"

"You poor little thing!" blurred Ebenezer pityingly. "Stay here just as long as you like!" There was a long silence after that, while the little widow cried happily before the fire. Ebenezer was thinking rapidly. "If you ever go away, ma'am," he said, with a great blush, "I'll go after you and bring you back here and"— He paused.

It happened that one day the ghost deserted the Elmsbury house, and Ebenezer kept his word and went after her—and brought her back a bride to her old home.

This is the trade-mark which is found on every bottle of the genuine

Scott's Emulsion

the standard Cod Liver Oil preparation of the world. Nothing equals it to build up the weak and wasted bodies of young and old. All Druggists

Send 10c. name of paper and this ad. for our beautiful Savings Bank and Child's Sketch-Book. Each bank contains a Good Luck Penny.

SCOTT & BOWNE

132 Wellington St., West, Toronto, Ont.

—MANY BARGAINS STILL LEFT FOR—

NEW YEAR'S GIFTS

At Schneider's Great Sacrifice

SALE OF JEWELRY

Allow us to thank our numerous patrons for the hearty support accorded our Christmas Sale. Although our stock has been considerably reduced we still have some splendid Bargains to offer. :: :: :: ::

Some fine Marble Finished Mantel Clocks worth reg. $10, now on sale for - - - 7.50

Ladies' high grade Gold Filled Watches, worth $20, now going at - - - - $14

Bargains in Gents' Watches, Gold, Silver and Nickel Cases, filled with guaranteed movements, running in price and upwards - $4

Ladies' Gold Filled Bracelets, a high grade, worth $5.00, now at - - - - - 3.60

Also some fine Ebony Mounted Brushes and Mirrors.

We have still a few of those Ladies' Gilt Dresser Clocks & Jewel Cases which are now on sale at - - - - - Half the Regular Prices

Also a few Ladies' Silk Umbrellas with Fancy Gold & Silver Mounted Handles, worth each $5 and upwards, which we are now clearing out - - - - - - Regardless of Cost

Some of those Cut Glass Berry Bowls still on hand, splendid $6 & $7 value, now on sale $4-4.50

Fancy Pieces of Limoges China & Fancy Bronzes, all on sale at - - - - - Greatly Reduced Rates

REMEMBER

SCHNEIDER'S FOR BARGAINS

KEEP YOUR EYE ON OUR WINDOW

His Little Joke.

An enterprising Philadelphia restaurant proprietor hung out a large blackboard sign one day with the following announcement: "You Can't Beat Our 15 Cent Dinners."

This sign proved to be a good drawing card until a young man of humorous turn of mind came along. The latter, seeing the sign, stopped and after scrutinizing it closely smiled one of those smiles which bode no one any good. He waited until none of the employees was watching, and, taking out his handkerchief, he erased the letter "b" from the word "beat."

The transformation was complete, and it was not until a crowd had collected that the proprietor of the restaurant discovered why there was larger crowd outside than inside.

Wealth of Northern Ontario.

The railway surveyors estimate the clay belt that is away north of Cobalt contains 16,000,000 acres of excellent farming land. As Ontario and Quebec have at present about 20,000,000 acres under cultivation, an idea can be formed of what the cultivation of the clay belt means to this province.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

The Family Tree.

A Kansas City man married, and his mother-in-law came to live with him. About a year later a friend met him and asked:

"Has there been any increase in your family since we last met?"

"Well, yes. There's one more of us."

"Well! Glad to hear it. Boy or girl?"

"Neither. It's my wife's mother's mother, who has come to live with us."

The first man was silent a moment; then he said, "It looks to me, old man, as if your posterity had got headed in the wrong direction."

The Rhyming Speller.

A correspondent mentions the difficulty experienced by budding authors in spelling words in which diphthongs "ei" and "ie" appear. An easy manner to recall the order of precedence of the vowels is contained in an ancient rhyme:

"I" before "e"
Except after "c"
Or when sounded like "a"
In "neighbor" and "weigh."

They Sometimes Are.

"We'll have to promote that clerk. He takes the stairs four at a jump. He's always busy."

"Yes," commented the observant senior partner, "too busy to do anything."

Unopened.

"Did opportunity knock at your door?"

"Yes, but the cook always maintained that it wasn't her place to answer." —Puck.

Beyond his power the bravest cannot fight.—Homer.

VOTE

MASON

For Mayor

Queen Quality

SHOE

Everything that women wear in Shoes. In "Queen Quality" smart, exclusive styles, fit, comfort.

J. T. Stenson & Sons

364 GEORGE STREET

It's Confidence That Does It

Season's Greetings

At this, the Festive Season, we offer our thanks to the public for their liberal patronage during the year now rapidly drawing to a close. It has been our constant endeavor to give satisfaction to everyone, and the results of the year's business would seem to indicate that we have in a great measure succeeded.

Ready again to serve you with FAMILY GROCERIES, perfect in quality, perfectly kept and moderately priced.

CANDY, don't be without Candy. New Year's wouldn't be New Year's without Candy. We bushels of it and Nuts and other Table delicacies,

WHITE & GILLESPIE

Rubber Gloves

Regular $1.00 for

65 cents

Every lady should have a pair. Keep hands clean and skin soft and free from roughness.

Wm. Madill

Chemist & Druggist

OAK HALL DRUG STORE

Corner George and Hunter Sts

Better Stock and More of It

Cut Flowers

Ferns — Flowering Plants
Palms — Floral Designs
Bouquets — Wreaths, etc.

All work done in an artistic manner, on shortest notice. Orders by mail, telephone, or telegraph, promptly and carefully attended to.

Visitors always welcome at

West-End Greenhouses

Take the Jackson Park Street Car. Car stops within a few yards of Greenhouses

547 Park St. Phone 21
Day and Night

DOWN-TOWN AGENCY—At White & Gillespie's Grocery, 336 George St.

The Prospective Patentee
FULL INFORMATION TO INVENTORS
Fetherstonhaugh & Co.
PATENTS
STAR BUILDING, 18 KING ST. W. TORONTO.
OFFICES—MONTREAL, TORONTO, OTTAWA, WINNIPEG, WASHINGTON.

Rev. Father Minehan vs. The Bar Room.

Considers Local Option the Best Method of Fighting the Open Bar---Advises Ratepayers to Support It.

Rev. Father L. Minehan, pastor of St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church in Toronto, was one of the speakers in favour of local option at a great Local Option meeting, held in the Town Hall at Newmarket. His address was one of the most forcible and convincing ever delivered in that town.

Father Minehan attended the meeting, at great personal inconvenience, on the invitation of Rev. Father Whitney, of Newmarket, who is supporting the local option by-law at that point.

In ringing sentences of remarkable power Father Minehan fearlessly denounced the curse of drink, while through all he said, ran the expression of tenderest Christian sympathy with all who suffered from the liquor traffic, and of charity towards those who misguidedly carried it on or patronized it. We have pleasure in presenting this great address, almost in full. Father Minehan said in part:

"Two reasons prevailed on me to accept Father Whitney's invitation to speak here:

(1) My personal esteem for him, which has grown during an acquaintance of a quarter of a century. (2) My delight at seeing a confrere in the priesthood taking an active part in a campaign in favour of Local Option.

Help the Hotelman.

I am going to propose that the electors of Newmarket should say to the men who hold liquor licenses:

If your licenses are cut off, as we hope they shall be next January, we are willing in every way to help you to make a living independently of the most debasing and dangerous way of making a living under God's heaven—the bar-room.

We acknowledge that the bar-room has been associated with the hotel in the past because of public sentiment, and on that account we feel a certain amount of responsibility for such a state of affairs. We recognize that the change in public opinion is likely to inflict some hardship on you for the moment. We repudiaite all denunciations of you as public enemies. Rather do we sympathize with you as victims of what we regard as a vicious public taste in the past.

And if you loyally accept the verdict of the electors, if you at their behest keep a hotel without a bar-room, or if you turn to some other line of business, we will do our best to make the transition from the old conditions to the new as easy for you as possible. And we can assure you that in ten years' time nobody shall have more reason than you to rejoice over the success of Local Option. You may not have as much money as would pass from the pockets of wage earners into your coffers over the counter of the bar-room, but the money you will have will not be money with the curse of blighted homes and ruined souls upon it; it will not be money which will leave behind it a trail of wastrelism and crime in your descendants.

Ultimately the greatest sufferers from the bar-room are the kith and kin of the proprietor. Woe to the family tree which has its roots in the liquor traffic.

These remarks will show that I have no animosity to the bar-keeper as an individual. I have pointed out that he is in many cases the victim of a vicious public sentiment in the past. Towards his business I have the profoundest antipathy. I have had an opportunity for many years to observe its operations at close range. And that experience has made me a thorough-going advocate of its abolition.

Wherever in the course of my spiritual ministrations I have been brought face to face with tragedies of the soul—wherever I stood by the death-bed powerless to give any aid to the soul being fast borne to the awful verge of eternity—wherever I stood beside the corpse and could offer no word of prayer or consolation—wherever I was forced to see the poor remains hacked by the dissecting knife and consigned to unconsecrated clay without a solitary word of blessing or appeal for mercy—wherever I saw the home dreary, fireless, foodless, reeking with filth—wherever I beheld the daughter with the brand of shame on her shameless face and heard that rasping voice and laugh, which are the most terrible sounds at this side of hell—wherever I gazed on the loafing, worthless son, the besotted father, the mother to whom it was a profanation to apply that sacred name—I could almost invariably say: "This is the work of the bar-room."

I could not go into detail and harrow your feelings by describing scenes branded on my memory, but your own recollections of what you have read and witnessed will fill in what I have only rapidly outlined.

Drink and Impurity.

We are often told that temperance fanatics make the whole Law of the Prophets consist in Prohibition; and that a man may never touch intoxicating liquor and at the same time be utterly bad in other respects. This may be so in some rare instances. If it be so, the person who, while not tasting intoxicating liquor, yet transgresses in other points, does so in spite of and not because of, his abstemiousness in the matter of intoxicants. Whereas the man who loves the social glass and yet keeps soul and body pure, does so in spite of one of the greatest incentives to impurity.

Drink is the twin brother of impurity. The intimate connection between the two was proclaimed by Pagan and Christian writers thousands of years ago. The worship of Bacchus, the Pagan god of wine, was carried out with rites so wild and unspeakably immodest that the Senate of Pagan Rome suppressed the same with the utmost severity. The great Apostle of the Gentiles warns his followers of the intimate connection between wine and lust. And the greatest Scriptural scholar of early Christianity declared that he would never believe a drunkard to be chaste.

"Hypocrisy and Cant."

The advocates of the bar-room who indulge in platitudes about morality, profess a zeal for the whole law and denounce hypocrisy, are carrying the game of bluff to the verge of recklessness. I yield to none in my hatred of hypocrisy, but if I were asked to give a good illustration of that vice, I would point to the man who subscribes generously to charitable organizations and then takes from a spendthrift father the money which should be devoted to the maintenance of wife and children. If I want an explanation of unpaid debts, of murders, suicides, wrecked homes; if I seek a recruiting agent for vile theatres and dens of infamy, if I look for the arch-enemy of every one of the Commandments, I put my hand on the drink curse and say, "Thou art the guilty one." And when the apologist for the bar-room, which is the throne-room of the drink curse, has recourse to platitudes about morality, he, to my mind, touches the lowest depths of odious cant.

The Arch Enemy of Law

Let me confirm what has been said concerning the drink curse as the arch-enemy of every law, divine and human, by the following quotation from the "Toronto Globe" of October 20th, 1909. There is an extract from the first editorial article of that issue entitled, "Crime and the Liquor Traffic."

Every day's report of Canadian happenings brings home to the public mind the inseparable connection between indulgence in intoxicating liquor and the committing of the most atrocious and revolting crimes. That relationship is seen to be one of cause and effect. Not that every man who drinks is a criminal. That is not true. But it is true that nearly every crime of violence, and very much of the misery and shame of life is connected, directly or indirectly with the liquor habit.

Take that striking record set forth in yesterday's issue of the Globe by Mr. F. S. Spence. He gave five cases reported within one week. The key-phrases in those reports were: (1) Shot and Killed, Drunken Quarrel. Imprisonement for Life; (2) Murder—Both drinking freely; (3) Beaten his wife to death—Defence that he was drunk; (4) Murder—Both very drunk; (5) Suicide awaiting trial for murder of his wife when he was intoxicated.

That is a list gathered from one week's court reports. There are days when a list equally appalling could be gathered out of one issue. And to that record of murder and crimes of violence there must be added a variety of other offences that also accompany or flow from the traffic in strong drink. The evil is everywhere. Plainly here is a question which will not down. Here is a reform which will not be burked.

One Terrible Instance

To this scathing arraignment of the liquor habit let me add just one more bit of evidence from the columns of the "Catholic Register" of Nov. 18th, 1909:

Some striking examples of heredity appear in contemporary literature. Russell, in "A Plea for Posterity," refers to the Jurke family. Frau Jurke was a chronic drunkard, who was born in 1740, and died in the year 1800; 709 of her 834 descendants were traced with the following results: 106 were illegitimate, 142 were beggars, 64 were charges of the State, 181 females were prostitutes, 69 were convicted of crime, and, all told, the descendants of this one dissolute and drunken woman cost the State during a period of 75 years a sum estimated at $1,250,000.

The Time to Act Now.

Canada last year spent nearly $80,000,000 for intoxicating liquors. The loss in wasted energy, loss of labour, imprisonment, diseases of body and mind, etc., due directly to the liquor curse, amounted at a conservative estimate to upwards of one hundred million dollars. And all this enormous yearly expenditure of upwards of $180,000,000 in our Dominion is devoted to the manufacture of Jurkes—human bombshells primed to scatter destruction amongst generations which have not yet seen the light. This record of one dissolute drunkard shows what a fearful and ever-widening trail of crime one drunken family can spread.

We are happy in our comparative freedom from the fearful conditions which prevail in the cities of the Old Land, and which are crushing its very life. The python of intemperance has not attained here the giant proportions it has reached there. Now is the time for us to register a solemn vow that it shall not be allowed to grow, that we shall rend its folds here and now, before they get strong enough to seriously threaten our national life.

The Best Available Weapon.

How are we going to bring about this result I say unhesitatingly that the best weapon at present available for this purpose is Local Option. Some may say, "Why not go in for prohibition at once?" Simply because prohibition is a Dominion measure, and the Dominion as a whole is not yet prepared for that extreme. But to the individuals who wish to throw down Local Option by raising the question of Prohibition, I say, "The liquor curse must be strangled at any cost, "and if any measure less energetic "than Prohibition will not suffice, "then Prohibition we shall have."

The Bar-Room Evil.

For my part I do not believe that it will be necessary to go to this extreme. I believe that the spinal column of the liquor curse is the bar-room. Practically every drunkard with whom I have been brought in contact received his initiation in the bar room, and graduated from that seminary of drunkenness.

It may be said that if you close the bar-rooms a man can bring liquor home and enter upon a debauch in his own house. Yes, he can; but the number of men who will swill at home is, according to my observation, very small, and their number will grow smaller as their nursery, the bar-room, is cut off, for they are mainly bar-room products. Rarely have I ever seen the police van drive up to the door of a home; whenever I see it on its gloomy errand it is generally going towards or coming from some bar-room. When I meet any member of my flock who has been on a spree, I almost invariably hear this confession: "Father, I did not intend to get drunk, but I met a few friends, and they pressed me to have a drink with them. I had to order my treat like the rest, and the moment we had two or three rounds of drink, we were all ready to sing: "We won't go home until morning, or until well on to noon, for we found ourselves figuring in the daily parade of drunks that interview the police magistrate."

The Treating System.

There we have in a nutshell the process of drunkard manufacture. The pernicious association of friendship with the social glass which has come down to us through generations is, notwithstanding the blessed revolution in public sentiment, which has taken place in the past forty years, still strong in many quarters. Of all the senseless customs, that of duelling not excepted, which ever held mankind in slavery, the most destructive has been the "treating system."

Eliminate that system and you have practically cut off the power from the drunkard factory. Some little donkey engine of a drinking dive may still continue to operate, some sots will yet continue to procure their favourite beverage by ways and means worthy of their habits; but the great machine shop with its inviting lights and its retinue of loafers waiting to be treated will be no longer running. With the bar closed the treating system is wiped out, and the main supply wire of the mill of intemperance with its awful output of ruined hearts and brains and homes and souls, will be severed.

A Sufficient Proof.

Sufficient proof of this is furnished by the following figures, which to me establish the efficiency of Local Option in a manner absolutely unassailable. Torontonians have Local Option conditions in force throughout their city on New Year's Day, which is their municipal election day. From eleven o'clock of the preceding night to six o'clock of the following morning every bar-room in Toronto is closed. Now, if these bar-rooms were open on that day of social calls, of good fellowship, of election sentiment, it is certain that the drink record would be the heaviest of the whole year. But the bar-rooms are all closed, and what is the result?

On New Year's Day, 1907, Toronto, with its population of nearly 300,000 souls—many of them recent arrivals from lands in which unfortunately the workingman's beer is looked upon as a necessity of life—had one arrest for drunkenness. On New Year's Day, 1908, it had no drunkard in the toils. On New Year's Day, 1909, out of a population considerably more than 300,000, just four drunks found themselves in the hands of the police.

Compare this record with that of the corresponding three Christmas Days. Just one week before New Year's Day, 1907, when the earth was starred with Christmas lights, there were other lights shining too—lights which had no heavenly message—lights which were not leading to Bethlehem, but luring to destruction—the lights which gleamed from every bar-room window. If there is one day beyond all others of the year in which home and love and Heaven ought to appeal to the better feelings of even the sot, and make him keep sober, and keep him in the bosom of his family, it is Christmas Day. Yet, on Christmas Day, 1908, whilst the earth was listening to that tenderest and divinest of narratives, which told how the Lord of Heaven and earth was born in a stable and laid in a manger to teach the world sympathy for the weak, compassion for the poor, mortification of the brute appetites, 44 wretches were being hurried through Toronto's streets, all aglow with Christmas decorations, past churches from which the anthems of "Glory to God and peace on earth to men of good will" rolled forth into the streets in thrilling and exultant strains, past open bar-rooms reeking with smoke and coarse jests and maudlin laughter (the one blot on that blessed day) into the gloomy cells of the various police stations.

On Christmas Day, 1907, the same fate befel 33 inebriates, and on last Christmas Day, 1908, 78 drunkards had a ride at the expense of the city to her free lodgings in the police stations.

With open bar-rooms on three successive Christmas Days there were 155 arrests for drunkenness in the city of Toronto, whereas, on the three corresponding New Year's Days, with closed bar-rooms there were 5 arrests. The Toronto papers pointedly commented on this contrast as eloquent testimony to the wisdom of closing the bar-rooms on New Year's Day. They might have gone further and pointed out the wisdom of extending the same policy to every other day of the year as well.

More Dangerous Than Dives.

I know no more convincing testimony to the efficiency of the policy of closing the bar-room than the experience just given of Toronto. We are told that if men cannot slake their thirst at the bar-room, they will have recourse to illicit dives and degrading expedients for getting liquor. Let me say in reply that I know many homes in Toronto blighted by the drink curse, and it is not to the illicit dives but to the bar-room that sad-faced wives and mothers attribute their misery. There will be no doubt a certain amount of illicit drinking when the bar-rooms are put out of

Continued on Page 11.

An Invitation

We cordially invite everyone interested in something for New Year's to visit our store and note the fine lines, perfect quality and moderate prices here shown. Nothing more appropriate than some of the following suggestions for New Year Gifts:—

Gentlemen's Gold Watches
Ladies' Gold Watches
Diamond Rings
Pearl Rings, lots of designs
Gold Cuff Links, 14 karat
Gold Lockets
Signet Rings Gentlemen's
Pearl Brooches, nice pattern
1847 Rogers Cutlery, Special Prices.

NO TROUBLE TO SHOW YOU GOODS. Call and Inspect Them.

WARNE'S

345 George St. 'Phone 52.

Anyone Overlooked?

CHANCES STILL GOOD

at the

PETERBOROUGH BOOKSTORE

As you have helped us to roll up such a great sales-record at Christmas, we will devote the balance of the year to surprising offerings and still greater sacrifices on all lines in the store prices to make lookers quick buyers.

NEW YEAR'S PRESENTS

The display of Gift Goods for New Year's presents affords abundant chances for good selections o high-art articles in many popular lines, such as:—

Books — Purses
Bibles — Leather Goods
Poets — Toilet Sets
Gift Books — Art Goods
Stationery — Toys and Dolls
Cut Glass — Sleighs
Ebony Brushes — Games, etc.

Friends who have been unintentionally overlooked can still be remembered.

A. H. STRATTON & CO.

PETERBOROUGH BOOKSTORE

417 George Street - Peterborough

More Wonderful Values

In Goods suitable for New Year's Remembrances, at

HALL'S WONDERFUL FIRE SALE

Holiday Selling still at flood-tide, and what's more important, hundreds of opportunities for genuine economy in the Buying of Useful Gifts, such as the following:

Neckwear Gloves Hosiery Corsets Underwear Handkerchiefs Underskirts	Tailored Coats Silk Waists Fancy Belts Parasols Umbrellas Mufflers Wool Gloves	Hand Bags Opera Bags Opera Scarfs Frilling in Boxes Fancy Work Bags Ribbons Fancy Hose	Lace Curtains Portieres Bed Spreads Comforters Blankets Rugs Mats	Centre Pieces Doylies Napkins Trays Shams Table Cloths Veilings

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED :: 353-355-357 GEORGE STREET

BEFORE STOCK-TAKING SALES

CARPET SAMPLES

Tapestry Brussels Axminster

Over 250 samples of the best grades of Tapestry, Brussels and Axminster Carpets purchased from a high-class Manufacturer this winter for a special sale. We know of no more fitting time than right now to offer these lines. Stock-taking is coming and we must close them out hurriedly. Come and inspect our large range of designs.

English Tapestry Samples

Dozens of the best grade of Tapestry Carpet Samples in splendid designs and colourings, 1¼ yards long and regular width, ends worth from 85c to 1.35 each. Sale price to-morrow 49c

Brussels Samples

Scores of the finest Brussels Carpet Samples that we have ever offered for Sale—splendid patterns and colour combinations, 1¼ yards long and worth up to $2.25 per end. Sale price to-morrow 75c

—SEE WINDOW—

Best English Axminster Samples

Patterns and colourings found only in the highest grade goods, no two alike and any worth 2.00, but mostly worth up to 2.75 end, length 1½ yards. Sale price per end..... 95c

Department Stores Cressman's

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

In Chicago a woman's club has recently started a splendid new institution—a theatrical censorship.

The club plans to get as many clubs as possible to unite with it, and in boycotting any play of which the association does not approve.

If this scheme is well carried through I am ready to assert that Chicago will become noted as the city of clean plays.

The best way to reach most theatrical managers' consciences is through their pocketbooks.

Make the immoral plays unpopular and you won't have to fight them by law.

The theatrical managers want to give the public what the public wants. They are studying and working for that all the time, just as hard as the owner of the big department store is studying to put the things that will sell on his counters.

It is not because they are fond of immoral situations and shady jokes that the theatrical managers put them on the stage. It is because they know there is a large enough public willing to pay to see and hear such things to make them financially worth while.

Let me tell you of a plan a certain large vaudeville house has recently made and you will see the great power the women of a community have.

"The women and children make the best paying audiences," the manager of this house said to me, "and we are going to run the show henceforth to suit them. It is hard for us who are in the business to tell just what they like and don't like, so we are going to hire a woman—a refined, middle class representative woman—to attend the first performances each week, and tell us what would better be cut out. And we are going to cut out what she tells us to."

It's the same with all managers as it was with this one. When they decide that they can make more money by clean, wholesome shows, that is the kind they will put on the stage and that is the decision I think the women's clubs in any city could force the theatrical managers of that city to come to.

The boycott would have to be wielded by a large body to be of any value, of course. No one club could do it of itself, but any club could start it—as this one in Chicago has—and invite all the women's clubs in the city to join it—as this one has.

I don't mean merely the literary women's clubs, but clubs of all kinds—social, church, settlement, or any other variety.

The members of these clubs would promise not to go themselves and to try to influence all their friends not to go to any play censored by the association.

A committee would be elected to act as the official censors and go to all the first nights.

These women would have to be women of great breadth of mind, and as far as possible removed from prudishness so that they would not abuse their authority.

Funds would be at their disposal so that when they found a play that deserved boycotting they could at once have all the members of the association notified of their finding.

Such a scheme would need great organizing and executive ability behind it, but I think it could be carried through and I would like to see it carried out within bounds of reason in every city in the United States.

$100 REWARD $100

The Temperance League of this city offers one Hundred dollars reward for information that will lead to the Conviction of any person guilty of Bribery at the approaching vote on Local Option.

The League has been informed that an attempt will be made to buy the consciences and votes of men.

The Temperance and Moral Reform League will not be responsible for debts contracted in its name for any work or duties performed in connection with the Local Option Vote—with or without the signature of any of its officers.

All workers or agents are hereby warned against the use of any promise or threat that will in any way unduly influence any voter. Such action is totally unauthorized. 4d-150

OLD WOMAN MURDERED AND DRAGGED INTO THE STREET

Timothy Riordan, of Point St. Charles, Arrested for Murder Which is Described as Having Been of a Most Brutal Nature—Beaten Almost to Death—Died Without Attention.

A SHOCKING STORY

Montreal, Dec. 29.—Ill-treated almost beyond recognition, face and head cut, and blood-stained, the lifeless body of Mrs. Bridget Lacelles, 65 was found lying on the sidewalk, in front of 18 Farm street, Point St. Charles, Christmas night, about ten o'clock.

Timothy Riordan, employed at Point St. Charles Incinerator, is charged by his own daughter with the murder of the woman. He is now under arrest, and his daughter, too, is being held, as a witness, pending the enquete.

The tragedy was disclosed Christmas night, when young Elzear Bois, a neighbour of the Riordans, found the battered body. He declared to the police that at the time he found the body he saw Riordan go away in the direction of St. Patrick street. Captain Coleman and his men were on the scene a few minutes later, together with Detectives Leclair and Connors. A search was made and Riordan was found by Constable O'Connor. He was brought back to the house and there arrested. In the meantime his daughter, Mrs. George Myers, who, it is said, also received fearful blows at the hands of her brutal father, was sent to the General Hospital and thence to police headquarters. The body of the woman had been sent to the Morgue.

The victim was well known to the police, as she often sought protection from the No. 9 and No. 7 police stations when homeless. Her face had been beaten beyond recognition, and her gray hair was matted with blood. That she was beaten to death is clear to doctors who have examined the body.

Timothy Riordan is 50 years old, for some months has been an habitual drunkard, selling every piece of furniture that could possibly bring a few cents and beating his wife and two daughters. Mrs. Riordan and the younger daughter, Mrs. Welsh, were chased from home last Monday, and have not been heard of since. The other daughter does not know where they are, and the father refuses to tell.

Mrs. Myers, at headquarters, gave her version of the affir: "Last Monday father came home half drunk. He had made arrangements to sell the kitchen range, and he got $10 for what was worth about $35. With the money he bought more gin and started a row when he came home, kicking his wife out and threatening to kill everybody in the place. The three of us fled, but returned when I thought father was sober.

On Thursday, it is said, Mrs. Lacelles went to visit them and was surprised to find Mrs. Riordan was out. She spoke of her intention of going to jail for the rest of the winter, as she had no place to live. She drank some gin with Riordan. On Friday she was there again got more whiskey and started an argument with Riordan regarding twenty cents worth of whiskey he had given her. Riordan was then fearfully drunk and he struck her on the head with his fists. Mrs. Myers saw the old woman fall down and her father eventually trampling on her, kicking her with his heavy boots. The old woman kept crying, "For God's sake, don't kill me," but Riordan never relented. Soon after she ceased crying and only a heavy moaning could be heard. Mrs. Myers had run from the scene and hid herself with her four months' old little girl. The father went out for more liquor. On Saturday she went to try and help the old woman, but she could not wake her up and felt her brow and her hands cold. She called to her father, saying, "I am afraid she is dead."

"No," said Riordan, "she is only fainting I'll take her out of it." Then he is said to have dragged the body downstairs, leaving a crimson mark on every one of the stairs. Laying the woman down in the snow he went away.

Mrs. Myers is a horrible sight Her face has been beaten and her scalp cut in many places. Her eyes are completely hidden behind swollen eyelids, her mouth is twisted from a blow on the cheek and her arms are covered with bruises.

She cannot swear that the woman was dead when her father took her downstairs. She had moaned all night, but no sound was made when Riordan pulled the limp body down the rickety stairs.

Mrs. Myers has been living with her parents since her husband, George Myers, formerly with the Montreal police force, went to work in Cape St. Agnes. Up to four months ago, she says, her father had not drank at all In fact, he had been a member of a temperance society, for nearly five years, but he resumed his bad habits and has been going from bad to worse. Every day he brought in liquor and started a row. Many are the complaints made at the police station by neighbours, and the man on the beat had often to interfere with Riordan's very clear statement when arrested, as doings. The prisoner did not make a he was heavily under the influence of liquor.

Later Riordan denied all knoweldge of the death. He admitted having 'had a little row' with the woman, but she was sick and he put her out because he did not want her in the house. Later he said that the woman had fallen downstairs and hurt herself, but he denied having thrown her down.

The neighbours gave graphic descriptions of life at Riordan's house. Since last May, when the family moved in, they have been annoyed with frequent disturbances. When Riordan was not busy fighting some member of his household, they say he tought with visitors, who likewise drank freely.

M. Honore Bois, 18a Farm Street, and whose door is on the same landing as Riordan's, relates that he heard the fight, Friday night. Riordan was calling the woman vile names and struck her several times with his fists and feet. Mrs. Bois tried to interfere, but Riordan told her to go to ——, and mind her own business.

When they threatened to call the police the beating ceased, but the old woman was heard moaning and complaining.

Elzear Bois swears that Christmas morning he heard a row in Riordan's house. He went on the landing and found the door open and looked in. Riordan was beating his daughter, Mrs Myers. The woman had her baby in her arms, but this did not stop the father. Every time he struck her, the woman would exclaim, "Oh, daddy, don't kill me." When Riordan saw young Bois he stopped and went into another room.

Mrs. Brossard, who lives below the Riordans, heard a row, Thursday night. She heard a noise like that of a woman falling down stairs and heard Riordan say: "Can't you go down like a woman? Come upstairs and get sober?" The woman replied: "I'm finished, look at the blood." She was helped upstairs and the next night a noise of thumping and moaning was again heard upstairs. Some one was saying: "Oh! Oh!" but a man's voice shouted: 'Get out of here! get out of here!"

These neighbours will be witnesses in the case and there may probably be three more men who were seen about the place. The detectives are looking for Meyers, a man named Anderson and another named Plumm. They may know something of the affair.

Riordan tells the detectives that the woman was sick when he left to go to church Christmas morning. He did not return all day and found that she was gone when he returned.

Mr. Bois, the neighbour, claims to have seen Riordan leave the house and enter several times on that day.

No worse hovel could exist in a civilized city than the Riordan "home." Dirt is everywhere, and in some places nothing but dirt. The front room, which may have been used as a parlour, is the one where the tragedy is said to have taken place. The floor was littered with beer and gin bottles, a broken lamp, a rug and a pillow covered with blood. The walls are smeared with blood, and hung up is a typewritten letter of condolence from the members of a temperance society, about the death of a daughter of "our esteemed member, Timothy Riordan."

There are two bedrooms. The bedsteads are broken and piles of rags constitute the bedclothes. There is a suffocating smell of bad whiskey, decay and dirt. In the kitchen, where vermin is plentiful, there is a ricketty table, on which may be seen a loaf of stale bread, some milk in a glass, a lock of hair, matted with blood and a large spot of crimson, bright over the background of dirt. The main furniture has been sold for drink.

After Mrs. Myers was taken to the Central Station, Mrs. Lajeunesse, the matron, tried to have her wash, but the woman seems not to know the use of water. Mrs. Lajeunesse says she never, even among the poorest immigrants, saw a woman and a baby so dirty.

REV. FATHER MINEHAN VS. THE BAR ROOM

Continued from Page 10.

business. Certain individuals will visit towns where Local Option is not in force and plunge into a prolonged debauch. Were the waters of Lake Superior to be diverted into the Mississippi river, our own St. Lawrence would not run dry immediately. After a disease has been conquered it takes some time to eliminate its poison from the blood. So we cannot expect to do away at once with the effects of centuries of drinking. Let Local Option get a fair trial, and it will convert, as it has in many cases converted, those who were at first its opponents into its warm friends.

Personal Liberty.

But we are told that this policy of Local Option is an infringement of personal liberty. Personal liberty is dear to us all. For my part I wish to see personal liberty given the highest possible latitude consistent with the public good. Jealous regard for personal liberty must be conditioned by the public good. The man who wishes to exercise his public liberty to the detriment of his country is ignorant of the elementary principles of true liberty.

In this matter of zeal for personal liberty the advocates of the bar-room show a sense of humour which, if applied to comic opera, would make their fortune. A crazy individual named Coxey led an army of tramps to Washington some years ago, and Coxey's army became the joke of the continent. The music halls and comic papers made capital out of it for months. But just imagine a prosperous saloon-keeper leading an army of bar-room patrons beneath a banner inscribed with the motto: "We are the friends of personal liberty." As a side-splitting performance Coxey's army fades into insignificance beside this "Personal Liberty," on the lips of men who pander to the vilest slavery! What a joke! Aye, and what a profanation of that glorious word "Liberty." Methinks I see the eye of Liberty blaze with indignation as she exclaims: "Do you dare to set up my throne in a bar-room and gather its besotted habitues round me as my supporters? If ever I come to such a place it will be to wipe it out, and try to deliver men from the thraldom of its slavery."

Personal liberty! I have known the personal liberty of a whole neighbourhood to be seriously interfered with by one bar-room. Women and children did not want to pass it after dark. The sidewalk reeked with expectoration. Young girls were insulted by bar-room toughs. Property all round was depreciated in value. On Saturday nights the eyes and ears of residents of the neighbourhood were outraged by what they witnessed. The personal liberty cry in connection with the bar-room is indeed a huge joke or a bigger insult.

But we are told that you cannot make men virtuous or sober by Act of Parliament. Neither can we make men prosperous by Act of Parliament, yet wise and progressive legislation has much to do with prosperity. The same is true of morality. By removing incentives to vice, and making the way of the transgressor hard, legislation can be and is a powerful aid to decency. And its value is not so much in the penalties it inflicts as in the educative influence it exercises.

We are told that the proper way to promote true temperance is by education, not by legislation. This shows an utter ignorance of the relationship between these two. Education and legislation are not opposed. They go hand in hand. Enlightened legislation is the crystallization of sound education. We talk of the big improvement which has taken place in the public sentiment in the matter of drinking, within the last forty years. Yes, and the milestones of that improvement are a series of laws repressing the liquor traffic. The education which has brought about the salutary change noted has been in a great measure the work of campaigns such as this.

God bless Local Option, I say. Its object is to do way with the most potent agency earth ever saw for the undoing of the Saviour's work. "Glory to God, peace to men" did anyone ever hear this anthem issuing from a bar-room? Did anyone ever know a home to be made brighter by a bar-room, or a holy or generous thought to there find its inspiration? Ah, no; its best paid advocate cannot claim for it any affinity with heaven. Its affinities have been all in the other direction. It has tried and is trying to strangle the Babe of Bethlehem in His manger. It has blasphemed His adorable Name: it has shouted from the foot of the Cross, "Away with Him." It has torn from His hands forever innumerable souls whom He died to save.

Let us then, in His name, cast out from our midst His greatest enemy, the bar-room. Let us do it in His spirit. Let us bear in mind that it is in our midst because of a pernicious public opinion in the past. Let us acknowledge that society is responsible for its existence, and that those who conduct it deserve, in many cases, our sympathy, rather than our condemnation. Let this campaign be conducted in a spirit worthy of Him, who would not "break the bruised reed," who had a hard word for the sinner only when he was defiant. And if success crowns our efforts, as I trust and pray that it will, we can rest assured that when another year comes round, Christmas peace and joy shall brighten many hearts and homes to which they have long been strangers.

VOTE FOR MORROW

THE WEATHER.

There was a frigid feeling in the air this morning that we have not felt since last winter. The thermometer showed that the temperature had been down to 12 degrees below zero during the night, but towards morning it had moderated somewhat. At noon it was 5 degrees above.

"The D&L" MENTHOL PLASTER

The original and only genuine. No other so quickly or so surely relieves

RHEUMATIC PAINS, LUMBAGO, SCIATICA, NEURALGIA.

Refuse all substitutes—25c. tins and $1.00 yard rolls mailed on receipt of price.

DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., Montreal.

COON COATS

Don't freeze—buy a Coon Coat. Such qualities and new styles as we offer you seldom see, except at extravagant prices. In Men's Coon Coats no one can give you a greater exchange for your money. Also Wallaby, Bulgarian Lamb, Russian Calf and Dog Coats, Fur Caps, Collars and Gauntlets. :: ::

W. E. LECH

366 GEORGE STREET, :: WITH THE TIGER MARBLE FLOOR

ADAMS' STORE FOR WOMEN

393 George St. 466 TELEPHONE

NEW YEAR'S GIFTS

After a tremendous Christmas business we have many broken lots of Xmas Goods which we are going to clear this week regardless of profit. You may have overlooked a friend during the Xmas rush and would like to remember them with a New Year's Gift, if so visit Adams' this week and share in the bargains we are offering.

Boxed Collars

Beautiful fancy Collars. Each boxed in a fancy box. Our special Xmas 25c line all this week, your choice for 19c

50c Boxed Collars 39c

3 dozen beautiful fancy boxed Collars, each box contains a Collar and a Frill to match. Extra Xmas value 50c. Your choice all this week, for 39c

Hair Pin Holders

2 dozen beautiful hand painted Hair Pin Holders nicely trimmed with ribbon, a very useful article, regular 35c. This week your choice for 19c

Handkerchiefs—2 for 25c

One lot of Handkerchiefs, our regular 20c and 25c lines all thrown into one basket. Your choice 2 for 25c

Similar Reductions also in the following:—

LACE SCARFS, SILK SCARFS, FASCINATORS, KID GLOVES, BED ROOM SLIPPERS, FANCY COLLARS, FANCY BELTS, PHOENIX MUFFLERS, LINEN CENTRES

and several other lines, appropriate New Year's Gifts

THE SCHOOL BOARD

Peterborough, Dec. 30, '09.

To the Ratepayers of the City of Peterborough:—

Having been interviewed, relative to my platform on educational matters, I cheerfully give for publicity my views as follows:

1. Efficiency in the teaching staff. This not only refers to the qualifications, as to the teacher's ability to impart knowledge, but also embraces the teacher's ability and desire to create a higher moral sentiment both in and out of school hours, amongst pupils.

2. To establish modern school buildings where necessary.

3. To include on the staff a lady doctor or trained nurse to give special attention to the health of the pupils.

4. To give preference to teachers who are citizens of Peterborough, where qualifications are equal.

5. To establish night school for domestic and manual training classes during fall and winter terms, open to those who cannot attend day school.

To build a vault in the new Collegiate Institute where the books, documents, etc., of the School Board may be deposited. To have the Secretary's office maintained at the expense of the ratepayers, and not by a private company. That an office for the secretary be furnished in the Board Room, such meetings to be open to the public in reality.

For several reasons it will not be my privilege to make a personal canvass, but I am confident of a liberal enough support to place me for another term on the School Board. During the last two years I have taken an independent stand on all matters of importance, and if re-elected will endeavour to make a more progressive policy. I am not actively endorsed by any member of the School Board, therefore am absolutely independent on all questions arising at the Board meetings.

Thanking you in advance for your support, I remain,

Yours truly,
W. H. NELSON.

VOTE

Mason

For Mayor

VOTE FOR MORROW

POST CARD COLUMN

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—I have noticed here and there a number of ratepayers express themselves as not satisfied with the Peterborough Light and Power Co. by-law. I argued the question with them and was forced to the conclusion that their vision was blinded or distorted simply by misunderstanding of the facts. And who were these men? They seemed to have some complaint that Street Railway line had not been extended and yet not one of these "knockers" have I ever seen on a street car. Not one of them. Yes, they have helped the company! They are the class that are chronic knockers. Once a year when something prompts them to take a car they will run a block and then all out of breath will look up and down the street. Then hear them! Their neighbour, however, knows exactly when the cars are due at a particular point. He is accustomed to riding on them. He appreciates the service which is almost invariably sharp on time except when the weather is rough, or railway trains interfere. You never hear us him missing a car and he may be riding several times or more every day. This latter man wants to see the service improved and by his patronage shows that he is sincere. Of course he is getting a service and is paying for it, but he could walk as the other fellow does, if he so wished. The knockers now want to still further injure the Radial Railway Co. instead of standing together and giving the company a chance to float bonds that will appeal to capitalists and will enable them to begin the extensions of the line next summer. A little honest thought on this subject would lead a few people I know to act for the best interests of the city in this case. The agreement between the city and company is fixed. Solicitor Hall and the Manufacturers' committee have devoted a great deal of time to the by-law and the ratepayer surely has sufficient trust in his representative on the Council to support a by-law they have prepared.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor,

NORTH ENDER.

DON'T MISS IT

THE

Y.M.C.A. CIRCUS

Two Nights

Friday and Saturday

75—PERFORMERS—75

Comedy Acts

Clowns, Tumbling and Balancing

and many other features, all equally amusing.

Show begins at 8.15

Don't Miss It

Halpany Orchestra in attendance

Admission 25c, Children 15c

24-1&3

C. N. AND C. N. A. New Discoveries by an old physician! C. N. Tablets for internal use. C. N. A. local nourisher for external use. The two—both used in conjunction at the same time produces more invigorating, vitalizing and rejuvenating effects than has ever before been offered. Sufferers from vital weakness and lost vigor, that robs the pleasures of life, will find one of each produces wonderful invigorating, enlarging and lasting results. Free Trial Sample mailed in plain package on receipt of this advertisement and six cents postage. Address—THE NERVINE CO., 90 VICTORIA AVE., WINDSOR, ONT., CANADA.

Heavy Fur Coat Time

Ladies' and Men's Fur Coats

Not How Cheap—but How Good.

Quality Remains Long After Price is Forgotten.

E. N. McWILLIAMS

374 George St. - Peterborough

How Would You Like Your

Tan Shoes

Changed to

BLACK?

We can do the trick for you. We colour them a good black to stay black. Send them in.

Soft Felt Hats

Cleaned to Look Like New

YEOTES BROS

SHOE SHINE PARLOURS

GEORGE STREET

Your favourite Polish on Sale

A New Year's Resolution

"I purpose buying my Footwear for 1910 at

R. McWHINNIE'S

BOTH PHONES. 384 GEORGE ST

Brock St. Rink

Season 1909-10

Tickets for the season entitling the holder to a skating privileges, on sale Monday, Dec. 13th, at F. R. Clarke & Son, E. N. McWilliams, W. A. Henderson, W. Medill, Payne's Drug Store, McDermid & Jury, and at the rink.

Gentlemen ...$3.00
Ladies 2.00
Youths 16 to 18..$2
Boys under 16, 1.50
Girls 1.50

BEST CHINESE LAUNDRY

169 SIMCOE ST. PETERBOROUGH

Orders telephoned to Mr. George Record promptly filled. Ladies' and gentlemen's washing at moderate rates Parcels called for and delivered.

Have You Seen the New Model OLIVER No. 5 Typewriter ?

A Nugget of Gold from the Mine of Experience

It Establishes A NEW STANDARD

Write For Detailed Description

Peterboro' Typewriter Co.

Phone 655 159 SIMCOE STREET

DOMINION CHINESE CAFE

328 George 328 George

Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch, don't forget to call at

283 George St. HARRY HAMILTON

Ice Cream and Soft Drinks

LENDRUM'S STUDIO

will be open on

NEW YEAR'S DAY

to make sittings.

LENDRUM'S

Ground Floor Studio. - Charlotte Street

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

THE LATEST NEWS OF SPORT — TOLD IN BRIEF FORM

WEST ENDS WILL PLAY KEENE HERE TO-NIGHT

The local hockey season will be ushered in to-night when the Keene team will cross sticks with Jack Oldham's City League septette in an exhibition game at the Auditorium rink, George St. south. The West Ends with a picked up team were badly beaten in Keene on Tuesday night and are eager for revenge, so that they will have their strongest line-up on to-night in the hope of turning the tables on the fast villagers. It will give the fans a good opportunity of getting a line on the City League teams. Keene's team is rather in the dark horse category and the same may be said of the West Ends, so that to-night's game will give the fans a chance to figure out some dope on the City League prospects. It should be a lively game of hockey and will be well worth seeing as it is the first game of the season and also the first game of ice hockey ever played on the Auditorium rink, which Manager Hurtubise has fitted up in good shape for hockey purposes. The puck will be faced at 8 o'clock and there will undoubtedly be a good crowd out to see the opening of the season..

The West End team will line up as follows:

Goal—Halpin.
Point—O. Dobson.
Cover—Seymour.
Rover—Crane.
Centre—Rose.
Right wing—Short.
Left wing—Giroux.

The Keene team will be practically the same as defeated the West Ends on Tuesday night.

ANNUAL PRESIDENT VS. VICE-PRESIDENT MATCH

The following is the draw for the annual President vs. Vice President match at the Curling Rink on Saturday, New Year's Day:

10 a.m.—

President	Vice President
W. G. Ferguson	J. H. Connal
W. D. Campbell	A. Hall
W. M. Lang	A. Moore
J. H. Ferguson	Dr. Greer
R. Neil	E. B. Clegg
Dr. Wightman	G. B. Stevenson

W. J. Thompson — Rev. E. A. Pearson

2.30 p.m.—

C. N. Brown	T. Brightman
J. E.A. Fitzgerald	H. F. Foote
R. M. Waddell	D. Davidson
R. Hicks	T F. Matthews
R. Sturgeon	W. G. Morrow

7.30 p. m.—

S. T. Medd	Dr Eastwood
T. B. Yeates	W. McIlroy
W. E. Talbot	G. H. Giroux

SPORTING NOTES

It might be well for the O. H. A. executive to inquire into the status of several of the players who are registered with the Oshawa intermediates. Although they may appear all right under the residence rule the fact that they went to Oshawa just in time to qualify looks rather suspicious. A couple of them were trying to qualify in Lindsay, too, but the executive stopped that game. It's just as well to nip that tourist stunt in the bud.

According to information in the Toronto evening papers from O. H. A. headquarters Tuesday night the Port Hope intermediates have been grouped with Trenton, Belleville, and Peterborough in this group. It is unfortunate that the Lake Shore bunch did not get into line sooner, as the schedule for this district has been arranged, and the junior and other fixtures built around the intermediate dates, so that any change at this date is going to cause much confusion and possibly some over-lapping. The teams of Group No. 2 turned down Port Hope's application for admission into that section and it seems only reasonable that the teams in this group should have the same option.

The Oshawa O. H. A. teams have registered the following men: Intermediate—Roy Foster, Leo Quinn, Percy Canning, Edgar Bisch, Leo Cotey, G. C. McKaen, Chas. Epworth, Kenneth Randall. Junior—Geo. Bray, Francis McPhee, Harry Dubey, Benson Brant, Tom Lansfield, John Brooks, Geo. C. Thompson, Frank Williams, Morley Canning.

The T. C. C. had Moore of Peterborough out for the first time, and he is somewhat of a wood-chopper. He broke three sticks slashing and tripping.—Toronto Star.

Toronto, Dec. 28.—The Port Hope intermediates have arranged with Trenton, Belleville, and Peterborough, making a very compact four-club group.

Galt, Dec. 28.—"Bob" Mercer, the clever goalkeeper of the local pro. hockey team, underwent an operation yesterday afternoon at the hospital at 4.30, and passed through it very successfully. The news of his sudden illness ha been a shock to the hockey public of Galt, as Bob was a great favourite and a first-class goal-keeper, and his illness will cripple the local team.

He had played a brilliant game on Christmas afternoon against Waterloo, and was in the best of health, and in the evening he was skating at the rink with Pete Charlton and Jimmy Mallin, and made no complaints. After ten o'clock he was suddenly taken ill at the Grand Hotel and Dr. Hawke was summoned in and pronounced the illness to be appendicitis.

"Bob" will in all probability be out of the game for the winter, and it will be a heavy loss to the Galt team. Manager Serviss is already busy in endeavouring to get a man to fill the vacant position.

Manager Deannard, of the T. A. S. City League team announces that he has signed a number of good men for the Abstainers' septette. He has secured Morin, the fast wing player of last year's champion Lakefield team, and has also secured the services of Mac Quigley, who played for the T. A. S. last year, and with Lakefield the year before. McNichol, of Hastings, will also turn out with the T A. S. as well as Coughlin, the promising junior, who made such a good showing last season in both junior and senior city leagues.

As soon as school starts those holding Collegiate hockey tickets will be able to play, but owing to the nearness of the O. H. A. games the Collegiate seniors will use their nights till then.

The Belleville Intermediates defeated a picked Kingston team in the first game of the season on Christmas day by a score of 5 goals to 4. The Belleville team lined up as follows, the team being little different from last year's seven: Goal, L. Spangenberg; point, Brown; cover, Goyer; rover, Karl Spangenberg; centre, A. Spangenberg; wings, J. Burke and Reeves.

The Peterborough Intermediate and Junior O.H.A. teams had another rattling good practice at Brock St. rink last night when there was a very large squad out in uniform and a lively practice game was played, the juniors showing up splendidly against the seniors. The speed of the youngsters caught the eye of the fans present and it begins to look like a lively junior group in this district. Among those out were Derocher, L. Giroux, Lech, Seymour, Dobson, Ray, McMillan, Dennison, Heffernan, Munro, Conroy, Pratt, Mills ,Hall, Corkery, Pelton and others.

There will be another practice of the Intermediates and juniors to-morrow night at 7 o'clock and the team committee after watching the last couple of practices have selected two line-ups for a practice game. The following players only are asked out to-morrow night. The other players should understand that these line-ups are only problematical and they may no doubt be changed before the final team is selected in the case of the juniors. To-morrow night, however, to avoid overcrowding, which prevents a successful practice, only the men whose names appear here are invited:

Seniors		Juniors.
Derocher, Giroux	Goal	Halpin
Glover	Point	Munro
Lech	Cover	Heffernan
Seymour		C. Giroux
Dobson		Short
Ray	Forwards	Pratt
Dusty		Hall
McMillan		Mills

RIGS FOR LOCAL OPTION

All persons intending to give the use of horses and rigs for the Local Option Contest in the City of Peterborough will report as early as possible, Monday, January 3rd at the Y.M.C.A. Building (North Door) corner of George and Murray Sts Abundance of shed room all around the Headquarters at the Y.M C.A. Refreshments will be served in the different Churches by the ladies throughout the day.

WE WILL DEPEND UPON YOU — RAIN OR SHINE.

2d—151—1w—151

LATEST CITY NEWS.

Probabilities.

—Westerly winds, fair and cold. Friday, southwesterly winds, fair and milder.

At St. Luke's.

—There will be a watch-night service at St. Luke's church to-morrow night, commencing at 11 o'clock.

Watch-Night Service.

—There will be no week-night service in All Saints' Church to-night, but instead there will be a watch-night service to-morrow night at 11.30 o'clock.

Error in Report.

—An error was made in the reports of the Christmas examinations at the Collegiate Institute, published yesterday. In the Form I B results, Lester Pearson should have been placed third, with a percentage of 71.

We Repair and Clean Clothing.

The gay winter season is here with its many social functions. Let us take your dresses and wraps, repair and clean them so they will look like new. We make a specialty of repairing winter overcoats. W. B. Hockey, "My Valet," 204 Charlotte St. Phone 575.

A Superior Gift.

—Exceptional quality of tone and brilliancy; nothing superior ,and few equals, constructed for durability, to last a life time and improve with use, The Celebrated Karn Pianos; 171 Simcoe street. Terms to suit purchasers; inspection invited. Reynor and Cunningham.

Dennistoun's Xmas.

—Tags, Xmas. Seals, Xmas. Gum Labels, large and varied assortment of the best designs; regular price 10c for 5c. Holly-covered empty boxes for sending away gifts at half price. The biggest and best Holly Box of Note Paper and Envelopes, regular 25c for 15c, at Stratton's Retiring Sale. Everything must be sold before Xmas. Shop in the morning.—A. H. Stratton & Co.

What We Manufacture.

—The Peterborough Showcase Co., situated at 709 Water street, manufactures all designs of counter cases, silent salesmen showcases, wall cases, store fittings, and all designs of high-grade cabinet work, such as china cabinets, kitchen cabinets, music cabinets, writing desks, book cases, medicine cases, etc. Furniture made to order and repaired. Dealers in British plate glass and mirrors.

BREAD DOWN!

Standard 3lb. Loaf 10c

22 Tickets for $1.00

LUSH & SONS,—Bread Bakers, 241 Dublin St.—phone 511

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Mr. A. Wilson of Moosejaw, is at the Hotel National.

Mr. W. S. Trewen, representative of Stonard & Botherly of London, Eng., is in the city.

Miss Mabel Caldwell is home from Toronto, and staying with her parents at 272 Water street, city.

Mr. A. Northcott has returned to Toronto after spending Christmas with his brother, Walter Northcott.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Halpin and little daughter have returned to Toronto after spending Christmas with the former's parents.

Miss Ethel Packenham left this evening for Toronto, where sht has been engaged as a supply teacher by the Board of Education of that city.

Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, Rural Dean of Peterborough and Northumberland, left this morning for Colborne, to be present at the formal opening there of Trinity Parish House, which takes place this afternoon and evening.

VOTE FOR MORROW

MR. J. W. BENNET'S LOCAL OPTION LETTER

Writes in Reply to The Examiner's Invitation.

To the Editor of The Examiner,—

Sir, — In reply to your inquiry as to the probable moral and material effect on the people of this city in case of the adoption of the local option by-law.

To my mind the moral effect is the all important one. I do not believe the local option bylaw or any other law one might suggest would prevent drinking to excess by those who have already acquired an uncontrollable taste for alcohol, but I do believe the bylaw will go far towards preventing the development of drunkards, and after all that is the vital point.

So long as the present conditions exist there will be treating and so long as there is treating there will be foolish young men who will unwittingly become habitual drinkers.

On the material side of the question it appears to me that the licensed bar as we have it now continually tempts the habitual drinker to spend a part of his earnings in selfish indulgence, while in case the bylaw is passed the temptation is removed and the money is spent in necessaries for the family at least this is the experience in places under local option, and as a result the merchants have a larger turn over and consequently increased annual profits.

The objection sometimes made by opponents of the bylaw that its passage provokes excesses and drunken carousals may apply to a very limited number of men who deliberately break any law of the land, bu tsurely no self respecting man would be a party to such degradation.

Yours truly,
J. W. BENNET.

Peterborough, Dec. 30, 1909.

RALLY FOR MR. MORROW

(Continued from Page 7.)

that they would do their talking on Monday and would "talk right."

Mr. Morrow's Address.

Mr. Morrow was given a good reception when he arose to speak He thanked the speakers for the confidence they had shown in him and for the support they promised, and which he felt they would carry out to the letter He had visited many of the factories and talked with the working men who had assured him that they would support him. Mr. Morrow referred to what Ald. Hicks had stated at the nominations regarding the increased taxation. In the year 1904, '05 and '06 the rates had been respectively 18 1-2, 18 and 17 1-2 mills, and in 1907, '08, '09 they had been 17 1-2, 17 and 19 1-2 mills. The totals for these groups were the same. The increased demand from the Board of Education for $20,000 was equal to 2 1-2 mills on the dollar, and the City Trust Commissioners had increased their demands thus increasing the rate. Mr. Morrow stated that in a growing city like Peterborough local improvements have to be extended. Schools have to be properly equipped and maintained and when the attendance demands they must be enlarged or new buildings erected. Other improvements necessary for a city of Peterborough's size and development will necessitate expenditures. Mr. Morrow also dealt with the question of securing power and stated that the Council will have to deal with it during the coming year. The city should secure all the power possible for delivery here if new industries are to be located in Peterborough.

The meeting was concluded by cheers for the King and the candidate.

LOWER PRICES THAN EVER.

Our Credit Sale will be continued all this week

Men and Women who require Winter Clothing have a good chance this week to buy Ready-to-Wear Garments at the very Lowest Prices before New Year's.

We offer extraordinary Bargains in—

Ladies' Coats

Just a few left, and they go at Half Price. Made in the new 1909 styles and in the best and most popular cloths.

In Men's Suits

A Reduction of 25 per cent. off, this week only.

Housefurnishings

Such as Curtains, Floor Coverings, Rugs, Table Coverings, House Linens, and many other lines at Low Prices.

Special Bargains in Blankets and Furs this week.

Our Terms Suit All—Cash or Credit

The Knickerbocker Co.

432 George Street Opposite Examiner Office

Wishing You All a Very Happy and Prosperous NEW YEAR

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, SATUR., JAN. 1

(J. J. Turner & Sons, Owners and Managers) Matinee and Night

Special New Year's Offering. Clarence Bennett Productions, Inc., present

Canada's Favourite Funmaker, MR. GEORGE H. SUMMERS, in the Great Cook-Peary Play

"Under the North Star"

or "A Dash for the Pole." A Superba of Scenic Splendour

Interspersed with Pathos, Humour and Stirring Climaxes.

Prices : Matinee—25c, 35c, 50c. Children, 15c. Evening—25c, 35c, 50c, and 75c.

44-153 Reserved Seat Sale opens Thursday Morning.

Great Removal Sale

Big Reductions all this Week

Now going on at

WARNE'S

Fancy Toilet Soaps, reg 10c, 15c and 25c per cake, for 4c cake

Kidney and Liver Pills,	reg.	25c	per box, for	9c
Dentafoam for the Teeth,	"	25c	"	9c
Wild Cherry Cough Syrup,	"	25c	"	9c
Electric Liniment,	"	25c	"	9c
Gordon's White Oil Lin't.	"	25c	"	9c
Kelvin's Hair Tonic,	"	25c	"	9c
Witch Hazel Cream,	"	25c	"	9c
German Cologne (Taylor's)	"	25c	"	9c

Comp. Syrup of Hypophosphites,	reg.	50c	bottle for	19c
Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil,	"	50c	"	19c
Little's Face Cream,	"	50c	"	19c
Nox Dyspepsia,	"	50c	"	19c
Diamond Hair Renewer	"	50c	"	19c

King's Beef, Iron & Wine,	reg.	$1.00	bottle for	39c
Vegetable Female Regulator,	reg.	$1.00	bottle for	39c
Japanese Hair Renewer,	reg.	$1.00	bottle for	39c

SEE OUR WINDOW

These and many other lines must be cleared before moving into our New Store, 351 George St., next to Richard Hall & Son, Limited.

NOTICE.—Those of our customers not having received calendars, will be supplied with them upon request.

THE WARNE DRUG CO., Limited

348 George Street : Phone 527 Bell—205 Machine

VOTE

MASON

For Mayor

PROBS—Westerly winds, fair and cold. Friday—South westerly winds, fair and milder.

The Aftermath of Christmas Business!

Christmas Selling always leaves us with many broken lines and odd articles, which we dispose of during this season at a big reduction from regular price.

These are a few of the lines which bear the reduced prices :

Plain and Fancy Handkerchiefs
Silk Initial Handkerchiefs
Fancy Boxed Frills
Fancy Evening Scarfs
Leather Hand Bags and Purses
Fancy Neckwear and Collars
Muslin, Silk and Net Blouses
Golf Coats and Jackets
Ladies' and Children's Coats
Fancy Belts in Boxes
Plain and Fancy Dress Silks
Many Lines of Dress Goods
Fancy Drawn Work Linens
Battenburg Art Linens
Knitted Wool Gloves
Wool and Fur Lined Gloves

If you have neglected some person or receive an unexpected gift, you can reciprocate at very little cost by visiting this store to-day.

ROBERT FAIR & CO.

383 GEORGE STREET : : LIMITED

Window Shades. Curtain Poles

THE GOLDEN LION STORE

DR. YOUNG
305 Stewart St., Peterborough
SPECIALTIES—Surgery and Diseases of Children
Both Phones 347 lydw

The Evening Examiner.

HARRISON FISHER'S latest picture and calendar going quickly. Select your present at once and let us Frame for you. Our Factory is working Day and Night.
Pillsworths' Picture & Art Store, 430 George Street

VOL. XLVII No. 153 | 20 PAGES | PETERBOROUGH FRIDAY DECEMBER 31 1909 | PAGES 1 TO 6 | PRICE TWO CENTS

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, SATUR., JAN. 1
(J. J. Turner & Sons, Owners and Managers) Matinee and Night
Special New Year's Offering. Clarence Bennett Productions, Inc., present
Canada's Favourite Funmaker, MR. GEORGE H. SUMMERS,
in the Great Cook-Peary Play
"Under the North Star"
or "A Dash for the Pole." A Superbe of Scenic Splendour
Interspersed with Pathos, Humour and Stirring Climaxes.
Prices: Matinee—25c, 35c, 50c. Children, 15c.
Evening—25c, 35c, 50c, and 75c.
44-150 Reserved Seat Sale opens Thursday Morning.

GOLDFISH COMING

So many globes of Goldfish were bought for Christmas presents that we were sold almost completely out of all our supplies. We now have a new lot of our favourite kind of Water Plant, and two crates and a barrel of Globes, Stands, Castles, Grottos, Swans, and Goldfish Foods will be imported this week. A very large shipment of the finest little Goldfish is on its way and we invite all who would like to see these, to call as soon as they arrive and get first choice. We send globes of Goldfish to any address in the City, or by express to any town. We also pack them for carrying in cutters or on the train.

The Peterborough Optical Institute
IN THE MARKET BUILDING : : : GEORGE STREET

A RETURN GIFT

¶ On New Years Day will be appreciated by those you forget to remember during the rush of Christmas. If the gift you want is for a man, there is no other such stock—no such variety—no satisfying assortment of suitable things, such as Neckwear, Shirts, Underwear, Gloves, Hosiery, Braces, Handkerchiefs, to be found elsewhere in Peterborough.

H. LeBRUN & CO.

E. B. CLEGG & CO.
Holiday Goods

Useful and Beautiful New Year's Gifts
Can be selected from our varied stock of FINE FURNITURE and at very low prices. Call and see if we cannot interest you in some of these different articles such as :—

Ladies' Mahogany Dressing Tables
Ladies' Sewing Tables in Oak and Mahogany
Gentlemen's Chiffoniers in Oak and Mahogany
Ladies' and Gentlemen's Easy Chairs and Rockers in endless variety.
Desks, Book-cases, China Cabinets, Tables for Parlour, Library or Den.
Children's Chairs and Tables, etc.

427 George street. CLEGG'S FURNITURE STORE PHONE 79

R. A. DUTTON
Wishes his many customers a Happy and Prosperous New Year
R. A. DUTTON, 420 George St. Telephones 304
GROCER AND FRUITERER

A WINNER --- A Want Ad in The Examiner

ROYAL

If you want to enjoy an hour's pleasant and innocent amusement seeing good pictures and good vaudeville come to the Royal.

Special Vaudeville for New Year's

Backe's Dogs & Musical Act

Mr. and Mrs. Backe will appear in their very clever and wonderful different Musical Acts, after which Mr. Backe gives an exhibition with his Performing Dogs, putting on Feature Acts never seen here before. Do not miss seeing little "Nip" dive from the ceiling to the pit of the Theatre, 22 feet.

SPECIAL MOTION PICTURES FOR NEW YEAR'S. The very latest and most up-to-date:

The Patient From Punkville—COMEDY.
From the Egg to the Spit—EDUCATIONAL.
Two Chums Looking for Wives—COMEDY.

The ROYAL Wishes All Its Patrons a VERY HAPPY NEW YEAR.

— NEW ILLUSTRATED SONG —

5c ADMISSION 5

Always Something New

A complete new range of High Grade SHIRTS, for the Careful Dresser.

Another new shipment of the famous
Reid Bengaline Neckwear
25 New Shades
Belmont
An Arrow Collar, is a Winner.
Ellis
Underwear our Specialty
Fashion Craft
by
A. M. Laidlaw
140 Hunter St.

THANKS and THANKS AGAIN

For the orders you have given us during the past year

For COAL And WOOD

Rest assured we more than appreciate your favours, and will endeavour in the future to continue to serve you right and merit your future favours.

R. Hicks & Co.
Office and Yards—346 Murray St.
'Phone Nos. 47 and 48.

Cash Paid for Second-Hand Furniture
Bargains in good Second-Hand Stoves, Heaters and Cookstoves, and other household goods at
BARRETT'S
303 George Street South of Charlotte

Greetings from the Semi-ready Wardrobe And Men's Toggery Shop : : : : :
Cressman's Cressman's
STORE OPEN TO-NIGHT

The Important Events Of 1909 In The History Of Peterborough

Review of the Principal Features of the Past Twelve Months as Gleaned From a Search of The Examiner's Files for the Year.

NOTABLE HAPPENINGS

January.

Jan. 1.—New Year's Day.
Jan. 2.—Former Peterborough man arrested in Pittsburg on serious charge.
Jan. 4—Municipal elections; O. H. A. hockey season opened in Peterborough.
Jan. 5—First show of Peterborough Poultry Association opened.
Jan. 7.—City Hockey League season commenced; L. M. Hayes appointed chairman of the Board of Education.
Jan. 8.—St. Peter's T. A. S. celebrated its anniversary.
Jan. 9.—Fred Simpson makes his debut as a professional runner.
Jan. 11.—Inaugural meeting of City Council.
Jan. 12.—Annual meeting of the Y. M.C.A.; Peterborough Curling Club's bonspiel opened.
Jan. 13.—Memorial service held in memory of Rev. D. O. Crossley.
Jan. 17. — Annual civic sermon preached to Council.
Jan. 18.—Canadian Club commences its year's work; annual meeting of Nicholls' Hospital Board.
Jan. 20.—Board of Works decides to prepare plans for a cheaper bridge at Smith street.
Jan. 21.—Peterborough hockey team beaten by Lindsay.
Jan. 22.—Annual meeting of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition.
Jan. 25.Annual meeting of the Police Commissioners.
Jan. 26.—Mr. R. N. Scott chosen Warden of the county.
Jan. 27.—Water Commissioners ask for $120,000 for new dam and pumping station.
Jan. 28.—Annual banquet of the County Council.

February.

Feb. 1.—Assessors for year appointed.
Feb. 2.—Peterborough Curlers runners up in district cup competition.
Feb. 4.—Lakefield wins City Hockey League.
Feb. 5.—Wall of Peterborough Cereal Company's mill blown down.
Feb. 10.—Postman sentenced to 3 years in Kingston Penitentiary; Water Commissioners report a surplus for the year; Knox Church congregation decides to erect new church.
Feb. 11.—Peterborough hockey team out of O. H. A. by defeat by Lindsay.
Feb. 16.—Property Committee approve of Public Library plans.
Feb. 22.—Spring Assizes of High Court.
Feb. 23.—County Council waits upon Government; Canadian General gets contract from Hydraulic Electric Commission.
Feb. 23.—Estimates for year brought down; Council decides to submit water works dam by-law.
Feb. 24.—Three firemen charged with assaulting deputy chief.

March.

March 1.—Court Peterborough C. O. F. celebrates the 30th anniversary of its organization.
March 6.—Dave Hartley leaves to take part in six days' race at New York.
March 9.—Annual meeting of the Board of Trade; Presbytery meets in Peterborough.
March 10.—Wm. Hamilton Co. get big contract.
March 11.—Col. J. Z. Rogers died.
March 19.—Alex. Sharpe released from Kingston Penitentiary.
March 21.—Council decides on a 19½ mill tax rate.
March 24.—Time for addition to street railway line is extended.
March 27.—Canadian Press Association visits Peterborough.
March 28.—St. James' Methodist church dedicated.
March 30.—Ratepayers carry water works by-law.

April.

April 3.—Annual meeting of the Midland Football League.
April 5.—Local Option petition presented to the Council; annual banquet of City Hockey League.
April 7.—Congregation of Murray Street decide to select site for new church.
April 9.—Annual meeting of Lawn Bowling Club.
April 14.—Dr. Grenfell visits Peterborough.
April 15—Church League banquet.
April 16.—Council decides to submit Smith Street Bridge by-law again.
April 19.—57th Regiment say farewell to old drill shed.
April 20.—Belcher and Blackwell's plans for new library adopted.
April 22.—Navigation opens on Trent Canal.
April 26. — Peterborough Camera Club's first annual exhibition.

May.

May 1.—20th anniversary of Bishop O'Connor's Elevation from Priesthood.
May 3.—Cheese factories opened; arrival of forty immigrants.
May 4.—Address to citizens on Penny Savings Banks for Schools; water very high in Stony Lake; announcement of Steamer Naiad's being placed on Trent waterways.
May 5. — Murray Street Baptist Church congregation secure new site for church building; annual At Home of C. G. E. Benefit Society.
May 8—Proposal to bring 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons annual camp to Peterborough; four young ladies graduate from Nicholls' Hospital; Examiner's big Sporting Extra, with account of $10,000 Marathon in New York and the Longboat-Shrubb 15-mile go in Montreal.
May 9.—Alfred Gaddy held up in Otonabee.
May 10.—Decision to vote on Purity Ware By-law on June 1st.
May 11.—Rev. Father Galvin appointed to Bobcaygeon and Galway.
May 14.—Cottages under erection at Stony Lake; O. S. Ferguson, East City, possessor of valuable unfinished diamonds.
May 17.—Announcement of opening of Highland Park, Rice Lake; Peterborough Light and Power Co. ask Council for thirty-year pole franchise.
May 18.—Col. H. C. Rogers resigns from Postmastership; Theresa McGrath struck by C. P. R. express in East Ward.
May 19.—Seymour Power Co. offer to quote price if Council will take block of power.
May 21.—W. H. G. Armstrong remembered by Orangemen on his departure to the West.
May 24.—Opening of new armouries by Hon. Wm. Pugsley; new wharf at Lakefield opened; visit of the 19th Regiment of St. Catharines and 38th Regiment of Brantford.
May 26.—Board of Trade sanctions Purity Ware L't'd. By-law.

June.

June 1.—Purity Ware By-law did not get large enough number of votes.
June 2.—Bishop Sweeny pays first visit to Peterborough.
June 3.—Body of unknown man found in the Otonabee.
June 4.—Closing exercises of Normal School Literary Society.
June 4.—First Band Concert of the season.
June 5.—Death of Judge Weller.
June 6.—Benson street sidewalk question sent back to the Board of Works.
June 9.—Mr. D. O'Connell appointed Deputy Judge; Dr. A. W. McPherson appointed Medical Health Officer to deal with small pox outbreak.
June 11.—Mr. A. Montizambert guest at farewell dinner.
June 14.—A. L. Davis dies in Toronto
June 18.—Bishop Construction Co. awarded contract of new waterworks dam; County Council in session.
June 19.—24th Field Battery start for their annual camp.
June 21.—Gypsies rounded up and brought to county jail.
June 28.—Gypsies fined $150 by Magistrate Edmison.
June 29.—Rev. E. A. Pearson left for Europe.

July.

July 1.—Hon. J. R. Stratton the host at banquet to officers of 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons; St. Peter's T. A. S. Picnic.
July 3.—Death of Father Lynch; gypsies leave Peterborough.
July 6.—Contract for Public Library let to Rutherford Bros.
July 8.—Decoration Day ceremonies.
July 9.—Corner stone of All Saints church laid.
July 10.—Quaker Oats Co. employees excursion.
July 11.—Harry Ball, grocer, disappears.
July 12.—Local Orangemen go to Port Hope.
July 15.—Severe storm on Stony Lake.
July 22.—Council gets further option on Burleigh Falls.
July 24.—Painters' Convention meets.
July 27—Peterborough Lumber Co's. mill destroyed by fire.
July 28.—Judge Huyeke sworn in as Judge of Peterborough County.
July 30.—Work begun on new mill for Peterborough Lumber Co.; Smith St. bridge by-law passed by people.

August.

August 2.—Complimentary banquet to Judge Roger.
Aug. 7.—Joseph Hunter, Bobcaygeon, suicided.
Aug. 8.—William Read drowned at Stony Lake.
Aug 9.—Civic Holiday.
Aug. 14.—Chemong Regatta.
Aug. 17.—Double Fatality near Norwood; father and daughter found dead.
Aug. 20.—Eli Dion sentenced to two years in Central for theft and office breaking.
Aug. 23.—Burleigh Power question practically shelved.
Aug. 24.—Letter from W. A. Bailey; Benson street residents stirred up over laying of cement walk
Aug. 27.—Arthur Bollard dies at Chemong.
Aug. 28.—William Fallon sentenced to two years in Central Prison.

September.

Sept. 1.—Inquest into death of Arthur Bollard at Chemong Park resumed; first Jewish wedding ever celebrated in Peterborough; death of Mrs. Alexander Dawson, a resident of Peterborough for over 50 years.
Sept. 2.—Date of West Peterborough election trial postponed until 27th inst.
Sept. 4.—Publication of clauses of agreement City and Power Co., Peterborough Rangers went to Perth.
Sept. 6.—Clarence E. Hicks accidentally shot in Tully's woods; Peterborough Cricket Club won from Campbellford; T. A. S. baseball team defeated Lindsay.
Sept. 7.—Harold Payne, 19-year-old Warsaw boy instantly killed at Bridgeport; opening of city schools; City Council awards contract for Smith St. bridge.
Sept. 8.—Jury declares Norwood double tragedy accidental; G. T. R. wreck near Omemee.
Sept. 9.—Two accidents on Trent Canal; Water Lily ran into a lock gate; Chief Howard presents report on Fire Chiefs' convention.
Sept. 10.—Ordination to priesthood of Rev. Wm. Meagher. Wesley Howell sentenced to eight months in Central Prison; Mr. Geo. Begy asked Board of Works to relieve him of contract for Smith Street bridge.
Sept. 11.—Opening of Grand Opera House for season; Mr. Burnham compelled to tell the whole truth for discovery; Roman Catholic Episcopal Corporation of Peterborough purchase Bradburn property for orphanage; Eastwood and Howden athletic games.
Sept. 12.—Human skeleton found in woods near Springville.
Sept. 13.—Bollard inquest resumed. Rev. E. A. Pearson of George Street Church returned from trip to Europe.
Sept. 15.—Bollard inquest resumed; verdict returned by Jury; festival of the Jewish New Year; Council decided to expropriate land owned by Mr. Henry Rest for Aylmer street extension if offer of $500 was refused.
Sept. 16.—Fred and Harry Jopling arrested on homicide charge.
Sept. 17.—Opening of Peterborough Industrial exhibition; Attorney General's Department take up Springville mystery.
Sept. 18.—Second day of Peterborough fair; T. A. S. win City Baseball championship.
Sept. 20.—Fair directors declare surplus of $1,000; Inspector Miller at Springville in connection with mystery.
Sept. 22.—Death of Mr. John Moloney, Clerk of County Court.
Sept. 23 —, Inquest into Springville mystery reopened; preliminary examination of Fred and Harry Jopling.
Sept. 24.—Tenders called for isolation Hospital.
Sept. 25.—Yom Kippur, most sacred feast in Jewish year; opening game in Junior City Rugby League.
Sept. 27.—Trial of West Peterborough election petition begun.
Sept. 28.—West Peterborough election trial proceeds; Otonabee Navigation Co. heavily fined for violation of Shipping Act.
Sept. 29.—Continuation of election trial; Jopling Bros. committed for trial; application to unseat Ald. Turner dismissed; Lakefield Fair.
Sept. 30—Continuation of Election trial.

October.

Oct. 1—Continuation of election trial; Ormonde cheese factory destroyed by fire.
Oct. 2.—Election protest collapses.
Oct. 3.—E. F. Mason & Co.'s store destroyed by fire.
Oct. 4.—Contract for Isolation Hospital awarded; Collegiate cross country runs

Continued on Page 6.

Night Classes at the Peterborough Business College
are being largely attended. Are you among the ambitious ones? If not, why not?
ENTER NOW
Individual instruction.
Call for Particulars.
GEO. SPOTTON, PRESIDENT J. A. McKONE, PRINCIPAL

Framed Views and Photograph Calendars for Xmas & New Year
are now ready for your inspection. Call and see them while the stock is large.

STUDIO, 140½ Hunter street
P.S.—Ask for Roy's Famous Souvenir Post Cards to send to friends at a distance.

A CARD OF APPRECIATION 1910

Our business for 1909 so far exceeded in volume of business any former year in our history that we cannot but believe that our

"Putting Our Customers Ahead of Ourselves Policy"

has been the means to the end, but even with that square deal policy we have an appreciative host of customers to heartily thank for our great increase in business in 1909.

You will find that a safe policy to trade under whenever you require anything from the Drug Store, and only under that policy is your patronage solicited for 1910.

McDermid & Jury
The Safe, Satisfactory Druggists

ELECT MASON FOR MAYOR

HAPPY NEW YEAR
— THE — NUGENT DRUG CO.
Extend New Year Greeting to all those who have so kindly patronized this store during the past years. : :
A.A.Fowler A.J.Johnston
HAPPY NEW YEAR

IS YOUR STOMACH WRONG?

LITTLE DIGESTERS

will put it right quickly and surely. Money back if they do not cure.

or direct from THE COLEMAN MEDICINE CO., TORONTO

At all Druggists.

25c. a Box.

Railway Time Table

GRAND TRUNK

	Arrive.	Depart.
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst, North Bay, Scarboro and Toronto	11.40 a.m.	6.35 a.m
	9.00 p.m.	6.35 p.m.
Port Hope and points east to Montreal and Boston	6.35 a.m.	11.40 a.m
	5.30 p.m.	9.00 p.m
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and West, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Cobourg, Montreal & East.	6.35 a.m.	11.40 a.m
	5.30 p.m.	9.00 p.m
Toronto, Lindsay, Scarboro, Uxbridge and Markham.	11.40 a.m.	7.15 a.m
	9.00 p.m.
	12.15 p.m.	5.35 p.m
Lindsay Local	6.15 a.m.	9.15 p.m
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and East.	6.15 a.m.	6.35 a.m.
	5.55 p.m.	1.40 p.m
	9.50 a.m.	8.35 a.m.
Lakefield.	6.15 p.m.	12.30 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Going East	Leave Peterboro'
For Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal, Kingston.	11.28 a.m
For Indian River, Norwood, Havelock Tweed.	7.51 p.m.
For Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal.	12.31 a.m.
Going West	Leave Peterboro'
For Toronto, Galt, London, Detroit, Chicago.	5.26 a.m.
For Burketon, Bobcaygeon, Myrtle, Toronto.	7.55 a.m.
For Toronto, Detroit, Chicago, Winnipeg and Northwest Points.	4.38p.m.

'09 CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY '10

NEW YEAR'S RATES

SINGLE FARE	FARE AND ONE - THIRD
Good going Dec. 31st and Jan. 1st Returning Monday, January 3rd	Good going Dec. 28th, 29th, 30th, Dec. 31st, Jan. 1st, Return limit Jan. 5th

Secure tickets and all information at city office. With best wishes for a happy and prosperous New Year.

W. McILROY. City Pass. Agent

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

NEW YEAR EXCURSIONS

Between all stations in Canada.

Single Fare

Good going Dec 31st, 1909 & Jan. 3rd, 1910, Return limit January 3rd, 1910.

Fare & One-Third

Good going Dec. 28th, 1909, to Jan. 1s 1910 Return limit Jan. 5th, 1910.

Secure tickets & further information from

F. SANDY Depot Agent — W. BUNTON City Agent

COAL

That Is Coal

Is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL at

$7.50 Per Ton

HARDWOOD

First Class—Best in City—at

$6.00 Per Cord

4 feet long. Cutting and Splitting as desired, at

J. E. A. Fitzgerald's

Cor. Brock & Aylmer Phone 111

A Good Resolve

If you want Good Bread on your table every day during 1910, it is up to you to start the New Year with a dollar's worth of tickets for

Gilgour & Mackay's Home-Made BREAD

Order from the driver or ring up the bakery office Telephone 40.

Fancy Cakes, Buns, Biscuits, Pastry, etc., Fresh every morning

Store and Bakery, Corner George and Edinburgh, Sts.

Good Resolves

FOR

1910

This is the time for making good resolutions for the New Year.

Here's a Good one:-

That I will not put off until to-morrow what I can do today.

The best Clothing can be obtained from

Merrell & Meredith

New Year's Gifts

Splendid Suggestions to offer you.

The time to get them is

Now!

And the Place

Merrell & Meredith

LIFE INSURANCE

Is Just as Necessary as Fire Insurance

You would think a man foolish who left his buildings uninsured. What do you think of the man who doesn't protect the full value of his own life to his family?

THOMAS MARK, General Agent,

THE MANUFACTURERS LIFE Insurance Company.

Bank of Commerce Building

Peterborough

SINGER SEWING MACHINE COMPANY

J. W. STUART. Mgr. Office 247 George St. Residence Phone 217. Office Phone

China Painting

Mrs. Langley McCarthy

Teaches Bischoff's New and Beautiful Dark Work in China Painting. Lessons in Oil Painting for Advanced Pupils Studio 9 Donegal Street

SASKATCHEWAN UNIVERSITY.

Infant Institution Is Big With Plans For the Future.

The western energy which has characterized the citizens of Saskatoon and other settlers of the Province of Saskatchewan in the building up and developing of the town, and in the amassing of material wealth, is manifested in no less a degree in the efforts now being made in the university town to further the cause of higher education. Already temporary class-rooms have been fitted up in the Drinkle Block, and equipped with the apparatus necessary for the dissemination of knowledge in advance of that to be acquired in the public schools. Fifty-three students, with matriculation standings acquired in the high schools, and in some cases in other provinces, have registered, and it is expected that upwards of sixty will be on the roll before the end of the month.

An elaborate system of scholarships has been arranged for, each high school of the province having the privilege of nominating one student, for a $180 scholarship, while ten others of $100 each are open for general competition. It is the immediate aim of the University to carry on the teaching of agriculture and arts, and later on to go further and carry on a school of domestic science, and in this way to give those who are taking an arts course in connection with teaching an opportunity of imparting practical knowledge, which will be of value on the farm.

Plans are being made for a two or three-year course in agriculture for farmers' sons who have previously received a good public school education. The university will also have charge of extension work carried on at fairs, so that in this way it will do all the educational work now carried on by the Provincial Department of Agriculture. It is hoped in time to broaden this work, so as to encourage farmers' debating clubs throughout the province, to distribute books, and provide for the instruction and amusement of the people during the long winter months. Anything which will make the life of the farmers more pleasant and profitable is considered a duty of the University of Saskatchewan. Plans are already being made for extension in other cities of the province, and it is practically sure that this work will be carried on in Moose Jaw, Saskatoon and Prince Albert during the coming winter. In this way the university will be brought to the people.

The Anglican college founded by Bishop McLean at Prince Albert twenty years ago, has now been transferred to Saskatoon with Archdeacon Lloyd as principal, Professors Tuckey and Broadbent as resident professors, and Messrs. Dewdney and Shorefield as non-resident, with temporary quarters at Nutana. There are forty students in attendance, about half of whom are taking lectures in the University, while the archdeacon, who has left for England, expects to be able to procure there thirty additional men for the mission fields. The University has agreed to grant sites for affiliated theological colleges on the campus to be leased to the colleges on a nominal charge, and two have applied for sites already.

On the 1,172-acre site on the other side of the river from the city, which cost the Government $150,000, work will commence on the three main structures, consisting of the general building, the residence for students and the power-house, in January of next year. In addition to these, work will be proceeded with on the farm, mechanics building, stock pavillion, barns, and probably an horticultural building. These buildings will represent with their equipment an outlay of $250,000. The sum of $330,000 has already been appropriated by the Government.

The Position of Canada.

A political leader, in conversation with a Montreal Standard representative the other day said: "This may be only an expression of American enterprise, but in my estimation it may mean very much more. The daily exploitation of the riches of Canada for the delectation of American readers must naturally have the effect of exciting the cupidity of Americans—this is only natural. The time has come when they need our raw material—this has become an absolute necessity. Especially is this true with regard to our pulpwood. What more natural than that American newspaper publishers should do everything in their power to become possessed, by any means possible, of the treasures of the Canadian forests? And to do this the way must be prepared—the opinion of the people must be moulded. I may be wrong, but this looks to me like the beginning of stirring times. What the American papers undertake they generally accomplish, and it seems to me that Canada is now the plum upon which they are to concentrate all their attention. How Canada will come out of it remains to be seen.

Novelist and Priest Miners.

The wide publicity attained by properties bought in former sales of the Gillies' Limit brought together a most interesting group of buyers at the last auction, says The Cobalt Nugget. The W. A. Fraser, who is associated with S. Ogilvie in the purchase of three lots for the aggregate price of $82,330, is the Canadian writer whose stories of outdoor life have delighted many readers. He had the distinction of obtaining the most coveted lots. Then, there is Rev. John Deville, the Catholic priest, who gave his name to the Deville property on Peterson Lake, and is now the moving spirit with S. D. Maddin in the development of the St. Anthony.

Died on Duty.

A cairn and cross have been erected on Killingtringan Moor, near Ballantrae, in memory of Robert Cunningham, postman, who perished there in the great snowstorm of last winter. At the unveiling the postmen from the surrounding districts attended in uniform. Into the cairn is built an inscribed block of granite, and, along with a memorial tablet in Ballantrae Parish Church, it is the outcome of a public subscription.

Excesses in youth are drafts upon old age, payable about thirty years after date.—Chicago News.

STUTTERING STAMMERING

DR. E. L. RIVENBURGH

PROPRIETOR

TORONTO INSTITUTE AND SANATORIUM

595 SPADINA AVENUE, TORONTO

Institute for the Treatment of

STUTTERING, STAMMERING, HESITANCY, LISPING, SUCTION AND EXHAUSTION OF THE BREATH, AND ALL FORMS OF SPEECH IMPEDIMENT.

Read the Following Testimonial

276 North Lisgar St.
Toronto, Sept. 17th, 1909

DR. RIVENBURGH.

Dear Sir,—Just a line to let you know what a great benefit I have derived from your excellent course. I may say that a person in conversation with me now would never imagine that I ever stuttered, and I owe my present condition wholly to your instructions. I sincerely believe that any person, no matter how badly afflicted, may be cured in a very short time if they will but follow your instructions, and I will certainly recommend you to any stammerer that I may come in contact with.

N. J. NEILSON.

Rhythmo-therapy Sanatorium Light Therapy

Treating Nerves and Mental Affliction

Best of city references and endorsements from all parts of the United States and Canada.

Call and see what I can do for you.

Patients coming from a distance may secure rooming accommodation in Sanitarium.

Write for names of those who have been cured. 13s-66

Montreal Goes Ahead.

Mr. Alex. McFee, the Montreal grain exporter, asked recently whether that port has held its own as against Boston, New York, and other United States ports on the Atlantic, in grain shipments for the year said: "I think that Montreal is holding its own. But it is my opinion that the combined exports of grain from the Atlantic ports has decreased of late years Montreal's supremacy in this regard is to be attributed to our canal system, which gives us cheap freight rates from west of the great lakes to Montreal. The fact that the shipment of grain goes by an all water route, obviates necessity of breaking up bulk of the cargo. The American system of grain transportation, utilizing both lake and rail, is at a disadvantage here.

Something to Be Sure Of.

This anecdote is attributed to Rev. Wm. Patterson, of Philadelphia, formerly of Toronto, although as he is the high-salaried pastor of a very wealthy church it seem scarcely apropos. It is said that he once remarked, in a circle of his brethren, that he thought ministers ought to be humble and poor, like their Master.

"I have often prayed," said he, "that I might be kept humble; I never prayed that I might be poor—I could trust my church for that!"

Sir Wilfrid Is No Horseman.

There are some things not generally known about Canada's Premier and one is that, although he guides the reins of the administration with masterly skill and diplomacy, he cannot drive a horse. When Sir Wilfrid goes to his pretty rural retreat at Arthabascaville, where he spends a few weeks every summer, he frequently takes some intimate friend out with him. Sir Wilfrid always insists on driving, but his companion is never very easy in mind. While the Premier can easily keep his followers within party lines, he cannot control nearly so well the lines over the steed that he is directing. The animal has a tendency to wander all over the road, and sometimes the carriage is dangerously near the ditch. But the polished and tactful chief of the Liberal party is totally oblivious of danger, no matter what haunting fear his escort may have. The humor of the situation lies in the fact that Sir Wilfrid thinks that he is an admirable horseman, but others, although they do not care to openly declare their opinions, says he pushes on the reins like a woman, and are always thankful for one more escape when the journey is ended.

Should Explain.

It is up to Great Britain at this stage of the negotiations to come out plainly and explain what she would consider a valuable contribution to the strength of the Imperial navy. Then it will be up to Canada.—Ottawa Citizen.

Printed Books.

The first printed books were printed on one side only, the leaves being pasted back to back.

OLD STUDENTS' PRANKS.

They Were More Ingenious In the Earlier Days.

The recent fuss at the University recalls some of the truly formidable student doings of past years. What must Dr. Beattie Nesbitt and others of the class of 1887 think of a celebration in which a trolley rope was pulled, a lawn mower injured, and a few garments destroyed! What must they think of expulsion and other dire penalties for these comparatively harmless hoodlum proceedings?

Those who spent their childhood in Toronto in the eighties well remember the two cannons given to the city after the Crimean war by the British Government. They stood in Queen's Park just where the monument to Sir John Macdonald is now located and pointed down Queen's avenue. They are now placed on either side of the entrance to the Parliament buildings, but escape general attention. One night, over twenty years ago, the residents of the central part of the city—and it was mostly central then—were awakened by a deafening roar. Everywhere, people in night caps thrust their heads from windows thinking that the end of the world had come. Then it was remembered that it was the night of the thirty-first of October. Next morning it transpired that the students had unspiked those two relics of Sebastopol, had loaded them with gunpowder and old boots, and had touched them off. It was lucky that there was no one on Queen's avenue at the time, and that the guns were not of long-range character. There were no casualties; not a student had even a finger burned. The identity of the ringleaders, one of whom was Beattie Nesbitt, was kept a close secret, but nowadays sober professional men who are losing their hair, boast of having taken part in that enterprise, and become ten years younger in telling about it.

Old University graduates also relate how a gentleman, now a prominent clergyman in the United States, went down on his knees to a committee of students appointed to deal with his case, to save his moustache. The orders were that one half of it was to be sacrificed, and that he was to appear for a week with only the left side of his mouth so adorned. It was a very beautiful golden moustache of a kind rare up at the University, and finally the committee had mercy on him and accepted some other act of sacrifice instead. And then there was the occasion when the students by some means or other took the caretaker's cow up to the tower of University college, a task as seemingly impossible as the building of the pyramids, and left the poor beast there bellowing her troubles to the night air.

It was only when the students commenced to destroy property other than that connected with the University that the town and gown troubles in this city commenced. But in those good old days there was not much doing and everybody relished a bit of riot, whatever the occasion. The pranks of the students, moreover, have lost their flavor of originality, and are apt to be sordid, unimaginative, and destructive when carried beyond their own campus.

Didn't Know Mr. Gompers.

Mr. Samuel Gompers and party occupied boxes at the Princess Theatre, Toronto, one night recently, as guests of the management. Their boxes were draped with British and American flags, and Mr. Gompers, with his little round silk cap, his twinkling glasses, and his benign, fleshy, clean-shaven countenance attracted no little attention. Of course, there were some people in the house who did not know he was the High Priest of Trades Unionism in America, but they realized that he must be a High Priest of some sort. This led to considerable discussion between acts, and after the performance, in a street car, the writer overheard a conversation on the subject which was very much more amusing than it can be made to appear on paper.

A gentleman, accompanied by two ladies, remarked to one of his companions:

"So you didn't know who Gompers was, eh?"

"No," she replied, "all I could remember having heard about him was that he ought to be in jail—oughtn't he?"

Then up spoke the other lady:

"You say he's president of the American Federation of Labor. Why, I thought Mr. Mackenzie King was head of all the labor people!"

Gifts From Canada.

A ceremony of interest to Canadians took place at the Hampstead Garden Suburb, London, Eng., on the recent festival of St. Simon and St. Jude, when the Ven. the Archdeacon of London dedicated the site of, and Mrs. S. A. Barnett cut the first sod for, the new Church of St. Jude-on-the-Hill, of which Rev. Basil G. Bourchier, M.A., is vicar. Mr. Bourchier visited Montreal in February and March last, where he acted as special Lenten preacher at the Church of St. John the Evangelist and the Church of the Advent. As a result of his Canadian visit, the new church is to possess a Canadian pulpit and a Canadian lectern, as well as several other gifts, the votive offerings of Mr. Bourchier's admirers in Montreal and elsewhere in Canada.

A Clean Man

Outside cleanliness is less than half the battle. A man may scrub himself a dozen times a day, and still be unclean. Good health means cleanliness not only outside, but inside. It means a clean stomach, clean bowels, clean blood, a clean liver, and new, clean, healthy tissues. The man who is clean in this way will look it and act it. He will work with energy and think clean, clear, healthy thoughts.

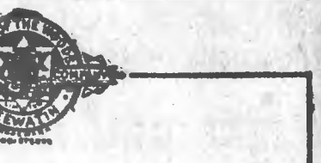
He will never be troubled with liver, lung, stomach or blood disorders. Dyspepsia and indigestion originate in unclean stomachs. Blood diseases are found where there is unclean blood. Consumption and bronchitis mean unclean lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

prevents these diseases. It makes a man's insides clean and healthy. It cleans the digestive organs, makes pure, clean blood, and clean, healthy flesh.

It restores tone to the nervous system, and cures nervous exhaustion and prostration. It contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs.

Constipation is the most unclean uncleanliness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it. They never gripe. Easy to take as candy.



Is Your Flour, Madam, Milled in the Country Air

We were pleasantly engaged in pumping the bracing western air into our poor half-starved city lungs, when the Head Miller spied us from his window in the big FIVE ROSES mills.

"Pretty rare stuff, eh?" he smiled, as we captured another hungry lungful.

"Some good" we agreed.

"Don't suppose," we hazarded timidly, "the vivifying breezes, exhilarating atmosphere and 'sich' have much to do with FIVE ROSES goodness."

"Eh?"—almost falling out the window in astonishment.

We meekly repeated our foolish query.

"Trot up here, little one. Use your eyes and judgment—if you have such a useless article about you," he added severely.

Gulping down another chestful of the aforesaid, we gladly joined him.

* * * *

"This little outfit," volunteered the head miller, "is a Purifier". You see, when t'other fellows have all done their duty as it must be done here, the wheat is broken up into fragments of all sorts and sizes.

The very choicest of these (the very heart of the berry) contain the future FIVE ROSES. Now, sir, these wheat particles must be separated from any light branny impurities and fluffy undesirable tissue. Must be "purified", you know—hence the name "Purifier". Got that?

"It's done," he explained with a significant smile, "by means of air-blasts sweeping swiftly through the silk sieves inside this little device of ours, lifting out and carrying away everything that isn't held down by quality and value. These strong currents consist of that self-same air you so highly praised just now, and it's only used once. It's in contact with the material all the time, you see.

"Cram that into your thought cannery," ordered the Head Miller firmly, "and don't you dare ask again if your 'vivifying breezes, etc.' contribute anything towards the mellow purity and wholesomeness of FIVE ROSES flour."

We apologized abjectly—we knew better.

* * * *

Most large merchant mills, Madam, are found in the large smoky towns where all day long immense chimneys pour out black clouds for miles around, dropping soot on everybody's nose.

But the big water-power mills at Keewatin, Mistress Housewife, haven't a smoke stack to their name. The surroundings are the most attractive you could desire: out on the shore of the Lake of the Woods where the air is pure, and fresh, and brisk, and health-giving, and your lungs near burst with the joy of living.

Just think, Madam, FIVE ROSES is pure as the air it's made in.

Isn't it the only flour good enough for YOU?

All the good dealers sell FIVE ROSES—is yours a good dealer?

LAKE OF THE WOODS MILLING CO., LTD., MONTREAL

(14)

The matter appearing in this space from time to time is furnished by the Ontario Brewers' Association, who have arranged for its publication.

What SCIENTISTS Say Against Local Option:---

Professor A. B. MacCallum,
Lecturer on Physiology to The University of Toronto:
"The results of careful experiments show that alcohol, taken in diluted form in small doses is oxidized within the body and so supplies energy like common articles of food; and that it is incorrect to designate it as a poison."

Professor P. H. Pye-Smith,
Lecturer to Guy's Hospital Medical School, London:
"Malt liquors, for a large number of people (perhaps for most adults), do more good than harm when taken with meals. Temperance is much better than abstinence."

Prof. Lafayette B. Mendel,
Yale University, New Haven:
"Man is by nature a temperate animal, and it is only by distinguishing between temperance and intemperance (i.e., use and abuse) that the evils of alcoholism can be combated. Present methods fail in this respect."

Professor T. J. Clouston,
Lecturer to the University of Scotland, Edinburgh:
"Alcohol is a food, and may in a diluted form (as in beer) be a very valuable adjunct to ordinary foods, by exciting appetite, by improving digestion, and by stimulating certain nutritive processes, e.g., the laying on of fat."

Local Option does not promote temperance---it does promote the misuse of drink.

"It should not be taught that the drinking of one or two glasses of beer or wine at meals, by a grown-up person, is dangerous; for it is not true."

Prof. (of Chemistry) W. O. Atwater
Wesleyan University.

Prof. (of Pathology) H. P. Bowditch
Harvard University.

Prof. (of Pathology) R. H. Chittenden
Yale University.

Dr. Wm. H. Welch, (of Pathology)
Johns Hopkins University.

EAST CITY

Coal and Wood YARD

MAIN OFFICE—111 Hunter St., East Phone 96

All sizes of Best Mined Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.

Egg, Stove and Nut Coal per ton $7.50
Pea or No. 2 Nut Coal, per ton $6.50
Dry Tamarac and Mixed Wood.
First Class Dry Hardwood.

WEIR & O'BRIEN
ARCH WEIR — JAMES O'BRIEN

Toronto Savings and Loan Company

Notice is hereby given that a Quarterly Dividend at the rate of six per cent (6%) per annum for the three months ending December 31st, 1909, has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this Company, together with a bonus of two per cent 2%) for the year 1909, making a total dividend disbursement for the year of eight per cent (8%). The said dividend and bonus will be payable at the office of the company in this city on and after January 1st, 1910.

The transfer books of the company will be closed from the 17th to the 31st of December, both days inclusive.

W. G. MORROW MANAGING DIRECTOR

Peterboro, Dec. 10th, 1909.

Manual labour taxes the strength of the human machine. The man who works appreciates to the fullest extent the recuperative qualities and purity of

CALCUTT'S ALE, PORTER & LAGER

It is the popular beverage of the man who earns his living by actual, muscular work. You have tried the rest—

NOW TRY THE BEST

Manufactured by

The Calcutt Brewing & Malting Company

Ashburnham. 'Phone 96

FIRE!

I am selling off my whole stock of New Boots and shoes at Fire Sale Prices. All reduced since the Fire. Come and get Footwear Bargains and Holiday Footwear at marked down prices while they last.

Robt. Di Bernardo

BROOKS BLOCK

Corner George and Sherbrooke Streets

Remember the Date TUESDAY JAN. 4th

GREAT FORCED SACRIFICE SALE

Don't Let Anything Keep You Away

The Entire $15,000 Stock of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Ready-to-wear Garments, Fancy Goods, Etc., belonging to

HARRY ADAMS

393 GEORGE STREET KNOWN AS "THE STORE FOR WOMEN" PETERBOROUGH

To be placed on Sale for FIFTEEN DAYS, Commencing TUESDAY, JANUARY 4th, 1910

The gratifying growth in this business and the necessity of being prepared to handle further increases of trade, has forced upon us the need of an entire re-arrangement and remodelling of our store premises in order to provide ample accommodation for new customers and more merchandise. During the past season this has been forced upon us frequently when crowds of customers could not be properly served; and it is evident that if we turn away a big crowd the small crowds go with it. Our entire stock is therefore being re-marked and reduced. The Store will be Closed all day MONDAY, JANUARY 3rd, and will re-open TUESDAY, JANUARY 4th, at 9 o'clock in the morning, when everything in the store will be placed at sacrifice for Fifteen Days only.

THE SMASH IN PRICES

Means Multitudes in Savings to Women, Misses and Children. It will be a most advantageous event for the ladies, especially all shrewd and careful buyers. Every article every item in the store a surprising bargain. This most sensational Forced Sale of new, clean, up-to-date merchandise is rendered all the more important on account of the advancing prices of all classes of goods by manufacturers and wholesalers. This stock was bought for this season, but conditions imperatively demand that the stock be turned into cash at once, no matter what the sacrifice. Below we give a few items from the scores of splendid values. Read them carefully, think over them, and then say if you have ever known such bargains before:—

Corset Department

50c Corsets, Sale Price 39c
75c Corsets, Sale Price 63c
$1.00 Corsets, Sale Price 83c
$1.25 Corsets, Sale Price 98c
$1.50 Corsets, Sale Price $1.29
$2.00 Corsets, Sale Price $1.69
$3.00 Corsets, Sale Price $2.63

We claim to have the largest and most up-to-date Corset Department in the city. Don't miss these Corset Bargains during our 15 days' Forced Sacrifice Sale.

$1.00, $1.25, $1.50 AND $2.00 CORSETS—SALE PRICE 79c.

100 Pairs of fine quality Corsets, lines which we are not re-stocking, and must be cleared during this great Forced sale regardless of what they cost.

Corsets formerly sold at $1, $1.25, $1.50 and $2, all at one price during our 15 days' sale. Your choice, the pair 79c

100 PAIRS OF NEW CORSETS

Which were shipped by mistake two months earlier than they should have been, will be sacrificed during this 15 days' sale. They are the newest long Directoire styles, hose supporters side and front, for Spring, 1910, bought to sell at $1.50. 15 days' sale price 98c

75c CORSETS, SALE PRICE 59c

50 pairs of White Corsets, made of fine quality jean, long Directoire styles, with four hose supporters attached, extra value at regular price, 75c; 15 days' sale price.. 59c

Gloves and Hosiery Dept.

$1.00 Kid Gloves Black & Tan, Sales Price 79c
$1.00 Real Kid Gloves, Sale Price 83c
$1.25 Real Kid Gloves, Sale Price $1.00
$1.50 Real Kid Gloves, Sale Price $1.19

All Lines of lined Kid Gloves and Mitts will be sold during this 15 days' Sacrifice Sale at actual Cost Price.

CASHMERE AND WOOL GLOVES

25c Cashmere and Wool Gloves, Sale Price 19c
35c Cashmere and Wool Gloves, Sale Price 29c
50c Cashmere and Wool Gloves, Sale Price 39c

All Lines of Children's Gloves and Mitts Reduced.

25c Cashmere and Wool Hose, Sale Price 19c
35c Cashmere and Wool Hose, Sale Price 29c
50c Cashmere and Wool Hose, Sale Price 42c
75c Cashmere Hose, Plain and Embroid'd Sale Price 63c

All lines of Children's Hose at Reduced Prices.

75c SAMPLE CASHMERE HOSE, 49c

10 dozen extra fine quality Cashmere Hose (Samples) plain and embrodered, Black and Colored, regular 75c qualities. Sale Price 49c

Underwear Department

25c Ladies' Vests and Drawers, Sale Price 19c
35c Ladies' Vests and Drawers, Sale Price 29c
50c Ladies' Vests and Drawers, Sale Price 42c
75c Ladies' Vests and Drawers, Sale Price 63c
$1 Ladies' Vests and Drawers, Sale Price 83c
$1.25 Penman's Natural Wool Underwear. Sale Price 98c

All lines of Infants' and Children's Underwear at Actual Cost Price during this 15 days' Sacrifice Sale.

FLANNELETTE GOWNS and DRAWERS

50c Flannelette Gowns, Sale Price 39c
$1.00 Flannelette Gowns, Sale Price 83c
$1.25 Flannelette Gowns, Sale Price 98c
$1.50 Flannelette Gowns, Sale Price .. $1.19
50c Flannelette Drawers, Sale Price 39c
65c Flannelette Drawers (large size), Sale Price 55c

All lines of Children's Flannelette Gowns and Drawers at actual Cost Price during this 15 days' Sacrifice Sale.

LADIES' FLANNELETTE WRAPPERS

$1.00 Flannelette Wrappers, Sale Price .. 83c
$1.25 Flannelette Wrappers, Sale Price.. 98c

Bath Robes and Kimonas

$5.00 Eiderdown Bath Robes, Sale Price $3.98
$6.00 Eiderdown Bath Robes, Sale Price $4.98
$7.50 Eiderdown Bath Robes, Sale Price $5.98
$2.25 Kimona Cloth Bath Robes, Sale Price $1.68
$3.50 Kimona Cloth Bath Robes, Sale Price $2.68
$3.00 Eiderdown Dressing Sacques, Sale Price $2.48
$2.73 Eiderdown Dressing Sacques, Sale Price $2.38
$2.50 Eiderdown Dressing Sacques, Sale Price $1.98
$2.00 Eiderdown Dresing Sacques, Sale Price $1.63
5 dozen Flannelette Dressing Sacques, worth regular $1.00, $1.25, $1.50 up to $2.50; 15 days' Sacrifice Sale Price 59c

Ladies' Blouses

5 dozen Cashmere and all wool Taffeta Cloth Blouses. Colors, Black, Cream, Navy, Cardinal, this season's newest styles, regular value $2.50 to $3.50; 15 days' Sacrifice Sale Price $1.98

$1.25 WRAPPERETTE BLOUSES, 83c

4 dozen fine quality Wrapperette Blouses, splendid range of Patterns and plain colors, Navy, Cardinal, Black, Cream, Brown; regular value, $1.25; 15 days' Sacrifice Sale Price 83c

$1.75 TO $2.25 TAILORED MUSLIN BLOUSES

5 dozen Muslin and Linen Tailored Blouses, with large and small tucks, stiff cuffs and collars, regular $1.75, $2.00, $2.75; 15 days' Sacrifice Sale Price $1.38

$1.25 MUSLIN BLOUSES, 83c

10 dozen beautiful Muslin Blouses, advanced 1910 Styles, all over embroidered fronts, extra value at regular price, $1.25; 15 days' Sacrifice Sale Price 83c

NET BLOUSES FOR $1.50

One lot of fine quality Silk Lined Net Blouses, ¾ Sleeves, white and ecru, worth regular up to $6.00; 15 days' Sacrifice Sale Price $1.50

Ladies' Sweater Coats

$2.50 Ladies' Sweater Coats, Sale Price $1.98
$3.00 Ladies' Sweater Coats, Sale Price $2.63
$8.50 Sweater Coats (knee length), Sale Price $6.98
$2.50 and $3.00 Golf Waists, Sale Price $1.68

LADIES' SWEATERS, TOQUES, MITTS, SASHES.

1.50 Sweaters, open at shoulders, Sale Price $1.25
$2.25 Sweaters, open at Shoulder, Sale Price $1.78
$2.50 Sweaters, open front and shoulder, Sale Price $1.98
50c Toques, long Mitts and Sashes to match Sale Price 42c
200 Tinted Cushion Tops, our regular 25c. and 35c lines. Sale price 10c

FINE QUALITY WOOLS, PER OUNCE 6c

Regular 8c Berlin Wools, Andalusian and Zephyr Wools, Sale Price per oz 6c
25c Slipper Soles, Sale Price 19c
35c Slipper Soles, Sale Price 19c

All our complete stock of Fancy Goods and materials will be sold during this great forced Sacrifice Sale at actual cost prices.

Ladies' and Children's Coats and Skirts at unheard of Bargain Prices. They must be cleared out during the Great 15 Days' Sacrifice Sale, regardless of what they cost. "Buy Coats and Skirts now."

Lot 1.—All Ladies' Coats sold regular up to $10.00, Sacrifice Sale Price $5.00

Lot 2.—All Ladies' Coats sold regular up to $13.50, Sacrifice Sale Price $7.98

Lot 3.—All Ladies' Coats sold regular up to $18.00, Sacrifice Sale Price $10.00

EVERY MISSES' AND CHILD'S WINTER COAT will be sold at less than Manufacturer's prices.

Lot 1.—50 only—Ladies' Skirts—all the odd lines gathered with this lot and priced at less than the cost of making. Skirts formerly sold at $3.50, $4.50, $5.00, Sacrifice Sale Price $1.98

Lot 2.—All Ladies' Dress Skirts, formerly sold at $5.00, $6.50, $7.50 in this lot, Sacrifice Sale Price $3.98

$5 Silk and Net Waists for $3.98

During this 15 days' Sacrifice Sale we will clear out all our new Fall and Winter Silk and Net Waists at about the Cost of the Making. $4.50, $5.00 and $6.00 Silk and Net Waists, Sale Price $3.98

Terms of This Sale STRICTLY CASH

Sale Positively Begins on TUESDAY, January 4th, 1910. Closes Saturday, January 20th.

HARRY ADAMS

"STORE FOR WOMEN"

Look for the Big Bulletin Over the Store

No Goods Returnable or Sent Out on Approbation During Sale

TRISCUIT

Growing in Popularity

on its merits. An appetizing and dainty, easily served dish for luncheon, tea, and supper. Contains all the nourishment of the whole wheat. Easily digested.

At all Grocers.

1449

TALBOT'S Delicatessen

TWO STORES

We wish to impress upon the minds of housekeepers that we always have an abundant supply of

FRESH FISH

FRESH HADDOCK FINAN HADDIE
FRESH SALMON FRESH WHITE FISH

in addition to our regular supply of

BEST BEEF BEST PORK
BEST LAMB BEST VEAL

Also, Fresh Oysters, Canned Goods, Allan's Cider, Chopped Suet, Mince Meat.

A.L. TALBOT

243 George St. Phone 736
410-12 George St., Phone 333

d-3m-65

A New Year's Resolution

"I purpose buying my Footwear for 1910 at

R. McWHINNIE'S

BOTH PHONES. 384 GEORGE ST

THE MIGHTY HERRING

Played a Star Role in the History of Some Nations.

COST ONE KING HIS LIFE.

The Herring Fisheries Proved an Important Factor in the Overthrow and Ultimate Execution by the Headsman of Charles I. of England.

A tale as stirring as any fiction could be based on the part played by the sea herring in the history of some of the principal countries, writes Hugh M. Smith in the National Geographic Magazine. Its spawning and feeding grounds have determined the location of cities, and in several instances the actual destiny of nations and the fate of monarchs appear to have been involved in the herring fishery. Even today the herring is a factor in empire.

Countries in which the quest of the herring is an important industry are the United States, the Canadian provinces of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Quebec and British Columbia, Newfoundland, England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland, Norway, Sweden and Denmark, Russia, Germany, Holland, Belgium, France, Japan and Siberia.

The prosecution of the herring fishery and trade has been considered not beneath the dignity of nobility and royalty. Fitz-Greene Halleck tells us that—

Lord Stafford mines for coal and salt,
The Duke of Norfolk deals in malt,
The Douglas in red herrings.

DR. A. W. CHASE'S CATARRH POWDER 25c.

is sent direct to the diseased parts by the Improved Blower. Heals the ulcers, clears the air passages, stops droppings in the throat and permanently cures Catarrh and Hay Fever. 25c. blower free. Accept no substitutes. All dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

In 1677 the Duke of York and other personages of rank formed a corporation called "the Company of the Royal Fishery of England" for the purpose of carrying on the herring fishery in the North sea. They built a fleet of Dutch "busses" and manned them with Dutch fishermen and then were bankrupted by the capture of their vessels during a war with France. In 1720 some 2,000 of "the principal gentlemen of Scotland" formed a company for herring fishing, but were quickly disrupted, leaving a mournful lot of stockholders.

In 1750 the Prince of Wales became president, or governor, of a herring fishery, with a capital of $2,000,000, whose members "were among the first men in the kingdom," one of the promoters being General James Ogle thorpe, founder of the state of Georgia. Stock was taken with eagerness, vessels were built quickly, and efforts were made to learn the secrets of the Dutch methods of curing herring, but the company soon suspended, and its failure cast on the English herring fishery an odium that continued for a long time.

It is a matter of great historical interest that the herring fisheries should have been a prime and perhaps the most important factor in the overthrow of Charles I., whose attitude toward the development of home and colonial fisheries was most unreasonable and unfortunate. At a time when the Dutch herring fishery had attained such magnitude and importance that it was regarded as the "right arm of Holland" and when the sturdy Dutch fishermen were pursuing their lucrative calling under the encouragement of their government the English people were chafing under the grievous restrictions imposed by royal approval on all who desired to engage in fishing anywhere off the American coast between the fortieth and forty-eighth degrees of north latitude.

This effort on the part of the crown to interfere with the cherished privilege of "free fishing" had begun under James and was bequeathed to Charles and was perhaps the first in the series of farreaching differences that sprung up relative to the prerogative of the crown as against the rights of the subject.

At the same time there was another restriction placed on the fishermen at home. When James ascended the throne of England his navy consisted of but thirteen vessels, and Charles succeeded to a war fleet but little stronger and utterly inadequate to cope with the navy of the Dutch or French.

After Charles had been successfully opposed by the commons in his plan to have no fishing conducted on the American shores except by permission of the company of "noblemen, knights and gentlemen" known as the council of Plymouth he levied "ship money" on the fishing and mercantile vessels at home in order to build up his navy, with the distinct object of breaking up the Dutch herring fishery on the shores of England and driving the Dutch from "the four narrow seas" over which England claimed jurisdiction.

At the expense of the fisheries and navigation Charles finally fitted out the largest war fleet England had ever had and succeeded in his purpose, so far as the Dutch were concerned, but the levying of "ship money" stirred up civil war at home, and Charles paid the extreme penalty.

OXO

"Just perfect" this weather.

The Exception.

"What are the dining hours at your club?"

"From 5 to 8 for all except the committee."

"Why the exception?"

"Because rule 5 says, 'The committee is at liberty at any time to fill any vacancy in their body.'"

Babies suffer from chafing, scald head, skin irritation and eczema.

Eczema often develops from the milder forms of skin irritation and has a tendency to spread over the body and become chronic.

Baby eczema means torture for the little ones—anxiety and loss of sleep for the mothers.

But baby eczema is almost immediately relieved and certainly cured by the use of

Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment

This Ointment heals as if by magic. Patient treatment will cure the worst case of eczema.

Unlike unsanitary powders, which clog the pores of the skin, it promotes healthful action of the skin and makes the skin clear, soft, smooth and velvety.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment is a necessity in the home where there are small children. 60 cts. a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for a free copy of Dr. Chase's Recipes.

MAGIC MANNERS.

They Are Not to Be Learned In Books of Etiquette.

What a delicate and accurate little portrait of the gracious woman the wise Emerson has sketched in these words:

"Are there not women who fill our vase with wine and roses to the brim, so that the wine runs over and fills the house with perfume; who inspire us with courtesy, who unloose our tongues and we speak, who anoint our eyes and we see?"

One can imagine such a woman stepping softly about her home, leaving order and beauty behind her footsteps; by her tact and graciousness inspiring all her household to gentle manners and wit and wisdom.

Outside her home she is no less a power for sweetness and light. Never is she guilty of the wrong word or the false act. She rings true. There is no self consciousness about her. People are instantly at ease in her presence. Her chair is indeed a throne and holds a queen, but a queen so benignant that under her smiles all mortals blossom out into unwonted powers and brilliance.

The manners of this kind of women are not to be learned in books of etiquette. One may study all the rules in the book and have the formula of correct conduct by heart and yet never faintly approach the dignity and poise and gracious kindliness which illuminates all that she does and says.

The finest manners any woman could have are a result of heart and character. The dignity which fine manners involve is merely a proper self respect. Poise, that most essential quality of the well bred woman, is merely a serene tranquillity of mind which "leaves hurry to slaves"—hurry of either speech or action.

Politeness or the deference to others which good manners insist upon is that kindness of heart, gentleness and benevolence which ought to rule every just woman's dealings with others.

Write those down in your memory—self respect, tranquillity and deference. You could not have a better code whereby to adjust your conduct. Such manners are not put on and off like a coat. They cling round one like a perpetual aroma, making life at home or at business as gracious as life in society.

Advantage of Education.

"Are you satisfied with the results of the course which your daughter followed at college?"

"Perfectly satisfied. She is going to marry one of the professors."

What Australia Lacks.

Australia is to have a high commissioner in London, but the Commonwealth has no Strathcona to fill the post.—Toronto News.

Troublesome Teeth.

The Young One—Do your teeth ever give you trouble?

The Old One—Oh, yes. I missing 'em sometimes.

THE Famous Rayo Lamp

Once a Rayo user always one

THE STEADY WHITE LIGHT

The RAYO LAMP is a high grade lamp sold at a low price. There are lamps that cost more but there is no better lamp at any price. The Burner, the Wick, the Chimney-Holder—all are vital things in a lamp; these parts of the RAYO LAMP are perfectly constructed and there is nothing known in the art of lamp-making that could add to the value of the RAYO as a light-giving device. Suitable for any room in the house. Every dealer everywhere. If not as yours, write for descriptive circular to the nearest Agent of

The Queen City Oil Co., Limited.

Parental Severity.

The children of two centuries ago fell on stern times, if one may believe that the spirit of family life was accurately expressed by an excellent mother of that day who said, without humorous intent, that her children "loved her as sinners dread death." There is little doubt that parental control at that date was as rigorous as this anecdote indicates. It is said that when little Andrew Elliot, afterward lieutenant governor of New York, objected to boiled mutton his father, Sir Gilbert Elliot, frowned.

"Let Mr. Andrew have boiled mutton for breakfast," commanded the stern parent, "cold mutton for dinner and cold mutton for supper till he has learned to like it."

Blue Books.

It is worth noting, in passing, that the fisheries blue book, which formerly made practically unintelligible reading for the outsider, has been rearranged under Mr. Venning's superintendency, and now presents a clearly analyzed, tabulated and indexed form, which enables even the casual reader to obtain with the least unnecessary labor the information he seeks. The Department is to be congratulated upon the improvement which Mr. Venning has made in this regard. Other blue books might be similarly simplified.—Journal, Ottawa.

EXTRA CHOICE BEEF For New Year's

The pick of Prime Western Heifers and Steers.

Specially Fed Lamb, Veal, Pork, Hams, Bacon, Sausage, etc., etc.

TURKEY Prizes

Everyone purchasing one dollars' worth or over at this shop will be entitled to a guess on the weight of a Prize Turkey. The party guessing the nearest to its weight will get a Turkey free.

Turkeys cheaper then before Xmas

R. COX

461 George St.
Phone - - 39

FERROVIM TRADE MARK

THE BEST TONIC

for all sickly people.
Makes new blood;
Gives strength;
Restores vitality.

Taken after any illness it hastens a return to health.

Davis & Lawrence Co., Montreal.

Grand Opening

of the NEW STORE for Men and Women

This store will give the greatest Bargains in the City in Ladies' and Gentlemen's Ready-to-Wear Clothing and Furnishings, Underwear, &c. Also Household Furnishings. Special Bargains for Opening Week.

Opening December 30th.

Call in and look over our stock for yourself.

Canadian Furnishing House

183 Charlotte St. Near cor. George St.

JOHNNY QUACK and the VAN CLUCK TWINS

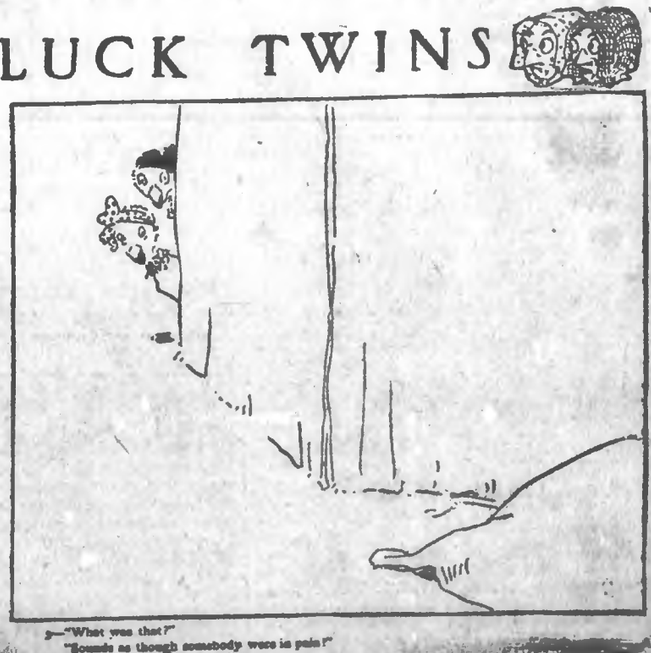
1—"Oh me, oh my! but that smells good. Mrs. Van Cluck has been cooking pastry all morning for her wedding anniversary. I wonder if I couldn't frame up some way to get a slice of it?"

(COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY THE NEW YORK HERALD CO.) All Rights Reserved.

2—"Ah, there are the Twins! Now for the grasps! Ouow-ooo! Oh, my poor stomach! Oh-oo!"



3—"What was that?"
"Sounds as though somebody were in pain!"

4—"Oh, poor Johnny! We are so sorry!" "Yes, girls you had better say 'Goodby' to your little Johnny! Dr. Quack says he don't think I'll live until morning. But there is one last request I wish to make! I'd like to have a smell of something good to eat—maybe pastry. I couldn't eat it, you know, but I'd just like to have one look!"

5—"There, Johnny, we'll leave this fudge and plum pudding here for awhile. It's for the party. Grandma just brought it! We'll be back very soon!"

6—"Well, that was a feast! Makes me feel like a prize package! I ought to wander away from this neighborhood, for I'll have the whole Van Cluck tribe after me with swords and pistols, but I can't say that I feel very much like travelling!"

YOUR VOTE AND INFLUENCE FOR

RE-ELECTION OF

W. H. BRADBURN

For Alderman.

For the Board of Education.

To the Electors of the City of Peterborough,—

Ladies and Gentlemen:

At the urgent solicitation of many of the electors, I have consented to become a candidate for representation on the Board of Education for 1910, and respectfully solicit your vote & influence.

If elected, I will endeavour faithfully to discharge the duties of the position.

As I do not approve of canvassing, I ask for your voluntary support on Election Day.

T. H. (Harry) ADAMS

For the Board of Education.

Your Vote, Influence and Support is respectfully solicited for the Re-election of

W. H. HILL

as a Member of the Board of Education. His Policy is now and has ever been Efficiency in the conduct of our Schools, which, in the interest of the Public, is the true policy.

Notice To Voters

Every citizen whose name appears in the Voters' List for 1910 is entitled to vote for THE PETERBOROUGH LIGHT and POWER COMPANY BY-LAW. VOTE for the By-law and help to reduce the price of Light.

Mr. Morrow's Committee Rooms

Committee Rooms have been opened up at

No. 173½ Simcoe St

where the supporters of Mr. W G. MORROW, Candidate for the Mayoralty, are invited to call at any time during the day or evening until after polling day.

FOR ALDERMAN.

Your vote and influence is solicited for my election for the sixth year as Alderman for the city. The same careful consideration will be given my actions in the future as in the past.

Wishing you all a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Yours Sincerely.

A. A. McINTYRE

TO THE ELECTORS

of the City of Peterborough

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,

I respectfully request your votes for re-election as Alderman for 1910. If elected I shall endeavour to serve the best interests of the city and to promote its prosperity, and shall deal with all matters arising in the Council in a spirit of fairness to all concerned, with special regard to the interests of the small ratepayers.

I am in favour of a vigorous policy of securing new industries and cheap power.

Wishing you the compliments of the season, I am,

Yours respectfully,

JOS. J. DUFFUS

Your Vote and Influence for the Election of

W. S. ROBINSON

to the Board of Education for 1910

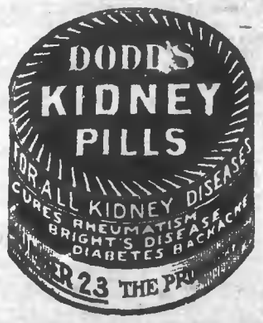
"Economic Administration of our Schools," my Policy

I respectfully solicit support and votes in my favour as a candidate for election to the City Council.

I will try my best to be of real service to the city.

JAS. G. GRAHAM

4d—150



QUICKSAND.

How It Is Formed and Its Grewsome Characteristics.

To most persons the word "quicksand" gives a sensation of horror similar to that produced by the thought of a snake, and many sensational accounts have given to quicksand almost human attributes. No ordinary observer would be able to distinguish dry quicksand from any other sand, and the average person would be unable to restore it to its "quick" properties even if he tried. If water is mixed with the quicksand the mass does not become mobile, and if the water is drained off the sand will be found firmly packed.

Quicksand is comparatively very light, weighing about ninety-four pounds to the cubic foot, while other forms of sand run as high as 171 pounds. Quicksand when examined under the microscope will be found to have rounded corners, like river sand, as distinguished from "sharp" sand. It is quicksand that is used in hourglasses and egg-glasses, partly because of its fineness and partly because it does not eventually cloud the glass by scratching, as would the sharp sand. It is to its lightness that quicksand owes its deadly qualities, and a demonstration of how it becomes "quick" may be given by placing a quantity in a bucket and adding water by pressure through a hole in the bottom, allowing the water to overflow very slowly when it has worked up through the sand. The upward current will be found to loosen the sand and to raise the surface very slightly, separating and lubricating the particles so that they are easily displaced.

The bucket now contains genuine quicksand. The sand, owing to the support it receives from the water, has its weight, or supporting power, reduced proportionately, weighing in the water but thirty-two and a half pounds as against ninety-four pounds when dry. Bulk for bulk, the mixture is nearly twice the weight of a man, but is too mobile to give support and too thick to swim in. In its natural state, presenting an apparently firm surface, resembling simply damp sand, it is the most deadly man trap conceivable.

Quicksand requires in all cases an upward current which is not quick or strong enough to break through in the form of a spring. Ordinarily water flowing over quicksand will not make it dangerous. It may be formed in tidal rivers and on the shores of tidal seas by the rising tide saturating a porous stratum of ground below high water mark, and when the tide falls a return current is established through the porous (sandy) ground with a sufficient velocity to loosen the sand and make it "quick."

A permanent quicksand is found where a slow current of fresh water finds its way to the surface of the sand bed either in the bottom of a stream or elsewhere. Quicksands that are encountered during the sinking of wells and foundations are due to the influx of water when the work gets below "spring level" or the level of the water in the ground at that particular spot. The sand, being deprived of the lateral support of the water in the excavation, is pushed in from behind by the water currents flowing from all sides.

One of the most peculiar and grewsome characteristics of quicksand is that it will soon engulf any object cast upon its surface, no matter how light that object may be even a perfectly dry stick.

Eggs Worth Millions.

Two poached eggs on toast once formed the foundation of the great New York stock market. If the eggs were eaten securities advanced in price; if left untouched Wall street shivered and quotations crumbled. One morning the eggs proved worth a thousand times their weight in gold, for the news that they had been eaten with relish added 2 per cent to active stocks. Even 1 per cent on the $10,000,000,000 securities listed on the New York exchange would be equivalent to $100,000,000. By such trifles is Wall street swayed when seized by hysteria, when hypnotised by a personality, when lost to the sound reason that usually governs its actions.—Bert C. Forbes in Van Norden Magazine.

It Sounded Hopeful.

A young man who was not particularly entertaining was monopolizing the attention of a pretty debutante with a lot of uninteresting conversation.

"Now, my brother," he remarked in the course of a dissertation on his family, "is just the opposite of me in every respect. Do you know my brother?"

"No," the debutante replied demurely, "but I should like to."—Lippincott's.

The Only Way.

"Is there any method that will enable a man to understand a woman?" queried the innocent youth.

"The only way to understand a woman," replied the home grown philosopher, "is not to try. Under these circumstances she will reveal herself sooner or later."

Has Had Ups and Downs.

W. G. Trethewey, who discovered the famous mine at Cobalt, which bears his name, and also its neighbor, the Conagas, but who now pursues the quiet life of a gentleman farmer on his model farm at Weston, Ont., has probably cleaned up more cold cash out of Canada's unrivalled silver area than any other man who ever planted foot in the camp. Some may remark that he has been exceptionally lucky, but Mr. Trethewey, like most other people, has had his full quota of ups and downs. He learned the trade of a steam-fitter, but has played every part in the mining game from a grub-staker to a squatter. Nearly twenty years ago he was dangerously near the millionaire class several times but did not know it. He lacked the nerve.

In 1890 he was offered a half interest for $300 in the famous Le Roi gold mine in British Columbia. The property had just been discovered, and was not regarded as very promising. Later it sold for nearly three million dollars. That same year Mr. Trethewey had another gilt-edged opportunity. An impecunious American military man, who had erected a shack at Trail, B.C., and dished out pork and beans to the miners, said one day: "Look here, Trethewey! I own 360 acres of town site here, and if you will pay the mining license fee—one dollar per acre—I will give you a half interest in the whole business." The young man had the necessary amount in his pocket at the time, but he hesitated and lost. Just think what owning half the property in the busy, thriving town of Trail would mean to-day. It was fourteen years later that Mr. Trethewey, while prospecting, discovered the famous properties in Cobalt which made him a millionaire.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine

Carter's Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of

Brent Good

See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.

Very small and as easy to take as sugar.

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

To The Electors

of the City of Peterborough

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,

I have been nominated for the third time for Alderman, and desire to put before you my views regarding the accepted methods of election of candidates.

I am personally opposed to any canvass being made, as it places the elector in an embarrassing position. If you know a candidate soliciting support, you do not wish to hurt his feelings by refusing him. You may promise support but have the impression that he will not make a suitable representative. On election day you will keep your word, against your better judgment, or you do not vote as promised, which position you are forced into by the soliciting of candidates for support.

I have been nominated, and if elected will give the best of my ability to the work of the City. It is for the Electors to say AS I DO NOT INTEND TO CANVASS. If you think I have made an efficient servant during my two years of office, Vote for Me on Monday, January 3rd.

Yours Sincerely,

J. J. TURNER, Jr.

Your Vote and Influence

For Re-election of

W. F. NELSON

on the Board of Education for 1910.

Your Vote and Influence respectfully solicited for re-election of

Joseph R. Metheral

as Alderman for 1910

4d—150

VOTE FOR E. F. MASON

AS MAYOR

The Nominations are over;

I am a candidate for th Mayor's Chair;

I appeal to you, THE PEOPLE, for your support.

If elected I will do the very best for the people.

No class, clique or party will have my influence. Straight, clean, economical and business methods will be adopted and the usual overdraft and reckless expenditures will be abolished.

Wishing you all the compliments of the season and again cordially soliciting your vote and influence,

I Remain

Yours Truly

E. F. MASON

RE-ELECTION OF

Ald. Duncan

To the Electors of the City of Peterborough

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,

Having accepted the nomination for re-election as Alderman of the City for the coming year, I respectfully solicit your vote and influence.

If I am favoured with your confidence and secure election, I shall do my very best to look after your interests and to faithfully discharge the duties pertaining to the position in such a manner as to, I hope, merit the approval of the majority of the electors.

Wishing you all a Happy and Prosprous New Year.

GEO. H. DUNCAN

VOTE FOR W.J. JOHNSTON

Five years' experience in City Council.

Five years in Ashburnham Council.

A fearless supporter of Local Option, and of honesty and efficiency in all civic business.

Vote For Johnston.

If you want a man to assist in conducting the business of the City HONESTLY, without fear or favour,

VOTE FOR

B. LASTAR

FOR ALDERMAN

For Board of Education

Having been nominated for the Board of Education, I have decided to become a candidate, and I therefore take this opportunity of soliciting your Vote and Influence.

Yours Respectfully,

J. W. MILLER

W. G. MORROW

For Mayor

To the Electors of the City of Peterborough

Ladies and Gentlemen: —

At the urgent solicitation of a large number of ratepayers, I am now asking your support for my election to the Mayoralty of the city of Peterborough for the year 1910; and in doing so I am relying upon my record as a ratepayer, as a life-long citizen, as one materially interested in the manufacturing and industrial development of the city, and as one who as an Alderman served you for the past three years, first as as Chairman of the Manufacturers Committee and secondly as Chairman of the Finance Committee.

It is usual for one aspiring to the Chief Magistracy to attempt to outline some definite policy to be pursued during the term of office. In compliance with that custom I can only say that it will be my one aim to serve the city to the utmost of my ability, to do what I can to promote its commercial, industrial and moral development, to give fair and just consideration to all questions which may come before the Council, having regard to neither class nor party, as I am pledged to none.

Our city has made rapid progress in recent years, and the continuation of this progress will depend largely upon the growth and expansion of the city's present industries, and upon the establishment of new ones to which every encouragement and legitimate inducement should be given. The Council should give immediate attention to securing an adequate supply of cheap power. Every effort conducing to these ends has my fullest sympathy and support.

The time has arrived when the Council must take into consideration the question of permanent roadways in the business section, as well as permanence in general street construction, and of the extension and improvement of the sewer system in the southern parts of the city. To both of these matters I shall, if elected, give my earliest attention.

I am in favour of carrying out a policy of the strictest economy consistent with proper service in every department of the municipal business.

As the time between now and Election Day is short it will be impossible for me to personally call upon every ratepayer; I therefore take this means and opportunity of soliciting for myself the honour of your vote and influence.

Wishing you all a very Happy and Prosperous New Year, I am,

Yours Sincerely,

W. G. MORROW

Great Removal Sale

Big Reductions all this Week

Now going on at

WARNE'S

Fancy Toilet Soaps, reg 10c, 15c and 25c per cake, for 4c cake

Kidney and Liver Pills,	reg.	25c	per box, for	9c
Dentafoam for the Teeth,	"	25c	"	9c
Wild Cherry Cough Syrup,	"	25c	"	9c
Electric Liniment,	"	25c	"	9c
Gordon's White Oil Lin't.	"	25c	"	9c
Kelvin's Hair Tonic,	"	25c	"	9c
Witch Hazel Cream,	"	25c	"	9c
German Cologne (Taylor's)	"	25c	"	9c

Comp. Syrup of Hypophosphites,	reg.	50c	bottle for	19c
Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil,	"	50c	"	19c
Little's Face Cream,	"	50c	"	19c
Nox Dyspepsia,	"	50c	"	19c
Diamond Hair Renewer	"	50c	"	19c

King's Beef, Iron & Wine, reg. $1.00 bottle for	39c
Vegetable Female Regulator, reg. $1.00 bottle for	39c
Japanese Hair Renewer, reg. $1.00 bottle for	39c

SEE OUR WINDOW

These and many other lines must be cleared before moving into our New Store, 351 George St., next to Richard Hall & Son, Limited.

NOTICE.—Those of our customers not having received calendars, will be supplied with them upon request.

THE WARNE DRUG CO., Limited

348 George Street : Phone 527 Bell—205 Machine

CENTRAL CANADA LOAN & SAVINGS COY.

E&K KING ST. E. TORONTO.

Notice is hereby given that a quarterly dividend at the rate of eight per cent. (8%) per annum for the three months ending December 31st, 1909, has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this Company, together with a bonus of two per cent. (2%) for the year 1909, making a total dividend disbursement for the year ten per cent. (10%). The said dividend and bonus will be payable at the office of the Company in this city on and after January 1st, 1910.

The Transfer Books of the Company will be closed from the 20th to the 31st of December, both days inclusive.

E. R. WOOD,
Managing Director.

Toronto, December, 15th, 1909.

Your Holiday Snapshots Enlarged

Work guaranteed first-class—Enlargements made from your best pictures, for any size frame.

Louis Menkes

STUDIO—374½ George Street. East Side.
The only Studio on George St.

Mrs. M. J. Byrne
Dealer in Ladies' Furnishings
and Hair Work

Ladies' Underwear, Children's Clothing and Ornamental Needle Work and Stamping executed to order and kept in stock

LADIES' HAIR DRESSING skilfully attended to. Ladies hair dressed for balls, parties, entertainments and all public and private occasions. Switches, Bangs, etc., always in stock and made to order fashionably. Combings of Hair done up in any desired style. Masks, Wigs, etc., rented for carnivals, concerts and all occasions.

424 George St. Phone 262

B. LASTAR
BARGAIN HOUSE

B. Lastar's Holiday Stock is the cheapest in Town.

Ladies' Furs, Coats, Skirts, Suits, Waists, Millinery, Feathers, Plumes, etc

Men's Overcoats, Suits, Hats, Caps.

Boys' Clothing, Neckwear, Scarfs and etc.

Children's Furs, Coats and Caps, Toys, Fancy Goods, Jewellery, Purses, Brooches, etc.

☞REAL GENUINE

SCOTCH SHORT BREAD

Ornamented with any motto if ordered before noon Thursday

TRY OUR

PITCAITHLY SHORT BREAD

New Years Receptions are incomplete without our special lines of

MACAROONS & FANCY CAKES

Nothing finer on the continent

FANCY BOXES OF DELICIOUS

CHOCOLATES AND BON BONS

WE ARE THE ☞ CATERERS

COLEMAN BROS. 426 GEORGE ST. TELEPHONE 336

IMPORTANT EVENTS OF THE YEAR 1909

Continued from Page 1.

Oct. 5.—Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Mathews celebrate golden wedding.

Oct. 6.—St Paul's congregation said farewell to Judge Roger; Keene Fair. Reception at Murray Street church to Rev. J. Bastow.

Oct. 8.—Annual Field Day of Collegiate Institute.

Oct. 9.—Case of Robert Shepherd charged with perjury, enlarged.

Oct. 11.—Population and assessment of Peterborough County in 1908; Council decides to submit Isolation Hospital by-law to the people.

Oct. 12.—Council discusses proposed new line of C. P. R.

Oct. 13.—Norwood Fair.

Oct 14.—Death of Mr. Christopher Leary; evidence in Shepherd perjury case; charges dismissed.

Oct. 16.—Peterborough Rugby team defeated by Parkdale.

October 18.—Six Chinamen heavily fined for gambling; opening of the Fall Assizes; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Taylor celebrate golden wedding.

Oct. 19.—Commencement of Jopling case.

Oct. 20.—Defence in Jopling case commenced; George J. Sherry appointed Clerk of Surrogate and County Courts; opening of Y.M.C.A. fall and winter work.

Oct. 21.—Verdict of "not guilty" in Jopling case reached. Ed. Feeley of Wersaw, had barn and contents destroyed by fire; Grand Jury made presentment; annual meeting of Curling Club.

Oct. 23.—Peterborough Seniors defeated by T. A. S. A. C.

Oct 25.—Examiner road races; death of Mrs. John Hazlett; local Juniors defeated Lindsay Rugby team; Spaulding-Stratton Trophy presented to T. A. S.

Oct. 27.—Prominent civic officials of Toronto visit C G. E. works.

Oct. 28—Annual meeting of Historical Society.

Oct. 29.—Hotel National visited by disastrous fire.

Oct. 30.—Local hunters left for woods.

Oct. 31.—Opening of Evangelical campaign in Presbyterian churches; Peterborough Junior Rugby team defeated at Lindsay

November

Nov. 1.—Evangelistic campaign at Knox church; street car collision at Charlotte street crossing; York Loan shareholders received their first dividend; Council decides to submit ward system by-law to people; reception to Bishop Sweeny at St. John's church.

Nov. 3.—Last meeting of the Cheese Board; Court of Revision dealt with assessment appeals; Welsh Choir's concert.

Nov. 4.—Children moved into new orphanage.

Nov. 5.—Angus McDonald sentenced to two years in Central Prison; annual meeting of Horticultural Society.

Nov. 6.—Peterborough lost to T. A. A. C.; Sellen defeated Simpson in 10-mile race.

Nov. 7.—Suicide of Wm. Ellis at Toronto.

Nov. 9—Board of Health objects to use of ice from Little Lake for drinking; 'Build up Peterborough' meeting of Board of Trade.

Nov. 11.—Annual meeting of Hockey Club.

Nov. 12.—Miss Katherine Wallis makes generous offer to Peterborough; City building visited by fire; Parkdale defeated Peterborough in Toronto.

Nov. 13—Clinton N. Howard's address in Opera House.

Nov. 16—Board of Trade meeting.

Nov. 17.—Annual meeting of City Hockey League.

Nov. 18.—Peterborough brakeman killed at Orillia; induction of Rev. F. J. Sawers at Lakefield.

Nov. 20.—Opening of new church of the Sacred Heart; Rev. Dr. O'Brien appointed to new parish.

Nov. 21.—Immense damage done to property by rain and sleet storm.

Nov. 25.—D. Whetung crossed Chemong Lake on the ice; curlers select skips for season.

Nov. 26.—Mr. D. W. Dumble presents King Edward steet to Peterborough; Fraulein Stolle's art lecture.

Nov. 28.—Temperance parade.

Nov. 30.—Last session of County Council of 1909 opened; congregation of Murray Street church decide to build new church; address by Mr. R. F. Stupart.

December.

Dec. 1.—Mr. Jas. Lawlor addresses County Council.

Dec. 2.—Young man arrested for perjury.

Dec. 3.—G. E. Broderick appointed School Inspector; Capt. Bernier's lecture; Queen's Alumni Association organized; Salvation Army Temple reopened.

Dec. 5.—Rev. Sam. Small at Grand Opera House; Mr. R. Drum's lecture.

Dec. 6.—Farmers' Institute meetings at Ennismore.

Dec. 7.—Citizen charged with selling liquor illegally; last launch taken out of Otonabee; $9,000 blaze in T. D. McGregor's store; annual meeting of Mercantile League.

Dec. 8.—Permanent Assessors recommended by special committee of Council.

Dec. 9.—British bankers visited Peterborough.

Dec. 11.—Annual meeting of Wm. Hamilton Co.; Longboat beat Sherring

Dec. 13.—Ald. Morrow decided to be a candidate for mayoralty. Hotelkeeper heavily fined for illicit sale of liquor.

Dec. 13.—Medical Health Officer paid $800 for small pox cases.

Dec. 14.—December Sittings of County Court opened; Hotel National re-opened; Board of Trade meeting.

Dec. 15.—Jury returned verdict of "not guilty" in first perjury case; appointment of assessors left over until 1910; blacklisted man found guilty of perjury.

Dec. 16.—Last meeting of Board of Works; Grand Jury made presentment.

Dec. 18.—Graham case dismissed in county court; Toronto man fined for buying poultry before 10 a.m.; two other perjury cases dismissed.

Dec. 20.—Police Commissioners decide to make an investigation; Carroll perjury case dismissed; Death of Mr. Harry Neil; Mercantile and City League schedules drawn up.

Dec. 21.—Rev. Father Toner ordained; Commencement exercises Collegiate Institute.

Dec. 22.—Death of Rev. Father Keilty; first Christmas tree at fire hall.

Dec. 24.—Mr. E. F. Mason declares himself a Mayoralty candidate; little boy had leg severed by train; description of new dam.

Dec. 27.—Nominations for mayor and aldermen; St. John's night fittingly celebrated.

Dec. 28.—William Gorman's whereabouts learned; E. Shennelley ended life in police cell; big rally for Mr. Morrow.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

The best of New Year's greetings, my friends.

I wish I knew just what each one of you wants 1910 to bring you that I might wish it for you. But as that's impossible, I take refuge in wishing each and every one of you all you'd wish yourself.

Have you made your New Year's resolutions yet?

Please don't say you are not going to make any, for it always makes me feel sad when I hear anyone say that.

I know—as doubtless you do—many people who consider that they show a kind of superiority by not making New Year's resolutions.

We know we'll break them sooner or later, so what's the use," they go about saying, with an apparent pride in their cynicism.

Now, such a state of mind doesn't seem to me to be a sign of superiority or a reason for pride by any means, but rather something to be very much ashamed of.

Such a speech means that the man who makes it has lost one of the most precious things on earth—his faith in himself and his own will power.

And it seems to me that if I had lost so precious a thing I would try to hide the loss from the world instead of blazoning it abroad.

Whether you succeed in keeping your resolutions for a long time or not, I think the very act of making New Year's resolutions is healthy for the soul.

For making New Year's resolutions means that you stop for a few moments, face your faults squarely and take stock of yourself, so to speak, and that is a good thing for any man or woman to do occasionally.

And then it means that you lookup to something beyond you, something you would like to be, and that, also, is a good thing for any man or woman to do, not occasionally, but very often.

And then it means—if they are real, genuine resolutions—that for a time at least you thoroughly believe in yourself and in your own highest possibilities—and that is best of all.

Even the man who breaks his New Year's resolutions on January 2, if on January 1st he made them wholeheartedly and believing that this time he would surely keep them forever, has gotten more out of the coming of the New Year than the man who did not make any resolutions because he knew he'd break them.

If you hitch your waggon to a star you may not get anywhere near the star, but you will certainly reach a higher plane than if you had never aimed at it.

And then there is another fact that those people who are so afraid to make New Year's resolutions—and indeed some of those who do make them, also—seem not to recognize, and that is that broken resolutions are not by any means incapable of being mended.

Most people who break a resolution seem to think that that is the end of the matter, or at least the end of it until another January 1st.

Now, isn't that absurd?

Is there any possible reason why the resolution broken at 10 a.m. on January 2nd, 1910, can't be made at 10.01 a.m. January 2, 1910?

I defy you to produce one.

Of course when you are making your resolutions you mustn't think of such a contingency.

If your resolution-making is to be worth anything, you must make them for eternity.

But if by any chance anything should happen—well, just remember that mending tissues of new determination is guaranteed to patch up any broken New Year's resolution, "just as good as new."

January Will Open Soft But Will Finish Below Zero Mark

So Says Irl Hicks in His Predictions for Next Month, With Variable Weather Until Concluding Cold Snap.

ALL KINDS OF WEATHER

Prof. Irl Hicks in his predictions for the first month of the new year asserts that sleet and rain will be mixed with the expected cold weather. January opens with a wet spel and winds up iwth a regular midwinter slump in the mercury's aspirations to climb the scale. In other words it will close with good, cold weather. His predictions are as follows:

A regular storm period covers the 1st to the 5th, being at the culmination of a Mercury disturbance. This period embraces Earth's perihelion point on the 1st, Moon's last quarter and passage over the equator on the 3rd, and apogee on the 4th. Jupiter and Saturn are also in quadrature with Earth and Sun. January will come in most likely, in the midst of Mercury sleet and snow storms, with change to warmer on and touching the 3rd. With the rise of temperature, look for falling barometer, probable winter lightning and thunder southward, with rain, turning to heavy sleet and snow generally on and touching the 3rd, 4th and 5th. A very marked and wide cold wave will follow from the northwest, progressively, behind these storms, spreading eastward and southward over most parts of the country from the 3rd to the 6th. Understand and heed this ofrecast. "Do not get left."

A reactionary storm period is central on the 7th, 8th and 9th. Saturn't quadrature with Sun and Earth is on the 7th, and Neptune's opposition with Earth and Sun is on the 8th. This period will bring return of rising temperature, falling barometer and more rain and snow. The Moon will be at extreme south on the 10th, including northerly winds, but New Moon is on the 11th, preventing great cold and keeping barometric pressures down between this and the succeeding storm period. There are reasons to expect seismic rumours, during the first week in January, but the 7th to the 13th, taking the 11th as the central day, is a marked seismic period.

A regular storm period is central on the 14th, covering the 12th to the 17th. Moderate, threatening conditions will continue from the New Moon on the 11th, through the greater part of this period, but from about the 15th to 17th decided storms of rain, wind and possibly thunder need surprise no student of these forecasts. These storms will be rapid in their development and passage from west to east, with a cold wave pushing the heels of storms closely fro mthe northewst. The Moon being on the celestial equator on the 16th, and nearest the Earth on the 17th, with first quarter on the 18th, the disturbance of this period will naturally be prolonged out of its normal limitations. Here is a fact that ought to be impressed upon ever reader's mind — whenever storm and weather do not conform strictly to the storm period there are special astronomic cases behind such irregularities. Le us hunt all such irregularities down — find ther causes, and so perfect the science of storms and weather.

A reactoinary storm period falls centrally on the 20th and 22ist. On and next to these dates may be expected the regular rise of temperature —fall of the barometer, cloudiness, change of wind currents to easterly and southerly, all ending in renewed rain and snow, and followed by rising barometer and clearing, colder weather. No successful student of meteorology can afil to know that the inception and oncoming of all storm periods are marked by more or less rise of the thermometer and fall of the barometer.

A regular storm period is central on the 25th, Full Moon falling on the same day. This period will change to warmer, southerly winds and falling barometer, followed by rain and snow from the 25th to 27th. Rising barometer and change to much colder will follow closely behind the storms from the west and north. Another esismic period is coincident with the storm period, 22nd to 27th, central on the 26th. Prepare for northwestern blizards, fololwed by extreme cold at the en dof this period.

A reactionary storm period extends from 30th to February 1st. Rain and snows will be in transit as the month goes out.

VOTE FOR MORROW

FRASERVILLE NEWS ITEMS.

Examiner Special.

Fraserville, Dec. 28.—Mr. and Mrs. Walter and daughter spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson.

Mr. and Mrs. McLarty spent Christmas at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hutchinson, Centreville.

Our annual tea and concert will be held Friday evening (New Year's eve) when a good programme will be given and a large crowd should be on hand.

Mrs. A. Kidd is going to spend New Years with her parents.

Miss Kidd of Warsaw, is visiting in our village and is much improved after her serious illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradshaw of Peterborough, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Hutchinson on Sunday.

Mr. Bradshaw has been reorganising the Centreville Independent Order of Foresters the past few weeks.

Mr. Bert Wood is home on a holiday and reports everything booming in the West.

Mrs. Percy Donaldson and family are spending the holidays with friends here.

LOWER PRICES THAN EVER.

Our Credit Sale will be continued all this week

Men and Women who require Winter Clothing have a good chance this week to buy Ready-to-Wear Garments at the very Lowest Prices before New Year's. We offer extraordinary Bargains in—

Ladies' Coats

Just a few left, and they go at Half Price. Made in the new 1909 styles and in the best and most popular cloths.

In Men's Suits

A Reduction of 25 per cent. off, this week only.

Housefurnishings

Such as Curtains, Floor Coverings, Rugs, Table Coverings, House Linens, and many other lines at Low Prices.

Special Bargains in Blankets and Furs this week.

Our Terms Suit All—Cash or Credit

The Knickerbocker Co.

422 George Street Opposite Examiner Office

Wishing You All a Very Happy and Prosperous NEW YEAR

Peterborough Music Company

Special Inducements for the Christmas Season in Pianos & Organs

We carry in stock the high-class DOMINION, MARTIN-ORME, BELL and MASON & RISCH PIANOS, and the old favourite BELL, DOMINION and THOMAS ORGANS—the cream of the trade.

It is surprising the number of suggestions you find here—Phonographs Violins, Banjos, Guitars, Accordeons, Piccolos, Flutes, Autoharps, Mandolins Harmonicas, Music Portfolios, Music Rolls, Sheet Music—all specially priced for the Christmas trade.

J. P. CUNNINGHAM - PROPRIETOR

404 George Street. 2 Doors North of Hunter Street.

Electrical Goods and Fixtures

In Portable Lamps, Domes, Fancy Chandeliers, Shades, Electric Toasters, Smoothing Irons, Radiators, etc.

Nickel Plated Tea and Coffee Pots, Crumb Trays and Brushes. Tea Trays, round and square, in genuine Carpathian ware.

Large assortment of Mantels and Fireplace Furniture, including Screens, Fenders, Fire Irons, Dogs, etc. Call and look them over.

The F. J. R. MacPHERSON CO.

341 GEORGE STREET : : LIMITED

Meats Poultry Fruit

Vegetables, Provisions

Our large Store is the foremost Meat Market in the city. Best place to buy not only Turkeys and Meats, but also a host of other items of importance for the Hoiday Table.

Western Beef

Nothing more substantial or delicious than our well-fed Western beef. We are carrying a heavy stock, and can supply the public with anything from a tongue to a tail.

Choice Sealshipt Oysters and other Good Things to eat.

S. A. OKE

340 GEORGE STREET

Phone 275

SLEIGHING

Drawing near and your Cutter or Business Sleighs require revarnishing or repainting. Now is the time to have it done and stored until you want them. For a good reliable up-to-date job of Carriage Painting or Lettering give

W. J. ANDREWS

a trial this time. Shop

173 Murray St., opp. New Armouries

Tyr.

J. J. SHADGETT

Up-to-date Carriage and Sign Painter. Dealer in Waggons, Cutters and Sleighs. All Repairing promptly executed.

57 Hunter St. Phone 443

NOMINATIONS

Warsaw, Dec. 27.—The Municipal nominations held in the town hall this afternoon were attended by a number quite unprecedented in proportion by former occasions of the kind. There being an excess of ratepayers nomination than there were offices vacant, an election will be held. The following have decided to stand for election: Reeve, C. J. Darling, J. L. Kidd. Councillors, Wm. Carveth, J. J. Crowe, R. Ferguson, Jas. Greystock, E. Martin, Hugh Macdonald,

Red Rose Tea "Is Good Tea"

The Price Is On Every Package.

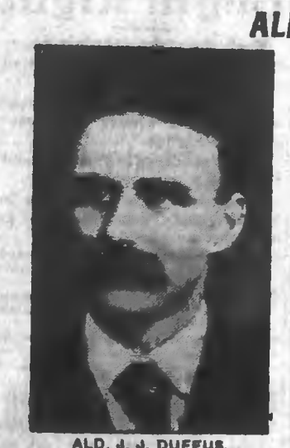
When wanting a natty outfit for business or pleasure ring up
PULKINGHORN'S LIVERY
successor to Akey & Milburn
193 Hunter. 'Phone 278

The Evening Examiner.

ONE CENT A WORD
The Evening Examiner Want Ads. always bring results. For Sale, To-let, Losts-10 words-10c

20 PAGES PETERBOROUGH FRIDAY DECEMBER 31 1909 PAGES 7 TO 14

ALDERMANIC CANDIDATES



ALD. J. J. DUFFUS,
Who Asks the People for a Second Term on the Aldermanic Board.

ALD. W. H. BRADBURN,
Who is Seeking Re-Election to the Council.

EX-ALD. JAS. G. GRAHAM.
Once More in the Field for Municipal Honours.

MAYORALTY CANDIDATES

W. G. MORROW,
Candidate for the Mayoralty.

E. F. MASON,
Candidate for the Mayoralty.

ALDERMANIC CANDIDATES

ALD. GEO. H. DUNCAN,
Running Again for the Council.

BERNARD LASTAR,
A New Candidate in the Municipal Arena.

JOHN CRANE,
Member of Board of Education Who is Out for Re-Election.

CANDIDATES FOR SCHOOL BOARD

W. H. HILL,
Who Asks to be Returned to Board of Education.

COL. J. W. MILLER.
A New Candidate for the Board of Education.

D. W. DUMBLE,
Again in the Field for Board of Education.

DR. BURNHAM,
Once More a Candidate for Board of Education.

Lifebuoy Soap is delightfully refreshing for bath or toilet. For washing underclothing it is unequalled. Cleanses and purifies.

EX-ALD. W. J. JOHNSTON,
Who is Asking to be Returned This Year.

BIG PROGRAMME FOR THE RATEPAYERS ON MONDAY

Mayoralty Contest, Election for Aldermen and Board of Education and Four By-laws are to be Disposed Of---Vote Promises to be the Largest in Years as Keen Interest is Being Shown.

To elect a mayor.

To elect six aldermen from a field of nine candidate.

To select five members of the Board of Education from nine applicants.

To decide favourably or not on the local option by-law.

To pass or reject a by-law granting a thirty years' franchise to the Peterborough Light and Power Company.

To say whether or not the city shall return to the ward system of electing aldermen.

These are the things that the ratepayers of Peterborough have an opportunity of doing on Monday next January 3rd.

In addition the freeholders of the city will have a chance of giving their opinion on the by-law to spend $19,000 in the erection of an Isolation Hospital.

Few municipal election days have offered the citizens of Peterborough a more interesting menu and the probabilities are that there will be a record vote polled.

The keen interest that is always taken in a Mayoralty contest is enhanced at this election by the fact that there is a fight on the local option question, which is adding considerably to the excitement attendant upon the occasion.

The other by-laws are of more than usual importance and will help to swell the vote to record proportions.

Both sides in the local option fight have completed preparations for getting out the vote and there will be few ratepayers who will be allowed to remain at home on Monday.

The size of the vote too, will undoubtedly have been increased because of the lengthening of the hours in which voting may be done. By a special provision the polling booths will not close until 7 o'clock nstead of 5, as in the past. This will give two hours more time for voting and will give the working men a better opportunity to use their franchise.

Following are the candidates for the different offices.

For Mayor.

Ex-Alderman W. G. Morrow.
Ex-Ald. E. F. Mason.

For Council

W. H. Bradburn.
Geo. H. Duncan.
A. A McIntyre
J. J. Turner, Jr.
Jos. R. Metheral.
Jos. J. Duffus.
Jas. G Graham, ex-alderman.
Wm. J. Johnston, ex-alderman.
Bernard Lastar, ne wcandidate.

For Board of Education.

W. H. Hill.
Dr. Geo. Burnham.
John Crane.
W F. Nelson.
D. W. Dumble.
W. S. Robinson.
Col. J. W. Miller.
R. J. Kingan.
T. H. Adams.

Polling Sub-divisions.

Following are the polling sub-divisions:

Sub-division No. 1—M. H. Halpin's, 39 George St.

Sub-division No. 2—R. C. Braund's, 55 Park St.

Sub-division No. 3—L. Spry's, 210 Stewart St.

Sub-division No. 4 — City Council chamber.

Sub-division No. 5 — J. Jay's, 386 Aylmer St.

Sub-division No. 6—Metheral's shop, 464 Aylmer St.

Sub-division No. 7—Geo. Matthew's shop, corner Park and Sherbrooke St.

Sub-division No. 8—A. J. Warne's, 358 Charlotte St.

Sub-division No. 9 — N. Routley's, 392 Brock St.

Sub-division No. 10—T. H. Hooper's, 601 George St.

Sub-division No. 11—John James, 322 McDonnel St.

Sub-division No. 12 — Mrs. Wm. Lee's shop, Smith St.

Sub-division No. 13—Former village hall.

Sub-division No. 14 — Mrs. Swanston's, 44 Hunter St. east.

CHARGE WAS DISMISSED

B. Lastar Charged in Police Court This Morning With Having Interrupted Public Meeting in Grand Opera House on December 2nd.

MAGISTRATE'S REMARKS

Bernard Lastar was charged with interrupting an assembly by rude behaviour at the Grand Opera House on December 22, at the police court this morning. Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared for the accused and pleaded not guilty.

After hearing five witnesses his Worship did not think it necessary to call any further evidence. He stated that the defendant was an erratic, nervous and persistent man. If he had a question, the magistrate did not think it was any crime to send it up to be answered. Had there been any public notice given that no questions would be answered at these meetings then it would have been indiscreet on the part of Mr. Lastar to ask them. His Worship believed it helped the speaker for persons to ask questions, as they could often be used as arguments in the speaker's favour. Mr. Lastar went out of the Opera House quietly. "I think," remarked the Magistrate, "that to refuse to answer the questions and to have the man ejected was one of the worst things that could be done in the temperance cause. An honest question was entitled to an honest answer. His Worship found that the charge had not been proven.

The Evidence.

Chief Rossel was the first witness. He said that for some time meetings have been held in the Opera House, the one in this case being on Wednesday evening, Dec. 22, in the interests of temperance and local option. The Opera House was a licensed place, and subject to police supervision.

Mr. J. J. Turner, Sr., was next called. He was the proprietor and manager of the Grand Opera House. There was a local option meeting there on Wednesday, Dec. 22. Hon. Seaborn Wright was the speaker. Just as Mr. Wright concluded Mr. Lastar jumped up and stated he wanted some questions answered. He would not sit down and P. C. Meagher took him out. As he was going out from his seat, Mr. Lastar made the remark "I'll make someone pay for this tomorrow." He is the only person who ever got up to ask questions.

To Mr. Gordon, witness admitted getting a letter from O'Connell & Gordon, threatening suit for damages on behalf of Mr. Lastar if a settlement wasn't made by 27th inst. He denied that Mr. Brown had said to him: "Leave him there; he is not disturbing the meeting."

Rev. Mr. Keith stated that at the close of the address, Mr. Webb was speaking, when Mr. Lastar jumped

(Continued on page 11.)

EXAMINER WILL HAVE A LANTERN SERVICE

The Examiner has made arrangements for a complete lantern service for the election returns on Monday, and the public can rely on getting the information at the earliest possible moment, and in the most complete form at the Examiner office.

A large canvas will be hung on George street, opposite the Examiner, and upon this the returns will be displayed by means of a stereopticon lantern, stationed in the second storey of the office. They will thus be in plain view of every one on the street below, and the results can be followed easily and quickly.

The system was tried last year and proved entirely satisfactory and it is expected that the results this year will be even more gratifying.

Rarely has there been such interest in a municipal election and the citizens will be anxious to secure the results as early as possible. They will be able to get them at the Examiner Office and a cordial invitation is extended to every citizen to avail his or herself of the opportunity.

As the hours for voting have been extended the polls will not close until 7 o'clock in the evening, and the returns will not start to come in until about 7.30. The final results and the fates of the by-laws should be known shortly after 9 o'clock.

SILVER WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. James Garside Twenty-five Years Married Yesterday

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Garside, Reid St., celebrated the 25th anniversary of their wedding at their home last night. A number of their friends were present and a very enjoyable time was spent. A sumptuous dinner was served, and the evening was pleasantly spent in games and music. Mr. and Mrs. Garslide received the cordial congratulations of their many friends and were also the recipients of many beautiful presents. Among them was a purse of gold from their son, Charles C. Garside of Calgary, Alta. Rev. W. C. Riddiford, of Park Street Baptist Church, was present.

DIED IN BRANDON

Mr. Andrew Morrison, Father of Dr Morrison, Has Passed Away

Word has been received in Peterborough of the death to-day in Brandon, Manitoba, of Mr. Andrew Morrison, father of Dr. M. A. Morrison. The deceased was well known in Peterborough and his friends will grieve to learn of his death. Dr. Morrison, on being informed of the serious condition of his father left on Tuesday for Brandon. He will return to the city the latter part of next week.

MR. W. H. DENHAM STRONGLY SUPPORTS THE BY-LAW

Gives Lucid, Forcible Reasons Why Citizens of Peterboro' Should Pass the Measure Giving Franchise to the Light and Power Company---What it Means to the City

Peterborough Dec. 30, '09.

I have noticed several articles lately which touched on the question of the price of power for commercial purposes, and also house lighting, in connection with the Peterborough Light and Power Company's by-law, to be voted on January 3rd, 1910, and feeling that the situation is not understood by some of the voters, the following information may be of interest to help to decide in favour of the By-law.

The Hydro-Electric Power Commission's report was compiled by eminent engineers, thoroughly acquainted with their work and competent in every way to deal with such a subject. Their report deals with the cost of power delivered at sub-stations. In their report they also state that the distribution of this power to the consumer costs from $3.00 to $7.00. Taking $5.00 as a fair average for distribution, we arrive at the following figures:

Hamilton, $20.36 per H. P.
Toronto, $21.53 per H. P.
St. Thomas, $26.80 per H.P.
St Thompson, $26.80 per H.P.
London, $24.51 per H.P.
Tillsonburg, $29.30 per H.P.
Guelph, $23.39 per H.P.
Galt, $22.35 per H.P.
Brantford, $21.87 per H.P.
Chatham, $29.62 per H.P.
Sarnia, $34.28 per H.P.
Kingston, 26.43 per H.P.
Belleville, $21.86 per H.P.
Oshawa, $26.52 per H.P.
Port Hope, 24.49 per H.P.
Cobourg, $23.30 per H.P.

The above figures represent bringing down a maximum quantity of H.P., which means that where the maximum cannot be used that the rate would still be higher, because that rate must take care of all fixed charges, whether it be 1,000 H.P., 10,000 H.P. or more. These figures may be verified by reference to the Hydro-Electric Power Commission's report. The above list does not include all of the cities reported on by the Commission, but in no case is there any power which can be delivered at less than the lowest figures above stated.

You can readily see from this list that Peterborough is fortunate in being able to obtain her power for $20.00, and therefore, the offer of the Light and Power Company is not only reasonable, but it is extremely low, compared with what power can be obtained for at other points.

If you will refer to the report, you will also find that Peterborough is very well taken care of as regards house lighting, as the following table will show:

Peterborough 7 1-2c. net per K. W. Hr.

In the new by-law it will be 7c. net per K.W. hr.

Lindsay 12 1-2c. net per K. W. Hr.
Whitby 10c. net per K. W. Hr.,
Cobourg, 18.2c. net per K. W. Hr
Trenton, 8c. net per K. W. Hr.
Belleville 8c. net per K. W. Hr.
Kingston 12 1-2c. net per K W. Hr
Hamilton 10c. net per K. W. Hr.
St. Thomas 10c. net per K.W. Hr.
Guelph 10c. net per K. W. Hr.
Brantford 8.1c. net per K. W. Hr.

You can also readily see from the above that Peterborough's rate is low in comparison. These are the cities which are dealt with by the Commission for the Trent District and Niagara District, and are the points which are of interest to Peterborough.

Some arguments have also been advanced as regards the cost of lighting on the basis of meter, which are misleading and unreasonable. In the first place suppositions have been made that a consumer burning eight lights for twelve hours each, paying by meter, will be paying an extortionate price for his light, the fact is that if consumers having eight lamps burned all their lamps for twelve hours, a flat rate of $1.50 could not be given. The business of lighting works on the law of average the same as life insurance, to a certain extent, that is to say, experience has shown the light companies that though a great many houses may have eight lights, that all the houses are not using their lights, and those that are using their lights are not burning all of them, and in fact the average light burned per night is very low, so low that the $1.50 flat rate is only a trifle cheaper than meter rate.

In talking with the manager of the Light and Power Company he states that the flat rate is low, and it was put low intentionally, with a measure of generosity to the working man.

Such arguments as have been advanced, as regards burning a total number of lights for twelve or even twenty-four hours should not be considered for the reason that these conditions do not exist. As a meter user, I am free to say that I have forty lights in my house, besides an electric iron, and that while reasonable care is used so that light is not wasted, there is no limit as to what amount of light may be used, in fact lights are burned all over the house wherever needed, and I dare say my house would be considered as well lighted. My light bill is not over $4.50 per month at the present time, and still lower during the summer months. Any one can readily see that it is a cheaper proposition in my case especially, to be on the meter, as against the flat rate.

An example such as the above, which is borne out by facts, is worth considerably more than suppositions, which do not deal with the regular conditions. I have no hesitancy in saying that my experience is the same as the great majority of meter users. Some will get along with considerably less light than I do, depending of course on the number of lamps in use.

In dealing with this question, it is only right that we should deal with actual conditions, and not with suppositions, and if we consider the By-law in this light, there is no reason why it should not be supported.

Another point is that almost everyone knows that the Light and Power Company have been supported by the Quaker Oats Company, and occasionally articles have appeared in the paper giving a quiet rap to the Quaker Oats Company. Why this should be is beyond my understand. They are a Company which came to Peterborough, and it is true got some concessions in the way of fixed assessment, for locating an industry in Peterborough.

The Quaker Oats Company not only have established in Peterborough the largest industry of its kind in Canada employing five hundred of Peterborough's citizens, but it was also through it that the street railway was re-established, and light and power brought up to a high standard of efficiency.

They also are distributing annually among the people of Peterborough approximately $150,000 in wages alone, besides thousands of dollars for material and supplies purchased in Peterborough, in addition to several millons of dollars expended for grain, purchased elsewhere in Canada.

Have they lived up to the promises that they have made when it has been in their power to carry them out. Are not all of their obligations paid?

Now, Mr. Editor, the Light and Power Company are not asking for anything, but the privilege to do business, and to extend their present capacity. They are not asking for exclusive franchise. They are not asking for bonuses. They are simply asking for the moral support of the people in the business they have carried on, and the business they want to carry on for thirty years to come. They are simply asking the

(Continued on page 11.)

MAY LAND INDUSTRY

Twelfth Hour Negotiations Between Aldermen and Representatives of American Company Who Were Here in the Fall—Inspected Sites.

FAVOUR SOUTH WARD

Negotiations during the past few days seem to bring the assurance that Peterborough will get one new industry to represent the efforts of the Council of 1909. Representatives of an United States concern, the particulars of which were broached to the Manufacturers committee several months ago, have been in the city during the past few days looking over properties which possess particular advantages for an industrial establishment. One of the aldermen suggested to an Examiner reporter that it would be just as well to say nothing about the matter until it was definitely settled that Peterborough should be chosen by the company to locate its proposed Canadian branch factory. It is considered, however, particularly as this is the last day of the year and is the last opportunity to redeem 1909, and at the same time is a bright omen for 1910, that a reference to what is being done will not be misconstrued by the public.

The representatives of the company were particularly pleased with a lot in the south ward, near Chamberlain St. and the C.P.R. track and it is felt that this site will be the choice of the company if it announces its final decision in favour of Peterborough. The fact that the gentlemen behind the concern have returned to this city again is taken by those acquainted with them here to be significant of their appreciation of the local advantages to manufacturers. Further news from this company will be awaited with interest.

BAND

Band at Street Railway Rink to-morrow, New Year's afternoon. 153

GIPSY HAWKINS AT PARK STREET CHURCH

Evangelist Will Begin the Mission on Sunday.

Gipsy Hawkins will commence his mission in the Park St. Baptist church next Sunday morning.

Mr. Hawkins is a man with a message from God to men. Everybody is invited to the services.

At the request of the Moral and Temperance League Gipsy Hawkins will speak in the Opera House next Sunday afternoon, instead of addressing a men's meeting, as arranged for in Park St.

Be sure and come next Sunday. There is a blessing for you.

Daily Examiner.

The Circulation of The Evening Examiner is now over

3000

COPIES

Sworn to and Guaranteed Detailed Statement for the year on application

The Daily Examiner, published every lawful evening, by The Peterborough Examiner, Limited. Office, 420 George Street.

The Weekly Examiner, published every Thursday morning.

The subscription price of The Daily Examiner is $4.00 per annum; that of The Weekly, $1.00.

R. H. GLOVER, Managing Director.

Advertising Rates on application.

"Peterborough Means Progress."

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1909

HAPPY NEW YEAR!

We are at the back door of the old year and on the threshold of the new. We Canadians have reason to look back with satisfaction and gratitude upon the past twelve-month. This city, this province, this county, have enjoyed one of the most prosperous years in the history of Confederation. If material prosperity is cause for gratitude then we have abundant cause. We are thus encouraged to look forward with hopefulness to what the coming year holds for us, encouraged to take up its duties bravely and each add his or her share to making 1910 in all senses a happy New Year. While material prosperity and progress are cause for congratulation they are not at all nor even the greatest; we have moral duties that confront us. Our duty to our neighbour is the one great duty, and among our New Year resolutions should be included that of living up to the golden rule — doing unto others as we would they should do unto us. If each of us in his relations as a citizen in his social relations, gives to his neighbour the kindness, the thoughtful help, the gracious charity of judgment of his actions, which he should like to receive, the sum total of human happiness will be infinitely multiplied. If we put our hearts behind our wishes, if we convert these into action, if we strive to live up to the demands of the golden rule—and we can do so—we shall bring to the society in which we move a regeneration of happiness, a peace that will make material prosperity worth while. Only as we regard the coming year from this point of view and action, can we with confidence, with hearts attuned to our spoken wishes, give the world, as The Examiner does to all its readers and to the world at large, a

HAPPY NEW YEAR!

MORROW FOR MAYOR.

The man the city needs for Mayor is the man who can best promote its interests and secure its effective administration, the man with the largest influence, with the relations that best equip him for swinging towards the city large benefits in the form of new industries and other conditions that make for prosperity. Peterborough is in a different position from what it has been for some time. There is a newly aroused interest in undertakings that will contribute to its progress and growth. Our leading business men, our City Council and our Board of Trade have pronounced for a publicity commissioner, and this means a new movement in the direction of strengthening our manufacturing standing. In the attainment of this object there are involved movements for the acquirement of additional power, for the addition of a few important industries will exhaust our available supply of power. In such an undertaking it will be a great help to Peterobrough to have a mayor who is in touch with powerful influences that can turn the tide in the direction of Peterborough, whose word can largely influence if not decide the location of new industries. It will not be denied that Senator Cox was one of the chief determining influences that brought the Quaker Oats Company to Peterborough, a fact which resulted in the establishment of one of our most important industries; one that by virtue of the domestic character of its products, finding their way to every home in Canada and by its exports abroad to every country has done more to advertise and make known Peterborough than any other of our many great industries. It is well known that the purchase of the Howden property in the south of the city by Mr. Cox permitted the city to provide a site for and establish the Brinton Carpet Company; and it is also known, that to Mr. Cox's assistance is largely due the re-organization and resumption of work of the Wm. Hamilton Company, without which many workmen and their families would be on "short commons" this Christmastide. Mr. Morrow as mayor, in addition to his business training, his business connections, will have the same influence at his back in a way possible to no other citizen. An important manufacturing industry is under negotiation for establishment in Peterborough. It will not be denied that a good word from an influence, the foremost in financial and industrial circles—will have a most important effect. This is only one example of the benefit Peterborough can have, through its mayor having a friend at court. If we, in casting our vote for mayor on Monday keep in mind the expansion of Peterborough, the promotion of its larger interests, we shall see that these can best be promoted by electing Mr. Morrow as mayor. As has been remarked, the larger interests of the city require special capability, special influence, special financial and business connections. The smaller interests need less important qualifications for this effective administration. And as has also been remarked, in these regards, personally there is little difference between the two candidates for mayor—both are most estimable citizens. The important question is, however, which will, in the capacity of mayor, be the better equipped, by possession of the largest influence and most influential connections, to swing influence in Peterborough's favour. In the keen race for the capture of industrial prizes, Peterborough needs, to meet the formidable rivalry of other towns and cities, a mayor who can best play the cards that will decide the swing of the scale. The electors are urged to spend the interval between now and polling day in the study of the question at issue—the material and industrial advancement of Peterborough; which of the two candidates will be able to do most in this direction. Admitting that both candidates are reasonably on par with each other in the matter of routine municipal administration, the ratepayer should consider which of them will be best able to advance and promote the larger interests of the city and help maintain Peterborough in its leading place among the minor cities of the province. All personal considerations, all personal preferences should give place to the larger outlook, the larger ambition.

Women Stricken With Worry

It seems impossible for women not to worry, but whether they worry or not, it is every woman's duty to herself and family to save her strength and build up her system to meet any unusual demands.

To prevent nervous breakdown the blood must be kept pure and nutritious.

No medicine is so beneficial as Ferrozone, which acts on the blood, the nerves, the stomach, and all other organs that need strength.

FERROZONE

A Woman's Medicine!

No other medicine for the weakness, pains, discomforts, and ills from which women suffer can possibly give more permanent results than Ferrozone. It acts like a charm. Sold by all dealers. 50c per box, or six for $2.50.

London Life

POLICIES

GOOD AS GOLD

Have you provided for those who are dependent upon you? Good intentions or good resolutions will not count for much when your widow is struggling to make a living. Ask for booklet, "Endowment at Life Rate."

GEO. SOUTHWELL,
Supt. Industrial Branch,
386 Water St., Peterborough

THE LIGHT AND POWER BY-LAW

The more the Light and Power franchise by-law is discussed, the smaller become the ground of its opponents to stand on, to the extent that their opposition is merely opposition for the sake of opposition.

Apply reason instead of prejudice to the situation and the reasons for the adoption of the by-law are unanswerable.

What is it that the Light and Power Company asks? Simply a long-date street franchise in order that it can more advantageously negotiate its bonds. It simply asks the privilege to erect poles on the street for a fixed term so that its position may be sure and lenders of money advance money on the best terms.

It is claimed that the adoption of the by-law will be contrary to the interests of the working man. Not so. If the Company is put in a position to raise money advantageously, a large amount of outside capital will be brought in to be spent—where? In Peterborough; in making improvements and extensions. Money can't be spent in such ways without work. Work will give employment to working men. The point is easily seen. To enable the company to sell its bonds profitably the lenders require the Company to have a sure contract —an assurance that it can be in business the time covered by the bonds.

It is rather demagogically stated that the Company wants to "own the streets." That is not the case. The Company recognises the authority of the public over the streets by asking the people to give them the right to use them to do business and incidentally serve the public. Why should not the people grant their fellow citizens the use of the streets? In return for this use the Company makes important concessions:

Increased discounts on light bills.

Use of Company's poles for civic lighting.

Put wires underground in business section.

Company will install most modern appliances.

Will pay additional pole rental.

No charge for meter rent.

Reserve 2,000 horse power for manufacturing purposes.

Cheaper light rate than other similar cities.

Agreement to sell to city without future prospects or franchise rights.

Company does not ask exclusive franchise.

Against this the Company simply requests the right to place its poles on the street, subject to direction of City Engineer, and no poles to be placed without his written permission.

In another column is a letter on the by-law from Mr. W. H. Denham, manager of the Quaker Oats Company, which should be read by all who are in doubt.

This Company, closely associated with the Light and Power Company, deserves well at our hands. It gives work to five hundred of our citizens, and pays out $150,000 a year in wages.

The passing of the by-law will be to the benefit of the Quaker Oats Co. inthe manner Mr. Denham points out at the close of his letter.

The ratepayers are asked to lay aside all prejudice and pass the by-law in the interest of the Company, composed of our fellow citizens, in order that they may better finance their undertaking and provide an improved public service in the interests of the citizens.

UNCLE WALT--THE POET PHILOSOPHER

I don't go much on gilded vows, for I have made them in the past, and they are with the bow-wow-wows—they were too all-fired good to last.

A NEW YEAR VOW

And so I'll make one vow to-day: I'll simply try to do my best; that vow should help me on my way, for it embraces all the rest. I'll take the middle of the road, and always do the best I can, and pack along my little load, and try to be a manly man. A man may end his journey here too poor to buy a decent shroud, and planted be without a tear of mourning from the worldly crowd; but when he's in the judgment scale, he'll come triumphant from the test; no man has failed, no man can fail, who always —always does his best. And though my pathway be obscure, and void of honour and applause, and though the lean wolf of the moor to my cheap doorway nearer draws, I'll keep a stout heart in my breast, and follow up this simple plan: I'll always do my very best, and try to be a manly man.

Wm. Mason

Something You Want to Buy ? You Want to Sell ? Or is it a House or Rooms To Rent ?

In any case, it's THE EXAMINER that can do it for you with our rapidly growing circulation.

Twenty cents will pay for a 20 word classified advertisemen .

Vote for Morrow

We have completed arrangements with the leading chemists in Huddersfield, England, and Germany, Paris and France to supply us with the latest dye stuffs which we import direct. With the new process many things are possible which were not a year ago. Parker's Dye Works, 177 Charlotte St. R. M. Beach, Prop. im 145

THE BEAVER'S TOOTH.

The enterprise of the Manitoba Free Press finds and has found for years, delightful expression at Christmas time by the sending abroad of some significant and interesting souvenir suggestive of the resources of the Great Canadian West. This year this gift is represented by a beaver's tooth silver mounted, so as to be worn as a watch charm. This tooth, as the interesting little booklet which accompanies the gift, says, is one of the incisor teeth of the industrious beaver. It is also stated that on behalf of the Free Press the Hudson Bay Company's officials have spent four years in search of beavers' teeth for the purpose of its Christmas souvenirs. The little booklet gives a most interesting history of the beaver, its habits and skill as a dam-builder, and the place it has occupied in history, in providing "the hat my father wore" and other interesting details about the national emblem of Canada, the symbol of the industry and perseverance which accounts for the growth and progress of Canada; and of which the Free Press, in its sphere, is a striking example. This journal, which, in its solid character and influence takes rank amongst the foremost journalistic forces of the country, has in the way mentioned and in other ways grandly contributed to the growth and development of the West, in giving publicity to its exhaustless capability as the granary of the empire and the home of millions of happy and prosperous citizens. The Examiner acknowledges with gratitude the yearly Christmas courtesies of the Free Press and becomes one of thousands who heartily wish it not one but many prosperous New Years, both for itself and the wide constituency it enterprisingly and effectively represents.

BAND

Band at Street Railway Rink to-morrow, New Year's afternoon. 153

THE WEATHER.

The last day of the year 1909, was ushered in by a temperature of 5 degrees below zero. No severe or stormy weather has yet been experienced in this part of old Ontario, while in the Maritime Provinces several heavy storms have occurred. Even in the states to the south reports of immense snow drifts and blockades of railway trains have been recorded. Here we have sufficient snow to make good sleighing, but no more.

Vote for Morrow

ELECT

MASON

For Mayor

R. P. TOBIN

CONTRACTOR & BUILDER

352 Brock St. Phone 1258

6m-52

Real Estate Sales Room

HOUSES FOR SALE

1.—2 storey and attic, solid Red Brick, west, double parlours, dining room, kitchen, pantry, front and rear stairs, 4 bed-rooms, bath-room separate toilet, coal grate, electric lights, hot water furnace, double cellars, laundry tubs, large lot, price..... $4,500

2.—2 storey and attic, Red Brick, north, parlour, dining room, kitchen pantry, summer kitchen, wood-shed 4 bed-rooms, bath-room, furnace, electric lights, good well, large lot, price $3,500

3.—Frame House, south of city. 1½ storeys, 6 rooms, ¼ acre choice garden lot 5 minutes from street railway line, price..... $1,000

4.—1½ storey Brick, north, parlour dining-room, kitchen, wood-shed, summer kitchen, 3 bed-rooms, and stable, price..... $900

Farms for Sale

200 acres, 6 miles north of city, all under cultivation, soil clay loam, good orchard, good frame house, 3 first-class barns, good stables in stone basements under the barns, price..... $10,000

100 acres, 6 miles east, 90 acres under cultivation, balance pasture, soil clay loam, good fences, good brick house and frame barns on stone foundation, close to school, price..... $6,500

Houses to Rent

7-roomed, north, conveniences $12

7-roomed, south, light water, $11

7-roomed, west, light, water, $8

4-roomed, west..... $7

9-roomed, central, all conveniences..... $16

J. T. O'Connell & Co.

136 Hunter Street. 'Phone 376

WANTED.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

WANTED — 100 LADIES TO USE OUR Stocking Darning Sewing Machine Attachment. Fits on any machine. Also for repairing curtains, table cloth. Best time, labour and money saving device Send post paid on receipt of post office money order, 25c. Agents wanted.—The Quebec Hardware Mfg. Specialties, St. Rock P. O., Quebec, Que. 1yr78-7879

PERSONAL.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

ANY PERSON WISHING TO TAKE CAR to Northwest as far as Medicine Hat, please call at 201 Rubidge street for particulars. 9d153-8777

YOUR FORTUNE TOLD — YOUR PAST and future can be revealed; my horoscopes are wonderful diviners—try and see. Send birth date with three two cent stamps. Alfred Dumas, Box 67, St. Laurent, Jacques-Cartier Co., P. Que. 2d-s-153

IF THE PARTY WHO ADVERTISED FOR "Safe Wanted," will call at the Examiner office, he will be given the address of where he can secure one. d142

HELP WANTED—FEMALE.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

WOMAN WANTED TO DO HOUSEWORK and take care of baby. Apply 40 Robinson street. 3d151-8729

PATENTS.

For particulars about Patents, send for booklet.

HEBB. B. PANNETT.

FOR RENT.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

TO RENT—OFFICE NO. 12 IN BANK OF Commerce Building; heated, possession immediately. Apply at 427 George street

TO RENT — NEW HOUSE—CITY WATER —$7.50. Apply 533 Concession street. Phone 1588.

FOUND.

OUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

LOST.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing

LOST — WEDNESDAY NIGHT BETWEEN Quaker Oats and Flynn's Grocery Store, Concession street, a twenty dollar bill. Finder will receive reward upon returning to 542 Concession st. 1d153-8782

LOST — FOB CHAIN — 3 AGATE STONES Park street or McDonnel. 1d153 8780

GIRLS WANTED AT QUAKER OATS CO. —Steady work and good pay. 6d153-8795

LOST—A brown and white spaniel puppy answering to name of Daisy. Finder will kindly return to 500 College Street. 2d-153-8758

LOST—On Friday, December 24th, a collie pup, 6 months old, cinnamon colour with white breast and face, called "Sackfield." Any information concerning his whereabouts will be thankfully received by John Cronin, Lockmaster, East Ward. 3d-153 8705

LOST—UNITED STATES LINCOLN CENT brooch—valued as a keepsake. Finder kindly return to Examiner. 3d156-8711

LOST — GOLD WATCH CHAIN AND locket, with engraving on back, on George street, on Friday afternoon. Finder leave at this office. 3d156-8704

LOST — LADY'S GOLD LOCKET — INitialled V.E.W. Return to this office. Reward 703 Aylmer st. 3d156-866

LOST — BETWEEN DUBLIN AND LONdon on Reid street, a door key. Finder please leave at Examiner Office and

SITUATIONS WANTED.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

WANTED — RESPECTABLE WOMAN wants work by the day. Apply Examiner office. 3d151-8742

SITUATIONS VACANT.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

WANTED — FIRST CLASS MACHINISTS for Gisholt lathe, milling machine, hand screw machine and lathe hands. Apply at once to Canada Cycle and Motor Co., West Toronto. 3d151-8736

WANTED—BRIGHT YOUNG MAN AS traveler—splendid opportunity for the right man. 174½ Charlotte street. 3d151-8727

AN INTELLIGENT PERSON MAY EARN $100 monthly corresponding for newspapers. No canvassing. Send for particulars. Press Syndicate, 3972, Lockport, N.Y. dtf-51-7296

ANYONE, ANYWHERE, CAN START A mail order business at home. No canvassing. All your own home. Send for free boklet, Tells how. Hancock, 2972, Lockport, N.Y. dtf-51-7296

FOR SALE.

YOUR Ad in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

CUTTER FOR SALE — ONLY $10.00—SECond hand, in good condition. Call 205 Charlotte st. 3d153-8779

PERSON IN MOURNING HAS NEW YORK hats for sale cheap—this winter's styles. Apply Examiner office. 2d150-8768

FOR SALE CHEAP — A SMALL FIRST class fireproof safe, combination lock; also a first class White sewing machine. Apply J. J. Turner & Sons, tent manufacturers, George street, Peterborough. 3d151-8743

FOR SALE — A NUMBER OF CHICKENS First class, well bred, pedigreed. The original stock for the pair cost over $15. Apply 636 Water street. 6d150 8724

FOR SALE OR TO RENT—CASTLEKNOCK, the late residence of Mrs. Dennistoun. Extensive grounds, commodious residence, stable, etc. Apply to Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr, Water street. 1m-m and s-144-8689

FOR SALE—A THREE STORY BRICK house, 162 Smith street, containing nine rooms, besides halls, bathroom and closets; also five rooms in basement; coal and gas cooking ranges; furnace; electric light fixtures. Large lot, stable and driving house. Terms easy. Call at premises. J. Coyle Brown, Peterborough. 1md127-8360

A new brick house near the corner of Sherbrooke and Park, modern improvements; will sell on monthly payments, or rent to small family. A good chance for a mechanic to own his own home. tf94-7567 G. W. HATTON.

FOR SALE—TWO CHOICE BUILDING lots on Water street (west side of street). Each 30 feet frontage back to a 12 foot lane. For particulars apply at 163 Antrim street, city, or Examiner office. tf48-7254

HOUSES AND ROOMS TO LET

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

GOOD FRAME HOUSE FOR SALE WITH stable; also two story brick house, 7 rooms. Cheap and on terms to suit purchaser. Apply to H. C. Stabler & Co., 359 Water st. d131

ROOMS TO RENT ON GEORGE STREET, fitted with water, electric light, etc. Apply to Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr.

TO RENT—SUITE OF ROOMS IN GRAND Central Building. Heated and all modern improvements. Rent moderate Apply 427 George street

LOTS FOR SALE

ON

Big Island, Stony Lake

Fourteen lots, comprising a little more than the south half of Big Island, have been sold.

Lots eleven, twelve, fifteen, sixteen eighteen and nineteen, comprising almost all of the northern half of the Island, are still for sale.

These lots now being offered are good building sites and splendidly situated.

Plan may be seen at the Examiner Office.

d87-128-8288 R. H. GLOVER

Begin Right

Begin the year well by investment in Real Estate, the surest, as well as the most remunerative.

Our City is on the eve of a great advance which requires little penetration to foresee.

Have confidence in your city and share in her prosperity.

We have superior investments in both City and Farm properties as per sample.

$1100—Seven roomed house, city water and electric light, on nice street, convenient to schools, work, etc;

$3000—An ideal residence entirely modern hot water heating, gas, etc., make a lovely house.

$5000—114 acres in Otonabee, first-class loam, barns on stone and piped from spring. Houses to Rent. A good Market Garden to Rent.

SOUTH CITY REALTY CO.

Phone 1295 and 1281 130 Park St.

New Offices Opposite C. O. E.

SEE THESE SOON

$200 Will buy a choice lot in the south part of the city in a first-class locality We have a number of these lots to dispose of for a quick sale,

$1900 Will buy a 7 roomed Brick House in west part of city with modern improvements

$1600 Will buy a good 2 storey Brick House in west part of city

R. A. Elliott & Co

REAL ESTATE AGENTS, WATER STREET

TO INVESTORS.

35 to 50 per cent. per annum and Gilt Edge Security

Can be had by procuring stock in the

Alberta Wheat Growing Co., Limited.

A careful estimate shows that an investment of $500 in six years will produce $1200 to $1500 profit.

For further particulars write.

F. N. Tennant,

123-123 Box 59, Brampton, Ont.

HOUSES TO RENT

Houses to let at reasonable rent. Apply for particulars at W. H. BRADBURN'S OFFICE, over the Dominion Bank, Corner of George and Simcoe Streets. dtf

Dyment, Cassels & Co

Members Toronto Stock Exchange

Bank of Nova Scotia Building 34 Melinda St. Toronto

ORDERS EXECUTED ON ALL EXCHANGES

TELEPHONE MAIN 6311

New and Second-Hand Clothing Boots, Rubbers, etc. Furniture.

JAY'S Stores

390 AYLMER STREET PHONE

W. E. ELMORE & CO.

Brokers and Promoters

TORONTO AND MONTREAL

114-20 Traders Bank—126-6 Coristine Bldg. Hamilton Office: 401 Bank of Hamilton Building. 'Phone 3310.

GEORGE STREET PROPERTY FOR SALE

Parts of lots 1 and 2, west of George street and north of Dalhousie street, frontage on George street, 122 ft. by a depth of 185 ft., with use of a 12 feet lane from Dalhousie street. This lot adjoins the wholesale Harness Factory of R. F. Ackermans & Son, and is suitable for wholesale house, or manufactory. Apply to Dumble & Johnston, or R. H. Wood. 6m-50 Peterboro

Peterborough Club Rooms To Rent

Opposite Post Office, Hunter St. Steam heated, with private bath and lavatory. Will rent whole flat or dividual rooms. Temporary or a permanent lease. Apply to

Peterborough Business College

CHRISTMAS SUGGESTIONS

EVERYTHING NEW THIS YEAR

Toilet Sets

Values from..... $3 to $15

Fancy Perfumes

In Pleasing Boxes, real Flower Odours, prices..... 25c to $5

Lowney's Chocolates

25c to..... $2.00

ASK FOR OUR 10 CALENDAR

J. D. TULLY

DRUGGIST

THE OPEN BAR IS NOT NEEDED IN PETERBORO--VOTE IT OUT

WHAT GOOD HAS IT EVER DONE YOU ?

Final Thoughts on Local Option for Peterborough Ratepayers.

Stock Arguments Answered---Reasons Why You Should Vote For the By-Law.

On Monday, if you are a ratepayer, you will have a chance to vote for or against local option in Peterborough. If you are going to vote. If you are in doubt as to how to cast your ballot, then we would ask you to consider the facts that are set out on this page.

During the present campaign, which has lasted practically all year, those who advocate that the open bar should be increased in Peterborough, have held a public meeting of any kind. They have been unable to induce a prominent man, either a resident of this city or otherwise, to appear on their platform on their behalf.

The Temperance Side.

The temperance workers have held meeting after public meeting. They have brought in speaker after speaker from not only nearby towns and cities in Ontario, including Owen Sound, Orillia and Toronto but from the United States. These speakers have included men with international reputations and two ex-governors of States have shown that local option is proving a success wherever it is in force all over the continent.

With the exception of Owen Sound, they have not attempted to name a single city, town, or village in Canada or the United States where local option has been a failure.

Their claim that local option has proved a failure in Owen Sound has been pronounced by a leading government official and by the citizens of Owen Sound to be absolutely false.

With the exception of only one private individual no person has cared to come out for the liquor interests and discuss the local option question in the public press.

Does this not all prove that the claim that the open bar should be continued in Peterborough will not stand investigation?

The temperance advocates have discussed local option week after week in the Peterborough papers. They have described the conditions in scores of cities, towns and villages, and proved local option to have been a success. They have invited public discussion.

In case, however, that there may be a few ratepayers who are still in doubt on some points, we hereby give a brief resume of some of the principal arguments against local option and answers to them.

LOCAL OPTION WILL NOT INCREASE TAXATION

If we carry local option on Monday we need have no fear that our taxes will be increased in consequence. Certain interests may try to scare us by saying that local option will increase taxation, but facts prove that this will not be the case.

In hundreds of municipalities in Canada and the thousands of places in which local option has been carried, we have yet to hear of any increased taxation has been imposed. On the contrary, through the fact that a big saving takes place in the amount of money paid for liquor when there is no bar, taxation is always a considerable item in Peterborough's assessment roll, which approximately $8,000,000. The money paid to the city by the liquor interests for license fees is equivalent to only five cents on the dollar. Thus, in Peterborough, if local option carries, would mean a saving of over three-fifths of a mill on the dollar. This will not be increased. The city pays out each year, in police protection, some $3,000. This amount says that practically all of this is needed to relieve poverty caused directly by liquor. After local option carries this money will be saved.

The city is under heavy expense each year arresting and prosecuting drunken men and dealing with crime due directly to liquor. Most, if not all of this waste of money will be saved under local option.

The city is under heavy expense, also, for its share of the cost of maintaining prisoners in the gaol and insane people in the asylum who are there through indulgence in strong drink. Local option will reduce this expense materially.

Under local option, property, even hotel property, will increase in value. In Orillia, for example, the buildings used for hotels increased $8,795 in value within a year after the passing of local option. This increased value of property keeps down the rate of taxation. For these reasons there is no possibility of the tax rate being advanced after local option carries. Do not be alarmed, therefore, over any statements that the liquor interests may make to the contrary. These statements would have been made long ago if they would have stood investigation.

THE LOCAL OPTION LAW WILL BE ENFORCED.

After local option carries we can be assured that the law will be fully enforced. The Ontario Government had pledged itself to see that it is duly carried out. Should we have reason to suspect that the law is being broken a complaint to the License Department, Toronto, will cause the department sending provincial inspectors here to detect and prosecute the offenders. These provincial detectives are doing excellent work all over the province. They have sent scores of hotel-keepers to gaol for several months at a time for violations of the liquor law. In Owen Sound alone six hotel-keepers have been sent to gaol for breaking the local option law, but the government has stated that License Inspector Stewart will be retained in office to see that the provisions of the local option law are rigidly carried out. When a hotel-keeper breaks the local option law twice he is sent to gaol without the option of a fine. There is no fun in this, so they prefer to observe the law.

Local option is being enforced successfully in over 300 municipalities in Ontario. It will be enforced equally well in Peterborough.

People who tell us, as some have in Peterborough, that even after we carry the local option law by a three-fifths majority we will be unable to enforce it, practically tell us that we are unfit to govern ourselves. If the liquor interests in Peterborough are so defiant of the laws of this country that they can refuse to obey them it is time that we recognize them as dangerous rebels and deal with them accordingly. Do not be apprehensive, however. We can and will enforce the local option law and the government has promised to help us, if necessary.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PROPRIETORS OF THE OPEN BARS IN PETERBOROUGH

Gentlemen,—Now that the Local Option campaign is drawing to a close, and before the final vote is taken on Monday next, the supporters of the City Temperance League desire to assure you, as individuals, of their hearty good-will. We recognize that, as citizens of Peterborough, we have granted you the licenses to conduct your bar-rooms, we are jointly responsible with you for the presence of the open bar in Peterborough. We have come to the conclusion, however, that the open bar is productive of much injury to the community and now desire to be relieved of the responsibility of its continuance in Peterborough and therefore have thought it well to bring on this vote. In the action we have taken we feel that you, gentlemen, a few months after local option has carried, will thank us for the stand that we have taken.

We are sure that you must be aware of the wide-spread and rapidly growing feeling on the part of the public against anything connected with the sale of spirituous liquors. Necessarily, more or less of this feeling is directed towards those individuals who are connected with the open bar.

This feeling is so strong that the supreme head of the Catholic church, the Pope, has upheld the decision of those Catholic societies which have passed rules forbidding any person who is connected with the sale of liquor from becoming members. All the Protestant churches openly denounce the traffic with which you are connected. A large proportion of the fraternal societies of the continent refuse to allow persons identified with the liquor trade to become members.

The laws of our country prevent you from holding any civic office. You are not allowed to conduct your business within specified distances of schools or churches. You are forbidden to sell your wares to children, to Indians, and not at all except during certain strictly defined hours. The government deems it necessary to appoint officers whose special duty it is to see that you keep the law. Thus you are under surveillance all the time for the privilege of conducting your business. You are also taxed heavily.

All these restrictions are such that they must lead you to feel that the positions you occupy are at the best uncomfortable. The members of your families must feel the public resentment against the trade in which you are engaged.

When Local Option carries in Peterborough we will be glad to do everything in our power to assist you in any line of business in which you may engage, should any such assistance be desired by you. We trust that after Local Option carries you will see that we have acted for your own benefit and that you will thank us for what has been accomplished.

Wishing you a Happy and Prosperous New Year, believe us,

Sincerely yours,

The City Temperance League.

Local Option By-Law

MARK YOUR BALLOT THUS:

FOR LOCAL OPTION X

AGAINST LOCAL OPTION

THE DIFFERENCE

1 Licence protects the liquor trade	1 Local Option outlaws the traffic
2 Licence proclaims alcohol as a proper beverage	2 Local Option says alcohol is not a fit beverage and confines it to the druggist's shelf, where it ought to be
3 Licence encourages the treating system	3 Local Option practically puts an end to the treating system
4 Under licence drunks are not punished unless they are troublesome. Drunkenness is accepted as a natural result of the law	4 Under Local Option drunks are arrested at sight. There is no excuse for a man being drunk under Local Option
5 Under licence a man drinks by your permission You allow men to be tempted "for a consideration"	5 Under Local Option if a man drinks he does it without your consent

BUSINESS MEN, READ THIS

I recently met the finished article of the liquor trade. He was lying in the gutter. He had no hat; the hat trade was suffering. His coat was full of holes; the tailoring trade was suffering. He had no shirt; the haberdashery trade was suffering. He had no stockings; the hosiery trade was suffering. He was dirty; the soap trade was suffering. Indeed, I can hardly mention an industry that was not affected by that man's insobriety.—LEIF JONES, M.P., England that crime in that city has increased and the value of property decreased since local option was adopted. The statements that have been issued in this way by the Brewers' Association have been denounced by Mr. E. Saunders, the chief of the Provincial License Department, as absolutely false.

Citizens of Owen Sound are indignant over the misleading and untruthful statements that have been circulated in the public press by the liquor interests that they held a largely attended public meeting a few days ago and passed resolutions denouncing these statements. The advisability of prosecuting the papers that have given publicity to these statements was considered.

The City Temperance League in Peterborough has received a telegram from Mr. T. W. McMahon, of Owen Sound, to the following effect: "The statements headed 'Owen Sound's awful record,' that are being circulated by the liquor interests, are an infamous slander. It states that there were 236 convictions for six months of this year, whereas the correct record is only 157 convictions. The record of convictions in Owen Sound for the past eleven months is a magnificent one for a lake-port town with a population of over 12,000.

The fact that the people of Owen Sound raised $1,700 to re-carry the local option by-law last January, and that they did so by a substantial majority proves that the people of Owen Sound, after trying local option for several years are well satisfied with the local option law.

Vote for Local Option.

COUNT THE LOSS.

Count all the newly-made graves of the year,
Count all the shame and the sorrow and tears,
Count all the homes that are wretched and sad,
Count all the men who have gone to the bad.

Count all the staggering steps that you meet,
Count all the oaths that you hear on the street,
Count all the stricken ones, tempted and tossed,
Count all the hopes that are blighted and lost.

Count all the children sent hungry to bed,
Because there's no money with which to buy bread,
Count all the hardships the innocent bear,
That a few may get rich and have money to spare.

Count all these things—the result of strong drink,
Enough to make one seriously think,
And then, in your hearts, can you honestly say,
"I'll vote that the bar-rooms in Peterborough shall stay."

What a horrible sum little addition does make,
When you count things up and a view of them take,
And how shall we stop this increase of woe,
Unless, 'tis by voting, the bar-rooms must go?

And this we will do, by God's helpful grace;
No longer shall Peterborough remain in disgrace,
Our purpose is settled, the decree has gone forth,
To vote out the bar-rooms on Monday, the 3rd.

REV. D. D. CROSSLEY.

WHEN THE BAR-ROOMS ARE VOTED OUT

The $300,000 a year that now goes over the open bars in Peterboro will go to our merchants and

Grocers will have more business, because money now going for liquor will go for food.

Butchers will sell more sirloin steak and roast beef, and have fewer bad debts.

Physicians will have few unsettled accounts, and less charity cases.

Dry Goods men will have a boom in business because the women will have more money to spend.

Shoe Dealers will sell their wares to cover the feet of ill-shod or barefoot children, and will have a call for better goods with large profits.

Laundry Men will lose nothing but doing up the coats and aprons of bar-tenders, and will have more collar and shirt business.

Furniture Merchants will find it much to their own interest to boost the "booze" out of Peterborough, for people will soon have better furnished homes.

Coal and Lumber People will be benefited, for families will keep warmer and live in better houses.

Real Estate and Banking will profit by rents being paid more promptly and deposits constantly growing larger.

VOTE FOR LOCAL OPTION

Local Option Will Carry on Monday

Because a careful canvass of the ratepayers has shown that a large majority have decided to vote for it

Because it will do away with the open bar which is the cause of drunkenness, crime and poverty

Because Local Option has proved a success wherever it has been tried, both in Canada and the United States. It has stood the test in hundreds of municipalities

Because Peterborough business men now realize that the open bar draws away money that would otherwise go to them

Because the laboring man recognizes liquor as his worst enemy and has pronounced against it through his local, provincial, national and international labororganizations.

Because all Church organizations recognize the open bar as an enemy of the home, and a foe to all that is good and holy

Because the intelligent citizens of Peterborough say that the open bar must go

LOCAL OPTION WILL NOT AFFECT THE HOTELS

After local option carries we will have just as good hotels as there are at present. Already over three-quarters of the sum of money that is anticipated will be required to conduct a high-class temperance hotel in Peterborough has been subscribed by private citizens. The balance required will be available immediately the need for such an hotel becomes apparent.

In many of the local option districts in Ontario the temperance people have done what the temperance people of Peterborough are prepared to do, that is, erected up-to-date hotels. These hotels, in many instances, are better than the hotels that existed under the license system. Do not be afraid, therefore, that when we vote out the open bar the hotel accommodation in Peterborough will not be equal to its present high standard. Vote for local option.

LOCAL OPTION A SUCCESS IN OWEN SOUND

During the past few weeks the Ontario Brewers' Association has endeavored to show that local-option has not been a success in Owen Sound and

The Door to Your Freedom is

LOCAL OPTION

On Monday next you will have an opportunity to decide whether you are going to make yourself a partner in the crime which follows the Liquor Traffic or whether you will retain your freedom from guilt.

If You Vote for Retaining the Bars you make yourself a party to the crime following the Trade. The drunkard in the mire; the crimes committed under the influence of drink; the homes destroyed; the boys ruined, all these are now part of your work. Your vote helped to make it possible. Your influence encouraged it. You are responsible.

If You Vote for Local Option and it fails to carry, and the Bars remain with all their CRIME, you are free. You voted against it; you influence opposed it. No man can lay their crimes at your door. You are free.

If you Vote for Local Option and it carries, the drunkenness and crime which may follow through violation of the cannot in any sease be laid against you. The responsibility in this case lies at the door of one of three parties. The man who sells in violation of the law, the official who fails to enforce the law, or the legislator who may not have given us adequate laws. But you are free.

To vote for Local Option is the only opportunity you have to free yourself from partnership in those terrible crimes which go forth hand-in-hand with an Open Bar.

Vote Local Option and be free from partnership in the Traffic.

Queen Quality

SHOE

Everything that women wear in Shoes. In "Queen Quality" smart, exclusive styles, fit, comfort.

J. T. Stenson & Sons

394 GEORGE STREET

It's Confidence That Does It

Season's Greetings

At this, the Festive Season, we offer our thanks to the public for their liberal patronage during the year now rapidly drawing to a close. It has been our constant endeavor to give satisfaction to everyone, and the results of the year's business would seem to indicate that we have in a great measure succeeded.

Ready again to serve you with FAMILY GROCERIES, perfect in quality, perfectly kept and moderately priced.

CANDY, don't be without Candy. New Year's wouldn't be New Year's without Candy. We buyhels of it and Nuts and other Table delicacies,

WHITE & GILLESPIE

Rubber Gloves

Regular $1.00 for

65 cents

Every lady should have a pair. Keep hands clean and skin soft and free from roughness.

Wm. Madill

Chemist & Druggist

OAK HALL DRUG STORE

Corner George and Hunter Sts

Better Stock and More of It

Cut Flowers

Ferns — Flowering Plants
Palms — Floral Designs
Bouquets — Wreaths, etc.

All work done in an artistic manner on shortest notice. Orders by mail, telephone, or telegraph, promptly and carefully attended to.

Visitors always welcome at

West-End Greenhouses

Take the Jackson Park Street Car. Car stops within a few yards of Greenhouses

547 Park St. Phone 21

Day and Night

DOWN-TOWN AGENCY—At White & Gillespie's Grocery, 356 George St.

The Prospective Patentee

Fetherstonhaugh Dennison & Co.

STAR BUILDING, 10 KING ST. W. TORONTO.

PATENTS

OFFICES—MONTREAL, TORONTO, OTTAWA, WINNIPEG, WASHINGTON.

SUNLIGHT SOAP

meets you half-way—does all your work in half the time and at half the cost of other soaps.

Sunlight Soap—absolutely pure—saves clothes from injury—hands from roughness—life from drudgery.

BEGGARS CLEAN UP $200,000 IN A SINGLE DAY

According to Statistics the 8200 Mendicants Reap a Rich Harvest in New York — Able-Bodied Men Prepare for the Occasion and Make a Haul.

IMPOSE ON CHARITY

New York, Dec. 31.—Eight thousand two hundred known beggars, most of them fairly able-bodied, are engaged this week in their favourite outdoor sport—"plinging the hooligan"—in New York City alone. The hooligan is the charitably inclined man or woman, who, filled with Christmas spirit and other forms of Tom and Jerry, will toss a quarter to every beggar on the streets. "Plinging" is the art of extracting the quarters.

According to the report of James Forbes, secretary of the National Association for the Prevention of Mendicancy, the begging tribe probably gathered in $200,000 on the day before Christmas.

The 8,000 old beggars took in from $25 to $30 each on that day. That runs into some money—say $200,000 in Manhattan alone for one day's taking. And, if Mr. Forbes' figures are right, that is just a drop in the bucket in the mendicant's year. A most conservative estimate, based on known averages for hard-working beggars, and allowing 300 working days to the year, gives the total cost of mendicancy, just in petty cash in New York City alone, at not less than $37,000 per day, or $11,100,000 per year. And the chances are that this understates the facts, for Mr. Forbes in making this estimate, tried to stay within the most conservative limits.

"That is merely the first cost of mendicancy to the city of New York," said he. "It is merely the pennies and dimes and quarters that are thrown to these 8,000 beggars day by day. To that must be added the cost of such societies as our own, formed for the purpose of preventing imposture upon the charitable, and a share of the cost of the police establishment and of the charitable and reformative institutions, and the hospitals, and, last of all,, the potter's field—for most of these poor devils wind up there at last. They may make money. Any good, industrious beggar can and does make a great deal more money than the average workingman. But, with the exception of two or three classes, they all wind up on the 'island' or in a hospital. And one day the dead waggon takes all that is mortal of them to the potter's field."

ELECT MASON For Mayor

FOSTER'S WEATHER BULLETIN

Washington, D.C., Jan. 1.—Last bulletin forecasts of disturbance to cross continent 1 to 5, warm wave Dec. 31 to Jan. 4, cool wave 3 to 7. This disturbance was expected to bring about normal temperatures, to be preceded and followed by cold waves but not very severe, and the storms to be of the winter kind, a little more severe than usual.

Next disturbance will reach Pacific coast about 7, cross Pacific slope by close of 8, great central valleys 9 to 11, eastern provinces and north-eastern states 12. Warm wave will cross Pacific slope about 7, great central valleys 9, north-eastern states and eastern provinces 11. Cool wave will cross Pacific slope about 10, great central valleys 12, eastern provinces and north-eastern states 14.

The important feature of this disturbance will be in the great rise of temperatures which will cause the week to be warmer than usual while less than the usual amount of rain will fall and not much snow even in northern sections.

An abundance of rain will fall during January but not much snow and not much precipitation of any kind before middle of month. January will be dry in Florida, lower Mississippi valleys from Memphis south and in the greater part of Texas. Very little rain during January in Mexico and extreme southern part of Florida. Very dry in vicinity of New Orleans.

Grain and Cotton.

The cereals and cotton are high enough for the time. It is usually good policy to hold these till just before the next crop comes in, but few farmers and planters can hold them so long. At time of writing this bulletin the prices are high enough and offer those who cannot hold till next August an opportunity to sell at fair prices. Oats are too high.

There is always a loss in grain that is held over till August. The shrinkage is usually great and on corn it will be very great this year as there is a large amount of soft corn. Of course the doctors at the great grain centres will buy much of this soft corn, smoke it over sulphur, dry it by artificial heat and sell it at first class prices.

The Argentine frost was used by speculators to put up prices of grain and the market ran away with itself. But who ever heard of corn being injured in this country by a frost early in June? Corn frosted to the ground about first of June always comes out again and usually makes a good crop. A December frost in Argentine is similar to a June frost in this country.

When the bears again get control of the markets the Argentine crops will be reported good and the bears will get control between this and first of March.

DOG SHOW

Boston Terrier Specialty Show on New Year's Day.

Dr. C. King intends showing some of his best dogs at the Boston Terrier Specialty Show, which is being held in Toronto on New Year's Day. Dr. King is sure to return home with a good share of the prizes.

WHAT IT WILL DO

A woman buys a sewing machine for what it will do; not as an article of furniture. A man carries a watch to tell him the time; not as an investment of surplus capital. The same principle when one is ill. We want the medicine of the treatment which will relieve and cure. The friend in need must be a friend indeed—something or somebody, with a reputation, with a good record, with a history that justifies our confidence. There should be no guesswork in treating diseases. People have the right to know what a medicine is, and what it will do, before they take it. It must have behind it an open record of benefit to others for the same disease, a series of cures that proves its merit and inspires confidence. It is because it has such a record that is bought and used without hesitation or doubt. Its Good Name is the solid basis for the faith the people have in it; and a good name has to be earned by good deeds. For the purpose for which it is commended it is honest, true and practical. It does what you have a right to expect it to do. It is palatable as honey and contains all the curative properties of pure Cod Liver Oil, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hyphophosplites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. In Scrofula, Anaemia, Nervous and General Debility, Influenza, Blood Impurities and Wasting Complaints, it is to be thoroughly relied upon. Dr. J. B. O. says: "I have had remarkable success with it in the treatment of Consumption, Chronic Bronchitis, Catarrh and Scrofulous affections. It is of special value in nervous prostration and depraved nutrition; it stimulates the appetite and the digestion, promotes assimilation, and enters directly into the circulation with the food. I consider it a marvellous success in medicine." Every dose effective. "You cannot be disappointed in it." All chemists. Warne Drug Co.

FERROL TASTELESS

FARMERS PAY UP

Very Little Money for Seed Grain Distributed by Dominion Government Remains Unpaid.

Edmonton, Alberta, Dec. 30. — For the purpose of completing arrangements for the paying over of money due from the provincial Government to the Dominion for the distribution of seed grain among settlers in the province two years ago, R. E. A. charge of the distribution, who was in charge of the distribution, interviewed Premier Rutherford, and Hon. Duncan Marshall yesterday. The Alberta Government guaranteed payment to the Dominion government of about $119,000 for seed grain distributed to farmers living on patented lands in Alberta.

Promissory notes due last March were given to the Government by various farmers who received the grain. A great many of these were paid last year, but extensions of time were granted on some, and these are falling due now. The majority of the money has been paid into the Provincial Treasury and there is but a small portion of the original amount now outstanding.

VOTE FOR MORROW CHRISTMAS PARTY

St. John's Teachers and Scholars Hold Final Rehearsal.

The final rehearsal for St. John's Teachers' and Scholars' Sunday School Christmas party took place this afternoon at 2 p.m. The scholars are asked to assemble at 7.30, and the Teachers at 7.15 in order to welcome their class members. A number of the children from the Barnardo Home have been invited and will give a number on the programme. A fairyland stage has been erected, and the party will have a right good time. The annual Sunday School concert is on Tuesday next.

BULLDOG SHOOK GIRL LIKE A RAT

Detroit, Mich., December 30.—A monster bulldog made a ferocious attack upon Beulah Jarvis, a 12-year-old Corunna girl, because the child tried to protect her small pet terrier. The bulldog turned on the girl and sank his fangs in her throat, at the same time throwing her to the ground Before help arrived the girl was terribly bitten, but the wounds are not necessarily fatal.

When the girl's father arrived on the scene, the bulldog had the girl literally in his mouth and was shaking her like a rat. The animal had to be shot before he released his grip.

THE SCHOOL BOARD

Peterborough, Dec. 30, '09.

To the Ratepayers of the City of Peterborough:—

Having been interviewed, relative to my platform on educational matters, I cheerfully give for publicity my views as follows:

1. Efficiency in the teaching staff. This not only refers to the qualifications, as to the teacher's ability to impart knowledge, but also embraces the teacher's ability and desire to create a higher moral sentiment both in and out of school hours, amongst pupils.

2. To establish modern school buildings where necessary.

3. To include on the staff a lady doctor or trained nurse to give special attention to the health of the pupils.

4. To give preference to teachers who are citizens of Peterborough, where qualifications are equal.

5. To establish night school for domestic and manual training classes during fall and winter terms, open to those who cannot attend day school.

To build a vault in the new Collegiate Institute where the books, documents, etc., of the School Board may be deposited. To have the Secretary's office maintained at the expense of the ratepayers, and not by a private company. That an office for the secretary be furnished in the Board Room, such meetings to be open to the public in reality.

For several reasons it will not be my privilege to make a personal canvass, but I am confident of a liberal enough support to place me for another term on the School Board. During the last two years I have taken an independent stand on all matters of importance, and if re-elected will endeavour to make a more progressive policy. I am not actively endorsed by any member of the School Board, therefore am absolutely independent on all questions arising at the Board meetings.

Thanking you in advance for your support, I remain,

Yours truly,
W. H. NELSON.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding, or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refuded. 50c.

An Invitation

We cordially invite everyone interested in something for New Year's to visit our store and note the fine lines, perfect quality and moderate prices here shown. Nothing more appropriate than some of the following suggestions for New Year Gifts:—

Gentleman's Gold Watches
Ladies' Gold Watches
Diamond Rings
Pearl Rings, lots of designs
Gold Cuff Links, 14 karat
Gold Lockets
Signet Rings Gentleman's
Pearl Brooches, nice pattern
1847 Rogers Cutlery. Special Prices.

NO TROUBLE TO SHOW YOU GOODS. Call and Inspect Them.

WARNE'S

345 George St. 'Phone 57.

Anyone Overlooked?

CHANCES STILL GOOD at the

PETERBOROUGH BOOKSTORE

As you have helped us to roll up such a great sales-record at Christmas, we will devote the balance of the year to surprising offerings and still greater sacrifices on all lines in the store prices to make lookers quick buyers.

NEW YEAR'S PRESENTS

The display of Gift Goods for New Year's presents affords abundant chances for good selections o high-art articles in many popular lines, such as:—

Books	Purses
Bibles	Leather Goods
Poets	Toilet Sets
Gift Books	Art Goods
Stationery	Toys and Dolls
Cut Glass	Sleighs
Ebony Brushes	Games, etc.

Friends who have been unintentionally overlooked can still be remembered.

A. H. STRATTON & CO.

PETERBOROUGH BOOKSTORE

417 George Street - Peterborough

Y. M. C. A. CIRCUS

To-morrow night the fun at the Y. M. C. A. circus will begin, the men taking part in the circus are showing up for practice regularly, and tonight they are to have a dress rehearsal. Those who have been there to see them practise say that they are all right.

Their comedy acts are the best ever and they can almost make a horse laugh.

The return of Peary and Cook—first aid to the injured—comical gyrations—Guess? These are all comical enough to make anyone laugh.

Class work such as drills, apparatus work, pyramids and all sorts of gymnastic cleverness.

Hand balancing and acrobatic performances that would make the professional man sit up and take notice. This act is executed by the Mack Bros., who are new to Peterborough, and yet they are well known to the citizens of the town.

The Y. M. C. A. gymnasium is being fitted up to be like a circus ring, everything is decorated to make one believe that he or she is at Ringling Bros.' circus, but you are not, you are at the Y. M. C. A. and you will not see the Ringling Bros.' circus but you will see some things that are equal and some things that will make you laugh just as hard and just as long as you would if you were at this big affair.

There is a fancy roller skater who is the best that you will see in a good long time. They have got a whole lot more and if you want to enjoy a good evening, why, I would advise you to buy your ticket at the office of the Y. M. C. A. or else at the door Friday or Saturday night at 8 o'clock. Show starts at 8:15 p. m.

Kidney and Liver Medicated Pads

Cure all Kidney and Urinary Weakness, Pains in back, Lumbago, Rheumatic, Neuralgia. All Liver and Stomach complaints. All Female weakness, painful and irregular periods. Men, Women and Children are benefitted alike.

Price one pair, one dollar. But to quickly introduce will mail with first order One Pair Free—that is two pairs on receipt of this advertisement and one dollar. Order to-day this cheap and reliable treatment.

Address—THE MEDICATED PAD COMPANY
10 VICTORIA AVE., WINDSOR, ONT., CANADA

VOTE FOR MORROW

More Wonderful Values

In Goods suitable for New Year's Remembrances, at

HALL'S WONDERFUL FIRE SALE

Holiday Selling still at flood-tide, and what's more important, hundreds of opportunities for genuine economy in the Buying of Useful Gifts, such as the following:

Neckwear	Tailored Coats	Hand Bags	Lace Curtains	Centre Pieces
Gloves	Silk Waists	Opera Bags	Portieres	Doylies
Hosiery	Fancy Belts	Opera Scarfs	Bed Spreads	Napkins
Corsets	Parasols	Frilling in Boxes	Comforters	Trays
Underwear	Umbrellas	Fancy Work Bags	Blankets	Shams
Handkerchiefs	Mufflers	Ribbons	Rugs	Table Cloths
Underskirts	Wool Gloves	Fancy Hose	Mats	Veilings

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED :: 353-355 357 GEORGE STREET

Yours for Prosperity in 1910
STORE OPEN TO-NIGHT
Cressman's

ANOTHER LETTER FROM MR. LASTAR

This letter and any others that may follow, under the signature of Mr. Lastar, are indepenedent of any other party or parties, and are paid for by him for their insertion.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—This is my last letter that I am giving in this local option campaign, and I hope that my letters will bring the result that I have expected, and that I have not made any mistake in the intelligence and the good sense of the majority of the population of Peterborough. I can conscientiously say that I have not expected to get any money nor have I been getting any money for my work. It cost me money, time, and a lot of sleepless nights, and on the top of it I have had, in the first part of the campaign, a lot of abuse from parties who differed from me in my views, but I am more than gratified at the way some ardent supporters for local option before, are now encouraging me to finish my work, and have congratulated me on the stand I have taken, and have freely donated some money to cover the expense of these letters. I have received letters of encouragement from private citizens, from clergymen and officers in high standing of the city and all are agreeing with my views, and they all think now that the drink question can only be successfully regulated by educating the people in straightforward ways. I have proved in my letters that the men who are leading the work of the local option campaign are not altogether responsible men, and are even taking a dangerous attitude towards taking from their fellow man his freedom, men that do not apparently care for the welfare of our city, men who make an expenditure to the city of thousands of dollars that the ratepayers have to pay for their wrong doings in connection with the perjury charges on innocent men, men who did not abstain from taking the sole supporters of their families, and were ready to put innocent men years in prison and leave their wives and children to the mercy of our public. Think that they went so far that no honest man would ever dare to go as to try to influence even the judge who holds the most responsible and respected position in our community to induce him to use his judgment against a man who was afterwards acquitted. Surely you cannot follow in the steps of such men, and believe them that local option will be a benefit to Peterborough. That was not enough. They have brought you here men from all over who do not know you, nor care for you as long as they got their pay, and told you that you are drunkards, that the majority of you are criminals if you do not support their cause, that you and your children are lost to the devil if you would not listen to them, and compared you to the most meanest niggers of this earth, where local option is necessary. Just think, strangers come to your city and abusing and insulting you in such a way. Surely we are not that kind of bad people that we should take all this abuse, and why did we have to take all this abuse? Because a few fanatical moral reformers want us to do just as they like. Well, citizens, it is up to you to say by passing local option you will acknowledge that they were right in abusing us, that we are really so bad, or to vote it down, and show that we are respectable and we can manage ourselves without the necessity of bringing in local option here. Now, let us see. They are making such a noise about our drunkards. How many have we here in town any way? Let us say we have here a hundred drunkards—if there be so many. Surely they must be noticed very much on the streets, such a number. Still, you see only one occasionally. Out of those hundred drunkards who are affected by the open bar, sixty-four are on the black list, so they cannot be affected any more by the open bar. They have to get it on the sly if they want a drink, so if local option will pass those thirty-six men will be able to get liquor at the blind pigs any how; because that's what all the speakers from the late meetings have accomplished that liquor is sold to a certain number in all local option places. Then, on the other hand, if we should work properly as the T. A. S. has done, that the ministers should try to use their influence with those drunkards. Surely seventeen ministers will be able to reform 20 of them, so it will only leave sixteen men unmanageable.

Surely that our authorities could manage those sixteen men.

Now, let us see the other side.

If you close the hotels for the sake of these sixteen men you have here, we were told by many speakers that we only have five thousand dollars a year from the hotels. Let us see what we have in reality. That is what I want to impress upon the minds of all the ratepayers and working men. We have here nineteen hotels, one brewery and four retail and one wholesale liquor store, and they contribute to the city nineteen thousand, one hundred and eight dollars and forty cents in taxes and license fees. They employ 230 persons and 280 women and children are dependent upon them. They pay out $142,032 in salaries. These properties and business are taxed for a value of $343,388; so, take, if those businesses will be closed, the taxes will fall on the other properties of the town. And who will have to pay the taxes? Those moral reformers? Not a bit of it. The majority of them do not bring in five cents to the community. Who will have to pay it all? It is you, citizens, big and small property owners, and the more property one has the more he will have to pay. I want you to see and consider those facts. Those are not bluff. I'm not blindfolding you. Well, some of you will say we will gladly pay a little more as long as we can save our children from the drinking devil, as you were told and were put in your minds. Let me tell you, think everyone, especially those who think so, are you, yourself, fit for the devil? Are you lost to them? Surely not, some of you will have the imagination, but I know you. You are not. You are far away from being lost drunkards, or being criminals. It is only your minds were disturbed by those moral reformers, and therefore, some of you may think so by supporting local option you will save your children, you cannot save yourself. But if you think properly that your fathers were more tempted and had more to contend with all kinds of taverns in their times, and they were able to bring you up as honest men and women, as we are here in Peterborough. Surely by this improved times, where the laws are more strict and young men are more guarded and taken care of than at any time in the last century, surely we are not in danger that our children will be drunkards or criminals. So take those fears out of your heads. So the only result you will have by passing local option here is paying taxes, no benefit to yourself nor to your children, but you will tempt many of your fellow citizens to the temptation of breaking the law. You will help them to make themselves perjurers, you will encourage your sons and daughters to come together in secret places for immoral purposes, you will indirectly help some of your wives to incriminate themselves against you when they will sell liquor to all kinds of men on the quiet, and above all, you will take away the opportunity of 230 men and women from making an honest living. And what will they have to do but go and look for other jobs, the jobs that you are working at, and you will indirectly help to take your own jobs away from you in some instances. Where you are getting now good pay you are in danger then that others who are not skilled men in their work will do the work for half of the price what you are getting now, because they will be forced to get something to get a living, or do you like to see, again, men standing on the corners, looking for work, as we had two years ago. These are facts that every voter has to think of before he makes up his mind to vote for local option. This is not only my opinion, but the opinion of prominent men of the city, even as our present mayor, who knows you and the city best. If you only think right and leave all the influence of your moral reformers to one side, and consider both ways in their real light you cannot come to any other conclusion that local option to pass in Peterborough, at the present time would be not only beneficial, but a crime.

And now I wish you all a Happy New Year.

Yours truly,
B. LASTAR.

CURE FOR WHOOPING COUGH

Mrs. William Ball, Bracebridge, Ont. writes: "My three boys had whooping cough and we could get nothing to help them until we used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It arrested the coughs at once and they kept on improving until they were cured at the cost of one dollar. This was not a large bill for so dangerous and distressing an ailment."

NON-COMS. ARE TO HOLD RECEPTION

The Non-Coms. will hold a reception in their mess rooms in the armouries on New Year's Day from 2 to 5 o'clock. By permission of Lt.-Col. Stevenson they will wear their uniforms. Coffee and cake will be served. The Non-Coms. will bring their lady friends with them.

Vote for Morrow

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

To the many who find Verdi's "Il Trovatore" their favourite opera, and to whom the plaintive notes of the "Miserere" often recur linked with saddest and sweetest memories, the following anecdote of Verdi, as related by The Youth's Companion, will be of unusual interest:

On one occasion when Verdi was engaged on his well known opera, "Il Trovatore," he stopped short at the passage of the "Miserere," being at a loss to combine notes of sufficient sadness and pathos to express the grief of the prisoner, Manrico.

Sitting at his piano in the deep stilness of the winter night, his imaginaton wandered back to the stormy days of his youth, endeavouring to extract from the past a plaint, a groan, like those which escaped from his breast when he saw himself forsaken by the world. All in vain!

One day, at Milan, he was unexpectedly called to the bedside of a dying friend, one of the few who had remained faithful to him in adversity and prosperity. Verdi, at the sight of his dying friend, felt a lump rise in hs throat; he wanted to weep, but so ntense was his grief that not a tear flowed to the relief of his anguish.

In an adjoining room stood a piano. Verdi, under one of those sudden impulses to which men of genius are sometimes subject, sat down at the instrument, and there and then improvised the sublime "Miserere" of the "Trovatore." The musician had given utterance to his grief.

Edgar Atchison Ely.

Edgar Atchison Ely, who played the role of Billy in the delightful farce by the same name, has long been identified with musical comedy. The part he s now playing is the first he has ever had aside from musical productions ,and his success has been so pronounced that it is doubtful whether Mr. Ely will ever be seen again in any other than "straight" parts. He is widely remembered for his clever work in the "Mocking Bird" and "The Dairy Maids."

Mr. Ely points with pride to the fact that the town of Ely, Nev., is named for his family. His father was one of the Forty-niners and played an important part in the organization of this Nevada mining town, as he was also prominent in the pioneer days of the great West. The elder Ely was intimately associated with such men as Flood, Mackay and Stanford—names which meant a great deal to the history-making epoch of the Far West and without whom much of the great mining wealth of that wonderful country would not have been revealed until years later. It was not until after the death of his father that the younger Ely decided to adopt the stage as a profession, and his success has been such as to cause him no regret for his decision.

Vote for Morrow

GENERALLY SPEAKING

New Year's Day.

New Year's Day is again at hand, and ere a fresh issue of this paper sees the light we shall have passed another mile stone on life's lengthening pilgrimage. At such a time it is surely impossible, even for the most heedless, not to be filled with thoughts of the days that are passed, coupled with hopeful anticipations of the days that are, to come. For the young there is of course no retrospection—their budding reason can only grasp the joys of the present with no conception whatever of the trials and perils of the future. But the frolic and fun of childhood must some day give place to the stern task of the grown pilgrim and there are few amongst us who, if we look the matter squarely in the face, cannot see that we owe it to our own manhood that we shall live a life that those who come after us may take as a beacon light for their own guidance. It is a very foolish saying that proclaims that the world owes nothing to posterity. We owe posterity everything. In manners, in morals, in all material things we are simply the stewards for those who come after us and our chief duty lies in clearing away the stumbling blocks and bridging the pitfalls with which the highways of existence are covered. This is one thought for New Year's Day, but there is another. Christmastide is essentially the season for family reunion, but New Year's Day embraces the whole world in the sentiments of fellowship which it engenders. It is the time for the patching up of petty enmities and the dissipation of local embroilments. On this day we should be all friends. Even the peripatetic swill barrel staggering along the street feels this to some extent, as he offers the glad hand of fellowship to the passer-by. However obfuscated his mental faculties may be his heart is still capable of appreciating the ties of common brotherhood. We can remember this in the election that is so soon to come upon us, and enter the lists with feelings of enmity towards none, but animated simply by a sincere desire to do our duty in the way that we think is best for the good of the community in which we live.

Poetry Preverted.

An irate citizen a few days ago stopped a gentleman on the street, and fiercely accused him of having said things detrimental to his reputation for veracity: "My dear sir," replied the accused affably: "I assure you you are misinformed. I say nothing against anybody. I always, whenever I feel like saying a word of harm of anyone call to mind those beautiful words of Cowper:

"I would not enter on my list of friends, (Though graced with polished manners and fine sense,
Yet wanting sensibility) the man
Who needlessly sets foot upon a worm"

The English Elections.

Politics are as interesting in Englang as the most ardent party fighter could wish at the present time. Lord Rosebery was not so very far astray when he looked upon the present trend of politics as tending to revolution. For there is more in the agitation for the Budget than the gaining of a triumph over the Lords. So surely as the Liberals defeat the Unionists at the polls, not only will the Upper Chamber be reformed in a way to subserve the best interests of the people, but the disestablishment of the English church will follow in pretty rapid sequence. There are many within the pale of that church who think it would be a good thing were such a thing to happen as it would rouse her from the lethargy into which they contend that she has fallen. Apart from that consideration is the question of a just application of the state funds by distribution amongst the large and recognized bodies of dissent. This cannot be entered on here, but it will be very much in the forefront if the Liberals win the day at the elections.

Vote for Morrow

NOMINATIONS WERE WARM IN HAVELOCK

Reeve Knox Will be Contested for the Position He Has Held.

The nomination meeting in the town hall on Monday night was the liveliest we have witnessed in years, and several times it looked as if the constable would have to be called in to preserve peace and order. The excitement commenced when S. S. Joyce was making his address. Councillor Geo. Phillips resented some of Mr. Joyce's statements to such an extent that he had to be forcibly restrained from venting his physical prowess on that gentleman. Mr. Joyce, Reeve Knox, and Mr. Phillips a few minutes afterward, almost came to blows over the same subject, and throughout the proceedings frequent warm passages ensued between the speakers and others who disagreed with them.—Havelock Standard.

Vote for Morrow

CHARGE WAS DISMISSED

(Continued from Page 7.)

up and demanded an answer for his questions. Mr. Keith said that Lastar had sent questions to be answered at a previous meeting. Mr. Lastar was the only one who sent in questions.

Mr. Wm. Yelland was at the meeting. He heard an interruption. Mr. Webb got up at the conclusion of the address, and started to speak and Mr. Lastar rose at the same time. Mr. Webb claimed the floor.

Rev. Mr. Webb made a statement before giving any evidence, to the effect that the Local Option and Moral Reform League had nothing to do in bringing Mr. Lastar to court. He swore that he was speaking before Mr. Lastar was on the night of the meeting, and he asked him to sit down. The people were getting up and there was quite a commotion.

A FRIEND TO WOMEN

What most women require to make them strong and healthy, and to restore good complexion and a well rounded form is more blood, more, rich, red blood, such as is added to the system by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Headache, indigestion and the weaknesses and irregularities which accompany exhausted nerves soon disappear when this great restorative treatment is used.

SHOULD PASS THE BY-LAW

(Continued from Page 7.)

people to guarantee them the right to use the streets for a period of thirty years, so that their policy may be settled for that period of time, and that the Light and Power Company may carry on the business independently of the business of the Quaker Oats Company. This can be done by putting the Light and Power Co. in a position to float their own bonds, without making it necessary for the Quaker Oats Company to guarantee them or to under-write them. That is all they ask, and to obtain this privilege they are granting a great number of concessions and are willing to grant them and to live up to them.

A great deal more may be said on this subject, but in order to put it properly before the minds of some people, who do not thoroughly understand the question, this letter is written, feeling that it may aid them to decide.

W. H. DENHAM.

ELECT
MASON
For Mayor

W. S. ROBINSON,
Former Member of the School Board, Who is again a Candidate.

BLAZE AT GALT

Former Peterborough Resident Suffers Loss by Fire.

Galt, Ont., Decemebr 29.—The year's good fire record for Galt, shown in a loss of but a few hundred dollars, was offset at 3 o'clock this morning when fire destroyed the Austin Book Store, Main street, entailing a loss of probably $10,000. The owner is C. Austin and the store was under the management of E. Westcott, late of Peterborough. Thomas Buchanan owns the Building ,and has already sent a handsome check to the fire chief in recognition of the work of the brigade.

The insurance on the stock was $6,500. The loss on the building of $1500, was covered by insurance.

[Mr. Westcott managed Mr. Cubitt's stationery store a number of years ago.]

BAND

Band at Street Railway Rink to-morrow, New Year's afternoon. 1-3

"PRINCE CHAP"

What the London papers say of "The Prince Chap." This attraction comes to the "Grand" next Thursday.

"The Prince Chap" pleased two capacity audiences at the Grand Christmas Day. It is a charming play, full of human elements, and daintily written. The theme is especially effective during the Yuletide, as it deals with the Christmas spirit, and the principal characters are played by two little girls.

The story concerns the kindly act of Willian Peyton (Allan Dinehart), a struggling American sculptor, who has gone abroad to seek fame and fortune, leaving the "only girl" with loving promises in New York. His promise to a dying artist's model to care for and rear her little girl, and how he faithfully carries out his promise, despite his own poverty, forms the nucleus of the story that is interestingly unfolded by a capable company.

Beryl and Helen Pullman, two sweet little girls, carry the part of "Claudia", the child reared by "The Prince Chap," from the age of five to eight.

Miss Elvia Bates continues the role at the age of 18. It was a treat to watch and listen to Helen and Beryl who gave a splendid finished and winning performance. Miss Bates continues the role originated by the little one in such a maner that the dainty sweetness of the child was carried to the matured woman.

Charles W. Johnson as the "Earl of Huntingdon, contributed success to the play by a clever rendition of a difficult part, while Bert Walter as "Marcus Runion"-furnished the male comedy.

Evelyn Ferguson as a maid of all work kept the audience in good humour, while Mabel Archer did effective work in a thankless part. Allen Dinehart as "The Prince Chap," was good.

REEVE BREAULT BY ACCLAMATION

Will Again Preside Over Norwood Village Council.

Reeve Breault, of Norwood,the Council and Trustees were elected by acclamation on Monday last.

At the close of the formal proceedings Reeve Breault was called to the platform. He thanked the electors for the honour they had done him in re-electing him by acclamation. This was the fifth time that he had been returned without a break. He compared the expenditure on the streets for several years past to show that the ratepayers in passing the by-law to provide for the construction of cement walks had acted wisely. Had this not been done the rate of taxation to-day would have been much higher than it is. Naturally, the question might be asked, if the expenditure on the streets is less how is it that the rate this year is twenty-five mills?. He explained this by saying that they had a deficit from the previous year to provide for besides a number of accounts belonging to the year before. The school rates were also higher.—Norwood Register.

WAS DECLARED DEAD PROVES SHE IS ALIVE

Girl Disappeared Eleven Years Ago and Was Declared Legally Dead

St. Louis, December 29. — Miss Nellie Burns, who has been lost to foster-mother for eleven years, and who had been declared legally dead by the Circuit Court, proved that she is alive and well in St. Louis.

She made affidavit that she is not dead and never has been dead, and her sworn statement to that effect will be used to reinstate her to her former legal status as a living person.

Miss Burns is now nineteen years old. Until recently it was believed that she died when she was eight years old, and that statement was made the basis for a lawsuit to recover insurance on her life.

Miss Annie Bossee of Mr. 4218 Lucky st., was the ebneficiary in this policy for $500 and she sued the Prudential Insurance Co. for it, obtained a judgment, and she insurance company took an appeal.

A person whose name is not made public ,telephoned to the insurance company's attorneys that Miss Burns is alive, and sh ewas found employed in a downtown department store. When she made her affidavit, a man said to e her father accompanied her.

After she left the lawyer's offices it was said that she had never been kidnapped and that she has been living with her father since her disappearance eleven years ago.

POST CARD COLUMN

Editor Post Card Column:

With reference to the charge laid against me for disturbing the meetings at the Opera House, the case was dismissed on their own evidence. To prove to the people of Peterborough that these moral reformers had been blindfolding the people, whether intentionally or not, I was ready to produce all kinds of evidence to show the people by subpoenaing the leaders of the campaign and not only by the way the Magistrate took of not hearing my evidence he saved them from bringing the whole affair before the public, where I could have shown that they have been bluffing and making incorrect statements, which they could not stand by. They offered to answer my questions, and then when asked, made all kinds of excuses, and tried so avoid any discussion before the public. But to serve their own purpose and did things in their own way. Now the magistrate himself stated on their own evidence that it was the wrong thing for them to do, and that I had the fullest right as a British subject in a free country to ask any honest questions. That it was their duty to help their cause to answer them, and that they had injured their own cause by not answering them.

Now, citizens of Peterborough, see for yourself what the magistrate says, whatever his views in this local option campaign might be. That they had no right to expel me from their meeting, and by so doing they had proved that they could not uphold their cause before the public. I therefore say, every voter, before you vote, bear this in mind, that your own mayor and the most influential people of the city, and the magistrate of the city, say that the way this local option campaign has been carried on is not altogether right under British law. I therefore say, with all due respect to the clergymen, that some of the moral reform workers ought to be ashamed to use such ways and means to induce people to come to their views in this case. Ways that are not lawful in this country. Again wishing you a happy New Year, I remain,

Yours truly,
B. LASTAR.

The T. A. S. will hold an "At Home" on Tuesday, January 4th, 1910. The programme will commence at 8.15 o'clock. 3-15

A New Year Wish

At the close of this memorable, and, to us, successful year, we take pleasure in wishing one and all, whether in cottage or mansion, A Happy and Prosperous New Year.

W. E. LECH
Furrier, with Tiger Marble Floor
366 George Street

THE BEEHIVE
The LADIES' BIG READY-TO-WEAR STORE

New Departments Installed

Our new elevator enables us to carry out plans that we have had in view for some time. Beginning with next week, Monday, Jan. 3rd we will open a

Half Price Department

To this department we will devote a whole flat over one store, and it will have its own special buyer. It frequently happens that manufacturers who have to make up goods in very large lots, find that their orders do not cover their whole output and as they do not like accumulation of goods they are glad to clear them out for cash. We have the money for them and in the HALF PRICE DEPARTMENT we will pass over the whole benefit to our customers

THE HALF PRICE DEPARTMENT WILL BE OPEN ALL WEEK AND NOT FOR ONE DAY ONLY : : : : : : : :

These are some of the tempting lines to be found in the HALF PRICE DEPARTMENT nextweek beginning Monday, Jan. 3rd.

This fine White Waist, embroidered sleeves, back and front. $12

We will place on sale a very fine White Organdie Lawn Waist daintily embroidered, worth twice the money, for 75c

Ladies' and Children's warm Ringwood Gloves, regular 25c, 2 pairs for 25c

Black Satanna Underskirts, trimmed with large fulness and frill, good quality of sateen 50c

Black Satanna Underskirt, trimmed with large fulness, knife pleated frill and dust frill, next week for 60¼

Large Purses with hand strap on the back, regular 75c, for 25c

Our Free Art Classes begin on Monday, Jan. 31st., and continue for two weeks. Register early, no charge.

THE BEEHIVE

GRAND OPERA HOUSE
THURSDAY, January 6th
"RING OUT THE OLD, RING IN THE NEW"
JOYOUS NEW YEAR —THURSDAY, JANUARY 6th— COME AND BE HAPPY
THE CLIMAX OF HOLIDAY MERRIMENT! Charles Emerson Cook Theatrical Co. (Inc.) presents FIRST TIME HERE, the delightful comedy of London life
"THE PRINCE CHAP"
with a brilliant Company, including the FAMOUS PULLMAN CHILDREN (Helen and Beryl), in their original parts, as played triumphantly one year at the CRITERION THEATRE, LONDON, ENGLAND.
Prices 25c, 35c, 50c, 75c, and $1.00. Plan Opens Tuesday

COLDS

URED IN ONE DAY

anyon's Cold Remedy Relieves the d, throat and lungs almost immediate-Checks Fevers, stops Discharges of , takes away all aches and pains
ed by colds. It cures Grip and ob-ate Coughs and prevents Pneumonia.
e 25c.

ave you stiff or swollen joints, no mat-how chronic? Ask your druggist for nyon's Rheumatism Remedy and see w quickly you will be cured.

you have any kidney or bladder trouget Munyon's Kidney Remedy.

nyon's Vitalizer makes weak men and restores lost powers.

nti-Trust League

ted States Is to Have a Giant mbine of Citizens Who by Refus- g to Buy Trust Foods When the Prices Go Up, Will Restore Nor- mal Conditions—Proclamations Will Be Issued to Members.

ashington, Dec. 31.—Plans for a nal boycott of those combinations increase the cost of living were here last night when the Nation- Anti-Trust League was launched. embers of Congress are interested he new movement and immediate s will be taken toward perfecting e organizations.

gan, when the prices soar, the e members, by stopping the use uch articles or commodities as gone above the legal level, will them back again by refusing to sh a market.

e plan is one that was tried in any a few years ago and which, ding to a report, broke a com- in coffee that had raised the e of the bean to almost prohibi- prices.

ong the speakers last night were al members of the House of Re- tatives.

e matter was settled last night, ever. The women of the United s will be taken into membership equal terms with the men and equal voice in the campaign. women, being the housekeepers country, the pioneers of the plan ized at once that their assist- was vital to success.

e furnish the purses," said one e speakers, "but our wives and rs and mothers have the disburse- from them. We've got to have women with us."

ordingly, when Congress meets, league will work through its re- tatives and in some cases gh Senators, with a view to hav- them interest themselves in the mission of state branches.

ominal fee will be charged each ber, probably not exceeding 25c. ar, to cover the cost of mailing lamations against certain articles ood that have been pushed too In the market.

national charter will be also ht and the head offices likely will Washington.

lph Policyholders Saves $10,000.

elph, Dec. 31.—On account of splendid pressure now available fire protection purposes through new water works system, and the ablishment of a paid fire depart- , and taking into consideration stone building, wide streets and tionally clean record the city has ives, the Canadian underwriters decided to make a 10 per cent. tion in the present 30 cent rate, it's discount of 20 per cent. for nantile insurance in Guelph.

e representa- a saving to policy- ers affected of about $10,000 a which is more than it costs to ain the fire department.

Judgment Suspended.

awa, Dec. 31.—Chief Justice Fitz- ick, in the Supreme Court yester- granted a stay of execution of the ment disqualifying the members civic finance committee of Mont- who are appealing to the Privy ncil.

s allows the committee to con- to transact civic business.

Dissolve Live Stock Association.

nsas City, Dec. 31.—Judge L. C. of the district court, Kansas , yesterday declared the Live Stock Association dis- .

association operates at the Kan- stockyards. An appeal will

This is the trade-mark which is found on every bottle of the genuine

cott's Emulsion

standard Cod Liver Oil paration of the world. thing equals it to build up weak and wasted bodies young and old. All Druggists d the name of paper and this ad. for eautiful Savings Bank and Child's k. Each bank contains a d Luck Penny.

SCOTT & BOWNE
Wellington St., West, Toronto, Ont.

Anticipates 60 Majority

Liberals Are Discussing the Baden-Powell Movement and Calling It a Deep-Laid Scheme to Secure Conscription and the Enslavement of the Working Classes—Chamberlain Thinks 100.

London, Dec. 31.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The Canadian Associated Press is informed that Mr. Balfour is looking forward to a majority in the Commons of 60, while Mr. Chamberlain hopes for 100.

Sir Gilbert Parker, at Aylesbury, said that "since Canada gave us a preference England has doubled its shipping with her, and last year the English workmen got nine millions in wages out of the purchases of Canada."

Rt. Hon. C. E. H. Hobhouse, at East Bristol, said it was the experience of all nations that had tried protection that the consumer and not the foreigner had to pay the duty. The Liberal alternative was the budget. The Liberals hoped by the free trade policy to attract to the country as much capital as possible. When it was in full work they would take from it toll according to the wealth it produced, and the convenience it afforded to the public.

Sir W. Robson, at South Shields, said what the Government had done was before the country. They had attempted a good deal more than they had done. The failure of their attempts, however, was due to the power exerted by the hereditary chamber, which he hoped would receive a clipping at this election. The Tories said that if they taxed bread the foreigner would pay it. That was a serious charge, but he was going to suggest that the promise that the foreigner would pay their taxes was made by men who knew in substance that the inducement they were holding out to the British working class was false.

Contending that the enslavement of the English masses is the ultimate object of the Conservative party's militarist policy, Liberal campaigners are now making a vigorous attack on their opponents' conscription proposals in general, and upon the widespread "boy scout" craze in particular. The "boy scout" movement organized by Gen. Sir R. S. S. Baden-Powell, about eighteen months ago, has enjoyed immense popularity, a large share of the country's juvenile population having been enrolled in its ranks, uniformed and drilled regularly.

"Do not allow yourself to be mystified by the opposition to the budget engineered by wealthy manufacturers and land holders," warns one of the Liberal campaign proclamations. "The object of all this turmoil is industrial enslavement and its methods may be summed up in two words—conscription and protection.

"Conscription is to provide the force necessary to keep the workers under, and protection is to rifle their pockets when down. This is the inner meaning of the boy scout craze. It is designed to secure for the Tories, who are running it, the support and sympathy of the rising generation, and to inoculate our youth with the spirit of militarism and false patriotism.

"That is what lies behind Lord Roberts' rifle clubs and his scheme of a 'nation in arms.' That is the reason for all the Shoddy imperialism which forms the staple fare of the Primrose league and other high Tory organizations. This is the sole reason for the incoherent disingenuous vaporings about the budget."

No single issue can be said to dominate the campaign as yet. Joseph Chamberlain's manifesto is striking because it brushes aside the constitutional question as non-existent and concentrates on tariff reform. Here it is recognized that Chamberlain displays his old-time capacity for going to the root of things.

A year back tariff reform would have been the great issue of the result, judging by all the signs available, would not have been doubtful. The astute Ministers who produced the budget scotched fiscal change for a time. It now remains for the Unionists to follow the great leader and endeavor to again make every other issue of secondary importance.

Liberals laugh at Chamberlain's "attempt to revive the colonial aspect of tariff reform." They maintain that what was started as a great imperial movement has become purely a domestic campaign in favor of protection, and they demand particulars of the tariff reform scheme, which is to prevent the dukes paying out.

They also profess to be grateful to those peers who are defending the rejection of the budget for helping to keep the constitutional issue to the fore, and jestingly declare that the Government has postponed polling for two days to allow at least one more speech from Lord Curzon.

Mr. Balfour, speaking at Haddington yesterday, said the Unionist party were confident in their cause. It represented the maintenance of institutions which must be preserved, and stood for the security of enterprise and the maintenance of the fleet. While refusing to draw the colonies closer, the Government had re-introduced home rule, which would be utterly subversive to Britain's position among the nations of the world.

The Unionists also stood for fiscal reform. He would not say this whole difficulty of employment would be solved by tariff reform, but it would diminish the really serious part—the unemployment of competent workmen.

Death From Exposure.

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 31.—With the thermometer registering from zero to seven degrees below, western Pennsylvania last night was in the grip of a bitterly cold blizzard, accompanied by snow flurries and high winds.

The mountain districts reports deaths and suffering due to exposure. In Greater Pittsburg alone, several deaths have occurred.

Cold In Florida, Too.

Jacksonville, Dec. 31.—Florida experienced the coldest weather that has visited this section in several years, and freezing temperatures extended into the orange belt. It is believed, however, that the orange trees will not be damaged.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES

Fire did $75,000 damage at the Darshy Packing Plant, Buffalo.

The business section of Edinboro, Pa., was destroyed yesterday.

At Galveston, Texas, 2,300 bales of cotton were burned; loss $50,000.

Fifty thousand dollars' damage was done to the business centre of Cherry Creek, N.Y.

A slight earthquake shock was felt at Portland, Ore., at 4.23 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Charles C. Dickinson has resigned the presidency of the Carnegie Trust Co., New York, because of poor health.

An explosion in a 30,000 barrel oil storage tank at Williamsburg, N.Y., endangered the $20,000,000 plant of the Standard Oil Co.

Present indications in Alberta are against Hon. Mr. Cushing surrendering the Department of Government Telephones in favor of Hon. Mr. Buchanan.

A Vienna special says that twenty-three Croatian peasants, including seventeen young women, were drowned in a boating accident near Kartowitz, in Austria-Hungary on Christmas Day.

The St. John, N.B., Board of Trade has organized a strong advertising committee, on which are representatives of the daily papers, to plan a vigorous "booster" campaign for a "bigger, better and busier city."

Three deaths, due directly to the cold wave that held New York in its grasp, were reported yesterday. Two were unfortunately homeless men. They were found frozen, crouching in doorways where they had sought shelter from the icy blasts.

France Resents Reputation.

Paris, Dec. 31.—The Matin yesterday declares that the findings of the U. S. immigration commission, which placed France first among the nations as an exporter of so-called white slave recruits, constitutes a national disgrace, and appeals to the Government to commence immediately pour parlers with Washington for the effective suppression of the traffic.

The paper insists that France in reality is the most decent country on the globe, and one where home life and virtue are most beautifully exemplified; yet abroad, and especially in America, scandalous French literature is circulated and the extent of the monstrous white slave traffic has given her the reputation of being the centre of depravity.

Paris, The Matin says, is pictured as the modern Babylon, and adds: "The Government must intervene. It is a question of humanity and national honor."

Bryce on Christianity.

Rochester, N.Y., Dec. 31.—British Ambassador James Bryce was the chief speaker at the night session of the convention of the student's missionary volunteer meeting in Convention Hall. Bishop Hartzell of the Methodist Episcopal Church, whose field is in Africa, also spoke.

Ambassador Bryce characterized the present time as a critical and also auspicious one for Christianity. There had been such progress in recent years, he said, that to-day nine-tenths of the habitable earth was under the control of the so-called Christian powers, "and though vast multitudes remain non-Christian, there is scarcely a spot in which the influence of the white race is not felt, and in which the uncivilized and semi-civilized native peoples are not being penetrated by the ideas and habits of those more advanced nations."

Customs Officers to Weigh Coal.

Ottawa, Dec. 31.—An order has been issued by the Railway Commission amending that previously sent out respecting the weighing of coal at the frontier points of Ontario.

The dealers previously had to accept the shippers' weights, and there was much complaint of loss in transit.

It is now ordered that weighing at frontier points shall be done by officials of the customs department.

The order applies only to Ontario, as the application for it came from there alone.

Local dealers, however, purpose to move to make it apply to a point on the Quebec boundary, through which Ottawa's coal supply comes by rail.

Depression In Japan.

Tokio, Dec. 31.—The economic situation in Japan at present is not encouraging, and it's looked for revival has not arrived. As a result depression in manufacturing is great and agricultural section throughout the island is gloomy. This is primarily due to the low price of rice following a bountiful harvest.

The weaving industry is particularly hard hit by this depression, a limit to being put upon production by agreement among the weavers.

Recovers Her Kidnapped Child.

New York, Dec. 31.—Mrs. Elizabeth McClusky will not know her daughter when she sees her. Little Mary was kidnapped when three months old, and only last night, after sixteen months' search was found by the police living with strangers under a different name.

Dyson Murder Trial.

North Bay, Dec. 31.—Morin and Corish, held on a charge of murdering Telegraph Operator Dyson at Redwater, came up for preliminary trial before Magistrate Weegar yesterday morning. As the crown was not ready the prisoners were remanded until January 7.

Sentenced to the Mercer.

Belleville, Dec. 31.—Frances Bower stock of Tyendinaga, who was some time ago found guilty of concealment of birth, was sentenced to 18 months in the Mercer Reformatory. The case had many horrible features of family depravity.

$5,000 For Girl's Ransom.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 31.—A letter was received yesterday from some town in Ohio, promising the return of little Alma Keller to her parents on payment of $5,000 ransom. The girl disappeared Dec. 5.

Found Dead In Stable.

Belleville, Dec. 31.—John Nolan, a man 45 years of age, was found dead in the stable of the Stirling House at Stirling Village. An inquest will be opened to-day by Coroner Dr. Sinclair.

Commission Wins Out

Action to Prevent the F. H. McGuigan Company From Entering Private Property While Stringing Wires Is Thrown Out With Costs by Chief Justice Falconbridge—Obstructionists Curbed by Decision.

Toronto, Dec. 31.—The right of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission to enter upon private land for the stringing of power transmission wires was vindicated by the judgment handed down yesterday by Chief Justice Falconbridge. The decision arose out of the suit instituted by Mrs. Louisa Jane Walker of Gainsboro Township, Lincoln County, to restrain the F. H. McGuigan Construction Co. and the Ontario & Niagara Power Co. from sinking poles and stringing power wires across her land. The case was dismissed with costs against the plaintiff and the temporary injunction secured some time ago restraining the commission was dissolved.

The case was one which involved the honor of the Hydro-Electric Commission to have right of way over private lands for the erection of towers for their transmission lines, and has really been counted as a test case. John Moss, K.C., acting for the plaintiff, gave notice of appeal when the judgment was rendered, and although his lordship granted a stay to the Court of Appeal, he refused to let the injunction stand, saying:

"I do not think they ought to be tied up in this work any longer."

The action was to have been tried at Welland last August, but owing to illness of the chief justice, had been traversed until yesterday, to be heard in Toronto. The circumstances which led up to the action were as follows:

The effects of the judgment, as pointed out by Mr. Lobb, are not only upsetting the contention of the plaintiff, but that the contractors had been lawfully put in possession. Furthermore, it will curb the policy of the corporate interests, which has been to prevent the commission taking an easement only.

"They urged," said Mr. Lobb, "that the commission be compelled to become owners of the right of way, of course, at a much greater cost, and it the right of way cost more the price for power would be so much greater.

It was also pointed out that, unlike any corporate body with right of way privileges through legislation the Hydro-Electric Commission did not attempt to ride over the farmers by an immediate enforcement of their rights, but waited for the action to be brought forward by the plaintiff.

The Dog Had Rabies.

Galt, Dec. 31.—The authorities have received a telegram from Dr. J. G. Rutherford, veterinary inspector-general for Ottawa, stating that rabbits which had been inoculated from the head of the dog which ran amuck in Galt, biting several persons, two weeks ago, had died of rabies.

This justifies the steps taken by the town for the treatment of those bitten. So far as those under treatment in New York are concerned, danger is now over, but there is serious danger that some dogs bitten, may yet develop this disease. To avoid the chance of this, Mayor Patterson has given instruction to shoot on sight any dog found running at large without a muzzle.

Prof. Fernow at Washington.

Washington, Dec. 31.—Professors of forestry, representing practically all the forestry schools in the United States, met here yesterday with Gifford Pinchot, chief forester, for a discussion of plans to further education along forestry lines.

The speakers yesterday were Dr. Bernard E. Fernow of the University of Toronto; Prof. Henry S. Graves of Yale; Dr. Filibert Roth of the University of Michigan, and Dr. Richard T. Fisher of Harvard.

Railways Oppose Carnival.

Montreal, Dec. 31.—At a conference yesterday between the winter carnival committee and the railway companies, it was pointed out by the latter that at the present, when all kinds of arguments are being put forth against American immigration to Canada, it was most unwise that a carnival of ice and snow should be held. The carnival people declare, however, that they are going to invite tenders for the building of the ice palace.

Ex-Banker Sentenced.

Canton, Ohio, Dec. 31.—Wm. L. Davis, former vice-president of the Canton State Bank, was sentenced yesterday to five years in the penitentiary.

After the failure of the state bank, Davis was convicted of abstracting 350 shares of the bank stock of the institution. He is 60 years old.

Famous "Cow Girl" Killed.

Inca City, Okla., Dec. 31.—Mrs. E. J. Milhan, known throughout the country in wild west shows as the "Cow Girl," died here yesterday from injuries received late Wednesday.

She was riding for a moving picture concern when her horse fell upon her. Mrs. Milhan lived in New York and was 28 years old.

To Tender for Quebec Bridge.

Ottawa, Dec. 31.—Three English four United States and two Canadian bridge-building companies, all of them doing business on an extensive scale, have made enquiries with a view of tendering on the Quebec bridge.

Loading Grain Cars.

Ottawa, Dec. 31.—The Government has secured full information respecting the physical conditions of branch lines of railways in the lower provinces, proposed to be leased as feeders to the Intercolonial, and the commission of management will consider the matter early in the year.

If any lines are leased it will be only those in fairly good condition, and likely to be productive. The act of this session makes that stipulation.

Considerable pressure is being exercised for taking over certain of the lines where the service is most complained of.

WOULD IMPORT WIVES.

B.C. Hindus Believe They Can Bring In Their Better Halves.

Vancouver, B.C., Dec. 31.—The Hindoo menace in British Columbia grows doubly serious by the disclosure of a meeting of Sikhs at their temple yesterday morning. In the usual way one of the members of the sect mentioned a fact to a reporter which will startle the British Foreign Office, as well as that of the United States.

It is that Hindus have made arrangements to bring women folk to this continent, no matter what Indian and British authorities say. They have taken legal advice on the subject and decided that they cannot be stopped.

Tetja Singh, who was one of the leaders of the Indians at the time of the last trouble, is now in London, and it is reported that a cable was received from him to the effect that advice he had taken from high legal authorities showed that the bringing of women was legal, and that action would be taken in accordance.

A priest is said to have left on the steamer Monteagle to gather up the wives of men now here, and a choice of women for those who desire them.

Yesterday morning every sawmill that employed Hindus was practically idle and there must have been 600 turbaned followers of Guru Nanak at the meeting.

Death of Earl Percy.

Paris, Dec. 31.—Earl Percy (Henry Algernon George) of London, a member of the British Parliament, and formerly British Under Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, died here yesterday from acute pleurisy.

Death occurred at a second-class hotel situated opposite the railway station and the fact that the Earl had occupied these humble lodgings, created the impression that there was something mysterious in connection with his illness.

It was rumored that he had been shot while engaged in a duel outside of Paris a few days ago.

These stories were emphatically denied yesterday by the attending physician and by the British embassy.

The demise of Earl Percy leaves the Conservatives without a candidate for South Kensington, which he had represented since 1890.

His election address was in the hands of a printer and the earl had planned to open the campaign in his district next week.

Striking Miners Punished.

Sydney, N.S.W., Dec. 31.—Fourteen men, delegates of the board of the Miners' Federation, have been sentenced to pay $300 each, or undergo two months' imprisonment, for inciting coal miners to strike.

It is eight weeks since the men struck, and the struggle continues with disastrous results. Three hundred steamships are idle.

Gas at one time gave out in a large section of the city. Only the timely return of western miners saved Sydney from utter darkness.

The sentence just passed are among the first under the new law, making strike leaders and employers who instigate or aid a strike or lockout liable to one year's imprisonment.

VTOE FOR MORROW

Mixed Up in Divorce Case Now.

Detroit, Dec. 31.—Peter Shea, who shot a man who dogged him over to the Windsor rink for the purpose of picking a quarrel with him, and who was acquitted, is named in the suit brought by Harry H. Lamkin of Detroit against his wife, Irene, for divorce.

The testimony of John Harmon, governor of the Sandwich Jail, was taken by a commission, and he declared a photo shown him to be that of the woman who visited Shea a number of times when he was locked up there. Shea was visited by a great many women while in jail.

His Family Saves Him.

Guelph, Dec. 31.—The fact that Wm. Strode has a wife and family of small children in hard circumstances was all that saved him from a long term of imprisonment, when, before Judge Chadwick, yesterday morning, he pleaded guilty to shooting with intent to do bodily harm to Mrs. Harris.

It was about a week ago that Strode shot at Mrs. Harris in a small theatre full of people, causing much excitement.

He was allowed to go on suspended sentence.

Senator David Left Funeral.

Montreal, Dec. 31.—The Archbishop of Montreal, speaking to the boys of Mount St. Louis College, stated that he hoped they would never again see such a spectacle as that of the civil funeral of Sunday afternoon of Dr. Cote.

Senator L. O. David also writes that he was deceived; that he was telephoned to attend the funerals, and that when he found that there was no cross on the hearse and that they were going to a Protestant cemetery, he left and went home.

Nurse Killed at Grade Crossing.

Buffalo, N.Y., Dec. 31.—Hurrying to the bedside of a patient, Miss Emma Teklatman, 22, a nurse, and a companion, were recently killed at a grade crossing near Depew. Walter Lindholm was driving. The two were so heavily covered with wraps that they did not hear the train.

Doubt Mars Canals.

New York, Dec. 31.—London cable despatches received here say that skepticism as to the existence of canals on Mars was shown by several well-known astronomers at a meeting of the British Astronomical Association there.

Fatally Burned.

Welland, Dec. 31.—John McGlashan, aged 83 years, who was fatally burned at North Pedham on Tuesday, had lived nearly all his life in this county. He leaves one son, postmaster at North Pedham.

Will Be Disciplined.

New York, Dec. 31.—The governors of the Stock Exchange will, on Jan 12, act on the report of the committee that investigated the Rock Island episode. Disciplinary measures are expected.

Invest 25c in a box of Davis' Menthol Salve and be prepared for ulcers, neuralgia, old sores, etc.

HARRY ADAMS' GREAT FORCED SACRIFICE SALE

His Entire $15,000 Stock of High-Class Ready-to-Wear Garments and Fancy Goods to be Cleared for More Room.

The beginning of the year is patiently awaited by man for far-seeing shoppers as a prolific season for bargains in the stores. After the holiday trade is over, merchants take advantage of the early weeks of January to "run off" or "reduce" or "unload" their remaining stocks, in order to convert it into cash as rapidly as possible. As a general rule, it is the "overloaded" merchant who usually seeks to catch the eye of the bargain seeker, but frequently merchants find that their business has outgrown their premises or some other evidence of prosperity has arisen, that forces upon them the necessity for altering or remodelling their premises at this season. It is for the latter reason that the full page advertisement of Mr. Harry Adams, the ladies' furnisher, of 313 George St., appears in to-days' issue of the Examiner. Mr. Adams has been forced by the gratifying growth of his business to provide increased accommodation for his increasing trade and the handling of larger stocks. Frequently during the past season, crowds of customers could not be waited upon, and he very wisely concludes that if a big crowd is turned away without being served, more than likely the small crowds go with it. With the object of overcoming this difficulty Mr. Adams has decided on a sweeping sacrifice sale of his entire $15,000 stock of ladies', misses' and children's ready-to-wear garments, fancy goods, etc. This sale is to begin on Tuesday, January 4th next, and will be continued for fifteen days. The full particulars will be found in the page advertisement, and ladies who know the reputation of "Adams' Store for Women" for good goods and honest methods, will take early advantage of the great bargains offered.

A CIVIC OFFICIAL'S VIEW ON LOCAL OPTION

A prominent civic official in Peterborough who has had ample opportunity to watch the results of the open bar in this city has given the following as his views on the question of local option.

It is the duty of the State to prohibit anything the continuance of which will work lasting ill to its people.

On this principle it prohibits and regulates the sale of poisons, the keeping of vicious animals, etc. Because the use of intoxicating liquors works injury the state regulates the traffic and wholly prohibits the sale to persons addicted to the excessive use of intoxicants. Conceding the right of the state to regulate, and, in certain cases to wholly prohibit the individual from buying or procuring, one must admit the right to forbid absolutely the sale of intoxicating liquor.

All the Christian world denounces Great Britain, a Christian nation, because it forced China to admit opium in commerce. To-day the Christian world beholds China blotting out the entire opium trade. Which is the more civilized, China or Britain? If you cannot answer that question satisfactorily—then I ask which nation is pursuing the higher and wiser policy—leaving religion wholly out of the question?

One half of the United States, a nation claimed to be the most enlightened has "gone dry"—is this political economy in the United States? If so would it be bad political economy in Canada? One hundred citizens of Peterborough—victims of drink, have been put on the black list by those who suffered from the drinking habit of the loved ones. Does this tree that produces such fruit deserve to be cherished and preserved?

The Cash value of all the wheat raised in our great western provinces is about $70,000,000—that is said to be the cost of Canada's liquor consumption. In this computation no account is taken of the wasted lives, wrecked homes, broken hearts, wronged wives and children, increased cost of asylums, prisons and criminal administration. Instead of reckoning the gains to come from prohibition, stop a while and enumerate the blessings that have come to the state from the liquor traffic, just begin and count them, put them down one by one and look at them. I will begin,—

Happy homes? No.

Happy wives, mothers, children? No.

Children properly educated? No.

Large savings bank accounts? No.

Do the boys and girls in drunkard's homes get a fair chance? No.

Are the teachers, ministers, doctors, who drink helped and helpful? No.

Does the trade keep the shopkeeper, merchant, mechanic? No.

Does it add to the efficiency of the mechanic, laborer, engine driver, train despatcher, docter? No.

Does it lessen the demand on the charity fund of the town for food, wood, clothing. No.

Does the money spent for drink help to build homes for those who need them? No.

Does the business empty the gaols and the asylums? No.

Pray then, tell me what the trade is good for. Oh you say that it puts into the Coffers of the city $5,000 per year, just 30 cents per head of the population, $1.50 for each family of five. How many days labor have been lost this year through drink. How many homes wrecked, premature deaths? How much money paid in the police courts? How many has it lodged in the gaol? How many women and girls sent to the street? How much money wiped off the merchant's account? If men used liquor temperately the temperance question would be wiped off the slate, but because they don't and cannot, because slaves and wrecks destroy themselves and all depending on them, this question—Prohibition—is the most important question of the day.

I leave out the religious and moral question nor do I contend that a man who takes a glass of grog will go to perdition, I treat it simply as an economic question and I say that there is only one side to it—Prohibition is in the interest of the people. I have always voted for it. I always will for I have seen so much of the evil fruits of the liquor traffic that I sink my own desires in the interest of the people, many of whom cannot maintain a wise discretion against so insidious an enemy.

Any money the city gets from the traffic will be re-couped ten times over if the traffic is blotted out. This is proved by every place that has given Prohibition a fair trial. The men who contend against prohibition and resort to all kinds of mean schemes to defeat the law of the land, the will of the people, are not those whom the people should select to guide them either in moral or economic questions. If the people try prohibition and uphold the law as they would any other law, they will never go back to the bar room.

The Churches.

GOSPEL HALL

ON Sunday night at 7 o'clock Mr. G. W. Mulligan will be in charge o fthe evangelistic meeting. He will give an address on "Broken Vows." Come and bring another. The fifteen minute song service is proving a real blessing to all who come. Everyone welcome.

METHODIST

CHARLOTTE ST. METHODIST

Rev. G. W. Henderson, Pastor

Decision Day.
10 a.m., New Year Prayer Meeting.
11 a.m., New Year Counsel.
2.30 p.m., Bible School and Men's Brotherhood. Subject, "John, the Forerunner of Jesus."
7 p.m., New Year's Stock Taking.

MARK STREET METHODIST

Rev. C. H. Coon, Pastor

Regular Services.

GEORGE STREET METHODIST

Rev. Edwin A. Pearson, B. A., Pastor

11 a.m., Subject, "Our Guide for the New Year," by the pastor.
3 p.m., Sunday school and Bible Classes.
7 p.m., Subject, "Local Option," preacher Rev. J. R. Webb.

ST. JAMES METHODIST

REV. J. G. BROWN, M.A., PASTOR

The regular services will be held on Sunday next.
Sunday School and Bible Classes at 2.30 p.m.
Evening Service, at 7 p.m.

MISSIONS

BETHANY TABERNACLE

Rev. John E. Fee, Pastor

On Sunday morning and evening, the pastor's brother, Rev. W. M. Fee, M.A., of Dunville, Ont., will preach.
Sunday morning prayer meeting from 10.30 to 11 o'clock, the regular service following. Subject, "The Irrevocable Past."
Sunday school and Bible Classes at 3 p.m.

PRESBYTERIAN

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

Rev. Robert Pogue, Pastor

The regular services will be held on Sunday morning and evening.
Sunday school at the usual hour.

KNOX CHURCH

Rev. H. J. Keith, B. D., M. A. Pastor

The regular services will be held on Sunday next.
Sunday school at the usual hour.

BAPTIST

MURRAY ST. BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. J. R. Webb, Pastor

Regular Services.

Prayer and Song Service from 6.30 to 7 p.m., followed by the evening service Subject, "Forgetting the things which are behind and looking forward."

PARK ST. BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. W. C. Riddiford, Pastor

Gipsy Hawkins will preach at the morning and evening services on Sunday. Do not neglect to hear him on each occasion.

ANGLICAN

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rector

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH

Rev. Dr. E. A. Langfeldt, M.A., Rector

11 a.m., Morning Prayer and Holy Communion.
3 p.m., Sunday School and Bible Classes.
7 p.m., Evening Prayer and Sermon.
The Church has been appropriately decorated for the occasion, and the music will be of a suitable character.

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH

Rev. H. R. Trumpour, M. A., B. D., Rector

The regular services will be held on Sunday morning and evening.
Sunday school at the usual hour.

ROMAN CATHOLIC

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL

There will be three Masses celebrated: At 8 a.m., Low Mass; at 9.15 a.m., Children's Mass; at 10.30 a.m., High Mass; at 7 p.m., Vespers, with sermon.

SALVATION ARMY CITADEL

Staff Capt. and Mrs. Walton in Charge

7 a.m., Early Morning Prayer Service.
Invitation is extended to everybody. Bring your friends.
9.15 a.m., Bible Class.
11 a.m., Holiness Address.
2 p.m., Sunday School.
3 p.m., Public Song and Praise Service.
7 p.m., Public Salvation Meeting.
The Band will be in attendance at the morning, afternoon and evening services, and will render special music.
Wednesday evening, at 8 p.m., private soldiers' meeting.

Vote for Morrow

Heavy Fur Coat Time

Ladies' and Men's Fur Coats

Not How Cheap—but How Good. Quality Remains Long After Price is Forgotten.

E. N. McWILLIAMS
374 George St. - Peterborough

How Would You Like Your
Tan Shoes
Changed to
BLACK?
We can do the trick for you. We colour them a good black to stay black. Send them in.
Soft Felt Hats
Cleaned to Look Like New
YEOTES BROS
SHOE SHINE PARLOURS
GEORGE STREET
Your favourite Polish on Sale

THE PALACE GROCERY
GRAHAM & COMPANY
For Your New Year Supplies of Groceries and Table Dainties
New Stock
293 GEORGE ST.
Nearly opposite Opera House
PHONE 483

Brock St. Rink
Season 1909-10
Tickets for the season entitling the holder to a skating privilegee, on sale Monday. Dec. 13th, at P. H. Clarke & Son, P. N. McWilliams, W. A. Vanderpool, W. Medill, Payne's Drug Store, McDermid & Jury, and at the rink.
Gentlemen ...$3.00
Ladies 2.00
Youths 16 to 18..$2
Boys under 16, 1.50
Girls 1.50

BEST CHINESE LAUNDRY
149 SIMCOE ST. PETERBOROUGH
Orders telephoned to Mr. George Record promptly filled. Ladies' and gentlemen's washing at moderate rates Parcels called for and delivered.

Have You Seen the New Model OLIVER No. 5 Typewriter ?
A Nugget of Gold from the Mine of Experience

It Establishes A NEW STANDARD
Write For Detailed Description
Peterboro' Typewriter Co.
Phone 655 159 SIMCOE STREET

DOMINION CHINESE
328 George CAFE 328 George
Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch, don't forget to call at
283 George St. HARRY HAMILTON
Ice Cream and Soft Drinks.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

THE LATEST NEWS OF SPORT — TOLD IN BRIEF FORM

KEENE CITY LEAGUE TEAM WON FROM WEST ENDS 7-3

First Local Game of the Season Played Last Night at the Auditorium Rink---Villagers Had More Speed and Were the Better Team as Oldhamites Were Shy Some of Their Best Men.

What promises to be a great hockey season in Peterborough was inaugurated last night at the Auditorium rink when the Keene and West End City League teams met in an exhibition game, the villagers carrying off the big end of the score from Jack Oldham's slaves by 7 goals to 3 incidentally making the second victory for Keene over the WestEnders this week.

A fair sized crowd saw the game and found the contest an interesting one if not a startling brilliant exhibition if not a startlingly brilliant exhibition if not a startlingly brilliant exhibition the West Enders all the way as the latter were shy several of their best men and were hadicapped greatly although they had a much stronger team than the one which was beaten in Keene on Tuesday.

At that, however, Keene unreeled a burst of speed that opened the eyes of the crowd and they look good enough to make things highly interesting for the other City League teams. They have lots of speed and on big ice will make things. They check hard and break fast and are always working.

Crane and Len Dobson were absentees from the West Ends and the team had to be shifted around some which did not add to the effectiveness of the play. The West Enders were all at sea on the small ice and never got working right. Their combination was not in evidence and they experienced difficulty in breaking through the Keene defence. They will be a different proposition with their regular line-up on, when they get into action next week in the Brock St. arena. It was not good hockey. The teams bunched too much and failed to show any combination while both shot poorly and lost many opportunities when close in by wild heaves at the nets. However, it must be remembered that the ice was strange to both aggregations and they were handicapped on that account. Both are fast and good stick handlers and will undoubtedly show something better in the way of combination when the season gets under way. The game was clean, only a few penalties for minor offences being handed out by Referee Len Dobson, who handled the game satisfactorily.

McDougall and Harry Smith made a very effective defence for Keene. The former, who will be tried out on the defence of the Peterborough Intermediate O.H.A. team, is big and fast and promises to give a good account of himself. Smith checked well and showed speed in his dashes down the ice. On the forward line Bill Short and Weir were the most prominent. The former performed with his old time speed and effectiveness, while Weir showed himself a clever, hard working youngster, who is very dangerous in the vicinity of the nets. He picked off some wicked shots in splendid style and cleared nicely. All the others worked hard but there were no particular stars.

Richardson of the West Ends, was hurt in the first half and retired at half time, the visitors dropping Vince McCarthy. The teams lined up as follows:

Keene.—Goal Dinsdale, point Smith, cover McDougall, rover Short, centre Weir, right wing McIntyre, left wing McCarthy.

West Ends.—Goal Halpin, point Munro, cover C. Dobson, rover Rose, centre Giroux, right wing Seymour, left wing Richardson.

Keene had all the better of the play at the start. The West Ends seemed demoralized and could not get working together properly, while the visitors bored in on the nets in a vigorous fashion that could only result in scoring. When in a few minutes of the opening Weir pushed one past Halpin. Short had been penalized a moment before, and just after the goal had been scored Seymour was sent away, followed by Smith. Keene scored again after some close playing, a long shot from McCarthy leaking through.

Weir made it three to nothing on a nice rush by McDougall and Smith and McIntyre boosted Keene's stock again by scoring No. 4.

Once again before half time Weir tallied for Keene and soon after was penalized for loafing.

Richardson scored for the West ends on a shot from the side before the breathing spell came. Half time score, Keene 5, West Ends 1.

With six men aside in the second half the play opened up some and grew faster. West Ends picked up and had a little the better of the play in the closing period. Rose scored for the Oldhamites, but McDougal, retaliated with a long shot which Halp pulled down into the nets. Giroux made it six to three in a few minutes and from then on to the end of the game it was even up. Keene got the last goal, Short doing the trick on a neat rush and shot. The summary follows:

1 Keene, Weir, 3 mins.
2 Keene, McCarthy, 6 mins.
3 Keene, Weir, 1 min.
4 Keene, McIntyre 5 min.
5 Keene, Weir 1 min.
6 West End, Richardson 4 min.
Half time.
7 West Ends, Rose 9 min.
8 Keene, McDougall 1 min.
9 West Ends, Giroux 4 min.
10 Keene, Short 10 min.

New York Just Beginning To Appreciate The Merits Of Canada's Winter Game

New York, Dec. 31.—With the boxing lid practically clamped down for an indefinite period, it behooves the sportively inclined populace of the metropolis to seek a new field of recreation during the few months Jack Frost will hold sway. Several thousand New Yorkers have already found a pastime that keeps their red blood in circulation. The great Canadian game of hockey has attracted sport-loving New Yorkers and, judging by the crowds that turned out to witness the three games during the past week at the St. Nicholas rink, the Canucks' national pastime promises to gain a hammerlock hold in this city before many moons. The three contests last week served merely to whet the appetite of hockey enthusiasts for the better games that are in store for them.

On Tuesday night last the Princeton University septet met a schoolboy covey in an exhibition game, the first of the season. The game was played for the edification of approximately 2,000 persons. On Wednesday night two schoolboy teams occupied the artificial ice in a contest, and the attendance numbered more than one thousand. While the game between the juvenile players has never attracted record-breaking crowds — except when a championship was involved—this crowd was exceptionally good. On Thursday night Princeton and Williams clashed in the first real setto of the year, and the rink was jammed to capacity. The crowd rivalled those that witnessed the two games last season between the Ottawas and the Wanderers, the professional champions of Canada, when they played for a purse of $1,000.

Veterans on Club Teams.

All of the clubs have been materially strengthened during the year. The several vacancies of the teams have been filled in by men who know the game from the base up. Experienced players will have the call this year. It is owing to this that the Amateur Hockey League players are able to put up a much faster game than the collegians. Every year finds many changes on the hockey teams of the universities. Yearly, new material is being developed and the regulars of a year ago must give way to the green youngsters whose display of vigour and ambitiousness earns them a regular position on the team.

On the clubs of the Amateur Hockey League conditions are vastly different. Most of the players are Canadians, and, of course, know the game thoroughly, and then, by playing the game year after year together on the local teams, they attain wonderful skill at team work. Captain Castleton, of the champion New York A. C. team, is a sterling example. He has been associated with the covey of the Mercury Footers for such a long time that it appears as if he would be a fixture on the team for many more years.

The race for the amateur Hockey League championship for the season of 1910 promises to be a more gruelling one than any previous championship tournament. Most of the clubs have managed to retain their star players. The New York A. C., especially, has been fortunate in holding on to its stellar performers.

At present little is known of the personnel of the Amateur Hockey League teams. The Wanderers, which made such a discouraging showing in last year's race, will be minus the services of four of last year's regulars. E. Garon, their star player, will be among the missing, a weak ankle compelling his retirement for this season. The Wanderers, however, will hardly feel the effects of their loss, for they have reconstructed their team by the addition of four Canadian players, each a star in his position.

These Canucks Can Play.

And how these Canucks can play! Every player from across the border is an adept with the hickory, and the puck is never too evasive for them. It is not an impossible task for one of them to lift the rubber disc from one end of the rink over the heads of half a dozen players and have the puck land in the opposing cage. The Canucks are fearless and would rather indulge in a scrimmage than eat their meals. The opposing players will do well to keep out of the range of the Canadians' swinging clubs.

Hockey is with us and it has come to stay. While athletic meets might draw a little attention every now and then during the next quarter-year, hockey will be conspicuous from now until the flowers bloom again in Spring.

PILES Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain and guaranteed cure for each and every form of itching, bleeding and protruding piles. See testimonials in the press and ask your neighbors about it. You can use it and get your money back if not satisfied. 60c, at all dealers or EDMANSON, BATES & Co., Toronto.
DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

VOTE FOR MORROW

SPORTING NOTES

Three of the City League teams have registered their colours with Secretary Craig as required by the constitution of the League. The West Ends will have new uniforms of yellow and black, the Stratheonas will stick to their familiar red and white and Keene will wear blue and white. It is expected that the T.A.S. will use their green and white uniforms introduced last year.

T. C. C's, new point man, Jakey Moore, from Peterborough, was the largest player on the ice, and he certainly knew how to use his body, although at times he became a trifle too strenuous. Moore is not a particularly good skater, but plays a good defence.

R. B. McDougall, cover point of the Keene Hockey team of the City League, has been given a permit by the O. H. A. sub-committee to play with the Peterborough intermediate O. H. A. team. He will be up to practice with the Peters on Monday night.

A number of members of the executive of the Peterborough Hockey Club saw the West End-Keene game last night, and they were so impressed with the playing of young Weir, the diminutive centre of the villagers, that they have decided to try him out in that position with the Peterborough junior O. H. A. team. He will be out with the juniors on Monday night.

The junior and intermediate O. H. A. teams will practise to-night. The following line-ups are asked to be out sharp on time for a practise game:

Seniors.		Juniors.
	Goal.
Derocher, Giroux,		Halpin
	Point
Glover		Munro
	Cover.
Lech		Heffernan
Seymour		C. Giroux
Dobson		Short
	Forwards.
Ray		Pratt
Dusty		Hall
McMillan		Mills

BAND

Band at Street Railway Rink to-morrow, New Year's afternoon. 153

ENTERTAINMENT AT ST. JOHN'S

Christmas Event Under Auspices of the Sunday School Was a Great Success.

Aladdin visited St. John's school yesterday and transformed the stage into a fairy scene of principally white and blue colouring, with up-to-date electrical effects in lighting. The Sunday school teachers and scholars met for their annual Christmas party, and spent a perfectly happy time. Part one consisted of carols, part two of a visit from Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus in a splendid sketch, illustrating different trades of a boys' club. The girls were prominent in two character numbers. "The Typewriter's Song" and "Hats and Gowns." The junior girls in night dresses and carrying dolls sang a pretty lullaby, "Hush My Dear," and received prolonged applause. Harold Devey and Cone Conway as "Travelling Tinker" created lots of fun. Mr. Roy, Mr. Fred Roy and Mr. Cameron very kindly provided lantern slides. The senior girls from the Barnardo Home were present and gave a fine Christmas hymn, "Joy to the World." Two splendid scenes were put on, the Shepherds and the Star, and "All Nations at the Cross." The dresses and grouping of these scenes was very fine, and Mrs. R. J. Devey with the band of ladies who assisted her, deserves high praise. A bountiful lunch, tea cakes and ice cream was served. Then a few seasonable words from the Rev. Canon Davidson and the singing of the national anthem concluded the evening.

All the direction of the party was in the hands of the Superintendent, Mr. R. J. Devey, ably assisted by committees of teachers and scholars, and their combined work produced one of the prettiest entertainments in the school annals.

STRONG ARGUMENTS FOR THE PASSING OF LOCAL OPTION

W. N. Irwin, K.C., Presents a Convincing Appeal in Support of the Measure Upon Which the Ratepayers Have to Pass on Monday---End of the Campaign is in Sight.

On the eve of the election the address given at the Park Street Baptist Church last night by Mr. W. N. Irwin, K.C., of Toronto, is of considerable interest and significance. Mr. Irwin is a logical, lucid speaker, and his attitude is fair and reasonable, although he is most assuredly convinced that local option is an advanced stepping stone to prohibition, and a measure that is the embodiment of timely and common sense legislation aside from its most important aspect as a moral question in its effect in diminishing the amount of strong drink used, and the consequent lessening of the many evils of which intemperance is directly or indirectly the cause. He presented his views as a series of rational arguments rather than as impassioned, sentimental appeal, and for that reason scored what appeared to be many strong and convincing points.

Rev. W. C. Riddiford, pastor of Park Street church, presided at the meeting in his usual happy manner, and called upon Mr. Potter to give the history of what led to the local option movement in this community and of the rapid development of the movement.

Rev. Mr. Potter spoke briefly, outlining the origin and growth of the local option movement.

The late Father Keilty, while a parish priest in Ennismore, started the great temperance agitation, which, while it was not strictly for local option, led first to the banishment of the bar in Ennismore and Douro, and by degrees the other townships fell in line. It was Peterborough's duty to follow their example. Mr. Potter stated in an interesting review of the development of the anti-license movement, which is the most important issue in municipal politics at the present time.

Mr. Irwin was then introduced and commenced his address.

Enforcement of the By-law.

He referred to the dispatch in a Toronto paper, which stated that in Mayor Rush's opinion local option could not be enforced here. The speaker, on his former visit, had been greatly impressed with the apparent abidance with the law by the citizens. He had seen no disorder here, and was at a loss to know why the local option law could not be enforced as well as any other. The mayor of the city should know whereof he spoke, but the speaker looking at it from the standpoint of an ordinary observer, did not know why the law could not be enforced. He was sorry to read the opinion of the Mayor of Peterborough spread broadcast to the world, but if the local authorities found it difficult to enforce the law, then an appeal could be made to the Lieutenant-Governor, and, if necessary, the militia forces of the province could be called to see that the law was enforced. He intimated that this would only have to be resorted to, however, as an extreme measure, and there was no reason why local option could not be enforced here by the civic authorities with the same outstanding success it was in other places.

Hotelkeeping Respectable.

The speaker said that he was not fighting against men. He was fighting against evil. And yet some people might say that he was fighting against men when he was trying to take away a man's business. Hotelkeeping was honourable business, and the hotelman had great opportunities for doing good in providing accommodation and comfort for the man away from the cheerfulness of his home and away from home influence.

But an incidental part of the business was the bar, the part that was allowed to exist through license. And the fight for prohibition had progressed till it was more than three-quarters won.

The question of personal liberty, Mr. Irwin said, had not been even heard of at all until it was advanced by the liquor interests when the millions of capital they had invested was endangered. The only question was: "Is the liquor traffic a good thing for Peterborough? That is the only thing you have to decide, and the responsibility comes right home to you."

Food Argument Exploded.

The people should not be misled by paid articles and advertisements against local option published in the papers, but should simply decide whether or not the traffic was desirable for this city.

Personal reasons were given by the speaker why he was in favour of local option and these were most interesting and appeared consistent and well-timed.

Mr. Irwin regretted very much that papers for mercenary considerations would publish advertisements to the effect that alcohol was a food and that there were men dishonest enough to furnish the lies for these statements. He gave proof to show the fallacy of the argument that intoxicants were a food as was proven conclusively by scientific research and actual scientific tests and experiments

What the Results Will Show.

Local option was the next logical step to be taken in the warfare against the liquor traffic.

In an impressive admonition for the voters to use their franchise for the abolition of the bar in Peterborough it was stated in no ambiguous terms that it would depend on how the voters marked their ballot whether they expressed their condemnation or approval of the traffic that was undermining and destroying the best and highest in our national life.

A Source of Enlightenment.

Referring to a well-known anti-local option writer in the Peterborough press, the speaker said that it was a privilege universally shared when a community had a gentleman from Russia, who told an Anglo-Saxon people what their liberties and rights were.

The "licensed to sell" signs of the bar-rooms did not have the names of the grantors of the licenses, why? Because the signs were not large enough to contain the names of the voters of Peterborough, but in the sight of God the names were on those signs.

A point advanced was that the process of evolution in connection with the hotel business by reason of the removal of the bar was not out of keeping with natural evolution which took place in every business. What business or business sytem had been run for year without some modification or improvement?

Owen Sound Indignant.

In a public mass meeting in Owen Sound a short time ago the citizens stated that they were shocked and indignant that the liquor interests should publish such unfounded lies about the non-enforcement of the local option by-law in Owen Sound, and the Provincial Secretary's department had aroused itself to see if steps could not be taken to punish those responsible for such lying slanders.

The liquor men have said that the law will be broken. Who will break it? They will break it themselves if it is broken, and who was it that dared say to an Anglo-Saxon community that the law would be broken when the law had been made by the people with all the resources of law administration to see that it was kept?

An Optimistic Prediction.

Greater prosperity was strikingly in evidence in the communities where prohibition was enforced.

"I venture to say," said the speaker, "that if local option carries there will be $500,000 more in the banks of Peterborough on May 1, 1911, than on May 1st, 1910."

Would be Friend to Hotel Men.

Mr. Irwin said the people who voted for local option would be the hotelman's best friend if they carried local option here and took away the liquor selling from the honourable end of the hotel business.

It was the duty of the people to carry local option in the interests of the hotelkeepers and their families, and of the barkeepers and their families. The bartender's business was such that no insurance company would take a risk on his life for the protection of his wife and little ones, and we were under an obligation to remove the bartenders from such an occupation.

The Headquarters for the Local Option Workers on Monday, Jan. 3, will be Y. M. C. A, (north door), Telephone 260. 153

ELECT
MASON
For Mayor

DON'T MISS IT
THE
Y.M.C.A. CIRCUS
Two Nights
Friday and Saturday
75—PERFORMERS—75
Comedy Acts
Clowns, Tumbling and Balancing
and many other features, all equally amusing.
Show begins at 8.15
Don't Miss It
Halpany Orchestra in attendance.
Admission 25c, Children 15c
2d-153

LENDRUM'S STUDIO
will be open on
NEW YEAR'S DAY
to make sittings.
LENDRUM'S
Ground Floor Studio, - Charlotte Street

Never Too Late To Put On
WEATHER STRIPS, like Fuel, are necessary in this climate. They keep the house cosy and warm, free from drafts and freezing, and save you fuel.
You won't be selfish if you spend the money necessary to fit Chamberlain's Metallic Weather Strips on your doors and windows.
With best wishes, etc.
A. J. LONGLAND Manager for Peterborough
537 HARVEY ST. - PHONE 1292

LUMBER
And Builders' Materials of all kinds Shingles, Sheathings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Casing, and Base and all kinds of finish. Doors and Box Shooks.
ALF. McDONALD ESTATE
Point St. Charles Mills

PATENTS
PROCURED ON EASY TERMS.
TRADE MARKS AND COPYRIGHTS
Books and advice free. Highest references. 25 years experience. We are registered attorneys. Send sketch of your invention for free opinion as to patentability.
CRISWELL & CRISWELL
102 F. ST., N. W., WASHINGTON, D. C.

Upholstering, Repairing,
Etc. Vacuum Carpet Cleaning. Some god Sofas for sale
A. R. Jackson
430 Water Street

The Beverage for all Weathers.
EPPS'S COCOA
A delicious food and drink in one.
A Cup of "Epps's" at breakfast Warms and Sustains you for hours. As a supper beverage it is perfect.
"Epps's" means Excellence. GRATEFUL COMFORTING

Nothing more appropriate for a Christmas Gift than Snowshoes or Toboggans. We have a very large assortment. Call & see them
J. J. TURNER & SONS
Peterborough Ontario

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR
Moles, Birthmarks, removed permanently by Electrolysis, without pain or scar, (positively no return.) Established Toronto, Hamilton and Guelph. Days in Peterborough. Satisfaction where others fail References Write for particulars. Miss A. Graduate. Box 269 Brampton Ontario.

Classes at Conservatory of Music
THE MISSES STERNBERG of Toronto are organizing classes in
DANCING, PHYSICAL CULTURE AND FENCING
in connection with the Peterborough Conservatory of Music to open October 14.
Applications may be made immediately. Children's Classes in Aesthetics, Social Dancing, and Fancy Steps, 4:30 to 6:00 p.m. Adults, beginners, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Social evening, advanced pupils, 9:00 to 10:30.
Private Lessons and Classes on request Write for Prospectus containing full information regarding fees, etc. 2m-w&s

JAS. FROWDE
CARPENTER AND BUILDER
Is prepared to do all kinds of first-class Carpenter Work at reasonable prices. Residence--409 Walton Street, south of Weller Street Peterborough.

W. J. Routley
TO HIS CUSTOMERS
We wish to acknowledge our grateful appreciation of the generous patronage bestowed on us during the year now closing. Our sales exceeded by far all previous seasons.
We have two resolutions in our mind namely:—On the part of our FRIENDS we suggest that every one resolve to continue favouring us with their patronage. For OUR OWN part, we will resolve to redouble our energy and strive to deserve your patronage more than ever.
Wishing you all a Happy New Year.
W. J. ROUTLEY
GROCER
168 CHARLOTTE STREET

GRAND TO-MORROW
Matinee 2:30
Evening 8:15

SPECIAL NEW YEAR'S ATTRACTION, THE GREAT COOK-PEARY DRAMA
"UNDER THE NORTH STAR"
SEE THE AURORA BOREALIS THE BURSTING ICE FLOES SEE THE ESKIMO INDIANS THE ARCTIC NIGHT GLOOM

HOLIDAY PRICES:
Matinee 25 cts, 35 cts, 50 cts,
Children 15 cts.
Evening 25c, 35c, 50c and 75c.

LATEST CITY NEWS.

Private School.

Miss D. J. Hall's private school, 334 Charlotte St., will re-open Wednesday, Jan. 5th, 1910. 3d

Probabilities.

Fresh south-west winds, fair. Saturday—South and south-east winds, moderately cold with light snowfalls.

Omitted Yesterday.

The letter, on page 15, signed "City Temperance League," was intended for yesterday's issue, but owing to lack of space was omitted until today.

Thanks Extended.

—Mrs. P. J. Zettler wishes to thank her many friends for the sympathy extended to her in her sad bereavement, also for the many beautiful floral tributes.

A Word From Mason.

Various reports are in circulation as to who it was that brought me out. I wish to say that I was brought out by the mechanics and workingmen and by nobody else. E. F. MASON.

We Repair and Clean Clothing.

The gay winter season is here with its many social functions. Let us take your dresses and wraps, repair and clean them so they will look like new. We make a specialty of repairing winter overcoats. W. B. Rickey, "My Valet," 204 Charlotte St. Phone 575.

A Superior Gift.

—Exceptional quality of tone and brilliancy; nothing superior ,and few equals, constructed for durability, to last a life time and improve with use, The Celebrated Karn Pianos; 171 Simcoe street. Terms to suit purchasers; inspection invited. Reynor and Cunningham.

Meals for the Workers.

—The ladies of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church are uniting with the ladies of the George Street Methodist Church in providing refreshments for the Local Option workers in that section of the city on Monday. Meals will be served in the basement of the George Street Metthodist church.

Dennistoun's Xmas.

—Tags, Xmas. Seals, Xmas. Gum Labels, large and varied assortment of the best designs; regular price 10c for 5c. Holly-covered empty boxes for sending away gifts at half price. The biggest and best Holly Box of Note Paper and Envelopes, regular 25c for 15c, at Stratton's Retiring Sale. Everything must be sold before Xmas. Shop in the morning.—A. H. Stratton & Co.

What We Manufacture.

—The Peterborough Showcase Co., situated at 702 Water street, manufactures all designs of counter cases, silent salesmen showcases, wall cases, store fittings, and all designs of high-grade cabinet work, such as china cabinets, kitchen cabinets, music cabinets, writing desks, book cases, medicine cases, etc. Furniture made to order and repaired. Dealers in British plate glass and mirrors

Appointed Administrators.

Messrs. The Trust and Guarantee Company have been appointed administrators of the late Annie May Robinson of the town of Wingham; in the County of Huron. The estate is inventoried at over three thousand dollars, being composed of a small parcel of real estate in the town of Wingham; cash in Banks of Wingham, and mortgages amounting to over two thousand dollars.

MEAD DOWN!
Standard 3lb. Loaf 10c
22 Tickets for $1.00
LUSH & SONS,—Bread Bakers
241 Dublin St.—phone 511

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Miss Ida Haslem, Sophia St., East City, is visiting relatives in Toronto.

Mrs. W. H. Hill and daughter Miss Amy and Dorothy, have returned to the city

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Mattice and son of Ayr are visiting friends in the city for a few days.

Mr. J. C. Smythe, of Brantford, formerly of this city, is back for the Christmas holidays.

Mss Ethel ninn, of Shelburne, is home on a visit to her parents, Burnham St., East iCty.

Mr. Wilfrid Huycke, son of his Honour Judge Huycke, is home from Toronto University for the holidays.

essrs. Walker and Allin Fair, of Millbrook, are holidaying with their uncle, Mr. oRbt. Fair, 505 Dickson St.

Mrs .Osway Carver left this morning for St. Thomas to visit her sisters Mrs. C. Munroe and Mrs. J. W Grice of that city

BAND

Band at Street Railway Rink to-morrow, New Year's afternoon. 1 53

WE TAKE THIS OPPORTUNITY to thank our numerous patrons, and trust that our endeavours to serve you well have met with approval, and will merit a continuance of your patronage.

Wishing you a prosperous New Year,

Respectfully yours,

E. F. MASON & CO., Grocers.

LOCAL OPTION CAMPAIGN.

The matter appearing in this space from time to time is furnished by the Temperance and Moral Reform League of this city, who have arranged for its publication.

The Brewery Cannot Sell Under Local Option.

The local option law is so stringent that it prevents absolutely the sale by a brewery of spirituous liquors in a local option district. Mr. E. Saunders, head of the Provincial License Department, Toronto, has given direct assurance on this point in a letter in which he states: "No brewer operating his brewery in a local option municipality is permitted to sell his beer to persons residing within the municipality no matter whether the order is receive dat the brewery or not. He can sell only to persons living outside the local option municipality. This shows that it will be impossible for the brewery now operating in Peterborough to sell its goods in Peterborough after we have voted out the open bar. Vote for local option.

The Local Option Law Not Like Other Laws.

There is no truth in the statements that the local option law is like the Scott Act or Duncan Act. It is utterly and completely different from both. It provides for the proper enforcement by government officials of the law. It gives local municipalities power to enforce their own laws with government help. It provides that hotel keepers who break the law shall be sent to gaol without the option of a fine upon a second offence.

All the weak points in the old Duncan and Scot Acts have disappeared from th elocal option iaw and many new and better provisions have been included in it. This explains why 131 municipalities in Ontario after they had local option for three years have continued it in force although they might have repeated it had they so desired. Vote for local option.

No New Club Licenses Under Local Option.

The Ontario Government has given definite assurance that when local option carries in Peterborough no new club licenses will be granted. The license commissioners in Peterborough have power to cancel the license of the present club and there is a possibility tha tthis action will be followed.

Members of the Peterborough Club have already discussed the advisability of throwing up the present license. In this connection it has been pointed out that a considerable number of leading citizens who now refuse to identify themselves with the club while it has a license would do so were the license abandoned. There need be no fear that the Peterborough club license will cause any trouble and we know that no new licenses the same will be issued.

Local Option a Success In Owen Sound—The Open Bar-Room Causes Crime.

The Ontario Brewers' Association has published statements in the Peterdays claiming that the liquor traffic does not cause crime. Of course no proof of their statements was furnished. According to the Dominion year book for 1908 issued by the Canadian Government there were 70,000 summary convictions in the Dominion during 1907. Of these 38,300 of 47 1-2 per cent, were for drunkenness and offences against the liquor acts.

These figures, however, do not include the long and dreary list of other crimes which follow from the liquor traffic, such as 4,235 assaults, 5,079 cases of vagrancy, 3,693 convictions for being idle and disorderly; 1,336 breaches of peace, etc. The great majority of these thousands of crimes were caused by the liquor traffic. For example, sober men seldom commit assaults or breaches of the peace, nor are they vagrants or idle.

The year book for 1908 shows that out of 9,110 persons convicted for indictable offences in 1907, 7,033 of 77, per cent. were addicted to the use of liquor. Wherever local option carries and the bars are closed the police court record shows that crime decreases.

Vote for local option.

Hints for Workers.

Monday is the day when we vote the open bar out of Peterborough. Vote early and get others to do the same.

The headquarters of the Temperance League will be in the Y.M.C.A.

If you want to know whether to vote or where any of your friends should vote, call up 'phone 260.

If you need a rig or want to have a rig sent for any voter send word as soon as you can to the Y.M.C.A. or call up 'phone 260.

If you hear of any cases of bribery or of unlawful proceedings of any kind, report them immediately to the headquarters in the Y.M.C.A. or 'phone 260.

Help make the majority as much greater than the three-fifths required, as possible. Roll up a big vote.

THOS. HOOPER
Wishes One and All
A Happy and Prosperous New Year.
The old year is going,
Let's drink to the new!
In sparkling Aqua Pura
I'll drink to you.
2d 153

OPERA HOUSE MEETINGS SUNDAY, JAN. 2

Two very important mass meetings will be held in the Opera House, Sunday afternoon and evening. At 3.30, James Simpson, Pres. Trades and Labour Council, will be the speaker, and at 8.30, George W Morrow, of Detroit, President of the State Anti Saloon League of Michigan. T. C. James, editor of the Bowmanville "Statesman", Wm Colquhoun of West Toronto and John McQuaker of Owen Sound, will take part in these meetings. Everybody is invited to these meetings and an invitation should be given to any friends who desire to hear these strong and capable leaders.

SPECIAL SERMONS

Rev. Canon Davidson to Preach on "Spheres and Services of a Practical Religion."

On Sunday evening next Rev. Canon Davidson, rector of St. John's Church, will begin a special series of sermons on "Some spheres and Services of the Practical Religion." These will, no doubt be very interesting and instructive.

TORONTO ELECTIONS

The Examiner has arranged to secure the results of the Toronto elections to-morrow and will bulletin them in the evening.

PRESENTATION MR. CALLENDAR

Mr. J. H. Callander, leader of the Mark Street Choir, was presented last night with a handsome carving set by the choir. The presentation took place at the parsonage to which the choir had adjourned after practice at the church. After an excellent supper had been partaken of, Rev. Mr. Coon made a short speech in which he referred to the good work Mr. Callendar had done as leader of the choir and on behalf of the members he presented him with the carving set. Other members of the choir also referred to the good work Mr. Callender was doing. The recipient of the gift made a neat reply to the many kind things that had been said about him.

George W. Morrow, President of the Anti-Caloon League of Michigan, will speak in St. Andrew's Church on Sunday night at seven o'clock.

Mr. Jas. Simpson, President of the Trades and Labor Council will speak at Knox Church on Sunday morning.

Mr. T. C. James, Editor of the Bowmanville Statesman, will speak in St. James Methodist Church.

Your Vote and Influence respectfully solicited for the re-election of J. J. TURNER, Jr. for Alderman.

ROBT. FAIR & CO.
Clearance Sale

JANUARY CLEARANCE SALE

ROBT. FAIR & CO.
Clearance Sale

Our Annual January Sacrifice of Highest Class Merchandise
COMMENCES TUESDAY, JANUARY 4th

FOR CERTAIN REASONS IT IS IMPERATIVE THAT WE REDUCE OUR STOCK BY FULLY

$15,000 During the Month of January

and such sweeping and genuine Price Reductions have never before been made on New and Seasonable Goods such as these, in the city of Peterborough. Don't smile at this broad statement, come to our store yourself and be convinced that all previous sales of every character are totally eclipsed by this.

Ladies' and Children's Underwear

Many lines of Warm Winter Underwear of the very best makes, will be cleared during January at smaller prices than you have ever thought possible.

Blankets and Comforters

Every art cle new, fresh and clean. No old, soiled or shop worn goods. Marked at such popular prices that they will soon be cleared.

Gloves and Hosiery

Winter weights, a ticles you cannot get along without. Every odd line has been laid aside for the sacrifice and marked away down.

Ladies' Ready-to-wear Coats, Misses' and Children's Coats, Ladies' Tailored Suits

Every one in the department will be offered at such ridiculously low prices that you will hardly believe your eyes, but the reductions are genuine. COME AND SEE.

Ladies' Blouses

of Silk, Net, Lace and Lawn, White, Black and colours, reduced to prices which will move them quickly and effectively.

Ladies' Dress Skirts

Over one hundred of them, Black and all colours, the best Ready-made Goods to be had. Will be sacrificed at less that cost.

Dress Materials

Values that will outclass the wonderful offerings we gave you last November. 3 lots will be selected and marked at a small fraction of former values.

Dress Nets and All-over Laces

in White, Cream, Black and Colours. The richest and handsomest quality and patterns shown this season. See the Immense Reductions on these.

Dress and Blouse Silks

Plain and fancy. Many of the best and newest lines go on the bargain table below cost.

ALL CARPETS SEWED AND LAID FREE OF CHARGE DURING THIS JANUARY SALE

Linens of All Kinds

Are reduced in price to the lowest notch. You know our reputation for value giving in this Department. This year our offerings of Table Linens, Table Napkins, Cloths, Linen Crash, Glass Linens, Fancy Art Linens, etc., will exceed any previous one.

Wash Goods and Prints

Buy now at prices away below what you will have to pay in the Spring. Cotton Goods are going up by leaps and bounds, which makes the reductions on these doubly attractive.

MILLINERY DEPARTMENT

Everything has to go here regardless of what it has cost us. Trimmed Hats, Hat Shapes, Flowers, Foliage, Wings, Feathers, etc., will cost you next to nothing during this great Sale.

Golf Jackets and Eton Coats

Half Price is all we ask for many lines of Golf Coats and Eton Jackets. Heavy All Wool makes, in White, Grey, Cardinal, Black and Navy.

Laces and Embroideries

Wonderful Values at surprisingly low prices will be offered you in snowy white Embroideries and dainty and handsome Laces.

Oilcloths and Linoleums

We stock only the best makes. Therfore a price-reduction here is a double attraction, low price and superior quality combined.

Curtains and Curtain Materials

At the extremely low prices we have marked these you can afford to buy now and lay them aside till house-cleaning time. The assortment is varied and patterns new and up-to-date.

ROBT. FAIR & CO., Limited, 383 George St.

When wanting a natty outfit for business or pleasure ring up
PUI KINGHORN'S LIVERY
successor to Akey & Millburn
198 Hunter. 'Phone 278

The Evening Examiner.

ONE CENT A WORD
The Evening Examiner Want Ads. always bring results. For Sale, To-let, Losts-10 words-10c

20 PAGES PETERBOROUGH FRIDAY DECEMBER 31 1909 PAGES 15 TO 20

INTERESTING BUDGET OF NEWS FROM HAVELOCK

Examiner Special.

Havelock, Dec. 28.—Mr. Ward Baklow, of North Bay, is home for the holidays.

Mr. Albert Armstrong, of Toronto, is at his home.

Miss Eva O'Brien, of Toronto, is at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Wes. Campbell and family, are with friends at Sharbot Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Farmer, of Watertown, N.Y., are with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Donnelly.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. White are at the latter's home, Sharbot Lake.

Mrs. L. Clarke and Miss Minnie McWilliams are at their home in Marmora.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Patterson and family ,are with the former's brother, Mr. Ward Patterson.

Mrs. Harry Falkner spent Friday in Peterborough.

Miss Laura Kelly are with friends at Peterborough and Norwood.

Mrs. Bertram Ogenabury, is the guest of Mrs. Thos. Deegan.

Mr. Carl Lancaster, of Toronto, is at home.

Mr. Arthur Gabriel, of Toronto, is the guest of T. P. Lancaster.

Mr. Finch Caghill is at his home in Stratford.

Mr. Gracey is at his home in Deseronto.

Miss Stella Voyer spent Tuesday and Wednesday with friends in Toronto.

Mr. Lynch, of Gowganda is at his home in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson is at the former's home in Perth.

Miss Lynch, of Toronto is with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Lynch.

Mrs. D. L. Somerville, of Ballyduff, is at her home in town

Miss O'Brien, Peterborough, is with her sister, Mrs. Michael McNichol.

Mrs. S. McGuire and baby are at home at Madoc.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Ghent are at the latter's hame at Madoc.

Mr. A. A. Fowler, of Peterborough, is the guest of his brother, Jas. E. Fowler on Monday last.

Mr. Chas. Herrington and children are spending Christmas with friends at West Toronto.

Miss Bessie Rose spent Friday with friends at Peterborough.

Miss Helen Harper, of Peterborough, was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. F. J. McGuire last week.

Miss Powers, of Montreal, was the guest of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Chas. Powers, last week.

Mrs. McKenna and Miss L. McKenna, of Woodstock, are the guests of their daughter and sister, Mrs. A. E. McGuire.

Mr. Wm. Hitchins, of West Toronto, spent Friday and Saturday with friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vare left on Thursday ofr their home at West Toronto.

Mr. Chas. O'Reilly, of Norwood, spent Thursday last in town on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. E. Fowler, Miss Cleo. and Master Ernest, spent the Christmas holiday with hrs. Barrie at Peterborough.

Mr. C. R. McGregor and family, are in Niagara Falls, where her brother is dangerously ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Webb, of Toronto, and Mr. Rollie Graham, of Peterborough, are with Mr. and Mrs. P. Graham

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Weymark, of Toronto, are with friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. E. McMullen and Miss Pearl Johnson, of Toronto, are with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Johnston.

Mr. T. E. Dineen are with friends at Peterborough.

Dr. Crawford is with friends at Toronto.

Mr. Allin Archer, of St. Catharines, is with his sister, Mrs. Chas. Roberts.

Mrs. Archer and children, of Manvers, are with her daughter, Mrs. Chas. Roberts.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Chiles and family, of Peterborough are with their daughter, Mrs. J. V. A. Coon.

Mr and Mrs Holdsworth and children are spending the week with friends at Cobourg.

Miss Foley, of Hastings, is at her home in town.

Mr. Ralph Phillips, is with friends at Trenton.

Miss Francis, is at her home in Millbrook.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Campney, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. McMaster are with friends at Belleville.

Miss Myrtle Bushave, of Toronto, is at her home here.

Mr. Holdsworth, of Port Hope, is with her son, Rev. Mr. Holdsworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Beaver and Mr. Tim Beaver are with friends at Beaverton.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown, of Bellvieu, is with her daughter, Mrs. Angus Carmichael.

Mr. Ross Macpherson, Barrie, spent Sunday with Mr Wallie Rose.

Mr. Harry Buchanan, of Toronto, spent Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Buchanan.

Mr. Herb Barrie, of Toronto, is with his sister, Mrs. Jas E. Fowler.

Miss Louise Beatter, of Toronto, is at her home in town.

Miss I. Butters, of Toronto, is with her sister, Mrs. Alex. Anderson.

Miss Rose Weese, of Toronto, is with her mother, Mrs. Weese.

Mr. Oscar Burkell is at his home in Norwood.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Somerville, of Locust hill is with the latters parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Watson

LAKEFIELD ITEMS OF INTEREST

Lakefield, Dec. 28.—Mr. Clarence Mounce, of Oshawa, Ont., spent Chirstmas at his home in the village.

Mr. Harry Singmore, of the Traders' Bank, Montreal, spent Christmas at his home in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Lingwood, of Simcoe, Ont., arrived on Wednesday last to spend Christmas with Mrs. Lingwood's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Atwood, at "Ashelworth."

A union watch service will be held in the basement of the Methodist church on Friday evening, Dec. 31st, commencing at 11 p.m. Members of the different churches are invited to attend.

Mrs. Henry Parks and son, of Uxbridge, Ont., are visiting Mrs. Park's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Paul.

Mrs Smith, of Peterborough, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Long for a few days, returned to Peterborough on Monday.

Mrs. B. French and Master Francis, are visiting Mrs. Dench's parents at Ingersoll, Ont.

Mrs. T. H. D'Arcy left last week to visit her sister in Cleveland, Ohio.

Mr. J. Isbister and Mrs. S. J. Leonard are visiting friends in Essex, Ont.

Masters Eric and Harold Greenwood, of Lennoxville, P.Q., arrived on Tuesday last to spend the Christmas vacation at their home in the village.

Miss F. Roberts, of Toronto, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Cumberland.

Miss K. Simpson, of Kew Beach, is spending the Christmas vacation at her home in the village.

Mr. R. C. Strickland is visiting his son, Mr. J. Strickland, at Bridgeburg, Ont.

Mrs. Jas. Sanderson, of Davidson, Sask., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Johnson.

Mrs. F. Maclaren and daughter, of Montreal, is at present in the village visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. ontgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Evans Atwood and family, returned to Peterborough on Monday after spending Christmas with Mr. Atwood's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Atwood, at "Ashelworth."

Miss Marling who has been t guest of Mr. and Mrs. B. Marling for a few days, returned to Toronto on Monday.

Miss Mary Hurst, of Buffalo, N.Y., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. H. Carveth.

Mr. M. Kennedy, of Toronto, is spending the Christmas vacation at his home in the village.

The annual entertainment and Christmas tree of St. John Baptist church Sunday school, will be held in the town hall on Friday evening, Jan. 7th, at 7.30 o'clock.

After the programme, which will consist of choruses, dialogues, recitations, a scarf drill, etc. The prizes for the year will be given.

Mr. Alfred James spent Christmas at his home in Apsley.

Mr. Mills, of Toronto, arrived on Thursday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Marling at "The Cottage."

Mr. F. Lingwood is spending a few days this week in Toronto.

Vote for Morrow

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON QUESTIONS

Jan 2nd 1909.

John The Forerunner of Jesus — Matt. iii:1-12.

Golden Text.—The voice of one crying in the wilderness: Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make his paths straight. Matt. iii:3.

Verse 1.—What were the days referred to in verse one?

What are the facts concerning John the Baptist, his parents, the time and place of his birth, his early training, the commencement of his ministry, his characteristics, and the nature of his preaching?

Where and what was the wilderness of Judae?

Verse 2.—What did John want the people to do when he urged them to repent?

Why was it then, and why is it now, impossible for any person to enjoy the favour of God without repentance?

What did John mean by saying 'The Kingdom of Heaven is at hand?"

Has the kingdom of heaven been established on earth, and if so, what is that kingdom, and who are its citizens?

Verse 3.—What did Esaias (Isaiah) fortell concerning John, and where is the passage to be found?

In what sense did John prepare the way for Jesus?

Verse 4.—Why did John dress in such a plain way and eat such simple food?

To what extent should good people to-day, take John for an example in the matter of food and clothing?

To what extent does God care as to what we eat, and what we wear?

If all you know of a man is that he is fastidious in the matter of dress, and an epicure in his food, how would you rate him as to personal piety?

Can men work as hard, think as clearly and accomplish as much, or more, in all departments of life on a vegetable, as on a meat diet?

Verse 5-6—How do you account for the wonderful interest which John's preaching created?

If John were the permanent pastor of a church, in this town, do you suppose that he would be able to constantly keep up such a great revival as this story records?

What did John's baptism signify?

Was baptism then, and is baptism now for adults of any avail without a full confession of sin?

Verse 7.—When a member of a church is not a devoted man, is he better or worse than any other sinner?

If a minister of the gospel is not a truly good man, whose word is as good as his bond, how would you compare him with a layman of similar character?

What is the tendency of the office of a pastor, or a Bible class teacher as to making its incumbent a truly noble and an all-round morally and financially, trustworthy man?

Is a pastor of a church under any greater obligation to be a truly devoted man than his members? Why or why not?

These scribes and pharisees were in those days what our pastors and church officials are in these days. How do you account for the fact that they were such bad men?

Verses 8-9—What are the fruits which prove genuine repentance? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)

To what extent does the fact that a man has a noble and devoted ancestry recommend him to God?

Can any person be saved because of his parents' goodness.

Verse 10.—Is it the fact, and why, that incompetent men fail and that bad men always come to grief?

Verse 11—What is the difference between the personal results of man's baptism and that of the baptism of the Holy Spirit from Jesus?

Verse 122—What reason is there for the belief that men and women make their own hell or heaven?

Lesson for Sunday, January 9, 1910. —The Baptism and Temptation of Jesus. Matt. m:13-17; 4:1-11.

Vote for Morrow

TO THE PUBLIC.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Some time ago it was stated by Mr. Lastar, the writer of many letters in the City papers in opposition to the Local Option movement, that he did not represent the liquor interests in the City, and that he was paying for the insertion of this matter out of his own pocket. This was corroborated by one of the liquor dealers of the city. There is now information, given by Mr. Lastar himself, in possession of the executive of the Temperance and Moral Reform League to the effect that the cost of the insertion of these letters, in excess of $63.00, is being paid for by the liquor interests. Mr. Lastar made this statement in the presence of witnesses, who are prepared to substantiate this statement.

City Temperance League.

CHRISTMAS TREE AT KNOX CHURCH

A pleasant evening was spent at Knox Church last Tuesday on the occasion of the annual entertainment under the auspices of the Sunday School. A very enjoyable time was spent. The following programme was presented, Sheriff Hall acting as chairman:

Pianoforte solo—Miss Lottie Chiles.
Recitation—Miss Geraldine Montgomery.
Dialogue—Master Frank Montgomery, Master Sherman Preston.
Violin solo—Master Andrew Robertson.
Recitation — Miss Maud Smith.
Quartette—The Four Musicians.
Interval.
Drill—Miss Harvey's class — gymnastic exercises.
Pianoforte Duet — Misses Ruby Carr and Fleda Law.
Recitation — Miss May Smith.
Song—Master Frank Montgomery.
Quartette—Messrs. Dickson, Donaldson, Davenport and Thompson.
Dialogue — The Twelve Months.

The Christmas tree was then despoiled and the presents were distributed among the children.

Vote for Morrow

APPRECIATIVE REFERENCE TO LATE ARTHUR BOLLARD

The Christmas number of St. Andrew's College Review has the following appreciative reference to the late Arthur Bollard, which will be read with interest by his friends here:

"Greater sorrow could not have been cast about our school than by the death of Arthur J. Bollard. He died August 27th, after three or four days' illness. Although he realized that his condition was hopeless he remained, until death called him, courageous and bright—the two most pronounced features of his career. 'Dutch' Bollard's influence around and about the school as Head Prefect and holder of the highest offices with which a boy can be honoured, was ever wholesome. He was ever ready to help the small boy out of difficulties; to make the new boy feel at home, and to see that every boy was enjoying all the privileges of the school so that he was loved, from the new boy to the oldest boy in the school.

"Truthful, kind, honest, and manly were but few of his qualities. His pleasant smile and hearty laugh will never be forgotten by his many friends who attended the school during his year as Head Prefect. He was a type of our fine Canadian athletes, who always plays a clean game and plays for the sport that is in it. His loss to us can hardly be expressed, and what his death will mean to his loving parents and sister we cannot know. The Review extends its deepest sympathy and its assurance that his name shall ever be remembered as one of the most loyal and willing Head Prefects of the school.

VOTE
MASON
For Mayor

— MANY BARGAINS STILL LEFT FOR —

NEW YEAR'S GIFTS
At Schneider's Great Sacrifice
SALE OF JEWELRY

Allow us to thank our numerous patrons for the hearty support accorded our Christmas Sale. Although our stock has been considerably reduced we still have some splendid Bargains to offer. :: :: :: ::

Some fine Marble Finished Mantel Clocks worth reg. $10, now on sale for - - - - 7.50

Ladies' high grade Gold Filled Watches, worth $20, n w going at - - - - - $14

Bargains in Gents' Watches, Gold, Silver and Nickel Cases, filled with guaranteed movements, running in price and upwards - $4

Ladies' Gold Filled Bracelets, a high grade, worth $5.00, now at - - - - - - 3.60

Also some fine Ebony Mounted Brushes and Mirrors.

We have still a few of those Ladies' Gilt Dresser Clocks & Jewel Cases which are now on sale at - - - - - Half the Regular Prices

Also a few Ladies' Silk Umbrellas with Fancy Gold & Silver Mounted Handles, worth each $5 and upwards, which we are now clearing out - - - - - - Regardless of Cost

Some of those Cut Glass Berry Bowls still on hand, splendid $6 & $7 value, now on sale $4-4.50

Fancy Pieces of Limoges China & Fancy Bronzes, all on sale at - - - - - Greatly Reduced Rates

REMEMBER
SCHNEIDER'S FOR BARGAINS
KEEP YOUR EYE ON OUR WINDOW

VOLUNTEER RIGS

Friends and Supporters of Mr. Morrow, who can give him assistance on election day by offering their Rigs, are kindly asked to leave word at the Committee Rooms, 173½ Simcoe St., with those in charge.

$100 REWARD $100

The Temperance League of this city offers one Hundred dollars reward for information that will lead to the Conviction of any person guilty of Bribery at the approaching vote on Local Option.

The League has been informed that an attempt will be made to buy the consciences and votes of men.

The Temperance and Moral Reform League will not be responsible for debts contracted in its name for any work or duties performed in connection with the Local Option Vote—with or without the signature of any of its officers.

All workers or agents are hereby warned against the use of any promise or threat that will in any way unduly influence any voter. Such action is totally unauthorized. 4d-150

THE ANNUAL TEA HELD AT APSLEY

Examiner Special.

Apsley, Dec. 28.—The annual tea and entertainment under the auspices of the Methodist Church was held here on Christmas night and was a decided success. The tea was given in the town hall, after which all assembled in the church, where the following programme was rendered:

Anthem—"All Hail".
Chairman's address—Rev. H. Garbutt.
Anthem by the Choir.
Recitation—"The Music Stool,"—Annie McFadden.
Instrumental—The Band.
Solo—"Jack Frost.— Julia Earnshaw.
Dialogue—"Aunt Bethia's Journey."
Chorus—"Cold Winter is Coming," No. 2, Burleigh.
Recitation—Mildred Kilborn.
Violin selection—Mr. Bruce Coones.
Dialogue—"Paddy's Courtship."
Recitation—Miss E. McIlmoyle.
Handkerchief Drill—Six little girls.
Dialogue—"Story Telling."
Chorus—"The Land of the Maple," No. 2, Burleigh.
Recitation—May Hales.
Instrumental—May Hales.
Instrumental Duet—Mrs. W. Lean and Mrs. W. Staples.
Song—Emma Masters.
Reading—Gertie Hearns.
Dialogue—"Playing School."
Instrumental—The Band.
Recitation—Emma Masters.
Solo—"Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" Gertie Hearns.
Mouth organ selection—John McColl and Bert Lean.
Dialogue—"The Tramp."
Anthem—The Choir.
National Anthem.

Thep roceeds amounted to about forty dollars. The committee in charge are to be congratulated on the success of the evening.

S. A. OKE'S
Gratitude and ... Greeting ...

We congratulate our customers on the measure of prosperity the year has brought, and the promise of still greater things for 1910.

Our trade has been big and most satisfactory and in extending the compliments of the season to one and all we add a hearty "Thank ..." for the generous support ... encouragement accorded ...

S. A. OKE
340 GEORGE STREET
Phone 275

Edwin Elcome
TAXIDERMIST
BIRDS, Animals, Fish and Snakes stuffed and mounted in the best life-like styles at the lowest price.
DEER HEADS A SPECIALTY.
A stock of foreign and native Birds always on hand for sale. Dealer in Eyes, Artificial Leaves and Frosting; also Importer of Foreign Birds and Skins from all countries. Best Nature Study Books.
692 Harvey St. Peterboro

Daily Examiner.

Examiner Agencies

NORTH WARD

E. T. Brand, 734 George, cor. Smith st.
D. Sullivan, 529 George, cor. Edin. st.
Mr. Young, cor. McDonnel and George.
L. H. J. Lockhart, 530 Water st.
J. M. Donovan, cor. Aylmer & McDonel

WEST WARD

Nelson Routley, cor. Brook & Park.
M. Bradshaw, cor. Downie and Charlotte.
Jos. James, cor. Reid & McDonel.

CENTRE

Gurney Bros., 451 George.
R. J. Sedon, 549 George.
F. C. Cahill, 370 George.
S. J. Murphy, 396 Charlotte.
A. H. Stratton, 417 George.

SOUTH

Mrs. Dunsford, cor. Aberbrooke & Bub.
R. O. Braund, cor. Albert & Park.
M. H. Halpin, cor. Perry & George.
R. McGill, corner Lake and Aylmer.

EAST

Mrs. M. Guerin, cor. Roger & Hamlets.
Martin Kylie, Rogers street.
David Flynn, 556 Concession, cor Carlisle.
T. B. Manioce, corner Mark and Hunter streets.

UNION LABEL

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1909

MUSICAL.

MISS BESSIE SLCOMB, Teacher of Piano (for terms, etc., address Peterborough Conservatory of Music, or 902 Harvey St. Jan-66-7311

MRS G. B. MILLER—Leader of Murray Street Baptist Church Choir. Teacher of Voice and Piano—611 Union Street Peterborough.

MISS JULIA CHOATE—Violin Soloist and Teacher. Concert engagements accepted (For terms etc., apply Conservatory of Music. Jan-31

MEDICAL.

DR. A. W. MacPHERSON—Office 124 Murray St., Cor. Water. Late House Surgeon Toronto Isolation Hospital, Toronto Sick Children's Hospital and Manhattan Maternity Hospital. 'Phones Bell 548. Machine.

DR. T. P. McCULLOUGH—Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Specialists. Office 186 Brock Street.

DR. BUCHANAN, F.R.C.S. Edinburgh M.R.C.S. England, L.R.C.P. London. Specialist of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat 'Phone 518. 180 Charlotte Street. Hours—8-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m.

DR. E. A. HAMMOND—Office, 543 Water Street. Late Assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, England. Also of Rotunda Maternity Hospital at Dublin. Special diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach. Bell Phone—Office 403; House Phone 1301.

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY — Osteopathic Physician. Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce; Hunter Street entrance Bell Phone 649. Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free

LEGAL.

ROBERT RUDDY, K.C.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc., Office, corner George and Hunter Sts. Money to loan at Current Rates. Successor to George Edmison K.C.

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR, Barristers, Solicitors, and Notaries. Office 11 Water Street. Money to loan.—E. A. Peck, K. M. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr

DUMBLE & JOHNSTON—Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Office over Toronto Savings and Loan Company, 435 George St —D. W. Dumble, K.C.; W. P. Johnston

A. E. DIXON—Barrister, Solicitor, Etc. Offices—Corner Hunter and George Sts. entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

HALL & HAYES & HALL. — Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public, Hunter Street, Peterborough, next to St. John's Church. Money to loan at lowest rates of interest.—E. H. D. Hall, City Solicitor; Louis M. Hayes, K. C., and Basil D. Hall.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON—Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Solicitors etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office, Corner of Hunter and Water Streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce. E. H. Hall K. C. Medd. W. S. Davidson.

W. H. MOORE—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Office—Entrance first hallway west of Post Office. Peterborough, Ont. Money to loan.

A. P. POUSSETTE—Barrister and Solicitor—470 Water Street. Money to loan at lowest current rates. A. P. Poussette K.C.

E. B. WOOD—Barrister, etc., Count; Crown Attorney. Office over Canadian Express Office. Georgia Street. Money to Loan

DENTAL.

DR. H. F. WOOD, Dentist—Office, No. 498 1/2 Georgia Street. Phone 298 day or night.

UNDERTAKERS.

D. BELLEGHEM.—Funeral Director.—Calls may be given day or night at warerooms, 190 Hunter Street, or at Residence, 188 Hunter Street. Telephone No. 88.

LANE & KANO—Undertakers and Embalmers. Can be found at their warerooms day or night, 172 Hunter street 'Phone 488

MONEY TO LOAN.

MONEY TO LOAN—On Farm and Town Property, at lowest current rates on easiest terms of payment. HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON, (Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Peterborough, Ont., Office Over the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

MONEY TO LEND.—On first-class City and Farm Securities only, on current rates BENNET & GOODWILL, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., No. 373 Water street, Peterborough. Telephone, No. 191. J. W. Bennet; R. L. Goodwill.

MONEY TO LOAN—On easy terms. O'CONNELL & GORDON, Barristers, Solicitors Notaries, etc. Canadian and United States. Patent Attorneys. Hunter St. 3 doors west of Post Office. Daniel O'Connell; George W. Gordon.

ARCHITECTS.

W. BLACKWELL—Architect and Civil Engineer. Plans and estimates made on churches, public buildings and dwelling houses. Buildings heating and plumbing a specialty. Office 373 Water street, Peterborough.

SIR NIGEL

BY A. CONAN DOYLE.

Copyright 1905, 1906, by A. Conan Doyle

(Continued from 1 st Friday.)

So, with glitter of armor and taunting of pennons, their war-horses tossing and pawing, the champions rode down to the midway oak. Behind them streamed hundreds of archers and men-at-arms whose weapons had been wisely taken from them lest a general battle should ensue. With them also went the townsfolk, men and women, together with wine-sellers, provisions merchants, armorers, grooms and heralds, with surgeons to tend the wounded and priests to shrive the dying. The path was blocked by this throng, but all over the face of the country horsemen and footmen, gentle and simple, men and women, could be seen speeding their way to the scene of the encounter.

The journey was not a long one, for presently, as they threaded their way through the fields, there appeared before them a great gray oak which spread its gnarled leafless branches over the corner of a green and level meadow. The tree was black with the peasants who had climbed into it, and all round it was a huge throng, chattering and calling like a rookery at sunset. A storm of hooting broke out from them at the approach of the English, for Bambro was hated in the country where he raised money for the Montfort cause by putting every parish to ransom and maltreating those who refused to pay. There was little amenity in the warlike ways which had been learned upon the Scottish border. The champions rode onward without deigning to take notice of the taunts of the rabble, but the archers turned that way and soon beat the mob to silence. Then they resolved themselves into the keepers of the ground, and pressed the people back until they formed a dense line along the edge of the field, leaving the whole space clear for the warriors.

The Breton champions had not yet arrived, so the English tethered their horses at one side of the ground, and then gathered round their leader. Every man had his shield slung round his neck, and had cut his spear to the length of five feet so that it might be more manageable for fighting on foot. Besides the spear a sword or a battle-axe hung at the side of each. They were clad from head to foot in armor, with devices upon the crests and surcoats to distinguish them from their antagonists. At present their visors were still up and they chatted gayly with each other

"By Saint Dunstan!" cried Percy, clapping his gauntleted hands together and stamping his steel feet. "I shall be right glad to get to work, for my blood is chilled."

"I warrant you will be warm enough ere you get through," said Calverly.

"Or cold forever. Candle shall burn and bell toll at Ainwick Chapel if I leave this ground alive, but come what may, fair sirs, it should be a famous joust and one which will help us forward. Surely each of us will have worshipfully won worship, if we chance to come through."

"You say truth, Thomas," said Knolles, bracing his girdle. "For my own part I have no joy in such encounters when there is warfare to be carried out, for it standeth not aright that a man should think of his own pleasure and advancement rather than of the King's cause and the weal of the army. But in times of truce I can think of no better way in which a day may be profitably spent. Why so silent, Nigel?"

"Indeed, fair sir, I was looking toward Josselin, which lies as I understand beyond those woods. I see no sign of this debonair gentleman and of his following. It would be indeed grievous pity if any cause came to hold them back."

Hugh Calverly laughed at the words. "You need have no fear, young sir," said he "Such a spirit lies in Robert de Beaumanoir that if he must come alone he would ride against us none the less. I warrant that if he were on a bed of death he would be borne here and die on the green field."

"You say truly, Hugh," said Bambro. "I know him and those who ride behind him. Thirty stouter men or more skilled in arms are not to be found in Christendom. It is in my mind that come what may there will be much honor for all of us this day.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

ACHE

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.

CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.

Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

Fifteen Years of Agony

"Fruit-a-tives" Promptly Cured Him After Doctors Had Failed To Give Relief.

CHARLES BARRETT, Esq.

Harbor au Bouche,

Antigonish Co., N.S., March 24, 1909.

"I wish to express my sincere appreciation of the great benefit I received from taking "Fruit-a-tives." I suffered from Biliousness and Dyspepsia for fifteen years and I consulted physicians and took many kinds of ordinary medicine, but got no relief. I was in miserable health all the time and nothing did me any good. I read the testimonial of Archibald McKechnie, of Ottawa, and I decided to try "Fruit-a-tives." I have taken a number of boxes of "Fruit-a-tives," but before I had taken one box I felt better and now am entirely well.

"I am thankful to be well after fifteen years suffering, and I am willing to have this statement published for the sake of other sufferers, and to them I strongly recommend "Fruit-a-tives."

(Signed) CHARLES BARRETT.

50c a box, 6 for $2.50—or trial box, 25c. At all dealers or sent post-paid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

are ready to venture our persons for the desire of our ladies and the love of the high order of knighthood. And now, Richard, what is your sweet will concerning this fight?"

"That we continue until one or other can endure no longer, for since it is seldom that so many brave men draw together it is fitting that we see as much as is possible of each other."

"Richard your words are fair and good. It shall be even as you say. For the rest, each shall fight as pleases him best from the time that the herald calls the word. If any man from without shall break in upon us he shall be hanged on yonder oak."

With a salute he drew down his visor and returned to his own men, who were kneeling in a twinkling, many-colored group whilst the old bishop gave them his blessing.

The heralds rode round with a warning to the spectators. Then they halted at the side of the two bands of men who now stood in a long line facing each other with fifty yards of grass between. The visors had been closed, and every man was now cased in metal from head to foot, some few glowing in brass, the greater number shining in steel. Only their fierce eyes could be seen smoldering in the dark shadow of their helmets. So for an instant they stood glaring and crouching.

Then with a loud cry of "Allez!" the herald dropped his upraised hand, and the two lines of men shuffled as fast as their heavy armor would permit until they met with a sharp clang of metal in the middle of the field. There was a sound as of sixty smiths working upon their anvils. Then the babel of yells and shouts from the spectators, cheering on this party or that, rose and swelled until even the uproar of the combat was drowned in that mighty surge.

So eager were the combatants to engage that in a few moments all order had been lost and the two bands were mixed up in one furious scrambling, clattering throng, each man tossed hither and thither, thrown against one adversary and then against another, beaten and hustled and buffeted, with only the one thought in his mind to thrust with his spear or to beat with his axe against anyone who came within the narrow slit of vision left by his visor.

But alas for Nigel and his hopes of some great deed! His was at least the fate of the brave, for he was the first to fall. With a high heart he had placed himself in the line as nearly opposite to Beaumanoir as he could, and had made straight for the Breton leader, remembering that in the outset the quarrel had been so ordered that it lay between them. But ere he could reach his goal he was caught in the swirl of his own comrades, and being the lighter man was swept aside and dashed into the arms of Alain de Karanais, the left-handed swordsman, with such a crash that the two rolled upon the ground together. Light footed as a cat, Nigel had sprung up first, and was stooping over the Breton Squire when the powerful dwarf Raguenel brought his mace thudding down upon the exposed back of his helmet. With a groan Nigel fell upon his face, blood gushing from his mouth, nose, and ears. There he lay, trampled over by either party, while that great fight for which his fiery soul had panted was swaying back and forward above his unconscious form.

But Nigel was not long unavenged. The huge iron club of Belford struck the dwarf Raguenel to the ground, while Belford in turn was felled by a sweeping blow from Beaumanoir. Sometimes a dozen were on the ground at one time, but so strong was the armor, and so deftly was the force of a blow broken by guard and shield, that the stricken men were often pulled to their feet once more by their comrades, and were able to continue the fight.

Some, however, were beyond all aid. Croquart had cut at a Breton knight named Jean Rousselot and had shorn away his shoulder-piece, exposing his neck and the upper part of his arm. Vainly he tried to cover this vulnerable surface with his shield. It was his right side, and he could not stretch it far enough across, nor could he get away on account of the press of men around him. For a time he held his foeman at bay, but that bare patch of white shoulder was a mark for every weapon, until at last a hatchet sank up to the socket in the knight's chest. Almost at the same moment a second Breton, a young Squire named Geoffrey Mellon, was slain by a thrust from Black Simon which found the weak spot beneath the armpit. Three other Bretons, Evan Cheruel, Caro de Bodegat, and Tristan de Pestivien, the first two knights and the latter a squire, became separated from their comrades, and were beaten to the ground with English all around them, so that they had to choose between instant death and surrender. They handed their swords to Bambro and stood apart, each of them sorely wounded, watching with hot and bitter hearts the melee which still surged up and down the field.

But now the combat had lasted half an hour without stint or rest, until the warriors were so exhausted with the burden of their armor, the loss of blood, the shock of blows, and their own furious exertions, that they could scarce totter or raise their weapons. There must be a pause if the combat was to have any decisive end. "Cessez! Cessez! Retirez!" cried the heralds, as they spurred their horses between the exhausted men.

Slowly the gallant Beaumanoir led the twenty-five men who were left to their original station, where they opened their visors and threw themselves down upon the grass, panting like weary dogs, and wiping the sweat from their bloodshot eyes. A pitcher of wine of Anjou was carried round by a page, and each in turn drained a cup, save only Beaumanoir who kept his Lent with such strictness that neither food nor drink might pass his lips before sunset. He paced slowly amongst his men, croaking forth encouragement from his parched lips and pointing out to them that among the English there was scarce a man who was not wounded, and some so sorely that they could hardly stand. If the fight so far had gone against them, there were still five hours of daylight, and much might happen before the last of them was laid upon his back.

Varlets had rushed forth to draw away the two dead Bretons, and a brace of English archers had carried Nigel from the field. With his own hands Aylward had unlaced the crushed helmet and had wept to see the bloodless and unconscious face of his young master. He still breathed, however, and stretched upon the grass by the riverside the bowman tended him with rude surgery, until the water upon his brow and the wind upon his face had coaxed back the life into his battered frame. He breathed with heavy gasps, and some [illegible] of blood crept back into his cheeks, but still he lay unconscious of the roar of the crowd and of that great struggle which his comrades were now waging once again.

The English had lain for a space bleeding and breathless, in no better case than their rivals, save that they were still twenty-nine in number. But of this muster there were not nine who were hale men, and some were so weak from loss of blood that they could scarce keep standing. Yet, when the signal was at last given to re-engage there was not a man upon either side who did not totter to his feet and stagger forward toward his enemies.

But the opening of this second phase of the combat brought one great misfortune and discouragement to the English. Bambro like the others, had undone his visor, but with his mind full of many cares he had neglected to make it fast again. There was an opening an inch broad betwixt it and the beaver. As the two lines met the left-handed Breton squire, Alain da Karanais, caught sight of Bambro's face, and in an instant thrust his short spear through the opening. The English leader gave a cry of pain and fell on his knees, but staggered to his feet again, too weak to raise his shield. As he stood exposed the Breton knight, Geoffrey Dubois the Strong, struck him such a blow with his axe that he beat in the whole breast-plate with the breast behind it. Bambro fell dead upon the ground and for a few minutes a fierce fight raged round his body.

Then the English drew back, sullen and dogged, bearing Bambro with them, and the Bretons, breathing hard, gathered again in their own quarter. At the same instant the three prisoners picked up such weapons as were scattered upon the grass and ran over to join their own party.

"Nay, nay!" cried Knolles, raising his visor and advancing. "This may not be. You have been held to mercy when we might have slain you, and by the Virgin I will hold you dishonored, all three, if you stand not back."

"Say not so, Robert Knolles," Evan Cheruel answered. "Never yet has the word dishonor been breathed with my name, but I should count myself faineant if I did not fight beside my comrades when chance has made it right and proper that I should do so."

"By Saint Cadoc! he speaks truly," croaked Beaumanoir, advancing in front of his men. "You are well aware, Robert, that it is the law of war and the usage of chivalry that if the knight to whom you have surrendered is himself slain the prisoners thereby become released."

There was no answer to this and Knolles, weary and spent, returned to his comrades. "I would that we had slain them," said he. "We have lost our leader and they have gained three men by the same stroke."

"If any more lay down their arms it is my order that you slay them forthwith," said Croquart, whose bent sword and bloody armor showed how manfully he had borne himself in the fray. "And now, comrades, do not be heavy-hearted because we have lost our leader. Indeed, his rhymes of Merlin have availed him little. By the three kings of Almain! I can teach you what is better than an old woman's prophecies, and that is that you should keep your shoulders together and your shields so close that none can break between them. Then you will know what is on either side of you, and you can fix your eyes upon the front. Also, if any be so weak or wounded that he must sink his hands his comrades on right and left can bear him up. Now advance all together in God's name, for the battle is still ours if we bear ourselves like men."

Shiloh's Cure

quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs. [illegible]

From Arctic to Tropics in Ten Minutes

No oil heater has a higher efficiency or greater heating power than the

PERFECTION Oil Heater

(Equipped with Smokeless Device)

With it you can go from the cold of the Arctic to the warmth of the Tropics in 10 minutes.

The new

Automatic Smokeless Device

prevents smoking. Removed in an instant for cleaning.

Solid brass font holds 4 quarts of oil—sufficient to give out a glowing heat for 9 hours—solid brass wick carriers—damper top—cool handle—oil indicator. Heater beautifully finished in nickel or Japan in a variety of styles.

Every Dealer Everywhere. If Not At Yours, Write for Descriptive Circular to the Nearest Agent of

THE QUEEN CITY OIL CO., Limited.

ROBIN HOOD FLOUR

IS DIFFERENT

IT HAS ROUSED THE CURIOSITY OF THE WHOLE WEST

"Do you really think" one housewife will say to another "that this new flour can be better than the flour we are using?"

Madam, there is no doubt about it.

But there is just one way you can be convinced. You must use it yourself.

Our claims will not satisfy you, but we back up our claims in such a way that you will lose nothing by trying Robin Hood.

Your grocer will tell you about our guarantee which gives you back your money if you are not satisfied.

THE SASKATCHEWAN FLOUR MILLS CO. LIMITED

MOOSE JAW SASK.

The Economy of Duchess Children's Dresses

A mother never bestowed more care and attention to details, in making garments for girls, than will be found in "Duchess" Brand Children's Dresses.

They are dainty and stylish—beautifully made throughout—in Tweed, Serge, Cashmere and other fine fabrics—and they cost no more than the bare materials would cost in any reliable store. Every garment guaranteed by maker and dealer.

Save yourself so much home sewing. Ask your dealer to show you the "Duchess" line. If he does not handle them, write

DUNLAP MANUFACTURING CO. - - - - MONTREAL

THE ROYAL BANK OF CANADA

The Bank that has your account is an important factor in your business: many a business man owes his success to the fact that he had the right bank back of him : : :

THE ROYAL BANK OF CANADA

CAPITAL $4,700,000 RESERVE $5,400,000 ASSETS $55,000,000

Invites the accounts of corporations, firms and individuals on the most liberal terms consistent with conservative banking.

VINCENT EASTWOOD Manager Peterborough

Small but Effective--- A WANT AD IN "THE EXAMINER"

ALL HOUSEHOLD EMERGENCIES

AN HOUR saved in summoning the plumber by telephone may save the price of several years of service.

It certainly saves a lot of discomfort and worry.

The Bell Telephone keeps the household in constant touch with all the resources of civilization and is instantly available in any emergency.

It also keeps the household in constant touch with the broader outside world by means of the Long Distance Service of the Bell System.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF CANADA.

Every Bell Telephone is the Center of the System. 10

AUTHORS & COX
135 CHURCH ST TORONTO

To this branch of the business we have given much time and careful attention, inventing and constructing appliances, for the relief of those suffering from shortened limbs, by means of which crutches may be discarded and permanent relief given, together with concealment of misfortune.

THE BANK OF OTTAWA
ESTABLISHED 1874.

Capital Authorized	$5,000,000.
Capital Paid Up	$3,000,000.
Rest and Undivided Profits	$3,405,991.

Special facilities for

Collections

Agents in every Banking Town in Canada and correspondents throughout the world.

G. C. Wainwright, Manager, Peterborough Branch

COWAN'S PERFECTION COCOA
(MAPLE LEAF LABEL)

Its richness and exquisite flavor give an added deliciousness to homemade "sweets" and dainties. Be sure you get COWAN'S — the cocoa with the Maple Leaf Label.

THE COWAN CO. LIMITED, TORONTO. 133

Dusty Friday No More

Why You Should Use "Dustbane"

It saves labour in sweeping
It saves one-half your dusting
It saves your Carpets and Rugs
It saves damage by moths
It saves taking up Carpets
It saves your health.
It saves your money.

It Costs Nothing To Try

Dustbane

Peterborough Grocers are authorized by the manufacturer to send you a 35c can of Dustbane. They want you to use this on trial for one week. At the end of this period if not found satisfactory, there will be no charge made for quantity used.

If it does away with Dust on Sweeping Day, You Want it.

Sold in barrels, ½ barrels and ¼ barrels for Store, School and Office use, by

The Peterborough Hardware Co.

WHAT IS A WHITE MAN?

A Puzzling Problem For the Racial Investigator.

The chief of the naturalization bureau at Washington is of the opinion that the "average man in the street" understands distinctly what a "white" man is. Apparently some persons can master a subject without studying it at all, while others who have looked into it deeply are not so dogmatically certain as the "average man in the street."

For example, the encyclopedias tell us that mankind was divided by Blumenbach into five races—namely, Caucasian, Mongolian, Ethiopian, American (Indian) and Malay. The words "Caucasian" and "white" are used synonymously. This classification was first published in 1781 and must have been known to our national legislators when in 1802 they passed the first naturalization law.

The Caucasian race includes Arabs, who are certainly no "whiter" than the Turks, yet Turks, the official says, cannot be naturalized because they are not "white."

We are also told by the naturalization bureau that the Hindoo is not "white" within the meaning of the statute. But the encyclopedia says that it is a great error to separate the Hindoo from the Caucasian race. The Hindoo, it thinks, is much nearer the "white" race than the Arab.

To puzzle the racial investigator still further, while everything is so clear to the "average man in the street," we are told by the encyclopedias that the original Caucasians—that is, the inhabitants of the Caucasus—are no longer regarded as Caucasians. They have been thrown out of the "white" camp and forced to go over to the Mongol.

Nor is the enigma any nearer solution when we are told by the naturalization bureau that Asiatics cannot be naturalized, but that Siberians can, although Siberians may be anything from Russians to Mongolians or Mongol-Turco-Tartars.

AN ARCTIC TRAGEDY.

The Body That Was Seen Floating in the Icy Water.

On Aug. 30 we arrived at Rudolf island, the most northern of the Franz Josef group and simply a mass of ice and high glaciers, where we had planned to spend the winter. While cruising near Northbrooke island I saw one day from the "crow's nest" a singular dark body just awash on the surface of the water. As we came nearer and nearer I was possessed by a rather unusual desire to know what this dark mass was. Putting up my glasses, I gave the order for "dead slow," and we passed the object closely on the starboard side. I saw clearly that it was the body of a man clothed in a great skin coat, with the usual hood, and with mittens on the hands. The face was not discernible, but it dawned on me suddenly that this might be the remains of the Swedish balloonist Andree, who had been lost in the arctic about two years before, or perhaps one of the men who had been lost in the Abruzzi expedition.

I was about to stop the steamship and procure the body when it occurred to me that to take a corpse on board would destroy the good spirit and courage of the members of the polar party, for there is a general superstition among sailors that a ship is doomed when a dead body is on board. The first officer and myself were the only ones who witnessed this ghastly spectacle, and neither mentioned the fact, fearing that the discovery would cast a shadow over the entire party. We have both always believed that this was the body of Andree, and I have often regretted that it had not been in my power to give him decent burial.—Captain Edwin Coffin of the Ziegler Polar Expedition in National Magazine.

Thanksgiving Menu.

Grapefruit and White Grapes.
Clear Brown Soup With Noodles.
Pastry Horns Filled With Creamed Oysters or Scallops.
Roast Turkey With Nut Stuffing, Cranberry Jelly. Caramel Sweet Potatoes.
Creamed Celery.
Endive or Escarole Salad With Tomato Quarters.
Horns of Ice Cream Filled With Fruits. Cakes. Coffee.

Cut the grapefruit into halves and remove all the pulp in sections. Scrape the shells and put the fruit back with a space in the center. Fill this with seeded white grapes. Cover with sugar and put a cherry on top. Serve thoroughly chilled.—Harper's Bazar.

Cure Neuralgic Agony

No affliction is so painful, so hard to bear as Neuralgia. It may strike any organ—one nerve, or, perhaps, a whole set of nerves may be affected. Physicians who have had large experience with this malady say local applications are best.

A well-tried treatment consists of rubbing the affected parts thoroughly with Nerviline. The rubbing should be continued until the skin shows a warm healthy glow. This invariably relieves the pain.

Protection against relapse is best secured by wearing a Nerviline Porous Plaster over the weak spot. No greater healer than a Nerviline Plaster is known.—It draws out congestion, absorbs deleterious secretions through relaxed pores, acts as a sure preventive against muscular aches, rheumatism, sciatica, stiffness, lumbago, and neuralgia.

Remember this: Nerviline treatment has for nearly fifty years been curing chronic cases—it will cure you, too—give it the chance. 25c bottles of Nerviline and Nerviline Porous Plasters 25c each. Sold all dealers.

Nerviline Instantly Cures

BIRDS' NECKS.

It's the Number of Bones in Them That Makes Them Flexible.

The flamingoes were making their afternoon toilets in the big flying cage at the Bronx zoo the other afternoon, says a writer in a New York paper. A crowd of children and grown people were looking on and exclaiming with admiring wonder at the way these birds were twisting their long necks about into all sorts of corkscrews and curves when one of the ornithological experts came along and stopped to watch the performance.

"It's the larger number of bones in a bird's neck, not the length, that make it so flexible," he remarked. "There are twenty-three bones in the neck of a swan, for example, and a few more in that of the flamingo. It seems that the smaller the animal organism the larger the number of neck bones. The giraffe, for instance, has only seven bones in his long neck, which has a reach of nearly twenty feet from the ground. That little white throated sparrow over there is only three inches high, but he has fourteen bones in his neck and can almost scratch the back of his head with his bill. The swan has twenty-three neck bones and swings his head about with even greater freedom than a snake."

THE PLEBEIANS.

Their Secession From Rome and Their Rise to Power.

Plebeians were the commons of Rome, who were originally forbidden all political rights. They were for the most part poor and were not allowed to intermarry with the patricians. They served in the army without pay and were sold into slavery for debt and could even be cut into pieces for distribution among their creditors.

Finding their condition intolerable, the plebeians in 497 B. C. seceded to Mons Sacer, near Rome, where they resolved to build a new city. But this step so alarmed the privileged classes that they granted to the commons the right of annually choosing from their own numbers two magistrates, called tribunes, with power to protect them against the aggressions of the patricians.

After the lapse of about 200 years the disabilities of the plebeians were almost entirely removed, and between the years 356-300 B. C. they secured the dictatorship, the censorship and the praetorship as well as the right to be pontiff and augur. Thus the Roman republic, after two centuries of existence, finally secured a democratic form of government.

Short Stories.

A cubic foot of marble weighs 160 pounds.

Three-fourths of typhoid patients are under thirty.

Coolies in Borneo are indentured at $18 to $36 per year, with board and clothing.

Australian boomerangs and noiseless guns are both now seen in the same New York shop window.

In the matter of medicines and chemicals the United States does four times the trade in Canada that Great Britain does.

Alaska has three times the placer area California had. California has produced in fifty-nine years $1,400,000,000 in gold, and Alaska will produce three times as much when properly developed.

Home Helps.

When suede shoes become worn or shiny rub them with emery paper, and they will look like new.

To make silk that has been washed look like new put a teaspoonful of methylated spirits to a pint of rinsing water and iron while damp.

"To feed pared apple to the baby," says a woman, "run a white tape or cord through the apple and hang the cord around baby's neck. The apple cannot get away."

Never "boil" clothes. To do so makes them yellow. Instead prepare a boiling hot suds and pour this over them. Wash through this by hand, rinse and blue, and they will be white, and you will have no steamed up house.

British Briefs.

Officers of the civil service in New South Wales must insure their lives.

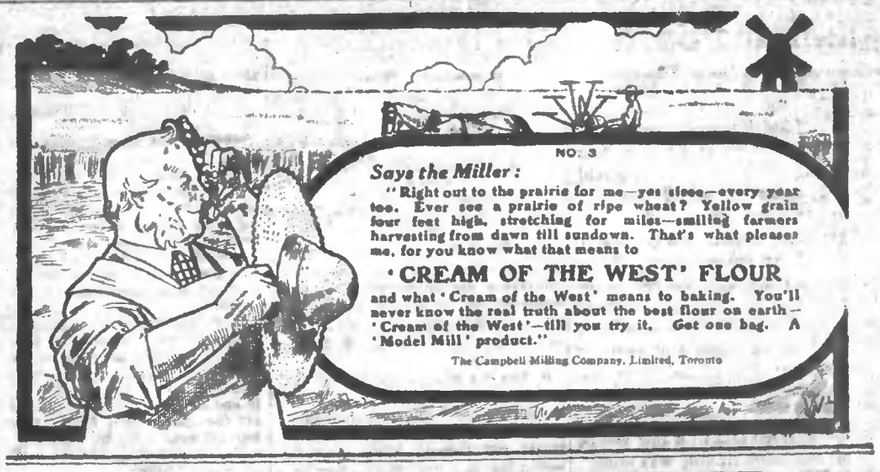
The city of London corporation consists of the lord mayor, twenty-five other aldermen and 206 common councilors.

The director of the Bank of England has a salary of only $10,000 a year. Of the 1,300 employees about 100 are women. The first cashier gets nearly twice as much as the director, and the total payroll amounts to over $1,000,000.

Sweat and Perspire.

It is possible to tell almost exactly when the more elegant "perspire" drove out the vulgar "sweat." According to a writer in the London Gentleman's Magazine in 1791, "for some time past neither man, woman nor child in Great Britain and Ireland of any rank or fashion has been subject to the gross form of exudation which was formerly known as 'sweat.' Now every mortal, except carters, coal heavers and chairmen, merely 'perspires.' For these twenty years past the word 'sweat' has been gradually becoming more and more odious."

Before 1770 or so "perspiration" commonly meant an insensible process, "sweating" the grosser variety thereof. In one of his sermons Wesley remarked that "during a night's sleep a healthy man perspires one part in four less when he sweats than when he does not." That would be meaningless today.



NO. 3
Says the Miller:
"Right out to the prairie for me—yes sirree—every year too. Ever see a prairie of ripe wheat? Yellow grain four feet high, stretching for miles—smiling farmers harvesting from dawn till sundown. That's what pleases me, for you know what that means to
'CREAM OF THE WEST' FLOUR and what 'Cream of the West' means to baking. You'll never know the real truth about the best flour on earth—'Cream of the West'—till you try it. Get one bag. A 'Model Mill' product."
The Campbell Milling Company, Limited, Toronto

O'Keefe's
Stout For Those Who Need A Tonic
We give you health, and safeguard your health, in O'KEEFE'S fine old STOUT.
We filter the water—filter the Stout after being brewed to take out all dregs and sediment—seal the bottles with Crown stoppers to prevent cork and tinfoil getting in the glass.
No wonder people, who drink O'KEEFE'S STOUT, get well and strong.
"The Stout That Is Always O.K."
The O'Keefe Brewery Co. Limited, • Toronto.
148
SPECIAL EXTRA MILD STOUT

A. ROUNTREE, AGENT, 416 WATER STREET.

MR. ASQUITH'S HEALTH.

He Is a Man of Remarkable Physique and Is Envy of His Colleagues.

There is a man in the British House of Commons who is in robust health—almost rude health, envious people might say, writes Chas. T. King in The Montreal Standard. He has been conserving his energies by keeping good hours and not spending too much time in the health-sapping, nerve-straining atmosphere of the House of Commons. At eleven o'clock at night—on the infrequent occasions when he is there—he looks as crisp, as warm-blooded, as happy, as strong, as physically and mentally vigorous and unblemished as any man in England. I look upon the health of this particular M.P. as one of the most important of all the mixed and mingled factors in the present strange political situation.

He is a man of splendid physical health, of fine temperament, and his brain is as strong as wrought iron. As to his party bias, his political views, I say at this moment nothing. But I believe his health and the fact of this thumping, crushing, mental precision and the pleasure he gets out of life are matters of more importance to the British people than most of the British people are aware.

The man is Mr. Asquith. For this almost ideal presentment of mental and physical strength shown in the personality of the present Prime Minister is proof that even when the Liberals come in again deeds of great daring and almost unthinkable political art must be performed before either Mr. Winston Churchill or Mr. Lloyd-George can become Prime Minister or head of the Liberal party.

Thus it means that something beyond the long period of exile from power promised by a reversal of the election verdict of 1906 must elapse before even such a politically-intoxicated and misled electorate as that can come under the unchecked tender mercies of either of these two fascinating politicians.

That, I think, is one of the outstanding features of the present week, the present time.

Not In Her Set.

"Why should we be so anxious to signal Mars?" asked Mrs. Cumrox.

"It would surely be desirable to know something of its inhabitants," replied the modest scientist.

"Do you think so? From what I read, I gather the idea that most of them are working on canals. Knowing as I do how some canal boatmen talk, I am very much inclined to let well enough alone."

PLAZA

Castle brand Collar

You'll like it right from the start—and there's nothing to beat it for style and wear.

2 CENTS FOR THREE

LOOK FOR THIS MARK

The matter appearing in this space from time to time is furnished by The Ontario Brewers' Association, who have arranged for its publication.

How Would You Like this Reported of Your Town?

...eight, sent skeleton ... case with gold mountings

GRIMSBY COLD TO MAYOR

Auto Party Couldn't Find Hotel and Had to Move on to Beamsville.

GRIMSBY, Oct. 17.—(Special)—A revised version of Old Mother Hubbard would fit the experiences of Mayor Oliver of Toronto and a party who arrived here late last night in two automobiles.

They found the town bare of hotel accommodation, and, altho it was nearly midnight, had to re-embark and steer a course for Beamsville.

When Grimsby went "dry" several years ago the hotels went out of business, and the "Village Inn," a finely appointed hotel run on "temperance" lines, threw up the sponge after the vote to repeal local option was defeated last January by a slender majority. Consequently there is no provision for the travelling public, as Mayor Oliver found to his cost.

...CPAC...

From Toronto World, Oct. 18, 1909

Local option drives trade to the next town, as even scanty hotel accommodation cannot be found for travellers.

Local option, therefore, injures business and depreciates property values.

Local option abolishes the sale of light beers and wines in sanitary hotels under proper license supervision, and substitutes therefor the sale of adulterated whiskey in low dens.

Vote Against Local Option so that your Town may not be given the go-by. 11

Mrs. T. Duncan MacGregor wishes to express her thanks to

The General Animals Insurance Company and their representative here, MR. W. H. HILL, for the payment of an Insurance on a fast horse, Allan H., which was insured in their Company and died recently as the result of an accident sustained in a pasture field, and also to thank T. JOHNSTON, the Company's V. S., for the interest taken in the animal during its illness.

Sinking Spells Every Few Days

"At the time I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy I was having sinking spells every few days. My hands and feet would get cold; I could scarcely breathe, and could feel myself gradually sinking away until I would be unconscious. Those about me could not tell there was life in me. After these spells I would be very weak and nervous, sleepless and without appetite; had neuralgia in my head and heart. After taking the remedy a short time all this disappeared and in a few weeks all the heart trouble was gone."
MRS. LIZZIE PAINTER
803½ 3d Ave. Evansville, Ind.

For twenty years we have been constantly receiving just such letters as these. There is scarcely a locality in the United States where there is not some one who can testify to the merits of this remarkably successful Heart Remedy.

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy is sold by all druggists. If the first bottle fails to benefit, your druggist will return your money.
MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

à la Grâce HIGH GRADE Corsels FULLY GUARANTEED
NONE BETTER MADE

December Coal
7.50 Per Ton Cash

YOU KNOW just what you need for the winter. Why delay? Order this month and save.

COAL
For Every Purpose.
WOOD
Any way you want it.

The Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Company, Limited
162 CHARLOTTE ST.
PHONE—Bell, 270-261. Mach., 270
134 AYLMER ST.
PHONE— . . . . Bell 269

B. SHORTLY'S
— for —
NEW YEAR PRESENTS

Every year more and more people find here just what they are looking for in the Gift line, such as

Trunks Satchels
Travelling Bags
Shopping Bags
Suit Cases Purses
Fitted-Out Bags
and Club Bags
for both ladies and gentlemen
Wallets, Pocket Books
Nothing Nicer for New Year Gifts

We never had a better assortment, either in quality and design, and the prices will be found very reasonable and adaptable to every purse.

Sign of the Horse - George Street

The Children's Aid Society
For the Care of Neglected and Ill-Treated Children.
Incorporated by act of Legislature. Information required. Informant's name kept strictly private.
Children for Adoption
GEO. COCHRANE,
Bell Phone. 339 — Agent and Asst.-Sec. 765 George St.

Spruce Up For The NEW YEAR
And have your Cutters and Sleighs repaired and put in good condition when the snow flies. By
BEN YELLAND
174 Murray Street.

SELECTING THE BRONZE TURKEY.

A Thanksgiving Story.

By PORTE JEFFERSON.
(Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.)

Amanda Butler cautiously opened the door of the turkey shed and flashed the rays of her lantern until they fell broadcast on the clumsy form of a large turkey in the corner. He roused as she approached and stretched himself for action.

It was the work of an instant for Amanda's nimble fingers to flash up to his legs, and when she darted back there dangled from one foot a strip of bright red flannel. When Amanda locked the door and turned away the victim of her craftiness was protesting loudly against the absurdity of wearing red flannel in August.

Jeremiah sat on the doorstep in his shirt sleeves, smoking a peaceful pipe.

"There," panted Amanda as she put out the lantern and sat down beside him and fanned herself with her sunbonnet; "I've got one job done."

"What's that?" queried Jeremiah lazily.

"Marked the Thanksgiving turkey."

"Which one?"

"The big bronze one. I've had him in mind for some time. He always roosts in the shed, so I caught him asleep just now and tied a red rag on his leg. I'll shut him up come the 1st of November."

"The big bronze turkey always roosts in the walnut tree. That's why I s'lected him for Thanksgiving dinner," remarked Mr. Butler deliberately. "Him a-roosting out of doors shows he has wild tastes, and what tastes better than wild turkey, I wanter know?"

Amanda received this unconscious witticism on her husband's part in stony silence.

"Of course I mean the biggest of them two bronze fellers," added Jeremiah after awhile.

"I marked the biggest," said Amanda acidly.

Jeremiah whistled one stanza of "The Star Spangled Banner," knocked his pipe against the step and went into the house. A moment later Amanda heard him winding the kitchen clock preparatory to retiring for the night.

"PETE JONES IS COMING AROUND TO KILL THE TURKEY."

"A woman that's married might as well give up trying to have her way about anything," murmured Amanda discontentedly. "Just as if I didn't know that there turkey in the shed was the biggest of the two! If I don't eat that turkey I'll not eat any—so there! I'll show Jeremiah Butler I've got some gumption if I am a poor, miserable married woman!"

Having delivered herself of these sentiments, Amanda felt more cheerfully disposed and in her turn retired to bed, where her husband was already breathing loudly and harmoniously.

The next morning when she went out to feed the poultry two big bronze gobblers were stalking about the yard, each with a rag about one leg. The red flannled turkey ruffled indignantly every time his beady eye caught sight of the objectionable color on his foot. The other one gazed mournfully at a piece of black tape that adorned his extremity.

Jeremiah crossed the yard with foaming pails of milk.

"What's that there black rag?" demanded Amanda angrily.

Her husband looked quizzically at her and then went on. "That there turkey is in mourning because he's going to be killed for Thanksgiving dinner," he said dryly.

Amanda said no more, but her plump face grew very pink, and her smooth forehead was creased in an anxious frown.

That morning the rival turkeys fought bitterly. Whether it was the red flannel which aroused the mourning turkey's gorge I cannot say. It is sufficient to note that they fought fairly and that the red flannel gentleman put the other to open flight. When it was all over Amanda went out and smilingly picked up several handfuls of bronze feathers.

Jeremiah, who had witnessed the battle through a crack in the barn door, grinned openly and went back to his neglected garden.

At night a remarkable thing happened. The victorious wearer of red sought a roost in the walnut tree, while the mourning turkey ignominously found refuge in the shed, and, strange to relate, he chose the very spot vacated by his rival.

All that summer and early fall Amanda and Jeremiah avoided the subject of turkeys. After awhile others noticed that the topic was a disagreeable one, and so it was tacitly avoided by every one.

The first of November two bronze gobblers nervously paced two narrow pens. The red flannel turkey was generously fed by Amanda, while the black tape bird was as conscientiously stuffed by her husband.

Amanda grew nervous and irritable as the weeks wore on toward Thanksgiving. She did not really care which turkey she ate, for it had been a prosperous year with them, and she was thankful in every sense for the fullness of their cellar and granary. What she really did mind was the giving in to Jeremiah. She had always been the one to give in, and this time—it did seem for once as if he might let her have her way. It was true she had her way about everything concerning the household, but—

She baked and boiled and stewed for a fragrant week before the great feast day. There would be cousins from neighboring towns to dine with them, and the turkey must be slain and prepared the day before. Such a huge bird would be plenty for the ten who would be present. Amanda wished she might invite more, so that there would be some excuse for killing both birds, and thus cut the gordian knot of contention without loss of dignity to either Jeremiah or herself.

On the evening of the second day before Thanksgiving, Jeremiah Butler and Amanda sat in the warm circle of light cast by the reading lamp. Jeremiah was reading the county paper, and his wife was sewing.

Suddenly Jeremiah looked up. "Pete Jones is coming around to kill the turkey tomorrow morning," he said, with assumed carelessness. "He'll get it all dressed and ready for you."

"I've been thinking," said Amanda slowly, "that you might as well kill that there black tape turkey of yours. He looks pretty well conditioned, and he's the biggest bird after all. I don't feel like as if I could have any contention this Thanksgiving. We've been so prospered this year."

Jeremiah coughed dubiously. "Amanda," he began rather sheepishly, "I did kind of a fool thing last summer. When you tied a rag on your turkey I went out the next morning and changed them rags. That's why your turkey went to roost with a black rag and mine went back to his tree with a red one. I meant it for a joke at first. I thought I'd have my way about killing the black one, and when we was eating it I was going to tell you it was your bird after all, but it looks silly now."

"It was silly," said Amanda energetically. "I about made myself sick over them two turkeys. I don't know if I wanter eat neither one. If I had known you was trying to joke—why, I don't know as I ever knew you to make a joke, Jeremiah!"

"I never did before," said Jeremiah, with a sickly smile. "I guess I won't again. I'll tell Pete to kill the black rag turkey, and then it'll be the one you s'lected."

"I'd rather have the wild flavored one," admitted Amanda. "I'm partial to wild turkeys. Then it was your turkey that fit mine and made him run after all." She glanced at the bronze feathers above the clock.

"That there wild one was a gamy bird," chuckled Jeremiah, with another break into unconscious wit.

The next day when Pete Jones came to kill the turkey he found Jeremiah and Amanda busily engaged in cleaning silver.

"Which one of them two bronze gobblers shall I kill? One's as fat as t'other, and each one's got a dirty rag tide around his foot."

Jeremiah looked critically at a fork he was polishing, and then he turned a quizzical smile upon his wife.

"Kill 'em both, Pete, and take one home for yourself."

"And whichever one it is, Pete, enjoy it!" smiled Amanda at her reflection in a teaspoon.

Health Declines When Kidneys Fail

After experimenting for nearly 20 years Dr. Hamilton discovered an absolute specific for weak kidneys. His pills of mandrake and butternut cure permanently.

Can you afford to delay? No, your interest compels you to use this certain cure now—to-day. Only take Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and an absolute recovery is guaranteed. In thousands of cases relief has been instantaneous. Such was the experience of James G. Gordon of Marysville.

TWENTY YEARS A SUFFERER.

"My kidneys bothered me for twenty years. I had gnawing pains in the back, and my limbs ached with weariness all the time. My digestion was poor, and I had specks before my eyes.

"Dr. Hamilton's Pills helped me from the first day. Relief was immediate. They restored me, and my health's better than ever."

Hamilton's Pills Cured

All complaints kindred to kidney disease are prevented by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Their use insures you against Diabetes, Bright's Disease, and liver trouble. No house should be without such a valuable medicine. Sold everywhere by druggists, 25c per box, or five for $1.00.

Zanzibar's Young Sultan.

The Sultan of Zanzibar, who is once more visiting England, is no stranger to those shores, for he was educated at Harrow and at Oxford, and, of course, speaks English perfectly. The Sultan's chief hobby is the collecting of clocks, of which he has a huge number in his far-off palace at Zanzibar. His Highness is quite a young man, but he has been married many years, having wedded his cousin when he was sixteen and when she was only eleven years old.

The matter appearing in this space from time to time is furnished by the Ontario Brewers' Association, who have arranged for its publication.

"Local Option is a failure in Owen Sound"

"The Pioneer," which is the leading Prohibition organ of Ontario, rests the whole case for Local Option upon these words: "Owen Sound is the largest town under Local Option in Ontario. If Local Option leads to business depression, to increased drinking to increased law violation, as the liquor interests declare it will, those results would have been felt in Owen Sound." In other words—if Local Option is a success anywhere, if Local Option ever had a fair test, it is in Owen Sound. Here is the TRUTH about what Local Option has actually done for Owen Sound:

It has Hurt Trade

Local Option has NOT lessened drunkenness, has NOT improved business nor the financial position of the people generally. Neither has it improved the moral tone of the citizens as a whole, but, on the contrary Local Option HAS INJURED LOCAL TRADE and lowered the moral well-being of very many.

Matthew Kennedy,
Ex-Mayor of Owen Sound.

It Has Multiplied Failures

In Owen Sound there have been more failures in the 19 months under Local Option than there were in seven years previous to Local Option. Property has depreciated in value from 20 to 25 per cent. Illegal selling of liquor is now carried on in over 100 places in town. Under the license system boys would not touch liquor,—under Local Option they are now carrying bottles.

J. P. Raven,
Banker.

It Has Created Drunkards

Local Option has been detrimental to the interests of Owen Sound, commercially and morally. It has been the means of young men drinking whiskey who used to be satisfied with a glass of lager beer. I am of the firm opinion that a strictly enforced license system is far better in controlling the liquor trade.

Samuel Lloyd
Of Lloyd & Scully, Wholesale Dealers in Farm Produce.

It Has Banished Prosperity

The Division Court Returns show that the citizens of Owen Sound have been less prosperous under Local Option because of hampered trade, and consequently less able to pay their debts. In 1905, the year before Local Option went into force, 584 suits were entered for trial. In 1906 there were 661 suits entered. In 1907 there were 836. In 1908 there were 733, and in 1909, up to Nov. 30th there were 628 suits arising from debts.

It Creates Discord

"I consider Local Option detrimental to the best interests of the town from a business point of view, as it has created discord and set up one portion of the town against the other. From a moral or temperance standpoint, I consider it the worst blow the temperance cause ever had in the town. I believe it will take a great many years before the sympathy of the people as a whole can again be secured through temperance movements, such as we had before Local Option was carried.

It has created more drinking among young men than there ever was in the town under a good license system. The arguments advanced when Local Option was advocated that the working classes would have more money to spend in foodstuffs have been proven to be absolutely wrong, as it has not been the case at all."

J. R. Brown,
Secretary Board of Trade, Owen Sound.

"We, the undersigned, citizens of the town of Owen Sound, beg to state that Local Option has not resulted in the lessening of drunkenness or the use of intoxicating liquors since it came into force in this town. We believe that, as compared with the working of the Ontario Liquor License Act, Local Option is a failure. Despite the diligent efforts of a most capable Government License Liquor Inspector, drunkenness is unquestionably far more prevalent amongst young men and boys, and far more open, especially on Sundays, than under the Ontario License Act."
(Signed)

NAME	BUSINESS	No of men employed
THE WM. KENNEDY & SONS, LIMITED.	Iron & Steel Founders Machinists &c	110
The North American Seat Chair Co., Limited	Chair Manufacturers	325
TAYLOR & PRINGLE CO., LIMITED.	Pickle Manufacturers	42 employees.
THE IMPERIAL CEMENT COMPANY, Limited	Cement Manufacturers	80 Employees.
CARNEY LUMBER COMPANY, LTD.	Saw Mills & Lumber	140 Employees
Harrison Bros	Flour & Woollen Mills	18
T. I. THOMSON	Hardware Merchants	16
McLauchlan & Sons Co., Limited.	Manufacturers	185
	Coal	10
LLOYD & SOULLY, OWEN SOUND	Produce Merchants
McDOUGAL & LEMON, Dealers in Fruit and Produce, OWEN SOUND, ONT.
THE DAVIS-SMITH-MALONE CO., Limited.	Cattle and Coal Merchants	40
John Harrison & Sons Company, Limited	Sawmill & Planing Mills	200
The GREY AND BRUCE PORTLAND CEMENT COMPANY OF SHALLOW LAKE, Limited.		40

Here are represented the important industries of Owen Sound—concerns employing nearly 1500 men—a prominent banker, a leading firm of barristers, well-known men in the fruit and produce trades—the business backbone of the community. They KNOW that Local Option is a FAILURE. They KNOW it increases drunkenness, increases debt, demoralizes the young, promotes lawlessness, retards progress. In the face of their positive statements, can you believe Local Option would work any differently where YOU live?

If YOU vote for Local Option you help debauch YOUR town

THE WEED PROBLEM.

Department of Agriculture Has Issued a Book on It.

This question of weeds is interesting to many; to the farmers it is of vital importance. That is why the Department of Agriculture has just issued a large book devoted to weeds. It is not an ordinary departmental blue book, forbidding in appearance and dry in matter. It is a book fit for the library, substantially and attractively bound, well printed on fine paper, and profusely and beautifully illustrated. And, best of all, it is filled with information presented in a most entertaining and instructive form.

Every farmer should have a copy and study it during his hours of leisure that approaching winter will bring to him. And, having studied it, he should begin next spring to put in practice the knowledge gained.

In this book will be found a description of practically every noxious weed known in Canada, and accompanying the description is a full-page colored plate of the weed. These plates are large, they have been carefully prepared, and are accurate representations of the weed in question. The book also relates the great loss sustained through weeds and it describes in detail the best manner of fighting them.

Take one weed for example, one whose bright, blue blossoms look pretty enough along a road side, and which is very common throughout Eastern Canada. It is wild chicory, also called wild succory and blue sailor. It is said to have a history, and like the history of so many things, it is downward and not upwards. In several countries of Europe, particularly in England and France, chicory was cultivated, principally for its root, although its leaves made good food for cattle. Its blanched leaves could also be made into a salad. But it is the root that is chiefly valuable. This is roasted, ground to a coarse powder and used either as a substitute for coffee or as an adulterant of coffee.

Many people liked the additional flavor it imparted to coffee, and as it gives off a deep brown color to water in which it is infused, it added the appearance of strength to coffee with which it is mixed.

The early French settlers of Canada brought out chicory seed and planted it, and the root became widely used for the purpose of making a beverage. But control was lost of the plant and it became wild, just as it is wild in England and France. The book on Farm Weeds tells all about it and how to fight it. And there are two hundred pages in the work filled with just such useful information.

Familiar Phrase.

"Drawing on his memory."

CORNS CURED IN 24 HOURS
You can painlessly remove any corn, callus, soft or bleeding, by applying Putnam's Extractor. It never burns, leaves no scar, satisfaction or no harmless because composed of healing gums and balms. Fifty years in use. Cure guaranteed. Sold by all druggists at 25c. Refuse substitutes.
PUTNAM'S PAINLESS CORN EXTRACTOR

MUSIC LESSONS FREE

The J. M. Greene Music Co., Limited, Opera House Building, are giving Free Music Lessons on all Instruments purchased from them during Xmas and New Year's.

Building Lots For Sale

THE PETERBORO SUGAR CO. PROPERTY has been cut up into lots, which are now offered for sale: lots 50-ft. frontage by 120-ft. in depth.

These lots are most desirable for building purposes, and any person contemplating the purchase of a lot for this purpose will do well to look over this property before purchasing elsewhere.

Ful particulars and all information can be had on application to

The Toronto Savings and Loan Company
437 George Street, City

FEEBLE OLD PEOPLE

may have strength and renewed vitality.

Vinol

contains the elements necessary to nourish every tissue and replace weakness with strength. Should it fail to do so in any case we refund the money paid us for the medicine used. Please try it.

McDERMID & JURY, Druggists, Peterboro, Ont.

Hotel Cumberland

NEW YORK CITY

BROADWAY AT 54th STREET

Near 50th St. Subway Station, 53d St. "L" and all surface lines.

Near Depots, Shops and Central Park. New and Fireproof, strictly First-Class. Rates Reasonable. $2.50 with Bath, and up. Art hardwood floors and Oriental Rugs. Ten minutes walk to twenty Theatres. Excellent Restaurant. Prices moderate.

SEND FOR BOOKLET

HARRY P. STIMSON
Formerly with Hotel Imperial

R. J. BINGHAM
Formerly with Hotel Woodward

Take a Trip to California-Colorado

or any part of the great West on the St. Louis-Colorado Limited

Leaving St. Louis Union Station daily at 2. 0 p. m. over the

Wabash and Union Pacific

The Shortest and Safest Route

Electric block signals—dining car meals a la carte—perfect track.

For literature, information, rates, etc., call on or address

J. A. Richardson, D. P. A.
Wabash R. R. Co.
43 Yonge St.
Toronto, Ontario

J. O. Goodsell, T. P. A.
Union Pacific R. R. Co.
Room 14, Janes Bldg.
Toronto, Ontario

What it Cost

10 Annual Premiums of $43 20 each, $432.—This represent the TOTAL COST of Policy No. 12267 for $1000 in

The Canada Life Assurance Co'y.

In other words $432 purchased a PAID UP POLICY for $1000, dated June 21st, 1878, on the 10 payment Life Plan, with dividends applied every 5 years to increase the policy as follows:—

Policy paid up.....	$1000.00
Dividend additions to 1909.....	648.75
The Company would pay.....	$1648.75

should the assured die to-day, and this amount will increase annually, so long as he lives.

Read The Top Line Again

Can you create an estate to compare or even approach this?

Don't Wait Until it is too Late.

DAVIS-THOMPSON COMPANY
LIMITED

Agents for Peterboro—433 George St.

EGGS!

for sale in any quantities.

PETERBOROUGH COLD STORAGE CO.

W. SCOTT & CO.

—OFFICES—

Cor. George & Hunter Both Phones 252
124 Robinson Street. Both Phones 124
(East City).

J. N. Watson

PAINTING, GRAINING, PAPER HANGING AND DECORATING

84 Chambers Street — Behind Examiner Office

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS

ANY PERSON who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

DUTIES.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

N.B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of Interior.

Sent on Approval

We know that you will be charmed with the New Scale Williams Piano.

We know that you will be delighted with its elegance and refinement.

We know that you will revel in its glorious tone—its tender touch—its magnificent action.

This is why we will select a

New Scale Williams Piano

—and ship it to you direct from the factory—subject to your approval

If, for any reason the piano which we select, does not give satisfaction, return it and we will pay the freight charges both ways.

Write us for full particulars about our Plan of Shipping New Scale Williams Pianos on approval, and buying them on Easy Payments.

THE WILLIAMS PIANO CO. LIMITED
OSHAWA, Ont. 115

"THE J. M. GREENE MUSIC CO., LTD., OPERA HOUSE BLOCK.

LET IT IN DUTY FREE.

Mr. Andrew Broder Would Admit Rooster on Condition.

Mr. Andrew Broder, the Federal member for Dundas County, and commonly known as the Abe Lincoln of the Canadian Parliament, is one of the people's representatives who believes in scattering sunshine and good will along not only the political but the business pathway. Previous to 1896, the year in which the pendulum at Ottawa swung to the Liberal side, Mr. Broder had for some time been occupying the position of collector of customs at Morrisburg. Since then he has continuously represented Dundas, Sir James Whitney's beloved constituency, in the Federal House.

But it was during Mr. Broder's occupancy of the customs office that several occurrences, humorous in character, are recorded. No doubt the new member for Dundas was zealous in the discharge of his duties. No doubt while occupying the chief desk at the receipt of customs the country's interests in that particular were in safe keeping. They truly were. But, after all, Mr. Broder, as was proper, viewed matters at times most kindly and humanly, and possibly was not too exacting as to the five yards of store print for Mary's dress, if he thought the purchase had made heavy inroads on the purchaser's finances.

But apart from such a missionary spirit many specially interesting happenings are narrated. Among others is told the following. Once upon a time, during his tenure of office, a citizen had crossed the border from Uncle Sam's country, having in charge a very pretty rooster. Of course the importer of the fowl was anxious as to the amount of duty on the bird, and Mr. Broder took up the issue in a very matter-of-course way. He enquired very closely as to the former place of residence of the feathered creature, its ancestral history, why it was coming to Canada, the likely location of its new home in the back concessions, and all the rest, until the owner of the fowl thought matters were being pretty thoroughly sifted. And then Mr. Broder, in apparent seriousness, broke forth after this fashion: "I will charge you no duty, whatever, if you make me one promise."

"Well, what might that be?" hastily inquired the astonished owner.

"That is," replied the officer, "that you agree to never permit this Yankee rooster to crow on a Canadian farmyard."

BRUCE MAN'S GREAT IDEA.

How an Enterprising Ontario Man Made a Fortune in the West.

There is no limit to the enterprise of the typical man from Bruce county. He can be found in almost any part of the English speaking world, and he is always engaged in some profitable calling that no one else has thought of. A few years ago a Bruce county lad went west with a harvesters' excursion and decided to settle in southern Alberta. He made one discovery that other people had made but which no one had the sight of turning into account. It was that in the rarefied air of the foothills there is "no such malady among horses as the heaves." On further investigation he discovered that the air of the region was such that a horse could not maintain an attack of heaves even if he wanted to. Now in old Ontario his malady is a curse which the average farmer never fathomed. He only knows that it is a sort of asthma which turns an otherwise docile beast to a roaring and unpleasant nuisance, unfits him for hard work and puts down his value by about three-fourths. A poor old plug with a chronic attack of the heaves is so pathetic an object that farmers have been known to shoot a horse in his prime who became so afflicted.

The Bruce man was struck with a fine idea. Horses were needed in southern Alberta and commanded a high figure. So he wrote east to his brother on the old place at home to buy all the afflicted animals that he could pick up for a paltry figure. The brother had no difficulty in gathering together a carload. On arrival at High River they were turned out to grass. In a few weeks all the roaring had ceased and the horses were fat and frisky. They sold for four or five times the price they had cost in Ontario and the Bruce lad laid the foundation of a fortune which threatens to make him one of the big men of the west.

Windsor's Industrial Boom.

Windsor grins in glee over press talk of a tariff war between Canada and the United States. Already Windsor and vicinity can boast of more branch American factories than any other locality in the country and more are coming all the time. There is an industrial boom there that accounts for the big increase yearly in population and assessment.

For Women's Needs

Every woman should fortify herself against those weaknesses and derangements which are usually present at times when Nature makes extra demands upon the system.

For women's special ailments there is no known remedy so safe and reliable as

Beecham's Pills

These pills possess corrective and tonic properties which have a marked effect upon the general health and promptly relieve nervousness, sick headache, depression, backache, weakness and other unpleasant symptoms. Beecham's Pills establish healthy conditions and furnish

Help at the Right Time

Sold Everywhere. In Boxes 25 cents

Greek vs. Mathematics.

The senate of Queen's University have discussed a resolution to remove the advantage which Greek has on arts curriculum over other subjects. Some years ago, in order to encourage the study of Greek, it was provided that by taking up that subject arts students would be absolved from the necessity of taking some other subjects, one of which was mathematics. Supporters of the resolution for a change argue that no student should leave college without having been obliged to give some of his time to the study of so important and so practical a subject as mathematics. On the other hand opponents of the resolution contend that the study of Greek is being neglected in the schools of the country and should be encouraged. No vote was taken, and the resolution will be further discussed.

Dilettante Alpinists.

The real Alps are not civilized. Never can they be civilized. True, highways have been built so that horse and motor can go where once only the guide led the way. The modern hotel is beside the clear blue lake under the shadow of the snow clad mountain, sometimes high upon a spur it has thrown out. You can linger over your table d'hote listening to the orchestra, dance all the evening, take baths, stroll on the promenades at the fashionable hour and say you have "done" the Alps. Yet you may only have seen them miles above you and have had not even a taste of the exhilaration, the joy of living, that comes only to the mountaineer. Then there is another way of saying you have been an Alpinist—a day or so walking amid the foothills on the lower slopes along the paths that have been trodden for centuries, worn smooth by peasant feet. Looking from some viewpoint upon the valley a thousand feet below, the visitor imagines that this is indeed mountaineering. But he does not know he is merely going over the pathways where the home people have gone, as their fathers and forefathers went from chalet to hamlet, to sell their cheese or eggs, or in their Sunday dress to hear the good man of the church—and forget it all in the neighborly gossip after service.—Putnam's Magazine.

Queer Sort of Borrow.

He was displaying with much pride a silver dollar "pocket piece."

"One of my best friends," he said, patting it fondly. "Have had it ten years, and during that time have been dead broke half a hundred times and in actual need of food and a bed quite often."

"What!" a listener exclaimed. "Keep a dollar from sentiment and go hungry and sleepless?"

"I didn't say so," the other replied "I never went that far. You see, when I'm so hard pressed I use the coin as collateral. I borrow another dollar and give this one as security—to be held till called for. Queer sort of borrow, isn't it? But the coin's too good a friend to desert."

Identified Her.

A story of lovely woman's ability to rise superior to those petty details which so often hamper, fetter and mollify the operations of any mere man is told of a Harrison woman who tried to have a check cashed at a bank where she was not known, says the Newark Call. The usual remarks were made by the cashier concerning the need of identification, to which the woman immediately replied: "Oh, well that's easy. I can always be identified by this mole on my cheek."

A Mistaken Cure.

"Jehoiel!" yelled the composer.

"Yes, dear," called back the gentle wife.

"Why in thunder don't you keep that kid quiet? What ails it?"

"I can't think, dear. I'm singing one of your lullabies to the poor little darling!"—Lippincott's.

A Potential Difference.

"Pa, what's the difference between idealism and realism?"

"Idealism, my son, is the contemplation of marriage; realism is being married."

The world is a ladder for some to go up and others to come down.—French Proverb.

CANADIAN IS CHIEF.

Son of Minister Now Leads the "Flying Rollers."

Once more the strange "Jezreelite" sect and their temple, the huge, square, windowless building on the top of Chatham Hill, North Kent, England, have claimed public attention. The remnant of "the New and Latter House of Israel" have been ejected from Jezreel's Tower by a sheriff's officer owing to the rent being $250 in arrear. The official, armed with an order granted by the Rochester County Court, turned out the twenty people, including children, who still remain faithful to the weird religion. "Prince Michael," the leader of the sect, was away, and returned to find the building locked against him. The "prince" and his followers took lodgings in the neighborhood, and later the amount owing was paid.

The remarkable tower, which can be seen for many miles around, is inseparably connected with one of the oddest of the many strange religions which have sprung up in the country. Over thirty years ago a private soldier bought his discharge from the army and proclaimed himself the prophet of a new sect, calling himself "James Jershom Jezreel." He claimed that he had received from Heaven through an intermediary at Jerusalem a document of Divine origin, which he called "The Flying Roll." Extracts were given from this and sold to the disciples of the sect, but no one has ever seen the Flying Roll itself.

"Jezreel" soon gathered hundreds of credulous followers, who, as prescribed by their faith, let their hair grow long. He soon gained a considerable fortune, married a beautiful Chatham girl named Esther Rogers, and lived almost as luxuriously as the "Prophet" Dowie. A quarter of a century ago he started building the temple, which was to hold 5,000. It was to save the elect at the destruction of the world. The Flying Roll stated that the number to be saved was 144,000. Neither Jezreel nor the Roll made it clear where the remaining 139,000 were to be accommodated.

One mistake, however, was made by Jezreel. He said he would live forever. But he died, and the sect would have received a grievous set-back but for the promptitude of Mrs. Jezreel, who said that, after all, she was the real prophet, and proclaimed herself as Queen Esther. Three years later she also died. For a time the sect languished under the control of the eldely brother-in-law of the founder. The building, being gaunt and incomplete, was sold and part of it was rented to the Jezreelites. But the rent fell into arrears, and they were ejected after a struggle with unregenerate policemen.

Three years ago the Jezreelites were adopted by a new leader—an engineer and the son of a Canadian Nonconformist minister. He is the self-styled Prince Michael. He is middle-aged, thick-set man, with flowing beard and twinkling eyes.

Haggart the Oldest.

An interesting study at the beginning of every Parliament is to discover who the oldest members are, as the number of those who were returned to Parliament in '896, when Sir Wilfrid Laurier attained power, is now very rapidly diminishing, the following is the list of the thirty who remain:

Conservatives—Major Thos. Bastie, London; R. L. Borden, Halifax; Andrew Broder, Dundas; Hon. Geo. E. Foster, North Toronto; Hon. J. G. Haggart, South Lanark; David Henderson, Halton; Col. Sam Hughes, Victoria and Haliburton; F. D. Monk, Jacques Cartier; William B. Northrup, East Hastings; E. B. Osler, West Toronto; Dr. John J. Reid, Grenville; Dr. W. J. Roche, Marquette; Dr. T. S. Sproule, East Grey; Geo. Taylor, Leeds; Uriah Wilson, Lennox and Addington; W. F. Maclean, South York—16.

Liberals—Sir Fred. Borden, King's; Hon. L. P. Brodeur, Rouville; J. P. Brown, Chateauguay; Jos. Acethier, Two Mountains; Hon. W. S. Fielding, Shelburne and Queen's; Hon. Sydney A. Fisher, Brome; Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Quebec East; Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, Gaspe; D. B. Meiga, Missisquoi; Hon. Frank Oliver, Edmonton; Hon. Wm. Paterson, Brant; Hon. Clifford Sifton, Brandon; O. E. Talbot, Bellechasse; John Tolmie, North Bruce.—14.

The father of the House is Hon. Mr. Haggart, who was born in 1836, and is thus 73 years of age. He has been in public life since 1867, when he became mayor of Perth. He was elected to Parliament in 1873 and has held his seat without defeat ever since. He was appointed Postmaster-General by Sir John A. Macdonald in 1888.

Strength of Position.

The United States begins to recognize the strength of Canada's position and no doubt the justice or the advantage of retaliatory legislation. At any time the United States can have better trade relations with Canada by reducing its duties to the Canadian level.—Toronto News.

Best In Wealth.

The great increase in the immigration to Canada from the United States is one of the features of the year and bespeaks even greater increases in the future. And, what is more, the settlers from the United States are amongst the best in the Canadian West.—Calgary News.

PILES CURED at HOME

by New Absorption Method.

If you suffer from bleeding, itching, blind or protruding Piles, send me your address, and I will tell you how to cure yourself at home by the absorption treatment; and will also send some of this home treatment free for trial, with references from your own locality if requested. Immediate relief and permanent cure assured. Send no money, but tell others of this offer. Write to-day to Mrs. M. Summers, Box 231 Windsor, Ont.

If your baking goes wrong, investigate — find the cause. Look to your stove, your yeast, your baking methods.

If you succeed in pinning the trouble down to the flour—then take up the flour question in dead earnest.

Consider that flour, to be successful from a baking standpoint, must be fine to produce light bread or pastry, pure to make that bread or pastry wholesome, and rich in nutriment to make it nourishing.

Ogilvie's Royal Household has these three qualities in the greatest degree.

Ogilvie's Royal Household is milled by the most modern methods, and made only from Manitoba Hard Wheat which contains the highest percentage of nutriment.

Royal Household Flour never disappoints.

20

Ogilvie Flour Mills Co., Limited, Montreal.

The matter appearing in this space from time to time is furnished by The Ontario Brewers' Association who have arranged for its publication.

"Blind Pig" or Decent Bar?

Under license, men drink moderately, and are restricted to good behavior. No Ontario licensed bartender dare sell to a drunken man, nor to a minor—his very living depends upon the decency of his bar. Under local option, men drink by stealth and to excess—because there is no restraint. Local option substitutes the "blind pig" for the decent bar, and the seller welcomes minors.

Local option hurts the community that tries it. Owen Sound proves that.

In every community where local option has been tried, drunkenness has increased. In one Ontario town arrests for drunkenness have increased 80 per cent. under local option.

Naturally. For when men drink by stealth, hidden from the eyes of their community, they drink far more than they would (or would be allowed to) under license. Their self-respect, and the law, keeps them straight. Local option hides and increases intemperance—never checks it.

Local Option Makes Drunkards

8

Moir's

Our Name on Bottom of Each Chocolate

To make it easy for particular people to avoid deception and to procure, with certainty, the finest flavored, smoothest coated, richest of all chocolate bonbons, we engrave the name MOIR'S on the bottom of each chocolate. None genuine without the name.

Each box is a series of continual surprises—so widely varied are the delightful flavors.

He who brings Moir's is assured "her" sweetest smile.

Chocolates

AWARDED GOLD MEDAL at DOMINION EXHIBITION

MOIRS, Limited, HALIFAX, N.S.

Your BATHROOM Warmed in TEN MINUTES with a

Collier Electric Radiator

It does not burn the air. What a boon. A fine warm room and pure air. In the sick room it is invaluable. Used wherever you have an electric lamp. Ask us about it. Only $7.00.

COLLIER - CUNNINGHAM CO'Y. Limited

Phone 666. 77 Simcoe st.

BABBITT METAL

All Grades for All Requirements

We are BABBITT METAL SPECIALISTS

Write for "ALL ABOUT BABBITT"

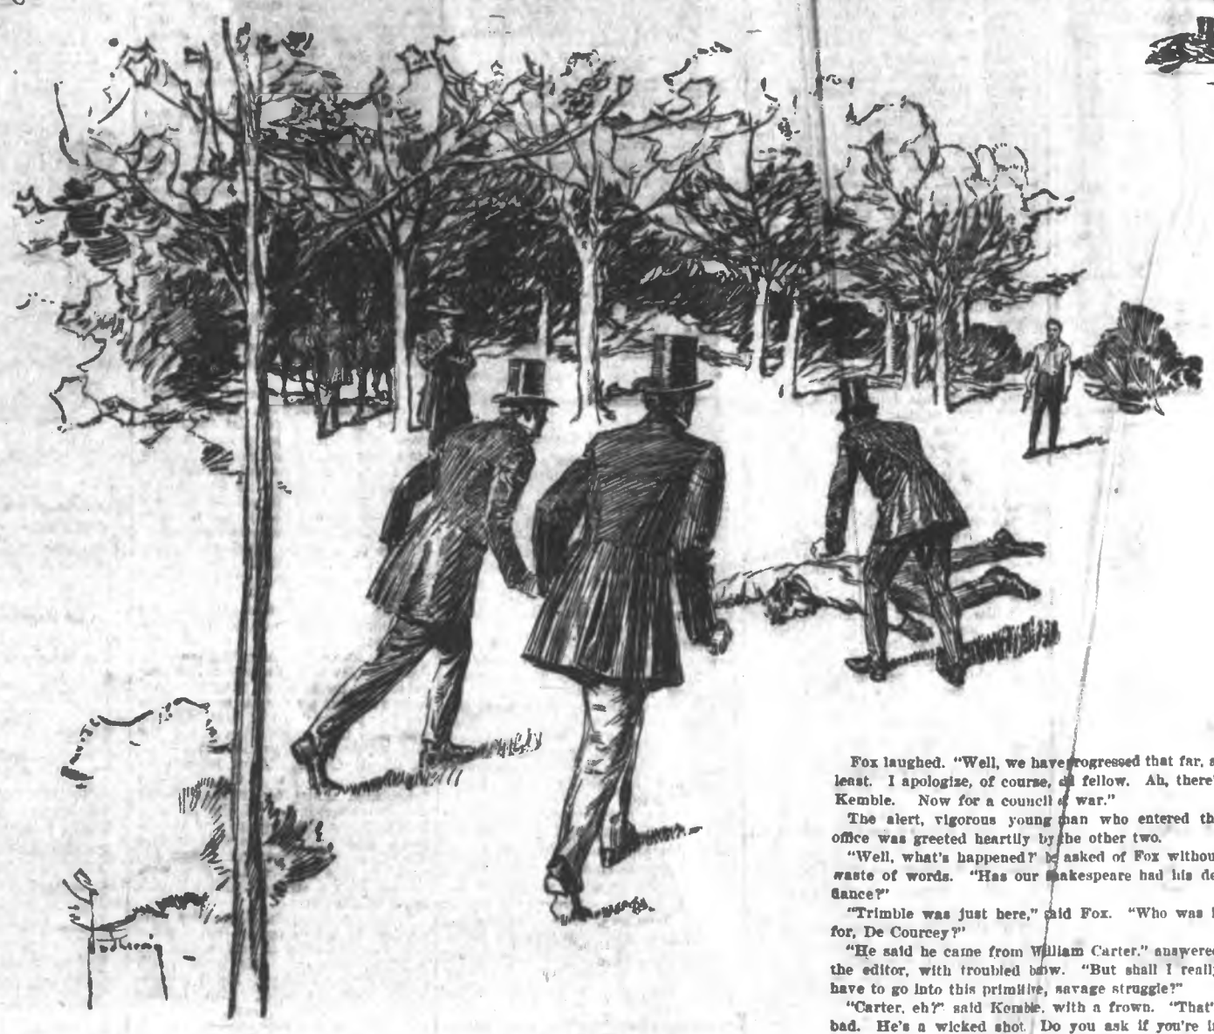
THE CANADA METAL CO., Limited

Toronto, Ont.

A FIGHTING EDITOR

THE DAY OF THE DUEL

(A True Story)



THE SURGEON RAN TO HIM, FOLLOWED BY TWO FRIENDS.

(Copyright, 1910, by the New York Herald Co. All Rights Reserved.)

"THERE'LL be trouble if you print that editorial," said Fox, looking up with a frown from a damp proof sheet.

"Liberty of the press, my boy," answered De Courcey.

"Liberty to get daylight bored through you," growled Fox. "I tell you, Harry, you'll wish you'd broken an arm before it ever penned this. Genius is good, but certain readers of the Calaveras Chronicle are likely to mistake the subtleties of that same genius for ordinary personal abuse."

Fox knew De Courcey, admired him and feared for him in the rôle he had newly undertaken of commentator upon political events in a community that took its politics very seriously and with one hand on its pistol. And as Fox took in the picture he shook his head.

"You're hopeless, Harry," he said. "You must know the risk you run when you mix in with delicate affairs in Yolo county. Down here, when a man expresses an opinion it is taken for granted that he's ready and anxious for a chance to back it up with bullets."

"You do Yolo county an injustice," said De Courcey. "Where there's intimidation directed against the press there can be neither democracy nor justice. We are still in America, though in a rather unfinished part of it, and Americans will neither undertake nor tolerate interference with the free criticism of individuals and institutions within the law."

Fox stared at him.

"There's a novel sentiment!" he cried. "Why, how do you account for the scores of duels and the other scores of shootings at sight that have proceeded from the exercise of this divine right of the pen?"

"Ah," said De Courcey, smiling blandly, "but in each case I think you will find that the writer himself was a man of strife, one whose qualities and bearing invited personal retaliation. I am a man of peace, committed only to warring with words. If any man chooses to differ with me the same method is open to him in reply."

AN UNDIGNIFIED CHAIR.

NEW YORK, Saturday.

"IN my callow youth I was once assistant to an undertaker," said a portly, smiling individual in the café of the Hotel Astor a few days ago. "Strange but true, and the manner of my leaving the profession was still stranger.

"It was a sizable Maine town to which I took my gifts when I first started in search of a calling, and the undertaker was the only man who would give me a job. The first important case, if I may call it that, upon which I was engaged was the funeral of an old resident, an immensely wealthy and very eccentric man, whose chief claim to fame lay in the remarkable collection of curiosities from all lands with which he had surrounded himself.

"Part of my duty was to attend to the seating of the persons about the coffin preparatory to the services, and I was quite proud of the orderly and convenient manner in which I had arranged the chairs in the large parlor. I had reserved one row conspicuously in front of and to one side of the rest of the company for members of the family. On the end of this row I had placed a large, clumsy chair, with a solid back and very heavy legs.

"The room was nearly filled and the ceremonies were waiting upon the appearance of the relatives. Finally they arrived in a sort of black garbed procession, and the others stopped whispering to watch them. The place was very quiet. I stepped forward and pushed the end chair a little to one side to allow the passage of the little group.

"At that instant a most remarkable thing happened. a thing that to tell of still sends icy chills along my back. The chair on which I had my hand began to move, of its own accord, and a thin strain of metallic music wafted through the room. I can only suppose that the sensations of the others there present were similar to my own. I dropped the chair as if it had bit me and jumped away in terror. The company sat petrified.

"Left to its own devices, the chair began a kind of solemn jig, keeping a halting time with the music box melody, which came, apparently, from under its upholstered seat. It hopped and swayed and pirouetted for all the world like a fat dervish on a spree. It was ribald in its uncanniness. It had the open space before the coffin all to itself, and it made the most of it. The tension in the room lasted a full minute, and then a dozen persons started for the doors. A niece of the dead man stopped them. She explained that the chair was one of her uncle's curiosities.

"'Some one must have touched the spring,' she said, and looked at me. My employer took the hint, and in the glare he gave me I read the end of my employment with him.

"'Take the thing out of here, quick,' he whispered, and while the company stared and the music tinkled I captured the chair and dragged it out of the room. I got it down in the lower hall and relished it, whereupon it promptly renewed its weird dance. I had overcome my fear by this time and was just about to examine the mechanism of the extraordinary contrivance when my employer's fierce whisper reached me down the stairs.

"'Get away from here with that, you scoundrel! Do you want to ruin me?'

"I caught up the offending piece of furniture and started for the basement with it, thinking I would be well out of earshot there. On the top step I stumbled and I went the full flight in one grand revolving, crashing descent. When I sat up at the bottom with an aching head to take inventory of the disaster a mass of wires, wheels, cogs, broken wood and torn horsehair was all that remained of the dancing chair."

Fox gave up the attempt to impress a sense of his danger upon this confident scribe. "All right," he said. "We'll let it go at that. Meanwhile, on the flat ground of friendship, I advise you to confine your efforts to generalities and innocuous subjects. In this," he added, striking the proof before him with his open hand, "you are merely courting trouble."

"As how?" asked De Courcey, imperturbably.

"Because you mention names," snapped Fox. "It's all right to lambaste the Vigilantes, though they're the strongest force for law and order we've got. But if you jump on Judge Lynch, with capitals, and there happens to be an individual of that title in the vicinity look out for consequences."

"I've mentioned no one who is not notorious," said De Courcey calmly. "The men all took part in the hanging of José Savires last week. Every resident of the county knows it, and this presents an unequalled opportunity for protest. I shall print it."

"All right," said Fox, rising. "Then I'm going to send for Ed Kemble without any delay. If you're determined to have a lesson, why, all your friends can do is to make sure that you're treated square."

Editor Not Hampered.

On the morning following this conversation the people of the town of Washington, Yolo county, had an opportunity to read a very able and forceful denunciation of the recent Vigilante activity. What was of especial interest to them was the fact that the editor of the Calaveras Chronicle had not been hampered in his comments by a prevailing reticence regarding the names of the men involved.

"Looks like that dandy boy with the long hair has been polishin' up somethin' more than his shirt front," observed a leading resident, as he ranged the bottles behind his altar of refreshment.

The opinion expressed by the leading citizen was the one chiefly adopted by his patrons and the public at large. It was conceded that the earlier estimate of De Courcey as a retiring and inoffensive maker of rhymes and harmless sentiments had been hastily formed. The proud yeomen of Yolo were quite ready to admit their error, fully awake to the dramatic element involved in this sudden transformation of a fashion plate into a fire breathing man of battle.

In the meanwhile, De Courcey, unaware of the new interest and respect attaching to his person, reached his dingy little office and turned his attention to routine. To him entered presently his youthful assistant with the information that there was a gentleman outside desiring audience. Inasmuch as "outside" was nothing more than the doorstep, De Courcey, surprised at such remarkable formality, hastened to invite the visitor inside.

Whereupon there appeared Josiah Trimble, a lawyer and a small politician.

"Ah—do I have the honor of addressing the editor of the Chronicle?" he asked.

De Courcey felt vaguely that important affairs were pending.

"Why, yes, Mr. Trimble," he returned. "I believe we have met before. Won't you sit down?"

"Ah—possibly we have, though the circumstance had slipped my mind. Thank you, no; my mission does not permit of my seating myself," said Mr. Trimble, with studied politeness. "I am the accredited representative of Mr. William F. Carter." He paused impressively.

"Indeed," said De Courcey. "Mr. Carter is, I believe, a lawyer, like yourself."

"He is, sir," said Mr. Trimble. "And I may add, sir, that Mr. Carter is a gentleman. Need I say more?"

"No, of course not," replied De Courcey, readily.

"Then perhaps you will be so good as to give me the name of some friend who will undertake this service for you."

"Friend? Service? What service?" inquired the bewildered De Courcey.

Mr. Trimble glared at him disapprovingly.

"I sincerely trust, sir, that you have no intention of making light of this matter. If such be the case I shall hold myself ready at any and all times to give you satisfaction, sir, after the present affair shall have been disposed of."

"But, Mr. Trimble, sir—my dear sir—if you would be a trifle more precise"—— stammered De Courcey.

"I repeat," said Mr. Trimble. "I am acting for Mr. Carter, who takes issue with certain remarks published by you in to-day's Chronicle in which you mention his name. Again I ask that you name some gentleman who will undertake the negotiations."

"You mean that Mr. Carter wishes—offers to fight with me?" cried De Courcey.

"I observe that you finally have my meaning," he said.

"Extraordinary!" exclaimed De Courcey. "What has—is it possible he has taken offence at what I said concerning the Vigilantes?"

"Sir, not only possible, but true."

"But—he does not understand," said De Courcey, warmly. "He must not take such an attitude. The press has the right to comment upon events. Surely, Mr. Carter is too intelligent a man, too good a lawyer, not to perceive that he cannot hold me to a personal combat because I exercise"——

The editor was fully launched upon his theory, while Mr. Trimble looked upon him in rising indignation, when there a step outside and Fox entered. He noted the identity and expression of the visitor instantly, guessed the rest and broke in with a curt phrase.

"It's all right, De Courcey. Kemble has consented to act for you. Good morning, Mr. Trimble."

De Courcey stared at his friend as if in fear he had taken leave of his senses. He started to speak, but Fox checked him. "I presume you know Mr. Kemble, Ed Kemble, of the Alta California," he said to the accredited representative of Carter. Mr. Trimble bowed. "Mr. De Courcey was in doubt as to whether he could obtain Mr. Kemble's assistance for any difficulty that might arise. In behalf of Mr. De Courcey I may now say that Mr. Kemble will be pleased to wait upon you this evening."

"That is perfectly satisfactory, sir," said Mr. Trimble, as he departed.

"What is the meaning of this?" demanded the editor, as the door closed.

"It means that I arrived just in time to prevent you from being insulted and probably man-handled by that smooth ruffian who was just here," said Fox. "In another minute, when he got your drift, he'd have struck you over the mouth. You've got to fight. Nothing under the sun but flight can save you now. You're not willing to run, are you?" he added, rather brutally.

De Courcey flushed suddenly and drew himself up. "I have never yet learned that I am a coward," he said, with dignity.

Fox laughed. "Well, we have progressed that far, at least. I apologize, of course, old fellow. Ah, there's Kemble. Now for a council of war."

The alert, vigorous young man who entered the office was greeted heartily by the other two.

"Well, what's happened?" he asked of Fox without waste of words. "Has our Shakespeare had his defiance?"

"Trimble was just here," said Fox. "Who was it for, De Courcey?"

"He said he came from William Carter," answered the editor, with troubled brow. "But shall I really have to go into this primitive, savage struggle?"

"Carter, eh?" said Kemble, with a frown. "That's bad. He's a wicked shot. Do you ask if you're in for it? You are, my friend. And I'll undertake to be your second on one condition, that you obey my instructions implicitly."

"I'm quite helpless," said De Courcey, simply. "I have the utmost faith in you, Kemble. Whatever you decide I will abide by."

"Good," said Kemble. "Now we'll proceed with your transformation to a lead shooter. Turn the office over to your assistant and come with me."

The three men walked to the only hotel in the town, where Kemble took two rooms. He and Fox moved into one of them. The other was for De Courcey. The latter was surprised to observe that Kemble annexed both keys, but offered no objection. When Kemble left to keep the appointment with Trimble that evening he gave the key to De Courcey's room to Fox, with instructions to lock the editor in at bed time.

"And see that he doesn't get a mouthful to eat," added Kemble.

"What? No supper?" asked Fox.

"Not even a swallow of whiskey," said Kemble.

Mysterious Rites.

Next morning he reported slow progress with Trimble. Several more interviews would be necessary to complete the arrangements.

"But can't we have the thing over with?" asked De Courcey. "I find this most uncomfortable."

"It's going to be dragged out as long as I can find a kink to make or a quibble to argue on," said Kemble with decision.

This situation lasted for three days. The negotiations dragged, delayed and hampered by the shrewd Kemble. In the meanwhile De Courcey was allowed a little tea and toast at intervals, but nothing more sustaining. Fox finally demanded to know the reason for these mysterious rites.

"My dear fellow, I know what I'm about," was Kemble's answer. "Carter has killed three men and his spot is the abdomen. I'm giving our friend the one chance he's got. And incidentally he's developing a beautiful temper."

Early in the morning of August 12, 1852, Kemble and Fox aroused their principal from sleep to prepare him for the meeting that was to take place at dawn. De Courcey was a changed man. His carefully trimmed beard was uncombed, his peaceful eye had taken on a strange glint, he swore fluently at being aroused.

"Well, do I continue to starve?" he snapped, as he sat up.

"You do, my noble firebrand," said Kemble, sweetly, "and we will now have the pleasure of reducing Carter's target by all the inches we've gained these last few days. You'll do," he nodded. "Thank your stars you never were a fat man, Harry."

They met the opposing Carter and his party after a brisk fifteen minutes' ride at the crest of a low rise where there was a clearing among the trees. Kemble and Trimble measured the twelve paces that had been agreed upon as the distance, and tossed for choice of position and the right to give the word. Kemble won both.

Carter was a small, wiry man, with an intimidating eye and a hatchet face. He was a veteran duellist and, as Kemble did not doubt for a moment, had been deliberately picked by the offended Vigilantes to represent their collective cause against the editor. He showed no concern, but stood chewing a straw and discussing politics with the surgeon while the seconds were employed.

De Courcey, as his friends noted with approval, was cool and controlled. The days of starvation had pinched his features and brought a hard, determined look to his mild countenance. He bore himself like a man quite capable of making a good fight.

"I almost believe he's got a chance," whispered Fox to Kemble.

"Of getting Carter? Not the least in the world," returned the second. "But we'll bring him out of it alive and with credit if I've figured right."

The adversaries took their positions in silence and faced each other across the green stretch with steady eyes. Each second then handed to his principal a loaded duelling pistol and stood aside.

"Gentlemen, are you ready?" asked Kemble.

"Ready!" they answered in a breath.

"One! Two! Three!" began Kemble.

At the third count De Courcey, who had levelled at the first word, pulled his trigger. It was a wretched shot. The watchers could see where the turf was torn up by the bullet almost at Carter's feet. Carter waited—waited until Kemble had reached "Fire!" Then his weapon spoke.

De Courcey reeled, spun on his heel and dropped forward. The surgeon ran to him, followed by the two friends. The editor had been shot through the abdomen, and on receiving this information Carter and his party mounted and made off.

The wounded man was carried to the hotel and the surgeon made a more careful examination. "This is remarkable, Mr. Kemble," he said, after it was over. "I thought that Mr. De Courcey had been fatally injured. I find that the bullet has penetrated no organ. The stomach seems to be strangely shrunken. I believe he will live."

Kemble said nothing, but solemnly shook hands, first with the surgeon and then with Fox. De Courcey was well on the road to recovery within two days, and eating ferociously.

Not long after these events there appeared in the Alta California a short paragraph that effectively confirmed the citizens of Yolo in the belief that De Courcey, of the Calaveras Chronicle, was a man not lightly to be interfered with.

"It seems," said this publication, "that a certain gifted young journalist was recently selected as an easy victim by a group of lawless individuals whom he had attacked. It was believed that the journalist's guileless manner indicated a faint heart and that he could be picked off without difficulty by a professional duellist. It is a matter for regret that the aim of the aggressor was good, such being a common impish trick of Fate. But the young man very fully proved himself an able and courageous adversary. The plotters had overlooked the fact that he was already the survivor of some dozen similar encounters. We congratulate him upon his behavior. We are certain that he will have a long and useful career as a fighting editor."

WHY THE HOLLY BLUSHED.

By Barbara Blair.

THE Holly on the chandelier looked severely down upon the Mistletoe hanging below it.

"It is the regret of my life," he said sternly, "that I must always be associated with you."

He settled the skirts of his green coat stiffly around him and frowned aggressively at the Mistletoe, who, gray, wraithlike, graceful and lovely, smiled demurely.

"I infer, then, you do not approve of me," she said, hanging her head.

"I blush for your disgraceful conduct. My whole family blushes for you. I have often heard my grandmother say that originally my people were as pale as you are, but we spent our first Christmas with some of your relations, and we have blushed for shame ever since."

"Your blushes are very becoming," said the Mistletoe, prettily. "I often wish I had a little more color myself. But what have I done?"

"It is what you make other people do," returned the Holly, stiffly.

"And is it the kissing you don't like, my dear?" asked the Mistletoe, mockingly.

"Yes, the kissing which goes on right under your nose, and which you not only encourage but indeed insist upon. Why, no one can look at you without thinking of a kiss."

"Without wanting one, you mean," said the Mistletoe, demurely.

"But," she continued softly, "is there anything nicer in the world they could think of? Now you think of it, dear. Think of a charming room like this, with an open fire, crackling and sputtering as this one does; flowers and candy and presents everywhere; the room made gay with those unfortunate blushes of yours which you so deplore, and an air of mystery, of excitement, of delightful enchantment added by me. Then think of a pretty girl entering the room and carelessly, oh, so carelessly, walking toward me, until she unconsciously stops in this very spot, while she says, 'I wonder where I put'——

"Then the man who loves her steps up quickly, folds her close in his arms and lays his lips on her soft, pretty red ones, which cling tenderly to his while she struggles furiously to get free. Now isn't that worth thinking of?"

"Disgraceful! Perfectly disgraceful!" muttered the Holly, growing scarlet. "I wish you wouldn't talk about it. You're annoy me."

"That's what they all say," laughed the Mistletoe, and bending her head gracefully she left a soft little kiss on the Holly's red cheek.

POOR SEAMANSHIP.

CAPTAIN—One of the most thrilling experiences I recall followed our running out of port one day in a gale of wind.

Fair Passenger—How interesting, but I always thought that sailors drank nothing but rum.

Evening Examiner

JANUARY

1910

MICROFILMED BY MICROFILMING SERVICES
2215 QUEEN ST. EAST
TORONTO, CANADA

START
OF REEL

HB

12 Pag
Pages 1

The Evening Examiner.

VOL. XLVIII 1 | 12 PAGES | PETERBOROUGH MONDAY JANUARY 3 1910 | PAGES 1 TO 6 | PRICE TWO CENTS

HARRISON FISHER'S latest picture and calendar going quickly. Come procure one at once and let us frame it for you. Our Factory is working Day and Night.

Pillsworths' Picture & Art Store, 430 George Street

A RETURN GIFT

Old Santa's Day will be appreciated by those who forget to remember during the rush of Christmas. If the gift you choose for a man, there is no other such store such variety—no satisfying assortment of suitable things, such as wear, Shirts, Underwear, Gloves, Hosiery, Braces, Handkerchiefs, to be found elsewhere in Peterborough.

H. LeRUN & CO.

1910
IRON BED
1910

We are going to start the new year of 1910 by offering to our customers some unequalled values in Iron Beds and we never sacrifice quality for the sake of price so that in our cheapest lines you may depend on getting goods that will be entirely satisfactory.

IRON BEDS in neat artistic designs, strongly made and well enamelled brass caps on posts, fitted with a guaranteed spring & good mattress, at special 5.95

IRON BEDS in heavy designs, very strong and well finished, full brass mounts and knob posts, complete with spring and mattress, in all sizes, at 8.45

IRON BEDS with heavy brass trimmings, heads, mounts and knobs, complete with spring mattress in all sizes. The best ever at 9.45

A large stock of Iron and Brass Beds in 4 feet 6 inch sizes, and in many different designs at prices from ..... $6 to $25 extra values..... See them and buy now

427 George Street | CLEGG'S FURNITURE STORE | PHONE 79

DON'T BE SELFISH

Save your wife and daughters some of the Rainy Day Drudgery, and let them start the new year with a Collier Electric Smoothing Iron. Your linen will be better laundried, at less expense for fuel and labour.

COLLIER-CUNNGHAM COMPANY, LIMITED
Phone 668. 77 Simcoe Street.

WE TAKE THIS OPPORTUNITY to thank our numerous patrons, and trust that our endeavours to serve you well have met with approval, and will merit a continuance of your patronage.

Wishing you a prosperous New Year,

Respectfully yours,

E. MASON & CO., Grocers.

Building Lots For Sale

THE PETERBORO LUMBER CO. PROPERTY has been cut up into lots which are now offered for sale: lots 50-ft. frontage by 120 in depth.

These lots are most desirable for building purposes, and any person contemplating the purchase of a lot for this purpose will do well to look over this property before purchasing elsewhere.

Full particulars and all information can be had on application to

The Toronto Savings and Loan Company
437 George Street, City

ROYAL

If you want to enjoy an hour's pleasant and innocent amusement seeing good pictures and good vaudeville come to the Royal.

Special Vaudeville for TO-DAY

Gourley & Keenan

In their famous Comedy Act entitled "Kidding the Kid", assisted by their Dog "Bunk", introducing Singing, Dancing, Acrobatic Work and Recitations. This is an Extra Special Act, and will be put on only once in the afternoons and 3 times at night.

3--Motion Pictures--3

Two Christmastides

One of Vitagraph's very latest and best Dramas, gotten out for this Happy Season. It is filled with pathetic love for both young and old alike.

Two Chums Looking for Wives

A very funny Comedy, showing how two girls lost their two lovers, and how they won them back again.

From the Egg to the Spit

An educational picture of great interest and merit. It is one of Pathe's coloured pictures and one that should not be missed.

— NEW ILLUSTRATED SONG —

5c—ADMISSION—5

Always Something New

A complete new range of High Grade SHIRTS, for the Careful Dresser.

Another new shipment of the famous

Reid Bengaline Neckwear

25 New Shades

Belmont

An Arrow Collar, is a Winner.

Ellis

Underwear our Specialty

Fashion Craft by A. M. Laidlaw
140 Hunter St.

D. L. & W.
SCRANTON COAL
THE FUEL WITHOUT A FAULT
First-Class Hardwood Cut and Split to order
R. Hicks & Co.
Office and Yards—248 Murray Street
Phone Nos. 47 and 48.

Cash Paid for Second-Hand Furniture

Bargains in good Second-Hand Stoves, Ranges and Cookstoves, and other house hold goods at

BARRETT'S
293 George Street South of Charlotte

INSISTED ON A FIGHT

William Bradley Is Arrested at Merritton Because In Repulsing Man Who Attacked Him Latter Is Killed by Striking His Head on a Kerbstone — Passengers Says Bulman Was the Aggressor.

St. Catharines, Jan. 3.—William Bradley of Merritton was Saturday night remanded to jail till Friday next to appear before Magistrate Campbell on a charge of murdering George Bulman of Thorold.

Bulman lost his life Saturday evening as the result of a fracas with Bradley. Shortly after leaving the local line of the trolley on the Niagara, St. Catharines and Toronto Railway, following the Martin ten mile road race the railroad company sent three special cars to Thorold to carry the people of Merritton and Thorold to their homes. Bradley and Bulman were passengers on the centre car, which was so crowded that they had to stand on the rear platform. They were total strangers to each other.

In the course of the journey to Merritton Bulman was crowded over against Bradley, who pushed him away. This caused a slight altercation, in which Bulman called Bradley some ugly names. As a consequence a scrimmage took place on the car, but Conductor Francis and some passengers separated the men. Words followed, but those who were on the car declare that Bradley was much quieter than Bulman, and took considerable verbal abuse. Some say Bulman was drunk, others declare that he was not, though he had been drinking to some extent, Bradley had also had a number of drinks during the afternoon.

Finally Bulman asked Bradley if he were going to Thorold, to which he replied that he lived in Merritton and was going to get off the car near his home.

"That's all right," Bulman said, "I'll get off at Merritton just to lick you."

Bradley cautioned him against it, but when the car stopped near Lock 9 on the Welland Canal, a few doors from Bradley's dwelling, both men left the car. Bradley was first. As he turned around Bulman made a lunge at him with his fist. Warding it off, Bradley struck him in the jaw, knocking him down. Bulman was in the act of getting to his feet when Bradley struck him a second time. This time Bulman fell back striking his head on the stone kerbing of the crossing. He did not attempt to arise. Bradley continued to his home. Passengers on the car who had witnessed the affair, went to Bulman's assistance. High Constable R. E. Boyle of Lincoln County and Constable Moffat of Merritton had been spectators at the road race and were on the other special cars, and were among the first to render assistance. Bulman, who was carried to the power house of the Wilson Carbide Co., a few yards away, and there Dr. Vanderburg of Merritton attended him. Bulman was bleeding profusely from the ears. Ten minutes he was dead. The constables went to Bradley's house and placed him under arrest, and the body of Bulman was brought here.

There are only two wounds, one a bruise on the back of the head, the other a lump in the neck, evidently where he was struck.

Bulman came to this city from Nottinghill, West England, on April 28th, 1908. Several weeks later he went to Thorold where he obtained employment in the Montrose Paper Mill. Friends say that he was peaceable and industrious. He is survived by a widow and a year-old boy. In his pocket was found a package of endearing letters written to him by his wife previous to their marriage two years ago, and a due book for the Canadian Foresters, which he had taken out a $1,000 policy in September last.

Bradley comes from a fine family in Merritton, and is a son of A. B. Bradley. He has always borne a good reputation. He is a carpenter by trade. Only Friday night he concluded a job at Niagara Falls on which he had been engaged for some months. He has a young wife and one little daughter, who last May lost one leg and two toes on the other leg as the result of being struck by a trolley.

When arrested Bradley was about to offer himself to the officers. No evidence was taken, but in the presence of Crown Attorney Brennan and A. C. Kingstone, who has been engaged to defend him, he was remanded. Coroner Jory will hold an inquest.

Thessalon Fire.

Thessalon, Jan. 3.—The reports sent out of the Thessalon fire of last week were greatly exaggerated. The total loss will not exceed $5,000. The efficient fire protection obviated any danger of a serious conflagration.

Framed Views and Photograph Calendars for Xmas & New Year

are now ready for your inspection. Call and see them while the stock is large.

Roy

STUDIO, 189 Hunter street.

P.S.—Ask for Roy's Fireside Souvenir Post Cards to send to friends at a distance.

G. F. GEARY IS ELECTED MAYOR OF TORONTO

Toronto, Jan. 3.—The citizens of Toronto on Saturday expressed in unmistakable fashion their dissatisfaction with the present street railway conditions, and at the same time discounted their verdict by electing a mayor and board of control from whom little is to be expected in the way of relief. By an overwhelming majority they gave the City Council power to approach the Legislature for authority to construct a tube system, and by over 4,000 votes they defeated the man who had offered a solution of the problem and who was prepared to carry it into effect.

Politically, the new council stands 14 Conservatives and 11 Liberals. Last year there were 13 Liberals and 11 Conservatives, so that the tables have been turned.

The line-up is:

Conservatives—Mayor Geary, Controllers Church and Foster, Ald. Hilton, Rowland, Hambly, McBride, Weston, Dunn, R. H. Graham, May, McCausland, Spence and Baird.

Liberals—Controllers Spence and Ward, Ald. Chisholm, Phelan, O'Neill, Maguire, Heyd, Welch, McMurrich, McCarthy and Anderson.

Beattie Mayor of London.

London, Jan. 3.—In one of the most interesting and peculiar elections in the history of the city, Ald. J. H. A. Beattie, nephew of Major Beattie, M.P., was Saturday elected mayor by a large majority.

His apponent, Ald. Ferguson, was considered a sure winner. It was the first election in which politics were dropped entirely, none of the newspapers taking the issue for any candidate.

Some months ago an agitation was started amongst the citizens for cleaner and more economical government. Ald. Ferguson went on a jaunt that cost the city in the neighborhood of $300, and this helped his defeat.

Beattie came out in favor of Hydro-electric power after his lack of enthusiasm in the matter he threatened to cause a split in the party ranks.

The mayoralty figures were: Beattie, 9,824; Ferguson, 8,321.

Alderman: Eckert, Tancock, Ashplant, Richter, Pocock, Jeffries, Underwood, Morgan, Stevenson, Saunders, Fitzgerald, Rose.

School trustees: Weeks, Hunt, Balfour, Teadall.

Utility commissioners: McMahon, Pocock, Wyatt.

The defeated bylaws were: For an underground conduit system, majority against 2,389; for storm sewers, majority against 1,571; for a scavenger system, majority against 1,307; for a board of control, majority against 915.

Weather conditions were good, and a heavy vote was polled.

DOBSON HAS CONFESSED

William Dobson, Who Told Story of Being Struck Unconscious, Now Says It Was a Put Up Job and Is Put In Jail Along With Companions —Gift to His Sweetheart Made the Detectives Suspicious.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Jan. 3.—The clearing away of the mystery of the bold express robbery of Nov. 4 is proving as great a sensation as the hold-up itself.

Cashier Dobson, who was first suspected of having some knowledge of the hold-up, had withstood the onslaught of a score of the best detectives of two detective agencies, and as many more express and police officers.

For the last attack the cleverest Thiel Agency detectives were employed. Their men were placed in the express office to work with Dobson and dog his every move. Another was employed at the Carborundum Works at Niagara Falls, N.Y., where Paul S. Whistler, an employe of the United Express Co., and known to be a companion of Dobson, was working. The latter was a frequent visitor at the home of the former prior to the robbery, but had not been there since.

The detective set on Whistler's track was only 18 years of age. He made a companion of Whistler and accompanied him to all his haunts of pastime, one being Charles J. Flynn's saloon at 1,913 Main street, on the U.S. side, where pool tables are run, also a room in the rear where games of chance are said to be carried on. The detective made himself a good "all-rounder" and soon gathered sufficient to place a third detective playing the role of saloon "hanger-on," looking for occasional free drinks.

The detective in the express office learned that a set of furs had been received for a certain address and returned to Toronto, and a set valued at $125 cent. These furs were taken care of by Dobson just before Christmas. The following Sunday a detective shadowed Dobson and his sweetheart to church and sat immediately behind them and noted the value of the furs. Dobson was taken up for questioning about where he got the money to purchase such furs. This was the first sign of his guilt.

Last Thursday the chief of the Thiel detectives brought Dobson to the Hotel Savoy and behind closed doors, cross-questioned him for three hours, and, having thus some evidence of Whistler's connection in the case, caused Dobson to break down and make a full confession, implicating Whistler and Flynn and two other unknown men.

The whole plot was conceived in the minds of Whistler and Flynn, and Dobson being approached, consented. This was as far back as last August. Once or twice previous to Nov. 4, attempts were made to pull off the job, but something would intervene to prevent it. On the afternoon of the robbery, Dobson called up the Imperial Bank and asked them to be sure and have their money package over early. It is stated he wrote a letter a week ago, informing Flynn that he had lost his job with the express company, and for Flynn to hand over $1,500, as he had to get out of town, and go to Florida. This letter got into the hands of the detectives.

It has been learned that Flynn engaged two unknown thugs to pull off the job, Whistler driving the pair over to the Canadian side, skirting the streets up to the corner of Welland avenue and Bridge street, about two blocks west of the depot. The two thugs got out of the rig at this point, leaving Whistler in charge of it. They walked down to opposite the little express office and waited the signal from Dobson, which was to an upstairs right hand shutter of the office. This given, the two men walked into the office, entering the door [illegible] Dobson handed to [illegible] package over to one of the men, who covered it with black cloth and quietly walked out and up Bridge street to the waiting room. The other man said, "Turn round, Dobson, and let me hit you on the back of the head." Dobson turned around and received the blow that felled him to the floor unconscious. This man walked out and leisurely crossed the lower arch bridge.

The man with the money package entered the rig with Whistler and drove up to Bender avenue, where he got out.

The two men hired by Flynn received $2,800 each for the job. All the money that Whistler has received has been $200, and Dobson $125, given to them, it is said, in dribs of $25 or $30 at a time.

As soon as the detectives knew of Whistler's and Dobson's guilt, the American police cast out their dragnets and soon had Whistler and Flynn under arrest. Late Friday night, Whistler voluntarily returned to the Canadian side, while Flynn was arraigned before Police Justice Piper at Niagara Falls, N.Y., charged with conspiracy to commit theft of $14,689 from the Canadian Express Co. He pleaded not guilty. Waving a hearing he was remanded to Lockport for hearing to-day. Dobson and Whistler were arraigned before Magistrate Fraser Saturday evening and remanded to Welland Jail until next Friday, Jan. 7, when they will have a hearing.

Dobson, who is 23 years old, came to Niagara Falls, Ont., from Hamilton, a little over a year ago. He had been connected with the express company in Hamilton, and because of his good work had been promoted to the position of cashier across the river. He was Scotch-born and has been in Canada only four years. His father lives in Hamilton. He had made the acquaintance of Whistler when that youth was a United States Express Co. messenger, running on the Lehigh Valley. Daily they had made transfers of currency.

Whistler is said to have often frequented Flynn's place, playing pool there. Several times he had brought Dobson there. Flynn is much older than the others, a man of 41 years; Whistler is 25 years old. Flynn came here several years ago from New York, where he was a bartender. He has had his present saloon for two years.

Dr. John McGarry, who was called to attend Dobson at the time of the robbery, said that the young man had been hit hard.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

With the close of the old year forty-one distilleries and five large breweries closed down in Tennessee.

Thomas Waggoner, a Texan millionaire, gave each of his three children Christmas presents worth $3,000,000.

Miss M. V. Watson of Guelph was elected a vice-president of the newly-formed American Home Economics Association at Boston.

An earthquake shock of considerable violence was registered on the seismograph at Washington Saturday. Two earth tremors were also recorded at Kingston, Jamaica.

With a warning to his younger brother never to smoke cigarettes, for they were the ruin of his life, Victor Forrest, aged 19, living in Montreal, shot himself in the head yesterday.

Canadian Pacific train No. 3 jumped the track a mile and a half west of Drumbo at 10 o'clock last night, while traveling at 45 miles an hour. Passengers were badly shaken up and more or less cut and bruised.

The Kaiser has consented to the betrothal of his cousin, Prince Friedrich Wilhelm of Prussia, son of the late Prince Albrecht, regent of Brunswick, with Princess Agathe Von Ratibor and Corvey, Princess Zu Hohenlohe-Schillingsfurst.

Death of Aged Woman.

Owen Sound, Jan. 3.—The death occurred Friday evening of Mrs. Agnes Kennedy, one of the pioneer residents of Owen Sound, and widow of William Kennedy, the founder of the iron works, which bear his name here. Deceased was in her ninetieth year, and is survived by six sons: John Kennedy, C.E., and William Kennedy, C.E., of Montreal; ex-Mayor Matthew Kennedy of Owen Sound, James C. Kennedy, C.E., of Vancouver; and Robert P. and George Kennedy of this town.

Men's Overcoats

Semi-Ready Tailored

Don't leave off the purchase of a Warm Overcoat, now that the holidays are over and you settle down to the fact the weather demands it.

Special Values in Heavy Ulsters

Cressman's
TOGGERY SHOP
389 GEORGE STREET

Capt. Warr Promoted.

London, Jan. 3.—Capt. Warr of the Canard steamer Campania, who is temporarily in command of the Britannic, has been made commodore of the line, in succession to Capt. Pritchard, retired. He will again take command of the Campania as soon as the overhauling of that steamer is completed.

An Appeal to Labor.

Washington, Jan. 3.—Officers of the American Federation of Labor issued a call Saturday night to the 1,540,000 members of the organization, calling on them to subscribe to a fund with which a bitter fight is to be begun against the United States Steel Corporation.

Night Classes at the Peterborough Business College

are being largely attended. Are you among the ambitious ones? If not, why not?

ENTER NOW

Individual instruction. Call for Particulars.

GEO. SPOTTON, PRESIDENT | J. A. McKONE, PRINCIPAL

LOOKS GOOD THROUGH OUR GLASSES

A. A. FOWLER, Phm. B.
Eyesight Specialist
Ref. R. O. Toronto, Opt. D. Chicago with Nugent Drug Co.

Daily Examiner.

MONDAY, JANUARY 3, 1910

Examiner Agencies

NORTH WARD

E. T. Brandt, 794 George, cor. Smith st.
D. Sullivan, 629 George, cor. Edin. st.
Mr. Young, cor. McDonnel and George
L. E. J. Lockhart, 620 Water st.
J. M. Donovan, cor. Aylmer & McDonel

WEST WARD

Nelson Routley, cor. Brock & Park.
H. Bradshaw, cor. Downie and Charlotte
John James, cor. Reid & McDonel.

CENTRE

Quinsey Bros., 483 George.
B. J. Sedon, 569 George.
F. C. Cubitt, 870 George.
G. J. Murphy, 826 Charlotte.
A. H. Stratton, 617 George.

SOUTH

Mrs. Dunsford, cor. Sherbrooke & Rob
R. C. Brandt, cor. Albert & Park.
M. H. Halpin, cor. Perry & George.
H. McGill, corner Lake and Aylmer.

EAST

Mrs. M. Guerin, cor. Roger & Hazlett.
Martin Kylie, Rogers street.
David Flynn, 555 Concession, cor Carlisle
T. H. Manioce, corner Mark and Hunter streets.

MONDAY, JANUARY 3, 1910

MUSICAL.

MISS BESSIE ELCOME, Teacher of Piano Forte terms, etc., address Peterborough Conservatory of Music, or 602 Harvey St. 1m-54-7211

MRS G. B. MILLER—Leader of Murray Street Baptist Church Choir. Teacher of Voice and Piano—415 Union Street Peterborough.

MISS JULIA CROATE—Violin Soloist and Teacher. Concert engagements accepted For terms etc., apply Conservatory of Music. 1m-3

MEDICAL.

DR. A. W. MacPHERSON—Office 134 Murray St., Cor. Water. Late House Surgeon Toronto Isolation Hospital, Toronto Sick Children's Hospital and Manhattan Maternity Hospital. 'Phones Bell 668. Machine.

DR. T. P. McCULLOUGH—Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Specialists. Office 196 Brock Street.

DR. BUCHANAN, F.R.C.S. Edinburgh M.R.C.S. England, L.R.C.P. London. Specialist of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat 'Phone 518. 169 Charlotte Street. Hours—9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m.

DR. E. A. HAMMOND—Office, 543 Water Street. Late Assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, England. Also of Rotunda Maternity Hospital at Dublin. Special diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach. Bell Phone—Office 463; House Phone 1201.

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY — Osteopathic Physician. Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce; Hunter Street entrance Bell Phone 669. Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 4 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free.

LEGAL.

ROBERT RUDDY, K.C.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc., Office, corner George and Hunter Sts. Money to loan at Current Rates. Successor to George Edmison K.C.

BENNINTOUN, PECK & KERR, Barristers, Solicitors, and Notaries. Office 13 Water Street. Money to loan.—E. A. Peck, K. M. Bennintoun, P. D. Kerr

DUMBLE & JOHNSTON—Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Office over Toronto Savings and Loan Company, 433 George St. —S. W. Dumble, K.C.; W. F. Johnston

A. J. DIXON—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Offices—Corner Hunter and George Sts. entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

HALL & HAYES & HALL. — Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public, Hunter Street, Peterborough, next to St. John's Church. Money to loan at lowest rates of interest.—E. H. D. Hall, City Solicitor; Louis M. Hayes, K. C., and Basil D. Hall.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON—Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Solicitors etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office, Corner of Hunter and Water Streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce.. E. H. Hall K. C. Medd.. W. S. Davidson.

W. H. MOORE—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Office—Entrance first hallway west of Post Office, Peterborough, Ont. Money to loan.

A. P. POUSSETTE—Barrister and Solicitor —379 Water Street. Money to loan at lowest current rates. A. P. Poussette K.C.

E. B. WOOD—Barrister, etc., County Crown Attorney. Office over Canadian Express Office. George Street. Money to Loan.

DENTAL.

DR. H. C. WOOD, [illegible] Office, No. 428 1/2 George Street. Phone 286 day or night.

UNDERTAKERS.

D. BELLEGREM.—Funeral Director.—Calls may be given day or night at warerooms, 190 Hunter Street, or at Residence, 186 Hunter Street. Telephone No. 86.

LANE & KANG—Undertakers and Embalmers. Can be found at their warerooms day or night, 179 Hunter street Phone 467.

MONEY TO LOAN.

MONEY TO LOAN—On Farm and Town Property, at lowest current rates on easiest terms of payment. HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON, (Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Peterborough, Ont., Office Over the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

MONEY TO LEND.—On first-class City and Farm Securities only, on current rates. DENNET & GOODWILL, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., No. 275 Water street, Peterborough. Telephone, No. 121. J. W. Dennet; E. L. Goodwill.

MONEY TO LOAN—On easy terms. GIBB, HALL & GORDON, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc. Canadian and United States Patent Attorneys. Money to loan. Corner west of Post Office. Bell Telephone. George H. Gordon.

ARCHITECTS.

W. BLACKWELL—Architect and Civil Engineer. Plans and specifications made for churches, public halls and dwelling houses. Buildings, heating and chimneys set a specialty. Office 271 Water Street, Peterborough.

PRESENT YOUR BODIES

PASTOR RUSSELL PREACHES ON NEW YEAR PLEDGES.

Text: "What Shall I Render Unto the Lord My God For All His Benefits Towards Me? I Will Take the Cup of Salvation and Call Upon the Name of the Lord. I Will Pay My Vows Unto the Lord."

Chicago, Jan. 2.—Pastor Russell of Brooklyn Tabernacle, New York, preached here twice to-day to large audiences. The Auditorium of world-wide celebrity for its size and excellent acoustics, afforded the immense audience a superior opportunity to hear Pastor Russell's discourse in the afternoon. We report his evening discourse based on the following texts: "What shall I render unto the Lord my God for all His benefits towards me? I will take the cup of salvation and call upon the name of the Lord. I will pay my vows unto the Lord." (Psalm cxvi, 12.) "I beseech you, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy and acceptable unto God and your reasonable service." (Romans xii, 1.) He said:

The opening of a New Year is like the opening of a new ledger. It is a favorable time for determining what should be disposed of in the profit and loss account and for putting into effect resolutions governing the New Year. The fact that thousands of resolutions will be made at this season only to be broken later under the impact of temptation, should not discourage us from making such resolutions ourselves and advising the course to others. The man or woman who makes no resolutions or vows makes little progress in character-building. Poor, fallen human nature needs all the bands and braces and supports which a well-directed will can give it. We are not advocating hasty, and sometimes unreasonable, vows and resolutions and pledges thoughtlessly taken. What we do advocate is thoughtful, rational sitting down and counting the cost, and then and there resolving with the full determination of the mind, to pursue the way which deliberate judgment tells one is the proper course.

A Christian, like other men, can be benefited by such Resolves to himself, which should be sacredly kept, in proportion as he respects himself and would be respected. These Resolutions may apply to sundry affairs of life—his home, his business, his personal habits, etc. But when the Christian comes to consider his highest interests, he at once recognizes that they are those by which he is related to his Creator and his Saviour. At the very beginning of his Christian experience, after he had longed for righteousness and turned from sin; after his eyes had seen Jesus as his Redeemer; after his ear of faith had heard that he was reconciled to God through the death of his Son and had forgiveness of sins through faith in his blood—then came to him the most important moment of his life. For God, through his Word, invited him to make a full consecration of himself (including every earthly interest and affair) to the Lord and his service.

The proposition, in the language of the Saviour, was that he should take up his cross and follow Christ; and that as a reward he should have in the present life tribulation from without, but the peace of the Lord within, and in the future life experience a share in the First Resurrection. That change to glory, honor, immortality, the Divine nature, means joint-heirship with his Redeemer in his great Office and work as the Mediator between God and the world during the Millennial Age. The terms are clearly stated.—self-denial, cross-bearing, service for Christ, faithfulness unto death. The rewards also, as clearly stated, are crowns of life and membership in the Royal Priesthood, a seat with the Lord in his throne, an opportunity of being one of the judges for helping and uplifting mankind during the Millennium.

While stating the conditions clearly and distinctly, through his Word the Lord did not urge consecration, but said rather that each should sit down first and count the cost. After having counted the cost, whoever chose to accept the proposition did so by making a Vow unto the Lord—a Consecration Vow or full submission—the full surrender of the will. This was to the intent that thereafter not only the conduct of life, but the words of the mouth and the meditations of the heart should be acceptable to the Lord. This comprehensive Vow is symbolized in baptism, which, rightly understood, as explained by St. Paul, is a baptism into membership in the Body of Christ (the Church), and this by baptism or immersion, "into Christ's death."

Only such as make this Vow are accepted at all as members of The Christ, and anointed with the holy Spirit. It is respecting this Vow that St. Paul urges, in the words of our text, "I beseech you, (justified) brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies living sacrifices, holy, acceptable to God, and your reasonable service." Our contract with the Lord is entered into, made secure, by the vow of Consecration, and the remainder of life is merely a testing of the consecrated one, to determine to what degree he really meant the Vow; to what degree he uses his every endeavor to be dead to the world, dead to self, dead to all earthly things and alive toward God and the interest of the Millennial Kingdom to which he has consecrated himself as a "member" of the Body of the Mediator of the New Covenant (Jeremiah xxxi, 31; Galatians, iii, 29).

Let no one lightly undertake a Vow unto the Lord. It carries with it weighty responsibilities. It would be better every way that none should take the Vow without first understanding the matter and entering fully into the spirit of the resolution he makes. Once made and accepted by the Lord through the impartation of the holy Spirit, it cannot be annulled. But why should we wish to annul the Vows? Why should anyone who puts his hand to the plow look back? To use the Apostle's illustration, why should the sow that was washed return to wallowing in the mire? Why should we, after having renounced the world and received the begetting of the holy Spirit, and after having tasted of the good Word of God and the powers of the Age to come, lose the precious taste and appreciation of these, and return in craving to the beggarly elements of the world? Surely there are no good reasons for so doing. Surely the joys of the present life, as well as the hopes of the Kingdom to come, all should encourage us to fully "set our affections on things above and not on the things beneath."

The world, the flesh and the Adversary—all exercise influences contrary to our Vow or Resolution to the Lord to be dead to the world and to self that we may be alive with Christ and share his glory—suffer with him, that we may reign with him. The poet has expressed the proper thought here, saying,

"My soul, be on thy guard,
Ten thousand foes arise;
The hosts of sin are pressing hard
To draw thee from the prize."

Much of our success in keeping our Vow of Consecration depends upon two things:

(1) The clearness of our grasp of the situation when we made our Vow and the thoroughness of our intention; the amount or weight thereof; the will power exerted for righteousness.

(2) An additional feature of great weight in the matter is the degree of our knowledge. It is in line with this thought that the Scriptures declare, "My people perish for lack of knowledge." God has given us his Word and informed us that it is "profitable for doctrine, for reproof and for correction in righteousness, that the man of God may be thoroughly furnished." He has advised us to search the Scriptures and to forget not the assembling of ourselves together. And where his advice is followed and the Scriptures are searched daily, not in a formal manner, but with a desire to know and to do the Lord's will and to be guided in his way, a strengthening of the will is effected. Correspondingly there is a weakening of the evil influences which oppose us as New Creatures and our Vow. The Word of God is so arranged as to provide "meat in due season" for all of his faithful people, whether old or young, in every time. As "babes in Christ," as young men and as full-grown sons of God, it is for each of us a storehouse of Grace and Truth, to make us strong in the Lord and in the power of his might. Only by appropriating this spiritual food can we have strength to fulfill our Vow, to finish our course with joy and to attain the Kingdom. Item by item, as our minds are able to grasp its unfolding prospects of glory, honor and immortality, we are thereby strengthened by the Lord's might in the inner man.

In proportion as we realize the facts of the case we may appreciate what a great bargain the Lord has offered us. We surrender in consecration our earthly rights, privileges and pleasures, and receive in return more gratifying spiritual blessings in the present life and the inheritance of the unspeakable blessings and glories in the future. It should, therefore, become much more easy to pay our Vows with a willing heart, as we grow in grace and in knowledge of the Lord and his Word. Indeed, as the Apostle suggests, it is possible for us to reach the place where we can "rejoice" in tribulation also"—knowing that thereby our future blessing is increased.

As the consecrated believer considers what God has already done, and what he proposes yet to do for his faithful, gratitude wells up in his heart and his inquiry is, "What shall I render unto the Lord for all his benefits?" The more he considers the matter, the more he realizes that his talents and opportunities are necessarily small, insignificant. It is from this standpoint that the poet wrote, "O for a thousand tongues to sing my great Redeemer's praise."

It is well indeed to show our appreciation of God's grace by songs of thankfulness and praise, but we are to remember that not merely poetic cadences are our acceptable songs, but that from the proper standpoint life itself is the proper hymn of praise to be continually rendered to the King of kings. "Singing and making melody in our hearts unto the Lord" will imply that our works will be in harmony—a song of life" (Ephesians v, 19).

The Psalmist's answer, prophetically represents the attitude of heart of all the faithful. Each is expected to say, "I will take the Cup of Salvation and call upon the name of the Lord" (Psalm cxvi, 13). The cup of salvation at the present time is the "cup" which our Lord proffered to his disciples, saying, "This is my blood of the New Covenant shed for many for the remission of sins. Drink ye all of it" (Matthew xxvi, 27, 28). It is a "Cup" of suffering, self-denial, self-sacrifice, as respects the earthly things which we give up, surrender, that we may attain the heavenly things as joint-heirs with our Redeemer. There might be danger, however, of some getting the wrong thought on this subject. There is a peculiar pleasure in drinking of the Lord's "cup" of self-sacrifice, which those who have never partaken of cannot hope to understand. It is the pleasure of fellowship in his sufferings, as St. Paul explains. And a part of the pleasure connected with that "cup" is the associated hope of drinking with our Lord of his other cup of joy and glory and blessing in the Kingdom, as he promised.

The necessity of partaking of this "Cup" of the Lord is shown by the Saviour's words to two of his disciples who inquired, saying, "Lord, grant that we may sit with thee, the one on thy right hand and the other on thy left hand in the Kingdom." Our Lord's reply was that they little realized what this high privilege of sitting in the Millennial Throne with him would cost. He inquired, "Are ye able to drink of the cup that I shall drink of?" (Matthew xx, 22)—the cup of suffering, ignominy, dishonor, death?—"and to be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with?"—not the baptism into water, but into that which is symbolized by the water—a baptism into his death

The apostles indicated their willingness. And we can do no more. If left to ourselves, undoubtedly the contract would be more than we would be sufficient for. Our sufficiency is of God's providence—our great Redeemer is our High Priest and Advocate, able to succor us in every time of need, and able to provide ways of escape from trials too hard for us; able to strengthen us when weak; able to give us the "meat in due season," able to make us strong in his might; able to bring to our attention the great and precious promises of God's Word. Yea, says St. Paul, "I can do all things through Christ, which strengtheneth me" (Philippians iv, 13).

In the context the prophet declares, "I will pay my Vows unto the Lord in the presence of all the people." Publicly, openly, I will espouse the Lord's Cause. I will remember his words, "Whosoever shall be ashamed of me, and of my words, of him also shall the Son of Man be ashamed, when he cometh in the glory of his Father, with the holy angels" (Mark viii, 38). I will be faithful in the performance of my Covenant to such a degree that my loyalty shall be known to all the brethren as well as to the Lord, who reads the heart. Yea, and the worldly should know of the faithfulness of God's people, even though not appreciating the matter, they should despise them and count them fools for Christ's sake.

Vows of this kind are not for the worldly, even though they be morally disposed. They are yet in their sins, if they reject the offer of Divine forgiveness upon Divine terms of consecration. Such may not think to take Vows of consecration to the Lord until first they have renounced willful sin and accepted redemption through faith in the precious blood. Until then they remain amongst the wicked. Unto the wicked God said, What hast thou to do to take my words into thy mouth (as a Vow) seeing thou hatest instruction and castest my words behind thee (Psalm l, 17). All who do not wish Divine instruction, all who spurn the Lord's Word, are in the sense wicked—in a wrong condition of heart. We are glad that there is no truth in the theory that they are liable to eternal torture, but, oh, how much they are missing, nevertheless, of the joys of the Lord in this present time and of the glories and eternal blessings of the future!

In closing, dear friends, let me suggest to you a little Vow unto the Lord—not as instead of your Consecration Vow, which is all-comprehensive, but as supplemental thereto—as specifying certain matters which are indeed part and parcel of your Consecration Vow. The thought is that by this Vow these particular features of your obligation will be daily more prominently before your mind. It is my belief that the taking of it earnestly and soberly, and the keeping of it, would be one of the wisest New Year's Resolutions that God's people could make—most helpful to them in the peculiar time in which we are living.

A Vow Unto the Lord.

1. Our Father which art in Heaven, hallowed be Thy name. May Thy rule come into my heart more and more, and Thy will be done in my mortal body. Relying on the assistance of Thy promised grace to help in every time of need, through Jesus Christ our Lord, I register this Vow.

2. Daily will I remember at the Throne of Heavenly Grace the general interests of the harvest work, and particularly the share which I myself am privileged to enjoy in that work, and the dear co-laborers at the Brooklyn Tabernacle, and everywhere.

3. I vow to still more carefully, if possible, scrutinize my thoughts and words and doings, to the intent that I may be the better enabled to serve Thee and Thy dear flock.

4. I vow to Thee that I will be on the alert to resist everything akin to Spiritism and Occultism, and that, remembering that there are but the two masters, I shall resist these snares in all reasonable ways, as being of the Adversary.

5. I further vow that, with the exceptions below, I will at all times, and in all places, conduct myself toward those of the opposite sex in private exactly as I would do with them in public—in the presence of a congregation of the Lord's people.

6. And, so far as reasonably possible, I will avoid being in the same room with any of the opposite sex alone, unless the door to the room stand wide open.

7. Exceptions in the case of Brethren—wife, children, mother, and natural sisters; in the case of Sisters—husbands, children, father, and natural brothers.

Should any of those who take this Vow unto the Lord desire to inform me of the fact, I shall be very pleased to hear from them at my Brooklyn address.

Made Him Daring.

It is said that when Sir Andrew Clark, Mr. Gladstone's physician, recommended a patient to drink wine, the latter expressed some surprise, saying he thought Sir Andrew was a temperance doctor, to which Sir Andrew Clark replied:

"Oh, wine does sometimes help you to get through work; for instance, I have often twenty letters to answer after dinner, and a pint of champagne is a great help."

"Indeed," said the patient, "does a pint of champagne really help you to answer the twenty letters?"

"No! no!" said Sir Andrew, "but when I've had a pint of champagne I don't care a rap whether I answer them or not!"

Thunderstorms.

Java is said to be the region of the globe where it thunders oftenest, having thunderstorms ninety-seven days in the year. After it come Sumatra with eighty-six days, Hindustan with fifty-six, Borneo with fifty-four, the Gold Coast with fifty-two and Rio de Janeiro with fifty-one. In Europe Italy occupies the first place with thirty-eight days of thunder, while France and southern Russia have sixteen days. Great Britain and Switzerland have each seven days, and Norway his four. Thunder is rare at Cairo, being heard only three days in the year.

Unfounded.

Mrs. Grumpery—I feel so wretched. I found a dark hair on the suit my husband wore last summer.

Mrs. Park—Don't worry, dear. If you remember, your hair was dark last year.—Lippincott's.

Lest We Forget.

Lives of great men now remind us
We can spe the hand of Fate.
Scatt'ring laurel wreaths behind us
If our witnesses are straight.
—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Quite Satisfactory.

Stern Father—Young man, the lights in this house are put out at 10 o'clock.

Young Man—That suits me. Don't delay on my account.—New York Times.

The Suffragette.

The suffragette is here to stay.
I think her rather clever.
Let voters come and voters go,
But she'll talk on forever.
—Yonkers Statesman.

How Old is Hubby?

"How many babies has she?"

"Two, not counting her husband."—Detroit Free Press.

Fortunes of a Novelist.

He wrote a story which has proved
One of the six best sellers.
And now he's got an autocar.
One of the six best smellers.
—Yonkers Statesman.

It's Easy to Stop Pain

TAKE ONE OF THESE LITTLE TABLETS AND THE PAIN IS GONE.

"I use Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills for Neuralgia, LaGrippe and all pains. I don't intend to be without them, for I find ready relief in them for everything I use them for."

MRS. L. F. MILLER,
120 W. 6th St., Davenport, Ia.

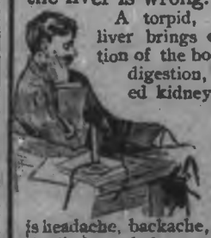
All Pain

"In my family Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are used for headache, colic and other pains, and always give relief at once."

THOS. R. FOWLER
R. D. No. 3, Dunn. N. C.

Sold by druggists everywhere, who are authorized to return price of first package if they fail [illegible]
MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

You cannot be cheerful, active and energetic when the liver is wrong.



A torpid, sluggish liver brings constipation of the bowels, indigestion, deranged kidneys and all sorts of depression and discouragement There is headache, backache, pains in the limbs and rheumatism.

By quickly awakening the action of the liver and bowels

Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney & Liver Pills

cleanse the system of poisonous impurities and restore good digestion and assimilation.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills owe their phenomenal success to the fact that they positively cure liver complaint, biliousness, constipation, backache and kidney disease.

One pill a dose, 25 cts. a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Beware of imitations without the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous receipt book author.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

ACHE

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.

CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.

Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

FATHER 80—MOTHER 76

The [illegible] father and mother of a prominent Boston lawyer safely [illegible] through the last two [illegible] by

Vinol

This [illegible] says: "My father and [illegible] owe their present strength and good health to Vinol. During the last two trying winters neither of them had a cold, and were able to walk farther and [illegible] more than for years. I think Vinol is perfectly wonderful. It certainly is the greatest blood-making, strengthening tonic for old people I ever heard of."

We want every feeble old [illegible] in this town to try Vinol. We will return their money without question if it does not accomplish all we claim for it.

McDERMID & JURY, Druggists, Peterboro, Ont.

O'Keefe's O'K

fine old Full Bodied Stout is the best of Tonics for pale, thin, run-down people. Brewed of the finest hops and malt—rich in nutriment. Every bottle sealed with a crown stopper to prevent cork and tinfoil from getting in the glass. At all dealer's.

"The Stout That Always Is."

The O'Keefe Brewery Co. Limited, Toronto.

A. ROUNTREE, AGENT, 418 WATER STREET.

COWAN'S PERFECTION COCOA

(MAPLE LEAF LABEL)

If cocoa is your favorite beverage by all means enjoy it at its best—as made with Cowan's Perfection Cocoa.

The acme of purity, richness and flavor.

THE COWAN CO. Limited, TORONTO. 135

Hotel Cumberland

NEW YORK CITY

BROADWAY AT 54th STREET

Near 60th St. Subway Station. 53d St. "L" and surface lines.

Near Depots, Shops and Central Park. New and Fireproof. Strictly First-Class. Rates Reasonable $2.00 with Bath, and up. All hardwood floors and Oriental Rugs. Ten minutes walk of twenty Theatres. Excellent Restaurant. Prices moderate.

SEND FOR BOOKLET

HARRY P. STIMSON
Formerly with Hotel Imperial

R. J. BINGHAM
Formerly with Hotel Woodward

What it Cost

10 Annual Premiums of $43 20 each, $432.—This represent the TOTAL COST of Policy No. 12267 for $1000 in

The Canada Life Assurance Co'y.

In other words $43 purchased a PAID UP POLICY for $1000, dated June 21st, 1872, of the 10 payment Life Plan, with Dividends added every 5 years to increase the policy as follows:—

Policy paid up	$1000.00
Dividend additions to 1908	648.75
The Company would pay	$1648.75

should the insured die to-day, and this amount will increase annually so long as he lives.

Read The Top Line Again

Can you [illegible] an equal to compare or even approach this?

Don't Wait until it is too Late.

DAVIS-THOMPSON COMPANY LIMITED

Agents for Peterboro—443 George St.

China Painting

Mrs. Langley McCarthy

Teacher Rayhoff's New and Beautiful Dark Work in China Painting. Lessons in Oil Painting for Advanced Pupils. Studio [illegible] Hunter Street

J. N. Watson

PAINTING, GRAINING, PAPER HANGING AND DECORATING

84 Chambers Street — Behind Examiner Office

SUNLIGHT SOAP

THIS IS IT!

The soap that saves you work, and saves you money without injury to hands or article.

Sunlight Soap turns wash-tub drudgery into pleasure.

Get a bar of Sunlight to-day and try.

Toronto Savings and Loan Company

Notice is hereby given that a Quarterly Dividend at the rate of six per cent (6%) per annum for the three months ending December 31st, 1909, has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this Company, together with a bonus of two per cent 2%) for the year 1909, making a total dividend disbursement for the year of eight per cent (8%). The said dividend and bonus will be payable at the office of the company in this city on and after January 1st, 1910.

The transfer books of the company will be closed from the 17th to the 31st of December, both days inclusive.

W. G. MORROW MANAGING DIRECTOR

Peterboro, Dec. 10th, 1909.

COAL

That Is Coal

Is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL

$7.50 Per Ton

HARDWOOD

First Class—Best in City—at

$5.00 Per Cord

4 feet long. Cutting and Splitting as desired, at

J. E. A. Fitzgerald's

Cor. Brock & Aylmer Phone 111

EAST CITY

Coal and Wood

YARD

MAIN OFFICE—111 Hunter St., East Phone 96

All sizes of Best Mined Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.

Egg, Stove and Nut Coal per ton $7.50
Pea or No. 2 Nut Coal, per ton ... $6.50
Dry Tamarac and Mixed Wood.
First Class Dry Hardwood.

WEIR & O'BRIEN

ARCH WEIR JAMES O'BRIEN

Manual labour taxes the strength of the human machine. The man who works appreciates to the fullest extent the recuperative qualities and purity of

ALCUTT'S ALE, PORTER & LAGER

It is the popular beverage of the man who earns his living by active muscular work. You have tried the rest—

NOW TRY THE BEST

Manufactured by

The Alcutt Brewing & Malting Company

Ashburnham. 'Phone

FIRE

I am selling off my whole stock of New Boots and shoes at Fire Sale Prices. All reduced since the Fire. Come and get Footwear Bargains and Holiday Footwear at marked down prices while they last.

Robt. H. Bernard

BRACKEN BLOCK

Corner George and Hunter Sts.

GERMANY'S WAR PLANS.

Are All Ready For Instant Use Against Any Country.

...for the invasion of every European and transatlantic country, including the United States, lie ready for use in the drawers of special reception at the German war office, and immediately on the declaration of war every officer, man and boy in the service would be informed by telegram of the outbreak of hostilities.

Everything in the possession of secret instructions, the purport of which he is sworn not to divulge, every man knows exactly the place assigned to him and what he has to do within a few hours after the country has taken the field.

Every officer is in the possession of the full mobilization orders that would enable him to take up his place with precision in the gigantic military chess-board without further instructions. The German railway would be handed over to the military railway department, a branch of the service that assumes control over the transport of the army. The German railway stock is built with an ultimate idea of war. The traveller through Germany will notice that every truck, open or covered, has on a panel hieroglyphics painted on it in the left corner, which on closer examination read as follows: "Fur 12 Mann, oder 6 Pferde Gewicht —." These figures denote the number of horses, men or the weight of the guns that the car can carry during wartime.

Germany stands alone of all countries in the world in being financially well fitted for war and in possessing a war fund. The amount may seem insignificant when compared to the enormous cost that a continental war might entail, yet it would enable the country to tide over the first few days and to administer the first blow without delay.—McClure's Magazine.

Largest Scrap Heap.

The largest scrap heap in the world is in San Francisco, a relic of the great fire which followed the earthquake of April, 1906. It is 40 feet high, 100 feet square and contains 20,000 tons, all piled in equal lengths of eighteen inches piled in one solid mass, with the sides as smooth and solid as a brick wall. This is the only one of four piles of equal size and proportions which remains intact in its original form and shape, the other three having been drawn upon as the material was needed. Many other scrap heaps are piled about the bay awaiting shipment, some as big as a house and others mere hillocks, scattered over acres of ground. Since the fire one company has handled 150,000 tons of this old material. It has six large shears in operation to cut the iron and steel rather that it may be better handled for shipment or for the furnace, says the Iron Trade Review. Little of this scrap is used in San Francisco, the bulk of it being shipped to the Atlantic coast or to European ports.

Schools For Tuberculous Children.

Special school for tuberculous children have now been established in Providence, Boston, New York, Rochester, Washington, Hartford, Conn.; Chicago and Fitchburg. New York has three schools and Washington two. The board of education of New York city is proposing to establish three more, and similar institutions are being planned in Detroit, Buffalo, Philadelphia, Cincinnati and Newark, N. J. The cities like Providence, Boston and New York, where outdoor schools have been conducted for two years, the results obtained from the treatment of children in stated tuberculosis open air schools seem to show that great advantage of this class of institutions. This, coupled with the experience of open air schools in Germany and England, proves that children can be cured of tuberculosis and keep up with their school work without any danger to fellow pupils.

A Scientist Digs.

Dr. John B. ... with gives the name of "digger bee" to a blue green bee having a metallic sheen, which may be seen flitting ... sandy places during the first beats of May. With the aid of liquid plaster of Paris poured into the holes that it ... in the ground he has followed the bee through a wonderful course of digging. The work is done by females and its primary object is to provide protected cells in which the young are bred. The bee makes a tunnel ... quarter of an inch in diameter, which after starting for a few inches ... slope runs straight down into the ground. At the depth of a foot or more short lateral tunnels are driven, and in the ends of these are formed the brooding cells. Having provided for her offspring, the bee "continues to dig down and yet farther down until she is ... feet or even more beneath the surface, dying from sheer exhaustion ... the time her first progeny begin to make their way to the surface."—London Mail.

A RICH, FRAGRANT TEA

"SALADA" is fresh from the gardens of Ceylon—the finest tea-producing country in the world. Sold only in lead packets, which preserve its native purity and goodness.

"SALADA"

Ask your grocer for a package to-day. You'll like it.

HOME TRAINING.

As It Was Carried Out by Little Willie's Father.

When Willie's father came home to supper there was a vacant chair at the table.

"Well, where's the boy?"

"William is upstairs in bed." The answer came with painful precision from the sad faced mother.

"Why, wh-what's up? Not sick, is he?" (An anxious pause.)

"It grieves me to say, Robert, that our son—your son—has been heard swearing on the street! I heard him."

"Swearing? Scott! I'll teach him to swear!" And he started upstairs in the dark. Halfway up he stumbled and came down with his chin on the top step.

When the atmosphere cleared a little Willie's mother was saying sweetly from the hallway: "That will do, dear. You have given him enough for one lesson."—Judge.

His Only Salvation.

The polar explorer faced his vast audience and recited the tales of his hardships.

"And at one time, my friends," he related, with dramatic realism, "the mercury dropped down to 60 below zero, and I found myself freezing as solid as an iceberg. Then came a happy thought that saved my life."

"What was it?" cried the audience, unable to keep quiet in its enthusiasm.

"Why, I had my faithful Eskimo bring me the picture of my rival. After gazing at it for a few seconds my blood boiled, and I felt hotter than a radiator. Nor was this all. By placing the picture in front of me on the sled I found it made me hot enough to dispense with my birdskin shirt."—Chicago News.

Stopping Her.

Mamma (with the baby)—He has my eyes.

Papa (trying to read)—Yep.

Mamma—And your nose.

Papa—Sure!

Mamma—And my ears.

Papa—Oh, certainly!

Mamma—And your hair.

Papa—Yes; just about as much as I have.

Mamma—And—and—

Papa—Your mother's temper.

Mamma—You brute!—Brooklyn Life.

Tact.

"Dear me, Mrs. Smithers, what is that noise I heard yesterday over your way? Was that howling your dog in a fit?"

"No, Mrs. Qneerit; that was my daughter taking her singing lesson from Signor Yelerino."

"No, no, Mrs. Smithers. I was told it was your daughter singing when I asked what bird you had there trilling more beautifully than I knew your canary could."—Baltimore American.

Brotherly Love.

"Yes, they bring in a lot of eggs," related Storekeeper Jason as he dusted out the prunes. "Why, we even receive eggs in exchange for the latest songs."

"Shake!" said the big man in the checked suit as he lit on a stogy. "So do I."

"H'm! Storekeeping too?"

"No; I'm a minstrel man."—Puck.

Quick Sprint.

Sandy Pikes—Dat rich guy in de bungalow took quite a fancy to me. He took me around to de stable, showed me de $5,000 dollar bulldog he had just bought and asked me if I could beat it.

Gritty George—And what did you say?

Sandy Pikes—Nuttin'! I just beat it. —Chicago News.

Good Roads Wanted.

"What we need is a good roads movement," said the progressive citizen.

"But you don't live in the country."

"No. I'm even worse off. I pay taxes in a town where the streets are torn up the year round for alleged repairs and improvements."—Washington Star.

Noblee In Mean Attire.

Where did etiquette require nobles to appear before their sovereigns meanly clad? This singular custom characterized court ceremonial in ancient Mexico under the Aztec dominion. When the native lords and grandees had occasion to seek the presence of Montezuma they were under the obligation, as Toribio de Benevente, who accompanied the Conquistador Cortes, testifies, of assuming a voluminous mantle of poor material (una manta grosera y pobre), with which they covered and concealed their ordinary robes, in token of subjection and humiliation. These were manufactured out of the leaves of the aloe tree by the commoner classes. Etiquette required the strict observance of this custom by all those who came into the emperor's presence, with the exception of persons of the royal blood. Any one seeking audience of the emperor had to don these common clothes on his arrival at the palace. Barefooted and wretchedly clad, he was led before the sovereign and with downcast eyes made his request, with every outward sign of abject subservience.

It Came Back.

"John Burroughs, the naturalist, dined with me one night," said a magazine editor of New York, "and among my guests was a young nature writer of the new school.

"This young man told a wonderful story about the intelligence of oysters. He said he was going to put the story in his new book. Mr. Burroughs gave a dry laugh and said:

"'Let me tell you about a cat. This story is quite as authentic as the other one, and it should do for your book nicely.'

"The venerable student paused impressively, then said:

"'A Springfield couple had a cat that age had rendered helpless, and they put it out of its misery by means of chloroform. They buried it in the garden and planted a rosebush over its remains. The next morning a familiar scratching took them to the front door, and there was that cat waiting to be let in, with the rosebush under its arm.'"

Curious Village Names.

There is in Dorset a group of villages which in some form or other have as their eponym the stream in whose valley they are situated. The stream is named Puddle, and the villages bear the names of Puddle Hinton, Puddletown, Tulpuddle, Affpuddle, Turner's Puddle and Bryan's Puddle. One is reminded of the riddle about the letter "n." Some, like Queen Mary, "have it before;" some, like King William, "have it behind." Poor things, poor things! "The inhabitants of these villages,' says Marcus Dimsdale, who writes in the Cornhill Magazine on "English Village Names," "sent to a former postmaster general—if I am rightly informed, Cecil Raikes—a request that they might be allowed to change their names and replace them with more euphonious substitutes which they obligingly supplied. Back came the official reply, curt, overbearing, inexorable, 'Puddle you are, and puddle you must remain!'"

Dr. Hale's Day.

Dr. Hale and the late Bishop Huntington of New York were fast friends. The latter had been a Unitarian, and his shift caused a sensation, says the Christian Register. The Episcopalians have saints assigned to the various days in the year. When an Episcopalian minister writes a letter on any day for which there is a saint he always writes the name of the saint at the close of the letter instead of the date. Bishop Huntington learned all these things quickly and began to practice them at once. The first time he had occasion to write to his old friend Dr. Hale after joining the church he placed "St. Michael's day" after his signature. A reply from the doctor came, and after his name he had written in a full, round hand, "Wash day."

A Little Awkward.

"Nearsightedness must be very embarrassing at times," remarked a Brooklyn resident to an acquaintance thus afflicted. "The other morning, for example, a man addressed me on a crowded bridge trolley, and in the course of conversation he roundly abused a chap whose political and business methods he disliked equally. In fact, he became acutely personal in his denunciation.

"Before he left the car he was informed by a friend near him that I was the man he had been abusing. It didn't worry me at all, but it must have been a bit disconcerting for him, don't you think?"—New York Globe.

The Sun.

It has been stated that no one has ever seen the sun. A series of concentric shells envelops a nucleus of which we know nothing except that it must be infinitely hotter than the hottest furnace and that it must amount to more than nine-tenths of the solar mass. That nucleus is the most sup. forever hidden from us. The outermost of the enveloping shells is about 5,000 miles thick and is called the "chromosphere." It is a ... flood.

A Salutary Lesson.

"Now, remember your salutes," said the English corporal when posting the Irish recruit on sentry. "If you see a lieutenant—he wears one star on his shoulder—slope arms; if a captain—two stars—slope arms; if you see a major—a crown—present arms; if the colonel—stars and crown—present and turn out the guard."

Pat pondered his orders carefully, but presently he was awakened from his reverie by the approach of the general.

That worthy son of Mars surveyed the cross swords on the gallant officer's shoulders and as he was not included in the corporal's category simply nodded cheerfully.

"Well, my man," said the genial general, "and who are you supposed to be?"

"I'm supposed to be a bit of a sentry," said Patrick. "And who are you?"

"Oh, I'm supposed to be a bit of a general!" said the latter.

"A gineral, is it?' cried the startled Pat. "Then ye'll want something big. The corp'ral tould me about the others, but nothing about yourself at all, at all. But hold hard a minute, and I'll give ye the bayonet exercise, if that'll do."

A Resourceful Woman.

"I think it is a foolish fashion that so many women indulge, that of telling their age wrongly," said the woman with the prematurely gray hair. "I can honestly say that I never practice it myself."

"No?" said her friend, with many meanings in the monosyllable.

"Well," said the first speaker, with a smile—she was a woman with a sense of humor—"the fact is I don't have to. I have a way of making myself out younger than I am if I wish to without telling a fib at all."

"Really?" inquired the other curiously. "In what way?"

"I put the burden of the fib all upon the questioner. You see, when one of my dear women friends—it is always women who are curious on this point—asks me how old I am I say: 'Oh, I'm a year or two older than you, you know, my dear—at least a year older. Let me see, now, how old are you?' And then she always knocks more off my age than I should ever have the nerve to do myself."

Prompt Rebuke.

"Orlando, you mustn't put your arm around my waist."

"Why, Gloriana, it's been there for half an hour."

"Well, I didn't notice it till just now."—Chicago Tribune.

The Real Victim.

After a man has been sick a week his wife looks worse than he does from taking care of him.—Atchison Globe.

Advantage is a better soldier than rashness.—Shakespeare.

Gout Defined.

"What is gout?" asks a correspondent. Well, it is an infliction if inherited, but is often a source of pride when acquired.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

A Family Necessity

Is a remedy capable of affording immediate relief to the hundred and one ailments that constantly arise. It may be a cold, perhaps toothache, neuralgia, pain in the back—use Polson's Nerviline, it's penetrating, pain-subduing, and powerful.

NERVILINE

is at least five times stronger than ordinary remedies and its worth in any household can't be overestimated. For man or beast, Nerviline is a panacea for all pain.

"Not If It Cost Ten Dollars

A bottle, would I be without Polson's Nerviline," write J. A. Ruth, a farmer living near Trenton, Ont. "Nerviline is the best household liniment I know. We use it for stomach troubles, indigestion, headache, and Summer complaint. I know of nothing better to take in hot water to break up a cold, or to rub on for rheumatism or neuralgia." Every farmer should keep a few bottles of Nerviline handy, and have smaller doctor bills.

Nerviline is a protection and safeguard against the pains and aches of the entire family, and cures rheumatism, neuralgia, toothache, etc. 25 cents for a large bottle.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS

ANY PERSON who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

DUTIES.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of Interior.

N.B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

Not Sisters

Now and ... see two women passing down the ... who look like sisters. You are ... to learn that they are mother and ... and you realize that a woman at ... or forty-five ought to be at her finest ... Why isn't she?

The general ... of woman is so intimately ... with the local health of the ... feminine organs that these can ... red cheeks and round form, where ... is female weakness.

Women ... have suffered from this ... have found prompt relief and ... in the use of Dr. Pierce's ... Prescription. It gives vigor and vitality to the ... of womanhood. It clears the complexion, brightens the eyes and ... the cheeks.

No alcohol, habit-forming drugs is contained in "Favorite Prescription." Any sick ... may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. Every letter is held as ... confidential, and answered in a plain envelope. Address: World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N.Y.

THE Famous Rayo Lamp

Once a Rayo user always one

The RAYO-LAMP is a high grade lamp sold at a low price. There are lamps that cost more but there is no better lamp at any price. The Burner, the Wick, the Chimney-Holder—all are vital things in a lamp; these parts of the RAYO LAMP are perfectly constructed and there is nothing known in the art of lamp-making that could add to the value of the RAYO as a light-giving device. Suitable for any room in the house. Every dealer everywhere. If not at yours, write for descriptive circular to the nearest Agent of

The Queen City Oil Co., Limited.

MUSIC LESSONS FREE

The J. M. Greene Music Co., Limited, Opera House Building, are giving Free Music Lessons on all Instruments purchased from them during Xmas and New Year's.

EXTRA CHOICE BEEF For New Year's

The pick of Prime Western Heifers and Steers.

Specially Fed Lamb, Veal, Pork, Hams, Bacon, Sausage, etc., etc.

TURKEY Prizes

Everyone purchasing one dollars' worth or over at this Shop will be entitled to a guess on the weight of a Prize Turkey. The party guessing the nearest to its weight will get a Turkey Free.

Turkeys cheaper than before Xmas

R. COX

461 George St.
Phone - - 39

EGGS!

for sale in any quantities.

PETERBOROUGH COLD STORAGE CO.

W. SCOTT & CO.

—OFFICES—

Cor. George & Hunter Both Phones 262
134 Robinson Street. Both Phones 264
(East City).

TALBOT'S Delicatessen

TWO STORES

We wish to impress upon the minds of housekeepers that we always have an abundant supply of

FRESH FISH

FRESH HADDOCK FINAN HADDIE
FRESH SALMON FRESH WHITE FISH

in addition to our regular supply of

BEST BEEF BEST PORK
BEST LAMB BEST VEAL

Also, Fresh Oysters, Canned Goods, Allan's Cider, Chopped Suet, Mince Meat.

A. L. TALBOT

243 George St. Phone 736
410-12 George St., Phone 233
d-3tx-65

The Children's Aid Society

For the Care of Neglected and Ill-Treated Children.

Incorporated by act of Legislature. Information required. Informant's name kept strictly private.

Children for Adoption

GEO. COCHRANE,

Bell Phone. Agent and Asst.-Sec.
... 705 George St.

Spruce Up For The NEW YEAR

And have your Cutters and Sleighs repaired and put in good condition when the snow flies. By

BEN YELLAND

174 Murray Street

Railway Time Table

GRAND TRUNK

	Arrive.	Depart.
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst, North Bay, Stouffville and Toronto	11.40 a.m.	8.25 a.m
	9.00 p.m.	6.35 p.m.
Port Hope and points east to Montreal and Boston	8.25 a.m.	11.40 a.m.
	6.30 p.m.	9.00 p.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and West, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Lebourg, Montreal & East.	8.25 a.m.	11.40 a.m.
	6.30 p.m.	9.00 p.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge and Markham.	11.40 a.m.	7.10 a.m.
	9.00 p.m.
	10.15 p.m.	6.35 p.m.
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	9.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and East.	8.10 a.m.	8.30 a.m.
	8.55 p.m.	1.40 p.m.
	9.50 a.m.	6.35 a.m.
Lakefield.	6.10 p.m.	12.20 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Going East	Leave Peterboro'
For Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal, Kingston.	11.28 a.m
For Indian River, Norwood, Havelock Tweed.	..7.51 p.m.
For Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal.	12.31 a.m.
Going West	Leave Peterboro'
For Toronto, Galt, London, Detroit, Chicago.	..5.26 a.m.
For Burketon, Bobcaygeon, Myrtle, Toronto.	..7.55 a.m.
For Toronto, Detroit, Chicago, Winnipeg and Northwest Points.	4.38 p.m.

'09 CANADIAN PACIFIC '10

NEW YEAR'S RATES

SINGLE FARE

Good going Dec. 31st and Jan. 1st Returning Monday, January 3rd

FARE AND ONE - THIRD

Good going Dec. 28th, 29th, 30th, Dec. 31st, Jan. 1st, Return limit Jan. 5th

Secure tickets and all information at city office. With best wishes for a happy and prosperous New Year.

W. McILROY,
City Pass. Agent

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Rich Strikes of Gold and Silver

Are continually being made in Porcupine and Gowganda Districts. The route to Porcupine is via Grand Trunk and T. & N. O. Railway to Matheson, thence via Sleigh Road. The route to Gowganda is via Grand Trunk, T. & N. O. Railway and Temiskaming & Gowganda Transport Co. Through tickets issued & baggage checked through to latter point.

California, Mexico and Florida

ROUND TRIP Tourist Tickets on Sale

Secure tickets & further information from

P. SANDY Depot Agent
W. BUNTON City Agent

A Good Resolve

If you want Good Bread on your table every day during 1910, it is up to you to start the New Year with a dollar's worth of tickets for

Gilgour & Mackay's Home-Made BREAD

Order from the driver or ring up the bakery office Telephone 640.

Fancy Cakes, Buns, Biscuits, Pastry, etc., Fresh every morning.

Store and Bakery, ... George and Edinburgh ...

WILLIAM J. BURNS, NEW WARDER OF THE BANKS

The Man Who Replaces the Pinkertons Is Known as "Never Fail," and His Career Proves That He Has Bravely Earned the Name

Copyright, 1910, by the New York Herald Co. All Rights Reserved.

NEW YORK, Saturday.

EVERY morning in New York some man carefully scans the daily newspapers column by column and paragraph by paragraph. In spite of his careful search he is interested only when he finds the announcement of the arrest of some unfortunate. Finally he settles back in his chair and to himself asks the question:—

"Will I be the next?"

This man, whose identity changes from time to time, is employed in some one of the large banks. He is robbing his employers and he knows it is only a question of time when his trespassing will be discovered and he will be exposed in his crime.

This assertion was made to a reporter for this newspaper a few days ago by the president of one of the greatest of New York's financial institutions. He would be no more specific in his information.

"Thefts," he said, "are bad advertisements for banks. Yet we all know that men are constantly planning to rob us. Sometimes it is deemed wise to cause arrests and bring about scandals that startle the city. Most generally, however, the wrongdoing is corrected in a very quiet manner. So long as banks exist men will be found who will succeed in robbing them—generally from the inside."

If is to prevent such robberies and to apprehend the robbers that the American Bankers' Association recently employed Mr. William J. Burns—who when he left the federal Secret Service was described as the most competent detective the United States has produced—to protect 11,000 banking institutions against frauds, defalcations and robberies. The William J. Burns National Detective Agency is his organization, with headquarters in New York, branches in all parts of the country and representatives in all parts of the world. After sixteen years in the Secret Service Bureau of the Treasury Department, during which he never disappointed his chiefs on a single case to which he was assigned, he has inaugurated his career as a private detective by obtaining the one largest commission procurable.

WILLIAM J. BURNS
Photo by Rothengatter

His Two Big Cases.

Every one in the West, and also every one anywhere who has followed the San Francisco municipal graft and the timber land fraud prosecutions, knows William J. Burns, who is called "Never Fail." Those two vital cases were his post graduate course in his profession and gave him a record that makes him without question one of the greatest detectives of the time. But few persons beyond those who have been directly associated with him are familiar with his personality or with the steps that have brought him into national prominence.

When a reporter for this newspaper entered the offices of the new detective agency a few days ago he was ushered into a room where a quietly dressed business man sat at a small desk. At least the reporter saw no particular difference between William J. Burns and any prosperous business man until he slid into a seat a few feet away. It is not a correct estimate of his appearance to say that William J. Burns might be a lawyer or a manufacturer or a promoter or a physician. He might, but the observer would know at second glance that he is none of these things. There is something about him that puts him outside the ordinary professional or commercial class—a suggestion of keen, fearless, "detecting" intelligence in his wide, clear eye; an impression of bodily and mental alertness is the set of his head and shoulders; an indefinable hint of an ulterior outlook and judgment behind his frank, ready, unhesitating manner. Perhaps one would not go up to him in a crowd and point him out as a detective, but having once known him as such one would certainly say that he is well equipped for his particular line of effort.

And still there is little of the ordinary policeman as popularly conceived about Mr. Burns. He is of medium height, with just a tendency to weight, soft reddish hair and mustache, light brown eyes and small hands and feet. He does not look a day over thirty-seven, though he is considerably more than that, and his cheeks are almost chubby. For the rest, he has the quiet command and repose of the man of action who is sure of himself and his abilities, talks well and is without pose or affectation.

"I was brought up among detectives and to the business of catching criminals," he said easily in answer to a question. "My father was a police commissioner in Cincinnati, Ohio, and while I was still a boy I was taken to study police methods and to aid in solving crimes. It attracted me, and when I became older I drifted into it naturally.

"The first case of any importance on which I was engaged was in Ohio. There was a big [illegible] over [illegible] frauds perpetrated by means of forged tally sheets. I picked up some information, and, being near the authorities through my father, was asked to work on the case unofficially. I accepted and obtained a part of the evidence that uncovered the crimes and convicted those responsible for them. After that I was employed by a private agency in St. Louis for a time, and in 1903 I went into the Secret Service, where I remained until 1909, when I took up the San Francisco graft case."

"How about your methods, Mr. Burns; deduction[illegible] inspiration?" inquired the reporter.

"Nothing so fine," said the detective vigorously. "I see what you're coming to. You mean those detectives who sit up with a pen and ostrich by the mine of their sales. Whenever you hear a man talk about thereby to a crime the only Sherlock Doyle in existence, you'll get to prove you know such a book writer.

"The only thing that goes for a detective is just plain common sense. My methods are as free of mystery as the [illegible] of Herbert Hoover. [illegible] Secret Service agents [illegible] and convicted. I apply to my business simply the ordinary principles of system and foresight and practical handling of facts and patient investigation that a man does who runs a store or a factory. And I do it without going into a trance.

"Do I start out with a theory? Well, yes. When you have enough threads in your hands you fall in with a theory of course. But I never let the theory run away with me. A theory is a pretty flimsy thing that it isn't safe to hang too much faith on. I always make my theory fit my facts, and not the other way about. If a man lets himself get too fond of his theories he can't give very much unbiassed attention to the truth."

"You seem to have worked out most of yours fairly well," observed the visitor.

"Thanks," said Mr. Burns, with little smiling wrinkles around his eyes. "I've had reasonable success. I've never yet had to throw up a case or own myself beaten. I don't take any undue pride in it," he added, quickly. "That doesn't mean to say that I'm never going to fail. But I expect to succeed in this private work as I have in the government service."

"What kind of work did you handle after you joined the secret service?"

"I had a hand in every big case that came up and I make a [illegible] specialty of counterfeiting. For some years I was in charge of the St. Louis division, covering the South Middle West, but I was sent to all parts of the country on important affairs. Later I was promoted to Washington, with a roving commission.

"The prettiest counterfeiting case I was ever on and the most serious problem in that line that ever confronted the government was the Monroe head $100 silver certificate issue. I was away from Washington at the time that George Cortelyou, assistant head of the Philadelphia Sub-Treasury, discovered a counterfeit $100 bill that set his head to deviltry. The bills had been accepted as genuine by every bank in Philadelphia, and some of them had gone all the way into the United States Treasury. Secretary of the Treasury Gage was greatly alarmed, and the Secret Service Bureau, of which John E. Wilkie had recently been appointed chief, turned loose every resource at his command.

"While reading over the newspaper accounts on the train coming East I was struck by the descriptions of the accuracy of the counterfeit. To my mind this immediately indicated that the process used was photo-engraving and that the operators were highly skilled and intelligent men. When I reached Washington and had a look at one of the bills I knew that none of the old school counterfeiters could have turned it out. I laid my ideas before Chief Wilkie and had orders to go ahead.

"The bills had made their appearance first about June of 1897 in Philadelphia. I began by making a list of every photo-engraving firm in and around Philadelphia that had a man or a plant capable of such a job. For weeks after that I and the men under me proceeded by elimination. Our inquiries were directed particularly toward discovering a firm that had been closed or slack during the spring, the time when, as I figured, the counterfeits must have been made.

"I hit at last upon a concern run by two young men, Arthur Taylor and Baldwin S. Bredell. Taylor was a master of photo-etching on steel and had invented a process of his own. Bredell was an expert transferrer and a highly skilled mechanic. I found that they had turned away a lot of regular business and closed their shop during the early months of the year, and that was enough to make them objects of suspicion.

"I wanted to get into the place and look around without the chance of alarming the two men. There was a sharp little office boy employed by the firm to run errands, and by watching I found that he had a key with which he opened up when he came in the mornings. I stopped him on the street one day when he was running an errand and gave him a bundle to carry to a certain hotel, slipping him a quarter. He was ready enough to take the commission. I told him the package contained a boy's theatrical costume.

"'Say, sonny, why don't you go on the stage?' I asked. 'You'd get along fine and make big money.'

"His eyes bulged at that and I went on to paint the actor's life in glowing colors. Before long I had captured his interest and he began to ask questions.

Impression of the Key.

"'Why, you could wear the costume in that bundle,' I said. 'Would you like to come along to my hotel and try it on?'

"He was eager and accompanied me. While he was trying on the costume I got hold of his trousers. The key was in the pocket and I made a wax impression of it without attracting his notice. That night I was able to inspect Taylor and Bredell's premises, and no one connected with the firm had the slightest suspicion that such was the case.

"While I was getting my facts together the government found the situation in regard to the counterfeits more and more serious. Secretary Gage finally adopted the heroic measure of withdrawing the entire 'Monroe head' issue. That meant taking $26,000,000 from circulation. It was the first time in history that a counterfeit drove the genuine original from the field, but no other course was open.

"I shadowed Taylor and Bredell to Lancaster, Pa., and discovered that they had close relations with two wealthy cigar manufacturers. All four were about to start a paper mill—one more suggestive link. Now came a queer turn to the affair. I began to investigate the cigar men and stumbled upon the fact that although they sold millions of cigars a year, their purchase of internal revenue stamps was very small. I determined easily enough that they were using thousands of dollars' worth of counterfeited stamps. By opening packages sent back and forth between Philadelphia and Lancaster I found that Taylor and Bredell were doing the printing for them. When that much was established we arrested the whole outfit and seized evidence not only of the stamp fraud, but of the $100 certificate counterfeiting. The move that precipitated the arrest came when they discovered that I had them right and made me an offer of $25,000 to keep off.

"I was feeling pretty comfortable over the result when Chief Wilkie sent for me in a hurry one day and showed me a wonderful $20 counterfeit that had just appeared in Philadelphia.

"'Now where does that come from?' he asked.

"'The only men in the country capable of turning out such work are Taylor and Bredell,' I answered.

"'But, man, they are in jail,' he objected.

"'And still I say they've done this; there's no other possible conclusion,' I insisted. And I proved to be right. The two prisoners had succeeded in turning off what was undoubtedly the cleverest bit of counterfeiting ever attempted. No one knows to this day just how they managed to do it, but by placing a secret watch over them we caught them in the act. Taylor's mother smuggled in tools to them and they made a plate. Then she brought in a lot of one dollar bills. They washed and bleached the bills by a method they alone had mastered and used the paper for printing the $20 counterfeits, which the woman distributed. For brain and skill and daring the annals of counterfeiting have never shown the equals of Taylor and Bredell."

"The older counterfeiters were men of different calibre, then?" asked the reporter.

"Different type and different methods," continued Mr. Burns. "Individually they were more dangerous to handle, but they never threatened the financial integrity of the government as did the Philadelphia group.

"One of the most remarkable men among those who followed that branch of crime regularly was Charles Ulrich. He was a German by birth, a big, fine strapping fellow, well educated and polished. In [illegible] he completed a term in a German prison, but was not notified of his release until three months later by some mischance. When we did get the word the order was 'Find Ulrich.'

A Policeman Grabbed Him Before He Could Make a Move and Put Him Out

On the Trail.

"After long inquiry I discovered what [illegible] had come over on and traced him foot by foot to Cincinnati. He was living in a quiet street and had a front room. There was an empty flat across the way and I rented it. Of course, he knew that [illegible] one was after him that flat would be taken for the post of observation. And I knew he knew it. I saw him watching the place from behind his curtains, waiting to see who should go in or out.

"I gave him his chance next morning by [illegible] sauntering out the front door in rough workman's garb, swinging a dinner bucket. Late in the afternoon I came back the same way in the same disguise. I kept that up for five months, playing the part of the factory hand twice a day and watching his mail and his movements the rest of the time. He kept close for a week, being pretty suspicious of me, but finally he became convinced that I was no more than I seemed to be and he went ahead with his plans. When he was ready to act I knew as much about his intentions as he did himself.

"He hopped out of Cincinnati finally and came on to New York to get in the game that was hatching. Chief Hazen met me and we followed him to a little telegraph office in the lower part of the city. We entered close after him. He took a blank and a pencil and began to write.

"I meant to arrest him anyway, so I made no attempt at concealment when I moved up behind him and looked over his shoulder. He turned in surprise, but did not know me.,

"'Are you interested in this?' he asked, with lifted brows, waving toward the telegram.

"'Why—yes, I am,' I answered.

"'Well,' he said, 'then maybe you had better finish it, if you would be so kind.'

"'Certainly to oblige you,' I said, and took the pencil from him. All he had written was, 'Have [illegible] ar-

this I wrote the name and address of the [illegible] the message was intended—one of Ulrich's pa[illegible] knew that Ulrich would get into communicati[illegible] with this man as soon as he reached New York. He [illegible]ered a little, but kept his nerve and was about to [illegible] bluff when I took him by the arm.

"'It's [illegible]e of pinch, Ulrich,' I said.

"'Oh! [illegible]h, eh?' he stammered. 'Well, all right.'

We to[illegible]im off to a quiet corner and I put the situation [illegible]right to him. 'Ulrich, I said, 'you can take your cho[illegible]f helping us and going over to Jersey tomorrow [illegible]ce that indictment that's been hanging over you [illegible]some years. If you play square with us we'll do [illegible] we can to make it easy for you. If you don't yo[illegible]ow we can get you and put you away a long te[illegible] Now, which is it?'

"He [illegible]'d help us. Hazen didn't like it, but as I sized [illegible]p he was willing to throw his associates for the [illegible]of leniency. At my insistence Ulrich was put [illegible]d at large and given free hand to take part in [illegible]g counterfeiting conspiracy which was then af[illegible]

"It w[illegible]athering of the lights of the profession, and I k[illegible]hat we would need some one like Ulrich to pin [illegible]lous on the shrewd criminals who were at work [illegible]aunt his telegram, took up his assigned part in [illegible]dgme and I was soon on the inside. When everythi[illegible]as ready we descended on the prim little house [illegible]Ann street, Hoboken, which was being used as [illegible]adquarters of the counterfeiters.

Booty Unearthed.

"We [illegible]$40,000 worth of United States gold certific[illegible]$500, and $200,000 in Canadian bank notes o[illegible]$50 and $20, all counterfeits. They were w[illegible]e and the paper was especially good. Among [illegible] we arrested were 'Big Bill' Brockway, Mrs. L[illegible]Smith, William E. Wagner, and, later, the note[illegible] Dr. O. E. Bradford. Brockway, who was a ve[illegible]ppery and intelligent old man, had given the 'gover[illegible]nt officials trouble and served various prison ter[illegible]ince the '70's. When it came to trial we had nothi[illegible]n him at first except the testimony of Ulrich, w[illegible]ave State's evidence. I had the only bit of corro[illegible]ve evidence.

"Whe[illegible]searched the Ann street house I came upon a [illegible]of oilcloth that had been used as a printer's a[illegible]n. The others had thrown it aside, but I [illegible]. When I ransacked Brockway's room in avenue A[illegible] found the roll of oilcloth that the apron had been [illegible] from. The piece fitted into the space perfectly, a[illegible] that was the thing that convicted old Brockway.

"A[illegible] the band who got away before the thing [illegible]as Jim Courtney. His specialty was filling [illegible] the perforations of drafts, reperforating and [illegible] them. I couldn't land him on anything else, [illegible]ug up a warrant for him in Detroit three years [illegible] brought on two witnesses who identified [illegible] and sent him—Wes[illegible]. He was tried and convicted on the old count."

During Cleveland's second term, when John G. Carlisle was Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Burns handled a remarkable little case. It came to the ears of the Treasury Department that the State of Miss[illegible] was issuing debt warrants, or notes that had been made to resemble legal currency and were passing [illegible]much. The detectives were sent to investigate. They began by rounding up a number of persons [illegible] to swear that they really had been imposed upon by the resemblance. This, technically, was counterfeiting, and Mr. Burns went to the United S[illegible] District Attorney.

"I [illegible] warrants for the arrest of the Governor, the St[illegible]reasurer and the Auditor," he said.

The District Attorney offered to call an ambulance and [illegible] Burns examined as to his sanity. Burns thanked [illegible] and withdrew. Within a few hours the District [illegible]torney received a very curt telegram from Washi[illegible] ordering him to obey the Secret Service agent. [illegible] Burns got his warrants and the Grand Jury [illegible] the verge of finding indictments when the firm [illegible] and made the plates pleaded guilty, returned the pl[illegible] and the case was dropped.

Whe[illegible]ecretary Hitchcock, of the Department of the In[illegible] first received intimation of the issue of land f[illegible]n 1903 he sent for Chief Wilkie and asked for a[illegible]. Wilkie replied that he would detail him the best m[illegible] had. That meant nothing to the Secretary.

"Ch[illegible]et proof, that's what I want to know!"

"If h[illegible]'t no one can, Mr. Secretary," answered Wilkie. Mr. Burns was given the mission.

After [illegible] had been at work on the difficult problem for a f[illegible]weeks Mr. Burns was called into Secretary Hitchcock's office.

"Have [illegible]you made any progress?" asked Mr. Hitchcock.

"Yes," [illegible]d the other. "I've gone far enough to know t[illegible]——— is taking graft and has been chiefly instrumental in protecting the frauds." He named a man [illegible] the department in whom the Secretary had be[illegible] implicitly. Explanation was demanded.

"Well [illegible]egan Mr. Burns, "according to my theory"——

"Stop [illegible] there," interrupted Mr. Hitchcock. "You can't [illegible] a man like that of such a crime on theory."

Mr. [illegible] bowed himself out and returned in a short t[illegible]with the man to whom he had referred. They w[illegible]n with the Secretary. "Now, Mr. ———," said the [illegible]ret Service agent, "just tell the Secretary the same [illegible]y you told me." A full confession was the rest [illegible]d the first real step in the investigation had been [illegible]n. It was solely through the work done by Mr. [illegible] that Senator Mitchell, of Oregon; F. A. Hyde [illegible]thers were finally convicted in the land fraud c[illegible]that attracted so much attention.

In 19[illegible]r. Burns gave up his position with the government [illegible]and went to San Francisco to help Prosecutor H[illegible]in his fight against the corrupt municipal ring. He [illegible]rained the confessions from members of the Boa[illegible] of Supervisors and all the important evidence t[illegible]brought about the conviction of Mayor Schmitz, [illegible]Abe" Ruef and others. He it was, also, wh[illegible]covered that the defence had managed to get a [illegible]ner convict, Morris Haas, on the jury at the Ruef [illegible]

"Haas [illegible] into the court room one day," said Mr. Burns, [illegible]ting his more recent adventures, "and got be[illegible] Heney and myself. A policeman grabbed [illegible]efore he could make a move and put him out. Heney [illegible]e got back a few days later and shot [illegible]gh the head. Before Haas committed suicide [illegible]e confessed that he had meant to kill both [illegible]. But that was a detail. It was touch and go [illegible]e way through, and when they offered me $10[illegible] as a bribe to get out I wasn't even surprised."

So th[illegible] brief, is William J. B[illegible] tackled [illegible]biggest single private [illegible] the wor[illegible]d stands ready to [illegible] that offe[illegible]Whether or not [illegible] Fall" [illegible]ether he has [illegible] venture [illegible]ims to be [illegible] place th[illegible]ective str[illegible] tions thr[illegible]generally [illegible] decide.

[illegible] experienc[illegible]

WILLIAM J. BURNS, NEW WARDER OF THE BANKS

The Man Who Replaces the Pinkertons Is Known as "Never Fail," and His Career Proves That He Has Bravely Earned the Name.

Copyright, 1910, by the New York Herald Co. All Rights Reserved.

NEW YORK, Saturday.

EVERY morning in New York some man carefully scans the daily newspapers column by column and paragraph by paragraph. In spite of his careful search he is interested only when he finds the announcement of the arrest of some unfortunate. Finally he settles back in his chair and to himself asks the question:—

"Will I be the next?"

This man, whose identity changes from time to time, is employed in some one of the large banks. He is robbing his employers and he knows it is only a question of time when his trespassing will be discovered and he will be exposed in his crime.

This assertion was made to a reporter for this newspaper a few days ago by the president of one of the greatest of New York's financial institutions. He would be no more specific in his information.

"Thefts," he said, "are bad advertisements for banks. Yet we all know that men are constantly planning to rob us. Sometimes it is deemed wise to cause arrests and bring about scandals that startle the city. Most generally, however, the wrongdoing is corrected in a very quiet manner. So long as banks exist men will be found who will succeed in robbing them—generally from the inside."

It is to prevent such robberies and to apprehend the robbers that the American Bankers' Association recently employed Mr. William J. Burns—who when he left the federal Secret Service was described as the most competent detective the United States has produced—to protect 11,000 banking institutions against frauds, defalcations and robberies. The William J. Burns National Detective Agency is his organization, with headquarters in New York, branches in all parts of the country and representatives in all parts of the world. After sixteen years in the Secret Service Bureau of the Treasury Department, during which he never disappointed his chiefs on a single case to which he was assigned, he has inaugurated his career as a private detective by obtaining the one largest commission procurable.

WILLIAM J. BURNS
Photo by Rothengatter

His Two Big Cases.

Every one in the West, and also every one anywhere who has followed the San Francisco municipal graft and the timber land fraud prosecutions, knows William J. Burns, who is called "Never Fail." Those two vital cases were his post graduate course in his profession and gave him a record that makes him without question one of the greatest detectives of the time. But few persons beyond those who have been directly associated with him are familiar with his personality or with the steps that have brought him into national prominence.

When a reporter for this newspaper entered the offices of the new detective agency a few days ago he was ushered into a room where a quietly dressed business man sat at a small desk. At least the reporter saw no particular difference between William J. Burns and any prosperous business man until he slid into a seat a few feet away. It is not a correct estimate of his appearance to say that William J. Burns might be a lawyer or a manufacturer or a promoter or a physician. He might, but the observer would know at second glance that he is none of these things. There is something about him that puts him outside the ordinary professional or commercial class—a suggestion of keen, fearless, "detecting" intelligence in his wide, clear eye; an impression of bodily and mental alertness in the set of his head and shoulders; an indefinable hint of an ulterior outlook and judgment behind his frank, ready, unhesitating manner. Perhaps one would not go up to him in a crowd and point him out as a detective, but having once known him as such one would certainly say that he is well equipped for his particular line of effort.

And still there is little of the ordinary policeman as popularly conceived about Mr. Burns. He is of medium height, with just a tendency to weight, soft reddish hair and mustache, light brown eyes and small hands and feet. He does not look a day over thirty-seven, though he is considerably more than that, and his cheeks are almost cherubby. For the rest, he has the quiet command and repose of the man of action who is sure of himself and his abilities, talks well and is without pose or affectation.

"I was brought up among detectives and to the business of catching criminals," he said easily in answer to a question. "My father was a police commissioner in Cleveland, Ohio, and while I was still a boy I was prone to study police methods and to aid in solving crimes. It attracted me, and when I became older I drifted into it naturally.

"The first case of any importance on which I was assigned was in Ohio. There was a big uproar over certain frauds perpetrated by means of forged tally sheets. I picked up some information, and, being near the authorities through my father, was asked to work on the case in earnest. I accepted and obtained a part of the evidence that uncovered the crimes and convicted those responsible for them. After that I was employed by a private agency in St. Louis for a time, and in 1896 I went into the Secret Service, where I remained until 1909, when I took up the San Francisco graft case."

"Now about your methods, Mr. Burns; deductive——" began the reporter.

"Helping to it," said the detective vigorously. "I am what you're crazy to. You mean those mysteries dealt up with a pen and solved by the ruler of logic alone. Whenever you hear a man talk about dealing up a crime the way Gaston Leroux or Gaboriau would set it in print you can know he's a book maker.

"The only thing that goes for a detective is just plain common sense. It's not nearly so brilliant or so attractive or such good material for fiction as the genius of Sherlock Holmes. But it's the way that criminals are captured and convicted. I apply to my business simply the ordinary principles of system and foresight and practical handling of facts and patient investigation that a man does who runs a store or a factory. And I do it without going into a trance.

"Do I start out with a theory? Well, yes. When you have enough threads in your hands you fall in with a theory of course. But I never let the theory run away with me. A theory is a pretty flimsy thing that it isn't safe to hang too much faith on. I always make my theory fit my facts, and not the other way about. If a man lets himself get too fond of his theories he can't give very much unbiassed attention to the truth."

"You seem to have worked out most of yours fairly well," observed the visitor.

"Thanks," said Mr. Burns, with little smiling wrinkles around his eyes. "I've had reasonable success. I've never yet had to throw up a case or own myself beaten. I don't take any undue pride in it," he added, quickly. "That doesn't mean to say that I'm never going to fail. But I expect to succeed in this private work as I have in the government service."

"What kind of work did you handle after you joined the secret service?"

"I had a hand in every big case that came up and I make a kind of specialty of counterfeiting. For some years I was in charge of the St. Louis division, covering the South Middle West, but I was sent to all parts of the country on important affairs. Later I was promoted to Washington, with a roving commission.

"The prettiest counterfeiting case I was ever on and the most baffling problem in that line that ever confronted the government was the Monroe head $100 silver certificate matter. I was away from Washington at the time that Comptroller Lawrence, acting for the Philadelphia sub-Treasury, discovered a counterfeit $100 bill that at the first glance deceived the best of the bank experts. Two bills had been accepted as genuine by every bank in Philadelphia, and scores of them had even found their way into the United States Treasury. Secretary of the Treasury Gage was greatly alarmed, and the Secret Service Bureau, of which John E. Wilkie had recently been appointed chief, turned loose every resource at its command.

"While reading over the newspaper accounts on the train coming East I was struck by the descriptions of the accuracy of the counterfeit. To my mind this immediately indicated that the process used was photo-engraving and that the operators were highly skilled and intelligent men. When I reached Washington and had a look at one of the bills I knew that none of the old school counterfeiters could have turned it out. I laid my ideas before Chief Wilkie and had orders to go ahead.

"The bills had made their appearance first about June of 1897 in Philadelphia. I began by making a list of every photo-engraving firm in and around Philadelphia that had a man or a plant capable of such a job. For weeks after that I and the men under me proceeded by elimination. Our inquiries were directed particularly toward discovering a firm that had been closed or slack during the spring, the time when, as I figured, the counterfeits must have been made.

"I hit at last upon a concern run by two young men, Arthur Taylor and Baldwin S. Bredell. Taylor was a master of photo-etching on steel and had invented a process of his own. Bredell was an expert transferrer and a highly skilled mechanic. I found that they had turned away a lot of regular business and closed their shop during the early months of the year, and that was enough to make them objects of suspicion.

"I wanted to get into the place and look around without the chance of alarming the two men. There was a sharp little office boy employed by the firm to run errands, and by watching I found that he had a key with which he opened up when he came in the mornings. I stopped him on the street one day when he was running an errand and gave him a bundle to carry to a certain hotel, slipping him a quarter. He was ready enough to take the commission. I told him the package contained a boy's theatrical costume.

"'Say, sonny, why don't you go on the stage?' I asked. 'You'd get along fine and make big money.'

"His eyes bulged at that and I went on to paint the actor's life in glowing colors. Before long I had captured his interest and he began to ask questions.

Impression of the Key.

"'Why, you could wear the costume in that bundle,' I said. 'Would you like to come along to my hotel and try it on?'

"He was eager and accompanied me. While he was trying on the costume I got hold of his trousers. The key was in the pocket and I made a wax impression of it without attracting his notice. That night I was able to inspect Taylor and Bredell's premises, and no one connected with the firm had the slightest suspicion that such was the case.

"While I was getting my facts together the government found the situation in regard to the counterfeits more and more serious. Secretary Gage finally adopted the heroic measure of withdrawing the entire 'Monroe head' issue. That meant taking $26,000,000 from circulation. It was the first time in history that a counterfeit drove the genuine original from the field, but no other course was open.

"I shadowed Taylor and Bredell to Lancaster, Pa., and discovered that they had close relations with two wealthy cigar manufacturers. All four were about to start a paper mill—one more suggestive link. Now came a queer turn to the affair. I began to investigate the cigar men and stumbled upon the fact that although they sold millions of cigars a year, their purchase of internal revenue stamps was very small. I determined easily enough that they were using thousands of dollars' worth of counterfeited stamps. By opening packages sent back and forth between Philadelphia and Lancaster I found that Taylor and Bredell were doing the printing for them. When that much was established we uncovered the whole outfit and seized evidence not only of the stamp fraud, but of the $100 certificate counterfeiting. The move that precipitated the arrest came when they discovered that I had them right and made me an offer of $25,000 to keep off.

"I was feeling pretty comfortable over the result when Chief Wilkie sent for me in a hurry one day and showed me a wonderful $20 counterfeit that had just appeared in Philadelphia.

"'Now where does that come from?' he asked.

"'The only men in the country capable of turning out such work are Taylor and Bredell,' I answered.

"'But, man, they are in jail,' he objected.

"'And still I say they've done this: there's no other possible conclusion,' I insisted. And I proved to be right. The two prisoners had succeeded in turning off what was undoubtedly the cleverest bit of counterfeiting ever attempted. No one knows to this day just how they managed to do it, but by placing a secret watch over them we caught them in the act. Taylor's mother smuggled in tools to them and they made a plate. Then she brought in a lot of one dollar bills. They washed and bleached the bills by a method they alone had mastered and used the paper for printing the $20 counterfeits, which the woman distributed. For brain and skill and daring the annals of counterfeiting have never shown the equals of Taylor and Bredell."

"The older counterfeiters were men of different caliber, then?" asked the reporter.

"Different type and different methods," continued Mr. Burns. "Individually they were more dangerous to handle, but they never threatened the financial integrity of the government as did the Philadelphia group.

"One of the most remarkable men among those who followed that branch of crime regularly was Charles Ulrich. He was a German by birth, a big, fine strapping fellow, well educated and polished. In [illegible] he completed a term in a German prison, but were not notified of his release until three months later by some mischance. When we did get the word the order was 'Find Ulrich.'

A Policeman Grabbed Him Before He Could Make a Move and Put Him Out

On the Trail.

"After long inquiry I discovered what name he had come over on and traced him foot by foot to Cincinnati. He was living in a quiet street and had a front room. There was an empty flat across the way and I rented it. Of course, he knew that someone was after him, that that flat would be taken as the post of observation. And I knew he knew it. I saw him watching the place from behind his curtains, waiting to see who should go in or out.

"I gave him his chance next morning. I saw him sauntering out the front door in rough workman's garb, swinging a dinner bucket. Late in the afternoon I came back the same way in the same disguise and kept that up for five months, playing the part of the factory hand twice a day and watching his every step and his movements the rest of the time. He was close for a week, being pretty suspicious of me, but finally he became convinced that I was no more than I seemed to be and he went ahead with his plans. When he was ready to act I knew as much about his intentions as he did himself.

"He hopped out of Cincinnati finally and came on to New York to get in the game that was hatching. Chief Hazen met me and we followed him to a little telegraph office in the lower part of the city. We entered close after him. He took a blank and a pencil and began to write.

"I meant to arrest him anyway, so I made no attempt at concealment when I moved behind him and looked over his shoulder. He turned, surprise, but did not know me.

"'Are you interested in this?' he asked, with lifted brows, waving toward the telegram.

"'Why—yes, I am,' I answered.

"'Well,' he said, 'then maybe you had better M. If you would be so kind.'

"'Certainly to oblige you,' I said, and took pencil from him. All he had written was, 'Have this I wrote the name and address of the man the message was intended—one of Ulrich's [illegible] I knew that Ulrich would get into communication with this man as soon as he reached New York. He [illegible] about to [illegible]

"'It's [illegible] of pinch, Ulrich,' I said.

"'Oh! [illegible]h, eh?' he stammered. 'Well, all right.'

We [illegible] him off to a quiet corner and I put the situation [illegible] right to him. 'Ulrich,' I said, 'you can take your choice of helping us and going over to Jersey tomorrow [illegible] that indictment that's been hanging over you [illegible] some years. If you play square with us we'll do [illegible] we can to make it easy for you. If you don't you [illegible] how we can get you and put you away a long [illegible] Now, which is it?'

"He [illegible]'d help us. Hazen didn't like it, but as I sized Ulrich up he was willing to throw his associates for the [illegible] of leniency. At my insistence Ulrich was [illegible] at large and given free hand to take part in the [illegible] counterfeiting conspiracy which was then [illegible]

"It was [illegible] gathering of the lights of the profession, and I knew that we would need some one like Ulrich to pierce [illegible] into the shrewd criminals who were at work. [illegible] sent his telegram, took up his assigned part in the [illegible] and was soon on the inside. When everything was ready we descended on the prim little house [illegible] Hudson street, Hoboken, which was being used as headquarters of the counterfeiters.

Booty Unearthed.

"We [illegible] $400,000 worth of United States gold certificates, $500 and $1,000 in Canadian bank notes of $50 and $20, all counterfeits. They were wonderful and the paper was especially good. Among those we arrested were 'Big Bill' Brockway, Mrs. Lillie [illegible] Smith, William E. Wagner, and, later, the notorious Dr. O. E. Bradford. Brockway, who was a very slippery and intelligent old man, had given the government officials trouble and served various prison terms since the '70's. When it came to trial we had nothing on him at first except the testimony of Ulrich, who was State's evidence. I had the only bit of corroborative evidence.

"When I searched the Ann street house I came upon a piece of oilcloth that had been used as a printer's apron. The others had thrown it aside, but I [illegible]. When I ransacked Brockway's room in avenue A I found the roll of oilcloth that the apron had been cut from. The piece fitted into the space perfectly, and that was the thing that convicted old Brockway.

"Another of the band who got away before the thing [illegible] was Jim Courtney. His specialty was filling [illegible] the perforations of drafts, reperforating, and [illegible] them. I couldn't land him on anything else, so dug up a warrant for him in Detroit three years before, brought on two witnesses who identified him and sent him West. He was tried and convicted on the old count."

During Cleveland's second term, when John G. Carlisle was Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Burns handled a remarkable little case. It came to the ears of the Treasury Department that the State of Mississippi was issuing debit warrants, or notes that had been made to resemble legal currency and were passing as such. The detectives were sent to investigate and began by rounding up a number of persons ready to swear that they really had been imposed upon by the resemblance. This, technically, was counterfeiting, and Mr. Burns went to the United States District Attorney.

"I have warrants for the arrest of the Governor, the State Treasurer and the Auditor," he said.

The District Attorney offered to call an ambulance and have Burns examined as to his sanity. Burns thanked him and withdrew. Within a few hours the District Attorney received a very curt telegram from Washington ordering him to obey the Secret Service agent. Mr. Burns got his warrants and the Grand Jury was on the verge of finding indictments when the firm that had made the plates pleaded guilty, returned the plates and the case was dropped.

When Secretary Hitchcock, of the Department of the Interior, first received intimation of the [illegible] land frauds in 1903 he sent for Chief Wilkie and asked for a man. Wilkie replied that he would detail him the best he had. That meant nothing to the Secretary.

"Can't get proof, that's what I want to know!"

"If you can't no one can, Mr. Secretary," answered Wilkie. Mr. Burns was given the mission.

After he had been at work on the difficult problem for a few weeks Mr. Burns was called into Secretary Hitchcock's office.

"Have you made any progress?" asked Mr. Hitchcock.

"Yes," said the other. "I've gone far enough to know that [illegible] is taking graft and has been chiefly instrumental in protecting the frauds." He named a man high in the department in whom the Secretary had implicitly. Explanation was demanded.

"We began Mr. Burns, "according to my theory"—

"Stop right there," interrupted Mr. Hitchcock. "You can't [illegible] a man like that of such a crime on theory."

Mr. Burns bowed himself out and returned in a short time with the man to whom he had referred. They spent an hour with the Secretary. "Now, Mr. [illegible]," said the Secret Service agent, "just tell the Secretary what you told me." A full confession was made and the first real step in the investigation taken. It was solely through the work done by Mr. Burns that Senator Mitchell, of Oregon; F. A. Hyde and others were finally convicted in the land fraud cases that attracted so much attention.

In [illegible] Mr. Burns gave up his position with the government and went to San Francisco to help Prosecutor Heney in his fight against the corrupt municipal ring. He obtained the confessions from members of the Board of Supervisors and all the important evidence brought about the conviction of Mayor "Abe" Ruef and others. He it was, also, who discovered that the defence had managed to get a corrupt juror, Morris Haas, on the jury at the first trial.

"Haas came into the court room one day," said Mr. Burns, relating his more recent adventures, "and got between Heney and myself. A policeman [illegible] before he could make a move and pushed him out. I got back a few days later and shot Haas through the head. Before Haas committed suicide [illegible] he confessed that he had meant to kill both [illegible]. But that was a detail. It was touch and go the way through, and when they offered me $100,000 as a bribe to get out I wasn't even surprised."

So this brief, is William J. Burns, who has tackled the biggest single private detective job in the world and stands ready to undertake any other that offers. Whether or not he will still be "Never Fail" after he has measured against his latest venture remains to be seen. Whether he can replace the [illegible] with the Pinkerton structure built up by the Pinkertons through [illegible] generations is a question for results to decide. His qualities, the courage and the experience [illegible] him for the biggest responsibilities

HE ENJOYS HIS MEALS NOW

For He Keeps a "Little Digester" Handy

Mr. Glassco, of Toronto, wrote us on May 13th last:

THE COLEMAN MEDICINE CO.,
509 Church St., Toronto.

Dear Sirs,—

I wish you would send me another box of your "Little Digesters". All the members of my family have been using them and have obtained the most satisfactory results.

I congratulate you on your success in putting up a tablet for the cure of Indigestion. I suffered for years and tried everything that was recommended to me. Nothing gave me relief, until I was persuaded to try "Little Digesters". Now I never suffer from Indigestion. I enjoy my meals and am not afraid to eat, because I know a "Little Digester" after each meal will digest my food.

I recommend them to all my friends who suffer from Indigestion and would rather say that you may publish the above if you wish. I know there are thousands of people suffering from Indigestion who will be glad to know there is a safe and sure cure for them.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) R. S. GLASSCO.

"Little Digesters" cost 25 cents at your druggists, or by mail from Coleman Medicine Co., Toronto. 25

B. SHORTLY'S
— for —
NEW YEAR PRESENTS

Every year more and more people find here just what they are looking for in the Gift line, such as

Trunks — Satchels
Travelling Bags
Shopping Bags
Suit Cases — Purses
Fitted-Out Bags
and Club Bags

for both ladies and gentlemen

Wallets, Pocket Books

Nothing Nicer for New Year Gifts

We never had a better assortment, either in quality and design, and the prices will be found very reasonable and adaptable to every purse.

Sign of the Horse - George Street

Fetherstonhaugh Dennison & Co.
The Prospective Patentee is fully informed as to the Invention's Merits before Making Application
STAR BUILDING, 18 KING ST. W. TORONTO
PATENTS
OFFICES—MONTREAL, TORONTO, OTTAWA, WINNIPEG, WASHINGTON.

SENSATIONAL BASEBALL.

A Triple Play Made by the White Sox at Detroit.

The most sensational play ever made? Every fan will give a different answer to this question. Some will say that Chase made it when he saved a game by racing into the middle of the diamond on a pop fly, reaching the ball when it was only a few inches from the grass. Ed Walsh, the Chicago White Sox pitcher, thinks it was made at Detroit two years ago.

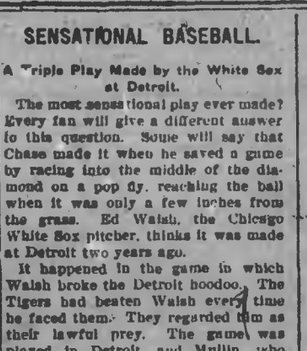
It happened in the game in which Walsh broke the Detroit hoodoo. The Tigers had beaten Walsh every time he faced them. They regarded him as their lawful prey. The game was played in Detroit, and Mullin, who started this season with eleven straight victories for the Tigers, was slated to pitch against Walsh.

Early in the contest George Davis, the veteran shortstop of the Chicago club, secured the only hit made off Mullin, and it was enough to win the game. The ball, driven down the first base line into right field, struck a fire hose lying in the grass and bounded into the bleachers for a home run. After that Mullin was invincible.

Toward the end of the game Detroit opened with the usual rally. Rossman, Detroit's first baseman, leading off in the last inning, smashed the ball against the fence for a clean triple. "Dutch" Schaefer drew a base on balls. Schmidt, next at bat, gave the hit and run sign and, with both runners in motion, hit a hard bounder down toward third base, where Tannehill of Chicago was playing. Tannehill made a perfect scoop and threw the ball to the plate twenty feet ahead of Rossman, who, seeing that he was caught, doubled back on the line, hoping to dodge the tag long enough to allow Schaefer to reach third.

Sullivan raced down the line with the ball, driving Rossman before him. Rossman slipped and fell close to third base, and just as Sullivan tagged him for the first out Schaefer slid to third. In the meantime Schmidt, a slow runner because of an injury to his ankle, had rounded first base and was well on his way to second. Sullivan straightened up and whipped the ball to Robe, who was covering second base and calling for the throw.

As Schmidt slid Robe's arm came down with a thump, and Schmidt made the second out. The instant Sullivan threw the ball Schaefer was on his feet and dashing home from third base. The plate had been left unprotected. Sullivan was down near third base. Walsh, the pitcher, yelled for the ball and raced Schaefer to the rubber, closely followed by George Davis.



DR. A. W. CHASE'S CATARRH POWDER 25c.
is sent direct to the diseased parts by the Improved Blower. Heals the ulcers, clears the air passages, stops droppings in the throat and permanently cures Catarrh and Hay Fever. 25c. blower free. Accept no substitutes. All dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

The two runners collided in front of the plate.

Walsh was stunned and Schaefer was thrown ten feet from the plate, alighting on his shoulders. Davis, who arrived about the same time, took the throw and dropped the ball on the struggling Tiger, completing the third out and the most sensational triple play ever made in the big league.—Outing Magazine.

The Indiana Farmer.

Ex-Governor W. T. Durbin of Indiana sent the following extract from the Marion Chronicle to a friend who had good naturedly "poked fun" at Indiana: "The census bulletins show that Indiana raised enough grain last year to supply every family in the United States with about fifteen bushels. The corn alone sold for enough to give every family in Indiana $200 if the proceeds were divided on a per capita basis, which they were not. There are 3,000,000 head of stock on the farms of Indiana, enough to form a continuous procession of animals marching ten abreast reaching from Marion 200 miles into the Atlantic beyond Cape Cod if it were thought advisable to go that far. Great is the Indiana farmer!"

Shaw Would Be Censor.

Bernard Shaw is himself again. After a relatively long period of silence he has written a column and a half letter on the vexed question of the censorship. Shaw is more strongly convinced than ever that the censorship should be abolished, but he concludes:

"If the nation still clings madly to the ideal censor clamored for by so many witnesses—a man of the world, a man of culture, brains, public experience, sympathy with literature and art, of some knowledge of the French and German drama—why not make me censor? I throw off my natural modesty so far as to challenge George Edwardes to name any living real, not ideal, person with on the whole, a better equipment. At all events, if there is a better man name him."—London Cable to New York [illegible].

Books cannot always please, however good; minds are not ever craving for their f[illegible]d.—Crabbe.

OCEAN WAVES.

Curious Facts About the Irregularities of the Tides.

To the ordinary landsman tides along the coast are most puzzling. He has been taught that the tides rise and fall twice in the twenty-four hours and that this depends in some mysterious way upon the moon. But when it occurs that in his travels he sees a spot along the shore where there is no tide at all he is at a loss to explain the phenomenon.

To be exact, there is only one ocean in the world where the tides follow the moon with absolute regularity. This is the great Antarctic basin, and the reason is that there and there only is to be found a sweep of water entirely uninterrupted by land. The enormous wave raised by the moon's attraction courses round the world south of Cape Horn and the Cape of Good Hope with absolutely nothing to break it. In the northern hemisphere great masses of land interrupt the tidal waves and, combined with the shallowness of inland seas, cause them to perform antics that seem most strange.

The depth of water has much to do with tidal irregularities. Out in the open ocean, when the tide is abyssmal—that is, about 5,000 fathoms—the speed of the waves is amazing. Where the depth decreases to five fathoms the tide travels at a comparatively slow rate. In England, for example, which is surrounded by narrow, land broken seas, the result is that the Britons get some of the most terrible and dangerous tidal races and currents.

The most formidable is the whirlpool between the island of Jura and Scarba, on the west coast of Scotland. This is known as the "Caldron of the Spotted Seas." Here is a race running at a speed to be matched only by a mountain torrent. The force of a heavy tidal current pushing up a wide mouthed river causes what is termed a "bore." The most striking example of this tidal feature is seen on the Amazon, a moving wall of water thirty feet high and reaching from bank to bank rushing inland from the ocean.

ILLUSTRATORS' WOES.

Errors That Were Pointed Out by Unfeeling Editors.

"Now, what do you think of that?" asked the youthful illustrator ruefully as he tossed his comrade a letter. It was from an editor, and its mandate was stern. It said:

"Dear Sir—Permit me to call your attention to the importance of reading a story before attempting to illustrate it. I am aware that the modern artist does not observe this rule, but it is imperative in this office. If you will examine the text of the story sent you for illustration you will learn that the army officer mentioned is said to have taken his fishing reel out of his haversack, and you have made a picture showing this officer—who, by the way, is a brigadier general—with a knapsack strapped to his back. A knapsack, my dear sir, is not a haversack. Furthermore, no army officer ever carried a knapsack or ever will carry one. If the general should see your drawing he would be insulted. Will you please acquaint yourself thoroughly with the appearance of a haversack, correct your drawing and return it to this office at the earliest possible date?"

"Just think of having to know all such details!" exclaimed the artist wrathfully.

"That's nothing," his studio comrade responded consolingly. "I made an awful break once. I painted a picture to illustrate a story in which a widow got married, and I depicted the bride in a long white veil. Of course I thought the drawing was a beauty and a wonder, and I was ecstatic over the way I had handled that effect in white. Imagine how crushed I was to have the editor—by the way, she was a woman—smile witheringly and tell me that no widow ever wore a veil when being remarried. How was I to know that? I have never been a widow."

CORNS CURED IN 24 HOURS
You can painlessly remove any corn, callus, soft or bleeding, by applying Putnam's Corn Extractor. It never burns, leaves no scar, contains no acids; is harmless because composed only of healing gums and balms. Fifty years in use. Cure guaranteed. Sold by all druggists 25c. bottles. Beware substitutes.
PUTNAM'S PAINLESS CORN EXTRACTOR

A King's Umbrella.

The king of the Belgians once left his umbrella in a hansom when driving to Brussels. This was returned to his majesty a few hours afterward by the proud cabby, who was offered for his honesty by King Leopold the sum of 100 francs. The astute jehu, however, begged a great favor of the king. Could he have the umbrella instead of the money? The favor was granted, and before many days had passed the cabman had put up the umbrella for sale, and it was knocked down to some royal enthusiast for 1,100 francs. When King Leopold heard of this he exclaimed, "Well, I've heard of an umbrella being put up to keep off showers of rain, but this seems to have been put up to bring down showers of gold!"—London Globe.

A Politician's Theory.

"Why did Diogenes adopt those spectacular methods in his effort to find an honest man?"

"Oh," answered Senator Sorghum, "I suppose he had a hard job that paid neither salary nor perquisites that he wanted to work off on somebody."

Hubby's Plot.

"I wish I were a heroine, George."

"Why, it is easy for you to become a heroine, dear."

"I'd like to know how?"

"The woman who is not afraid to remain alone while her husband goes to a poker party is a heroine."

Marked Down to $3.98

It pleased Miss Flagg to hear tongues wag
About her new fall bonnet,
But she was mad to find it had
The price tag still upon it.

Still in the Family.

"Don't you think Comeup's remark was twisted that he had a pedigree in his family?"

"I don't know. He has a dog with a screw tail."—Baltimore American.

Pull Goes Here Too.

Him—Why is a crew race like a class election?

Her—Why?

Him—The bunch with the strongest pull wins.—Wisconsin Sphinx.

A Beautiful Canadian.

The Marchioness of Donegall, who was Miss Violet Twining, daughter of the late Mr. Henry St. George Twining of Halifax, N.S., is one of the comparatively few Canadian women who have married into the British peerage. She is the only Canadian marchioness. Her marriage to the fifth marquess took place in England, her husband being many years older than herself. She has one son, the sixth marquess, a remarkably handsome boy, who numbers among his distinctions that of being Hereditary Lord High Admiral of Lough Neagh. Lady Donegall is a fair, slender, and very pretty woman who is always remarkably well dressed. Since her widowhood she has visited Canada on several occasions. She is devoted to travel and spends much of her time in out-of-the-way places.

USE
ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM
At once when attacked by a Cough and thus avert dangerous bronchial and pulmonary ailments. . . . . .
25c., 50c. and $1.00 Bottles.
Sold everywhere.
DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., Montreal.

They Keep The Brakes Set

And So Can Never Do Their Best

Many men, and more women, go through life like a train with the engine tugging, but the brakes hard on. They never get anywhere near top speed, because they are never really well.

Probably they do not own even to themselves that they are sick, but they scarcely known what it is to really "feel good". Always there is Headache, or that "dragged out feeling" which makes good work, either mental or physical, utterly impossible.

The most common trouble with all these people is that they have Constipation. Their systems are poisoned with the waste matter, which stays in the blood, instead of being promptly removed by the bowels. Harsh purgatives are worse than no treatment at all, because they weaken and irritate the bowels, instead of curing the trouble.

The natural and permanent cure for Constipation, is "Fruit-a-tives".

"Fruit-a-tives" combines the well-known laxative principles of apples, oranges, figs and prunes. So perfect is the combination, that "Fruit-a-tives" acts like the fresh fruit, by stimulating the sluggish liver to supply the proper amount of bile to move the bowels regularly.

The most stubborn cases of Constipation promptly yield to the curative and corrective effects of "Fruit-a-tives".

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c.—at dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

December Coal
7.50 Per Ton Cash

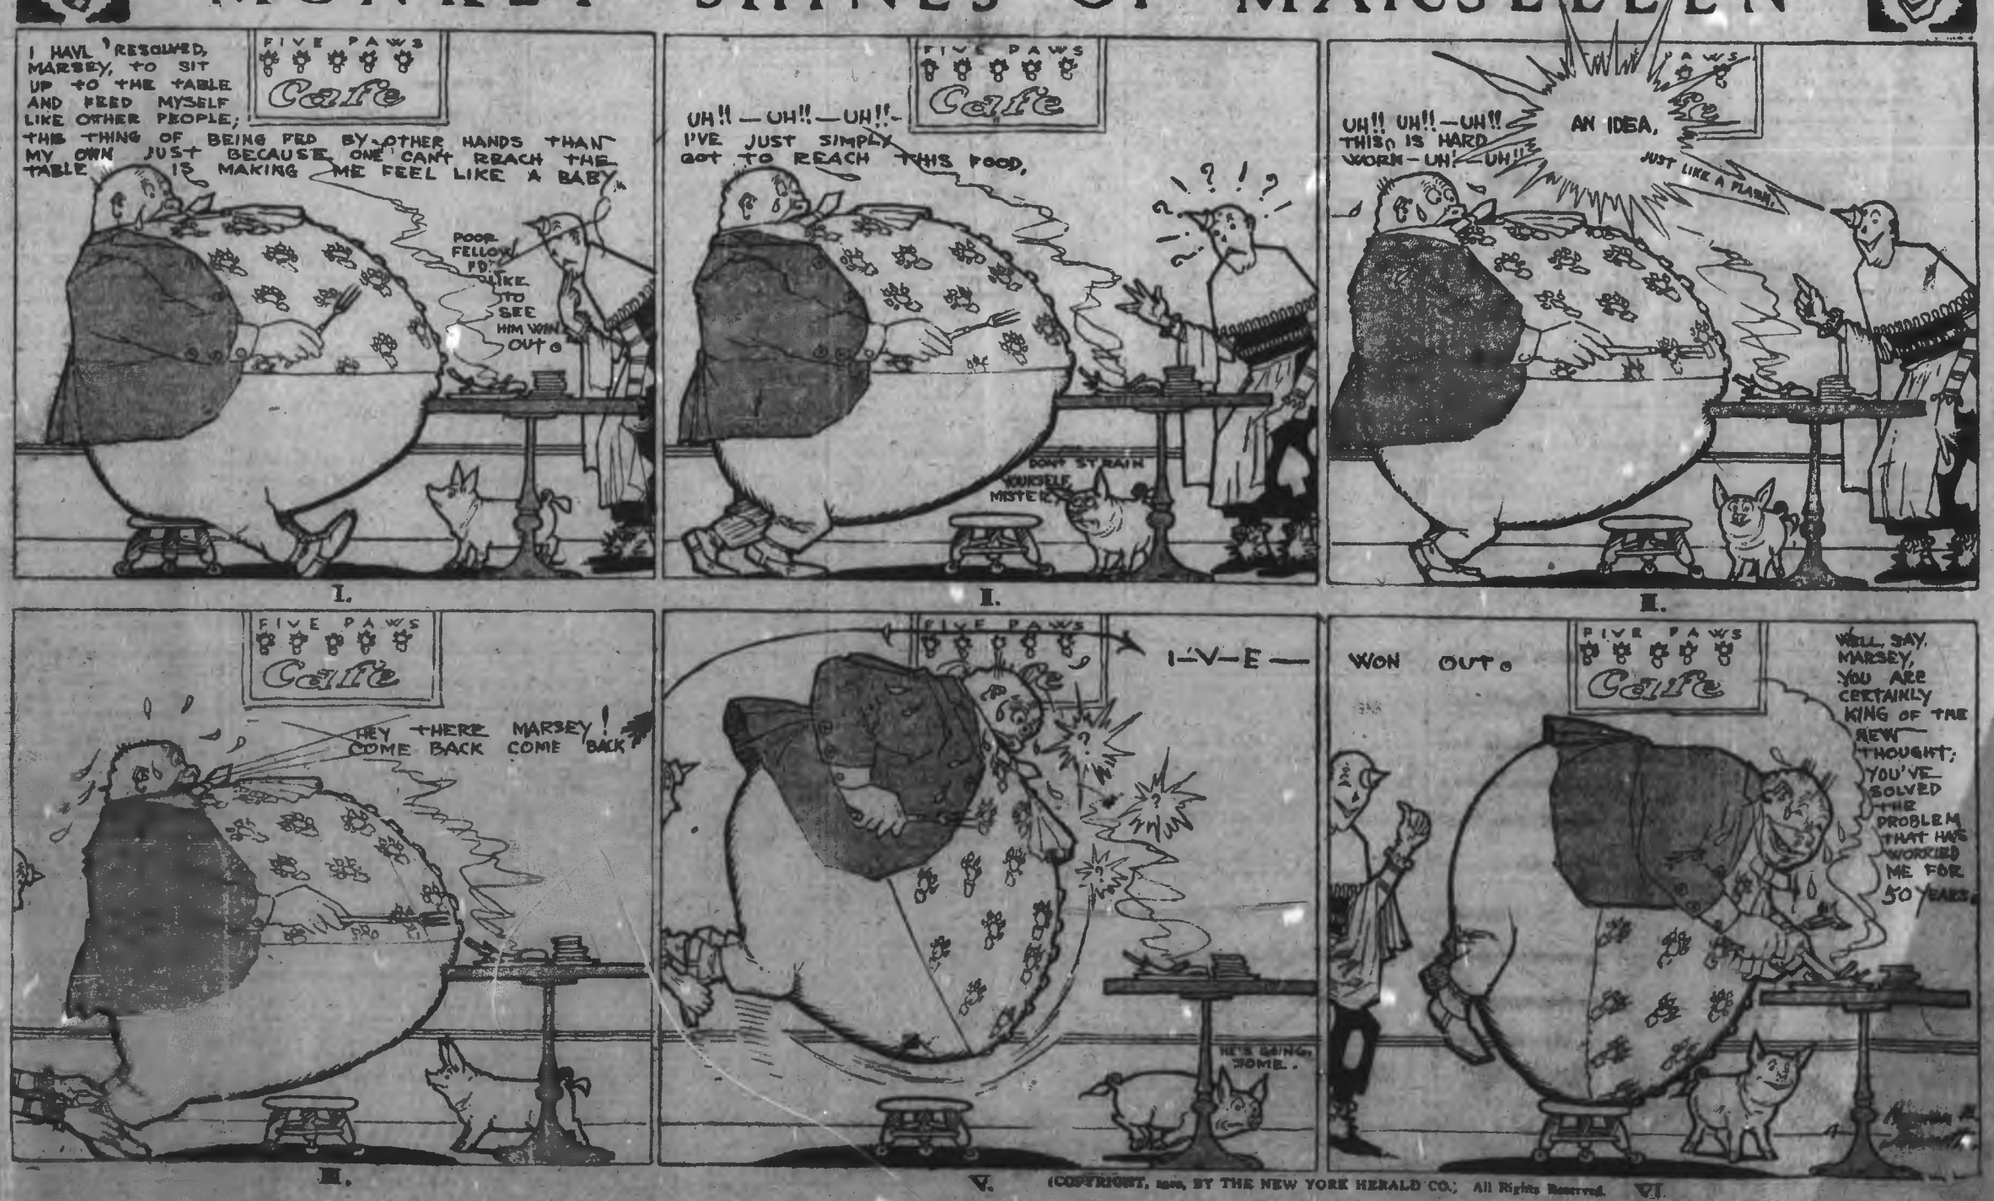
YOU KNOW just what you need for the winter. Why delay? Order this month and save.

COAL
For Every Purpose.
WOOD
Any way you want it.

The Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Company, Limited
162 CHARLOTTE ST.
PHONE—Bell, 170-261. Mach., 230
134 AYLMER ST.
PHONE— . . . . Bell 203

SINGER SEWING MACHINE COMPANY
J. W. STUART, Mgr Office 347 George St. Residence Phone 247. Office Phone

MONKEY SHINES OF MARSELEEN



I HAVL 'RESOLVED, MARSEY, TO SIT UP TO THE TABLE AND FEED MYSELF LIKE OTHER PEOPLE; THIS THING OF BEING FED BY OTHER HANDS THAN MY OWN JUST BECAUSE ONE CAN'T REACH THE TABLE IS MAKING ME FEEL LIKE A BABY.
FIVE PAWS Cafe
POOR FELLOW I'D LIKE TO SEE HIM WIN OUT.
I.
UH!! —UH!! —UH!! I'VE JUST SIMPLY GOT TO REACH THIS FOOD.
DON'T STRAIN YOURSELF MISTER.
I.
UH!! UH!! —UH!! THIS IS HARD WORK—UH! —UH!!
AN IDEA, JUST LIKE A FLASH!
II.
HEY THERE MARSEY! COME BACK COME BACK
II.
I—V—E —
HE'S GOING HOME.
V.
WON OUT.
WELL, SAY, MARSEY, YOU ARE CERTAINLY KING OF THE NEW THOUGHT; YOU'VE SOLVED THE PROBLEM THAT HAS WORRIED ME FOR 50 YEARS.
VI.

(COPYRIGHT, 1910, BY THE NEW YORK HERALD CO.) All Rights Reserved.

Great Removal Sale

Big Reductions all this Week

Now going on at

WARNE'S

Fancy Toilet Soaps, reg 10c, 15c and 25c per cake, for 40 cake

Kidney and Liver Pills,	reg. 25c	per box,	for	9c
Alpine Tooth Paste,	" 25c	"	.....	9c
Wild Cherry Cough Syrup,	" 25c	"	.....	9c
Electric Liniment,	" 25c	"	.....	9c
Gordon's White Oil Lin't.	" 25c	"	.....	9c
Kelvin's Hair Tonic,	" 25c	"	.....	9c
Witch Hazel Cream,	" 25c	"	.....	9c
Dr. Fuller's Heart Cure	" 25c	"	.....	9c

Comp. Syrup of Hypophosphites,	reg. 50c	bottle for	.....	19c
Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil,	" 50c	"	.....	19c
Little's Face Cream,	" 50c	"	.....	19c
Nox Dyspepsia,	" 50c	"	.....	19c
Diamond Hair Renewer	" 50c	"	.....	19c

King's Beef, Iron & Wine, reg. $1.00 bottle for 39c
Japanese Hair Renewer, reg. $1.00 bottle for 39c

SEE OUR WINDOW

These and many other lines must be cleared before moving into our New Store, 351 George St, next to Richard Hall & Son, Limited

THE WARNE DRUG CO., Limited

345 George Street : Phone 527 Bell - 205 Machine

CENTRAL CANADA LOAN & SAVINGS COY.
18 KING ST. E. TORONTO.

Notice is hereby given that a quarterly dividend at the rate of eight per cent. (8%) per annum for the three months ending December 31st, 1909, has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this Company, together with a bonus of two per cent. (2%) for the year 1909, making a total dividend disbursement for the year ten per cent. (10%). The said dividend and bonus will be payable at the office of the Company in this city on and after January 1st, 1910.

The Transfer Books of the Company will be closed from the 20th to the 31st of December, both days inclusive.

E. R. WOOD,
Managing Director.

Toronto, December, 15th, 1909.

Your Holiday Snapshots Enlarged

Work guaranteed first-class—Enlargements made from your best pictures, for any size frame.

Louis Mendelssohn

STUDIO —374½ George Street, East Side. The only Studio on George St.

Mrs. M. J. Byrne
Dealer in Ladies' Furnishings
and Hair Work

Ladies' Underwear, Children's Clothing and Ornamental Needle Work and Stamping executed to order and kept in stock

LADIES' HAIR DRESSING

Carefully attended to. Ladies hair dressed for balls, parties, entertainments and all public and private occasions. Switches, transformations, etc., always in stock and made to order fashionably. Combings neatly done up in any desired design. Switches, Wigs, etc., created for carnivals, masquerades and all occasions.

424 George St. Phone 262

B. LASTAR
BARGAIN HOUSE

B. Lastar's Holiday Stock is the cheapest in Town.

Ladies' Furs, Coats, Skirts, Suits, Waists, Millinery, Feathers, Plumes, etc.

Men's Overcoats, Suits, Hats, Caps.

Boys' Clothing, Neckwear, Scarfs and etc.

Children's Furs, Coats and Caps, Toys, Fancy Goods, Jewellery, Purses, Brooches, etc.

"RING OUT THE OLD YEAR RING IN THE NEW."

COLEMAN BROS
Confectioners and Caterers

Send Out their Best Wishes for A HAPPY AND PROSPEROUT NEW YEAR.

This Store has done its work and done it well. It enjoyed nearly double the holiday business of previous years, so that in emphasizing the spirit of this home-like store, we are glad to add our appreciation of your encouragement.

COLEMAN BROS
George Street

Classes at Conservatory of Music

THE MISSES STERNBERG of Toronto are organizing classes in

DANCING, PHYSICAL CULTURE AND FENCING

in connection with the Peterborough Conservatory of Music, to open October 14.

Applications may be made immediately.

Children's Classes in Aesthetics, Social Dancing, and Fancy Steps, 4:30 to 6:00 p.m.

Adults, beginners, 7:30 to 9:00 p.m. Social evening, advanced pupils, 9:00 to 10:30.

Private Lessons and Classes on request. Write for Prospectus containing full information regarding fees, etc. 1m-eo&s

PATENTS
PROCURED ON EASY TERMS.
TRADE MARKS AND COPYRIGHT

Books and advice free. Highest references. 3 years experience. We are registered attorneys and state in of your invention for free opinion as to its patentability.

CRISWELL & CRISWELL
1423 F. ST., N. W., WASHINGTON, D. C. or Broadway, New York City

LUMBER

And Builders' Materials of all kinds. Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Clapboards and Rose and all kinds of Sashes, Doors and Window Glasses.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE
Point St. Charles Mills

JAS. FROWDE
CARPENTER AND BUILDER

Is prepared to do all kinds of first-class Carpenter Work at reasonable prices.

Residence—460 Hutton Street, south of Water Street, Peterborough.

SUN FIRE

The oldest Insurance Office in the world
FOUNDED A.D. 1710 BI-CENTENARY 1910
HOME OFFICE: LONDON, ENGLAND

Canadian Branch, Sun Building, Toronto. H. M. Blackburn, Manager.
W. H. HILL, AGENT . . . . . PETERBOROUGH.

IS "JOE" DOING IT?

They Think Unionists Are Making Capital Out of the Great Imperialist's Name and That He Is Too Ill to Do the Work Himself—Unionists Are Hoping For the Best, the Liberals Expecting It.

London, Jan. 3.—The situation in a nutshell is thus described: The Conservatives are hoping for the best and the Liberals are expecting it.

Sir Charles Dilke says the Liberals may lose a few seats in London, which will have a slight effect in the country, but that victory is assured.

Lloyd-George, in addressing an enthusiastic meeting of 6,000 at Reading says he found everywhere the same determination on the part of the people to win. Their opponents were constantly quoting colonial opinion and they said "Hear our kinsman; why don't you take them by the hand. They are asking you to pay 2s. for wheat. Why don't you do that?"

Their colonial ebrethren' had been watching the budget fight with great interest and were expressing opinions very freely about it. They were thoroughly ashamed of their lordship friends over the way they had declined to pay up like men. He thought tariff reformers were rather glad their colonists were kinsmen across the seas and not in England to take a part in the election.

The Chancellor proceeded to chaff the scaremakers "who mistook the rattling of the milkman's can in the mornings for the jingle and spurs of German hussars. In men and material we were three to one on the sea compared to Germany. Did their opponents—those great imperial souls—imagine that one German would eat three Britishers as if they were Frankfort sausages.

He then dealt with the provision made in the budget for social reform. He of all was for the security of capital, but he wanted security for the daily bread of men who never knew the sting of poverty so closely, and flung out the humane provision for the sick, the wounded and the unemployed—soldiers of industry. He emphasized that the budget raised £1,800,000 for social reform. "We mean to drive hunger forever from the hearts. Our opponents' contribution to the problem is a 2s. tax on bread." (Cheers.)

Meetings were interrupted by suffragettes who, begrimed and bedraggled emerged beneath the platform and were summarily ejected.

The Marquis of Salisbury had a trying time at St. Albans where cheers were given for the Liberal candidate. Several other peers spoke at various places and stated that Conservative leaders had revised the list of campaigning lords.

There is one feature of the election campaign which was resumed with renewed vigor after the Christmas holidays true to politics, which presents several curious anomalies, even if it does not conceal, as some people claim, one of the most astounding deceptions ever practised in English history.

Joseph Chamberlain is a candidate for the West Birmingham seat with which he was connected over twenty years and will be returned unopposed. Much of the support which the "fair trade" doctrine is receiving in England is due to the personality of Chamberlain. All the world remembers the blow which was struck at him a few years ago and which, it was generally supposed would forever preclude his return to active political life.

He has never since appeared in public, and it is admitted even by his supporters that, on his being returned to Parliament at the coming election, he will be unable to take his seat at Westminster.

This week he issued an address to the electors of West Birmingham which was featured by the Unionist press as the most important pronouncement in the campaign, nor is this the limit of his activities. From his retreat at Highbury there have been spread broadcast letters and messages which denote a surprising recrudescence of energy on the part of a man whose physical powers had been believed to be irretrievably impaired.

By his friends it is declared his mental powers are as vigorous as in the days before his paralytic seizure. It is even, declared he, although admittedly a cripple, suffers only from gout and shows no trace of the other and more serious ailment.

On the other hand, strange stories are current suggesting that Chamberlain's name has been used without his assent, but in a way for which the [illegible] responsibility cannot ultimately be assigned to him. Attention has been directed to the curious similarity in the language of one letter which appeared in one Unionist organ above the signature Joseph Chamberlain and another published in a different paper over the signature of Austen Chamberlain.

It is stated to be a curious circumstance that all those who have had an opportunity of personally visiting Jos. Chamberlain speak of his keen interest in the progress of the campaign, but are vague and evasive in the details they give.

Dizzy Spells Bearing-Down Pains

When pains gather around the hips and lodge in the small of the back—when to stoop or bend seems impossible, when dizzy spells and bearing-down pains are ever present—that's the time to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Irregularities disappear, vim, energy is restored, back trouble is forgotten.

DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS

The ailing sick woman gains strength, improves in looks, increases in spirit, by using Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They are the conditions that rob her of roses and vigor. No medicine so simple as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25c all dealers.

Is Czarina Dying?

Lividia, Jan. 3.—Upon high authority it can be stated that the Tsarina has suffered another complete mental breakdown. Her condition is serious and at one time Saturday she was thought to be dying. Each of these attacks leaves her weaker than perviously, and a frequent recurrence of them could only have a fatal termination.

Specialists who understand the Tsarina's constitution have been hastily summoned from St. Petersburg and Her Majesty is never left night or day.

All hope of a permanent cure of the Tsarina has been abandoned. She seldom has lucid moments or a clear brain and in these moments she is so concerned over the Tsar and her children that a nervous spell completely prostrates her and beclouds her mind.

New Year's Festivities.

New York, Jan. 3.—The celebrative propensities of New Yorkers, exhausted by the prolonged demonstration of New Year's Eve, were slow in showing evidences of recuperation Saturday. New Year's Day, ideal in point of weather conditions, opened quietly and, aside from the ceremonial attending the inauguration of a new mayor, not an annual, but a quadrennial, New Year event, there were no set affairs to mark the day.

Friday night's noisy celebration is believed to have been productive of at least one fatality. William Williams, a 20-year-old resident of East 2nd street, died Saturday in the hospital as the result of a bullet wound in the neck. The missile is believed to have come from the revolver of a reckless and so far unidentified celebrant.

Princeton Has Professor of Athletics.

Princeton, N.J., Jan. 3.—The adherents of Princeton are rejoicing in a reorganization of the university's athletic conditions. Following the disastrous result of last season's football campaign the athletic sharps at Princeton have come to the conclusion that the graduate system of committee coaching which was tried during the last season was a failure and that the employment of a head coach for the season only was merely a little better. It is now proposed to create the position of director of athletics, which will carry with it a full professorship in the faculty and a salary of $5,000 per annum. The duties of this office will be the general supervision and direction of all branches of sport at Princeton.

Drinking Decreases.

London, Jan. 3.—The British treasury returns for the nine months ending yesterday show a net increase of $7,136,000 in revenue, and the huge increase of $49,865,505 in expenditure.

Most notable among items which show decreases is the excise receipts, which are $9,080,000 down, owing to the diminished consumption of spirits.

The most notable increase is in the death and other estate duties, which went up $14,640,000, owing to the coincident deaths of many of the wealthiest persons in the kingdom.

Would Investigate the B. & O.

Wheeling, W. Va., Jan. 3.—Claiming they are unjustly discriminated against by the Pennsylvania railroad influences, and alleging that the equipment of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad has been allowed to depreciate until it no longer serves to move coal, the fifth of the tonnage that is offered it, a delegation of West Virginia coal shippers has asked Congressman W. P. Hubbard's aid in getting a congressional inquiry into the stock ownership and control of the Baltimore & Ohio.

Merger In Cotton Oil.

New York, Jan. 3.—Prominent cottonseed oil men of New York on Friday completed an organization to be known as the Oil Trade Association of the New York Produce Exchange, with a charter membership of 100. Its object is to further the cottonseed oil industry in all parts of the world. J. G. Cash of the American Cottonseed Oil Co., was elected president.

Sales of cottonseed oil on the New York Produce Exchange last year aggregated 2,200,500 barrels.

Dead In Cells.

Belleville, Ont., Jan. 3.—Charles Lavis, Jr., of this city, was arrested about 10 o'clock yesterday morning for drunkenness. He was placed in a cell and apparently went to sleep. Shortly after one o'clock a peculiar noise was heard in the cell, and Lavis was found in a dying condition. He expired before medical aid could reach him. He was about 50 years of age and very well connected in this city.

Twelve Were Lost at Sea.

New York, Jan. 3.—Twelve men who were lost Thanksgiving Day when the British schooner Johanna went down not 150 miles from the Delaware breakwater, were not even known to be missing until the survivors were brought to port here Saturday from St. Thomas in the Danish West Indies, by the steamer Kosmo of the Quebec Steamship Co.

New York Death Rate.

New York, Jan. 3.—The death rate in 1909 was the lowest in the history of the city. It fell from the lowest previous record, 1908, 16.22 in 1908 to 16.23. The report shows a marked decrease for the year in deaths, suicides and homicides. Births for the year were 183,673, a decrease of 3,000 from 1908.

MORSE GOES TO PEN.

Starts on His Fifteen-Year Term Full of Indignation.

New York, Jan. 3.—With a supreme effort to be cheerful, but with emotion occasionally getting the better of him, Charles W. Morse left New York yesterday to serve 15 years in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., for violation of the national banking laws.

Before leaving the Tombs, where he has been confined for the greater part of the last year, Morse received his wife and two sons, and then the newspapermen. He was too affected to say anything, but he handed out a carefully prepared statement of comment on his case.

"I am going to Atlanta to begin penal servitude under the most brutal sentence ever pronounced against a citizen in a civilized country," he began.

"I have hoped," the statement continues, "with that hope which comes from a consciousness of my innocence that I will not have to close out forever the light and liberty of this world under such an inhuman sentence. I had felt that the fact that I have paid a fine of $7,000,000 and served a year in prison would satisfy the cry for a victim, and I have steadily believed that the courts would be compelled to give me a new trial.

"It seems, however, that the courts intend to establish the practices which make rum-drinking a part of jury services, and private detectives as the custodians of a jury, a permanent institution. By this sentence and judgment I may be brought to ruin; but the damage done to me is not half as important as the injury to the administration of justice. I am now up in years and must with the passing of time, pass also; but the record of my conviction and the way it was brought about will remain a lasting and dangerous example of a Government gone mad in search of a victim."

Tried to Blow Up Bridge.

Baltimore, Jan. 3.—Following an attempt Friday evening to blow up the Gay street bridge of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, three men, William B. Shipley, Hamilton W. Lightner and Wm. H. Zimmerman, all machinists, were arrested on a charge of conspiring to dynamite the bridge and also the Mount Claire machine shops of the railroad company.

Detective Capt Humphrey is of the opinion that the men are connected with a committee of striking Baltimore and Ohio Railroad machinists, formed for the purpose of injuring the railroad property.

Autoists Fight Government.

Florence, Jan. 3.—An automobile strike against the Government went into effect Saturday. Every owner of an automobile in Italy refused to take out a new license. Thousands of chauffeurs, as well as employes of the F.I.A.T. manufactory, are thrown out of work. The Government if it persists in its course will deprive itself of $1,000,000 revenue.

The objections of automobile owners arise from a new regulation which, besides increasing the tax, imposes a fine of 50 lire for a first offence against the speed regulations.

Earl Grey's Last Levee.

Ottawa, Jan. 3.—Earl Grey held his last levee Saturday as Governor-General of Canada. Seven hundred and fifty gentlemen paid their respects to His Excellency. The reception took place at the Governor-General's offices, and he was accompanied by the Earl of Lansborough, Lord Lascelles and others from Government House. The guests included the judges of the various court, Cabinet Ministers, the consuls from foreign countries, Government officials and leading citizens of Ottawa.

Hasn't Recognized Him.

Bluefields, Nicaragua, Jan. 3.—Hope that the war would be brought to an end through the recognition of the Provincial Government by the United States has been abandoned. Many believe that two more battle must be fought; one in the State of Chontales and the other near Managua.

There is some disappointment that the United States has not formally recognized the Government of Estrada.

If another battle is fought it is likely that no less than 12,000 men will be engaged.

Is Cook In Detroit?

Detroit, Jan. 3.—It was rumored on Saturday that Mrs. Cook, wife of Dr. Fred A. Cook, was here. The report had its origin in Windsor, where it is said a thickly-veiled woman called for mail addressed to "Mrs. Dr. Fred. A. Cook." After receiving her mail, she hastened to Detroit.

Postal authorities at Windsor say the woman first appeared about the time Dr. Cook was reported to be in London, Ont.

Suicides In Prison.

Paterson, N.J., Jan. 3.—By complaining that his beard was so strong that it hurt to have the county jail barber shave him, Julius Mortleg induced the barber to hand the razor over to him yesterday.

The prisoner, who was in custody for shooting his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Morgan, promptly cut his throat. He died at the hospital.

Mr. Forget's Prediction.

Montreal, Jan. 3.—Rodolphe Forget M.P., the king of the Montreal Stock Exchange, is of the opinion that 1911 will be the greatest year financially and commercially the Dominion has ever seen, and he also believes that this unprecedented prosperity will extend all over the continent.

Fatally Burned by Gasoline.

Syracuse, N.Y., Jan. 3.—Moses Rosenbloom, a clothing merchant, was burned to death and Wolf Pearlman a customer fatally burned as the result of a gasoline explosion. Rosenbloom was probably showing his goods to the other when a cigar spark set off a jug of the explosive.

Acclamations In Petrolea.

Petrolea, Jan. 3.—Ed. Pollard gets the mayoralty of Petrolea for 1910 by acclamation, Dr. C. O. Fairbanks and G. S. Pitkin having declined the nomination. Dr. C. O. Fairbanks was elected a deputy reeve by acclamation, and G. S. Pitkin water commissioner, re-elected by acclamation.

An Unusual Snowfall.

Fresno, Cal., Jan. 3.—For the first time in sixteen years snow fell here on Saturday.

LOWER PRICES THAN EVER.

Our Credit Sale will be continued all this week

Men and Women who require Winter Clothing have a good chance this week to buy Ready-to-Wear Garments at the very Lowest Prices before New Year's. We offer extraordinary Bargains in—

Ladies' Coats

Just a few left, and they go at Half Price. Made in the new 1909 styles and in the best and most popular cloths.

In Men's Suits

A Reduction of 25 per cent. off, this week only.

Housefurnishings

Such as Curtains, Floor Coverings, Rugs, Table Coverings, House Linens, and many other lines at Low Prices.

Special Bargains in Blankets and Furs this week.

Our Terms Suit All—Cash or Credit

The Knickerbocker Co.
422 George Street Opposite Examiner Office

160 AYLMER ST. BOTH PHONES 116

We DON'T Keep The BEST HARD COAL We SELL It

Peterborough Music Company
Special Inducements for the Christmas Season in Pianos & Organs

We carry in stock the high-class DOMINION, MARTIN-ORME, BELL and MASON & RISCH PIANOS, and the old favourite BELL, DOMINION and THOMAS ORGANS—the cream of the trade.

It is surprising the number of suggestions you find here—Phonographs Violins, Banjos, Guitars, Accordeons, Piccolos, Flutes, Autoharps, Mandolins Harmonicas, Music Portfolios, Music Rolls, Sheet Music—all specially priced for the Christmas trade.

J. P. CUNNINGHAM - PROPRIETOR
404 George Street. 2 Doors North of Hunter Street.

Electrical Goods and Fixtures

In Portable Lamps, Domes, Fancy Chandeliers, Shades, Electric Toasters, Smoothing Irons, Radiators, etc.

Nickel Plated Tea and Coffee Pots, Crumb Trays and Brushes. Tea Trays, round and square, in genuine Carpathian ware.

Large assortment of Mantels and Fireplace Furniture, including Screens, Fenders, Fire Irons, Dogs, etc. Call and look them over.

The F. J. R. MacPHERSON CO.
341 GEORGE STREET : : LIMITED

Meats Poultry Fruit
Vegetables, Provisions

Our large Store is the foremost Meat Market in the city. Best place to buy not only Turkeys and Meats, but also a host of other items of importance for the Holiday Table.

Western Beef

Nothing more substantial or delicious than our well-fed Western beef. We are carrying a heavy stock, and can supply the public with anything from a tongue to a tail.

Choice Sealshipt Oysters and other Good Things to eat.

S. A. OKE
340 GEORGE STREET
Phone 275

Edwin Elcome
TAXIDERMIST

BIRDS, Animals, Fish and Snakes stuffed and mounted in the best life-like styles at the lowest price.

DEER HEADS A SPECIALTY.

A stock of foreign and native Birds always on hand for sale. Dealer in Eyes, Artificial Leaves and Feathers also Importer of Foreign Birds and Skins from all countries. Best Nature Study Books.

692 Harvey St. Peterboro

SLEIGHING

Drawing near and your Cutter or Business Sleighs require revarnishing or repainting. Now is the time to have it done and stored until you want them. For a good reliable up-to-date job of Carriage Painting or Lettering give

W. J. ANDREWS
a trial this time. Shop
173 Murray St., opp. New Armouries Ltd.,

J. J. SHADGETT

Up-to-date Carriage and Sign Painter. Dealer in Waggons, Cutters and Sleighs. All Repairing promptly executed.

57 Hunter St. Phone 443

THOS. HOOPER
Wishes One and All

A Happy and Prosperous New Year.

The old year is going,
Let's drink to the new!
In sparkling Aqua Pura
I'll drink to you.

When wanting a natty outfit for business or pleasure ring up
POLKINGHORN'S LIVERY
successor to Akey & Millburn
193 Hunter. 'Phone 278

The Evening Examiner.

ONE CENT A WORD
The Evening Examiner Want Ads. always bring results. For Sale, To-let, Losts-10 words-10c

12 PAGES PETERBOROUGH MONDAY JANUARY 3 1910 PAGES 7 TO 12

YOUNG WIFE FATALLY BURNED WHILE HER HUSBAND LAY SICK

Were Married Only Five Weeks---Husband Delirious With Typhoid Fever---Wife's Clothes Caught Fire While Attending Sick Man---Husband is Still Unconscious---Wife Hovers Between Life and Death.

Examiner Special.

Montreal, Jan. 3.—Just five weeks married, the pretty girl wife horribly burned and dying, the young husband raving in typhoid delirium—such was the tragic New Year's Eve of Mr. and Mrs. Ulric Cardinal, of 396 Delisle street. Three other members of the family, father, mother and brother, were burned in their desperate efforts to save the girl.

Miss Clotilde Cardinal, eighteen years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Cardinal, 101 St. Emile street, was married to her cousin Ulric on November 23. Hardly was the honeymoon over and the happy young couple settled in their new home, when the husband came down with typhoid fever.

Mrs. Cardinal, Clotilde's mother, come at once to offer her assistance, and helped by her husband and Ulric's brother, Aime, they set to work to nurse him back to health again.

All were sitting up in the kitchen ot the little flat 1.00 Friday morning tending to the sick man, the crisis of whose disease was approaching. He had become quieter, and the three anxious nurses had sat down quietly to rest themselves and visit a little with Mr. Lucius Cardinal, who had dropped in after a hard day's work at his trade of carpenter, to see how his son-in-law was getting on. Clotilde was sitting in the neat little kitchen beside the fire and her brother-in-law, Aime, was sitting opposite at the table, smoking his pipe.

WAS MASS OF FLAMES

Suddenly, without the slightest warning, the young wife's skirts and petticoats were one mass of flames. Whether a spark fell on them from the stove or whether Aime had carelessly dropped a burning match on the floor beneath her, will probably never be known.

The young girl sprang to her feet with a scream, ablaze from head to foot. Aime was paralyzed for a moment ,then sprang to the assistance of his sister-in-law, who was writhing in agony, shouting to the others to bring water and bed clothes at once to smother the fire.

Reckless of burns, all three did what they could and before long had extinguished the fire. But not before the unfortunate young wife had been horribly burned from knees to breast, and to the ends of her fingers. With all possible speed an ambulance was summoned, and the moaning girl was taken to the Western Hospital. Meanwhile a doctor was summoned to tend to the burns of the others, all of whom had suffered. Aime had both hands badly burned and Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Cardinal, each a hand.

All through it lay the unconscious form of Ulric, five weeks a husband fighting the typhoid in the next room. What will happen all are asking themselves fearfullly, when he finally rouses himself and asks for Clotilde.

Pupils Honour Teacher With A Presentation

On the afternoon of Dec. 22, the closing day of school, the pupils of Miss McGregor presented her with a pretty silver fern jar, accompanied by an address, of which the following is a copy:

S. S. No. 16, Otonabee, Dec. '09.

Dear Miss McGregor—The tie which has bound us together for the last few years, is about to be broken. We feel that we should not say goodbye without thanking you for the kind interest which you have shown, in teaching and guiding us. You have made the days pleasant as well as profitable for us, and we hope in the future, to prove that your efforts to make us wiser and better have not been in vain. We ask you to accept this small gift, as a token of our love and respect. When you use it, we hope you will remember your pupils at S. S. No. 16, Otonabee.

Signed in behalf of the school—Elmer Frost, May Reid, Odley Taylor, Marie Shaughnessy, Wesley Brown, May Bennett.

How Peterborough People Spent Their Holiday

New Year's day passed quietly and happily in Peterborough. To the young people it was a day of athletic enjoyment. The mild weather lent itself to the charms of skating and similar pastimes and young Peterborough spent the day around the skating rinks. At Brock Street during the afternoon and evening there were immense crowds, while the Auditorium Rink was splendidly patronized. The Street Railway Rink at Jackson Park drew hundreds during the day, while the slide was even more popular every available toboggan being pressed into commission for the occasion. Many citizens drove out to the park to watch the busy scene.

Atthe curling rink the Knights of the Stone and Besom were busy, the occasion being the annual game between the President and Vice President.

It was reception day at the armouries. The officers of the garrison were at home to their friends in their quarters, while the non-Coms entertained in their mess. Both had a large number of visitors during the day, and the occasion was a very enjoyable one.

At the Grand Opera House the visit of Geo. H. Summers in "Under the North Star" was greeted by good houses at matinee and evening performances.

The circus in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium was a popular event on New Year's night.

The New Year was ushered in by watch night services at many of the city churches. These were well attended.

Celebrated The Twelfth Anniversary Of Wedding

A delightful function was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hall of Braidwood Ave., last week the occasion being the twelfth anniversary of their marriage. Some thirty or forty people were present, all of them being connected with the Brinton Carpet Company and the evening was one of thorough enjoyment. Mr. and Mrs. Hall made an ideal host and hostess and their hospitality was enjoyed by their guests. Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Hyrons, Mr. and Mrs. Mardley, Mr. and Mrs. Bellamy, Mr. and Mrs. Field, Mr. Cooper, Mr. Forrest, Mr. Mason. Mr. Giles was chairman for the occasion while music was provided by Mr. Fred Hall, Jr., and Mr. Bellamy. A feature was the singing of two little tots, Miss Edith Hall and Miss Alice Barnes.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall came to Peterborough from Kidderminster, Eng. A short toast list was honoured during the evening, and Mr. and Mrs. Hall were warmly congratulated by their friends upon reaching the 12th mile stone in their journey of married life.

"THE BLUE MOUSE" IS COMING WITH THE ORIGINAL CAST

With the original New York cast, including Mabel Barrison, the Toronto comedienne, Harry Conor, Hall McAllister, the Shuberts will send the much discussed German farce, "The Blue Mouse" here on Tuesday, Jan. 11th.

Although produced in Germany over three years ago, it was not until a year ago last September that the Clyde Fitch adaptation of this mirth provoking play was seen in America. Almost two months later some injudicious busy critic saw fit to characterize "The Blue Mouse" as a farce with a tendency toward salaciousness, but that the charge was without foundation was easily proven.

"The Blue Mouse," a new character on the stage, is not wholly bad, and before the end of the play she has won the sympathy of the audience. Mabel Barrison is said to give the part a gracious candour and innocence which robs what might otherwise be the sickening spectacle of a conscienceless woman. The author, who staged the piece has likewise eliminated all objectionable features so prevalent in French and German farces.

SETTLED THE DEBT

Power of Conscience is Indicated by the Paying of a Twenty-five Year Old Obligation—A True Story.

A NEW YEAR'S HOMILY

The human conscience is a peculiar piece of mechaniam. A man may think that he has killed his conscience. It has ceased to be troublesome and he tells himself that he will have no bother with troublesome scruples and then all at once he finds that his conscience is an actual thing, not something that can be put away from him. It may be years after he has decided that he has no conscience that it begins to work upon him, but it comes sooner or later. This little homily is occasioned by an event which occurred in Peterborough last week. Twenty-five years ago an Ashburnham citizen contracted a debt of $10 with a grocer in that village. He failed to settle his indebtedness. Years passed and the grocer died and still the debt had not been wiped out. Then last week, a quarter of a century later, came the sequel. The debtor called upon his pastor and told him of the incident, that his conscience would not permit him any longer to neglect his obligations and that he wished to pay to the relatives of the grocer the amount with the interest involved.

Needless to say his wishes were carried out and the debt discharged.

RETURNS TO-NIGHT

The Examiner Has Made Arrangements for a Complete Bulletin and Lantern Service in Connection With Elections.

INTEREST IS KEEN

The Examiner office will be the lode-star that will attract the citizens of Peterborough to-night when the returns of the municipal elections start coming in. Arrangements have been completed for the display of the figures just as they are received from the various polling booths. They wil be thrown on a large canvas by means of a stereopticon lantern so that they can be seen by anyone on the street below, and arrangements have been made for a good service in connection with securing the returns. The polls close at 7 o'clock so that the first figures should start to come in shortly after 7.30 o'clock. According to the instructions that have been given the returning officers the ballots for the mayoralty will be counted first, followed by those for the council and then the Board of Education. The by-laws will be counted up last, starting with the local option measure, so that it will probably be ten o'clock before there is much idea of how the tide of battle has gone.

The T. A. S. will hold an "At Home" on Tuesday, January 4th, 1910. The programme will commence at 8.15 o'clock. 3-152

SUCCESS OF BANKS

Public School Savings System Has Deposit of $2177.65 in Ottawa —Will be Extended to Other Schools in Future.

PARENTS ARE IN FAVOUR

Ottawa, Jan. 2—There is now on deposit to the credit of the Ottawa public school savings bank $2,177.65. This is an exceptionally gratifying showing for the five schools as the system was put in operation only in March. As was expected there were a great many withdrawals at Christmas. At times in the Traders' Bank the children came in crowds but as most of the withdrawals were for small amounts the total was only $105. The credits to the various schools are: Cambridge, $407.60; Creighton, $404,-.06; Elgin, $426.75; Glashan, $560.-79; Osgoode, 278.46; total, $2,177.65.

From every one of the remaining fifteen schools have come requests to start the penny banks and the teachers are practically unanimous for them. The matter was discussed at the last meeting of the management committee of the public school board and the members favoured introducing the system into five more schools next year. The names of the schools were not suggested, the committee leaving the whole matter to the incoming committee. It is, however, practically certain that next year the system will be in five more schools, if not in all.

The system is daily growing in favour with pupils and parents.

RECORD VOTE IS BEING POLLED IN CITY TO-DAY

Few Voters Will be Allowed to Remain at Home---Both Sides Working Heroically and Vote Will be Very Large---The Local Option Fight---Hear Returns To-night.

The returning officer for the City, Clerk Armstrong, stated to the Examiner that there were on the rolls about 5000 names of those qualified to vote today. Of these a number are duplicates, but the total number will be over 4000. From the way the vote is being gotten out to-day there is every indication that a very large proportion of those qualified to vote will have exercised their franchise before the polls close at 7 o'clock to-night.

The interest in the Mayoralty and in the local option fight is responsible for the great amount of interest and the elections of 1910 promise to be the most exciting in the history of the city. Especially is there a keen interest in the fight between the local option and anti-local option factions. Every available vehicle has been pressed into commission. The local option party is being assisted by sleighs loaned by the farmers nearby, as well as by any private rigs and the antis are well supplied also in the matter of transportation facilities.

The Mayoralty candidates have also assisted in increasing the size of the vote polled, and it will undoubtedly be a record breaker. The result of the local option fight even this afternoon seemed to be shadowed by doubt. Both sides seemed supremely confident this morning and expressed themselves so. They began the work of getting the vote out early this morning and rarely has there been such a scurrying around after votes as has been the case to-day. The Examiner will bulletin the returns by means of a stereopticon lantern to-night. Be one of the crowd that will find out the results at this office.

ST. PETER'S T. A. S. NUMBERS OVER 1000

MR. A. BREAULT,
Who is Reeve of Norwood for Another Term This Time by Acclamation.

Efforts of Membership Committee Crowned With Success—Reach Their 10th Anniversary With 1019 on Roll—First Decade of Their Career Has Been Brought to Satisfactory Close.

OFFICERS INSTALLED

At the regular meeting of St. Peter's T.A.S. yesterday afternoon, after the initiation of new members, it was announced that the one thousand mark had been passed. When the roll was added up yesterday it showed a membership of 1019, almost a score more than the mark which had been aimed at and which, thanks to the faithful industry of the special committee, was reached and passed. During the decade which closes on Saturday next, the society has grown from nothing to a strength of 1010, comprising the great majority of the Catholic men, young and old, of the two parishes. About two years ago a campaign was inaugurated to secure a membership of 1,000, but it failed on the first attempt. Many new members were secured, but there was still a wide gap to be filled up. The work was undertaken again this year and renewed vigour and enthusiasm was infused into the members with the result that the desired number was obtained. The society thus begins the second decade of its existence under the most favourable conditions. The new officers were installed yesterday and Mr. Jos. J. Duffus took the president's chair for the ensuing half year.

TEN YEARS IN PEN

Pole Who Confessed to Holdup of Bank Gets Long Term.

Special to The Examiner.

Toronto, Ont., Jan. 3. — Victor Szmoyuski, a Pole, who confessed to the holdup of the Bank of Nova Scotia at Rainy River, some months ago, was sentenced to ten years in penitentiary this morning.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding, or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refuded. 50c.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT

Guelph Boy in Serious Condition as Result of Hunting Trip.

Special to The Examiner.

Guelph, Jan. 3:—Eddie Cass of George street, while out hunting on New Year's Day, received the full charge from his shot gun in the body as a result of a fall, and is in a serious condition.

We have completed arrangements with the leading chemists in Huddersfield, England, and Germany, Paris and France to supply us with the latest dye stuffs which we import direct. With the new process many things are possible which were not a year ago. Parker's Dye Works, 177 Charlotte St. R. H. Beach, Prop. 1m 145

36 DEG. BELOW

Skating is Good in Winnipeg and Even Mercury is Almost Frozen in Winnipeg District.

Special to The Examiner (2.45 p.m.)

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 3.—The West is shivering in the grasp of the coldest wave of the present winter. Officially, it is 36 below, but ordinarily the thermometers register 40 to 50 below. There is considerable suffering among the poor of the city. Alberta is much milder.

HOLIDAYS ARE OVER

Public Schools and Collegiate Re-open To-morrow Morning.

After a little over two weeks' holiday the Collegiate Institute and Public Schools of the city will re-open for the spring term to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock. There has been but one change made in the staff of the public school department, Miss Lily Cashwell, of Smiths' Falls, taking the place of Miss Dawson at the South Central School. On the Collegiate staff there is also one change, Mr. Ferguson, of Perth Collegiate, replacing Miss Fosbenden.

MR. ROBERT SHAW,
Elected Reeve of Harvey Without any Opposition This Year.

TWO PASSENGERS MAY BE KILLED

Are Still Unaccounted for in Wreck Near Woodstock Last Night.

Special to The Examiner (2.45 p.m.)

Woodstock, Ont., Jan. 3.—Two passengers on the C. P. R. express, which last night left the rails between Innerkip and Drumbo, just east of here, have not been accounted for, and there are fears that when the wreckage is lifted the tragedy may be revealed. Two men whose identity is unknown, were seen standing in the vestibule of one of the coaches a moment before the accident and were not seen after. The wreckage will not be cleared till late this afternoon.

SHOULD CALL FOR CONCERT TICKETS

Members of St. Peter's T. A.S. Reminded of Last Opportunity.

A last opportunity will be given the members of St. Peter's T. A. S. this week to obtain their tickets for the anniversary concert to be held next Monday night in the Opera House. Arrangements have been made whereby some of the past presidents will be at the rooms and will give tickets to those who have not already received them. The 10th anniversary of the foundation of the society is next Saturday.

DIED.

BRAND.—In Goderich, on Tuesday, Dec. 28th, 1909, Ida Thomas, beloved wife of M. R. Brand, in her 21st year, only daughter of W. J. Thomas, Goderich. The funeral took place from the residence of her parents, Elgin Ave., on [illegible] afternoon, to Maitland[illegible]. The many friends of [illegible] Brand extend to him their sympathy.

Mr. Brand is the eldest [illegible] Geo. W. Brand, 472 Ced[illegible] of this city.

GIPSY HAWKINS BEGINS HIS MISSION IN THE CITY

Delivered Inspiring Message at the Park Street Baptist Church Yesterday to a Large Congregation.

A MAGNETIC SPEAKER

Like his brother in Evangelism, Gipsy Smith, Gipsy Hawkins rose from a humble follower of a gipsy caravan to an evangelist of distinction. Gipsy Hawkins realizes the importance of his message over all other interests of mankind, and his ardour and directness of address command the attention of the listener.

Yesterday morning at the Park St. Baptist Church he opened his two weeks revival campaign there and in the afternoon at the opera house in favour of the local option cause, and continued the special services last night at Park street. He will speak there every night for the next two weeks with the exception of next Saturday evening. To-night's, song service will be held at 7.45 o'clock, and the meeting proper will be held at 8 o'clock. On the other nights of the campaign prayer service will be held at 7.15 except Sunday night, when the hour for the prayer service will be 6.30.

It was announced last night at Park Street that special arrangements had been made to get the results of the local option campaign this evening, and they will be announced to-night at the church.

An enthusiastic song service was held last night prior to the opening of the regular service, the Torrey-Alexander revival hymns being used, and these rousing songs of praise will be employed throughout the campaign.

The unconventional methods of Gipsy Hawkins make him more interesting than if he adopted the orthodox form of conveying the gospel message. He does employ the accepted manner in the main, but every now and then explains passages in order that all their meaning may be grasped and not infrequently lends colour to some section of scripture or a hymn by telling how vivid their truth was when applied to incidents in the upbuilding of his own career in the service of the Master. Every night should see large attendances at these meetings, but on Friday a subject of special interest and incalculable importance will be dealt with, when the Evangelist will speak on "The Future Resurrection; what it will be and how it will take place."

This subject, like all others, on the religion of Christ, has received special study by the speaker ever since his conversion.

"God saved me when a little boy twelve years of age," said Gipsy Hawkins last night, "and thank God for that."

He stated that he had sought deeply for the marvellous truths of the Scripture and if he had read any other books besides the Bible, and he had read hundreds, it was because of their bearing on God's word.

The Sermon.

In taking his text for last night's sermon the evangelist announced that it was an old and familiar one. It was from St. Luke 19-10: "For the Son of Man is come to seek and to save that which was lost."

The preacher suggested that he might take it for granted that the congation was not only familiar with the text, but with its surroundings also. He drew a picture of Christ preaching to the multitude and of the inability of the little man Zacheus to see the Master on account of the multitude which surrounded our Lord. Zacheus, who was a resourceful man, ran on ahead and got on the bough of a sycamore tree and watched the approach of the Master and the multitude. When the Lord drew near He told Zacheus He was going to stay at his house that day, and admonished the householder to come down from the tree. The latter in respect to the Saviour's wishes, made haste, came down and received the Saviour joyfully.

On the first Sunday of the glad New Year and the preacher would have every one to whom he spoke follow the example of Zacheus, to come down, make haste and receive Jesus.

If we were to receive Him at all it was imperative that we should make haste. In the second place Zacheus came down and we all had to come down before God could save us. It mattered little on what bough we sat before coming down. We might be sitting on the bow of skepticism, of rationalism, of ceremonialism or of shame through strong drink and sin. In the third place Zacheus received Jesus as a living person. He didn't receive theology or a church. These in their place were very important, but we might have them and yet not receive Jesus. To receive Him we had to accept a personal Saviour.

Zacheus received the Saviour joyfully. "Did you ever see anyone who received Jesus who didn't receive him joyfully?" The speaker wanted to know if any of the congregation had ever seen anyone who received Jesus sadly. He never had in the whole of his experience.

There was a time when Gipsy Hawkins thought the religion of Jesus was a thing of long sermons, long prayers and long faces, but he realized now it was on the contrary a thing of great joy. There was no such joy in the world as the joy of the redeemed soul, when the crushing burden of its sins rolled away.

If there was one word in the English language that grated on the speaker's ears it was the word "lost." His listeners might never have been lost and could not comprehend the meaning of the word, but he did. He knew it from bitter personal experience and "lost" applied to every soul outside of Christ's kingdom.

There were many in this world wide awake in the world's business and the commercial activities of everyday life, but when it came to the matters of the soul's salvation and everlasting life and eternity, they were fast asleep.

BUSY AT POLLS

Large Vote Will Surely be Recorded To-night.

"From a general report this afternoon it is stated that an unprecedented vote will be polled to-day. The supporters of the various interests have put the names on the voters' lists through the small screen of a fanning mill and very few who are qualified to vote will be left at home. Many stories were heard on the street about men having to wait half an hour and longer before they could enter the booths, which, with few exceptions, were busy almost uninterruptedly.

SENATOR HURT

Hon. George A. Cox was the Victim of a Painful Accident Last Week.

Coming out of the Canada Life Assurance Company's office building in King street, Senator George A. Cox tripped on a carpet on Tuesday night and falling down the steps at the entrance to the building, sustained serious injuries. He received a couple of bad cuts on the head and had his hurt one leg. Falling against the heavy storm door saved the Senator from striking the pavement, a fall which might have resulted more seriously. His condition is somewhat improved to-day.—Toronto News.

Daily Examiner.

The Circulation of The Evening Examiner is now over

3000

COPIES

Sworn to and Guaranteed Detailed Statement for the year on application

The Daily Examiner, published every lawful evening, by The Peterborough Examiner, Limited. Office, 419 George Street.

The Weekly Examiner, published every Thursday morning.

The subscription price of The Daily Examiner is $4.00 per annum; that of The Weekly, $1.00.

R. M. GLOVER, Managing Director.

Advertising Rates on application.

"Peterborough Means Progress."

MONDAY, JANUARY 3, 1910

PERMANENCY IN STREET WORK.

To-day the people are electing six aldermen to do their business in conjunction with the six elected last year. Will there be any improvement in the administration of our affairs? Especially will there be any improvement in street management? Will money continue to be wasted on our streets or will be be spent in work of a permanent character, the only kind of work that should be done, the only kind of work that does not mean a waste of the money of the ratepayers? The town of Welland is voting on a permanent pavement by-law to-day. And apropos of this the Telegraph says:

In the last week there has been a great change in sentiment in regard to the paving by-law. The more the question has been publicly discussed and the more it has been thought over, the more convincing has grown the weight of evidence that the by-law ought to carry.

In a word, it seems that Welland has at last grown ashamed of a street condition that is a disgrace, and has at last realized the folly of casting good money into sloughs and waterpools.

Ten years have witnessed an expenditure of $35,000 on Welland's streets, and no man will have the hardihood to declare they are any better now than they were at the beginning.

What will be the expenditure per annum for the next ten years, for the next three years? Is there anyone brave enough to sit down and conscientiously estimate what a continuance of our present road policy will cost the town for the next three years? Thirty-five hundred dollars per annum is not enough. It would probably reach close to twice that amount.

There are two facts that must be looked squarely in the face. Traffic on Welland streets is growing at a tremendous pace. A large expenditure will be necessary at once to put the roadways in a condition even approximately satisfactory.

Now, then, if this is to be done, why not make a good job of it? Why not put down a roadway that will be good in ten, fifteen, twenty years?

All this hits Peterborough hard, and goes to show that the present system of expending money on streets by means of a yearly changing Street committee or Board of Works, has an evil result wherever applied—city or town or village. Patchwork, not permanency, is the result—waste of money is the result, bad streets are the result, inconvenience to the citizens is the result. One way of improvement is the adoption of a policy of permanency in work. But if this policy is not well applied, not administered in a business way on business principles it, too, will fail. The most promising outlook is to place our streets under a commission of three good business men. If they should do their work as well as the Water Commissioners have done theirs, we should soon save enough—in the way of money, now wasted, being spent to provide good streets to pay the salaries of a commission. We should get good value for our money in good streets, instead of spending money to make bad streets.

PAY.

The new year is the date generally fixed for making resolutions of reform. There is a general feeling that we should strive to make the new year better than the past, correct the mistakes we have made and join in the forward movement that marks the life of a young and progressive country. The motive that suggests improvement only in ourselves, only to make ourselves better, is inadequate and only partial. As the world is, no man liveth to himself alone; he cannot shake off the responsibility that falls upon him in respect of his neighbour. We owe our neighbour good will and kindness, and we, most of us, owe him money. We may think it easy to pay our debt of abstract good will, but good will that confines itself to feeling, is no good. It must be translated into action. From a material and commercial point of view, the best way of starting the new year right, is to pay what we owe, and enter into its activities free from commendation the good feeling that comes of obedience to St. Paul's command—"owe no man anything." Merchants and others engage in business to make money. They sell their goods in order to get money, to pay those from whom they purchase them, so that the wholesalers in turn may pay the manufacturer, and the manufacturer pay his workmen, and his workmen pay the butcher and the baker and the candlestickmaker. Thus money should go round. Ten dollars expended in the payment of a just debt, may before the week expires, pay indebtedness of ten thousand dollars. No man is justified in saying that, as the bill he owes is a small one there is no reason for promptly paying it. A thousand reasoning in the same way can combine to dislocate business and clog the wheels of progress. There needs no argument to show that prompt payment is the life of business, as well as a duty we owe to ourselves and our fellow citizens. It is the right thing to do in every way. If prompt payment is indicated in general business interests, in moral interests, in neighbourly interests, it is much more strongly indicated where the creditor is poor and the debtor rich. There is more misery, more discomfort, more anxiety, more pinching, caused by the fairly rich, who fail to pay small bills to a poor creditor, than wots the world. The other day a poor charwoman called at a house where she had been employed and treated in a civilized manner, to ask that the mistress telephone to a well-known woman; well known in society, well known for her abundant means, well known for her lavish expenditure in dress and in social entertainments. She owed the poor woman a dollar or two for work done months before, money which had been gone for in vain time after time and after a long day's work. She wanted the woman—she would be insulted to be called anything else than a "lady"—to be asked by 'phone to leave the money for the charwoman at a shop convenient to where she lived. This is an example of the thoughtlessness—heartlessness is the right word—of those who neglect to pay the poor they employ. The new New Year is a good time to make a resolution to be honest in the payment of our debts, be they great or small. Neglect is a form of theft. The woman who owed a dollar or two in September by withholding it three months, practically robbed the charwoman, whose money it was; she was a thief for three months. Pay promptly and put your conscience at rest, begin to be honest, begin to be a Christian whose first duty is doing the right thing by one's neighbour. Pay that little bill at once; you will not only make yourself happy thereby but make your neighbour happy.

BAD ADVERTISING.

Under this heading the Welland Telegraph has the following, which has a good deal of meaning to Peterborough and suggests a pointer or two, to the originators of the publicity campaign:

Bad roadways have done more to hinder the progress of Welland than all other causes put together. The fame of Welland's mud has spread even farther than the fame of Welland's industrial facilities.

Every day of the year Wellanders are paying good money for the upkeep of bad streets, and as well are paying good money for the worst class of advertising that a municipality could possibly invest in.

The merchant who would advertise that he had sand in his sugar would soon be carted over the hills to Hamilton. But the mud of Welland's streets has carried its own message to the nooks and corners of this country. We hope there is no disposition to continue this class of advertising.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The opponents of Liberal Governments assert that its "extravagance has ruined the country." The answer is in a revenue compiled under a lessened tariff rate of 100 million dollars in 1910, as against 36 million thirteen years ago, and savings bank deposits of 751 millions as against 350 millions thirteen years ago.

CONSTIPATION AND HEADACHE

Mrs. E. Morrow, Bracebridge, Ont., writes: "For years I was troubled almost constantly with constipation and never got anything to do me the lasting good that has been obtained from Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Not only have they cured constipation but have also entirely cured the headaches from which I used to suffer terribly and have improved my health in every way."

THE BRIGHT SIDE

of life. It is a feeling common to the majority of us that we do not get quite the amount of happiness we are entitled to. Among the countless things which tend to make us more or less miserable ill health takes first place. Hannah More said that sin was generally to be attributed to biliousness. No doubt a crippled liver, with the resulting impure blood, is the cause of more mental gloom than any other single thing. And who can reckon up the fearful aggregate of pain, Rss and fear arising from the many ailments and diseases which are familiar to mankind; like a vast cloud it hangs over a multitude no one can number. You can see these people everywhere. For them life can scarcely be said to have any "bright side" at all. Hence the eagerness with which they search for relief and cure. Remedies like have not attained their high position in the confidence of the people by bald assertions and boasting advertisements. They are obliged to win it by doing actually what is claimed for them. That this remedy deserves its reputation is conceded. It is palatable as honey and contains the nutrative and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. Nothing has such a record of success in Scrofula, Anaemia, Throat and Lung Troubles, and emaciating complaints and disorders, that tend to undermine the foundations of strength and vigour. Its use helps to show life's brighter side. Dr. R. D. K. says: "I have much pleasure in stating that I have used it in cases of debility and have found it to be a very valuable remedy as well as pleasing to take. You can take it with the assurance of getting well. It never disappoints. Sold by all chemists. —Warne Drug Co.

FERROL

POST CARD COLUMN

A FEW WORDS.

Editor Post Card Column.

Sir,—To-night the Review says in debating Free Trade and Protection "prices depend on the amount of cash, or credit-backed-by-cash on hand to buy with." The other day your esteemed contemporary told us that living was cheaper in Canada than in England or Europe. Therefore we must conclude that there is less money here, which no true Canadian would admit. There is only one know to understand bimetallism, and he is in an asylum trying to solve the Review's arguments will send one crazy.

W. A. BAILEY.

Peterborough, Dec. 30, '09.

ALL YOUR STOMACH TROUBLE VANISHES

No Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn or Dyspepsia Five Minutes Later.

Every year regularly more than a million stomach sufferers in the United States, England and Canada take Pape's Diapepsin and realize not only immediate but lasting relief.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of Indigestion.

Get from your Pharmacist a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fulness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or Intestinal griping. This will all go, and besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odours.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any druggatore.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion or any other stomach disorder.

BIG INCREASE

Customs Receipts for December Better Than Same Month Last Year.

The Customs returns for December have been received and show a decided increase over the same month last year. The figures are as follows:

December, 1909	$31,263.73
December, 1908	21,656.80
Increase	$ 9,606.93

UNCLE WALT---THE POET PHILOSOPHER

I cannot sing to-day, my dear, about your locks of gold, for my fat head is feeling queer since I have caught a cold; and when a bard is feeling off, and full of pills and care, and has to sit around and cough, he sours on golden hair. I cannot sing to-day, dear heart, about your coral lips; the doctor's coming in his cart; he's making daily trips; he makes me sit in scalding steam, with blankets loaded down, and people say they hear me scream half way across the town; he makes me swallow slippery elm and ink and moldy paste, and blithely hunts throughout the realm for things with bitter taste. I cannot sing to-day, my love, about your swanlike neck, for I am sitting by the stove, a grim and ghastly wreck. And many poultices anoint the summit of my head; I've coughed my ribs all out of joint, and I am largely dead; and so the mention of a harp just makes my blood run cold; some other blooming poet sharp must sing your locks of gold! Some other troubadour, my sweet, must sing to you instead, for I have earache in my feet and chilblains in my head.

THE SICK MINSTREL

Wm. Mason

Third Murder In Same Vicinity.

Cincinnati, Jan. 3.—Miss Anna Lloyd, 36 years old, secretary of the Wiborg-Hanna Lumber Co., was found dead in a lonely part of the city Saturday. The woman had been attacked and gagged and her throat had been cut. The crime is the fourth of a series of similar outrages which have occurred in the same vicinity in the last three years.

Ate Frozen Bananas, Died.

Bladon, Neb., Jan. 3.—After eating sixteen bananas, John Claussen, 18 years old, became ill and died at his home here Saturday. With a number of companions, Claussen entered a restaurant. For a cash payment of five cents the proprietor offered the boys all the bananas they could eat. It is said the fruit had been frozen.

Russian Professor Sentenced.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 3.—Prof. Maxim Covalesky, a member of the Council of the Empire for the universities, and a world-famous sociologist, was sentenced to two months' imprisonment because of an article on army conditions published six months ago in the now defunct newspaper, Strana, of which he was the editor.

Suffragette Throws Acid.

London, Jan. 3.—A woman believed to be a suffragette, attempted to destroy with acid Saturday a quantity of campaign literature at the political headquarters of John Burns at Battersea.

The clerk in charge was seriously burned about the face and hands by the fluid before he could prevent her design.

The woman gained an entrance to the headquarters on the pretence of assisting in addressing envelopes.

Food Not Fit For Animals.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 3.—John W. Todd, former overseer at the city prison or stockade, was the principal witness heard by the counsel investigating committee Saturday. In addition to corroborating the stories of cruelty to prisoners and of unsanitary conditions as told by other witnesses, he testified that the food served the prisoners was unfit even for the lowest kind of animals.

All Records Broken.

Washington, Jan. 3.—All the records of production in this country of copper, refined lead, spelter and tungsten were broken during the year which closed Friday, according to a report of the Geological Survey. The output of blister and lake copper was 1,117,800,000 pounds, an increase considerably better than the total yearly increase since 1904.

Johnny's Resolve.

He was dining at the home of his best girl on New Year's day, and everything might have passed off all right if he hadn't said to her little brother:

"Well, Johnny, did you make some good resolutions today?"

"Yes, sir," replied the boy. "I asked sister to tell me of a good resolution to make, and she said if I'd resolve to keep out of the parlor tonight for about five minutes she'd made you propose or know the reason why."

Comfort.

An easy chair, the kind that rocks;
Cigars in plenty—by the box;
A highball glass, a bowl of ice,
A tantalus of quaint device,
A foaming siphon filled with Rhine,
A meerschaum fraught with memories fine,
A paper cutter—gold and pearl,
A photo of the sweetest girl,
A shaded light of softest peach,
A telephone within his reach,
A clever book, a glowing fire—
What more can mortal man desire?
—New York Times.

Adjustable Sentiments.

"When citizens acclaim you as their choice for high position, what do you do?"

"I abide in a patriotic spirit by the wisdom of the common people," answered Senator Sorghum.

"And when they arise in resentment of something you have said or done?"

"I maintain a superior indifference to the clamor of the thoughtless multitude."—Washington Star.

The Best One.

The fine ol' feelin'
Is a-comin' back ag'in
That this ol' world's the best one
For to be happy in.

Some worlds, they say, are bigger,
But their joys we wouldn't win,
Since this ol' world's the best one
For to be happy in.
—Atlanta Constitution.

Weary Willie in 1910.

Weary Willie—I've just made three resolutions fur 1910, an' I'm goin' to keep every one of 'em.

Waywern Watson—You ain't resolved to go to work, hev yo', Bill?

Weary Willie—No, Watson. My resolutions are dese: In 1910 I ain't goin' to drink champagne, take milk baths or put up at de Waldorf-Casteria when I'm in New York.

Romance and Reality.

The poet dwells in Arcady.
To judge from what he writes,
In Arcady there roseleafs bloom
Through moonlight summer nights,
The poet lives in Arcady.
No weeds he e'er doth mark.
When Arcady is just a room
That rents for three a week.
—St. Louis Star.

A Year and a Day.

"I always feel a pity for the poor young men of Greenland, those Esquimo chaps, you know," said Clarence. "No matter if those poor fellows keep their New Year's resolutions a whole year people would throw it up to them that they could hardly stand by their principles for two days. Silly idea? Not very."—Chicago Tribune.

Something You Want to Buy ? You Want to Sell ? Or is it a House or Rooms To Rent ?

In any case, it's THE EXAMINER that can do it for you with our rapidly growing circulation.

Twenty cents will pay for a 20 word classified advertisemen.

Real Estate Sales Room

HOUSES FOR SALE

1.—2 storey and attic, solid Red Brick, west, double parlours, dining room, kitchen, pantry, front and rear stairs, 4 bed-rooms, bath-room separate toilet, coal grate, electric lights, hot water furnace, double cellars, laundry tubs, large lot, price..... $4,500

2.—2 storey and attic, Red Brick, north, parlour, dining room, kitchen pantry, summer-kitchen, wood-shed 4 bed-rooms, bath-room, furnace, electric lights, good well, large lot, price $2,500

3.—Frame House, south of city, 1½ storeys, 6 rooms, ½ acre choice garden lot 5 minutes from street railway line, price..... $1,000

4.—1½ storey Brick, north, parlour dining-room, kitchen, wood-shed, summer kitchen, 3 bed-rooms, and stable, price..... $900

Farms for Sale

200 acres, 6 miles north of city, all under cultivation, soil clay loam, good orchard, good frame house, 3 first-class barns, good stables in stone basements under the barns, price..... $16,000

100 acres, 6 miles east, 90 acres under cultivation, balance pasture, soil clay loam, good fences, good brick house and frame barns on stone foundation, close to school, price..... $5,500

Houses to Rent

7-roomed, north, conveniences $12

7-roomed, south, light water, $11

7-roomed, west, light, water, $8

4-roomed, west..... $7

9-roomed, central, all conveniences..... $18

J. T. O'Connell & Co.

136 Hunter Street. 'Phone 376

WANTED.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

WANTED — 100 LADIES TO USE OUR Stocking Darning Sewing Machine Attachment. Fits on any machine. Also for repairing curtains, table cloth. Best time, labour and money saving device. Send post paid on receipt of post office money order, 25c. Agents wanted.—The Quebec Hardware Mfg. Specialties, St. Rock P. O., Quebec, Que. 1yr-75-7578

PERSONAL.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

ANY PERSON WISHING TO TAKE CAR to Northwest as far as Medicine Hat, please call at 201 Rubidge street for particulars. 9d153-8777

YOUR FORTUNE TOLD — YOUR PAST and future can be revealed; my horoscopes are wonderful diviners—try and see. Send birth date with three two cent stamps. Alfred Dumas, Box 67, St. Laurent, Jacques-Cartier Co., P. Que. 2d-s-153

IF THE PARTY WHO ADVERTISED FOR "Safe Wanted," will call at the Examiner office, he will be given the address of where he can secure one. d162

HELP WANTED—FEMALE.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

EXPERIENCED DINING ROOM GIRL wanted—highest wages paid. Apply at Snowden House. 3d1-8790

DINING ROOM GIRL WANTED—APPLY at the Maple Leaf Hotel. 3d1-8789

GIRLS WANTED — WITH KNOWLEDGE of sewing preferred. Good wages paid. Apply Brinton Carpet Co. 3d1-8797

YOUNG GIRL WANTED TO DO GENERAL housework and take care of two children. Apply at this office. 3d1-8795

PATENTS.

For particulars about Patents, send for booklet.

HEN. B. PANNETT, Ottawa, Ontario.

mon-s

FOR RENT.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

TO RENT—OFFICE NO. 12 IN BANK OF Commerce Building; heated, possession immediately. Apply at 437 George street.

TO RENT — NEW HOUSE—CITY WATER —$7.50. Apply 533 Concession street. Phone 1328.

FOUND.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

FOUND — PAIR OF GOLD GLASSES — Left in Mr. Murphy's store, Charlotte street. Owner can have same on proving property and paying for this advertisement, by applying at Mr. Murphy's store. 2d1-8798

LOST.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

LOST — ON SATURDAY NIGHT BETween Lakefield and Peterborough, a black baraklin fur coat. Finder leave at McDonald's drug store. 3d1-8788

LOST — FOB CHAIN — 3 AGATE STONES Park street or McDonnel. 1d143 8780

GIRLS WANTED AT QUAKER OATS CO. —Steady work and good pay. 6d153-8796

LOST—On Friday, December 24th, a collie pup, 6 months old, cinnamon colour with white breast and face, called "Sarsefield." Any information concerning his whereabouts will be thankfully received by John Cronin, Lockmaster, East Ward. 2d-153-8766

LOST — GOLD WATCH CHAIN AND locket, with engraving on back, on George street, on Friday afternoon. Finder leave at this office. 2d156-8794

SITUATIONS WANTED.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

WANTED — RESPECTABLE WOMAN wants work by the day. Apply Examiner office. 3d181-8742

SITUATIONS VACANT.

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

AN INTELLIGENT PERSON MAY EARN $100 monthly corresponding for newspapers. No canvassing. Send for particulars. Press Syndicate, 3972, Lockport, N.Y. dtf-61-7396

ANYONE, ANYWHERE, CAN START A mail order business at home. No canvassing. Be your own boss. Send for free booklet. Tells how. Hascook, 3972, Lockport, N.Y. dtf-61-7396

FOR SALE.

YOUR Ad in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

CUTTER FOR SALE — ONLY $18.00—SECond hand, in good condition. Call 206 Charlotte street. 6d1 8779

FOR SALE — A NUMBER OF CHICKENS First class, well bred, pedigreed. The original stock for the pair cost over $15. Apply 826 Water street. 6d159 8764

FOR SALE OR TO RENT—CASTLEKNOCK, the late residence of Mrs. Dennistoun. Extensive grounds, commodious residence, stable, etc. Apply to Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr, Water street. 4m-m and s-144-8693

FOR SALE—A THREE STORY BRICK house, 162 Smith street, containing nine rooms, besides halls, bathroom and closets; also five rooms in basement; coal and gas cooking ranges; furnace; electric light fixtures. Large lot, stable and driving house. Terms easy. Call at premises. J. Coyle Brown, Peterborough. 1mod127-8366

A new brick house near the corner of Sherbrooke and Park, modern improvements; will sell on monthly payments, or rent to small family. A good chance for a mechanic to own his own home. 1794-7567 G. W. HATTON.

FOR SALE—TWO CHOICE BUILDING lots on Water street (west side of street). Each 30 feet frontage back to a 16 foot lane. For particulars apply at 163 Antrim street, city, or Examiner office. 1f48-7724

HOUSES AND ROOMS TO LET

YOUR Ad. in this Classified Column, One Cent per word per insertion. Circulation 2907 copies daily, and growing.

A FEW GENTLEMEN CAN BE ACCOMmodated with room, with or without board, in private family, very central, electric lights, bath, furnace, and use of phone. Apply to 213 Simcoe st. 3d1-8796

GOOD FRAME HOUSE FOR SALE WITH stable; also two storey brick houses, 7 rooms. Cheap and on terms suit purchaser. Apply to H. Walker & Co., 350 Water st. dtf

ROOMS TO RENT ON GEORGE STREET, fitted with water, electric light, etc. Apply to Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr.

TO RENT—SUITE OF ROOMS IN GRAND Central Building. Heated and well modern improvements. Rent moderate. Apply 437 George street.

Lots For Sale on Big Island, Stony Lake

The North Half of Big Island, Stony Lake, is for sale.

PLAN AT EXAMINER OFFICE.

See Lots 11, 12, 13, 18.

Splendid Building Summer Homes—Good Landing, well sheltered, desirable locations.

Particulars upon application to

R. M. [illegible]

dtf

Begin Right

Begin the year well by investment in Real Estate, the surest, as well as the most remunerative.

Our City is on the eve of a great advance which requires little penetration to foresee.

Have confidence in your city and share in her prosperity.

We have superior investments in both City and Farm properties as per sample.

$1100—Seven roomed house, city water and electric light, on nice street, convenient to schools, work, etc;

$3000—An ideal residence entirely modern hot water heating, gas, etc., make a lovely home.

$5000—114 acres in Otonabee, first-class loam, barns on stone and piped from spring. Houses to Rent. A good Market Garden to Rent.

SOUTH CITY REALTY CO.

Phone 1295 and 1281 130 Park St.

New Offices Opposite C. G. E.

SEE THESE SOON

$200 Will buy a choice lot in the south part of the city in a first-class locality We have a number of these lots to dispose of for a quick sale.

$1900 Will buy a 7 roomed Brick House in west part of city with modern improvements.

$1600 Will buy a good 2 storey Brick House in west part of city

R. A. Elliott & Co

REAL ESTATE AGENTS. WATER STREET

TO INVESTORS,

35 to 50 per cent. per annum and Gilt Edge Security

Can be had by procuring stock in the

Alberta Wheat Growing Co., Limited.

A careful estimate shows that an investment of $500 in six years will produce $1200 to $1500 profit.

For further particulars write.

F. N. Tennant,

123-128 Box 59, Brampton, Ont.

HOUSES TO RENT

Houses to let at reasonable rent. Apply for particulars at W. H. BRADBURN'S OFFICE, over the Dominion Bank, Corner of George and Simcoe Streets. dtf

Dyment, Cassels & Co

Members Toronto Stock Exchange

Bank of Nova Scotia Building 34 Melinda St. Toronto

ORDERS EXECUTED ON ALL EXCHANGES

TELEPHONE MAIN 6311

New and Second-Hand Clothing Boots, Rubbers, etc. Furniture.

JAY'S Stores

390 AYLMER STREET PHONE

W. E. ELMORE & CO.

Brokers and Promoters

TORONTO AND MONTREAL

114-20 Traders Bank—125-6 Coristine Bldg. Hamilton Office: 401 Bank of Hamilton Building. 'Phone 3310.

GEORGE STREET PROPERTY FOR SALE

Parts of lots 1 and 2, west of George street and north of Dalhousie street, frontage on George street, 122 ft, by a depth of 181 ft., with use of a 12 foot lane from Dalhousie street. This lot adjoins the wholesale Harness Factory of B. F. Ackerman & Son, and is suitable for wholesale house or manufactory. Apply to Dennistoun & Johnston, or B. H. Wood, Solicitors 6m-29

R. P. TOBIN

CONTRACTOR & BUILDER

288 Brock St. Phone 1258

dtf-52

Peterborough Club Rooms To Rent

Opposite Post Office, Hunter St. Heated, with private bath and lavatory. Will rent whole flat or part rooms. Temporary or a permanent lease. Apply to

Peterborough Business College

Leading Advertising Medium in Peterborough The Daily and Weekly Examiner.

FOR SALE—Letter Press, in use for a couple of months. Apply Examiner Office. dtf-101

Heavy Fur Coat Time

Ladies' and Men's Fur Coats

Not How Cheap—but How Good. Quality Remains Long After Price Is Forgotten.

E. N. McWILLIAMS
374 George St. - Peterborough

How Would You Like Your
Tan Shoes
Changed to
BLACK?
We can do the trick for you. We colour them a good black to stay black. Send them in.
Soft Felt Hats
Cleaned to Look Like New
YEOTES BROS
SHOE SHINE PARLOURS
GEORGE STREET
Your favourite Polish on Sale

THE PALACE GROCERY
GRAHAM & COMPANY
For Your New Year Supplies
of Groceries and Table Dainties
New Stock
293 GEORGE ST.
Nearly opposite Opera House
PHONE 483

Brock St. Rink
Season 1909-10
Tickets for the season entitling the holder to a skating privileges, on sale Monday, Dec. 13th, at F. R. Clarke & Son, E. N. McWilliams, W. A. Henderson, W. Madill, Payne's Drug Store, McDermid & Jury, and at the rink.
Gentlemen ...$3.00
Ladies 2.00
Youths 16 to 18..$2
Boys under 16, 1.50
Girls 1.50

BEST CHINESE LAUNDRY
169 SIMCOE ST. PETERBOROUGH
Orders telephoned to Mr. George Record promptly filled. Ladies' and gentlemen's washing at moderate rates Parcels called for and delivered.

Have You Seen the New Model OLIVER No. 5 Typewriter ?
A Nugget of Gold from the Mine of Experience

It Establishes A NEW STANDARD
Write For Detailed Description
Peterboro' Typewriter Co.
Phone 655 159 SIMCOE STREET

DOMINION CHINESE CAFE
328 George 328 George
Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch, don't forget to call at
328 George St. HARRY HARRISON
Tea Green and Gun Powder

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

THE LATEST NEWS OF SPORT — TOLD IN BRIEF FORM

Warmest Race In The History Of The City Hockey League Opens Wednesday

Keene Will Play the Strathconas in the First Game and the West Ends and T. A. S. Clash in the Second—Two Hard Fought Games Will Set the Ball Rolling for the 1910 Season—All Four Teams Will be Strong This Year.

What promises to be the most interesting and closely contested race in the history of the City Hockey League will be inaugurated on Wednesday night of this week when the first scheduled game of the season will be pulled off at Brock St. rink. Never since the League opened has there been such rivalry and there has never been anything like the grabbing for players as there has been this season. Every manager has been working up time and the city has been raked with a fine comb in an effort bring forth new material. Every promising youngster in the city has been snapped up and the result will be some new faces on the line-ups when the season gets under way on Wednesday night. The first game brings together the newest team in the League, the Keene aggregation and the Strathconas. The villagers have a very speedy bunch as their two games with the West Ends have already demonstrated and they will take a whole lot of beating. They have some very fast youngsters and the team is steadied by the playing of McDougall, cover-point of the Eurekas of Toronto last winter and also will likely play with the Peterborough intermediate O.H.A. team this season. Smith of R. M. C. is at point for Keene, and it would not surprise the fans very much if they carried off the honours as the Lakefield team did last year.

Their opponents in Wednesday night's game, the Strathconas, need no introduction to the City League patrons. This will be their fifth successive year in the City League and they have always been contenders, losing only one game in the last three years. Their chances, however, this year are problematical and many of the fans do not think they will be seriously in the running this winter. Their line-up will be greatly changed, in fact only two of the men who played in the final game against Lakefield last year will be on the line-up, the goal and point respectively, are not playing this year, Long, the best scorer on the team, is in Fort William, and Dobson and Seymour, are with the West Ends, so you see where that leaves the High Commissioners. However, Manager Mellveral has not been idle and he promises a team that will make things interesting.

Much interest is being taken in the second game of the evening, West Ends against T.A.S. The West End team is regarded as a most likely contender for the pennant. Manager Oldham has been working energetically to get together an all star team and he has apparently been successful in his efforts. Besides securing Dobson and Seymour of the Strathconas, Manager Oldham has ken Crane, of the Collegiate Institute, about the fastest junior in Peterborough, Munro of the Chieftains and the best of last year's West Ends in the T.A.S., however, the Oldhamites will have no mean adversaries. Manager Deannard has been in the City League warfare too long to be caught asleep now and he promises a surprise to the fans. He has done a good stroke of business in grabbing three of last year's champion Lakefield team and with them and his last year players, he will have a formidable line up.

Both games should be corkers, as all four teams have been practising faithfully and are in the best of shape for the opening. There is every indication that there will be a big crowd on hand for the starting of the season as the City League games have always been popular and with a keen rivalry that is existing just now, there should be more excitement than ever. The usual popular prices will prevail, two big games of hockey for 15c.

RESULTS OF LAST GAMES IN OLD COUNTRY FOOTBALL

London, Jan. 2.—(Canadian Associated Press.)—Following are the scores of the important soccer fixtures on Saturday.

First League.

Blackburn Rover 2, Tottenham Hotspur 0.
Bolton W 3, Notts County 4.
Bradford C. 0, Manchester V. 2.
Sunderland 4, Bristol City 0.
Bury 2, Everton 2.
Liverpool 5, Woolwich A. 1.
Newcastle U. 1, Chelsea 0.
Sheffield U. 2, Middlesborough 0.
Nottingham F. 1, Aston Villa 4.

Second League.

Birmingham 0, West Bromwich 1.
Blackpool 3, Leeds City 1.
Burnley 2, Clapton O. 0.
Derby C. 3, Fulham 1.
Gainsborough T. 0, Lincoln City 0.
Hull City 5, Grimsby Town 1.
Manchester C. 3, Bradford 1.
Oldham A. 1, Glossop 0.
Stockport C. 5, Barnsley 0.

Southern League.

Brentford 0, Queen's Park R. 1.
Brighton and H. 3, Luton T. 0.
Bristol R. 1, Crystal Palace 1.
Coventry C. 0, Swindon T. 3.
Croydon C. 3, Southend U. 2.
Exeter C. 2, Southampton 0.
Leyton 2, Millwall 3.
West Ham. U. 2, N. Brompton 2.
Watford 2, Northampton 0.

Rugby

France 14, Somerset 9
Cornwall 4, Fottesian 3.
Lorettonians 14, Richmond 11.
Harlequins 32, Merchistonians 5.
United Services 220, Blackheath 3.
Cardiff 31, Bristol 0.
Newport 16, Llanelly 0.
Coventry 6, Northampton 6.
Devon Albion 3, Exeter 0.
Leicester 13, Hartlepool 8.
Watsonians 30, Stewartonians 0.
Gloucester 31, Cheltenham 0.

Discovered at Last! A Preparation That Will Positively Grow Hair

After many years of hard study consisting of hundreds of experiments a preparation has been perfected that will not only destroy the dandruff germ, but will produce a new growth of hair. This remedy has been placed on the market for sale, and although they could command almost any price for this preparation, yet they have placed the price of this remedy, which they call Salvia, at 50c. and $1.00 a bottle, and it is sold with a guarantee to grow the hair and kill dandruff. McDermid and Jury have secured the agency for Peterborough.

PETERBOROUGH AND LINDSAY IN THE INTERMEDIATE GROUP

Lindsay and Peterborough Intermediates is one double schedule group.

How does that look to the local fans?

As the result of negotiations started yesterday and completed this morning, this new arrangement was consummated. Port Hope intermediates will take Peterborough's place in the schedule in Group No. 1 with Bellevile and Trenton, while Peterborough and Lindsay will form a district of their own, playing a double schedule.

A number of Lindsay fans did not relish the idea of having back the intermediate championship cup untouched and accordingly they got together the other night and decided to enter the intermediate series if they could gain admission.

Port Hope's entrance into Group No. 1 crowded that section up it would have been almost impossible to arrange dates that would not conflict with other games here and consequently Peterborough were not anxious to contend in that division.

Mr. Joe Parkins of Lindsay and Secretary Glover of the local club met together yesterday over the new distance plans, and practically agreed to form a group by themselves, if it was agreeable to the O. H. A., and the other centres in Group No 1.

Secretary Brown of the O. H. A. had no objection nor had the Bellevile and Trenton clubs.

This morning the Lindsay and Peterborough clubs completed their arrangements and the schedule will be drawn up on Monday. A double schedule will be arranged, games to count.

Local fans will be glad to learn whereby to get back to their old rivals, Lindsay, if possible this season and this new arrangement will be popular.

VICE-PRESIDENT WAS DEFEATED

The annual curling match between the President and Vice-Presidents teams on New Year's morning and afternoon provided some good sport and resulted in the President's side winning.

The scores were as follows:

President		Vice President
J. E. A. Fitzgerald,	18	H. Foote,	10
John A. Cameron,	8	J. H. Connal	9
W. D. Campbell	10	Adam Hall	15
J. H. Fergusson	9	Dr. Greer	17
R. Neil,	18	E. B. Clegg,	7
W. J. Thompson,	16	Rev Pearson	13
Dr. Wightman	19	Geo. Maitland	18
C. K. Brown,	9	T. Brightman	10
R. Hall,	16	T. F. Matthews	12
R. M. Wadsell,	11	D. Davidson,	14
W. M. Laing,	12	A. Moore,	11
S. T. Reid,	12	Dr. Eastwood	9
T. E. B Yeates,	16	W. Mallroy	8
W. Talbot,	17	Geo. Giroux	5
	176		157

SPORTING NOTES

The Peterborough intermediate and junior O.H.A. teams had a rattling practice on Friday night and the intermediates followed it up with another hard workout on New Year's morning. At the latter practice McDougall, the Keene cover-point, for whom a permit has been secured turned out with the locals, and although handicapped by borrowed skating gave a good account of himself. Eddie Moore, who was down from Toronto over the holiday, was among those out and had a light practice. The others out were Deroeher, Giroux, Weatherstone, McMillan, Dobson, Ray, Seymour and Dusty.

The intermediates and juniors will practise again to-night at 7 o'clock. The following are asked to be out.

Intermediates.—Deroeher, Giroux, Glover, Lech, McDougall, Ray, Dobson, Seymour, Weatherstone and McMillan.

Juniors.—Halpat, Munro, Heffernan, C. Giroux, Weir, Hall, Pratt, Short, Mills.

Manager Deannard of the T. A. S. City League team, has been quietly gathering together his seven, and he will have a team in line Wednesday night that will surprise the talent. Among those who will wear the T.A.S. colours this year are Mick and Tony Sabatino and Morin, of last year's champion Lakefield team, Quigley, formerly of Lakefield, Coughlin, Heffernan and a number of other good men.

Lindsay will drop out of the junior O.H.A., but as the youngsters fall back, the intermediates come forward.

"We will have an intermediate team this year to enter with District No. 1," stated Mr. Jos. Parkin to the Evening Post this morning. The team will be for a while lost without the old fast reliable, "Ken" Randall, but "Bill" Stoddard and Cote brothers are still available, on the forward line, and will no doubt assist in turning out a fast septette.

A team will be chosen from Leo and Frank "Cull" Capt. Stoddard, Reg Blomfield, Dongan, Lane, Cain, "Goosie" Taylor, Beatty, Gamble, B. Green and Killen.

Captain Stoddard will again manage the team and will appear with Manager Parkin at Peterborough next week in forming a schedule.—Lindsay Post.

CUP CHALLENGERS PRACTICE.

The cup challengers had their first work-out on the ice at the Thistle rink yesterday afternoon. Deeton, Millar, Boulton, Whitcroft and Winchester were out in uniform and engaged in a hard practice. The forward line was complete with Millar and Boulton on the wings and Whitcroft and Deeton at centre ice. Quite a crowd of hockey fans watched the quintette disport themselves and predict that when the forward line gets going they will fairly burn up the ice with speed.

Jack Winchester showed yesterday that he has his eye in, dropping all kinds of shots on goal. The players will practise again to-night between five and six o'clock.—Edmonton Bulletin.

A Poem.

The up to date lover with money
Now buys him a little balloon,
And in it he goes on his honey-Moon.

—Cleveland Leader.

A Theory.

"Why can't that prima-donna sing more than twice a week?"

"I don't know," answered the impresario, "unless it's because she takes her vocal cords out singing with me about salary."—Washington Star.

Proverbs and Learning.

"A little learning dangerous is,"
And "ignorance is bliss."
Now, how to education going to Square itself with this?

—Kansas City Times.

The Camel.

Why is a camel easily explained? Because it always has its hump in.

SKIPPER BEN'S GIRL.

The Treasure That Came to the Lonely Fisherman.

By FRANK H. SWEET.

(Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.)

If in your travels you ever visit the rugged coast of New England you may come upon the Cove, with its cluster of brown, gray and black wooden houses, having quaint, uneven roofs and crooked chimneys, and its narrow strip of pebbly beach, backed by high, forbidding rocks.

You are very likely to find boats drawn up upon the beach, some of them overturned for caulking, and great heaps of help and seaweed and layers of salt hay, showing how far up the water comes at high tide.

And climbing over the boats or playing along the beach I am quite sure you will find a little girl—a brown legged, barefooted little girl in a faded pink frock, whose hair is like seaweed, a rich chestnut underneath, but faded to a sort of nutty tinge where the sun strikes it.

If you ask this little girl who she is she will peep shyly up at you through her tangled hair, with a pair of eyes that will win your love and admiration at once, and will answer, "Dolly."

HERE ON THE BEACH WAS A LITTLE GIRL.

Then she will run away and hide among the boats, with her brown curls shaken over her blushing cheeks.

But if you ask any one else, say the old lobster man yonder examining his shower pots beside his warped and leaky old dory, or, better still, old Captain Graves as he stands on the wharfs every day or sits by the stove in Lisha Tucker's store telling of the fishing when he was young, he will say:

"That? Oh, that's Skipper Ben's gal."

It is a strange story, and it all happened some years ago—a great many years ago. Dolly would say—when Skipper Ben was not a skipper at all, but merely a brown skinned young lubberman.

He lived with his old mother in the little brown house that stands quite by itself by the waterside and whose eaves almost touch the ground. And over in the blackish looking cottage, with the shingles down the sides, lived his sweetheart, a rosy lass named Dolly.

They had always been friends ever since they were old enough to go about and sailed boats together in the pools among the rocks or fished from the wharfs. As they grew older the cove "just kind of understood" that they were to be married as soon as Ben should become owner or part owner of a fishing vessel.

Ben was an industrious fellow and was always off on the banks. Each time he came home he laid a little money away in an old stocking, for he was saving up to buy his boat, and once while he was on a fishing cruise with Captain Pratt the captain told him of a prime little schooner he had at home in the cove, which Ben might secure for the contents of his stocking and in payment for his services that season.

Ben came home a happy youth. He had already christened his new possession the Dolly. As I as he walked up the narrow, crooked street of the little fishing town he wondered why all of his q'd comrades should look at him with such solemn, pitying glances.

Poor Ben! He soon learned why they all looked pityingly at him. His sweetheart, Dolly, was dead. Two weeks before she had been buried in the little graveyard on the hill.

Poor Ben, indeed!

He was never the same man afterward. He kept the Dolly and took a pride in her, going off to the banks and becoming in time one of the first fishermen in the Cove. But he never was a boy again. All his old light heartedness had vanished, and he became grave, moody and pitiful. For some years he lived, when he was at home, alone in the little brown house—for his old mother was dead, too. A lonely time he had of it when he was not at the banks. In the evenings he would sit for hours with his pipe, staring into the fire and thinking how different it all might have been if only Dolly had lived.

One night there was a terrible storm, and Skipper Ben sat by his roaring hearth snoozing and thinking. The wind blew and howled about the little brown house. It rushed down the chimney and beat against the side of the house until it rocked. But Ben does not notice a bit of wind.

Finally his uneasy thoughts got the better of him. The tiny room seemed to grow so narrow and so suffocating as a grave, and he rushed out into the night and the storm, where he could draw in deep breaths of the wild salt air.

There was no rain, but the clouds were scurrying swiftly across the sky. And well they might with such a wind at their backs.

Such a wind! If Ben had not been the broad, sturdy fellow that he was it would have blown him off his feet. But as it was he strode up and down the beach with long, fierce strides and headed neither the wind nor the roaring surf.

Was it strange that, with the fierce storm ranging without and the equally fierce storm raging within, Skipper Ben should not have heard the shrieks and cries of distress that night? Not so very strange, I think, but what was strange was that above all the din and commotion he should have heard a feeble wail—the faintest little wail in the world.

But he heard it at any rate and hurried to the spot whence it came.

There, lying on the beach, with its frock securely fastened to a broken spar, was a little child.

"Why, you poor little creature!" exclaimed Ben as he unfastened the dress. "How's the world did you git out here?"

The baby stopped crying as soon as she saw him and, stretching out her tiny arms, gave a little chuckle of delight.

He picked her up tenderly and wringing out the soaked little garments, which were like cobwebs and were trimmed with the finest lace, buttoned her up inside his heavy jacket.

Then it was that he heard the shouts and cries for the first time and saw men running helplessly up and down the beach and gazing seaward.

What were they looking at? Looking at nothing. They were staring and gaping at the place where a good ship had just gone to pieces. Could no one be saved? No; it was impossible. No boat could live in such a surf, and there is, moreover, no lifeboat at the Cove.

The ship went to pieces where she struck. Of all the crew not one lived to tell the tale, and of all the passengers not one was saved except the little baby buttoned up under Skipper Ben's rough pilot jacket.

But the baby lived and was like a sunbeam in the little brown house, for no one talked of putting her in the asylum. Nor is there any orphan asylum at the Cove, though there are orphans in plenty, for many a good fellow goes to the banks never to return, not supposing that he has said goodby for the last time to the youngsters at home.

The baby cried for "mamma" a little at first, but she soon learned to say "Ben" instead. And from that day on the little room never became narrow and stuffy, and Ben's pipe was the pipe of peace and comfort.

The next year, when he went to the banks, he left her in the care of Lisha Tucker's wife at the store, but the year after she cried so hard when he was going that he took her with him. And ever since she has been his constant companion, and he named her Dolly.

Five years have passed since that stormy night, and Dolly is six years old. She is a bright, happy little girl, and she loves the grim old ocean dearly, even if it did so nearly become her tomb.

Sometimes in the evening when the wind is blowing and shaking the little brown house and the fire is roaring brightly and merrily up the chimney Skipper Ben will tell Dolly how he found her lying on the beach securely fastened to a broken spar.

Then he will pull out a little old, worn leather trunk and will take from it the once dainty baby clothes. They are yellow now and still stained with sea water. He will hold the delicate fabric in his hard, rough hand with reverential awe and look with wonder at the little faded blue ribbons that once were shoulder knots.

"I wonder who your parents was?" he says to Dolly. "Only think what you might ha' been! Why, you might be a markis!"

Skipper Ben's round blue eyes become rounder and bluer at the thought, and he takes his pipe from his mouth.

"You might ha' been a dorchess!"

But Dolly shakes her head with her brown curls and lays her cheek against Ben's rough coat, saying: "No, no! I'd rather be Skipper Ben's girl!"

A Man and His Room.

"Play cards with a man for an hour and you will know him better than if you had met him in the drawing room every evening for a year," says a German writer. But Bonta in the Paris Figaro suggests another character barometer. A never failing test is the hotel room. The way a man arranges his room in a hotel shows whether he has been well reared, what his ideas of propriety are, whether his bump of order has been developed, whether he is methodical or slovenly, and one may even know by the way wearing apparel, ornaments and baggage are disposed of in a room which the occupant knows he will remain in only a few days whether he is thoroughly or superficially educated. "If I had a daughter for whom a young man sued," says Bonta, "I would have him go to a summer resort where I could surprise him in his hotel room. In less than fifteen minutes my verdict would be rendered on the basis of the room's appearance."

No Chance of That.

The beggar accepted gratefully a nickel from the gentlemanly benefactor.

"Thank you, sir," he said, his voice vibrant with deep feeling. "Oh, thank you, sir, and may you live to be as old as your jokes!"

Of Course.

Reporter—Professor, what language do you suppose the people nearest the north pole speak? The Professor—What a question! Polish, of course.—Chicago Tribune.

Corner Hunter and Water sts. E.

Cut Flowers

Ferns	Flowering Plants
Palms	Floral Designs
Bouquets	Wreaths, etc.

All work done in an artistic manner, on shortest notice. Orders by mail, telephone or telegraph, promptly and carefully attended to.

Visitors always welcome at

West-End Greenhouses

Take the Jackson Park Street Car. Car stops within a few yards of Greenhouses

547 Park St. Phone 21
Day and Night

DOWN-TOWN AGENCY—At White & Gillespie's Grocery, 336 George St.

W. J. Routley
TO HIS CUSTOMERS

We wish to acknowledge our grateful appreciation of the generous patronage bestowed on us during the year now closing. Our sales exceeded by far all previous returns.

We have two resolutions in our mind, for 1910:—On the part of our FRIENDS we suggest that every one resolve to continue favouring us with their patronage. For OUR OWN part, we will resolve to redouble our energy and strive to deserve your patronage more than ever.

Wishing you all a Happy New Year.

W. J. ROUTLEY
GROCER
168 CHARLOTTE STREET

Never Too Late To Put On
WEATHER STRIPS. like Fuel, are necessary in this climate. They keep the house cosy and warm, free from drafts and freezing, and save you fuel.
You won't be spitish if you spend the money necessary to fit Chamberlain's Metallic Weather Strips on your doors and windows.
With best wishes, etc.
A. J. LONGLAND Manager for Peterborough
537 HARVEY ST. - PHONE 1282

A New Year's Resolution
"I purpose buying my Footwear for 1910 at
R. McWHINNIE'S
BOTH PHONES. 384 GEORGE ST

FINE PHOTOGRAPHS
Now is the time to leave orders for Fine Photographs. Finest work.
LENDRUM'S STUDIO
CHARLOTTE STREET

Flag Abroad.

A patent medicine concern in Hamburg, Germany, is sending through the mails and publishing in the illustrated papers a picture showing Commander Peary and Dr. Cook in arctic costume jointly planting the American flag at the north pole. The picture is remarkable for the flag, which has eighty stars and twenty-one stripes, eleven red and ten white, with the legend under the group, "America triumphs at the pole, but we have discovered ——" (the remedy).

The Hebrew Sabbath.

The attempts made by English and Russian reformers to transfer the Sabbath to Sunday, says the Hebrew Standard, remind us of one of Lincoln's stories. A schoolboy was asked by a visitor: "Suppose we call the cow's tail a leg. How many legs would the cow have?" "Five," was the boy's prompt reply. "Wrong," said the questioner. "Calling a cow's tail a leg does not make it a leg."

Worried.

The man in the space is now walking in pain
Because he's an allegory, the element
He's afraid that some step is an exclamation point
Will, step there and ask for some descent
—New York Times.

The Mosquito's Purpose.

"Every one of God's creatures is here for a useful purpose. Now, what do we learn from the mosquito, Tom?" asked a teacher trying to evolve the word patience.

"We learn from the mosquitoes," answered Tom, "how easy it is to get stung."—Life.

Queen Quality

SHOE

Everything that women wear in Shoes. In "Queen Quality" smart, exclusive styles, fit, comfort.

J. T. Stenson & Sons

364 GEORGE STREET

"It's confidence that does it."

WHITE & GILLESPIE

FAMILY GROCERS and PROVISION MERCHANTS

Are fully prepared to fill your New Year Table Needs with the highest grade of Groceries, Fruit, etc., absolutely fresh and choice.

Raisins	Currants
Creamery Butter	Candied Peel
Pure Coffee	Cranberries
Fragrant Tea	Fine Figs
Chocolate Candies	Malaga Grapes
Cream Candies	Mexican Oranges
Shelled Walnuts	Florida Oranges
Shelled Almonds	Relishes
Pickles	Fresh Nuts
	Etc., Etc.

When buying from us you can rest assured of getting the best. Kindly order early.

East Side George Street, with Entrance Off Market Square

Rubber Gloves

Regular $1.00 for

65 cents

Every lady should have a pair. Keep hands clean and skin soft and free from roughness.

Wm. Madill

Chemist & Druggist

OAK HALL DRUG STORE

Corner George and Hunter Sts

Nothing more appropriate for a Christmas Gift than Snowshoes or Toboggans. We have a very large assortment. Call & see them.

J. J. TURNER & SONS

Peterborough Ontario

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

Moles, Birthmarks, removed permanently by Electrolysis, without pain or scar, (positively no return.) Established Toronto, Hamilton and Guelph. Days in Peterborough. Satisfaction where others fail References. Write for particulars. Miss A. Graduate, Box 269 Brampton Ontario.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

Did you ever stop to realize what a pleasure one can get out of successful contriving?

"If once I could go somewhere without planning and contriving what I should wear, it seems to me I should be perfectly happy. This borrowing sister's wrap and mother's gloves and saving every cent to get a new hat takes away half the pleasure," I heard a girl say the other day.

And she laughed me to scorn when I ventured to suggest that perhaps the opposite was true and that perhaps the planning and contriving really gave, instead of taking away pleasure.

The pleasure or possession that you purchase by careful planning, that you snatch despite the cautions of your prudence, that you deny yourself something else for, that you wait for and long for and work for weeks or months before you finally obtain it, has a sweetness that can be gained in no other way.

If the time ever comes when my lady of the bewailings does not need to contrive, when half a dozen gowns, a choice of evening wraps and a dozen gloves await her pleasure, I think the day will also come when she will look back upon the excitement of producing a successful outfit from the four corners of the earth, and realize that the contriving was a pleasure and as great a one as she can command now despite her wealth.

I remember a queer little example of the joy of contriving.

When I was a little girl my brother and I had a printing press with which we used to print cards for all the children of the neighbourhood. We had a rather scanty supply of type and there was often a shortage of "e's." Brother, however, constructed a method of turning the "a's" upside down so that they made quite respectable "e's" and with this addition to our supply we took great pleasure in managing to "get by."

Then one Christmas someone gave us a large supply of type. At first we were sure that was the one thing on earth we had needed to complete our happiness, and then, strangely enough—or rather naturally enough—we found that along with the need of contriving at least half the fun had gone.

Charles Lamb has an essay nominally on Old China, but really on the joy of contriving—that I think every poor man ought to read.

I'd like to quote it bodily, but since I haven't room I'll just give you two of the best paragraphs:

"When you came home with twenty apologies for laying out a less number of shillings upon that print which we christened the Lady Blanche, when you looked at the purchase, and thought of the money—and looked again at the purchase—was there no pleasure in being a poor man? Now you have nothing to do but to walk into Colnaghi's and buy a wilderness of prints. Yet you do?

"I wish the good old times would come again when we were not quite so rich. I do not mean I want to be poor; but there was a middle state in which I am sure we were a great deal happier. A purchase is but a purchase now that we have money enough and to spare. Formerly it used to be a triumph. A thing was worth buying then when we felt the money that we paid for."

No, I'm not saying that I wouldn't like to be rich.

Like the rest of the world, in many ways, I wouldn't mind trying what it would be like to have more money than I could possibly use.

But I do believe that I would lose, and that the poor old man possesses, a very great pleasure that the rich never know—the joy of contriving.

Ruth Cameron

Fresh Light Thrown On The Ellingwood Case In Montreal

Would-Be Suicide Said to Have Deserted Wife and Child for Mrs. Maud Torrey, Whose Husband is Looking for and Does Not Want Divorce—His Wife's Strange Infatuation for Man With Whom She Eloped.

WIFE IS UNDECIDED

Examiner Special.

Montreal, December 31, 1909.—Winslow C. Ellingwood, known as William Ellingwood, the man who attempted to commit suicide last week after Maude E. Torrey, with whom he was in love, had left for Boston, is doing well at the Western Hospital. He will probably be out of bed today. The bullet, which was at first thought to have lodged in one of his lungs has since been located behind it. It has not yet been removed.

Mrs. Torrey visited Ellingwood recently and showed gratification when told that he was out of danger.

That the would be suicide has a wife awaiting his return to the States has been revealed by a communication from Mr. Wallace C. Torrey, of Hanover, Mass., husband of the woman for whose sake Ellingwood attempted to take his life. In a communication received in Montreal today, Torrey says:

"Please give me information in regard to the circumstances of my wife, Maude E. Torrey, who, I understand by her letter, is being held by the police for this Ellingwood trouble. Please read the facts which I am sending. They are true. I have never applied for a divorce and do not intend to."

He also sent a number of papers, giving additional details leading up to the tragic shooting.

MRS. TORREY'S HISTORY.

Maude E. Torrey, wife of Wallace Torrey, one of the best known families of Pembroke, Mass., was married at the age of 16. She has three children, Carlton, aged 4, and Hazel, aged 8, and Barker, aged 3. She was the daughter of Mrs. Charles Turner of Pembroke.

At the time she disappeared with Ellingwood, taking with her the youngest child, she left no explanation of her action for her husband, simply informing him that she was going out to do some shopping. Instead, she boarded a train at Hanover Four Corners for Brockton, and then journeyed to Montreal.

Mr. Torrey did not know the man Ellingwood, but was aware that his wife received a number of letters from him. He says he subsequently learned that she had received a telephone message instructing her to meet Ellingwood in Brockton.

SENT HER MONEY.

After his wife arrived in Montreal, Mr. Torrey received a letter asking for money to return to her home, expressing repentance at what she had done, and explaining that she had seemed dazed through it all, and only realized her act when she and Ellingwood were on Canadian soil. He was only too willing to forgive and sent her the required funds. She replied that she would leave Montreal and meet him in Boston on the following Tuesday. Mr. Torrey with the two children, Carlton and Hazel, were on the platform waiting to welcome her, but she did not arrive, and then the affair in Montreal becoming known, explained her non-appearance.

ELLINGWOOD'S WIFE

According to the papers sent by Mr. Torrey, Ellingwood has a wife and family in Brooklyn, where the Ellingwoods have made their home since he married Miss Parmelia Elliott six years ago. The deserted wife, it is said, lives with the aunt of the wounded man, Miss Alice McIntyre. To support herself and child, a three year old boy, Mrs. Ellingwood does light sewing. The Ellingwoods separated a year ago.

Mrs. Ellingwood is in a quandary as to what course to pursue, but she states that whatever it is she will not make it public.

FOR BABY'S SKIN TROUBLES

There are times in the life of nearly every child when Dr. Chase's Ointment proves itself a blessing. The tender skin chafes and is irritated by the clothing. Oftentimes baby eczema developes from this very cause. In a dozen ways Dr. Chase's Ointment can be used to sooth and heal the skin and prevent suffering of the little one. No treatment is so well suited for this purpose and none is so entirely satisfactory.

MAIL DELIVERY

Is Being Established Between Lakefield and Lakehurst

Arrangements have been made with the present contractor, M. A. C. Shearer by which rural mail delivery has been established between Lakefield and Lakehurst, calling at Lakefield, Selwyn, Buckhorn, Sandy Lake and Lakehurst. The new arrangement will go into force at once and will no doubt be appreciated by those living along the route of the new delivery.

SIGNALS OF DISTRESS

Peterboro' People Should Know How to Read and Heed Them.

Sick kidneys give many signals of distress.

The secretions are dark, contain a sediment.

Passages are frequent, scanty, painful.

Backache is constant day and night.

Headaches and dizzy spells are frequent.

The weakened kidneys need quick help.

Don't delay! Use a special kidney remedy.

Booth's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys, backache, and urinary disorders. Peterborough evidence proves this statement.

CHRISTMAS MUSIC GIVEN YESTERDAY

At the Charlotte Street Church—Mr Skitch of Toronto Sang.

The Christmas music, given by the choir of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church yesterday was of an especially high order and the organist and choirleader, Miss Clarry, is deserving of the greatest credit. In the morning the anthem "Sing, O Heavens," by Tours, was splendidly rendered, the soprano solo being sweetly sung by Miss Pringle. The anthem "God from on High hath heard," was given with a tenor solo, by Mr. Jas. Browne.

Mr. P. H. Skitch of Toronto, brother of Mr. W. F. Skitch, of this city, who possesses a fine baritone voice, sang at both morning and evening services. His morning number was "Nazareth," by Gounod, and the evening he sang "Long Ago, a Midnight Strain," by Hawthorne. The anthem at the evening service was "O Holy Night," by Adams, and arranged by Dudley Burk. The solo and obligato parts were taken most effectively by Miss Pringle.

NEW STEEL BRIDGE FOR LINDSAY

Will Be Built in Connection With Trent Canal System.

Mr. D. E. Easson, of Peterborough, one of the staff of civil engineers the Trent Canal, was in town last week, in order to take final measurements for the steel superstructure of the contemplated Wellington street bridge. As has been mentioned before, the new structure will be of the light type, the first built on the Trent Canal, if not in Canada. The channel between the piers will be the same as now, only trifling alterations to the present cement approaches being necessary. The large wooden pier on the west side will be replaced by a small one of cement.

The total span of the bridge will be ninety-one feet.—Lindsay Post.

BUILDING PERMITS

Past Month Surpassed Total For December 1908.

Practically every month of the present year has shown a substantial gain over the corresponding month in 1908. It has been a sign of the times and is a fair basis for the comparison of the general business of the two years.

Even December's building permits show an increase over the same month in 1908. The difference is small and the total for the month is not encouraging and scarcely worth mentioning, but the figures wind up a year that has brought prosperity to a large number and has been particularly beneficial to the working man. The building permits for December amounted to $2,095, while during December, 1908, permits totalling $1,990 were issued. Citizens will greet with pleasure indications for a substantial year during 1910. The permits for the last month were as follows:

H. Denne, $590, verandah.

Rossner & Guerin, $30, ice house, Roger street.

C. M. Birdsall, $500, store, George street.

J. McNaughton, $75, shop on Bethune street.

Jos. Charlebois, $900, house on Boundary Road.

A. H. STRATTON & CO.

THE PETERBOROUGH BOOKSTORE

EXTRA!

Peremptory Reduction Sales

— OF —

BOOKS, STATIONERY, WALL PAPERS, WINDOW BLINDS and FANCY GOODS

Willl Continue at the Most Startling Prices

UNTIL THE FIRST OF FEBRUARY

WILL RE-OPEN LAKEFIELD HOUSE

Mr. A. G. Lawless will re-open the Lakefield House to the travelling public. The house has been closed during the past summer, Mr. Lawless and family residing in Bobcaygeon, where he conducted a hotel in that place. Having disposed of his business in Bobcaygeon, Mr. Lawless will re-open the Lakefield House about the first of the week.—Lakefield.

HELD RE-UNION

Family of Mr. Henry Naish Met Together on New Year's Day.

One of the most enjoyable re-unions that were held during the Christmas holidays was that which was held at the home of Mr. Walter Naish, 219 Dublin St., on New Year's day. It was the re-union of Mr. Henry Naish's family, the seventh that has been held since Mr. Naish came to this country from Reading, England. Mr. and Mrs. Naish were surrounded by six of their married children with their families and one unmarried son and daughter. An excellent supper was partaken of, after which the evening was spent very pleasantly with music. The gathering was one long to be remembered, and Mrs and Mrs. Naish were heartily congratulated on their splendid health and happiness.

WAS FINED $10.55

Young Man Pleaded Guilty to a Charge of Assault.

A young man was fined five dollars and costs, amounting to $10.55, at the police court this morning for assaulting another young fellow a few nights ago near Central Park. He pleaded guilty. The complainant, in the witness box, said that he was returning home the other evening and was overtaken by the accused. The defendant apparently thought the witness was someone else, for whom he had been looking. They got into a fight and the alleged assault took place.

His Worship imposed a fine of five dollars and costs, amounting to $10.55 to be paid forthwith, or one month in jail.

FARMERS' CLUB

A meeting was held in the Zion School House, Smith, toward the formation of a Farmer's Club in this vicinity. Mr. J. H. Garbutt and others pointed out the object and benefits of such societies and it was decided to form a club. The officers were elected as follows:

President.—H. Stubbs.

Vice-President.—J. H. Garbutt.

Sec.-Treasurer.—G. N. Milburn.

Directors.—C. Graham, and G. Mann.

Auditors.—A. B. Mann and B. Allan.

The next meeting will be held on January 20th.

The club has a membership of 25.

A MYSTERY

Disappearance of a Suit Case Worth $10,000 is Followed by Strange Re-appearance.

Quincy, Mass., Dec. 31.—An inconspicuous dress suit case, containing necklaces, diamonds, and jewellery to the aggregate of $10,000, for which private detectives and railroad and police officials have been on a still hunt for a week past, turned up at the railroad station here yesterday with its contents intact.

A travelling salesman in the employ of the Smith Patterson Company, jewellers, Boston, was due to strike here Monday, December 20. On the Thursday previous he checked the dress suit case at the south terminal in Boston, as baggage to be sent to Quincy, where he was to call for it.

When the travelling salesman arrived he presented his baggage check, but the dress suit case could not be located, and a search failed to reveal any trace of it.

Yesterday, just as the score of detectives and police officials at work on the case had about lost all hope of recovering the precious suit case, Robert Carrigan, the baggageman employed at this station, noticed the long-sought-for article beneath a bench in the baggageroom.

How the dress suit case disappeared, and how it came back, or how it could possibly be overlooked by the clerks in their thorough search is a mystery now puzzling all parties concerned.

LICENSE CANCELLED

A meeting of the License Commissioners was held on Saturday night when a resolution was passed cancelling the liquor license of the Cavanagh house. The bar was therefore closed on Saturday night. A prominent builder stated to an Examiner reporter to-day that he understood the Cavanagh House was to be remodelled and improved in the event of the Local Option by-law being defeated to-day. He could not state what the extent of the changes were likely to be, but he considered the authority for the statement sufficiently good to accept it as true.

CHURCH SERVICES

ST. JOHN'S.

Monday—3 p.m., Concert rehearsal in schoolroom.

Tuesday—7.30 p.m., New Year's Sunday school entertainment operetta, "Santa Claus" and other numbers.

Thursday—Festival of Epiphany. Holy Communion 10 a.m.

Friday—7.30 p.m., Sunday school teachers' monthly meeting at the rectory. 7.30, Brotherhood of St. Andrew in Guild room.

Saturday—9 a.m., Boys' choir practice.

Sunday—First Sunday after Epiphany. Holy Communion at 8.30 a.m. Special invitation to men. Brotherhood of St. Andrew Corporate Communion.

ST. JOHN'S SUNDAY SCHOOL.

The Sunday school scholars of St. John's will give their entertainment "Santa Claus" and "Scenes From Nativity," in the schoolroom at 7.30 p. m. on Tuesday. Parents and friends are heartily invited to attend and encourage the children as a great deal of work has been put in to make the programme most entertaining.

C. N. 44 AND C. N. A.

New Discoveries by an old physician C.N.Tablets for internal use. C.N.A. local nourisher for external use. The two—both used in conjunction at the same time produces more invigorating, vitalizing and rejuvenating effects than has ever before been offered. Sufferers from vital weakness and lost vigor, that saps the pleasures of life, will find one of each produces wonderful invigorating, enlarging and lasting results. Free Trial Sample mailed in plain package on receipt of this advertisement and six cents postage. Address—THE NERVINE CO. 90 VICTORIA AVE., WINDSOR, ONT., CANADA

An Invitation

We cordially invite everyone interested in something for New Year's, to visit our store and note the fine lines, perfect quality and moderate prices here shown. Nothing more appropriate than some of the following suggestions for New Year Gifts:—

Gentlemen's Gold Watches
Ladies' Gold Watches
Diamond Rings
Pearl Rings, lots of designs
Gold Cuff Links, 14 karat
Gold Lockets
Signet Rings Gentlemen's
Pearl Brooches, nice pattern
1847 Rogers Cutlery. Special Prices.

NO TROUBLE TO SHOW YOU GOODS. Call and Inspect Them.

WARNE'S

345 George St. 'Phone 92

Grand Opening

of the NEW STORE for Men and Women

This store will give the greatest bargains in the City in Ladies' and Gentlemen's Ready-to-Wear Clothing and Furnishings, Underwear, &c. Also Household Furnishings. Special Bargains for Opening Week.

Opening December 30th.

Call in and look over our stock for yourself.

Canadian Furnishing House

193 Charlotte St. Near cor. George St.

jm-wed-152

Watch This Page for the Announcement of the Final Clearance of all Smoked and Winter Goods.

Richard Hall & Son, Limited., 353-355 George Street.

Pre-Stock-Taking Sales

Women's Ready-to-Wears

The pre-stock-taking sales have commenced in earnest—stocks are being reduced all over the store—all odd lines and stock remnants must be cleared out within the next two weeks. In our ready-to-wear section we are making a complete clearance of all suits and coats ; every line is reduced materially in price in the usual Cressman style. Prices attached that mean sure and quick clearance. Visit this popular second floor department to-morrow and inspect our showing and criticize our prices. Note these :

All $30 Suits and Coats $23.75
All 25 Suits and Coats 19.50
All 20 Suits and Coats 15.90
All $15, $18 Suits & Coats 13.75
All $10, $12 Suits & Coats 8.75
All $7, $8 Suits and Coats 4.95

All Alterations Free of Charge During This Sale.

Cressman's

LOVES AN ACTRESS THREATENS SUICIDE

Young New York Millionaire Said to be Infatuated With Chorus Girl of the "Hello People" Octette.

Cincinnati, Jan. 3.—It is reported here on good authority that one of the girls playing with James T. Powers in "Havana" is being persistently annoyed by the attention of a New York millionaire who has been pursuing her from city to city. Now he declares that unless his love is returned he will kill himself, and has given the show girl until New Year's Day to consent to marry him.

The girl in the case is pretty Erminie Clarke, one of the original "Hello" girls and is noted particularly for her peculiar carriage in the famous octette number.

Miss Clarke's admirer is a young fellow named Frank Thompson, who claims to be a nephew of Henry Clews, the New York banker. He spends his money like a sailor and one would imagine that he has a couple of banks at his command.

The infatuation dates back from the original production of "Havana" at the Casino last summer. Miss Clarke had just returned from abroad. She with Edith Kelly, who was supposed to have been secretly married to Frank Gould, the young millionaire, several weeks ago in London, were invited to a dinner party by Mr. Gould. Young Thompson was one of the guests. He fell desperately in love with Miss Clarke and his attention was marked. He is alleged to have bought the actress diamonds galore, and she also had at her disposal a big touring car said to have been furnished by Thompson.

The young millionaire arrived in Cincinnati Sunday and occupied a box at the Lyric Theatre. After the performance Miss Clarke accompanied one of the young men of the town to one of the nearby cafes. Thompson was very much incensed and was very loud in his denunciation and created such a scene that he was requested to leave the cafe.

THE BEEHIVE

The LADIES' BIG READY-TO-WEAR STORE

New Departments Installed

Our new elevator enables us to carry out plans that we have had in view for some time.

New Half-Price Department

To this department we will devote a whole flat over one store; and it will have its own special buyer. It frequently happens that manufacturers who have to make up goods in very large lots, find that their orders do not cover their whole output and as they do not like accumulation of goods they are glad to clear them out for cash. We have the money for them and in the HALF PRICE DEPARTMENT we will pass over the whole benefit to our customers

THE HALF PRICE DEPARTMENT WILL BE OPEN ALL WEEK AND NOT FOR ONE DAY ONLY : : : : : : :

These are some of the tempting lines to be found in the HALF PRICE DEPARTMENT this week.

This fine White Waist, embroidered sleeves, back and front 1.25

We will place on sale a very fine White Organdie Lawn Waist daintly embroidered, worth twice the money, for 75c

Ladies' and Children's warm Ringwood Gloves, regular 25c, 2 PAIRS for 25c

Black Satanna Underskirts, trimmed with large fulness and frill, good quality of sateen 50c

Black Satanna Underskirt, trimmed with large fulness, knife pleated frill, next week for 60¾

Large Purses with hand strap on the back, regular 75c, for 25c

Our Free Art Classes begin on Monday, Jan. 31st., and continue for two weeks. Register early, no charge.

THE BEEHIVE

AN ENJOYABLE BANQUET HELD

At Coleman's Restaurant on New Year's Eve—A Good Programme.

Twenty-one young men comprising employes from the Examiner and the Quaker Oats Co. who are known as the "Glad Hand Club" sat down to a sumptuous banquet at Coleman's restaurant on New Year's eve. An excellent menu was provided by Mr. Coleman, and many were the complimentary remarks made in reference to it.

After everyone had partaken of the choice viands, a short toast list and programme of musical selections were given. Mr. Ormie Callander acted as chairman in a very capable manner. The toast to "The King" was honoured by the enthusiastic singing of the National anthem. The other toast honoured was that to "the ladies" proposed by Mr. Robt. Briggs

The following numbers were splendidly given, repeated encores being demanded :

Piano and violin selection—Messrs. Ellam and Tucker.
Song—E. Naish.
Song—F. Board.
Speech—Mr. Mann.
Song—Mr. O. Callender.
Quartette—Messrs E. and P. Naish J. Ellam and Pitchford.
Piano, piccolo, violin selection—Messrs. Ellam and E. Naish and Tucker.
Song—Mr. E. E. Coleman.

This enjoyable little affair will be made an anual event, everyone being unanimous to make it such.

IMPORTANT.

As Mr. A. H. Stratton is retiring from the Peterborough Bookstore on the 1st of February next, it is important that all accounts due this firm, be settled at once. In recognition of the long service given by this store, those of our patrons, whose accounts are unsettled, will mark their appreciation by sending in their remittances promptly.

A. H. STRATTON & CO.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

LITTLE STARS IN A BIG PLAY.

Little Helen Pullman, and her small sister, Beryl, who will be seen here at the Grand next Thursday, Jan. 6, in "The Prince Chap' are acknowledged to be the cleverest child actresses now before the public. Their services are in constant demand among New York managers, but of all their repertoire of parts they love Claudia in "The Prince Chap," best of all and never miss a chance to appear in it. Besides, Miss Helen is to be starred in a play all her own next season, under Charles Emerson Cook's direction, and naturally these two "old chronies" like to be together so as to have a daily talk over their future plans. Miss Helen is a thorough little business woman, in spite of her scarcity of years—she confesses to nine summers, while her sister Beryl, boasts all of six winters—and she is as capable a little stage manager as ever scolded a leading man. Both Helen and Beryl are the self-appointed chaperones of their mother, who travels with them, and of course they are the petted and much loved little stars of all the members of "The Prince Chap" Company. While here they will stop at the Oriental Hotel, and will be "at home" to any of their little friends who care to call.

Both little Helen Pullman, who plays Claudia in the second act of "The Prince Chap," and little Beryl Pullman, who plays the first act Claudia, have appeared in this part more than six hundred times.

PULPIT TREATMENT OF SOME PRACTICAL ISSUES

Rev. Canon Davidson Commenced a Course of Sermons That Will Deal With the Various Sides o Everyday Life.

FIRST GIVEN YESTERDAY

Rev. Canon Davidson began yesterday in St. John's a course of Sunday evening sermons on the general subject, "Some spheres and services of Practical Religion," which will deal with various sides of every-day life. Last night the subject was introduced by a consideration of what was really meant by the phrase "practical religion." Its three leading factors were indicated in the sermon on the mount to be personal contact with Christ, discipleship or the personal study of Christ's teachings and the application of these to daily life. In dealing with the first factor the chief object of church-going was pointed out to be a practical acknowledgment of Jesus Christ as God, while we gave respect to lofty and distinguished men we were impelled to give reverence and worship to God if we really recognized Him as such. His worship was not everything, of course, but it was one constituent part of practical religion. In speaking of the application of the principles of religion to daily life Canon Davidson said that this came more easily when a man caught a glimpse of how deeply interesting these principles were and how great advantages their application brought to every one who had the enterprise to steadily investigate and use their religious opportunities. After all the greatest art in the world was what everybody needed to know and to practise the art of true living rightly ordering our own lives with the least possible friction and waste, and doing our duty to God and to man.

REPORT OF THE INSPECTOR OF ST. JOSEPH'S HOSPITAL

Dr. Bruce Smith Finds Conditions Most Satisfactory—Large Number of Patients Were Unable to Make Remuneration for Their Care and Treatment—Inspector Calls Attention to City's Duty in This Respect.

MANAGEMENT EXCELLENT

It will be gratifying to the patrons and friends of St. Joseph's Hospital to know that the official report of this institution forwarded by Dr. R. W. Bruce Smith to the Department of Hospitals and Charities is most satisfactory as the following extracts show:

Condition and adequacy of the wards, beds, bedding and furnishings.

All in perfect order, showing proper care and attention.

Condition and adequacy of operating room and its equipment.

Highly satisfactory.

Dietary.

The Dietary is very satisfactory. The food supplies are the best, and proper care and attention are taken to serve the dietary.

Special features observed at inspection.

The maternity is an excellent addition to the equipment of this hospital.

All parts of the hospital were inspected and found in satisfactory condition. The management is excellent.

The only ward of censure in the entire report has reference to the neglect on the part of the city to contribute towards the support of the indigent sick. Having called the attention of the provincial authorities to the fact that one hundred and thirty-one patients (of whom one hundred and thirteen are citizens of Peterborough) were treated in this hospital during the past year who were unable to make any remuneration, therefore, the inspector says: Attention must be drawn to the failure on the part of the City of Peterborough to pay for the poor requiring hospital care.

This is, fortunately, the only instance in Ontario where a city does not give a large annual grant for this purpose

ARE YOU A TRUE FRIEND AND COMPANION TO YOUR CHILDREN?

Children bring their joys as well as sorrows, and as they grow up their training is a source of great anxiety to parents. tI is the duty of the latter to make home the most agreeable and happiest place on earth, and unless they are tender and loving to the little ones they are not performing their proper duty and studying the interests of their offspring.

Sacrifices may be made in order to clothe, feed and educate the children, but if they do not reach their hearts by loving sympathy and understanding the little ones will not experience a true sense of happiness.

Naturally, children should be taught to be thankful and appreciate the blessings of this life, but parents who are continually reminding the children of what is being done for them are not likely to secure that confidence, sympathy and whole-hearted love which makes home so happy to the little folks.

Children are not long in detecting when the benefits which father and mother bestow upon them are the outcome of real love, or when their forebears are actuated solely by a feeling of duty and responsibility.

Under such circumstances a youngster often becomes afraid, in a certain sense, of its parents. How frequently we find a boy who, having got himself into some trouble, instead of going to his father for help or advice, will seek sympathy among strangers.

And the same with a girl. Instead of making her mother a confidant regarding her first love squabble, she will pour all her troubles into the ears of a companion with whom she may have been associated but a short time. But it is really surprising what peculiar notions and ideas some parents hold regarding the duty which they owe to their children. It is held by a vast number that if children are brought up, clothed, fed and educated, as far as their parents' means will permit, they have done all that is required.

The little ones are well dressed, are sent to a good school and to all appearance are quite contented with their lot.

But it is frequently found, after a glimpse of home life has been obtained, that the chiltlren are not really happy.

A remark was made not long since by a boy about fourteen years of age that he must make haste to grow old enough to go to work, so that he might repay what his father and mother had done for him. Now his mother was a woman who had made a point of impressing upon the minds of her children how thankful they ought to be for the comfort and blessings which they enjoyed, and the serious tone in which the sensitive little fellow made the remark showed how clearly he had taken to heart the lesson his mother had endeavoured to teach him.

But will it be surprising if, when this boy is old enough to think and act for himself, he should leave home earlier than he otherwise would, simply because it had been rendered distasteful to him by the selfish notions and attitude of his parents?

It is well known that at the present time he seldom talks in the presence of his father and mother of his school life and experiences and the games he takes an interest in. He confides his trials and troubles to friends and visitors, because, as he says, his parents are not interested in his doings. They have taught him to regard them as providers for his wants and needs —nothing more—and the consequence is that home-life has no attractions for him.

Quite different is a case in another household. A girl of a somewhat lively disposition and who will take her own part in the battle of life, had a desire to go "on her own." She wanted her own way in everything, and if she could not have it, showed at times some very disagreeable "airs." But the mother's and father's affection and kindly action eventually had their effect, and now she cannot do too much for them.

"The D. & L." Emulsion is taken with the greatest benefit by those suffering with lung troubles with tendency to hemorrhages. A few bottles taken regularly makes a wonderful improvement.

MANY MONEY ORDERS SENT TO JAPAN

Seattle, Wash., December 30.—Sirteen thousand money orders payable in Japan, worth in the aggregate $1,000,000, were sent from the Seattle post office during the Christmas holiday rush. The money came from the State of Washington, Idaho, Montana, and Minnesota, and the Territory of Alaska. The Seattle post office is the international exchange office for these states, all money order business of the other states of the union being conducted through the post office of San Francisco. Nearly every Japanese in the North West contributed to the amount sent to the Orient on the last connecting steamer.

Besides the large amount of money the Oriental mails were the heaviest for years. More than 900 pouches of first class mail were taken to the Far East on the last steamer. Many hundred pouches of second class and parcels were sent over, the whole making the largest foreign mail ever sent from the Seattle post office.

The report of Postmaster G. F. Russell, which will soon go to Washington, shows that there has been an increase in the Japanese money order business of more than 35 per cent. in the last six months. The Chinese do not send money to the Orient but hoard it away to carry on their person when they return to their fatherland.

Lifebuoy Soap is delightfully refreshing for bath or toilet. For washing underclothing it is unequalled. Cleanses and purifies.

START RIGHT !

Why not discard your ill-made, worn-out, old-fashioned Furs and have something new ? Get our prices—we'll make them interesting.

New Styles, New Ideas, in Ladies' Fur Neck Pieces, Stoles, Throws, and Collarettes, in Mink, Martin, French Sable, Persian Lamb, Lynx, Badger and Ermine.

We make it a comfort for you to buy here, by telling the precise truth about each piece of Fur and safeguarding your interests at every turn.

W. E. LECH Furrier, - with Tiger Marble Floor 366 George Street

ADAMS'

GREAT FORCED SACRIFICE SALE

Commences To-morrow at 9 o'clock

It will be a Sale EXTRAORDINARY of HIGH CLASS LADIES' READY-TO-WEAR GARMENTS, FANCY GOODS, etc.

See the Big Signs over the door and in the windows, and read the large handbills recording the Smash in Prices and other particulars.

Store closed all day to-day marking down the Goods and preparing for this Sensational Event.

HARRY ADAMS

GRAND OPERA HOUSE THURSDAY, January 6th

"RING OUT THE OLD, RING IN THE NEW"

JOYOUS NEW YEAR —THURSDAY, JANUARY 6th— COME AND BE HAPPY

THE CLIMAX OF HOLIDAY MERRIMENT! Charles Emerson Cook Theatrical Co. (Inc.) presents FIRST TIME HERE, the delightful comedy of London life

"THE PRINCE CHAP"

with a brilliant Company, including the FAMOUS PULLMAN CHILDREN (Helen and Beryl), in their original parts, as played triumphantly one year at the CRITERION THEATRE, LONDON, ENGLAND.

Prices 25c, 35c, 50c, 75c, and $1.00. Plan Opens Tuesday

Your BATHROOM Warmed in TEN MINUTES with a

Collier Electric Radiator

It does not burn the air. What a boon. A fine warm room and pure air. In the sick room it is invaluable. Used wherever you have an electric lamp. Ask us about it. Only $7.00.

COLLIER - CUNNINGHAM CO'Y. Limited

Phone 666. 77 Simcoe St.

Dusty Friday No More

Why You Should Use "Dustbane"

It saves labour in sweeping
It saves one-half your dusting
It saves your Carpets and Rugs
It saves damage by moths
It saves taking up Carpets
It saves your health.
It saves your money.

It Costs Nothing To Try

Dustbane

Peterborough Grocers are authorized by the manufacturer to send you a 35c can of Dustbane. They want you to use this on trial for one week. At the end of this period if not found satisfactory, there will be no charge made for quantity used.

If it does away with Dust on Sweeping Day, You Want It.

Sold in barrels, ½ barrels and ¼ barrels for Store, School and Office use, by

The Peterborough Hardware Co.

LATEST CITY NEWS.

Private School.

Miss D. J. Hall's private school, 334 Charlotte St., will re-open Wednesday, Jan. 5th, 1910. 3d-

Are You Going South This Winter?

Now is the time to plan your trip to California, Mexico, Florida, or the Sunny South. Consult nearest Grand Trunk Agent regarding low tourist rates.

Postponed.

—The regular meeting of Lansdowne Lodge, S. O. E., called for to-night, is postponed indefinitely. Further notice will be given later.

Wrong Price Given.

In the Saturday edition of the Examiner the wrong price was inadvertently given for white waists with embroidered sleeves, in the Beehive advertisement. The cost was quoted at $12 when $1.25 should have been the price given.

We Repair and Clean Clothing.

The gay winter season is here with its many social functions. Let us take your dresses and wraps, repair and clean them so they will look like new. We make a specialty of repairing winter overcoats. W. B. Rickey, "My Valet," 204 Charlotte St. Phone 575.

A Superior Gift.

—Exceptional quality of tone and brilliancy; nothing superior ,and few equals, constructed for durability, to last a life time and improve with use, The Celebrated Karn Pianos; 171 Simcoe street. Terms to suit purchasers; inspection invited. Reynor and Cunningham.

Dennistoun's Xmas.

—Tags, Xmas. Seals, Xmas. Gum Labels, large and varied assortment of the best designs; regular price 10c for 5c. Holly-covered empty boxes for sending away gifts at half price. The biggest and best Holly Box of Note Paper and Envelopes, regular 25c for 15c, at Stratton's Retiring Sale. Everything must be sold before Xmas. Shop in the morning.—A. H. Stratton & Co.

What We Manufacture.

—The Peterborough Showcase Co., situated at 709 Water street, manufactures all designs of counter cases, silent salesmen showcases, wall cases, store fittings, and all designs of high-grade cabinet work, such as china cabinets, kitchen cabinets, music cabinets, writing desks, book cases, medicine cases, etc. Furniture made to order and repaired. Dealers in British plate glass and mirrors.

BREAD DOWN!
Standard 3lb. Loaf 10c
22 Tickets for $1.00
LUSH & SONS,—Bread Bakers,
241 Dublin St.—phone 311

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Mr. Percy Wilson spent the holiday in Millbrook.

Mr. Frank Wood of Toronto, spent the holiday here.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Elliott spent the holiday in Toronto.

Mr. M. Moore, of Toronto, was home for the holiday.

Mr. B. T. Huston, of Toronto, was home over the holiday.

Miss May McCubbin, of Picton, is home for the holidays.

Mr. Herbert Faint, of Winnipeg, is on a visit to friends here.

Miss Kathleen Merrill of Toronto, was home for the holiday.

Mr. D. Patterson of Kingston, spent New Year's Day here.

Mr. Thos. Begley of the Lindsay Post, was in the city to-day.

Miss Martha Young of Toronto, is visiting her parents in East City.

Miss Irene Dunford spent the holiday visiting friends in Millbrook.

Mr. Hugh McWha of Hamilton, is visiting at his home in East City.

Miss Frances Scott of Barrie, is visiting Miss Florence Scott of East City.

Mr. V. Carol Hayes of the Bank of Ottawa, Kemptville, spent the holiday in the city.

Misses Annie Callagher and Lena Richardson, of Toronto, were home for the holiday.

Mr. Max Dobbin of the Mail and Empire reportorial staff, was here over New Year's Day.

Mr. George Adam of the Bank of Commerce, Guelph, is spending a few days in the city.

Mr. Harold Tanney, manager of R. Neill's shoe store, Galt, spent New Year's Day here.

Mr. Harold Johbitt of Sudbury, is spending a few days at his home, Charlotte street.

Mrs. Smith and children, of Beaverton, were guests of Mrs. Chas. Stevens, Cross St., over the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pakenham and family, East City, leave to-morrow for Toronto, where they will reside in future.

Miss Clara Adams, who has been spending the holidays at her home in East City, returned to her school at Hall's Bridge to-day.

Mr. J. J. Guiry and Mr. T. Cullen, of St. Michael's College, Toronto, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Crowley, 788 Water St.

Miss Harriet Reid, graduate nurse of Belleville General Hospital, who has been at Cobalt for the past three months, left on Saturday morning for Montreal.

Mr. R. McGill Hood, representative of Potter Bros., Toronto, left to-day on his semi-annual trip through the North West. He will be away about three months.

Mrs. Leslie Kennedy will receive with Mrs. (Dr.) Bradd, on Tuesday afternoon, at 548 Gilmour street. After that Mrs. Bradd will receive on the first and second Tuesdays of January.

WEDDING BELLS

EDWARDS—HOULT.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at All Saints church Wednesday afternoon, when Gertrude Mae, eldest daughter of Mr. J. W. Edwards, was united in marriage to Chauncey Edward Hoult, of Salmac, New York. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. R. H. Trumpour, M. A., in the presence of a large number of friends of the bride, at 2 o'clock to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, Hail to the Bride, played by Mr. R. J. Devey, organist of St. John's church. the bridal party entered the church, The bride who was given away by her father, looked charming in a gown of white silk, trimmed with Honiton lace and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and carnations. The bridesmaid, Miss Wheeler, was becomingly attired in a dress of blue silk and carried a shower bouquet of white carnations. The groom was ably supported by Mr. J. H. Haggerman, a friend of the groom. At the conclusion of the ceremony the bridal party and guests drove to the residence of the bride's father, 485 Sherbrooke St., where a very tempting luncheon was partaken of by those present, and the usual toasts and congratulations were bestowed upon the young couple.

The guests retired to the parlour to view the gifts, which were many and handsome, among which was a beautiful suit case from the bride's friends of the wire department of the C. G. E., a handsome sugar service from the Sunday School, of which she was a teacher, an inlaid berry spoon from the choir, of which she was an active member; also a pretty fruit set from her class of girls, and an inlaid fruit spoon from her cousin, S. J. Edwards, Sears, Michigan. The groom's gift to the bride was a very handsome silver, hand-carved manicure set of exquisite workmanship. Mr. and Mrs. Hoult left on the 4.38 C. P. R. for an extended tour, including Toronto, and points west, after which they will reside in New Orleans.

The bride's travelling suit was of blue-gray broadcloth, with white hat and ostrich feather.

HUTCHINSON—McCOIG.

A wedding that will prove of interest to many Peterborough people was that of Mr. Melvin J. Hutchinson, formerly city editor of the Examiner, whose home is in Bowmanville, and Miss Bessie Heath McCoig, only daughter of Mr. Neil McCoig of Walkerville, Ont. It took place on New Year's day at 10 o'clock a.m., at the residence of the bride's father, Rev. Peter Taylor officiating. Mr. Hutchinson, who isknown to a large number in this city, is the advertising and business manager of the Dry Good Review, one of the trade papers of the MacLean Publishing Co., Toronto, the staff of which presented him with a handsome clock and silver pudding dish as wedding gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson will reside in Toronto.

NAISH—FORD.

A very pretty wedding was celebrated at the Salvation Army Temple, Thursday night, when Miss Maud Naish, youngest daughter of Mr. H. Naish of this city was united in marriage to Mr. Will Ford, deputy bandmaster of the Salvation Army Band. The ceremony was performed by Staff Captain Walton. The bride was dressed in a blue costume with white sash and the bridegroom was in the complete uniform of a bandsman. The bride was given away by her father and was attended by Miss Lily Leeman. Mr. W. Northcotte assisted the groom. After the ceremony the bride's father gave a short but eloquent address in which he mentioned that his daughter was the fourth he had given to Salvation Army bandsmen, all of whom are members of the corps in the city. Mr. Ford is a capable musician and one of the best cornetists in the band of the local corps. After a short address by Staff Captain Walton, Mr. Ford led the band in a stirring selection and then the members of the family with a few intimate friends adjourned to the basement where a splendid supper was served by the Coleman Bros. Mr. and Mrs. Ford will reside on Murray St.

GRIMINSON—FOWLER.

A quiet wedding was celebrated at six o'clock on Saturday night at the residence of the bride's father, when Miss Heletia Fowler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fowler, 686 Concession St., was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. John F. Griminson, son of Mr. Thos. Griminson, Sherbrooke St. The ceremony was performed in the drawing room by Rev. H. C. Coon, of the Mark St. Methodist church, and was witnessed by about forty relatives and friends. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Effie Fowler, and Mr. Leonard Patterson was best man. Miss Gladys Preston, of Midland, played the wedding march as the bridal party entered the drawing room. The bride was given away by her father. Guests were present from Port Hope, Lindsay, Bobcaygeon, Midland and Omemee, and about forty sat down to a sumptuous supper for which Mr. T. H. Hooper was caterer. Many beautiful gifts were received by the bride, attesting to the esteem in which she is held by a large number of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Griminson will reside on Sherbrooke St.

HELD ANNUAL MEETING

From Farm and Dairy.

The Warsaw Women's Institute held its annual Winter meeting recently. There was a large attendance and several new members were added. The delegate, Miss Susie Campbell of Brampton gave a most instructive and interesting talk on the subjects, "The Accomplishments of a Young Lady," and the "Judicious Homemaker."

She spoke of how necessary it was that the mother and homemaker should be an accomplished needlewoman, cook and laundry woman and an expert in all the arts of housekeeping, in order to teach her daughter. These things, she considered, were the necessary achievements of every judicious and ideal homemaker. Music, she said, was elevating, restful and ennobling, but how could a young lady have a greater accomplishment than to be able to milk a cow, make her own clothes and launder them, or be able to cook a dinner so that it might be relished. She advised mothers to be patient with their girls in the kitchen, and if in their efforts to cook or bake they make a mistake or happen to forget and burn something, not to scold them and exhibit the evidence of the error, when other members of the family come in, but let them see you have confidence in them. There never was a person who did not make mistakes; by so doing work will not be a drudgery to them. Teach them to become what they should be, a princess in their kitchen as well as in the parlor.

Always have your table nicely set with flowers if possible, so as to please the eye. It matters not so much if the food be plain, if the table be orderly and tastefully arranged. The same with ourselves, if we are orderly and neat in our habits, our children will follow our example. Do not let your home be so circumspect that you are afraid to have a crumb put floor.

The mother who wishes to gain an influence over her boy will have time to listen when he comes to tell her his troubles. Give the boys the best bed room and not give it to the girls. Have it tidy and clean ,with a few fancy articles, a place where he may take a friend. When that boy leaves home, the memory of that home and room will go with him and give him a self respect that nothing else can.

With regard to schools, many of the diseases which are so prevalent among grown up people have been contracted by children in poorly ventilated and dirty school rooms, and by drinking out of the same cup. A cup perhaps that has not been washed for weeks. Let each child have his or her own cup. Some farmers have better accommodations for their cattle than there is in the room where their children are taught at school.

Some of the schools in rural districts are beginning to grow flowers and vegetables and are offering prizes for the best sample. This gives the children a practical idea of gardening. Education is very little use to anyone unless they make a practical use of it.

Let us take time to cultivate the mind by reading good books; time to attend Institute metings where we may exchange ideas with those who are more enlightened on some points in housekeeping than we are; where we may exchange recipes or learn new labor saving methods.

Miss Campbell considers the Women's Institute the best institution in the province for the instruction of women in the art of housekeeping. In fact there is no other college or school where they teach so much for so reasonable a fee. Members have free access to any books or pamphlets in the college at Guelph, simply by writing for them. It also banishes selfishness from our nature, for by coming prepared to give a new pattern or some new recipe we benefit others and receive benefit ourselves. Miss Campbell produced several articles of fancy work which she had brought with her for inspection and gave instructions on how to make them. She also demonstrated the art of darning on the sewing machine and gave recipes for potato pie, and pumpkin marmalade.

LOSE MOISTURE IN WINTER

From Farm and Dairy.

W. T. Macoun, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa

The fact that trees lose moisture in the winter has been proved by careful experiments. In an experiment conducted at the Central Experimental Farm by Mr. Frank T. Shutt, Chemist, in the winter of 1902-3 to determine the moisture-content of apple twigs, it was found that during the depth of winter there was a gradual loss of moisture. Experiments at Cornell University and other places confirm this. In the north-west, where the weather is very cold in winter and there are often no trees to check the force of the wind, trees lose so much moisture that it is a common occurrence for them to die simply from drying out. The same trees if protected by a good windbreak would in many cases not be injured. It has been written, although we are not sure that the figures are correct, that the same surface which would in calm weather exhale 100 parts of water would exhale 150 parts in a high wind. These proportions would probably be considerably less in the case of fruit trees protected by bark, but is shows the drying effect of wind.

Last winter was a very cold one in Eastern Ontario and the province of Quebec and there was considerable injury from body killing. This, for the most part, took the form of trunk killing, the upper part of the trunk unprotected by snow being apparently dried out. The result was that the bark and cambium all around the trunk was killed. At Ottawa quite a number of trees were lost in this way. The reason, in our own judgment, why the trunk was killed and the top uninjured was that the top had more moisture and was not dried out sufficiently to be killed. In past experience it has been noticed at Ottawa that sometimes the younger growth of apple trees will come through the winter uninjured, while the older parts of the branches will be killed.

Trees in sod orchards will sometimes die from "body killing" when those which are cultivated do not, the latter having more moisture. In a letter received from Mr. A. P. Stevenson, Nelson, Man., he writes:

"Outside of sunscald, our chief winter injury is killing back. This is serious when the following winter conditions prevail: Light snowfall, high winds and extremely low temperature continuing for some time. Some varieties are killed to the snow-line. Two years ago we had a winter like that, and another seven years previous to that. The trees were simply frozen dry."

Two means of prevention of body killing may be mentioned. One, to see that the trees have made vigorous growth the previous summer, not forgetting, however, to have the wood well ripened. The second is to plant windbreaks to check the force of the wind. In the North-west the trunks are sometimes protected by sacking or veneer. It is even suggested by those who live in the west to make a box around the trunk with about six inches space and fill it with soil.

Things Theatrical.

One of the novelties in "The Jolly Bachelors," the new Fields-Shubert review, is a scene showing the three decks of the Lusitania.

Ethelbert Hales, who last season played a variety of roles in support of Robert Mantell, has been added to the cast of "The Dollar Mark," now on tour.

Paul Dickey, leading man with Henrietta Crosman in "Sham," has written a play called "The Ghost Breaker," which has been accepted and will be produced by Henry B. Harris.

When it is necessary for Margaret Anglin to produce a new play it will be a comedy of modern life written by John Luther Long, with whom the actress signed a contract recently.

Recent Inventions.

A Wisconsin man has patented a stovepipe cutter, consisting of a curved frame to grip the pipe, fastened to which is a toothed knife to cut the metal.

To prevent the alteration of checks or other valuable papers an inventive genius has brought out an electric apparatus which burns tiny holes in the paper as the inscription is written.

A German inventor has brought out a new process for lacquering brass tubing by revolving it in a lathe and applying the lacquer while the tubing is heated electrically. Formerly the heating had to be done in ovens with a separate operation for every coat of lacquer.

The Royal Box.

King Edward is a very fair billiard player and occasionally indulges in an evening game.

King Leopold has spent no less than 6,000,000 francs—about $1,200,000—on a private railway from Laeken to his palace, a distance of about a mile.

Prince Regent Luitpold of Bavaria has just celebrated his eighty-eighth birthday and the seventieth anniversary of his appointment as lieutenant of artillery.

There is not the slightest loss of girlishness in Queen Alexandra's figure. She appears as youthful as a schoolgirl. Her step is light, her carriage erect, and her form is lithe and graceful.

The Cookbook.

For a change instead of using onion in your corned beef hash add a couple of green peppers that have been boiled five minutes and chopped fine.

Cold fish is not specially appetizing, but mixed with a cream sauce, molded in fish models and served hot with hollandaise sauce for luncheon it is delicious.

A favorite dish of one New York chef is potatoes O'Brien. It is nothing more than cold boiled potatoes fried with finely chopped red or green peppers mixed through them.

ROBT. FAIR & CO.
Clearance Sale

JANUARY CLEARANCE SALE

ROBT. FAIR & CO.
Clearance Sale

Our Annual January Sacrifice of Highest Class Merchandise COMMENCES TUESDAY, JANUARY 4th

FOR CERTAIN REASONS IT IS IMPERATIVE THAT WE REDUCE OUR STOCK BY FULLY

$15,000 During the Month of January

and such sweeping and genuine Price Reductions have never before been made on New and Seasonable Goods such as these, in the city of Peterborough. Don't smile at this broad statement, come to our store yourself and be convinced that all previous sales of every character are totally eclipsed by this.

Ladies' and Children's Underwear

Many lines of Warm Winter Underwear of the very best makes, will be cleared during January at smaller prices than you have ever thought possible.

Blankets and Comforters

Every article new, fresh and clean. No old, soiled or shop worn goods. Marked at such popular prices that they will soon be cleared.

Gloves and Hosiery

Winter weights, articles you cannot get along without. Every odd line has been laid aside for the sacrifice and marked away down.

Ladies' Ready-to-wear Coats, Misses' and Children's Coats, Ladies' Tailored Suits

Every one in the department will be offered at such ridiculously low prices that you will hardly believe your eyes, but the reductions are genuine. COME AND SEE.

Ladies' Blouses

of Silk, Net, Lace and Lawn, White, Black and colours, reduced to prices which will move them quickly and effectively.

Ladies' Dress Skirts

Over one hundred of them, Black and all colours, the best Ready-made Goods to be had. Will be sacrificed at less that cost.

Dress Materials

Values that will outclass the wonderful offerings we gave you last November. 3 lots will be selected and marked at a small fraction of former values.

Dress Nets and All-over Laces

in White, Cream, Black and Colours. The richest and handsomest quality and patterns shown this season. See the Immense Reductions on these.

Dress and Blouse Silks

Plain and fancy. Many of the best and newest lines go on the bargain table below cost.

ALL CARPETS SEWED AND LAID FREE OF CHARGE DURING THIS JANUARY SALE

Linens of All Kinds

Are reduced in price to the lowest notch. You know our reputation for value giving in this Department. This year our offerings of Table Linens, Table Napkins, Cloths, Linen Crash, Glass Linens, Fancy Art Linens, etc., will exceed any previous one.

Wash Goods and Prints

Buy now at prices away below what you will have to pay in the Spring. Cotton Goods are going up by leaps and bounds, which makes the reductions on these doubly attractive.

MILLINERY DEPARTMENT

Everything has to go here regardless of what it has cost us. Trimmed Hats, Hat Shapes, Flowers, Foliage, Wings, Feathers, etc., will cost you next to nothing during this great Sale.

Golf Jackets and Eton Coats

Half Price is all we ask for many lines of Golf Coats and Eton Jackets. Heavy All Wool makes, in White, Grey, Cardinal, Black and Navy.

Laces and Embroideries

Wonderful Values at surprisingly low prices will be offered you in snowy white Embroideries and dainty and handsome Laces.

Oilcloths and Linoleums

We stock only the best makes. Therfore a price-reduction here is a double attraction, low price and superior quality combined.

Curtains and Curtain Materials

At the extremely low prices we have marked these you can afford to buy now and lay them aside till house-cleaning time. The assortment is varied and patterns new and up-to-date.

ROBT. FAIR & CO., Limited, 383 George St.

12 Pages
Pages 1 to 6

The Evening Examiner.

PICTURE FRAMING—Bring us your Xmas Pictures to be framed at once, while they look fresh and new and keep them so. Expert Picture Framers, Gilders and Finishers.
Pillsworths' Picture & Art Store, 430 George Street

VOL. XLVIII No. 2 | 12 PAGES | PETERBOROUGH TUESDAY JANUARY 4 1910 | PAGES 1 TO 6 | PRICE TWO CENTS

A RETURN GIFT

¶ On New Years Day will be appreciated by those you forget to remember during the rush of Christmas. If the gift you want is for a man, there is no other such stock—no such variety—no satisfying assortment of suitable things, such as Neckwear, Shirts, Underwear, Gloves, Hosiery, Braces, Handkerchiefs, to be found elsewhere in Peterborough.

H. LeBRUN & CO.

GOLDFISH COMING

So many globes of Goldfish were bought for Christmas presents that we were sold almost completely out of all our supplies. We now have a new lot of our favourite kind of Water Plant, and two crates and a barrel of Globes, Stands, Castles, Grottos, Swans, and Goldfish Foods will be imported this week. A very large shipment of the finest little Goldfish is on its way and we invite all who would like to see these, to call as soon as they arrive and get first choice. We send globes of Goldfish to any address in the City, or by express to any town. We also pack them for carrying in cutters or on the train.

The Peterborough Optical Institute
IN THE MARKET BUILDING : : : GEORGE STREET

DON'T BE SELFISH

Save your wife and daughters some of the Ironing Day Drudgery, and let them start the new year with a Collier Electric Smoothing Iron. Your linen will be better laundried, at less expense for fuel and labour.

COLLIER-CUNNINGHAM COMPANY, LIMITED
Phone 666. 77 Simcoe Street.

WE TAKE THIS OPPORTUNITY to thank our numerous patrons, and trust that our endeavours to serve you well have met with approval, and will merit a continuance of your patronage.

Wishing you a prosperous New Year,

Respectfully yours,

E. F. MASON & CO., Grocers.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE THURSDAY, January 6th
"RING OUT THE OLD, RING IN THE NEW"
JOYOUS NEW YEAR—THURSDAY, JANUARY 6th—COME AND BE HAPPY
THE CLIMAX OF HOLIDAY MERRIMENT! Charles Emerson Cook Theatrical Co. (Inc.) presents FIRST TIME HERE, the delightful comedy of London life

"THE PRINCE CHAP"

with a brilliant Company, including the FAMOUS FULLMAN CHILDREN (Helen and Beryl), in their original parts, as played triumphantly one year at the CRITERION THEATRE, LONDON, ENGLAND.
Prices 25c, 35c, 50c, 75c, and $1.00. Plan Opens Tuesday

GRAND OPERA HOUSE MATINEE & EVENING. SATURDAY, JAN. 8
Stetson's Big Spectacular Production

"UNCLE TOM'S CABIN"

2 Brass Bands, White and coloured 2—2 Funny "Topsies" 2—2 Eccentric "Marks" 2. Grand Transformation Scenes and Mechanical Effects. Jubilee Singers, Blood Hounds, Mules and Tableaux drawn by small Shetland Ponies. Watch for the Street Parade, the "Barnum of them all."
Prices: Evening 15-25-35-50c. Matinee, Children 15c, Adults 25c

HOW MUCH
LIFE INSURANCE SHOULD I CARRY?

Work out the following and see:
1. Annual Family Expense? $
2. My own share of Expense?
3. Balance of Family Expense?
4. Amount which at 5 per cent. would yield this balance?
5. Deduct present value of my estate, including life insurance?
6. Balance or amount of insurance still needed to protect family properly?

THOMAS MARK, General Agent, THE MANUFACTURERS LIFE Insurance Company.
Bank of Commerce Building, Peterboro'

Who Is Your SHOE MAN For 1910?

We can answer for the majority, and the minority we would advise.

R. McWHINNIE
BOTH PHONES. 384 GEORGE ST

ADVERTISE in The Examiner.

ROYAL

If you want to enjoy an hour's pleasant and innocent amusement seeing good pictures and good vaudeville come to the Royal.

Special Vaudeville for TO-DAY

Gourley & Keenan
in their famous Comedy Act entitled "Kidding the Kid", assisted by their Dog "Bunk", introducing Singing, Dancing, Acrobatic Work and Recitations. Their's is an Extra Special Act, and will be put on only once in the afternoons and 3 times at night.

3--Motion Pictures--3

"The Man and the Dolls"
This is one of Pathe's most beautifully coloured films. It shows a poet who becomes infatuated with Dolls, and neglects his, and how she becomes a Doll to win him back.

She Took Mother's Advice
A very funny Comedy, showing how the young wife took Mother's advice in praising everything her husband did for her, and what the consequences were for doing so.

Two Christmastides
One of Vitagraph's very latest and best Dramas, gotten out for this Happy Season. It is filled with pathetic love for both young and old alike.

— NEW ILLUSTRATED SONG —

5c—ADMISSION—5c

Fashion-Craft
SHOP : 140 HUNTER ST.

To clean up several prs of lined Mocha Gloves we are offering them at 75c Regular $1.25 pair

Also several suits of Underwear at per suit - - 75c Regular $1.00 suit

And a number of suits of Underwear at per suit $1.10 Regular $1.50 suit

NO BOOSTED PRICES BUT ACTUAL FACT PRICES

Fashion-Craft
SHOP : 140 HUNTER ST.

D. L. & W. SCRANTON COAL
THE FUEL WITHOUT A FAULT

First-Class Hardwood Cut and Split to order

R. Hicks & Co.
Office and Yards—248 Murray Street
'Phones Nos. 47 and 48.

Cash Paid for Second-Hand Furniture
Bargains in good Second-Hand Stoves, Heaters and Cookstoves, and other household goods at
BARRETT'S
303 George Street South of Charlotte

Family Re-unions At Christmas

Don't neglect the opportunity to have a group taken. It may not come again.

The Roy Studio
140½ Hunter Street
MAKERS OF THE FAMOUS SOUVENIR POST CARDS

ARE NEARING THE END NOW

Bitter Fight Is Expected In Hamar Greenwood's Constituency — Thousand Meetings a Day Are Now Being Held Throughout the United Kingdom, and Free Lances Are Making Daring Statements.

London, Jan. 4.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The election battle is entering on its final and fiercest stage. Over a thousand political meetings daily will be held in Britain during this week. Millions of election addresses will be issued. Nobody can compute the number of leaflets that will be distributed or the area of wall space that will be covered by posters.

All the party leaders will be actively engaged. Mr. Balfour speaks at Hanley to-day, and Mr. Asquith last night in Mr. Haldane's division. Lloyd-George is making a round of the metropolis, with a flying visit to Plymouth. Winston Churchill is visiting Dundee.

Many meetings to be addressed this week by peers and candidates for the Commons have been arranged by the Conservative central office. To-day (twenty-four, and Thursday twenty-five, will speak.

The editor of The Cork Accent, a new daily, stating the mission of the journal, says: "It is only the knave who will make, or who will believe, the assertion that home rule is to be passed when the Lords' veto was abolished."

The election at York promises to be a keen contest. The result is difficult to predict. There are five hundred military voters, the 17th Lancers being stationed there. The Unionists hope for their support.

Winston Churchill, writing of Hamar Greenwood, says: "As a Canadian, well known and well liked throughout Canada, he has a special responsibility at this juncture."

The statements of free lances on each side are growing more reckless. In reading Radical papers to-day, one would really imagine that the Germans, in their dire poverty, have no other food than horseflesh, dog sausages and bitter black bread, to which smart Unionists speakers reply: "Germans who eat horseflesh and rye bread do so because they prefer it. The German people generally do not live on either. They live on the deluded British workman."

Three Hundred Dead.

Berlin, Jan. 4.—A story of maltreatment, terrible suffering and deaths among a party of 600 Germans who left Hamburg last July to assist in the construction of the Madeira & Mamre Railroad in Brazil is told in the Socialistic newspaper Vorwaerts. Ninety-nine of the workmen returned to Europe late in December aboard the steamers Rio Negro and Rhaetia. Most of them are said to be suffering greatly from tropical diseases. The survivors assert that more than 300 of their former comrades are dead, while the rest are in hospitals at Manaos.

One of the party which succeeded in getting back to Germany declares that conditions in Brazil were entirely different from what had been described to them before they signed the contracts. All of them were stricken from time to time with fevers. Others state that the contractors broke all the terms of the engagement.

Took Voters by Special Car.

Winnipeg, Jan. 4.—E. L. Drewry, a well-known local brewer, took down a special carload of Winnipeg voters to cast their votes against local option at Kenora yesterday. About 40 were aboard.

Result Of Local Option Fights Throughout Ontario

Toronto, Jan. 4.—Local option made serious inroads on the liquor traffic throughout Ontario yesterday, as the accompanying schedule will show. At the same time the handicap of the required 60 per cent. majority to carry the bylaw was responsible for a number of places continuing "wet."

"The result of the local option campaign has been terribly disappointing," said Ben. H. Spence, secretary of the Dominion Alliance, yesterday evening, when speaking regarding the result of the contest.

Brantford, Peterboro, Cobourg and Port Hope defeated bylaws, while Galt and Strathroy are among the large places that have carried it. Kenora declared overwhelmingly in favor of licenses.

A large number of returns are still to come in, the storm of last night preventing many returns from being received.

Temperance sentiment showed headway in other directions yesterday.

St. Catharines carried a license reduction bylaw. Hastings council adds three temperance sympathizers, and may lead to a license reduction vote.

At Brockville the ratepayers adopted the bylaw to reduce the number of tavern licenses from nine to six by 340 majority, and also carried the bylaw to increase the tavern fees by $50.

At Brantford the vote was: For 709, against 1,900.

Three years ago the local option bylaw in Monó township was quashed by the courts, but yesterday it was carried again by a good majority. With the carrying of local option in Shelburne, Mono and Orangeville the whole county of Dufferin will be dry with the exception of the village of Grand Valley, twelve miles west of Orangeville, where it was repealed a few years ago.

Local option was carried in the township of Caledon, Peel County, by a majority of six over the three-fifths, and in Albion by a majority of 17.

In the seven municipalities of the county of Peel five have adopted local option charters.

Alliston carries the bylaw by a majority of 3. Three years ago, on an even vote, it was defeated by 35.

Collingwood defeated it by 34 over the 60 per cent.

The bylaw was defeated at Peterboro on a close vote. The vote for the bylaw was 2,013 and against it 1,494. It lacked 91 votes of the required three-fifths majority.

At Port Hope the bylaw was defeated by 28 on an even vote.

After one of the most memorable campaigns ever conducted in this city, political or municipal, local option failed to carry in Brantford yesterday by 56 votes. A popular majority of 810 was given the measure, but the required three-fifths vote was not secured. The vote was the heaviest ever polled in Brantford.

Cities and Towns.

For: Alliston, Almonte, Brampton, Collingwood, Galt, Leamington, Newmarket, Orangeville, Orillia, Renfrew, Stayner, Strathroy.

Against: Aurora, Brantford, Carleton Place, Clinton, Cobourg, Cornwall, Dundas, Essex, Hespeler, Keewatin, Kenora, Leamington, Peterboro, Lindsay, Meaford, Pembroke, Parkhill, Picton, Port Hope, Sault Ste. Marie, St. Mary's, Wingham.

Villages.

Against: Ayr, Bradford, Blyth, Brussels, Darlington, Chatsworth, Delhi, Dutton, Elora, Exeter, Fenelon Falls, Fergus, Georgetown, Grimsby, Holland Landing, Pt. Carling, Bayfield, Kemptville, Kingsville, Markdale, Port Perry, Tiverton, Vienna.

For: Bobcaygeon, Bruce Mines, Bath, Shelburne, Teeswater, Oil Springs, Tottenham, Acton, Ailsa Craig, Beeton, Chesley, Cobden, Dundalk.

Townships.

For: Dorchester N., Gwillimbury E., Lobo, Colchester, Caledon, Albion, Mono, Wainfleet Tp., Holland Tp., Sullivan Tp., Dorchester, Westminster, Adelaide, Brantford Tp., Burford Tp., Oakland Tp.

Against: Cornwall Tp., Walden, Dumphries S., Hibbert, Turnberry Tp., Bayham, London Tp., Deleware Tp.

Repealed: Hensall, 16 maj.

Sustained: Underwood, Ningara Tp., Onondaga Tp.

THE BY-LAWS A FEATURE

Several Municipal Elections Throughout the Province Lack Fire So Far as Candidates for Office Are Concerned, But Get Excited Over Plebiscites Regarding Local Questions Yesterday.

Toronto, Jan. 4.—Voting on sundry bylaws for municipal improvements was a feature of yesterday's municipal elections throughout the province.

The Government's hydro-electric power policy was concerned in three places. Brampton carried bylaws to enter into an agreement for hydro-electric power, but at Ingersoll the $30,000 bylaw for the establishment of an independent plant for the distribution of Niagara power was defeated. The vote was For 274, against 297.

At Dundas the hydro-power bylaw was carried by 310 majority, and a public library bylaw carried by 179 majority.

At Belleville a bylaw to grant the Trenton Electric & Water Power Co. a five-year franchise was carried by 186, and a bylaw to provide a board of commissioners for the perpetual maintenance of the Corby Public Library carried by 284.

St. Catharines refused to vote $15,000 toward a new hospital.

Fergus and Teeswater will have public libraries.

Kingston carried bylaws to purchase a fire engine and extend streets.

At Ottawa, four bylaws carried. One is to create a publicity department; another to provide a garbage incinerator; a third to improve the city hall, and a fourth to give the Metropolitan Power Co. the right to sell power in the city. This is the old company whose franchise is being renewed for sale of power only.

At Owen Sound the public library bylaw to build a new library, a bylaw to build a new wing to the general hospital and the bylaw to put the parks under commissioners, were carried, while the bylaw to spend $700 on the old town hall was defeated.

Hamilton.

Hamilton, Jan. 4.—The results of the municipal elections yesterday place two hydro men out of four on the board of control, and eight straight hydro aldermen out of 21. Politically the council is divided into 16 Conservatives and 11 Liberals. Had it not been for the license reduction agitation and the great number of hydro candidates, amongst whom the vote was split up, the hydro would have made a clean sweep. This is the order in which the board of control candidates ran: Bailey 4,238, Cooper 4,148, Gardner 3,966, Allan 3,634.

The following is the result of the aldermanic contests:

Ward 1—Ald. Milne 843, Ald. Morris 656, W. J. Briggs 586.

Ward 2—Ald. Crerar 753, Ald. Farmer 595, ex-Ald. Wallace 516.

Ward 3—Ald. Forth 842, E. Morwick 772, Charles Duff 774.

Ward 4—Ald. Clark 875, Ald. Ellis 862, H. Evans 732.

Ward 5—Ex-Ald. Burrell 747, George Hill 706, Baldwin 608.

Ward 6—Ald. Ryan 808, Howard 723, Kingdon 702.

Ward 7—Ald. Robson 1,491, Anderson 1,434, Plunkett 1,093.

Kingston.

Kingston, Jan. 4.—As Mayor Daniel Cooper was re-elected by acclamation, and there being contests in only five wards, the other two being by acclamation, the election passed off very quietly. In Sydenham ward, Ald. Dr. Hanley defeated Dr. Richardson; Ontario ward, T. W. Harrison defeated W. J. Fairs; St. Lawrence ward, Ald. D. A. Givens defeated Oliver Chown; Rideau ward, R. G. Armstrong defeated George Smith; Victoria ward, S. P. Bailey defeated J. W. Litton. The Social and Reform League, recently organized, had three candidates, Chown, Litton and Armstrong, and Armstrong was elected. The league is fighting for a reduction of licenses, but last year's council turned down the request for a referendum. Aldermen elected by acclamation are Ald. F. J. Hoag, Frontenac ward, and Dr. McCarthy, Cataraqui ward.

St. Catharines.

St. Catharines, Jan. 4.—Five new faces will be seen in next year's city council, namely J. D. Chaplin, St. Andrew's ward; W. A. Sherwood, St. George's; Robert Black, George E. Jones and James A. Wiley, St. Patricks. Aldermen James Maitland McBride and James T. Petrie retired to contest the mayoralty, the former being elected by 94 votes. Others elected are: Water commissioners, C. C. McOhie, H. K. Woodruff, Jas. Prior, George Peterson, C. B. Hare, E. Gardiner; public school trustees—St. Andrew's ward, Freeman Moyer; St. George's, George Gordon; St. Patrick's, A. H. Trapnell.

Alderman, J. N. Chaplin, W. H. Merritt, T. Nihan, Dr. Jory, E. Davis, W. A. Sherwood, R. J. Black, G. Jones, W. Jones, J. A. Wiley.

Woodstock.

Woodstock, Jan. 4.—There was a contest between Ald. Clifford Kemp and ex-Mayor James S. Scarff for the mayoralty, without a local issue, and Scarff was elected by 54. The following were elected aldermen: John G. McBeith 846, Dr. Walford 803, Dr. Reville 718, W. D. Hodson 708, T. Broome 838, C. E. Rapson 572, M. Davies 585, S. M. Dunlop 554.

Chatham.

Chatham, Jan. 4.—Mayor, Charles Austin; aldermen, William Anderson, F. E. Baxter, W. H. Carswell, A. J. Dunn, J. McCorvie, T. L. McKitchie, M. D. Potter, James Pritchard, R. J. Winter. Water commissioner, W. H. Westman.

Brockville.

Brockville, Jan. 4.—A citizens ticket had opposition for mayor and councillors in every ward and the result was almost a complete sweep of the Independents, who captured only the west ward. Ald. A. M. Patterson defeated W. H. Mowat for mayor by 84 majority. Councillors elected are: C. E. Johnston, C. C. McClean, G. G. Grothier, W. H. Osborne, J. A. MacKenzie, A. T. Wilgress, Dr. Gowan, W. C. MacLaren.

St. Thomas.

St. Thomas, Jan. 4.—Mayor, Fred Guest, M.D.; aldermen, R. N. Price, M. B. Johnson, John R. Martin, Wm Trott, E. C. Sanders, J. Meehan, R. McCully, F. Brinkman, S. Chant, W. Sanderson, W. McDonald.

Berlin.

Berlin, Ont., Jan. 4.—Only a third of the vote was polled, owing to the mayoralty and three reeveships going by acclamation. The aldermanic contest resulted in those being elected: F. G. Gardiner, E. W. Clement, W. D. Euler, W. V. Uttley, J. H. Schnarr, W. R. Wilkinson, G. Rohleder, Jos. Winterhalt, F. Bornhold. Sewer commission, E. Kraft and M. Dunham.

A plebiscite on whether Berlin's street railway system should be managed by commission or a committee of the council resulted in an overwhelming majority, in favor of the former.

Stratford.

Stratford, Jan. 4.—Mayor, W. S. Dingman, acclamation; aldermen, C. N. Greenwood, J. H. Roberts, Ben Williams, R. S. Frame, F. J. Corrie, James Trow, John Stevens, Charles Carter, A. Knechtel, John Keyes.

Guelph.

Guelph, Jan. 4.—Elections at Guelph yesterday are as follows: Mayor, Geo. Hastings, acclamation; chairman light and heat, S. Carter, acclamation; water commissioner, R. L. Torrance, acclamation. All the school trustees were elected by acclamation. For aldermen: D. E. Reid, G. J. Thorp, J. E. Carter, H. Mallows, W. E. Taylor, P. J. Pequegnat, C. W. Kelly, R. McMillan, S. Rundle, M. Creever, S. Penfold.

Belleville.

Belleville, Jan. 4.—The only contest for aldermen and school trustees was in Murney ward, John Canning, A. G. Vermilyea, William Woodly and Joshua Lang for aldermen, three to be elected, and Lang was defeated. For school trustee, J. L. Tickell beat A. L. Green by 38 votes.

Windsor.

Windsor, Jan. 4.—J. W. Hanna, lawyer, was elected by about 200 majority. Banwell headed the polls for aldermanic honors. The aldermen are: J. W. Banwell, D. H. Bedford, N. J. Clinton, A. H. Dalziel, T. J. Elsor, F. L. Howell, P. M. Keogh, H. J. McKay, J. H. Sheppard, H. Trumble, J. J. Jones, Thomas Porter, John Martin. Water commissioner, J. F. Smyth.

Ottawa.

Ottawa, Jan. 4.—A feature of the municipal elections here yesterday was the disqualification of hundreds of politicians and civil servants who have refused to pay their income taxes pending the completion of the arrangement between the Government and the city whereby civil servants will be mamma[illegible] payment

Continued on Page 6.

A CARD OF APPRECIATIO 1910

Our business for 1909 so far exceeded in volume of business any former year in our history that we cannot but believe that our

"Putting Our Customers Ahead of Ourselves Policy"

has been the means to the end, but even with that square deal policy we have an appreciative host of customers to heartily thank for our great increase in business in 1909.

You will find that a safe policy to trade under whenever you require anything from the Drug Store, and only under that policy is your patronage solicited for 1910.

McDermid & Jury
The Safe, Satisfactory Druggists

A. FOWLER, Phm. B.
Eye Specialist
Ref. [illegible] Opt. D. Chicago with Nugent Bros. Co.

Daily Examiner.

Examiner Agencies

NORTH WARD
M. P. Brand, 724 George, cor. Smith st.
D. Sullivan, 539 George, cor. Edin. st.
Mr. Young, cor. McDonnel and George.
L. E. J. Lockhart, 520 Water st.
J. M. Donovan, cor. Aylmer & McDonel

WEST WARD
Nelson Huntley, cor. Brock & Park.
H. Bradshaw, cor. Downie and Charlotte.
John James, cor. Reid & McDonel

CENTRE
Gainey Bros., 421 George.
R. J. Sedea, 561 George.
F. O. Cubitt, 370 George.
C. J. Murphy, 196 Charlotte.
A. M. Stratton, 417 George.

SOUTH
Mrs. Dunsford, cor. Sherbrooke & Rob
E. O. Braund, cor. Albert & Park.
M. H. Halpin, cor. Perry & George.
B. McGill, corner Lake and Aylmer.

EAST
Mrs. M. Guerin, cor. Roger & Hazlett.
Martin Kylie, Rogers street.
David Flynn, 556 Concession, cor Carlisle.
T. B. Manlove, corner Mark and Hunter streets.

UNION LABEL

TUESDAY, JANUARY 4, 1910

Railway Time Table

GRAND TRUNK

	Arrive.	Depart.
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst, North Bay, Stouffville and Toronto	11.40 a.m.	6.35 a.m.
	9.00 p.m.	6.35 p.m.
Port Hope and points east to Montreal and Boston	9.25 a.m.	11.40 a.m.
	6.30 p.m.	9.00 p.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and West, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Cobourg, Montreal & East.	8.25 a.m.	11.40 a.m.
	6.30 p.m.	9.00 p.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge and Markham.	11.40 a.m.	7.10 a.m.
	9.00 p.m.
	10.15 p.m.	6.35 p.m.
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	9.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and East.	8.15 a.m.	8.30 a.m.
	6.55 p.m.	1.40 p.m.
	9.50 a.m.	6.35 a.m.
Lakefield.	6.15 p.m.	12.30 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Going East	Leave Peterboro'
For Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal, Kingston.	11.23 a.m.
For Indian River, Norwood, Havelock Tweed.	7.51 p.m.
For Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal.	12.31 a.m.
Going West	Leave Peterboro'
For Toronto, Galt, London, Detroit, Chicago.	5.26 a.m.
For Burketon, Bobcaygeon, Myrtle, Toronto.	7.55 a.m.
For Toronto, Detroit, Chicago, Winnipeg and Northwest Points.	4.38 p.m.

'09 CANADIAN PACIFIC '10

NEW YEAR'S RATES

SINGLE FARE — Good going Dec. 31st and Jan. 1st. Returning Monday, January 3rd

FARE AND ONE - THIRD — Good going Dec. 28th, 29th, 30th, Dec. 31st, Jan. 1st. Return limit Jan. 5th

Secure tickets and all information at city office. With best wishes for a happy and prosperous New Year.

W. McILROY, City Pass. Agent

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Rich Strikes of Gold and Silver

Are continually being made in Porcupine and Gowganda Districts. The route to Porcupine is via Grand Trunk and T. & N. O. Railway to Matheson, thence via Sleigh Road. The route to Gowganda is via Grand Trunk, T. & N. O. Railway and Temiskaming & Gowganda Transport Co. Through tickets issued & baggage checked through to latter point.

California, Mexico and Florida

ROUND TRIP Tourist Tickets on Sale

Secure tickets & further information from

F. SANDY, Depot Agent — W. BUNTON, City Agent

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS

ANY PERSON who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at any Agency, on certain conditions by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

DUTIES.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

N.B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of Interior.

THE QUEST OF THE RED SLIPPER.

Dickey Secured the Prize and Got His Reward.

By CLARISSA MACKIE.

[Copyright 1909, by American Press Association.]

An hour after dinner on that first Saturday evening Dicky Ames left his comfortable chair in the smoking room and made his way to the great entrance hall, where the younger guests were gathered about a roaring driftwood fire.

He leaned against the high chimney-piece and from his shadowy corner watched the light and sparkle of Kitty Austin's lovely dark face. Once her soft eyes met his wistful glance, and she threw him a smile that set his heart to beating heavily.

"Kitty says she shall not dance until her slipper has been found," laughed Edith Bolter, with a mischievous glance at Dicky.

He leaned forward and glanced down at the hearth, where a little red slipper rested lightly on the fender. The other foot was hidden amid the soft fluffiness of Kitty's red skirts.

"Where did you lose it?" asked Dicky eagerly.

Kitty blushed, and a distressed look came into her beautiful eyes. Dicky remembered that he had met a similar glance across the dinner table earlier in the evening.

"Miss Austin won't tell," drawled Chambers lazily, "but it is a fact that she has not stirred from her chimney corner since dinner."

A laugh went around the circle, but Dicky winced at the air of quiet possession which Mark Chambers had assumed toward Kitty. He drew a long breath and turned away.

"I will find the slipper," he said, coloring boyishly.

"And Kitty shall give you the first dance," bantered Edith.

Dicky paused. "I will be honored," he said stiffly. "But the service is its own reward."

The men stirred uneasily, and Chambers half rose from his seat

DICKY AMES SAT UPON THE PROSTRATE BODY OF A MAN.

only to sink down beside Kitty on the settle.

"I prefer this seat to deeds of venture," he said carelessly, with a smile at Kitty.

But Miss Austin was looking around at the circle of blase faces. She lifted her eyes and dashed a strange glance into the only face which reflected her own fresh, unspoiled youth.

And Dicky, with that look engraved upon his clean heart, made his way toward the dining room with a dizzy look in his blue eyes and an amazing wonder knitting his forehead.

It could not be possible that lovely little Kitty Austin, whom he had loved so hopelessly, would look at a struggling young lawyer, one so painfully young and diffident and so obviously struggling, but—

He pushed the dining room door softly open and found himself in total darkness. It was characteristic of Dicky's romantic and chivalrous nature that he would not profane this quest with the sputtering flare of a prosaic match or the white light of the electroliers.

He took a few steps forward and touched the polished edge of the table. Then he dropped to his knees on the soft rug and crawled under the big piece of furniture.

His fingers groped over the floor and suddenly closed upon a bit of soft kid, which as suddenly wriggled out of his grasp. The next instant a pair of long arms were twined about him, and he was writhing in silent combat with an unseen foe.

Over and over they rolled, the strange man panting heavily and muttering angry imprecations under his breath as Dicky strove with him for the possession of the red slipper.

It was snatched from Dicky's grasp, and the high heel came in sharp contact with his temple, and he felt the blood trickling down into his eyes. There was a jeweled buckle that tore his fingers as he fought for the prize.

The man laughed exultingly at Dicky's involuntary exclamation of pain, and then they clutched one another savagely, and Dicky Ames got the upper hold.

A heavy chair toppled over with a crash on the parquet floor, and almost instantly a door opened, and Saunders, the butler, snapped on the lights.

His shout of surprise brought a chorus of shrieking maid servants, while through the opposite door the guests streamed into the room.

In the midst of wild disorder Dicky Ames sat upon the prostrate body of a man, a being with sullen eyes and heavy jowl, who glared at them savagely. Near him on the rug lay a gleaming revolver and a black mask and a burglar's jimmy.

Dicky Ames, with blood stained face and one eye rapidly discoloring, with torn clothing, the white expanse of shirt front stained an ominous crimson, minus collar and tie—Dicky Ames gory, slightly bewildered, but smiling, was holding the twitching hands of his captive in a strong grip, while in his other hand dangled a tattered red slipper!

"Has' wicked a-lookin' specimens has Hi care to know, sir," wheezed Saunders as he carefully disposed his bulk upon the unfortunate burglar. "Hif one of you gentlemen will kindly telephone to the police Hi will relieve Mr. Hames."

Dicky got stiffly upon his feet and looked dazedly about him. Chambers was eying him with jealous distrust.

"Where did you find him, Ames?" he sneered.

"Under the table," returned Dicky shortly.

"In the dark?"

Dicky nodded and peered about for a sight of Kitty.

"She is sitting by the fire alone," whispered Edith Bolter, with a friendly little push.

Silently they opened ranks to let the victor through, and more than one man stared enviously after him.

Some one had sped the news to Kitty, and she was sitting on the settle with bright, tearful eyes and very pink cheeks when Dicky came marching down the long hall, the red slipper swinging from one bleeding hand. He dropped on his knees before her.

Kitty thrust out a timid silk stockinged foot, and Dicky tenderly fitted the little torn slipper to its place. She touched his broad shoulder with her fan.

"Rise, Sir Knight of the Slipper!" she said, with a tremulous little laugh.

Dicky sat beside her on the high backed settle, in her tender, compassionate eyes a bleeding and scarred veteran. Soft strains of a waltz came from the drawing room.

"Kitty," said the struggling young lawyer, with strange diffidence, "I suppose you couldn't—or you couldn't care enough about me to—" His voice failed, and he looked down at the soft mist of dark hair beside him.

And, lo, the dark hair touched his shoulder for a fleeting instant as Kitty whispered softly:

"Indeed, indeed, I could!"

Women's nerves are often ruined by sewing.

The strain of working the machine is bad. The strain on the eyes is often worse.

Once the nervous system is run down, nothing short of patient and persistent treatment will bring back health and vigor.

Rest if you can—get out into the fresh air and sunshine—build up the nervous system by using

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food

The sleeplessness, headaches, tired feelings and irritability soon disappear when Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food is used. Nervous prostration and paralysis are prevented. Health and vigor are restored.

The genuine Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food bears portrait and signature of author, on a blue ground. 50 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for free copy Dr. Chase's Recipes.

When Cold Winds Blow

When cold winds blow, biting frost is in the air, and back-draughts down the chimney deaden the fires, then the

PERFECTION Oil Heater

(Equipped with Smokeless Device)

shows its sure heating power by steadily supplying just the heat that is needed for comfort.

The Perfection Oil Heater is unaffected by weather conditions. It never fails. No smoke—no smell—just a genial, satisfying heat. The new prevents the wick being turned too high. Removed in an instant.

Automatic Smokeless Device

Solid brass font holds 4 quarts of oil—sufficient to give out a glowing heat for 9 hours—solid brass wick carriers—damper top—cool handle—oil indicator. Heater beautifully finished in nickel or Japan in a variety of styles.

Every Dealer Everywhere. If Not At Yours, Write for Descriptive Circular to the Nearest Agent of

THE QUEEN CITY OIL CO., Limited.

True Stories About Large Feet.

The conversation turned on big feet, remarks a writer in Tit-Bits, when one of the company said he believed his pal, Smith, would take some beating in that line.

"I was out walking with Smith one day when he slipped down with the soles of his boots pointing to a grocer's window. The grocer rushed out to inquire who was putting the shutters up."

"That's pretty fair," said a soldier who was present, "but a fellow in our company beat it hollow. After a sharp fight with the enemy we were obliged to retreat, when on looking back we saw one of our men standing upright on the field. The fact was the poor fellow had got such feet that he never fell down when he was shot."

"Well," said a horse dealer who sat in the corner, "that's rather tall. But let me have a try. A fellow came down to our stables the other day in a hurry to hire a horse for a journey he was going on. 'I'll have that one,' said he, pointing to a horse in the yard. 'Why, there isn't a man in the world can ride that animal,' I said. 'He'll work in a cart or plow, but no one can stay on his back.' 'I'll try him anyway,' said the stranger as he sprang into the saddle. I expected to see him pitched off, but the horse looked around, saw the man's feet and trotted quietly off. He thought he was between a pair of shafts."

An Exciting Situation.

It was the ninth inning, and the visiting team was at bat. The score was a tie, and every spectator in grand stand or bleacher was on edge. To make it more exciting the bases were full, with two men out, and the team's best swatter was up, with three balls and no strikes to his credit.

In this trying moment the pitcher flung one straight at the plate.

"Str-r-r-ike one!"

A yell broke from thousands of throats.

Again the ball darted toward the plate.

"Str-r-r-ike two!"

Another unearthly yell wafted up from the assemblage. Then a death-like stillness fell over all as the pitcher carefully adjusted himself for the next and last effort.

In the midst of this pervading hush a young lady just back of the catcher loudly appealed to her escort:

"Will I do hope the Giants win."

"They'll stand a good show if they put this man out."

"Everybody here seems to want to have him put out, don't they, Will?"

"They certainly do."

"Then why doesn't one of those idle policemen put the horrid thing out?"—Judge.

A Western Hold-Up.

A famous vehicle is the old Cariboo treasure stage, which was held up by two unseen robbers on the morning of November 1, at 150-Mile House, Cariboo, and robbed of mail sacks reputedly containing $4,000. The quick wit of the driver, Charles Westoby, in juggling the mail-sack which he knew contained $20,000 in gold, with his feet while tossing down a half-empty grain sack to make up the tally demanded by the robbers (they being fooled by this simple device in the shadowy light), prevented the big haul they expected to make. The robbers are known to be local men, but have not yet been identified, although a reward of $1,000 has been offered for their apprehension and capture. The coach has carried no treasure-guard for several years. This hold-up occurred at the identical spot where Charlie Brown emulated the famous Black Bart and made a similar handed hold-up fifteen years ago, getting $6,000. He was afterwards tracked and captured by Indians and sentenced to twenty years.

Good Roads.

The aid from the Provincial Treasury is such that good roads should be found in every county in Canada, for the cultivation of those business relations which are essential to the success of the farmer. Access to markets without cost or restriction is a necessity in the East. It is the distinguishing characteristic of the West, and should not be its monopoly.—British Whig, Kingston.

THE ATMOSPHERE.

Without It There Would Exist a Queer State of Affairs.

Without the atmosphere, besides the inconvenience to breathing, a great many peculiar things would be observed that would seem very extraordinary to us. The sun would rise straight up in the morning into a sky as black as ebony, traverse a black sky and sink down to rest at night into a black bed. No beautiful glories of the sunset and sunrise would appear, no blueness of the heavens be seen, no red sun gradually growing brighter, but one that would rise as a fiery orb and remain thus all day. No twilight and no daybreak could cheer us, for there would be nothing to diffuse the light.

Unless the sun shone directly on a thing we could not see it. Thus our houses would have to be made of some transparent substance or else be artificially lighted in the daytime. No soothing shades would appear in the landscape, but everything would stand out boldly and clearly, every object casting dense black shadows that would render invisible any one entering them. No voice or music could be heard, for there would be no medium to carry it. No birds or insects could flit about in the trees and above us, for there would be nothing to enable them to utilize their wing motion. No clouds would be seen in the intensely black sky, and no thunderstorms or high winds would be possible. No vegetation could exist, and no animal could live. In fact, this old earth would be as dead as Hector as far as activity was concerned.

Yet this is the exact condition of affairs on the moon, which has no atmosphere and consequently suffers every one of these disadvantages.

It is rather interesting to contemplate the successive events on the earth if the atmosphere should be quickly removed. The first thing that would probably happen is that every animal, insect, fish, bird and plant would suffer a violent explosion, for each contains air at a pressure of fifteen pounds to the square inch on the outside, which is balanced by an equal pressure on the inside and would rush outward on the first pressure being removed. This can be shown by placing the hand over an air pump and gradually exhausting the air. The part exposed will gradually swell. Another illustration is when a tornado sweeps round a house, taking the outside air away for an instant. If the house is closed the windows and doors will be blown outward with enormous force, and sometimes the sides themselves of the house are blown in all directions.

ACCIDENTAL NONSENSE.

Things That Amused Lear, the English Artist and Writer.

It is not surprising that the gifted inventor of such classic imaginative nonsense as "The Jumblies" and "The Owl and the Pussy Cat" took a keen delight in the real nonsense of real life whenever he chanced to encounter it. During a doleful stay in a dreary little mining village where it rained all the time and he was not well and could not accomplish the work he had set his heart on doing the late Edward Lear, although a good and decorous churchgoer, found his source of cheer in the parish clerk.

"Oh, beloved clerk!" he wrote gratefully to a friend. "He reads the psalms enough to make you go into fits. He said last Sunday, 'As white as an old salmon,' instead of 'White as snow in Salmon,' 'a lion' for 'alien to my mother's children' and 'they are not guinea pigs' instead of 'guiltless.' Fact, but I grieve to say he's turned out for the same and will never more please my foolish ears."

Even funnier was the erratic English of a foreigner which once entertained for him the prolonged tormentties of an official dinner.

"Sitting next to the captain of an Austrian frigate at Sir H. Sterle's on Thursday evening," he recorded, "the German officer said to a subaltern—the conversation was about the good looks of women—'I do think the Englishwoman conserve her aperient gaishp (girlhood) longer than all the women, even as far as her antics' (antiquity, age).

"The subaltern withered with confusion till I ventured to interpret, 'The Englishwoman preserves her appearance of youth longer than all women, even if she be old.'"

Closing Out Sales.

"Closing out sales" and the like are placed under ban in many of the leading cities of Russia, where strict rules are established governing such sales to prevent an imposition upon the public.

THE MAID AT SWEET SIXTEEN

Winning, pensive, and sweet with delicate grace and charm in every movement, but that lovely color that once shone so rosily has gradually faded away. Her eyes are expressive but listless, that lightness of step and buoyancy of spirit which once were hers are gone.

This girl is in danger. Her system demands nourishment; her blood must be renewed. She needs Ferrozone—needs it badly—because it will bring back the nerve energy which rapid growth and study have exhausted. New strength and old-time vigor return with Ferrozone. The delicate maid is energized and given the endurance and vigor that means health.

SHE NEEDS FERROZONE

Parents, think it over. In Ferrozone there is wonderful power for strengthening and rebuilding. Every child needs it—every boy and girl will improve on it. Get a few boxes, 50c each, or six boxes for $2.50. Sold by all dealers.

WHAT every cook should know is, which wheat makes the best flour, and why.

Winter wheat is put into the ground in the fall, but does not ripen until the following July. It matures slowly, is soft and very starchy.

Spring wheat is sown in April or May, and ripens in August. It's a flinty, translucent wheat, rich in gluten and contains nearly twice as much nutriment as winter wheat.

Royal Household Flour

is made entirely from the hard, nutritious spring wheat, carefully selected from all the wheat of this kind grown in Canada.

Royal Household is fine, light and pure—milled by the most improved methods—in a mill as clean as your own kitchen.

Ask your grocer for Ogilvie's Royal Household — just enough to try. You won't mind the slight advance in cost when you see the results in your bread and pastry. 21

Ogilvie Flour Mills Co., Limited, Montreal.

BIG HEALTHY CHILDREN

Beans are more nourishing than meat —Yet they cost only one-third as much.

Children need beans just as much as meat. When properly baked they are thoroughly enjoyed by all.

CLARK'S PORK AND BEANS

(just a little piece of corn-fed pork in each tin) are beans baked to perfection and flavored right. You couldn't bake these beans for twice what Clark's cost you.

AT YOUR GROCER'S—
6c., 10c., 12½c. a tin

CLARK'S "CHATEAU" BRAND
5c., 10c., 15c. and 20c. a tin

WM. CLARK, MONTREAL
MANUFACTURER OF HIGH-GRADE FOOD SPECIALTIES

5-11-09

THE BANK OF OTTAWA

ESTABLISHED 1874.

Capital Authorized	$5,000,000.
Capital Paid Up	$3,297,550.
Rest and Undivided Profits	$3,753,469.

Special facilities for collections on any point in Canada or abroad.

The Bank transacts every description of banking business.

G. C. Wainwright, Manager, Peterborough Branch

Electrical Goods and Fixtures

In Portable Lamps, Domes, Fancy Chandeliers, Shades, Electric Toasters, Smoothing Irons, Radiators, etc.

Nickel Plated Tea and Coffee Pots, Crumb Trays and Brushes. Tea Trays, round and square, in genuine Carpathian ware.

Large assortment of Mantels and Fireplace Furniture, including Screens, Fenders, Fire Irons, Dogs, etc. Call and look them over.

The F. J. R. MacPHERSON CO.
341 GEORGE STREET : : LIMITED

LUMBER

And Builders' Materials of all kinds Shingles, Sheathings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Casing, and Base and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE
Point St. Charles Mills

Spruce Up For The NEW YEAR

And have your Cutters and Sleighs repaired and put in good condition when the snow flies. By

BEN YELLAND
174 Murray Street

Poor Appetite

indicates weakness of the stomach nerves which control the desire for food. It is a sure sign that the digestive organs need the help of

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Sold Everywhere. In Boxes 25 cents

See that the Name CROMPTON Is on your Corsets

It means Correct Fit Latest Style and Wearing Qualities unsurpassed

33 Years uninterrupted Popularity

MUSICAL.

MISS BESSIE BLOOME, Teacher of Piano. For terms, etc., address Peterborough Conservatory of Music, or 302 Harvey St. Jan24-78tf

MRS. G. B. MILLER—Leader of Murray Street Baptist Church Choir. Teacher of Voice and Piano—615 Union Street, Peterborough.

MISS JULIA CHOATE—Violin Soloist and Teacher. Concert engagements accepted for terms etc., apply Conservatory of Music. Jan-30

MEDICAL.

DR. A. W. MacPHERSON—Office 134 Murray St., Cor. Water. Late House Surgeon Toronto Isolation Hospital, Toronto Sick Children's Hospital and Manhattan Maternity Hospital. Phones Bell 456, Machine.

DR. T. P. McCULLOUGH—Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Specialists. Office 198 Brock Street.

DR. BUCHANAN, F.R.C.S. Edinburgh M.R.C.S. England, L.R.C.P. London. Specialist of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat 'Phone 518. 169 Charlotte Street. Hours—9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m.

DR. E. A. HAMMOND—Office, 543 Water Street. Late Assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, England. Also of Rotunda Maternity Hospital at Dublin. Special diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach. Bell Phone—Office 463; House Phone 1301.

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY — Osteopathic Physician. Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce; Hunter Street entrance Bell Phone 649. Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 4 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free.

LEGAL.

ROBERT RUDDY, K.C.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc., Office, corner George and Hunter Sts. Money to loan at Current Rates. Successor to George Edmison K.C.

ORMISTOUN, PECK & KERR, Barristers, Solicitors, and Notaries. Office 110 Water Street. Money to loan.—E. A. Peck, K. M. Ormistoun, P. D. Kerr.

DUMBLE & JOHNSTON—Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Office over Toronto Savings and Loan Company, 437 George St. —S. W. Dumble, K.C.; W. F. Johnston.

A. E. DIXON—Barrister, Solicitor, Etc. Office—Corner Hunter and George Sts. entrance next Madill's Drug Store. ...6w

HALL & HAYES & HALL. — Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public, Hunter Street, Peterborough, next to St. John's Church. Money to loan at lowest rates of interest.—E. H. D. Hall, City Solicitor; Louis M. Hayes, K. C., and Basil D. Hall.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON—Successors to Hall & Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office, Corner of Hunter and Water Streets, over Can. adian Bank of Commerce. E. H. Hall, K. T. Medd, W. S. Davidson.

W. B. MOORE—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Office—Entrance first hallway west of Post Office, Peterborough, Ont. Money to loan.

A. P. POUSSETTE—Barrister and Solicitor —39 Water Street. Money to loan at lowest current rates.. A. P. Poussette K.C.

E. E. WOOD—Barrister, etc., County Crown Attorney. Office over Canadian Express Office, George Street. Money to loan.

DENTAL.

DR. E. F. WOOD, Dentist—Office, No. 361 George Street. Phone 205 day or night.

UNDERTAKERS.

D. BELLEGHEM.—Funeral Director.—Calls may be given day or night at warerooms, 189 Hunter Street, or at Residence, 188 Hunter Street. Telephone No. 25.

LAMB & HANG—Undertakers and Embalmers. Can be found at their warerooms day or night, 272 Hunter street, Phone 48.

MONEY TO LOAN.

MONEY TO LOAN—On Farm and Town Property, at lowest current rates on easiest terms of payments. HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON, (Successors to Pringle & Hall, Barristers, Peterborough, Ont., Office Over the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

MONEY TO LEND.—On Gratchen City and Private Securities only, on current rates. ERNEST A. GOODWILL, Barrister, Solicitor, etc., No. 275 Water street, Peterborough. Telephone, No. 124. J. W. Bee K.C., E. L. Goodwill.

MONEY TO LOAN—On easy terms, O'CONNOR & GORDON, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc. Canadian and United States Patents Attorneys, Hunter St., Peterborough, Ont. Post Office Block. Donald O'Connor, K.C., Lieut.-Col. H. Gordon.

ARCHITECTS.

W. ...LACEWELL—Architect and Civil Engineer, Plans and estimates made on ... Water Supply and Sewage ... Office 39 Water Street, Peterborough.

TORONTO'S "OLD FORT"

HISTORIC SPOT IS SOON TO BE RECLAIMED AND RESTORED.

It Is About a Hundred and Sixty Years Since M. de la Galissoniere Ordered a Stockade to Be Built Near Where the City Now Stands —"Old Fort" Saw Some Fighting In the War of 1812.

Toronto has happily escaped what, at one time came near becoming a possible disgrace. And the thanks, not only of the city but of the province and, it may be said, of the entire Dominion, are due to the Ontario Historical Society and those who have apparently snatched the historic "Old Fort" as it has generally been termed, from destruction, and it will remain. A Government patent relating to the Garrison Common was granted to the City of Toronto recently, and this includes the area occupied by the site of the old fort, and the conditions of transfer necessitate the restoration of the works, in accordance with a plan apparently drawn and dated at Quebec in the year 1816, and their permanent maintenance. And this result has not been accomplished without some trouble. It has been more than once said that Toronto never showed much enthusiasm over its old landmarks. It is true that it does not, so far as the English regime is concerned, possess very much that is really old to conserve. But it possesses enough to inspire respect and provoke interest.

Compared with some cities Toronto may be regarded as a place of some antiquity. There is, for example, a halo of age, in a relative sense, around the spot known for years as the "Old Fort," named originally "Fort York." But it is, after all, only one hundred and sixty years since the French were extending their trading posts westerly and playing the part of "pioneers of nations yet to be" and treading the forests where the "human sea" of the poet's fancy is even now rolling. And then only, when King George III. had sat for ten years on the throne of Great Britain, was it that M. de la Galissoniere, acting for M. de la Jonquiere, ordered a stockade to be built in the locality. This was later greatly extended, and additions were made to its strength and equipment three years later, in the year 1752, and the position was named Fort Rouille in honor of M. le Comte de Rouille, the French Colonial Minister from 1749 to 1754. But this "position" was not on the same site as Fort York now immediately referred to. It stood a short distance further west and through the efforts of the late Rev. Dr. Scadding a cairn was erected on the spot it occupied.

While alluding to old Fort York, it may be noticed in passing that Toronto, later on named York, and then renamed Toronto, would not have been selected as the capital had the wishes of Simcoe been complied with. He had decided that the locality where London now stands would have been the best situation as opening up a communication by way of the Grand River and other channels between Lakes Huron and Ontario.

The archives indicate the correspondence which shows that Lord Dorchester decided that Toronto was the best site for the capital, and this particular spot where the fort stands was noted as a special place, owing to the "strength of its position and the security it could offer to the naval force of the province." And the most unlearned in the matter of fortifications can see that, as a site for a work commanding the entrance to the harbor, as such strongholds had to be constructed and situated at that period, the position is a commanding one. But it was practically never more than an earth-work and stockade, and up to a few years ago it was, with its old guns, some eight or nine in number, and its venerable and decayed stockade, a picturesque and interesting spectacle, very suggestive of the past at an interesting crisis of the country's history.

The old fort witnessed some stirring scenes during the last war with the United States. It then lay some distance from what was no more than the village of York with its few hundred inhabitants. It was, on the approach of danger, hastily armed with some 24-pounders, not in the best of condition, and some naval guns from the gun-brig "Duke of Gloucester," afterwards burned during the operations. But in spite of individual bravery and the presence of some veteran soldiers these operations were not crowned with success for the British at the moment. At the ...ginning of the engagement which followed the American invasion and attack on the company of the Newfoundland regiment and five hundred regulars and Canadian militia, the magazine in the western battery exploded and killed a number of men and "crippled the battery." Captain McNeal of the 8th Regiment was killed. This was followed by a second explosion later, when the main magazine exploded, killing the American General Pike and also killing and wounding 250 of his followers. A rather ignominious capitulation followed.

The American triumph was, however, brief as in two or three days after the invasion, on the 1st of May, 1813, the enemy evacuated the place and sailed away from the scene of their barren triumph.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine

Carter's Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of

Brent Good

See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.

Very small and as easy to take as sugar.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

FOR HEADACHE. FOR DIZZINESS. FOR BILIOUSNESS. FOR TORPID LIVER. FOR CONSTIPATION FOR SALLOW SKIN. FOR THE COMPLEXION

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

Yon'll Sleep More Soundly

If You Keep Healthy With Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills

Insomnia goes with indigestion.

The man or woman with a good appetite, sound digestion, and bowels and kidneys working right, is never troubled much with sleeplessness. It is when the bowels become constipated and the liver and kidneys sluggish that the trouble begins.

Lazy liver and constipated bowels quickly bring on biliousness, indigestion and sick headaches, making a sound, refreshing night's sleep impossible. Or the inactive kidneys allow the blood to becomes loaded with uric acid, which causes rheumatism, with all its sleep-destroying tortures.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, taken regularly, induce sweet and dreamless sleep by keeping all these organs active and regular. The headaches disappear, the digestion becomes good again, the blood is purified and perfect health returns.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills have been a favorite household remedy in Canada for over half a century, and they are in daily use throughout the world. Being purely vegetable they are safe for young and old. Made by W. H. Comstock Co., Ltd., Brockville, Ont., and sold by all dealers at 25c. a box. 9

By Way of a Change.

If this matter of the naval program of Canada has produced bold independence of thought and speech by the party leaders and their lieutenants, Canada has much to thank the naval program for. We hope sincerely that there will be some good, honest independence of attitude by both Grit and Tory, regardless of party lines, when the subject comes up for discussion in the Parliament. The country is sick of the sheep-like obedience of the party representatives in the House, and would like to see an independent mix-up, by way of a change and a tonic—Brockville Times.

A Stay at Home.

Some people injure both their ti
By reading that which makes them yy,
But others, to avoid dises,
Travel on land and over co.
I would do this, but my exqq
Is I've no cash. So what's the us?
—New York Times.

Possible Explanation.

Roderick—The astronomers report that there is a great disturbance at the pole on the planet of Mars. Wonder what caused it?

Van Albert—H'm! Maybe two explorers discovered it at the same time. —Chicago News.

A Latter Day Jack Horner.

Little Jack Horner, quartz in a corner,
Couldn't have Christmas pie.
For Jack was a sport who sold wheat short
Just before it went sky high.
—Minneapolis.

Came Home to Roost.

Crabshaw—I've preached and preached to that boy about being deceitful, but he merely laughs at me.

Mrs. Crabshaw—No wonder. You put all the best presents in the top of his Christmas stocking.—Judge.

A Christmas Plea.

Here's a maxim for you, girlie,
With a prayer, its edge to soften:
"Do your Christmas shopping early,
But, oh, please don't do it often!"
—Cleveland Leader.

No Time to Save.

"The time to save is when you're young."

"That's all right, but a fellow doesn't earn anything till he gets well along, and then it costs more to live."—Boston Herald.

Speedy.

He courted in his motorcar,
Which is of wondrous power.
And speedily they were engaged—
At sixty miles an hour.
—Detroit Free Press.

An Author's Christmas.

"Well, Scribbler, old boy, how did Santa use you?"

"Not very generously. I got three rejections, $2 for a joke and a dun from the butcher."—Judge's Library.

Puzzling.

The English language puzzles me,
And often I'm in doubt.
Why, when I'm on my uppers am
I also down and out?
—Detroit Free Press.

Nothing in It.

She—I hear you contemplate becoming an aeronaut.

He—You have been misinformed. I intend to remain an zero cipher.—Boston Herald.

Pete's Difference.

In life some fearful contrasts lurk.
Each has its own position.
Some men are born to go to work
And some to go a-fishin'.
—New York Times.

DAMES AND DAUGHTERS.

Mrs. Clarence Mackay is writing the platform for the Equal Franchise society, to be adopted at its convention in St. Louis.

Mrs. Walter Pulitzer, wife of the author, was a Miss Beatoe of San Francisco. She is pretty, vivacious and an accomplished pianist.

Mme. Johanna Gadski of the Metropolitan Opera company has signalized her Americanization by purchasing a home in New York city.

Sarah Bernhardt is very superstitious. She never says that she is happy unless she knocks wood and has a proper respect for overhanging ladders and spilled salt.

A ten-year-old girl named Minna Weisbein has astonished the United States immigration authorities by her ability to speak and read Russian, Polish, French, German, Italian, Spanish and English.

Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman is now the editor of a new magazine in New York called the Forerunner, the purpose of which is "to stimulate thought, to arouse hope, courage and impatience" among women.

Lady Beatrice Pole-Carew is said to be the most beautiful woman in England. She is the eldest daughter of the Marquis of Ormonde, commodore of the Royal Yacht squadron. In 1901 she married Lieutenant General Sir Reginald Pole-Carew, who won much honor and distinction in the Boer war.

Things Theatrical.

Beerbohm Tree is to appear in London as Beethoven in a play on the great musical genius.

Miss Flora Wilson, the colatura soprano and daughter of the secretary of agriculture, is meeting with high critical praise in her work.

Henry B. Harris has purchased from Paul Armstrong, the author of "Salomy Jane," "Heir to the Hoorah" and other successes, his new play, "Whom the Gods Love."

Miss Irene Dillon, an attractive comedienne from Melbourne, Australia, is making her first American appearance in the production of the musical comedy "The Golden Widow."

Guimera's "La Pecadora," which has been translated into English by Wallace Gillpatrick and Guido Marburg under the title of "Heart Hunger," has just had a successful premiere in Paris, with Mimi Aguglia, the Sicilian star, in the leading role.

Train and Track.

The new terminal station of the Pennsylvania railroad in New York has sixteen miles of tracks.

Platform tickets are issued by some German railroads for the use of non-travelers who wish to say goodby to departing friends.

The Chicago and Great Western has secured 130 acres at Stockton, Ill., 125 miles west of Chicago, for a new division terminal and big system of yards.

Owing to the competition of electric lines and motor buses, the suburban traffic of the Great Eastern railway of London has fallen off at the enormous rate of 25,000,000 passengers a year.

After the completion of the railroad from Christiania to Bergen the journey between the two largest Norwegian cities can be made in thirteen hours instead of in fifty by sea. The total cost of this railway is estimated at $15,000,000.

Recent Inventions.

A recent British invention of interest to photographers is a lens by which a picture may be taken on all sides at once.

Irish inventors have perfected embroidering machines which successfully rival the finest handwork of the women of that country at much less cost.

Billiards and pool on shipboard are now possible through the recent invention of a self leveling table which accommodates itself to every movement of the vessel.

A new automatic fire alarm for factories, warehouses and similar buildings consists of a series of pipes containing a fluid that will expand when heated, creating a pressure on the pipes that operates a danger signal.

Sporting Notes.

Some one who knows figures that Jeffries will clean up $150,000 during his second lease of pugilistic life.

The Abbe (3), 2:10½, will be tried at the pace next year and has been sent to Ed Geers to train.

Hugh Duffy, the new manager of the Chicago Americans, says he'll do all his active work on the coaching lines and doesn't expect to break into the game.

Charley Holway, the Attleboro (Mass.) sprinter, succeeded in beating A. B. Postle, the Australian star, in a 120 yard dash in England recently. Postle is the man Nat Cartmell was going to turn professional to race.

Flower and Tree.

The United States has 200,000,000 apple trees.

The maximum age of a walnut tree is 900 years.

Near Hamburg, Germany, a patch of dwarf birch trees is closely guarded at government expense as a rare survivor of postglacial flora.

When replanting plants, first place the dirt in a pan and put in hot oven for a few minutes. This will destroy all worms and slugs that may have been lurking in the earth.

Cynical.

These very cut shape
With jewelry flash,
And the very soft sugar
Get the very hard cash!
—Cleveland Leader.

When Your Throat is Sore

It may be only a slight cold now—just a tickling in the throat.

But little colds soon grow large and dangerous. Often they become chronic, develop catarrh and end in consumption.

Catarrhozone is the remedy. It draws inflammation and soreness out of the throat. Relieves the cough, cuts out the phlegm, makes breathing easy, kills any germs lodged in the mucous lining of the throat or lungs.

Nothing in the Annals of Medicine so Effective for Bronchitis and Throat Troubles as

CATARRHOZONE

Catarrhozone inhaler can be carried in the vest pocket ready for use any time. Two months' treatment, only $1.00; medium size, 50c; trial size, 25c. Druggists, or N. C. Poison & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U. S. A.

MODERN DRESS UGLY.

William Morris' Daughter Talks About Clothes and Art.

Miss May Morris, daughter of William Morris, who recently arrived from England to lecture on arts and crafts in this country, is not going to say anything about woman suffrage unless she is "goaded to it by questions."

"I am with the suffragists," she said when seen recently in New York city. "I marched in the procession before the great meeting at which your countrywoman, Mrs. Chapman Catt, spoke in London. Do I think we shall get the ballot soon? I am such a hermit that I cannot say, but I do hope we shall, for then we can stop hearing and talking about it and can talk about something worth while."

Miss Morris was her father's pupil and co-worker, and since his death, in the workshops in her home near London, she has gone on designing and making things with her hands. During the last few years she has produced a great deal of jewelry. One of her lectures is to be on "Jewels."

"Jewels fascinate me," she said, "not diamonds—I don't care for diamonds nor opals—but most other stones I love to work in. I think the Greek jewelry is most beautiful for the simplicity of its designs. French ornaments do not appeal to me."

Another of the lectures will be on "Design in Dress." Miss Morris designs her own clothes mostly, but she doesn't do it for other people. "I don't believe I should like to bump up against their idiosyncrasies," she said. "Many of the things worn by women today are hideous. Every woman's dress ought to express herself, but for that she would really have to make her own things.

Very individual in appearance is this daughter of William Morris—tall and spare, with large blue eyes, a grave, pale face and long, nervous hands. Her curly dark hair was hidden under a black veil. The severe black tailor suit had one characteristic touch—some curious chased silver buttons—and at her neck was a large silver brooch which she made herself.

Modern Progress.

"Things look rather run down around here," remarked the man who had just returned after many years to his native village.

"Run down? I should say so!" replied the friend of his youth. "There's a motorcar comes through here about every three minutes."—Life.

Mathematics.

Little Johnnie was a wonder
At figures in his youth,
And now that he's a grownup
He always knows the truth.
When he sees a pretty figure
He can get the answer pat,
Whether it just grew that way
Or is put on like a hat.
—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Gratitude.

A stray bullet came through a window and clipped a lock from a woman's head.

"Thank fortune it wasn't one of those new puffs!" she said when she had sufficiently recovered from her faint to call for a mirror.—Philadelphia Ledger.

LETTER HEADS
STATEMENTS
BILL HEADS
ENVELOPES
CARDS

The Examiner

Has recently added many New Faces of Type, New Borders, New Ornaments, New Cuts, Etc., to its Job Printing Department.

Anything and everything in the way of High-grade Printing produced. If something original is desired, we will be pleased of an opportunity to prove to you that we can put character into our work.

POSTERS
CIRCULARS
CATALOGUES
PROGRAMMES
CHECK BOOKS

Building Lots For Sale

THE PETERBORO SUGAR CO. PROPERTY has been cut up into lots, which are now offered for sale: lots 50-ft. frontage by 120-ft. in depth.

These lots are most desirable for building purposes, and any person contemplating the purchase of a lot for this purpose will do well to look over this property before purchasing elsewhere.

Full particulars and all information can be had on application to

The Toronto Savings and Loan Company

437 George Street, City

What it Cost

10 Annual Premiums of $43 20 each, $432.—This represent the TOTAL COST of Policy No. 12367 for $1000 in

The Canada Life Assurance Co'y.

In other words $432 purchased a PAID UP POLICY for $1000, dated June 21st, 1872, on the 10 payment Life Plan, with dividends applied every 5 years to increase the policy as follows:—

Policy paid up.....	$1000.00
Dividend additions to 1909.....	648.75
The Company would pay.....	$1648.75

should the assured die to-day, and this amount will increase annually so long as he lives.

Read The Top Line Again

Can you create an estate to compare or even approach this?

Don't Wait Until it is too late.

DAVIS-THOMPSON COMPANY
LIMITED

Agents for Peterboro—433 George St.

EAST CITY

Coal and Wood

YARD

MAIN OFFICE—111 Hunter St., East Phone 96

All sizes of Best Mined Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.

Egg, Stove and Nut Coal per ton $7.50
Pea or No. 2 Nut Coal, per ton $6.50
Dry Tamarac and Mixed Wood.
First Class Dry Hardwood.

WEIR & O'BRIEN

ARCH. WEIR JAMES O'BRIEN

FIRE!

I am selling off my whole stock of New Boots and shoes at Fire Sale Prices. All reduced since the Fire. Come and get Footwear Bargains and Holiday Footwear at marked down prices while they last.

Robt. Di Bernardo

BROOKS BLOCK

Corner George and Sherbrooke Streets

Manual labour taxes the strength of the human machine. The man who works appreciates to the fullest extent the recuperative qualities and purity of

CALCUTT'S ALE, PORTER & LAGER

It is the popular beverage of the man who earns his living by actual, muscular work. You have tried the rest—

NOW TRY THE BEST

Manufactured by

The Calcutt Brewing & Malting Company

Ashburnham. Phone 98

DON'T STOP ADVERTISING

DO NOT ALLOW YOURSELF to be carried away with the idea that you need advertise no more. Now that the Holiday Season has come and gone, and the heaviest rush over, it is all the more reason why you should not allow it to drop, not for a single day. Experience of the most successful business men of to-day proves this fact. Start in now and secure space in

The Daily or Weekly Examiner

The most up-to-date papers in the Midland District, having a very large circulation, and reaching many homes, far and near. Begin the New Year by advertising in THE EXAMINER.

Business Hypnotism.

You Have Heard It Said :

"I Don't Need To Advertise"

"I don't need advertising. My business was never better". This is the merchant we would like to convince of the weakness of the position he is assuming.

The advertising solicitor has seen many a man go under who for years had been hypnotised with this idea. Business was good and continued good with these men until such time as a more enterprising rival sprang like a bolt from the blue, and through a wise use of Printers' Ink and other up-to-date methods, had, in a few years, succeeded in focussing the attention of the Public on the Newcomer's Goods, to the dismay and ruin of the old firm.

JOHN WANAMAKER

Once said to a young business man who sought his service :—

"I owe my success to Newspaper Advertising. I know that, because I can reach a larger number of best buyers that way". : : : : : : : : : : : : : :

"But It Costs Too Much"

says another merchant. That depends upon how you use it and where you place your advertising. Let us see :—THE DAILY EXAMINER print this week an average of over 3000 copies every day. It's fair to assume that in the 3000 homes in this City and District into which THE DAILY EXAMINER is received, an average of at least three readers in each home read it.

THE WEEKLY EXAMINER has an average Weekly Circulation of 2650 copies. It's fair to assume that in the 2650 homes into which the WEEKLY EXAMINER is received, an average of at least three readers in each home read it.

The Total Approximated Number of Readers of the Daily and Weekly Examiner Each Week is 16,950

The Total Cost for Twelve Months of each one inch of Advertising in The Daily and Weekly Examiner per 1000 Readers is 15c.

The Daily Examiner covers the city from one end to the other and,—The Weekly Examiner covers Seventy-Five different Post Offices in the County. Judged by this test, The Examiner is in a class by itself as far as the City and County of Peterborough are concerned.

MR. BUSINESS-MAN,--
Opportunity is Knocking at Your Door

BLACK KNIGHT

STOVE POLISH

"Black Knight" Stove Polish was made for women—made to save them work, worry and weariness.

"Black Knight" is the easy-to-shine Stove Polish. Just a few light rubs, with cloth or brush, brings a brilliantly black polish that lasts.

It's ready to use—no mixing—no soiling hands—no dirty work—and cheaper than any other because it goes farther and you get a bigger can for 10c.

Get "Black Knight" at your dealer's—or send 10c. for a large can free postpaid.

THE E. D. DALLEY CO. LIMITED. Hamilton, Ont. 19

Makers of the famous "2 in 1" Shoe Polish

